NOTICE.—OPTION CLAUSE.

COUNSEL WAS REQUESTED TO ADVISE

Whether, having regard to the terms of Clause 16 in the model contract attached to the Arbitrator's Award, the Management are entitled to insist upon the exercise of their option.

(a) In the event of the Artiste having filled by engagements made either wholly or partly after the date of the contract, all vacant dates within 18 months after the date of the notice of intention to exercise the option, and

(b) In the event of the Artiste having, in similar manner, partly filled his time so that the number of vacant dates within that period is insufficient to comply with the option.

COUNSEL'S OPINION.

In my opinion the clause requires the Artiste so to arrange his or her engagements, made after the date of the contract with the Management as to render it possible for the artiste to fulfil a re-engagement with the Management, should the latter exercise the option conferred upon them by the contract; and that it is no answer for the Artiste to say that he or she cannot fulfil such re-engagement because of engagements made by him or by her after the date of the contract.

(a) In my opinion the Management are entitled to insist upon the exercise of their option, although the Artiste may have filled up all vacant dates within 18 months after the date of the notice of intentionto exercise the option, provided such engagements were made wholly after the date of the contract. So far as these engagements were made before the date of the contract, the Artiste is entitled to fulfil them, and the Management cannot insist upon such engagements being a breach of the artist's contract with them.

(b) In my opinion the Artiste is bound to reserve sufficient dates to enable him to fulfil a re-engagement by the Management. If, therefore, he accepts engagements after the date of the contract which prevent him fulfilling his re-engagement in its entirety, he commits a breach of his re-engagement.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

RE APPLICATIONS FOR ENGAGEMENTS.—All applications by either Artists or their Agents must be made to the Head Office. Lowest terms must be stated, and distinction made between salaries required for larger and smaller towns. Vacant dates should be stated. If a list of existing bookings be sent, it will render selection easier. Artists employing agents should accredit one only at one time, as the friction arising when several Agents are employed at the same time, all expecting the one booking to go through each of them, often renders it expedient to avoid that booking altogether rather than give undeserved offence to several Agents. New Acts seeking Engagements, or turns not rebooked (possibly because they have played a series of dates without introducing new business), will facilitate matters by having their acts seen by our District Managers. Their Districts and Postal Addresses are as follow :—

EDINBURGH, GLASGOW, NEWCASTLE, and DISTRICT.—MR. S. GETHING, Empire Theatre, Glasgow.

LEEDS, SHEFFIELD, HULL, BRADFORD, and DISTRICT.—MR. T. GERALD MORTON, Empire Palace, Leeds.

BIRMINGHAM, NOTTINGHAM, LEICESTER, and DISTRICT.—MR. HATTON WHARTON, Empire Theatre, Nottingham.

LIVERPOOL, MANCHESTER, and DISTRICT.—MR. HORACE COLE, The Empire, Liverpool.

SOUTH WALES DISTRICT.—MR. ALBERT MITCHELL, Empire Theatre, Cardiff.

LONDON DISTRICT.—MR. J. CHRISTIE, Empire Theatre, Shepherd's Bush, W.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SOUTH SHIELDS.—Artists working in the North of England who have odd weeks vacant are invited to communicate with the Local Manager at above Theatre, with a view to arranging a trial week.

N.B.—MR. OSWALD STOLL or MR. FRANK ALLEN can be seen by appointment on all matters arising out of the above, and for the discussion of entirely new Numbers.

All Artists or Agents who communicate with our District Representatives must have made definite applications, in accordance with above directions, to the Head Office, at the same time, or just previously. Artists and Agents are requested to note that the Standard Theatre, Shoreditch, and the Terriss Theatre, Rotherhithe, come within the areas absolutely barred by us. Artists and Agents are also requested to note that the Hippodrome, Aston, Birmingham, comes within the area absolutely barred by the Grand Theatre and Empire Palace, Birmingham.

INSTRUCTIONS TO ARTISTS.—Artists must have at least Fourteen Band Parts for English Orchestrations, and Seventeen Band Parts for Foreign Orchestrations. Matter of Bill, Blocks, and Specimens of Pictorials FOR THE ABOVE THEATRES must be sent to Co-operative Offices, at above address, THREE WEEKS before Opening, failing which Artists will run the risk of having their Engagements cancelled. It is important that separate bill-matter, blocks, pictorials, &c., for Dublin, Belfast, and South Shields, be sent direct to Mr. Frank Allen at the Co-operative Offices. IMPORTANT.—Artists must forward Copies of Songs to the STAGE DEPARTMENT, ABOVE ADDRESS, TWO WEEKS previous to opening, with Assignments for same, which will be returned. Artists are requested to note carefully that the clause in their contracts relating to rehearsals will in future be strictly enforced. Artists' Scenery, Properties, &c., MUST be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Licensing Authorities. ARTISTS WILL CLEARLY UNDERSTAND THAT THEIR BUSINESS MUST BE FREE FROM ALL VULGARITY.

No order or contract for goods or services must be accepted for any of the foregoing theatres except upon receipt of an Official Form, issued from the Co-operative Offices, London, and signed by either Mr. Oswald Stoll, Mr. Frank Allen, or the Chief Accountant, otherwise the Company concerned will not be responsible for same, and will refuse payment. In special cases, where goods are required at once, suppliers must look to the individual placing the order, who will be personally liable, unless an official confirmatory order, signed as above, is received within forty-eight hours. Invoices must be sent to the Theatre, but monthly statements should be sent to the Co-operative Offices. The individual Company on whose behalf orders are signed is solely responsible for payment. The Management will not hold themselves responsible in the event of loss of or damage to any MSS., Songs, &c., submitted for consideration.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

ABERAMAN.—GRAND THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. A. Jackson Withers; Resident-Manager, Mr. Archie Ainsleigh.—Mr. Fredk. Melville's company is here, in Her Forbidden Marriage. Mr. Louis Hector gives a good performance of George Addison; Mr. W. H. Porter makes a plausible villain of Charles Devereux; Mr. J. F. Brandon is successful as Geoffrey Broughton; Miss Alice Bowes plays Lucy with great effect; Sir George Lancaster is well represented by Mr. Williams; Miss Grace Lester is seen to advantage as Lady Lucertia Lancaster; Miss Gladys Newcombe as the Mother Superior deserves praise; and Mr. James Raymond plays Dr. Fenwick effectively.

ABERDARE.—NEW THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Z. Andrews; Acting-Manager, Mr. B. Richards.—Mr. Harry Benet presents his grand comic pantomime, Dick Whittington and His Cat. Miss Nellie Dyson makes a great hit as Dick Whittington; Mr. Cliffe Owen is successful as Alderman Fitzwarren; Miss Stella Millard as an engaging Alice; Mr. Harry Benet as Idle Jack is amusing; and Mr. Bob Stanto causes a good deal of laughter as Toddles. Specialities are introduced by the La'dor Troupe, sensational acrobats; Kloof and Ramsey, novel musical entertainers; the Doloras, clever lady and gentleman double trapeze artists; and the San Remo Girls, speciality dancers.

ABERDEEN.—HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Proprietors, Robert Arthur Theatres Co., Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. H. Adair Nelson.—The engagement of the D'Oyly Carte Principal Opera Company is affording delight to music-lovers in the Granite City. Mr. Fred Billington is renewing old triumphs; while Miss Beatrice Boarer, Miss Elsie Spain, Miss Bertha Lewis, and Mr. Henry A. Lytton fully maintain all the old traditions.

PALACE THEATRE.—Lessees, United County Theatres, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. Percy H. Gallagher.—The lady who chooses to go under the title of L'Incognita supplies the principal turn here this week, and her phenomenal vocalisation is creating quite a furore. Other turns are contributed by Cornalla and Eddie, comedians and acrobats; Mr. C., a clever comedian and vocalist; Miss Maud Courtney, American comedienne; Miss Nina Gordon, a versatile mimic; Kelly and Agnes, sketch artists; Rowlands and Ford, comedians; and Johnnie Walker, comedian.

ACCRINGTON.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. B. Ormerod; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. E. Barnes.—The Fred Granville Productions, Limited, are presenting a capital pantomime, entitled Beauty and the Beast, which has afforded every satisfaction to well-filled houses. Miss Hilda De Grey scores a success as Prince Great Heart, having a prepossessing and attractive appearance and an excellent voice; Miss Norah Kebble makes a dashing and bright Silver Button; and Miss Edie Kebble is a charming Beauty. Miss Bella Moody deserves every commendation for a smart character study as the Baron's ugliest daughter Wilhelmena; Mr. Sammy Foster (an old favourite here) is a source of amusement as Sammy; and he is ably assisted in creating laughter by Mr. Albert Juan as the village Squire, Mr. Edward Stream as Sprindles, and Mr. Frank Debano as Twitters. Miss Victoria Francis makes a dainty Fairy Sunlight, and Miss Dollie Barrie is very successful as Sir Electro Plato. Excellent specialities are introduced by the Hewson's Æolians, the Royal Quintette of International Dancers, the Kebbles, Victoria Francis, Foster and Juan, &c.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, The Accrington Hippodrome Co.; Resident-Manager, Mr Walter Mould.—The Ten Loonies, the mad musicians, are attracting big houses. Harry Lamore introduces Chinese conjuring, comedy juggling, and slack-wire walking; Ernest Lord's Excelsiors are singers of much ability; Harry Taylor is received with shouts of laughter; Lennard and Vereker are capable song illustrators; Lily Le Breton submits a graceful gymnastic performance; and pictures on the Bioscope complete.

ALDERSHOT.—THEATRE ROYAL AND HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Clarence Saunes; Resident-Manager, Mr. Jack Gladwin.—Miss Dot Stephens's company is appearing with great success this week in the excellent drama A Child of the Streets. Miss Dot Stephens, besides giving a delightful impersonation of Doris, contributes imitations of well-known artists; Mr. Charles Tolcher also shines with his impersonations, in song, of persons in different nations. Those appearing in principal rôles, besides Miss Stephens, are Messrs. Leonard Aardale, Charles Freeman, Norman H. Tracy, Maurice Jones, George Francis, Chas. Tolcher, Misses Nellie Thorne Hallam, Yoxa Summer, Carlotta Blondin, and Little May Renaud, and, as already stated, they are hugely successful.

ASHINGTON.—MINERS' THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Fred Gould.—Mr. Chas. Watson Mill's company is paying a welcome return visit this week with For Love and the King. Mr. Watson Mill gives a fine conception of Jarval, the Britisher; Mr. Alfred Maurice contributes a good character study of Michael Obrenovic; as Prince Uros Mr. F. K. Wicksteed is very good, as also is Mr. Jeffrey Chate as Duke Fernand. Vladimir Obrenovic is in the capable hands of Mr. Fred J. Webb; Mr. Stanley Weston as King Kara is excellent; and Miss Rosalind Tate gives a fine portrayal of Edith Meredith, Miss Joan Ellis as Natila being most winning. The comedy is in the keeping of Mr. Oscar Power, an old favourite, and Miss Marie Danvers Smith is capital as Grazia.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Chas. Revell; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. Revill, jun.—Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley's company is in possession with A Soldier's Honour. Miss Edie Macklin has been specially engaged to sustain her humorous creation of Jemima Eliza; Mr. T. Arthur Ellis makes a dramatic Captain Deane; Mr. Jerrold E. Reed as Captain Gerald Temple acts cleverly as the faithful friend; Henry Thornton is depicted with stage cunning by Mr. Andrew Money; and Mr. Ernest C. Edwards as General Rochester acts with dignity and martial spirit. Miss Amy Dolby as Gwendoline Temple acts with great charm as Percy's Sweetheart; Miss Sylvia Vickers as Mrs. Deane is the solicitous and faithful mother of Captain Deane; and Miss Isobel Marte is the bold and unabashed woman of the world as Flanchette.

EMPIRE HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Resident-Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Leech; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Jesse Burslem.—The head of the bill is here taken by the well-known Billy Williams, the man in the velvet suit, a really good comedian. Then we have the Rosses, expert comedians and dancers; the world's greatest wooden shoe dancer, Frank B. Ford; and James and Jenny Jee, those inimitable dancing, jumping, somersaulting, and cycling artists. The Stavordale Quintette are most attractive instrumentalists, their banjo and harp speciality being a wonderful imitation of the human voice; the tumbling pantomimist troupe, the Havannas, are a remarkable acrobatic combination; the Sages (Will and Jenny) appear in a favourite burlesque song-scena; Johnson and Harte are wonderful manipulators of hoops. The laughing hit of the bill is W. Ellis and company in The Sleepwalker.

BARROW-IN-FURNESS.—ROYALTY THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Stone.—Messrs. C. and F. Renad's company in The Swiss Express is here. Mr. Wilford Bailey is a capital Dr. Gull, and the two Renads do excellent work. Mr. Victor T. Raymond is a guileless Dudely Green, and Mr. James Hawkes a commendable Bob Rollingstone. Mr. Harwood Cooper is a rattling Jack Gadabout, and Miss Dorothy Deakin is a sweet Virginia Squeeze. Miss Lottie Stone's Palace Quartette do well in singing and dancing.

HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Lessees and Managers, Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Routledge.—Messrs. H. Armitage and Arthur Leigh's company in Lucky Durham is here. Mr. Edmund Kennedy presents a powerful and dominating John Durham, and Mr. William Calvert makes a forceful Lord Mountfallon; Mr. Arthur Leigh a humorous Hen. Reginald Steighton, and Miss Frances Wolviston a good Lady Mountfallon. Miss Florence Tressilian is a tender and loving Helen Vallerton, and Miss Dorothy Turner is refreshingly natural as the Hon. Margaret Steighton. Miss Nellie Bonder does well as Mrs. Durham.

TIVOLI.—Lessee, Signor R. Pepi; Acting-Manager, Mr. Henry Wood.—A capital programme is presented here this week. Carter Livesey and Lillian Rosebery create roars of laughter with The Would-be Actors; a most masterly performance with the Indian clubs is given by Buttan Singh; Will Owen is a capable comedian, with good songs; the Three Dixons are clever dancers and instrumentalists; Mollie Watson catches on with good chorus songs; Harry Tomlin is well received; and Vernon's Bioscope concludes.

BATH.—PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Chas. Schuberth.—Marie Santol and her Merry Japs are once again presenting their pretty and elaborately-staged musical scena, A Japanese Tea Garden by Night, which retains all its charm; another old favourite is Addie Dorina, whose protean act, Dr. Spot's Patients, newly dressed and with many fresh bits of business introduced, goes well from start to finish; Mr. Frank Wheatcroft now assists this clever lady as Dr. Spot. Bonnetti and Corrie, comedy jugglers, are droll; and the comedy turn of Steel and Laing is noteworthy for smart dancing; Kitty Leon is also a clever step-dancer; Archie Pitt has quaint songs; and Tom Yorke, in character songs, is popular. The pictures are excellent.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Egbert Lewis; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lewis A. Long.—Mr. Ian Robertson is appearing in The Passing of the Third Floor Back, which on Monday stirred the audience to a high pitch of enthusiasm. Mr. Ian Robertson as the Passer-by conveys a wonderful impression of calm contentment by his skilful handling of this effective character. Nothing but praise can be accorded to the rest of the cast, be it Miss Helena Parsons (a slut), Miss Jeannie Thomas (a cheat), Miss Drusilla Wills (a painted lady), Miss Lena Delphine (a shrew), Miss Blanche Ripley (a snob), Mr. P. Gedge Twyman (a bully), Miss Barbara Everest (a hussy), Mr. W. C. Billington (a satyr), Mr. J. Woodall Birde (a coward), Mr. Stanley Brown (a rogue), or Mr. Herbert Garthorne (a cad). A unanimity of sympathy between the players is evident from beginning to end of this delightful and extraordinary play. Come Here forms an agreeable curtain-raiser, and gives Mr. P. Gedge Twyman a good chance of showing his histrionic ability as Frederick McVicker, good support being accorded by Miss Barbara Everest as Catherine Staunton and Mr. Wilson Blake as Tom. Mr. Harold C. Lloyd is the courteous business-manager for the tour.

BEDFORD.—ROYAL COUNTY THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. E. Graham Falcon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter R. Wilson.—Miss Grace Warner and her capable company are appearing in The Wages of Sin and East Lynne. On Monday night, when the former piece was played, there was a good house. Miss Grace Warner portrayed Ruth Hope with pathos and artistic control, and was admirably supported by Mr. George Gordon as the Rev. George Brand. Mr. Frank Smith was extremely good as the villain Stephen Marler, and as the millionaire Josiah Deane, Mr. Frank Hertie seemed quite at home. Mr. Louis Nanton as Ned Drummond introduced a good deal of welcome humour, and was recalled for his rendering of a comic song; Miss Florence M. Daly as Jemima Bloggs was frequently applauded for her clever acting; Miss Florence M. Daly was a vivacious Julianna Bloggs; and Miss Lallah Price was good as Barbara Dale.

BELFAST.—GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; Acting-Manager, Mr. James M. McCann.—To-night (Saturday) completes three weeks of Mr. Fred W. Warden's pantomime Aladdin, which has been phenomenally successful, crowded houses being the rule. The spectacular effects are simply gorgeous, while such popular songs as "Somewhere," "Little Girl from nowhere," "Charlie Brown," &c. (rendered in finished style by Miss Georgie Erlass and Miss Topsy Sinden) are being whistled and sung everywhere.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. A. Salmond.—The Irish musical play Rollicking Rory is presented by Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Mackay's company. In the title-rôle Mr. Mackay achieved success, thoroughly amusing all; Mme. Constance Bellamy appears as Peggy O'Moore, and her faultless rendering of several Irish songs creates quite a furore; Mrs. Chalmers Mackay is seen to great advantage as Mrs. Ashleigh; and a delightful impersonation of Rosie Callaghan is furnished by Miss Nana Flensberg. Praise is due to Mr. J. P. McBride for his clever impersonation of Desmond Fitzgerald, and Mr. St. John Stuart submits a powerful impersonation of the villain Stephen D'Arcy. Mr. Fred Charles is capital as General Ashleigh, and Miss Jeannette Lyons deserves a line for her able impersonation of Widow O'Donohue. Other rôles are presented by Miss A. Webber, Little Dorothy, and Messrs. A. Sullivan, E. Lowrie, F. Allen, and F. Donnelly.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred Willmott; Resident-Manager, Mr. Henry T. Downs.—The leading attraction here is provided by Constantino Bernardi, the clever protean actor; Miss Janet Hall, lady baritone, is the possessor of a good voice, her rendering of "The wolf" being a fine effort; Clyne and Clark, black and white comedy duo, make their customary hit in this city; the Zaid Trio appear in their marvellous speciality; and also here are Ulrick (foot equilibrist), Tom and Neil (burlesque wrestlers), and the Hipposcope.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES, LIMITED.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. C. Laidler.—The star here is Mr. W. J. Churchill, the capital comedian, whose songs met with a good reception; Dancit furnishes an exhibition of the terpsichorean art it would be difficult to equal; Musical Sylvo plays several musical instruments in clever style; Miss Ethel Arundel is a charming soubrette; Mr. Tom Bryce appears with much success in a musical comedy sketch entitled The Dude's Wooing; the trick cycling performances by the Newmans creates quite a sensation; and also in the bill are Miss Daisy Hicks (a refined comedienne) and the Bioscope.

ALHAMBRA.—Proprietors, Belfast Alhambra, Ltd.; General-Manager, Mr. Will White.—The Jockey, The Garibaldian Boy, and The Drunkard's Reformation are among the pictures shown in the excellent Bioscope entertainment here. In the variety company are Chorley and Connor, smart comedians; and Dan Derry, an expert ventriloquist.

BILSTON.—NEW ROYAL AND HIPPODROME.—Licensee, Mr. A. L. Owen; Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. Tunstall.—Geo. A. De Gray and Harry Masterman's company is presenting here The Angel of His Dreams. Mr. De Gray depicts the character of the young clergyman Christian Esdale with skill and dignity. The Bessie Sparkles of Miss Etta Turner is vivacious; Miss Effie Bartlett plays with power as Hilda; and Miss Edna Earl makes a sympathetic Milly. Mr. Frank Brunnell is good as Sam Tippett, and Mr. Robert Hall is successful as Roy Ferrars.

BIRKENHEAD.—NEW THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee, Mr. W. W. Kelly; Acting-Manager, Mr. Herbert M. King; Secretary, Miss Isabel Morris.—Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison's company, in Brewster's Millions, form an undeniable attraction. The comedy is splendidly staged, and the Yacht scene is a model of mechanical skill. Monty Brewster is cleverly and amusingly impersonated by Mr. Charles Esdale, who does full justice to the part; Peggy is splendidly played by Miss Cicely Stuckey; Mrs. Don De Mille is cleverly portrayed by Miss Pauline Straus; and Mr. Aubrey Mather is well suited as Joseph McLeod. Remaining characters are without exception in capable hands. The company and piece have created an excellent impression here.

ARGYLE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. D. J. Clarke; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Keating.—Mr. William Watson's company are appearing twice each evening in a smart version of Robinson Crusoe, a production which reflects infinite credit on all concerned. Mlle. de Rose, who is very favourably known in this town, gives a fine performance of the title-rôle; the Waldrons contribute materially to the success of the pantomime, and the production is thoroughly successful.

HIPPODROME.—Director of Entertainments, Mr. Will Sley; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Weston.—Kioto and Esa in a clever and effective equilibristic act, head a strong company; Milton and Horton, in their comedy triple bar performance, are a leading feature; and other excellent turns are also furnished by Scholey and Scholey, in their amusing sketch, Winning a Wager; A. W. Scott, coon vocalist; Joe Dale, light comedian; Darno, juggler and gymnastic comedian; Phinas and Alda, equilibrists; Miss Ethel Mann, contralto vocalist; and the Hippodrome pictures.

BIRMINGHAM.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Tom B. Davis; General-Manager, Mr. Philip Rodway.—Jack and the Beanstalk is proving a popular pantomime, and there continues to be a big demand for seats.

PRINCE OF WALES.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. F. Graham; acting-manager, Mr. Henry Johnstone.—A pantomime brimful of good wholesome humour and pleasing songs is Babes in the Wood, and it is well patronised. Leading members of a cast of all-round excellence are Mr. Mark Sheridan, Miss Dorothy Ward, Miss Daisy Dormer, the Brothers Egbert, and Mr. Harry Conlin.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Lester Collingwood; Business-Manager, Mr. Fred Bernardo; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. T. Guest.—Crowded audiences are enjoying the record-breaking pantomime Aladdin.

BORDESLEY PALACE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Goodwin Woodward.—The Fair One with the Golden Locks continues to run merrily, and there will be general regret when it has to depart.

METROPOLE.—Proprietor, Mr. Andrew Melville; Manager, Mr. J. Hindle-Taylor.—Enthusiastic audiences are enjoying the stirring drama On His Majesty's Service, presented by Mr. Andrew Emm and company. Mr. Archie W. Chappell, in the rôle of Frank Fairway, earns warm approval; and Miss Rose Ralph makes an excellent heroine; Mr. John B. Shinton portrays an unscrupulous character as Captain Hedley, and as his accomplice, Miss Susie Beaven is convincing; Mr. Andrew Emm infuses lively spirit into the character of Wittles, the postman. The other parts are capably represented, and bright uniforms and good scenery make a splendid show.

ASTON THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee, Mr. C. Barnard; General-Manager, Mr. E. Hewitson; Manager, Mr. F. Martin Morris.—Mr. Wentworth Croke is presenting The Bondman to appreciative audiences here. Mr. Philip Darien makes the most of his opportunities in the part of Jason; Mr. Stanley Harrison as Michael, the half-brother, scores a success; Mr. W. H. Rotheram displays ability in the rôles of Grandfather and Father Ferrati. Miss Violet Macaree is enthusiastically applauded for a skilful portrayal of Greeba; and Miss Maude Laverton is clever as Mrs. Fairbrother.

CARLTON THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. James Alexander.—Mrs. Frank Bateman's company is presenting here The Way Women Love and a version of Camille. Mrs. Bateman displays considerable ability, and is well supported by a clever company.

THE EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. W. Matcham; Assistant-Manager, Mr. A. Williams.—The excellent standard of the bills at this house is well-maintained this week. A spectacular protean sketch, Change, on an ambitious scale, is successfully played by the Jewels; merriment is caused by Mr. W. Fullbrook and company, in Astronomy; Billie Burford, a prime favourite, sings chorus songs delightfully; Dion Wade is an up-to-date comedian and mimic; the Galtz Trio are skilful performers on the globes and wire; a pleasing entertainment is provided by James Stewart at the piano; J. H. Scotland is an accomplished vocalist; Jean and Josie are warmly applauded for a novel contortion act; and Jennie Alexander is a pleasing juvenile comedienne.

GRAND.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. Foster; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Henry Lucas.—Patrons are hailing with delight the appearance of Mme. Alice Esty, the famous prima-donna, and she has a great reception in selections from her répertoire; a fine spectacular production, entitled Our Empire Defenders, in which 100 Birmingham children perform, is pre-

COPY OF TESTIMONIAL.

T. Harris, Esq., Kennington,
The Chemical Cleaning and Dyeing Co. 7th January, 1910.

Dear Mr. Harris,

In reply to yours, the whole of the curtains and fittings were in position as per your promise and they really look splendid; in fact, in my opinion, they could not be improved upon. You have carried out this work for Mr. Arthur (as you always do) in an unequalled manner.

Yours faithfully,
H. B. BRANDRETH.
Business Manager for Mr. Robert Arthur at Kennington

sented by Wallace Selkirk; O'Gust proves himself a clever mimic; Victor Travers amuses with original travesties; Herbert Shelley appears in a clever protean drama; Ethel Newman presents a good monologue; the Miles-Stavordale Quintette are clever instrumentalists; the Four Regals are muscular marvels; and Frank le Dent, comedy juggler; Odeyne Spark, and the Bioscope are also popular.

GAIETY.—General Manager, Mr. Albert Bushell.—Audiences are delighted with the bright and vivacious performance of Miss Zona Vevey, who appears with Max Erard, in a clever vocal and musical scena, a number of choruses being heartily taken up; Lila Vesta, a talented singer, quickly earns popularity; and Luis Hardt, "the boy Samson," gives a wonderful display of strength. Baker and Balfe are expert xylophonists and dancers; and the Six Olympians provide an astonishing turn of trick cycling. Clive and Vera are an entertaining pair; W. B. Raby is a popular and up-to-date comedian; Eva Elsie has a good reception as vocalist; and the Gaietoscope exhibits new moving pictures.

HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Tom Barrasford; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. D. Elbourne; Assistant-Manager, Mr. C. Baldry.—The McBann's appear here in a novel and skilful juggling act; The Lady Jockey is the title of a sketch effectively played by Miss Teddy Edmond's company; a varied vocal entertainment is given by the Romps; pleasing songs are rendered by Rob Rossie, a tenor singer from the Isle of Man; Baby Vi Davis is a clever little performer, with a bright future; Dale and O'Malley are big favourites here; and others on the programme are Foot-Gers, a versatile French comedian; Flake White, lightning sketch artist; Maria Racko, in a skilful acrobatic act; Lena Wylie, who sings sweetly; Paulton and Doley, in a comedy cycle act; and living pictures on the Barrascope.

ASTON HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Aston Hippodrome, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. T. H. Middleton.—Mr. Jack Haddon's company is producing here The Babes in the Wood, one of the best travelling pantomimes in the provinces. Riotous fun is well sustained by a company of first-class comedians, including Mr. Victor Wallace (the Baron), August and September (the Robbers), and Mr. Harry Elliston (Euphemia Gadabout). Miss Marie Brayton is a vivacious and clever principal boy; and Miss Mabel Osborne is popular as Maid Marion. The Babes are represented by two dainty youngsters, Misses Marie and Elsie May. Miss Carry Parry sings well as the Fairy; and the John Lloyd Quartette are also well received in vocal items. The dancing is excellent, and the scenery pretty and effective.

CURZON HALL (AMERICAN AND CONTINENTAL CIRCUS).—Director and Organiser, Mr. A. Edward Inshaw; Acting-Manager, Mr. B. Inshaw.—The enterprise of the management here is reaping a rich reward. The Four Craigs figure prominently on the programme this week with a novel gymnastic performance; Captain Permane's performing bears are very entertaining, and there are several other new features.

BISHOP AUCKLAND.—EDEN THEATRE.—Lessees, Messrs. R. Addison, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. J. Huntley. — Messrs. Dottridge, Longden, and Livesey's company is here on a return visit. Mr. Sam Livesey plays the part of John Strong in his accustomed clever style; as Captain Leo, Mr. Joseph Carter is as good as ever; Mr. Thomas E. Marshall is a cunning Jeremiah Parkins, being finely assisted by Mrs. T. C. Livesey as Sal Parkins. Mr. Fred Haming pleases as Billy Twigg; Miss Rosie Kearns does well as Martha Mopps; Miss Cissie Le Grande makes the most of her part as Ruth Parkins; and Miss Maggie Edwards is all that can be desired as Kate Strong.

THE HIPPODROME (BISHOP AUCKLAND), LTD.—Managing-Director, Signor Pepi.—George Gray and company top the bill here in The Fighting Parson, which is very successful; Rex Fox is a good ventriloquist and a versatile performer on the wire; J. A. Wilson and his dog Towser are very clever; Arthur Lennox is a good diabolist and dancer; Hinton and Wooton, in their football match on bicycles keep the house alive; Helen Martin is charming in her singing; and the Hipposcope provides amusing pictures.

BLACKPOOL.—HER MAJESTY'S OPERA HOUSE.—Manager, Mr. R. Huddlestone.—Where is William? is submitted here by Mr. Charles Windermere and company. Mr. Windermere himself plays the principal part, and keeps his audience in a constant roar of laughter. He is ably assisted by Miss Belle Donaldson, who plays Lady Gregory. Minor parts are carefully sustained by Messrs. Wylie A. Thompson, Leslie Norman, Rule Pyott, and G. L. Burton, and Misses Clara Manifield, Leslie Russell, and Zoe Davis.

PALACE.—General-Manager, Mr. Geo. H. Harrop; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Waller.—Atlas and Vulcana are giving skilful exhibitions of strength; Barnes and West are responsible for a dancing act; and the Two Lillys present a clever equilibristic act; Bart Kemble is a capable comedian; Reno amuses with his comedy cycling performance; Rosie Archer is a pleasing mimic, who plays her own piano accompaniment; Gwennie Morgan is a good comedienne and dancer; and Vera Hindle is also a taking comedienne.

BLYTH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur C. Moody.—Mr. Douglas Bruce's company opened on Monday with The Girl Who Lost Her Character. In the part of the Rev. Robert Everton Mr. Joseph Millane gave a capital impersonation; Mr. Cecil Mannering in the dual rôles of Jack England and Private Johnson was rewarded with much applause; Miss Lydia Mannington was a satisfactory Marion Franklyn; Mr. Richard Ferris as Capt. Geoffrey Faversham was prominent; as James Sutton Mr. George Daiper made a good impression; and Miss Doris Brookes in Molly Vernon, the title-rôle, soon became a favourite.

BOLTON.—THEATRE ROYAL (LTD.).—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. John Moncur.—Mr. Elliston's pantomime of The Babes in the Wood entered on its second week on Monday, when the theatre was again crowded. La Belle Morgane as Robin Hood has established herself as a warm favourite, her song "Ship Ahoy" nightly bringing down the house. Other principals whose efforts are much appreciated are Miss Lilian Pollard, Miss Dolly Ross, the Sisters Herbert (the "Babes"), Miss Maud de Velin, and Messrs. C. Harvard, W. H. Howarth, Geo. Belrose, and Reuben Kitchen. The variety turns of the Lecardo Brothers, the Harvard Sextette, the Doreen Girls, and the Eight Tiny Tots are greatly enjoyed.

GRAND THEATRE (LTD.).—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Kenyon.—A good company is headed by the Aurora Troupe, who perform some truly wonderful cycling feats. Other turns are Chas. Grantley, comedian; the Calcots, in a wayside episode, Rags and Tatters; the Four Panamas, in their pantomimical specialty The Delineator; the Creo Brothers, comedy acrobats; France and Stewart, in their American racing comedy The 100 to 1 Chance; Richard Finberg, in character studies; Miss Ethel Thomas, "the Welsh nightingale"; Verno and Voyce, in their racing episode Sporting Luck; and the Premier Imperial Pictures.

EMPIRE HIPPODROME, LTD.—Director of Entertainments, Mr. Will Sley; Manager, Mr. A. R. Harrison.—Leoni Clarke, with his 200 cats, rabbits, monkeys, rats, mice, canaries, &c., proves a great attraction. The following make up a strong company; Mabel Moss, a refined comedienne; the Three Sisters Eston, who appear in a triple trapeze act; Wm. Lee and Helen Bentley, in their comedy sketch The King's Counsel; Bonair and Tess, in their Japanese quick-change act; the Renz Brothers, comedy acrobats and ladder performers; Harry Angers, comedian and dancer; the Six White Boys, in a novelty singing and dancing act; and the Hippodrome Pictures.

BOSCOMBE.—HIPPODROME, LTD.—Joint Managing-Directors, Messrs. Fredk. Mouillot and Walter de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. A. H. Burdett.—Dutch Daly is once again paying a visit with his inseparable concertina and funny stories; the Five Whiteleys give a clever acrobatic, wire-walking, and musical pot-pourri; Lee and Kingston popular comedy duo, are very successful in A Resourceful Lover; Ted Cowan is a quaint comedian; Harry Webber is indeed "the Happy Hebrew"; Hyde and Cody Trio are real eccentrics; and Harold Heath, coon delineator and dancer, is well applauded. The Hippo. Pictures conclude.

BRADFORD.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager, Mr. T. F. Doyle; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Richardson.—Jack and the Beanstalk may certainly be numbered amongst Mr. Hart's most brilliant and successful productions in the way of pantomime.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Lessee, Councillor F. Laidler; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. M. Hamilton.—The Forty Thieves is an established success, and [illegible] to finish the performance runs with a m[illegible] butes some remarkable skirt dancing; Kate Butler, comedienne, furnishes an acceptable item; and Mendel, the blind pianist, is astounding the audience with his remarkable powers of memory and his skill as an executant; Ruth Davenport, with grace and charm, submits vocal selections from Dorothy, which win unstinted applause; wonderful skill in animal training is exhibited in the unique performance of Reichen's tiny dogs; George Carney and Frank Armstrong simply convulse the audience with their grotesque humour; and Miller Bros., on the bars, give a clever and humorous display; Harry May Hamsley does some clever charcoal sketching and child mimicry; and Harry Roxbury, supported by a good company, and surrounded by a gorgeous Egyptian stage setting elicits laughter as Sergeant Longfellow.

THE PALACE.—Lessee, Mr. F. Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. E. Harrison.—Ruby Dahl introduces a novelty in her Merry Mannikins here this week, giving clever imitations of the working of life-size marionettes; and a clever grotesque musical act, with legmania dancing by the Phydoras is a leading feature of the capital programme; the Bristons, comedy cyclists, do some funny and daring tricks; Jennie Belmore furnishes an amusing character turn; H. C. Lovell and Co., are amusing as ever in the absurd sketch, Mlle. Pom Pom; roars of laughter once more greet Harry Tate's No. 1 company, in Motoring; Harry Brown, coloured comedian, is distinctly eccentric; Little Frank exhibits promise as a juvenile Scotch comedian, and is an acceptable deputy for Norah Desmond, vocalist; and the Palace Perfection Pictures are interesting.

BRIGHOUSE.—ALBERT THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. Henry N. Phillips; Manager, Mr. George W. Coe.—Her Road to Ruin is this week being staged here. Mr. Charles Dickens gives an excellent impersonation of Frank Temple; Mr. Alex. Bradley makes a good stage villain; Mr. Dane Clark is very capable as the Bishop; Mr. Kendrew Milson wins sympathy for his excellent delineation as Tom Wells; Miss Ada Champion submits an admirable representation of Jess; Miss Mabel Coleman deserves praise for a fine interpretation of a triple rôle; and Miss Maud Gill is charming as May Willoughby. The comedy element is in the able hands of Miss Grace Emery and Mr. Harry Talbot.

BRIGHTON. — GRAND THEATRE — Managing-Director, Mr. Ernest Gates; General-Manager, Mr. Ben Court.—Robinson Crusoe is still doing good business here. Owing to illness Mr. G. Sandford has been compelled to relinquish the part of Captain Kettle, which is now admirably undertaken by Mr. Jimmy Fergusson. The latter and Mr. Lyons as Corkscrew Bill, are a very humorous pair; and much amusement is also afforded by Mr. Davé O'Toole as Mrs. Crusoe, and Mr. George Campbell as Billy Crusoe, Miss May Mars (Robinson Crusoe) is a great favourite, and evokes enthusiasm with her artistic vocalisation; Miss Violet K. Orme makes a bright and engaging Polly Perkins; Miss Vera Ray is a graceful Fairy, and Mr. Joe Redfern a picturesque bold pirate, Will Atkins; Mr. Edgar Budden as Friday dances himself into favour; and able support is given by Miss Irene Rose and Mr. Fred A. Marston. The brilliant scenes depicting The Bottom of the Sea and The Rajah's Palace merit especial praise.

ALHAMBRA.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Alfred Smith; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. A. Smith.—Eugene Stratton, "the ideal coon," is enthusiastically applauded; the Crown Trio gives a vocal turn which is warmly appreciated; Billy Andrus and company are diverting in Troubles with a Tramcar; Haigh and Russell evoke much laughter with Aunt Amelia; Mostol provides a good musical entertainment; Julian Ross is a capital light comedian; Merlin manipulates cards very cleverly; Maud Wilton is a graceful comedienne; the Sisters Alfred are pleasing with song and dance; and the Alhambra Picturegraph is interesting and amusing.

HIPPODROME THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors Messrs. Barrasford and Smith; Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; Resident-Manager, Mr. B. J. Brown.—Barnold's dog and monkey actors are very entertaining in A Hot Time in Dogville, the turn evoking hearty laughter; John Grun Marx performs astonishing feats of strength; the Croisit Trio gives a clever gymnastic display; Wyllie, the tramp musician, is well received; Ritter and Foster are eccentric comedians and dancers; the Arthur Gallimore Trio are robust humorists; Billy Haines is a capital coon vocalist; the Daunton-Shaw troupe are daring and clever cyclists; and Mephisto is a mystifying illusionist.

WEST PIER.—Secretary, Mr. A. W. Scholey.—The musical fantasy, The Queen of the Fairies closes its run here this evening (Saturday). Miss Nora Roylance has been a great favourite in the title-rôle; Miss Blanche Kinross danced gracefully as Lady Mushroom; while, among the mortals, Mr. H. E. Garden as the Duke and Miss Florence Lynn as the Duchess gave admirable impersonations; and the young lovers, Lady Violet and Reginald Wane, were ably represented by Miss Kathleen Storr and Mr. Eric J. Langham.

BRISTOL.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Macready Chute.—Mother Hubbard continues to be highly successful, money being turned away at some performances. The magnificent scenery is much admired, as also are the electric ballets, and the costumes. Mr. Horace Mills as Mother Hubbard is really amusing, and scores with his songs; Miss Fairbrother is quaint and entertaining as Mary; Miss Alice Pollard and Miss Lulu Valli are pleasing in their respective parts of Goody and Reggie; Mr. George Barrett has made a fine part of Tacks; Mr. Charles Harvey makes the most of the Baron; and Mr. George Elliott has become very popular as Chocolate, his song and dance specialities being much appreciated. As a canine study Mr. Fred Conquest's Fido would be very hard to beat; and the numerous children engaged in the pantomime reflect much credit upon their trainer, Miss Leah Hanman, who both acts and dances well as Tric. Miss Norah Walters does excellently as the other fairy, Antic.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Resident-Manager, Mr. H. C. Alty.—Robinson Crusoe is doing remarkably well here. The comedy element is, as usual, strong, the comedians including Mr. Edwin Garth as Mrs. Crusoe, Mr. Frank Dunlop as Will Atkins, Mr. Charles F. Martell as the Bo'sun, and Mr. John R. Bennett as the Mate. Miss Kitty Upton increases in popularity as Robinson Crusoe; as also does Miss Blanche Marion as Polly Hopkins; the Misses Jeannette and Rosie Albert are pleasing as Captain Lanyard and Sally; and Mr. David Jenkins obtains much appreciation for his bass solos. Miss Judith Espinosa acts capitally as Friday, and she is a very expert dancer. The scenery of the pantomime is both pretty and appropriate, and the dresses are quite up to the mark.

PALACE.—Local Manager, Mr. Horace Livermore; Treasurer, Mr. F. J. V. Welchman.—Alan Holt and company successfully head the bill with the realistic sketch, A Society Woman. Cassie Walmer entertains most effectively with song and dance; Jack Hylton, comedian, is appreciated; the Pichel Troupe, five in number, score as risley acrobats and tumblers; Pop Dearly is a pleasing singer of coon songs; Mr. and Mrs. George Leonard amuse with their comedy sketch, Coming Home; and Earle and Godfrey do well as duettists and dancers. Animated pictures conclude.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. B. Pearce Lucas; Resident-Manager, Mr. Sid Macaire.—Al Fields and Dave Lewis and company present, with much success, their comedy skit, The Misery of a Hansom Cab; Alexandra Dagmar, comedienne, does an excellent turn, her songs being both amusing and cleverly rendered; Rose Atherton and company entertain with their clever farcical absurdity, Murphy's Affinity; Len Teel, comedian, obtains appreciation; the Three Krakes score with their knockabout comedy act, "The Electric Tram Conductor"; Archie Glenn, comedian and dancer, is successful; Vere Lennie is a pleasing comedienne; and Barn and Bardell, patter comedians, do well in their line. Interesting animated pictures close the entertainment.

COLSTON HALL.—Poole's Myriorama is attracting large houses at each entertainment, and the variety artists do excellent turns. The band is a good one, and the animated pictures are all up to date.

BURNLEY.—VICTORIA OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. C. Horner.—When Knights Were Bold is delighting people here this week. Mr. James Welch's company is a strong one, Mr. Langdon Bruce taking first place as Sir Guy de Vere, wherein he maintains a continual state of merriment; Sir Brian Ballymote is well played by Mr. Gerald Venning; as is the Rev. Peter Pottlebury by Mr. Colin Johnson. Mention must be made of Miss Ernita Lascelles as Lady Rowena; Mr. Charles Lloyd as Isaac Isaacson; and Mr. H. Winton as the Hon. Charles Widdicombe. A very pleasant one-act comedy, Millie's Mother, precedes.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. C. Horner.—The programme here is drawing excellent houses. The Riogoku Family of seven Japanese earn well-merited applause for thrilling acrobatics; a capital turn is provided by Richard Wally, juggler, and his page-boy, smart execution and quaint humour predominating; Harry Drew-Welsh, basso, is greatly appreciated; and the Mars Trio, military gymnasts, give a good display; Carl Muller is a clever dancer; and Fallows and Beaumont provide an enjoyable vocal comedy turn; Gladys Hooley charms the house with her brilliant violin solos; and Motor-boat Racing and An Egyptian Mummy are shown by the Empire Theatrescope.

PALACE THEATRE AND HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. R. Badcoe.—The Albert and Edmunds company, in a farcical comedy The Tower of London, is the principal turn here, and is highly successful; Conway and Leyland, the merry monopedes, are welcomed in their smart acrobatic turn; the Carney Bros. win approbation for well sung duets; and Fritz Kornau pleases with flute imitations; the Stein-Esthor Trio of comedy hand-jumpers are very good; and a pretty turn is given by Beatrice Willey in a medley of old flower songs; Harry Luck sings two lively songs; Alex. Lofton, coloured comedian, is very good; and the Palace Perfection Pictures are appreciated.

BURTON-ON-TRENT. — NEW THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. H. G. Dudley Bennett; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. De Hague Body.—Alfred Paumier and Walter Howard's company present The Midnight Wedding here. Mr. A. E. Winnington Barnes gives an earnest and powerful impersonation of the hero, Paul Valmar. The villainous Von Scarbruck and his tool, Von Strelsburg, are depicted with virulent intensity by Mr. Chas. Whitlock and Mr. St. George Frere. The idiosyncrasies of the three soldier comrades and the vivacious waitress (Kathie) are amusingly portrayed by Mr. Jas. E. Page, Mr. Wm. Franklin, Mr. Algie Spalding, and Miss Jessica Black. A sympathetic heroine with a judicious mingling of passion and pathos is Miss Margaret Brodie as the Princess Astrea. Miss Gwladys Faunce, Mr. John Nesbit, and Mr. Forbes Harrison creditably sustain their respective characters. The play is well staged.

BURY ST. EDMUNDS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—General-Manager, Mr. Auguste A. Peuleve.—Mr. G. W. Bowes' company in The Sign of the Cross has drawn good houses. Mr. Leonard Yorke as Marcus Superbus not only looks the part, but acts with commendable power; Mr. G. Osmond Tearle's Tigellinus is a creditable performance; Nero and Licinius are portrayed with sinister force by Mr. Aubrey Fitzmaurice and Mr. Evan Davies; Mr. Donald McAdam (Glabrio) and Mr. Theo Leslie (Philodemus) provide considerable amusement; Favius and Titus are effectively played by Mr. Edward Clowes and Mr. Aubrey; Miss Florence Maber is a graceful and sympathetic Mercia; the rôle of Bernis is filled by Miss Gabriel Romero with conspicuous success; a vivacious Dacia is found in Miss Lilian Ward; Miss Margaret Wall makes a stately Empress; and Stephanus is played with deep pathos by Miss Effie Dane. The play is well mounted.

CAMBRIDGE. — NEW THEATRE. — Managing-Director, Mr. W. B. Redfern, J.P., D.L.—Hall Caine's Pete has achieved a great success here. Messrs. Smith and Carpenter's company is responsible for the production. Mr. Austin Milroy has a fine stage appearance, and as Pete is admirable; Miss V. Malcolm Barnett as Kate Cregeen is also worthy of the highest praise, carrying the audience entirely with her; Mr. Frank Stone, a capable actor, gives a highly finished rendering of Cæsar Cregeen; Mr. Alfred Gray is also very good as Philip Christian; Mr. J. Edward Fletcher is a convincing Ross Christian; and Mr. E. J. Preston cleverly impersonates the Mayor of Douglas. Miss Lucy Murray, in a small part, Nancy, is particularly good.

CARDIFF.—NEW THEATRE.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Robert Redford.—Dick Whittington has eclipsed all previous pantomimes in Cardiff. Huge business is being done, and Messrs. Milton Bode and Robert Redford thoroughly deserve the success which has so early crowned their brilliant entertainment.

THEATRE ROYAL.—General Manager, Mr. Graham Morrison; Acting-Manager, Mr. S. E. Clay.—Mother Goose has entered upon its third week, and the anticipated success has become a reality. The management can be fully satisfied with the result of their first pantomime in the city, and patrons express the hope that the final performance is far distant.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. J. Taylor. — Miss Evie Greene makes a welcome appearance, and charms all by her style and manner; Harold Nuttall's company is seen in The Ghost of Jerry Bundler, in which Mr. Martyn Roland scores a great success; the Abdullah Arabs astound all by their wonderful acrobatic skill; Harry Grey brings down the house by his amusing female skit; Tate and Tate, a capital duo, thoroughly deserve the hearty applause accorded their acrobatics; Spry and Monti are another successful couple; and the Elite Harmony Boys in a vocal act; Stanley and Greenop, in an exhibition of banjo playing; and Olive Armidale, in a taking song, contribute also to the success.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. W. A. Jackson.—The representation on the Bioscope of the contest between Tom Thomas and Charlie Wilson for the Middle-weight Championship of England is distinctly clear, and a good record of the fight is given. Dan Whitley, the popular comedian, makes a return visit, and causes abundant fun with his comical antics and humorous sayings; a first-class item is provided by the Five Tritons, vocalists and instrumentalists, who are adepts in their particular line, and gain applause; J. P. Carroll, soldier tambourinist, does a unique and clever turn, which is appreciated; and Les Montaldos, equilibrists on the slack wire, and introducing highly-trained parrots and cockatoos, obtain their share of applause. Walter Buxton, descriptive vocalist, has a fine voice; and Norah Stockelle, a charming soubrette, sings her numbers in a pleasing and captivating style. Frank Coyle, comedian, completes a good programme.

CARLISLE.—H. M. THEATRE.—Lessees, Mr. Thos. Courtice and Mr. R. Stewart M'Kim; Manager, Mr. Thos. Courtice.—Mr. Charles Elderton's pantomime, Aladdin is attracting big audiences. Mr. Elderton's company includes many clever and popular performers, and as the piece is smartly written, with plenty of genuine fun, the dresses tasteful, the music bright and sparkling, and the scenery pretty success is assured. Miss Maudie Vincent makes a dashing principal boy, singing and dancing with grace and skill; as the principal girl Miss M. Gibson soon became a favourite—her songs, "Somewhere" and "Your eyes have told me so," were excellently rendered and enthusiastically received; Miss Bella Terry and Miss Winnie Terry fill their parts admirably; Widow Twankey as played by Mr. Will Beanland is a most amusing and diverting character, laughter loud and long greeting his every effort; no less successful is Mr. Billy Melia, a comedian brimful of fun; Abanazar has a clever representative in Mr. Harry Harrop, whose patter songs are quite a feature of the performance; James and Alexander as the Policemen and Mr. J. Matchett, the Emperor, contribute fine vocal turns. The dancing all round is particularly good, the Lottie Stone Quartette, Stean and Melia, and the Mimosa Troupe giving some clever examples of the art. Claremont and Victor, comedy acrobats, Li-Chang-Hi, conjurer, and Morrisey, balancing musician, are also smart and deservedly popular turns.

CASTLEFORD.—ROYAL.—Sole Proprietor and Licensee, Mr. Chas. Gadsby; Business-Manager, Councillor Hy. Masterman J.P.—Mr. E. Hill-Mitchelson's The King and the Unknown Woman appeals very effectively to audiences here. The rôle of Zora, the unknown woman, is filled by Miss Violet Carlyle, whose representation of the character is clever and studied; Countess Melvitch is well placed in the hands of Miss Gertrude Sterrol; Miss Stella Richmond makes a charming Else, and plays with vivacity and grace; Mr. Wellesley Draper as Prince Loris plays with much effect; Mr. Stephen E. Scanlan gives a forcible rendition of the villain, Prince Menski; the dignified General Platz is faithfully portrayed by Mr. W. R. Winning; Mr. Cyril Harrison makes a droll Captain Gara; Mr. J. Tilly-Dillsen and Miss Cissie Podmore receive liberal applause for their humorous portrayals of Corporal Stack and Schnapps; and Miss Elsie Clarke is easy and natural as Cascar.

QUEEN'S THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, The Castleford Queen's Theatre Co., Ltd.; Managing-Directors, Messrs. Charles Beanland and W. H. Emerson.—The chief attraction here is Henriette de Serris' Living Art Masterpieces and Bas-relief, which cause considerable interest; Raglus is a smart ball manipulator, and his humorous by-play arouses roars of laughter; Harry Bickley's songs and funny stories receive generous appreciation; Cliffe and Vanstan (Maud and Eveline) in a musical comedy duologue meet with considerable success; Sara Rosebury, with sweet and tuneful voice and quaint dialect stories, is enthusiastically applauded; Ernest Montefiore and company, in their musical sketch The Little Colonel, are heartily applauded; Elsie Malpass is a clever child mimic, and her dancing is smart and graceful; and Bert Friere sings a couple of songs with much spirit. The pictures of the Loyal Dominion Co. are as popular as ever.

CHATHAM. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Proprietors, Messrs. C. and L. Barnard; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lionel Barnard.—Aladdin is produced by Fred Granville's Productions, Ltd. In the title-rôle Miss Amy Bellwood proves a great favourite; Miss Beatrice Harris is the Princess Badroulbadour, and gives a pleasing impersonation; Mr. Bert Harrow scores a decided success as Abanazar; Mr. Happy Attwood is admirably suited in the part of Widow Twankey, and Bernard and Weston give valuable assistance as Bossi and Wrong 'Un.

BARNARD'S PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. L. B. Barnard.—At the top of the bill is the Six Brothers Luck's Company in The Demon of the Cellar, which proves as laughable as ever; Shirley and Ransome make a hit in Jim's Pal; Henrietta and Selina win much applause for their musical act; Fred Herbert's topical and patriotic ditties are much enjoyed; Allsopp and Beckworth amuse with His First Lesson in Acting; and others appearing are Clivetto, comedy juggler; and Ken Jones, comedian.

CHELTENHAM. — OPERA HOUSE. — General-Manager, Mr. H. Oswald Redford; Mr. George Edwardes's excellent company opened to a crowded house on Monday with The Dollar Princess. Miss Norah Barry and Mr. Alec Worcester act with distinction in the leading parts of Alice Conder and Freddy Fairfax; Mr. Sydney Lyndon and dainty Miss Peggy Primrose as the second pair of lovers, John, Earl of Quorn and Daisy Conder, enact pleasantly their little comedy of the affections; Miss Primrose sings and dances charmingly; Mr. Leslie Holland, a popular local favourite, does excellent work as Harry Conder, and with him is associated Miss Madeleine Seymour, a handsome and attractive Olga, the lion queen; Mr. W. H. Rawlins gets no end of fun out of the part of Mr. Bulger, hopelessly in love with the fascinating Countess—his song "Again my heart goes pit-a-pit-a-pat" was trebly encored on Monday; Mr. J. Cranstoun Neville is amusingly comical as Conder's cousin, Dick, and the head footman, Sir James MacGregor, Bart., is very quaintly studied by Mr. Willie Wardo, jun.; Miss Doris Joy as Dulcie du Cros and Miss Kathleen Rich as Sadie Von Tromp do well, as do the Misses Eva Wright, Mabel Thornton, Ethel Hampton, and Gertrude Miller as the Ladies Augusta, Dorothy, Gwendoline, and Margaret; Miss Muriel Hodgson is good as Hon. Edith Dalrymple and Mr. J. Bates as the Butler, Duke of Stonehenge. The work of the full chorus and augmented orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Ernest Vousden, is all that could be desired. The staging and dressing are fine.

CHESTER. — ROYALTY THEATRE. — Proprietors, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. B. Fountaine.—This is the third and last week of Messrs. St. John Denton and Peter Davey's beautiful pantomime, Blue Beard, which still continues to draw large and delighted audiences. Last week the special novelty was the remarkably clever and extremely funny comic juggler Cestria, whose antics hugely delighted the Chester public. This week Polo and Florence, the famous Parisienne equilibrists, prove a welcome addition to the delights of pantomimic fun and splendour.

COLCHESTER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Chas. Macdona; Lessee and Manager, Mr. F. Graham Macdona.—Mr. George Dance's company is winning success with Our Miss Gibbs. In the title-rôle Miss Elfie Vincent is lissom, gay, and spirited; Mr. Vincent Erne, in the Yorkshire character of Timothy, evokes roars of merriment; Mr. Eustace Burnaby as Hon. Hughie is throughout a great favourite; Mr. J. S. Durant is a capital Slithers; Mr. Arthur S. Radcliff makes a good Lord Eynsford; and Mr. A. Gordon Begg a polished Earl of St. Ives. Miss Ellaline Thorne is admirable as the modiste, Jeanne; and Miss Lilian Birtles made the most of the part of Lady Elizabeth; the Duchess being characteristically depicted by Miss Amy Singleton. Miss Florence Hylton is a capital Mrs. Farquhar.

HIPPODROME.—Directors, Messrs. Fredk. Mouillot and Walter de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ben de Frece.—Mr. Fredk. Mouillot's company is presenting A Message from Mars, and the management are skilfully advertising it by means of some capital sky signs. Mr. Aidan Lovett as Horace is good, and in the fore part of the last act attained a high degree of dramatic excellence. Mr. George Polson, with immobile countenance, demonstrates his ability to enact the part of Marsey; Mr. Norman Clark gives a realistic display of the "deadbroke"; and the numerous subsidiary male parts were very efficiently undertaken. Miss Rose Hellene makes a charming and ingenuous figure of Minnie; and as her guardian Miss Aubrey Ashton is skilful.

CONSETT.—NEW THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. Lloyd Clarance.—Mr. Wentworth Croke's company is here with The Christian. Mr. R. Scrope Quentin as the Hon. John Storm is interesting; Mr. John Blake excellently portrays Lord Robert Ure; Mr. Edward Ling as Father Lampiugh is well suited; Mr. Arthur Layland is a capital Horatio Drake; Mr. William Mallalieu is good as the Archdeacon, and as Lord Storm Mr. W. Ellis deserves praise; Miss Muriel Marsden's Glory Quayle calls for the highest praise; Miss Alice Maude as Mrs. Callender is good, and as Polly Love Miss Cissie Murdoch is well received.

CORK.—OPERA HOUSE.—Manager, Mr. R. J. Bell.—Mr. Louis Calvert's company opened here this week with Sunday by Mr. Racewood. Miss Janet Lind, in the title-rôle gave a really convincing study. The "boys," as represented by Mr. Richard F. Symons (Towzer), Mr. Launcelot Lowther (Davy), Mr. James Hussey (Lively), and Mr. George Marriott (Jacky) were all excellent, and Mr. Bryce Williams as Arthur Brinthorpe, and Mr. William Giffard as Colonel Brinthorpe were also very good; Miss H. Graham Edwins as Mrs. Naresby and Miss Jessie Stone as the Nun were successful. Mr. Henry Arthur Jones's play Dolly Reforming Herself is billed for Saturday night.

PALACE THEATRE, LTD.—Manager, Mr. Thos. F. O'Brien.—The bill presented here is headed by a musical comedy, entitled The Prince of the Dandies, which provides plenty of fun; Will Cornish, musical bell expert, is entertaining; the Four Amaranths introduce a number of graceful acrobatic dances; Walter Wade, comedian, succeeds in entertaining his hearers; Henry and Tyler, cyclists, give an excellent turn; Henry Bekker, assisted by Miss Maie, gives a clever exhibition as a conjurer; Rosie Wells dances nicely; and the Palacescope pictures are new and entertaining.

COVENTRY.—THE OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. Wm. Bennett.—Messrs. Walter Howard and Mr. Alfred Paumier's principal company is here with The Prince and the Beggar Maid, by Walter Howard. Miss Stella Campbell gives a charming portrayal of the character of Monica, Princess of Illyria; Mr. C. W. Standing acts with conspicuous success the part of Prince Olaf; the difficult part of the deformed Prince Michael is in the capable hands of Mr. Lionel Gadsden; Mr. Mayor Cooke is good as the stern Prince Hildred; and Mr. S. B. Farbridge acts creditably the part of the Bishop of Illyria.

HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. S. T. Newsome; Resident-Director, Mr. G. E. Wright.—The premier honours here must be given to the famous O'Kabe family, a wonderful troupe of Japanese artists, who present some marvellous feats of equilibrism, bending, turning somersaults, &c.; a farcical sketch, entitled Poor Beggar, by Mr. John Lehay and company, causes roars of laughter; Lady Mansel's Juveniles appear in a comedy speciality, styled A Concert Rehearsal; the Wartana Trio of jugglers give a fine juggling display; the Haverleys, the American song illustrators, have an attractive entertainment; and other artists are Bertha de Pas, songstress; Phil Parsons, comedian; and Frank Lynne.

CROYDON. — GRAND THEATRE. — Manager, Mr. Roland Daniel; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Ernest Archer.—Mr. Mouillot's pantomime company in Cinderella is here for a fortnight, and is meeting with cordial greetings. Pretty scenery and dresses and a handsome chorus are noteworthy features. Miss Molly McIntyre makes a sweet and enchanting Cinderella and is a great favourite; Miss Mimi Fisher is bright and attractive as Dandini; Miss Madge Beresford's fine stage presence admirably fits the rôle of Prince Charming; Miss Ray Vivien is capital as Melissa; Miss Kitty Allen is fascinating as Martha; and Misses Ethel Leicester and Ebba Darcher are neat as Lord Chamberlain and the Fairy Crystal. Mr. Ralph Roberts makes a big hit with his whimsical rendering of Baron Blighter; Mr. Martin Reno is very quaint and curious as the Baroness Blighter; Mr. Frankland Grey contributes his full quota of fun as Araminta; Mr. Charles Caffrey causes genuine mirth as Buttons, the page; and a word is due to Mr. Tim Ryley as Lord Factotum. Special mention must be made of the weird and cleverly-executed dance of Miss Margaret Bright-Morris as the Spirit of the Forest. The Four Sydney Girls introduce some interesting dances; and Chevalier Le Grand commendably conducts the augmented orchestra.

EMPIRE PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Managing-Directors, Messrs. Walter Gibbons and Thomas Barrasford; Manager, Mr. Eustace Jay.—Fred Karno's company is keeping the house agog with merriment in the sporting sketch The Yap Yaps; G. H. Chirgwin is causing his usual sensation; Frank Seeley, comedian, scores; Thorpe and Coe are great in the comedy act My Burglar;. Tom Collins, comedian, is much liked; Lux's dogs are well trained; Cole and Rags are smart in a comedy juggling act; Lalie Brooke's scena "Girls, Past and Present," wins applause; the Three Cunards are capital in a dancing act; and Sadie Bizet, comedienne, and the Bioscope pictures, are interesting.

DARLINGTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr.

DUBLIN.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frederick Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Charles Terry.—The third week of the Moody-Manners season commenced on Monday, when Aida was again presented before a large and appreciative audience. Mme. De Vere Sapio acquitted herself with artistic ability as the Ethopian slave, and Mr. Philip Brozel successfully represented the Captain (Radames); as the High Priest, Ramphis, Mr. Charles Manners sang splendidly, and acted with his accustomed ability; Mr. Charles Magrath acted and sang admirably as the King of Egypt; and Mr. Lewys James was very good as Amonasro. Miss Marie Louise Rogers gave a very clever portrayal of Amneris. The staging and dresses were very elaborate, and the choruses excellently sung, and Herr Richard Eckhold conducted in capital style. On Tuesday night, before a very large and fashionable audience, the first production in English of Saint-Saëns' Samson and Delilah was given. Mlle. Zelie de Lussan gave a passionate and voluptuous performance as Delilah, her treatment of the aria "Softly awakes my heart," being magnificent; Mr. Joseph O'Mara as Samson did not spare himself; Mr. William Dever, in the part of the High Priest and Mr. Magrath as the aged Hebrew did excellent work, and Herr Eckhold gave great attention to the choral and orchestral preparation.

GAIETY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fredk. Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Charles Hyland.—Dick Whittington and His Cat has proved a success here. Miss Kathleen Grey has become a very popular favourite, and her songs are warmly encored; and Miss Ethel Mann also gains a fair share of applause for her excellent vocalism in the part of Sunshine. Of course, Wee Georgie Wood is no doubt the biggest hit in the pantomime, and his business, which is really smart and clever for a youngster, causes amusement. Mr. Julian Mack is capital as Selina, and his clever rendering of several very good songs gains him deserving applause. Miss Adela Crispin dances gracefully and sings her songs with a charming and pleasing manner. The remaining parts are also well done.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Marriott Watson; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. F. Wright.—This popular theatre of amusement opened again on Monday after a successful fortnight's pantomime with the sensational drama A Woman Worth Winning. Mr. Percy Norman's No. 1 company is an excellent one, and Mr. Gilbert Standing displayed his abilities cleverly in the rôle of Amos Pauloff; Mr. Carl Kerzo was an able exponent of the character of Fergus Lovinsky; Miss Trixie Leighton acted with great dramatic power and skill as Lola Kalnovsky, and Miss Margaret Noble gave an admirable reading of Roma Pauloff. Mr. C. W. Black also did very well as Bertie Scribbles; Mr. A. B. Mackay made a capital General Borinski; and the other parts were adequately fulfilled.

EMPIRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager and Secretary, Mr. George H. Marsh.—The chief item here this week is the Great Roland, assisted by Miss Marjorie Russell, in his clever illusion act, which is well received; O'Malley and Brown, the popular comedians, keep the house convulsed with laughter; and Tom Finglass, the original cowboy coon, scores a decided success. Mlle. Haydee's miniature vaudeville theatre is very entertaining and amusing; and Fred Kendal, Hebrew comedian, meets with a warm reception. The dancing act of Mackintosh and Royal is nightly encored, and Dean Swift is a capital tenor vocalist. Miss Jessie Albini and the Empire pictures complete the programme.

TIVOLI.—General-Manager, Mr. Charles M. Jones; Assistant-Manager, Mr. H. A. Murphy.—Miss Harriett Vernon heads the bill here, and repeats her former success. Also appearing are Alpho, the ventriloquial college boy; Peakman and Walsh, comedy jugglers; Leslie Race, vocal comedian; Rell and Butt, in their comedy act Fun in a Garden; Ross and Grayson, the quaint comedy couple; Gertrude Blanche, comedienne; Williams' Welsh Minstrels; Jules Kiaro, equilibrist; and the Bioscope.

DUDLEY.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. Maurice Clement; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. W. Tilley.—Miss Marie Dagmar is presenting The Tyrant, which has made a deep impression. Mr. Roy Fortescue depicts the ferocious Angelo in a skilful and artistic manner; and the strength and realism displayed by Mr. Percy Follis as Homodei (the avenger) makes it entirely convincing. Another powerfully played part is that of Rudolph by Mr. Edward E. Louis. The comedy is in the capable hands of Mr. Wilson Summers as Victor and Mr. Fred Lonard as Nobbo, and these are ably abetted by the captivating Reginella of Miss Katie Lever. The thorough abandon of Miss Marie Robson as Tisbe causes the character to stand out prominently; Miss Jean Scott acts with true artistic skill as Lady Catherine; and Miss Lallah Shelton as Eulie and Miss Emmie Burns as Daphne fill their parts excellently.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, the Midland Entertainment Corporation, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. F. H. Waters.—An attractive programme is headed by Cestria, comic waiter, amusing in juggling, and exceedingly clever as an acrobat; Kirk and Saraski, girl aquatic marvels, accomplish a remarkable performance under water; Sibb and Sibb are smart and quick on the trapeze; Norman Holt, musical Lancashire lad, proves a strong favourite; as also does Sam Dalton, vocal eccentric. Lily Kirton, comedienne, and Lilian Travellie, light ballad vocalist, are dainty and charming. The Empire pictures are interesting.

DUNDEE.—HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Manager, Mr. Louis Karpe.—The initial success of Cinderella has been followed by a brilliant record, crowded houses having been attracted both to the matinée and evening performances. Miss Agnes Tandy as Prince Casimir plays and sings very attractively; Miss Felicia Firmin is a particular favourite, her Cinderella being quite a delightful study; Miss Dollie Hook (Duke of Whistbridge) keeps the audience in a flutter of delight with her dainty acting and singing, her song, "The girl in the clogs and shawl," being quite a feature of the pantomime; Mr. E. Statham Staples and Mr. Alfred Clark, as the Baron and Baroness respectively, with their well-contrasted methods of humour, have made a tremendous hit, and are increasingly happy in the diversion they create; a more energetic Dandini than Mr. Harry Ongar could not be wished—he is a capital vocalist, and dances with extraordinary agility; Mr. W. Leopold, jun., is a thoroughly amusing Capers, and is deservedly exceedingly popular; Misses Ethel Ramsay and Marianne Carozzi as the Ugly (?) Sisters and Miss Dorothy Moulton, the Fairy Godmother, all work hard and well for the production, which is the most complete and enjoyable in every detail submitted to a Dundee audience. The interests of the pantomime company are looked after in first-class style by Mr. Arthur Law Raynor.

KING'S THEATRE AND HIPPODROME, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Moul; Manager, Mr. S. McIntosh.—Topping a good all-round bill here are the Tan-Kwai Troupe of Chinese, whose turn is surely the last word in skill and daring; the Vays are much appreciated in their scena, Life in the Slums; Ethel Stephenson gains warm approval for her vocal tit-bits at the piano; Harry Morris scores both as character comedian and raconteur; Charles Erard is a skilful mimic and pianist; Elsie Bernard, a most meritorious performer, brings down the house with her up-to-date Yankee ditties and talk; Lenerix, a clever comedy juggler, is possessed of a vast fund of smart and humorous patter; Hayman and Leo, speciality artists, present a good show; and the Kingscope further adds lustre to the programme.

GAIETY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Moul; Manager, Mr. S. McIntosh.—Mr. Charles Harrington's company is here in the old favourite play, Uncle Tom's Cabin, which has received quite an ovation, especially from the younger members of the audience. Mr. J. H. Boehm scores a success as Uncle Tom, the emotional passages being excellently rendered; Phineas Fletcher finds a capable exponent in Mr. A. Hayes; as Mr. St. Clair Mr. Charles Harrington displays fine, dignified acting; Mr. G. Lubinoff presents a fine character sketch of the brutal Legree; Miss Hero Hathaway makes a sympathetic Eliza Harris; Miss E. Turner-Elliott gives a delightfully quaint impersonation of the prim Aunt Ophelia; Topsy is realistically rendered by Miss Annie Watson; Miss Gem Lloyd is a very pathetic and impressive Little Eva; and Cassie is graphically delineated by Miss Hettie Johnson.

KINNAIRD HALL.—Hamilton's Excursions are still proving popular here, and the courteous business-manager, Mr. Victor Hamilton, should be pleased with the patronage extended to them. As an entertainment, calculated to please both old and young alike, Hamilton's would indeed be hard to beat. The variety company remains the same as formerly noticed.

DUNFERMLINE.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Manager, Mr. W. E. Potts.—Mr. George Edwardes's company provided the bill of fare here for the first three nights of this week, in The Merry Widow. Mr. Robert Needham is highly successful as Prince Danilo; Miss Phyllis Le Grand is a charming and fascinating Sonia; Mr. H. Sinclair Cotter by his quaint performance of Baron Popoff establishes himself a general favourite; Mr. Arthur Geary is responsible for excellent singing in the part of Jolidon; Mr. Harry Emeric, a capital Nisch, joins Miss Mabel May as Frou-Frou in delightful dances; Mr. Tom H. David is highly appreciated as Marquis de Cascada; and Mr. Spencer Lloyd as M. de St. Brioche, Mr. Cecil Warwick as General Novokovitch, Mr. C. L. Steward as M. Khadja, and Mr. Clinton Reynald as Waiter all put in good work. Miss Neste Laurel is an effective Natalia. Miss Winifred Maude's company, in The Sins of a City was billed for the last three nights.

DURHAM.—THE PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. T. C. Rawes.—The Musical Marvels, in an excellent entertainment, head the bill; Halma, in masterpieces of manipulation, proves a favourite; and Emmie Ames is encored for her "Christmas Tree." The antics and jokes of Geo. Antill cause much laughter; the Donatos, one-legged clowns, are smart in an acrobatic act; Les Trippellos, including Little Ralph Goodcliffe, give a brilliant musical turn; Harry Bancroft, actor-vocalist, scores; and the Cathedoscope completes a capital bill.

EASTBOURNE.—DEVONSHIRE PARK THEATRE.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Murray King and Clark.—Mr. Robert Macdonald's company is appearing here this week in The Dairymaids. Mr. Edwin Dodds has a really funny style, and this clever comedian as Joe Mivens keeps the merriment in rapid motion; Mr. William Spray is full of life and movement as Lieut. Sam Brudenell; Mr. Bernard Vaughan is a hearty, benevolent Dr. O'Byrne; and Mr. Herbert Lugg does well as Frank. Miss Dorothy Grasdorff, pretty and attractive, sings sweetly and acts very pleasingly as Peggy; Miss May Casson, too, is a gifted vocalist and a happy Winifred; Miss Edna Russell is a dainty and efficient Helen; Miss Edie Martin very cleverly provides much laughter as Eliza, the maid; Miss Mabel Medrow is a handsome and dignified Lady Brudenell; and a large number of pretty, shapely ladies add to the attractions. Mr. Albert Vernon is the musical director.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr Sidney W. Winter; Manager, Mr. E. W. Holford.—Heading the bill here this week is Miss May Henderson, whose brightness, merriment, and clever dancing leave not a dull moment in her act as the dusky queen; Miss Bessie Mackenzie has a voice of much power and sweetness; Manson and West have a diverting sketch; Miss Nora Guy is an interesting and refined comedienne; Frazer, Iris, and French sing and dance ably; Mr. Harry Hasto, comedian, sings in good style; and the Dutrees are a couple of lightning artists who sketch well.

ECCLES.—CROWN THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. Albert Rogers.—Miss Edie Veno is responsible for a most agreeable turn; an old favourite, Miss Fanny Robina, meets with well-merited approval; Mr. Monty Walker, comedian, provides an amusing ten minutes; the Merrions give a clever comedy sketch; Messrs. Ford and Hanson, the musical millionaires, submit a variety of musical items interspersed with comedy; Miss Florence Cooper is a young singer of ability with a very pleasing style; Wilkinson and Layton in their sketch create laughter; and Tony Freedman is a good light comedian. The sensation of the evening is provided by Tom Grave with his new motor act, entitled "Whizzing the wheel and shooting the bar." The Bioscope completes a good programme.

EDINBURGH.—KING'S THEATRE.—General Manager, Mr. Amand Mascard.—Mr. Fred Granville's pantomime, The Babes in the Wood, now in its fourth week, wears well, and the performers work briskly together. The humours of the comedians create much merriment, one of the best hits being Messrs. Will Terry and Sam Fry's parody of the "Somewhere" song; while among the specialities none is more diverting than the educated donkey. Tomato, and its trainer. The singing of the Prize Vocal Sextette is among the most delightful successes of the entertainment; and the songs contributed by the Juvenile Follies, the Babes, Miss Kitty Douglas, Miss Mollie Woolstenhulme, and Miss Dolly Elsworthy, are all duly appreciated.

EMPIRE PALACE THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. Aynsley Cook.—Miss Ruth Vincent takes the lead this week with varied selections from an extensive repertory of songs, which are greatly enjoyed. The boomerang hat throwing of Moran and Wiser is sensational in its way, as well as amusing; the Bensons appear in a vocal musical comedy act, The Page and the Maid; Ross and Lewis provoke occasional merriment with their humorous dancing idiosyncrasy; and the Royal Delomes give a smart display as specialists in The Phantom Clogs. Outstanding items are contributed by the Lukushima Troupe of Japanese entertainers, and by the Musical Jees, in The Musical Smithy. Of the comedian turns, Harry Bedford is heard in several new songs; Harry Leybourne repeats his diverting imitations of a village concert; Rita Rhylle is a pleasing comedienne; and the American Bioscope is in evidence with interesting pictures.

COOKE'S ROYAL CIRCUS.—Proprietor, Mr. John Henry Cooke; Manager, Mr. Talbot Cooke.—Siberia is proving a strong attraction here. The piece is full of realistic touches of Russian life, and affords graphic glimpses of the hardships and sufferings entailed upon the miserable exiles to the bleak province of Siberia. The programme is otherwise a strong one. A graceful, pretty act is given by the Misses Cooke, in the character of two prairie girls; Mlle. Cilla is seen to advantage in a stirrup vaulting performance; and Miss Marie de Carteret is heard in a pleasing song scena, "The Goblin Man"; Mahatma and Steen provide an extremely clever thought-reading entertainment, in which they display remarkable powers of divining the wishes and guessing the thoughts of members of the audience. The clowning is admirable, Talberto and Douglas, Piccolo and Fiore, and Shadow contributing to the general merriment. An amusing leaflet taking off the political situation is issued by Talberto.

MOSS' CARNIVAL.—Manager, Mr. W. Campbell Milne.—For the closing week of the carnival an entirely new programme, attractive and varied, is presented. The Haydas Troupe of acrobats give an extraordinary display of agility in their gymnastic feats; Menotti, a Swedish tight-wire performer, evokes great enthusiasm by his daring entertainment; Mr. Walton's dogs and Leroux's monkeys show the intelligence of these animals, and the extent to which training can develop their natural powers of observation and sagacity; Zanora and Berg, American comedy cyclists, are amusing and clever in their trick riding act; Lanos and Montes provide an excellent budget of fun in their eccentric acrobatic performance; Sauteron's champion jumpers submit a smart act; and Bob Brown, miniature Hercules, does several weight-lifting feats. A feature of the programme is a wrestling tournament, for which many well-known athletes have entered including Kara Ibrahim, Turk; McDonald, of Glasgow; Noel Le Bordelais, Frenchman; Carl Johanson, Swede; Karlsaff, German; Versen, Dane; and Sutherland, of Edinburgh.

ELLESMERE PORT.—HIPPODROME AND PICTURE PALACE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Corelli and Co.—The following contribute to the fine programme here:—Besley and Hughes, in a comedy sketch; Barry Mills, light comedian; Kitty Hildrew, comedienne and dancer; Globella, who gives an acrobatic performance on the rolling globe; Laff Jolly, comedian; Snowball and Mac, comedy duettists; Le Hurst, ventriloquist; and Walker's "Would-be Acrobats."

EXETER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Chairman and Managing Director, Mr. Edward J. Domville, J.P.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy M. Dunsford.—Red Riding Hood still continues to attract crowded houses, and there is little doubt that this season's pantomime has proved even more successful than its predecessors. New songs, gags, and other business have now been introduced, which tend to enhance the attractions of an already charming production.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred Karno; Resident and Acting-Manager, Mr. Frederick Sandy.—Gordon's Juveniles (12 in number), who top this week's bill, are winning much success in their scena, The Waif; V. L. Granville scores in no uncertain fashion in his presentation of the protean play, Twixt Dawn and Daylight, the five characters in which are all depicted in realistic style by himself; Nellie Brierley, the Lancashire pit brow soprano, sings sweetly; Roma and Romani are a pair of classical musicians possessed of talent of no mean order; ridiculous Reco contributes a clever burlesque acrobatic act; and another interesting item is the trick cycling of Lillian.

FALKIRK.—THE GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. H. W. Ebbutt.—The Flag Lieutenant is here played by Messrs. Lyn Harding and Sidney Cooper's company. Mr. Edgar Kent was admirable as Richard Lascelles; William Thesiger was capitally presented by Mr. Montagu Love; Miss Stella Leigh as Mrs. Cameron filled the part with conspicuous ability.

FOLKESTONE.—PLEASURE GARDENS THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. H. W. Rowland.—From the crowded house on Monday night it is quite evident that Murray, King, and Clark's pantomime, Dick Whittington, is entirely suited to the public taste. The cast is remarkably well chosen, and the highest praise is due to Mr. F. Maxwell Stewart for his selection. The play is adequately mounted, and the numerous scenes are very effective. Miss Gertrude Gilliam in the title-rôle makes a capital principal boy. She sustains the character with bright vivacity, and is quite successful in the latest songs, which provoke considerable applause. The rôle of Alice is filled in a delightful and dainty manner by Miss Norah Dwyer, her songs being sung with much verve and finish; Mr. Murray King is seen to excellent advantage as Idle Jack, his quaint songs and humour keeping the house in continuous laughter; as Alderman Fitzwarren Mr. Ardene Linden is a capable comedian; and much amusement is created by Messrs. Herbert Walton and Jamie Dallas as Captain Pott and Peter Pann, the dancing of the latter being exceptionally good. Miss Edith Jefferies merits praise as Felina the Fairy Queen, her singing being sweet and tuneful; Mr. T. R. Pinaud, jun., does full justice to the part of Tobias, the cat; as Phyllis Pushwinkle Mr. Tom Wallis causes much amusement; and Miss Adele Levey is very acceptable as the Emperor of Morocco. Miss Lottie Stone's troupe of dancers are very effective, and the singing of the chorus is all that can be desired. The elaborate scenery is painted by Mr. F. L. Schmitz, and Miss Annie Burrowes is responsible for the brilliant dresses.

GATESHEAD.—KING'S THEATRE.—Lessees, United County Theatre, Ltd.; Chairman and Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Moul; Local Manager and Licensee, Councillor Harold Arnold.—The Four Garricks, in an entertaining song-scena, are starring here this week; King Luis and Partner show some original acrobatic tricks; Tom Drum and Katie Major, in "The Broker's Man," are an amusing pair; Mark Hanbury is a quaint comedian; Chas. Woodward, a topical comedian, is a favourite; there are many amusing gags in the act of Rennie, a ventriloquist; the Walonells, comedy gymnasts, are admired; Boy Vivan (blind choir boy) sings sweetly; and the Kingscope attracts attention.

METROPOLE THEATRE.—Sole Lessee, Mr. F. W. Bolam; General-Manager, Mr. R. G. Elder; Acting-Manager, Mr. Ernest Dixon.—Mr. Frank M. Thorne's company, in Little Phil's Mother, has drawn large and appreciative audiences to this house during the week. A clever portrayal of Frank Towers is presented by Mr. Percy Ballard; Mr. Henry Earlesmere faithfully depicts Oscar Titherton; an amusing Sam Perkels is done by Mr. Frank Thorne; Geoffrey Dyne is the subject of an intelligent impersonation by Mr. H. W. Monte; Miss Maud Russell is well suited to the rôle of Ruth Towers; a sufficiently villainous Elspeth is well embodied by Miss Violet Crawford; Julia Woorilove is well looked after by Miss Leslie Warner; Little Gertie Renaud deserves high praise for a clever rendering of Phil.

GLASGOW.—ROYALTY, LTD.—Sub-Lessees, the Scottish Playgoers' Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Wareing.—The spring season of the Repertory Company commenced on Monday, when Neil Munro's clever local comedy, Macpherson, was revived with complete success. Mr. M. R. Morand again appeared in the title-part, and repeated his life-like portrayal of the old Scotch waiter; John Latimer and his wife Lilian were invested with abundant local colour by Mr. Campbell Bullan and Miss Elspeth Dudgeon; Mr. P. Perceval Clarke gave a refined impersonation of Charlie Stuart, whose sweetheart Clotilde Fortune was represented in bright and engaging fashion by Miss Muriel Pope; as the young fop Blair Mr. Cecil Brooking did good work; the new art craze was cleverly satirised by Miss Lola Duncan as Rebecca Swete and by Miss Irene Francklyn as Susan McGilp; Mr. Laurence Hanray's music professor was a quaint and original figure; and the servants' parts were ably filled by Misses Irene Clarke and Ethel Evans. Violin solos by Mr. Albert Cazabon are again a welcome feature in the programme.

GRAND.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; District-Manager, Mr. B. G. Maclachlan; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. Christie Grant.—Mother Goose continues on her victorious career, and the crowded houses at every performance are, in Scotch parlance, "a sicht for sair een." Neil Kenyon and Jack O'Connor are most prolific in their invention of new and funny business, and the recent addition to the cast of Miss May Moore Dupréz has proved a decided hit. This lady's quaint style and volatile humour make the part of Gretchen an outstanding feature. Miss Lily Morris as a principal boy won her spurs in Glasgow a few years ago, and is enhancing her reputation in this pantomime. On Monday Miss Rhoda Gordon, the attractive principal girl here, introduced that catchy song of Feldman's, "The Alpine dress you're wearing," and is likely to make a hit with it. Miss Howell Hersee, the fairy queen, still scores with the beautiful song, "Somewhere," and the Demon, Mr. Alec Davidson, is equally successful with "If I had the world to give."

PRINCESS'S.—Proprietor, Mr. Rich Waldon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Hugh Murdoch.—Willie Winkie continues to draw large audiences. Nearly all the members of the company are approved favourites. Miss Jessie Templeton as Willie Winkie and Miss Venie Clements as Brenda repeat their old success; Mr. Harry Levaine's amusing performance of Muggins is a source of merriment; and Mr. Fred Ingram has some very funny business as Liza. The MacSolder of Mr. Billy Oswald is very diverting. Four comedians of repute are Messrs. Harry McClelland, Barry Gilmour, Mount Stephens, and Harry Rennior, and in their capable hands the ball of fun is kept merrily rolling. Miss Edith Haley's pleasing performance of Teddy, Miss Vesta Crystal as Jeannie, Miss Nita Crystal as Rab, and Miss Madge Locke as Robin add greatly to the success.

METROPOLE, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Arthur Jefferson; Acting-Manager, Mr. G. Gordon Jefferson.—Mr. Ferdk. Melville's drama, The Bad Girl of the Family, is running its second week, and is drawing good houses, after a big week at the New Year, with matinées every day for the holiday crowds.

LYCEUM.—Proprietor Mr. Rich Waldon; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. H. Oakden.—Dare-Devil Dorothy is presented by J. W. Cordiner's company. Mr. Geo. A. Fox as Captain Geo. Fielding and Mr. Robert Gilbert as Captain Edward Dudley, as hero and villain respectively, give capital sketches, while as principal comedian Mr. Harry Ugar in the character of Silas Crump is responsible for many amusing scenes. Miss Gertrude de Lacy in the title-rôle acts and sings well; Miss Nellie Harcourt as Judith has a song and sabot dance which is specially praiseworthy; Miss Kathleen Stewart as Ruth Montrose also sings well; while Misses Lillie and Iris Elvido, as Polly and Rosy Ann respectively, give a nimble display of the Terpsichorean art. The music by an augmented orchestra, under Mr. Harry Bolton, and a fine scenic setting are pleasing features.

EMPIRE.—District-Manager, Mr. S. Gething; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. F. Reynolds.—The Elliott-Savonas once more give their magnificent musical turn here, and their "Palace of Orpheus" scena is received with its wonted enthusiasm; the Will o' the Wisps, under the direction of S. Sherrington Chinn, are very entertaining; Hubert Harben and Mary Jerrold, of Glasgow's Repertory Theatre Company, repeat the success they made there in the clever little play, The Suffragette's Redemption; Sergeant Bert Powell contributes a clever and mystifying conjuring act; Miss Marquis and her trained ponies are applauded to the echo; Frank Danby and company present a pleasant comedietta, Love in a Coffee Shop; Ted E. Box as an eccentric comedian is a strong favourite, and has a lot of smart songs; Charles Vincent, comedian, also adds to the general enjoyment; and Frank Elton, in "On Board an Ocean Liner," introduces a lot of enjoyable items at the piano.

PAVILION, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Evan Good.—Mlle. Liane D'Eve, French chanteuse, tops the bill here, and in her characteristic songs and dressing-room scena makes once more a great hit; Everhart, the hoop manipulator, seems to enhance the merit of his turn at every visit, and his dexterity is marvellous; Minola Hurst and her Midgets combine to make one of the best successes of the evening; El Tampico Trio (or Quartette) give an enjoyable musical and dancing turn, which is heartily enjoyed; the Sisters Macarte appear again in their clever scena, The Land of the Lotus, introducing their wire-walking and acrobatic speciality; Mysticus gives his ingenious quick-change "chameleon" act, which takes well; Ray Raymond is a chorus comedienne with several taking songs; Charles Banks and his clever little dog make an enjoyable item in the programme; and the Macdonald Troupe of Dancers are well received for their smart dancing turn.

PALACE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Rich. Waldon; General-Manager, Mr. Harry M'Kelvie.—Haley's Juveniles top the bill, and their performance was greeted with rounds of applause; Bijou Russell, coon vocalist and sand dancer, creates enthusiasm. Other notable turns include James Willard's company, presenting The Devil's Box of Bricks, in which the three principals are seen to advantage; La Belle Lumière, in the electric grotto and butterfly dance; Ray Raymond, chic comedienne and chorus singer; Florence and Rose Showell, classical vocalists; and Cavalli, in an original act, "The Sleeping Ventriloquist and His Wide-awake Figure"; and Bioscope pictures.

COLISEUM.—District-Manager, Mr. S. Gething; Resident-Manager, Mr. Harry Burdette.—In the place of prominence is Mr. Albert Marsh's dramatic sketch, Chums till Death. Mr. Marsh gives a capital performance as Joe Saunders, and is ably supported by Miss Grace Mortimer and a talented company. The Casey Army; or, The Battle of Casey's Yard, with Will Murray as Mrs. Casey, is quite up to the past exploits of the Casey Brigade. Alf. W. Loyal is responsible for a very interesting turn with his trained horse and dogs; Olive Lenton's little vocal scena, "Harvest Time," is unique, and merits the praise accorded; George Benson is a clever mimic; Fred Keeton renews his popularity; Nina Wood is a dainty entertainer; Taree, the Australian musical Bushman, has a good turn; Violet Stockelle, comedienne, is well received, a like remark applying to Larry Lewis, a quaint comedian. The Bioscope films interest and amuse.

PANOPTICON.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. A. E. Pickard.—Large audiences are the rule. Bob and Harry Merrilees, comedians, patterers, and dancers, are the principals here; Bob Ross, Scotch comedian, is very popular, and Greta Simons, contralto vocalist, contributes several songs, which are appreciated. The other artists include Raymond Syneth, vocal comedian, Austin George, descriptive vocalist, and Maudie Sutton, comedienne. There is as usual a high-class Bioscope display.

GREAT YARMOUTH.—ROYAL AQUARIUM.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. W. Nightingale; Assistant-Manager, Mr. W. H. Nightingale.—Mr. F. G. Kimberley's company, in Was She to Blame? is here this week.

HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Geo. Gilbert; Manager, Mr. Geo. Zalva.—Tom Kelso, the Yorkshire comedian, is scoring a success here; Wisper executes some smart juggling feats; Maxwell and company are popular with their scena, entitled Vocal Comedy Flirtation; the Amio Trio are first-rate gymnasts; Mr. Sid Bandon is an excellent descriptive vocalist; Stave is amusing; and Beattie Bloom's chorus songs go well.

THE GEM.—Manager, "E. V. Barr."—The pictures this week are of the usual high standard, the best being a dramatic film, entitled Conscience.

GREENOCK.—KING'S THEATRE.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. A. B. and J. J. Wright.—Messrs. Little and Darcy's pantomime, Dick Whittington, is proving a big attraction. Miss Nina Carlton as Dick is excellent, and evokes rounds of well-merited applause; she is well supported by Mr. James Stratton as the cat, his mimicry of feline habits being well appreciated; and by Miss Helene Mohr as Alice, whose dancing is particularly good. Miss Jeanie Mackay finds considerable favour as the fairy Silvertone, scoring especially with her song "Somewhere"; Mr. Jack McKenzie, in the part of Sarah, the cook, provides much mirth, and is ably assisted by Mr. Sydney T. Russell, whose efforts to amuse as Idle Jack meet with much success; Mr. Bert Edwards and Little Tichbourne are a comical couple as mate and bo'sun of the "Lively Polly"; Mr. Bert Maddison is good as Alderman Fitzwarren; and Mr. Clifton Hall sings well as King Rat. The staging and dresses are good, and mention should also be made of the dancing of the Eight Esmeralda Girls.

HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. L. Skivington.—The Four Royal Scots appear with great success in a clever vocal and instrumental sketch entitled When the Cat's Away; the McConnell Trio entertain largely with their musical comedy sketch; Lieut. Travis is a ventriloquist of the highest order, and his business is original; the Claymores, humourists, vocalists, and dancing club jugglers, are well received; and good turns are also given by Eily Adair (comedienne and dancer) and the Boston Twins (comedy artists). The Dromoscope pictures are again a capital collection.

GRIMSBY.—PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. H. Curry; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. W. North.—Mr. J. Gar Kiddie's Bo-peep is here. Miss Lizzie Payne gives a dainty representation of the title-part, and her singing and dancing are alike pretty; Miss Eva May Rosslyn is a dashing principal boy as Boy Blue; Mr. J. W. Groves as Granny Brown makes a very droll dame; Messrs. Will Shepherd and Rex Kempton, as Johnnie Stout and Jimmy Green, have a great variety of amusing business and patter; Mr. Willie Harris as Tommy Long and Mr. Harry Rex as the Baron also contribute largely to the humour; whilst Messrs. Cling and Clancy create much laughter as Willy and Timm, and also dance smartly; Mr. W. H. Gatty sings with good effect as the Demon; and the same may be said of Miss Elsie Peach as Fairy Moonbeam. Miss Kitty Rorke, the second boy, sings well; and good specialities are introduced by Mr. Albert Kail Stern, a coon singer and dancer, and little Ivy Francis, a juvenile singer and step-dancer.

THE PALACE.—General-Manager Mr. F. Verner Walford.—Mackinnon's Scottish Glee Singers are a quartette of talented vocalists, and introduce novel stage business and comedy; the Faludy Troupe of Hungarian acrobats give a performance that is as daring as it is smartly presented; an amusing nautical farce is The Boatswain's Mate, the chief characters being cleverly portrayed by Mr. Fred Knight, Miss E. Vandray, and Mr. G. Malvern; the Bros. Dean give an acceptable dancing speciality; Mme. Gladys Rogers wins favour as a soprano vocalist; and Madge Goodhall sings and dances pleasingly.

HALIFAX.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—Mr. George Dance's company is here with The Little Duke. Miss Zena Dare puts plenty of life and "go" into the part of the Duc de Richelieu; Miss Dolly Castles as Diane fully maintains her reputation, her singing being sweet and tuneful; Mr. R. Adair's Matigon is a good performance; as the Abbé de la Touche Mr. A. Johnstone is excellent; Miss G. Robertson is ladylike and dignified as the Duchess de Burgoyne; Miss K. Graham-Beck makes an impressive and austere Duchess de Noailles; as Césarine Miss D. Dickens plays nicely; the eccentric Baroness de Bellechase is well played by Miss N. Dade; and Mr. Johnny Danvers gets a lot of telling humour out of the part of Baron de Bellechase.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME, LTD.—Managing Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Reg. H. Foster.—Peterman and Rickett's company, in Slaterstein, Ltd., is here; Eileen Douglas, the musical comedy girl, makes a welcome return visit, and is appreciated; Estrella is a clever dancer; Victor and Louis present a funny interlude, "The Golfer and the Caddie"; Amy Anderson and Co., in "The Banana Queen," do a popular turn. J. H. Greener, the singing pit lad, Maro Duo, comedy triple-bar act, and Albert Barraclough, descriptive vocalist, also appear.

GRAND THEATRE, LTD.—Managing Director, Mr. Wm. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Resident-Manager, Mr. S. Winks.—Mr. James Kiddie's pantomime, The Forty Thieves, is being played here. Miss Elsie Steadman is a success as Ganem, and is a sweet singer; Miss L. Jeffries is a charming Morgiana; Miss R. Pareezei's Abdallah is good; Fame and Fortune create plenty of laughter as Pitchett and Popett; Miss Cissie Behan and Miss Kitty Behan do well as Colet and Mirza; Mr. Percy Curry is a fine Ali Baba; and Mr. A. Burton as Cassim Baba, with Mr. R. Ambler as Mustapha, are successful.

HAMILTON, N.B.—HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Bostock; General-Manager, Mr. Rene Clayton; Musical-Director, Mr. J. Millan.—Mr. Chas. Majilton's company, including Mr. Jim Bond, is topping the bill here in a condensed version of Round the Clock; Dessenda and Green are a couple of expert jugglers and club manipulators; Guy Ryder is an entertaining whistler; W. E. Hilton is an amusing ventriloquial turn; Cummin and Seaham are clever in an acrobatic sketch, The Ragman and the Postman; Mdlle. Pollo, the lightning lady gymnast, contributes an excellent turn; and Cliff and Kean (novelty dancers), Donal Macdougal (Scotch comedian), and the Bioscope conclude.

HANLEY.—ROYAL.—Proprietors, Hanley Theatres and Circus Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. C. G. Elphinstone.—Messrs. Longden and Dottridge's pantomime Robinson Crusoe is attracting packed houses. Principals and chorus are excellent, the especial favourite being Miss Maude Mortimer, whose Robinson is much admired.

GRAND.—Proprietors, Hanley Theatres and Circus Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. G. Elphinstone.—Culliver, a clever ventriloquist, makes a hit, as does also Sam Mayo, comedian; Huns and Thomas are very entertaining; the Soho Trio, dancers and singers, make a favourable impression; Dainty Dolly Cliffe is a clever juvenile; Tom Stuart, character impersonator, is successful; the Two Butterflies are really smart; Les Piccolinos, miniature artists, are the star attraction, and are loudly applauded. The pictures are enjoyable.

HARROGATE.—GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Managing Director, Mr. Wm. Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. Eric Fielding-Smith.—Pantomime again holds sway here. This time Robinson Crusoe is the fare, presented by Mr. Harry Burn's excellent company. Miss Minnie D'Aubyn is a tuneful Robinson; Miss Fanny Harris soon made herself chief favourite as Polly Perkins; Mr. Mark Stuart as Dame Crusoe worked hard with good results; the honours of the show fall to Mr. Arthur Alston as Will Atkins—whenever he was on the stage he kept the audience in a roar; Messrs. Tray and Rich appeared with success as Captain Cuttle and his Mate; and Miss Lille Hayes must be specially mentioned for her dancing, which brought the house down.

HASTINGS.—GAIETY THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. H. W. Rowland; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. E. Scutt.—Mr. Herbert Sleath's company opened a week's visit here on Monday in The Woman in the Case. Miss Maud Hildyard as "the woman," Claire Foster, gave a most artistic delineation of the character; Miss Kathleen Russell as Margaret Rolfe portrayed with admirable fidelity the mental agony of the dist much applauded; as the terrible Squire Mr. Mat Melrose proves himself a vivacious singer; the Sisters Edwards as Boy Blue and Bo-Peep are delightful dancers; and Miss Rene Ashley is received with great favour as the Man in the Moon.

HORWICH.—Prince's.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Chas. Durie.—Mr. T. N. Walter's company in the musical comedy The Flower Girl is attracting large audiences. The songs and dances are very tuneful, the scenery elaborate, and the dresses and uniforms handsome. The company is an exceptionally strong one. Miss Lena Brickwell is possessed of a very sweet voice, and is a very fascinating Lily; Miss Elsa Brettingham is a vivacious exponent of Lizette de Racquet, a typical Frenchwoman; Miss Eva Brickwell's Miss Greenhill, suffragette, is a captial study; the Misses Florence Vernon, Kitty Vernum, Elsie Lore, Phyllis Leslie, and Gertrude Munroe have plenty of scope as Miss Maisie Flirtington, Jessie, Maudie, Kate, and Dot respectively; Mr. John T. MacCullum as Joe Wheeler creates quite a furore, his creations of Italian musician, soldier, and policeman being equally successful; Mr. John A. Latham renders valuable assistance in the part of Johnny Wheeler; Mr. J. Burlington Rigg plays the Hon. Billy Greenhill in grand style, and his fine baritone voice is heard to perfection; Mr. Cyril Delevanti as Reginald Rackitt is an excruciatingly funny dude; Mr. Henry Adnes scores heavily as Alphonse de Racquet, whose droll antics create roars of laughter; Mr. Baron Heron, Mr. Arthur Carter, and Mr. C. Brailsford render good service as constable, Bunker, and Bertie respectively; and some admirable dancing is executed by Miss Idalia May.

HOYLAND.—Hippodrome.—Owner and Manager, Mr. Scott Alexander; Acting-Manager, Mr Fred Terry.—We have here this week Amos Howard, vocalist, whose dancing is extremely clever; Ye Merry Mannikins, living marionettes, are very amusing; Musicus introduces a smart musical act; The Great Unacted, musical sketch, is well received—Arthur a would-be author, is well taken by Mr. F. Martell, and he is well supported by Mr. C. Douglas (Smut), Miss Edith Maynard (Ina), and Miss Foster (Crackers). The bill includes Elsie Foster, Amber and Avon, and Charles Douglas. Mr. John Lambert shows some good pictures on the Bioscope.

HUDDERSFIELD.—Hippodrome.—Proprietors, the Northern Theatres Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. W. Robinson; Gen.-Man., Mr. Otto C. Culling; Resident-Manager, Mr. N. M. Robinson.—A change from the usual variety programme is provided this week by Messrs. Sutton and Raynor's company in Moths, for three nights, Camille, two nights, and Still Waters Run Deep, for one night. The plays are given twice nightly, and on Monday the cleverly adapted version of Moths received an excellent rendering. The outstanding feature was the natural, finished, and effective work done by Mr. Raynor in the part of Lord Jura. The other characters were ably portrayed by Miss Cecilia Dare as the Duchesse de Sonnaz, Miss Hilda Blanche as Fuchsia Leach, Miss Frances Waring as Lady Dolly, Miss Granville as Vere, Mr. C. Baddeley as the brutal Prince Zouroff, Mr. M. C. Curtis as the Duke of Mull, and Mr. C. Heywood as Correze.

Palace.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Herbert Garside. — The excellent variety combination appearing includes Warsaw Brothers, two amusing musical comedians; Godfrey Price, a good baritone singer, with "The Trumpeter"; Little Miss Muffett, a precocious mite of a comedienne; Reg. Ewen, light comedian; Miss Mona Garrick, an actress of considerable power in some scenes from well-known plays; the Achmed Ibrahim Troupe of wonderful acrobats and tumblers; the Five X Rays, in their athletic medley; and some very good films on the Bioscope.

HULL.—Grand Theatre and Opera House.—Morton's, Ltd.; Mr. W. F. Morton.—The pantomime has caught on, as predicted. Miss Lola Paley has come much to the front, and her Gretchen is one of the features; the principal boy, Miss Ethel Hall, is a very hard worker; Mr. Harry Rich as Mother Goose has done much towards the success attained; and Mr. Chas. Rich as Jack has a fat part. The coming week is the last of the present pantomime.

Alexandra Theatre.—Morton's, Ltd.; Mr. Geo. Morton, Manager.—The Nihilist, despite great political attractions, is filling this house. The best of work is done by Miss F. Kelsey as the Princess and Miss Elma Clare as Alexina; Mr. O. Silverstone portrayed the Prince with good effect; and the comic relief is in the good hands of Mr. Henry Wright.

ILKESTON.—Theatre Royal.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. L. F. A. Rogers.—This week Ilkeston playgoers have quite a treat by way of Mr. A. E. Smith's pantomime Sleeping Beauty, which goes with a good swing from start to finish. Miss Kathleen Garnon as Prince Perfect makes a capital principal boy, her songs giving every satisfaction; Princess Beauty falls into the clever hands of Miss Elsy Denys; Miss Gertie Leno as the Fairy is encored for her singing; the Sisters Lesmere as Lord de Vere and Dorothy Dimple sing well; the Sisters Wynstay (Hon. Reggie and Daisy Buttercup) are also clever song and dance artists; Mr. Billy Taylor makes a hit as the Dame; and Mr. Geo. Alderman as King Sol is successful. Messrs. Foiay and Francis are a pair of comedians quite to the taste of the audience, their quaint ways and speeches keeping the house in a perpetual roar. Simosa San, lady juggler and balancer; an excellent chorus, and effective scenery add greatly to the evening's enjoyment.

IPSWICH. — Lyceum Theatre.—Mr. Austin's pantomime company is here in Cinderella. The Prince Charming of Miss Mabel Austin and the Cinderella of Miss Maidie Harrison are admirable. Miss Gertrude Bond, an old favourite with Ipswich playgoers, keeps her reputation in the part of Flora. Miss Phyllis Leslie as Dandini and Miss Eva Swinbourne as Babette act well together. Mr. Fred Ellis makes a good Baron, and Mr. Tom Read as Pickles, his page, is very amusing. Mr. Newham and Mr. Latimer fill the parts of Seraphina and Bedella, the two bad sisters. Mr. Bert Hildersley and Mr. Harry Phillips as the two brokers' men are sufficiently amusing. Miss Gladys Liggett is graceful as principal dancer.

Hippodrome.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. E. H. Bostock.—Mr. George A. Street's company occupies the leading place in the bill this week, and is popular with those who enjoy moving military spectacles. Bert Danson and company give an amusing turn with their seaside comedy sketch. Delvaine's Marionettes, so cleverly manipulated, are deservedly popular. Gilbert Girard gives some lifelike imitations of animal voices. Jack Barker has a character turn with plenty of fun. Frank Street is an excellent patter singer, and Will E. Stopit is both amusing and original.

JARROW.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. H. Lionel Locke.—Messrs. Bennett and Wray's company is here this week with Miss Hook of Holland. Mr. Chas. Sims as Mr. Hook causes much amusement, and Mr. Robt. Selby Cooks plays the part of Captain Adrian Paap well; Mr. F. G. Dunn makes an ideal Van Vuyt, and his singing establishes him as a favourite; Mr. Charles Berkeley is Ludwig Schnapps exactly, and Mr. Edward Kipling makes the most of the part of Simon Slinks. Miss Nan Stuart gives an excellent performance of the part of Sally, and her singing is excellent; and Miss Madge White is good as Mina.

JERSEY.—Opera House.—Lessee, Mr. Edward Marris; Acting-Manager, Mr. Stanley Hope.—Vaudeville is being given here twice nightly. The star turn is Buster Brown, who gives an exhibition of fancy, comic, and trick roller skating, and invites members of the audience to take part in a competition. Other turns include Ray Randall, a catchy chorus comedienne; Hugh and Hill, who produce music from a strange assortment of instruments and make clever devices by paper-tearing; Harry Maynard, a successful vocal comedian; and Miss Lily and George Antley, in a funny farcical playlet, entitled It.

KEIGHLEY.—Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Mr. T. Barrasford, jun.—The Big Four hold the premier position here and are big favourites; Mr. and Mrs. Royston Dene, assisted by Miss Eileen Dartrey, appear in an up-to-date comedietta, My Lady's Chamber; Mlle. Marjutti, in an original creation, From Demon to Fairyland, is strikingly successful; Fred Gibbon and Marie Bell make a decided hit in an acrobatic and dancing speciality; Gladys Witton's songs are well received; Walter Aubrey is a very clever dancer; and George Shurley, comedian and dancer, also scores. Rounds of applause are secured by Frank Hartley, a very smart juggler.

KIRKCALDY.—Exchange Pavilion.—Licensee, Dr. Walford Bodie; Manager, Mr. George Lee.—After a week's record business this house of entertainment still maintains its customarily high standard of excellence. Miss Hetty Holland is proving a strong attraction this week with her ventriloquial turn as a Red Cross nurse. She is very smart in repartee, and her lay figure is so quaint that Miss Holland has great difficulty in getting off the stage, so much is her turn appreciated. Four top-of-the-bill films are shown this week, namely Aviation, Out With It, Tommy, My Lad, An Exciting Pig Chase, and numerous others equally good in their own class.

LEEDS.—Empire.—District-Manager, Mr. T. Gerald Morton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Alex Galley.—Alice Raymond and her players introduce her famous musical sketch A Night in Egypt; a singing conductor who possesses a nice voice adds to the attraction; another lady who is a big favourite is Miss Clarice Mayne, whose fame had preceded her; Annie Purcell is also another name to conjure with; other capital turns include the Original Whilboys in a unique entertainment, Lily Palmer, Cari Lynn, Les Marsumas, Bowden and Stol, Lester Carey, and Jock Mills.

Barrasford's Hippodrome.—Manager, Mr. Harry Dunford.—Mlle. Irma Lorraine appears in some pretty posing; a good sketch is provided by Diana Hope and company; the Ted Moxon Trio are good acrobats; and other good artists appearing are Anna Heath, Mark Leslie, Godfrey James, Willie Gardner, the Gascoines, and Fred St. Onge and Co.

The Varieties.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred Wood; Acting-Manager, Mr. Sam Jones.—An entertaining farcical comedietta The Second Mrs. Chester is presented by Sid Bedford and company; Cliff Ryland with his droll songs is very amusing; Ethel Donna is a nice comedienne; and other capital turns are Ernesto, Ernest Clifford, the Canworths, Syd Garti, and Lucky Law.

The Queen's.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred Wood; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Bush.—A tabloid pantomime Babes in the Wood is presented to crowded houses. Bessie Cohen proves herself as good as ever, and Cullen and Carthy and Little Cluley cause much fun.

LEICESTER.—Royal Opera House.—General Business-Manager, Mr. Walter P. Wright.—The pantomime of Sinbad the Sailor entered on its third week here on Monday, and is delighting full houses.

Theatre Royal.—Acting-Manager, Mr. P. Allerton Turner.—The attraction this week is Mr. Montague Beaudyn's company in the realistic drama For Honour and Revenge. Miss Irene Munroe stands out prominently with an excellent impersonation of Maud Destmond, and as James Galston Mr. Montague Beaudyn is also a conspicuous success.

Palace Theatre, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; District-Manager, Mr. Hatton Wharton; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. Finch-Hatton; Assistant-Manager, Mr. W. S. Buccleuch.—The leading attraction here is Odette Valery in her dance creations "Salome" and "Cleopatra"; F. Stuart-Whyte is presenting with well-deserved success the artistic and historical dramette 1613; Haines and Borthwick create endless laughter with Half-a-Dollar; a fine show is given by D'Arc's dolls, their impersonations of Vesta Victoria, Amber Austa, and Harry Lauder evoking loud applause; the Barowskys make a hit with their clever Continental acrobatic act; Rossi Ashton is very good in his speciality "Song Sketching"; and Henry Helme, the French Alpine vocalist; Alf. Maynall, a mirth-provoking comedian; Edith Heron-Brown, comedienne, at the piano; and the American Bioscope provide other acceptable turns.

Pavilion Theatre.—Proprietor and Director-General, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Acting-Manager, Mr. Joseph Lawrence.—After a fortnight of pantomime we have reverted to the usual vaudeville programme this week. The Four Kellys, in a first-class acrobatic display, are the premier attraction. Friscari, the clever performer with hats, gives an excellent juggling performance; Stalman and Russell raise hearty laughter with their comedy dialogue Borrowed Plumes; Renee Graham is a capital male impersonator; Lauri, a performer of clever tricks, escapes from a barrel filled with water and padlocked; and Wynnie Darrell, expert dancer, and Winnie Wheaton, vocalist, also present entertaining turns.

LEIGH.—Theatre Royal and Opera House.—Proprietor, Mr. J. W. Cragg; Manager, Mr. W. Heath.—This week the boards here are occupied by Mr. William Pardoe's pantomime Dick Whittington, which is drawing good houses. Miss Lottie Holland in the title-rôle makes a capital principal boy; Miss Nellie Rose is a charming Alice; Mr. George Hyam is already a great favourite as Idle Jack, there being no end to his resources as fun-maker; Mr. Tom Hulme and Mr. Alf. Grady also work hard and successfully as Fitzwarren and Jim; Mr. Tom Griffitt sings well as King Rat; and a good performance of the Cat is given by Mons. Pauli. Interesting specialities are introduced by the famous Edengale Trio of dancers, Victor Brothers, acrobats and balancers, and Pauletti, acrobatic cyclist.

Grand Theatre and Hippodrome, Ltd.—Secretary and Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Woolstencroft.—Messrs. Somers and Saunders' company is here in Babes in the Wood. Miss Olive Astor is seen to advantage as Robin Hood; Miss Lulu Lord does exceedingly well as Maid Marion; the Sisters Mawdsley sustain the parts of Bertie and Cissie most creditably; Mr. Willie Barrett causes much amusement as Simple Simon; Mr. Marcus Boyle is most successful as Sir Scoun-de-Rel; and Messrs. Denby and Dent as Tim and Willie do some commendable work. Specialities are also introduced by the Sisters Montague, duettists, and the Salonicas, acrobatic dancers.

LEITH.—New Gaiety Theatre.—Licensee and Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. John Darlison.—Aladdin, written by Mr. Stanley Rogers and well equipped in the matter of scenery and costumes, commenced a short season here on Monday. An excellent company carries through an enjoyable entertainment with great zest, the comedians providing plenty of fun and the ladies in the cast doing justice to the musical numbers allotted to them. Miss Mabel Hind is a particularly bright and pleasing Aladdin; Miss Lily Lonsdale a charming Princess; and the Three Warners are very vigorous in their whirlwind dancing and somersaulting. The leading comedians include Mr. Ernie Myers, Abanazar; Mr. J. G. Aitken, Grand Vizier; Mr. Tom Carrick, Widow Twankey; and the Brothers Firman as Bo Bi and Ko Ko. Mr. John Darlison's fairy interlude, The Enchanted Tree, with the author as the Tree Man, Miss Jean Brodie as Queen Ariella, and a band of sprites and elves represented by a score of Leith little lassies, continues to hold a place in the programme.

LINCOLN.—Royal.—Lessees, Messrs. Payne, Seddon, and Ernest Pope; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ernest Pope.—A Message from Mars was for the first three nights admirably presented by Mr. Percy Taylor's company. Mr. Dudley Stuart as Horace Parker and Mr. Percy Tyler as the Tramp were seen to great advantage, and Mr. Lionel Valdwyn lent power and distinction to the Messenger. Miss May Mallalieu was a charming Minnie, and the other parts were ably interpreted. A Destroyer of Men, with Miss Hilda Beverley in the leading rôle, is announced for the last three nights.

Palace.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. A. E. Dobney.—Miss Louie Tracy, a male impersonator of dashing appearance, is winning favour here, and Mr. Herbert Rule is a comedian of real humour. Hersleb Brothers present a clever acrobatic act with one or two novel surprises, and the Melba Twins sing with great charm. Sleath and Aldin, Wyze and Adna, Charles Byron, Helene Stewart, and the Palace Perfection Pictures complete an attractive programme.

LIVERPOOL. — Rotunda Theatre.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery.—The attraction here this week is The Idol of Paris, with Miss Annie Bell in her striking rôle of Flare Flare. Mr. Cyril Austen-Lee affords great support as Phillip D'Esterre, a man about town, a part into which he infuses a deal of spirit; Mr. Gordon Robev plays excellently as Prince Sergius; Mr. Chris. Roberts and Miss Pharo Anderson, in the respective rôles of Theo. Decline and Rachael Bernhardt, prove highly amusing; and Miss Frances Bruce is eminently fitted for the character of Mme. Sancterre.

Star Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Harris Fineberg.—Mr. Walter Melville's talented combination is doing good business with A Girl's Cross Roads. Miss Ethel Griffies plays powerfully as Barbara Wade, winning the sympathies of her audience; Mr. Norman B. Cannon proves a manly and popular Jack Livingstone; Miss Nell Oliver handles the difficult rôle of Nellie Meadows with a deal of discretion; Mr. Harry Cane is the John Meadows, a typical farmer; Mr. Fred Hodson (Toby Turvey) and Miss Maggie Byron (Tilly Vane) provoke much laughter; and the remainder of the cast give valuable support.

Kelly's Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. W. W. Kelly; Acting-Manager, Mr. Reginald Grant.—Pantomime occupies the stage here this week, Mr. Arthur Carlton having brought his Cinderella, a very pretty and funny production. Miss Ella Willmer holds the title-rôle to the general satisfaction; Miss Flo Wilton scores as the Prince; Miss Ida Dorrie does excellently as Dandini; Miss Bessie Heins looks charming as Dolly Varden; and others who contribute largely towards the success are Messrs. Alec Herman (Adolphus), Henry Maynard (Malignant), Hedbert Colley and Fred Hutchings (the Ugly Sisters), and Sandy and Carl (the Broker's Men). Specialities are introduced by the Butterfly troupe of dancers, &c.

Empire.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Manners.—Foremost here this week is an Italian ballet, introduced by Mons. Rosi, entitled Uncle Isadore, which is witnessed with keen interest; Tom Clare affords a deal of satisfaction with his work at the piano; the Francoli troupe of acrobats raise shouts of laughter with the sketch, The Bill Poster and His Comic Living Lithographs; loud applause greets the pleasant musical turn given by the Four Coloured Meisters; "Billy," the trained horse, surprises with his intelligent tricks; Emil Solbrig's Automatus presents an amusing act, A Day Out; the Smythson Comedy company gain a cordial reception for their sketch; Arthur Kenny has a sensational cycle act, leaping 10ft. through space; the Brothers Corcoran please immensely with their smart musical speciality quick-change act; and Mike Nono dances and sings well.

Lyric.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry C. Arnold.—The bill is occupied by Messrs. Dottridge and Longden's pantomime of Dick Whittington, which is produced in capital style. Miss Ethel Campbell makes a dainty Dick; Miss Tina Franks as Alice is a valuable help; the part of Sarah, the cook, is most amusingly undertaken by Mr. Albert Williams; Mr. Leo King is an effective King Rat; as the Emperor Mr. Geo. Melbah affords every satisfaction; Mr. Deane Tribune is a merry Idle Jack; and Mr. Jack Hodgson does everything necessary with the Alderman. Specialities are presented by Mlle. Pauline Rivers' troupe of mill girls and dancers. Business is good.

Royal Hippodrome. — Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; Resident-Manager, Mr. Walter Hassan.—The Six Brothers Luck top the bill this week with their merry sketch H.M.S. Perhaps, which provokes great laughter. The Davis and Gledhill Trio of cyclists go through a sensational racing performance, the principal item being a contest between a man and a motor; Dave Samuels, Hebrew comedian, keeps his audience in shouts of laughter with his sayings and songs; a funny ventriloquial turn comes from W. E. Gillin; the Boys of England render acceptable barrack-room ballads; some excellent juggling is executed by the Resas; Dewson meets with approval for his songs at the piano; Gladys Revell pleases greatly by reason of her chorus songs; and others in the programme are Lily Eyton, vocalist and dancer, and Walter Stanley, comedian.

Royal Palace of Varieties.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank O'Toole.—The Lancashire Lad, from the pen of G. Carlton Wallace, is being given here by the stock dramatic company. Mr. Harry Tresham makes a natural David Elmore; Mr. Sydney Grant plays strongly as the gambler, Max Carton; Mr. Tom H. Solly is an amusing John Willie Wardle; Miss Lilian Radbourne is well suited to the part of Lorna Wincote; and valuable help also comes from Mr. R. Seath Innes, Mr. Cecil Ravenswood, Mr. Leo Montgomery, Miss Gertrude Entwistle, and Miss Gertrude Gilman. Mr. Anthony Brown's Bioscope has the latest pictures.

Olympia.—District-Manager, Mr. Horace Cole; Acting-Manager, Mr. Ernest Wighton.—The big line here is occupied by Raymond, an able conjurer and illusionist, whose work is of a really puzzling character; the Four Amati Sisters provide a refined musical entertainment; Miss Gisela Amati being especially pleasing with her high-range soprano voice; a turn that is well received is given by the Saschoff troupe of Russian singers and dancers; Harry Clifford proves as funny as ever; Richard Corbin's dogs go through a highly-trained performance; James Eadie and Cissie Ramsden have a smart dancing trifle, "Charlie's Visit"; rounds of applause greeted the droll and amusing act submitted by the Japanese De Breans; and the programme also contains the names of Nina Denvil, vocal comedienne, and Park's Girls and Boys, vocalists.

Pavilion.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Manager, Mr. George F. Slatter.—Karno's Mumming Birds heads the bill, and provides as much amusement as ever; Hayman and Franklin present an uproariously funny sketch, entitled Toplitsky; the Four Mayos have a really comic skating turn; Lieut. Chard's dog circus is uncommonly good; the Three Orros go through a clever and graceful performance on the silver chains; the singing and smart dancing of the Phœnix Trio find much favour; and Ernest Tilbury renders in good style popular tenor songs.

MANCHESTER.—Royal Osborne Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Mason.—Messrs. Hallatt and Howard's company is here, in Her Love Against the World, which was played with success last week at the Metropole Theatre.

Metropole Theatre.—Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Dry.—Last week's entertainment at the Royal Osborne Theatre is transferred this week to the Metropole, where Little Cinderella, presented by Mr. James Kiddie's company, is enjoying deserved popularity.

Grand Junction Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Brearley.—Mr. James Kiddie's company, in Dick Whittington, is doing well here. The production, from every point of view, is entertaining, the scenery and dresses being bright and pleasing, and the cast an excellent one. Miss Flo Hilton as De Mash is a great treat, and is very well received; Miss Lena Page is all that could be desired as Dick; and she has a capital partner in Miss Fiorrie Warner as Alice; while the auxiliary parts of note are well filled by Misses Annie Broughton, Bertha Barton, Edie Goodwin, and Edna Francis, who dance well. Much humour is provided by Mr. Charles Chard as Idle Jack, Mr. Tom Gott as the cook, and Mr. Dennis McCarthy as Fitzwarren; while Messrs. Clifton and Gibson as the lazy apprentices acquit themselves well; and Mr. Charles Cork plays cleverly as Rodento and the Emperor.

Queen's Park Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. W. Meek.—Mr. John Tiller's pantomime of Jack and Jill, an excellent show, is continuing its successful career.

Empire.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Hall.—The top turn here this week is A 33 to 1 Chance, played sensationally by Harry P. Selwyn's company, the prime feature being the fight between Ben Jordan and Young Sullivan, a pair of light-weight champions. The Rexos are also prominent, and deservedly so, for their wonderful exhibition of roller-skating; while other good turns are the Clement Trio, flying trapezists; Lockhart's Elephants, presented by Capt. Taylor; Harry Merrylees, Scotch comedian; Amelie De L'Enclos, a phenomenal soprano vocalist; Cedar and Elgar, jesters of the olden time; Harry Anderson, the popular song comedian; and Lizzie Glenroy, Scotch comedienne and expert dancer.

Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. Nelson Barry.—The Motor Chase still holds the prime place in the programme here; while the Romanis figure prominently in a really artistic musical mélange. The Calzados, Spanish dancers, add a fine turn; and the Marno Trio give a capital exhibition in comedy acrobatics. Other nice turns are offered by the Sarnthaler Sextette of vocalists and Swiss dancers; Les Bollingers, in their novel rag painting act; Russell and Held, American comedy artists; and the Eight Lancashire Lads, accomplished singers and dancers.

Palace.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Frece; Manager, Mr. A. J. Carter.—Excellent business is being done here with Fred Karno's production of The Bailiff, the principal part in which is filled remarkably well by Albert Bruno, assisted by a clever cast; the Four Fords give an excellent dancing act; A. L. Levering presents the fine military episode, The Drums of Oude; and interesting items are added by Les Zelovas, gymnasts; Neven-Tossau, in The Vagabond Artist; Spissell Bros. and Mack, American acrobatic eccentrics; and Dalvere and Wallace, in laughter and song.

Tivoli.—Managing-Director, Mr. Charles A. Wilkes; Manager, Mr. Arthur B. Wilkes.—Pattie Browne, who tops the bill here is seen to great advantage in an effective monologue, entitled Liza's Bill. A Florentine Tragedy is well acted by Elfie Leigh and company; the Carneys of Killarney are highly amusing in musical sketch with dances, Barney's Little Joke; whilst other good items are offered by Wyotti the jocular juggler; the Leonas, in musical and fencing act; Lilian Farrar, in Bubbles, a charming song-scena; Vron and Neville, in A Breezy Morning; and Edie Coolville, vocalist. Pictures complete a capital programme.

King's Theatre, Longsight.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. James R. Trippett.—After a highly successful week at the Grand Junction Theatre, Messrs. Paumier and Howard's company is here in the popular romantic play, The Princess and the Beggar Maid, adapted to play two performances nightly. Full houses are the rule.

Hulme Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. E. Owen.—An excellent all-round programme is headed by Percy Honri in that highly successful musical phantasy, Concordia. Another capital item is given by George Mozart, who scores as a story-telier and burlesque actor, creating no end of laughter; Marjorie Russell makes a hit as a clever and pleasing entertainer; Lozette goes through a neat gymnastic display; the Ten Dixie Girls are exceedingly smart dancers; Harry Blake is a capital comedian; J. P. Ling, a first-rate comedian and mimic takes well; Tom Franks, ventriloquist is greatly enjoyed; and Will Willis comedian, is good.

Methil.—Gaiety Theatre.—Proprietors, The Methil Theatre Co., Ltd.; General-Manager, Mr. John C. Burnett.—Mr. Montague Beaudyn's company is paying a welcome return visit here with A Beautiful Fiend. In the title-rôle Miss Sidney Crowe surpassed herself by her powerful interpretation; Mr. G. M. Montanini gave a good rendering of Count Feodar Karsteff; Mr. Herbert Skardon showed to advantage as Major Ivan Paulovitch; Miss Netta Mitchell as Nadine Strogoff acted with real feeling; comedy relief was supplied by Mr. Bert Woodin as Christopher Crackles and Mr. Charles Russell as Malachi, assisted by Miss Madge Palmer as Patty Woodlands. The Gaietyscope showed some interesting films.

Middlesbrough.—Opera House.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. Chas. Imeson; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. K. Chatto.—Jack and Jill continues to draw crowded houses. The pantomime is the most successful ever placed before the public of the iron town.

Theatre Royal.—Proprietor, Mr. J. Chas. Imeson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Geo. Imeson.—Mr. E. H. Knight presents The Lighthouse Robbery to very appreciative audiences. As Rosa Prescott Miss Hilda Bayton is successful, and as Nellie Baby Freda does admirably. Tom Manley is in the able hands of Mr. Percy Beresford; as James Hammond Mr. Rupert Talbot meets with thorough approval; and the humorous character of Sam Kidder is well sustained by Mr. Jesse Boxer.

Empire.—General-Manager, Mr. Chas. G. Rembges.—Billy Howard and Kathryn Harries submit a clever and amusing turn in The Adventures of a Happy Tramp; Harry Lickson's canine acrobats command high praise; and Willman, instrumentalist, Victor Widdicombe and company, in Her Devonshire Dad, Rickaby and Davies, comedians and dancers, Cora Duncan and Albert Brasque, in the playlet My Lancashire Wife, Tiny Arnold, comedienne, W. G. Webber, bass vocalist, and the Empire pictures complete a capital programme.

Hippodrome.—Resident-Manager, Mr. Frank D. Todd.—Leigh Leicester, comedian, contributes numbers that please, and the remainder of the entertainment consists of patriotic and amusing pictures.

Town Hall.—Mr. J. W. Turner's company is here in a round of operas, the performances eliciting warm praise.

Motherwell.—New Century Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. Chisholm Taylor.—Mr. Harry Bennet's company is presenting The Lady Slavey. In the name-part Miss Nora Horsa is quietly effective; Mr. Lister Morrah acts with charming ease as the Millionaire; Mr. Chas. F. Clark is the impecunious Irishman to the life; and his daughters Maud and Beatrice have charming exponents in Mmes. Kitty Hyde and Ivy Deane. Miss Raydon has a fine stage presence and sings admirably as Flo Honeydew. Very amusing is Mr. Harry Quinningborough as the Broker's Man, and Mr. Tom G. Warren is excellent as Lord Lovender.

Neath.—Gwyn Hall.—Lessee, Mr. J. W. Robinson.—Mr. Vint's Globe Express Excursions form the great attraction here this week. Mme. Vint goes through her clever clairvoyant performance in a remarkable manner; Alf. Thomas, Welsh comedian, an old favourite here, is cordially received; Wee Wullie is also given a hearty welcome upon his reappearance; Little Gertie in her latest successes is popular; Lonzo Brown, sand dancer, wins applause; Mr. Fred Maurie is a smart comedian; Miss Olive Audley, a sweet soprano, and Miss Mabel Rossetti's contralto songs are much enjoyed. Miss Alice Smythe, Miss Edith Dare, Miss Mabel Lillian, and the Sisters Sparks are also in the bill.

Prince of Wales.—Proprietors, Messrs. H. and E. Johnson; Musical-Director, Mr. Clement Austin.—Comedy, drama, and pictures form a strong attraction here this week. The pictures are beautfully clear, and greatly enjoyed.

Newcastle-on-Tyne.—Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. Teale Lingham.—Cinderella is now in the full tide of a most successful run. Miss Cressie Leonard is undoubtedly one of the best "boys" we have seen in recent years, and is nightly charming the audiences with her dashing style and delightful singing. Miss Meg Hamilton as Dandini and Miss Iris Hoey as Cinderella have also become established favourites, whilst any amount of good wholesome humour is contributed by Alexander and Hughes, Johnnie Schofield, Harry Brayne, and Miss Lilian Levey. The dancing of the Eight Sunflowers also contributes in no small measure to the splendid success of the show.

Tyne Theatre and Opera House.—Lessees, Messrs. Howard and Wyndham; Manager, Mr. Fred C. Sutcliffe.—Mr. Frank Curzon's company opened a fortnight's season here on Monday with Dear Little Denmark. Miss Netta Lynde was a fascinating Christine, her singing being much admired; Mr. Conway Dixon, who is the happy possessor of a good voice, must be commended for his clever impersonation of Conrad Petersen; as Ophelia Miss Mabel Sealby keeps the house in continual merriment, her dancing and singing receiving double encores. In the part of Hans Hansen Mr. Arthur Staples creates roars of laughter, his character song with Miss Sealby being very smart; Mr. Henry Kitts is decidedly clever in the character of the Duke; Mr. Harry Gregory as Jonas Jensen is exceedingly amusing; and Miss Claire Lynch acquits herself well as Xandra.

Palace Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. T. W. Rowe; Business-Manager, Mr. E. B. Clark.—Messrs. Marriott Watson and James Usher's company, in The Face at the Window, is paying a return visit here. Mr. T. W. Dunscombe as Gouffet gives a fine rendering as Delgado; Mr. Charles H. Phelps plays an unpopular part exceedingly well; Mr. Vouchotte Wilson is good as Lucien Courtier; and as the heroine Marie de Bresson Miss Clare O'Sullivan does well.

Grand Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. F. W. Bolam; Manager, Mr. Chas. E. Linney.—Little Bo-Peep is still running merrily, and large houses are the rule. It is a bright and sparkling show, with pretty songs, smart dancing, and plenty of good fun. The introduction of Messrs. Harrigan and Holt, two excellent comedians, as the Naughty Boys is an immense success. A new Dame in Mr. Edgar Driver has also been introduced with much satisfaction. Miss Nancy Hearne as Boy Blue and Miss Zena Hay as Bo-Peep still continue in popular favour, and have excellent support from the rest of the company.

Empire Theatre.—Resident-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; Manager, Mr. W. Parham Wells; Assistant-Manager, Mr. J. W. Kilgour.—Amongst the many interesting turns on a splendid bill, pride of place is held by Olga Petronawa and her band of twenty-five picked instrumentalists. The programme includes William Tell and Tschaikowsky's 1812, which are splendidly rendered. An item of more than usual merit is presented by Frank and Jem Latona in their well-known musical act; hearty laughter greeted the performance of The Barnstormers, a farcical production by Herbert Darnley's company of comedians; and another clever and amusing turn is Harry Friskey, American comedy juggler. Falco and Eida, in an original act illustrating the ju-jitsu methods of self-defence also go well; as also does the graceful acrobatic turn of the Rohda Bros.; Giovanni Wals, the Spanish Caruso, justifies his name; and other capital items are provided by Tom Moore, character comedian, and Bert Errol, singer with the lady's voice.

Pavilion Theatre. — Managing-Director, Mr. Thos. Barrasford; Manager, Mr. W. H. Boardman.—Lafayette has been retained another week. Other artists appearing are George D'Albert, F. Mozzetto, Leo and Roland, Little Sunbeam, and Clare and Pastor.

NEWPORT.—Lyceum.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Sidney Cooper.—Mother, a domestic drama, is the attraction here, presented by Mr. Henry Foxwell's company. Duncan Fairweather is admirably impersonated by Mr. J. O. Stewart; Mr. A. J. Haviland in the rôle of Frank Rodney is a great favourite; and the part of the villain Stephen Carrington is well taken by Mr. Reginald Brown; while there is a breeziness about the character of Old Crump (Mr. R. Gordon) which stamped him as a typical old salt. The comedy element is sustained by Mr. Teddy Myles as Tommy Noblets; Miss Grace Jones as Nellie Fairweather is graceful and charming; Miss Mary Holmes makes a winsome Mary May; Miss L. Bates as Polly Crumpet creates a good deal of laughter; and Miss P. Vaughan does well as Vesta L'Estrange.

Empire. — Moss' Empires, Ltd.—Resident-Manager, Major Gallagher; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Wilde.—An attractive programme here includes the Crisps, in a pretty dancing act; Miss Lydia Yeaman presents some wonderful mimicry; and Tom Lloyd is a comedian of ability. Lil O'Gorman sings and dances well; Farr and Farland present an amusing turn; and the great Vincent performs some startling acrobatic feats; Phil Bourne sings in admirable style; and a special attraction, however, is the sketch, The Hold-up, presented by Taylor-Granville, with Mr. Paul Lovett as the Operator and Mr. Leonard Robson as the Hold-Up Man. The scenic effects are very fine.

NORTHAMPTON.—Palace of Varieties, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred. H. Anderson; Manager, P. H. Gould; Musical-Director, Walter Ashton.—Henry Herne and company, who head the programme this week, are presenting a dramatic episode in five scenes, entitled, The Colleen Bawn, with the following cast: Myles Na Coppaleen, Mr. Henry Herne; Hardress Cregan, Mr. Edward Wingfield; Danny Mann, Mr. Richard Webb; Mr. Corrigan, Mr. Dan Mathews; Mrs. Cregan, Miss tunities. Miss Florence Hunton is a captivating Gretchen; Miss Lillah Price as Sadie, a smart lady detective, has some good songs; and Miss Margaret Ashton as Frau Bender is most successful. Mr. Clifford Morgan as Jack Blake is a manly hero; Mr. Lionel Braham is very cute as the Yankee detective; and Mr. L. Ellis, an amusing Alphonse Napoleon, along with Miss Radcliffe, does well in La Danse des Apaches Reversée. Mr. Augustus Williams makes a capital Van Decker.

COLOSSEUM THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Wm. Eastwood.—Hop-o'-my-Thumb continues merrily on his way, and is delighting large crowds nightly.

EMPIRE THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Hulme.—A good bill is provided this week. Charlier, the French comedian and ventriloquist, being a capital turn. The Seven Perezoffs again "acrobat" with success; Rastus and Banks are good entertainers; Florence Phillips uses her baritone voice with good effect; Les Cairolis are excellent in their equilibristic act; and the Bros. Cavallotto are musicians of exceptional merit. Stidder and Dunbar are smart in some neat sand dances; and the Bros. Roland are a well developed pair of equilibrists. Jack Hayworth is a smart Scotch comedian; Geo. Lawrance, a good actor-vocalist; and the Bioscope concludes.

OXFORD.—NEW THEATRE.—Managing Director, Mr. C. C. Dorrill; Assistant-Manager, Mr. G. T. Lucas.—Mr. Milton Bode, who for so many years past has been so successful in pleasing us with his New Year's pantomime, is this week presenting Red Riding Hood, which, judging by its reception on Monday night, will add yet another to his many triumphs here. The book is very amusing and the company a strong one. Mr. Laurie Wylie uses his many opportunities to the best advantage as the wicked Squire; Mr. Rolando Martin is always amusing as Johnny Stout; Mr. Frank Lilliput is equally funny as Simple Simon; Mr. John E. Conan never misses an opportunity of scoring as Dame Trot; Miss Aimee Roberts makes an ideal Boy Blue; Miss Babs Lloyd is very sweet and fascinating in the title-rôle; Miss Blanche May is a capital Bo-Peep; Miss Ruby Wentworth is a handsome and competent Tom; Miss Carda Walker sings very pleasantly as the Fairy Queen; the Three Pattersons are much applauded for a first-class gymnastic performance; Lauri Wylie and his mimicking mannikins are vastly amusing; and Zellini is a funny juggler. The scenery and dresses are quite up to Mr. Bode's usual standard of excellence.

EAST OXFORD THEATRE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Stuart; Acting-Manager, Mr. Julian Graham.—Mr. Nevill Graham's company is here with Aladdin. Mlle. Lucretia fills the rôle of Aladdin with distinction, and Miss Lilian Earle is an attractive Princess Balroubador. Miss Cissie Clarke makes a sprightly Pekoe; Miss Josephine is good as Nicie Nicie; and Miss Harriette Loydall as Widow Twankev is admirable. Mr. Geo. Howard is an ideal Emperor, and adds considerably to the general success; while Mr. Charlie Clarke sustains the difficult part of the Chinaman, Wishee Washee, cleverly. The Astroys are Sloppa and Koppa, and Mr. Alec Taylor is quite adequate as the Grand Vizier. The specialities include Sinclair's Four Parisian Girls, who contribute some graceful dances; Miss Cissie Clarke and Mr. Charlie Clarke in The Scarecrow; the Astroys, Miss Harriett Loydall, and Mlle. Lucretia and Miss Josephine. The pantomime is highly successful.

PAISLEY.—PAISLEY THEATRE.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. H. Savile.—Robinson Crusoe is running right merrily, and is proving a decided attraction, judging by the large attendances at all performances, matinées included. Thanks to the excellent cast, the interest in the pantomime never wanes, the fun especially being well and capably sustained by the comedians. In this respect Mr. Tatten Hall as Will Atkins proves himself a resourceful comedian, and never fails to put the audience in the best of humour; Mr. Harry Farrow is another comedian of the versatile order, and his Mrs. Crusoe is full of quaintness and merriment; Messrs. Dan Maxford and Tom O'Neill as Captain Kettle and the Mate respectively work assiduously together, and give abundant proof of their ability to entertain; and Mr. Harry Arnold as Willie Crusoe completes the quintette of comedians, who keep the fun well sustained. Miss Daisie Morell makes a dashing Robinson Crusoe; while as Polly Perkins Miss Maud Terry is sprightly and vivacious. Miss Primrose Harding makes a delightful Peter Piper; and as Dolly Dimple Miss Dorothy May is charming. The Sisters Sable perform well in the parts of Tom Tug and Bella Brighton; a most engaging Princess Pittising is Miss Dorothy Harris, who dances daintily and sings sweetly; Friday is capitally played by Mr. John E. West; and Mr. Fred Eugene gives a good portrait of King Wamba. Miss Phyllis Thornton is distinctly successful in the rôle of Coralie; Borea has a smart and clever representative in Miss Margaret Webster; and Mr. Lewis Morgan is an admirable exponent of the Gnome. The chorus is good, and the staging and dresses are gorgeous. Miss Lottie Stone's troupe of dancers perform artistically. The stage-managing is in the capable hands of Mr. Walter D. Brodie, who has everything to work very smoothly.

HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Bostock; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jack R. Bostock.—Mr. R. A. P. Williams's pantomime, Dick Whittington, is meeting with deserved success here this week. The pantomime, which is capitally staged and well dressed, abounds with many amusing scenes, and the fun is well sustained throughout. The Sisters Cora, the personification of daintiness and grace, are altogether charming as Dick Whittington and Alice; Mr. W. Glanmore Jones is an admirable representative of Alderman Fitzwarren; as Idle Jack Mr. Sam Thomson is very funny, laughter loud and long greeting his untiring efforts; Mr. George Westland is extremely comic as Mary Ann; Mr. L. C. Young as the feline Tom, is diverting and clever; Mr. J. Randle Wilson scores in the double rôles of Captain Bailey and the Sultan; Miss Kitty Thomas makes an excellent Tom Bowline; and Miss Topsy Johnstone makes a welcome reappearance locally, and scores a success in the rôle of Princess Halfid. The cast of principals is satisfactorily completed by Mr. Michael Kemble as Rodenta, who sings excellently, and Miss Connie Irwin as Fairy Bow Bell, who deports herself in praiseworthy style. Specialities are introduced by Lindsay and Harte, who are very entertaining, the Sisters Cora, the Four Killarney Girls, dancers, and the Celesta Comedy Quartette.

PENZANCE. — ST. JOHN'S HALL. — Mr. Robt. Macdonald's company opened here on Monday in The Dairymaids. Miss Mamie Stuart was clever as Peggy, quickly winning the appreciation of the audience, which she retained throughout. Miss Glennie Levean as Winifred showed exceptional qualities as a singer; the irresistible humour of Mr. Norman Bowyer as Joe Mivens was a great success; and in the part of Lieut. Sam Brudenell Mr. Walter Champney was quaintly humorous. As Lieut. Frank Meredith and Dr. O'Byrne Messrs. Horace Mauger and George P. Ascot put plenty of life into the parts. As Lady Brudenell Miss Lily Roselle acquitted herself admirably; Miss Nellie Le Breton was clever and amusing as Eliza; the characteristics of Penelope Peychase were displayed with ability by Miss Julie St. George; and as Lieut. Brereton Mr. J. Rutland Mennell did good work. Miss Dorothy Vere made a pleasing Helen. Mr. Gordon Starkey was acting-manager and Mr. W. Neale conductor. To Messrs. Rogers and Son, of Penzance, much praise is due for arranging this visit.

PETERBOROUGH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. A. Darville Vernon.—Mr. Graham Falcon's pantomime Cinderella was produced here on Monday before a good house. Miss Cecilia Gold makes a charming Cinderella; Miss Maude Nichols enacts the part of Prince Elegant with plenty of dash; Miss Lilian Drake is good as Dandini; the Fairy Godmother is successfully played by Miss René Willoughby; Miss Leila Carstairs is a delightful fairy; and Mr. Jack Waller, a very funny Baron Stoney, his two "charming" daughters being cleverly presented by Mr. Wal Lesby and Mr. Arthur Lawrence. Mr. Glen Alva as Billy Buttons and Messrs. Jack Harley and Joe Hardon as the Baron's retainers keep the fun rolling; and clever dances are given by the Misses Minnie Dorina, Connie Langford, Norah O'Malley, and Hetty Ray. The scenery and dresses are all that could be desired.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred Karno; Manager, Mr. Percy Hart.—Ye Colonial Septette, presenting An Olde Tyme Hallowe'en, top the bill. Blair and Allen are smart comedians; Maggie Rimmer, comedienne, takes well; Charlie Craston is quaint; Mart and Pep contribute a clever balancing act; Dave Carter is encored; and several good pictures are shown.

PLYMOUTH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Mr. J. Langdon Lee.—Robinson Crusoe is now going splendidly, and fine business is being done. A few minor alterations and additions have been made, all of which tend to the improvement in the performance.

PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. Jack Field.—Pasquali Bros. provide some fine tumbling, and altogether give a very finished exhibition; Alice Hughes and company submit a witty sketch, entitled The Star of the Bazaar, which is brimful of humour; Fred Land is a popular contributor; Randolph King gives some excellent impersonations; Les Rubens, in Two Merry Vagabonds, entertain with a vocal sketch; Natalia and Diana skilfully perform some difficult gymnastic feats; and Garry Lynch, in a couple of songs, proves himself a vocalist of more than ordinary ability.

PORTH.—PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Pooles, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. W. J. Bynorth.—Wild, Willie, and West, comedy acrobats, create roars of laughter; Lilian Lowe is an excellent vocalist; Tony Iveson, the ragman at the piano, is very good; Captain Ellis and son present an original musical entertainment; Peter Shannon is an ideal coon, and gives a clever exhibition of buck and sand dancing; Jennie Reeve is a dainty and charming comedienne; Arthur Melrose is a capital comedian; the Great Coram, ventriloquist, is very popular; and the Palascope, as usual, presents excellent pictures.

PORTSMOUTH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Armstrong Bell.—The Sleeping Beauty is now firmly entrenched in public favour. The most picturesque of the set scenes are The Land of the Fairies, The Palace of Slumber, The Coral Grotto, The Steel Castle, and The Palace. The artists continue to win approval, both for their acting and singing, the Misses Dorothy Chard, Frances Kapstowne, and Ada Tilley (Bon-Bon) being primarily responsible, along with the Four Royal Vagabonds, for the success attained.

PRINCE'S.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. E. Agate.—Hearty approval is accorded the presentation by Miss Ida Molesworth and Mr. Mark Blow of Under Two Flags. Miss Doris Gilham gives a fine impersonation of Cigarette; Mr. Douglas Murray is an able exponent of Bertie Cecil Royellieu; and Colonel Chanteroy receives clever portraiture from Mr. Chas. E. Johnson.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Captain E. H. Warren Wright; Secretary, Mr. W. Pratt.—A well-staged, powerfully-acted dramatic episode, No. 99, is presented by Fred Kitchen and Frank Lister; and Harvey's American Boys and Girls dance and sing some tuneful coon songs. Perhaps the most popular turn is that of the Bouncing Dillons, who invite amateurs to a bouncing competition, the antics of the competitors causing great laughter, while the lady member gracefully executes feats on the trapeze. In addition to some amusing films from Payne's bio-photoscope, the Sisters Harcourt, Dale and Vale, Lilian French, Blanche and Zeyna, and Woolmer Young contribute to the programme.

HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Harris.—An entertaining version of Cinderella, presented by Messrs. Sydney Cooper and the Tally-Ho Trio, opened on Monday with every prospect of popular favour. Miss Doris Langden is a fascinating Cinderella; Miss Gladye Soman is well placed as Prince Charming; Dandini has a bright and vivacious rendering from Miss Bertha Belmore, who with her companion Cherry (Blanche Belmore) dances and sings artistically; the vocal mirth of the Tally-Ho Trio is enjoyed, and Messrs. Fred Park, Fred Anderson, and Chas. Wood, the producer of the pantomime, are successful fun-makers; the Eight Sunrays dance with pleasing effect; and Miss Fay Desmond's vocal abilities are enthusiastically applauded in her rôle of Fairy Godmother.

KING'S.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Claude Marner; Director of Entertainments, Mr. Thos. Barrasford.—Topping the bill is Whit Cunliffe, whose cleverly-written songs and vocalisation win rounds of applause. Other amusing comedians are Reginald Beauchamp and Will Musgrave. Frank Hardy and company, in The Traitor, were substituted for Walter Ellis and company in The Sleepwalker; the acrobatic portion of the entertainment is provided by the Keragg Trio, Brothers Artois Maximilian Trio, and the Robertsons, with whom dancing on the hands is the particular feature; Mr. and Mrs. G. Wilde, well-known to local audiences, provide their hand shadowgraph performance; Adah Payne vocalises; and the Barrascope shows a Spanish Bull Fight.

PRESTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, The Executors of the late Mr. W. Johnson; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. Alban Newton.—Mr. Wentworth Croke's company, in the Lyceum Theatre version of The Christian, is this week's attraction. Mr. Henry Woolston gives an excellent representation of John Storm; Miss Gladys Purnell is a clever actress, and is seen to great advantage as Glory Quayle; Mr Wilfred Noy is as good as ever in his old part of Horatio Drake; Mr. Fred Morgan as Lord Robert Ure portrays the confirmed roué realistically; Mr. J. H. Batson is an ideal Father Lamplugh; Miss Gladys Vernon is to be complimented on her skilful handling of the part of Polly Love; Miss Mollie Hayden is excellent as Mrs. Callander; as is Miss Gertrude Maxwell as Lady Robert Ure; Mr. Chas. E. Dering is a typical Archdeacon Wealthy; and Miss Lizette Cardoza gives a clever portrayal of Black Meg. The play is capitally mounted.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Page; General-Manageress, Mrs. M. M. Clarkson; Resident-Manager, Mr. Chas. E. Clarkson.—Mr. Edwin C. Jazon's pantomime, Dick Whittington, is doing good business here. Miss Maud Beaumont is a sprightly Dick; Miss Ena Compton a dainty Alice; Bob Stephenson a most comical Sarah; Willie Vanda as Thomas, the cat, causes much laughter; William Miller as Fitzwarren, and Fred Ward as Jack are equally good; Justin and Mantell as the Captain and the Mate, are a merry pair; Jim Vone is a capital Emperor of Morocco; Miss Dolly Richardson a dashing Prince; Miss Amy Salida and Miss Ada Pearce as Princess and Susan are very chic; Miss May Edwards is a bewitching Fairy Bountiful; and specialities are introduced by the Vandas, Justin and Mantell, Pearce and Ward, Salida and Vone, and Clara Coverdale's Nine Dainty Dots. The scenery is good.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank E. Burdett.—Cecil Gray and his company, including Miss Dora Eastlake, present a dramatic little play, The Last Straw, which is well staged and well rendered; Johnson and Bert introduce some clever acrobatic dancing into their novel act, "A Queer Customer"; the Stanley and Vandyke Comedy Duo are a funny turn; the Three Drabbles, talented children, win loud applause for a refined musical act, playing cornet, violin, piano, and other instruments; Les Carmody Trio, in their juggling and acrobatic mélange, give a clever turn; the Normans (Lil, Eric, and Val) have a capital military song scena, "Always Ready"; Will Rhodes, comedian, renders excellent songs; Frances Hanlow, comedienne and dancer, meets with a hearty reception; and the Three Burkes have a novelty comedy gymnastic act. The Pedlar's Daughter on the Bioscope concludes.

RADCLIFFE. — GRAND OPERA HOUSE. — Sole Lessees, Messrs. Geo. T. Santé, Ltd.; General-Manager, Mr. James Boothman.—Mr. R. Nightingale has surpassed himself with his gorgeous and funny pantomime Aladdin. Miss Edna Latonne as Aladdin is a hard worker, and scores heavily; Miss Marie Radcliffe has a beautiful voice, and takes the Slave of the Lamp; Miss Amy Gradwell leaves nothing to be desired at the Geni of the Ring; and Miss Jenny Haskett is good as the Princess. As Widow Twankey and Wishee Washee Messrs. Harry Albery and Joe Perth are screamingly funny; and Mr. Walter Bishop is a real treat as Abanazar. The Brothers Lloyd receive much applause for their cable act, and Messrs. France and Francis are amusing as Flip and Flop. Mr. Max Merlin is a living wonder as the human crocodile.

RAWTENSTALL.—GRAND THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. William Matthews; Responsible Manager, Mr. J. A. Whitehouse.—We have this week Mr. T. Arthur Jones's company in Life's Sweetest Sins. Miss F. Medrose Millett is successful as Doreen Rivers, giving a powerful impersonation. As Captain Harold Marston Mr. T. Arthur Jones gives a truly manly portrayal; Ernie Woodstone is well presented by Mr. John Davidson; and Mr. J. D'Alberti is a successful Doctor Colbrooke. Miss Marie Daventry makes an excellent Fay Colbrooke, and Miss May Neilson as Bess Grayson is capital. Mr. Charles Preece as Bob Tanner is also satisfactory.

READING.—ROYAL COUNTY THEATRE.—Proprietors and Managers, Mr. Milton Bode and Mr. Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. Fred Benton.—The Moody-Manners company is providing a rich musical treat with a series of grand operatic performances. On Monday Gounod's Faust was produced in admirable style. Mme. Beatrice La Palme was the prima donna, her singing and acting in the part of Marguerite being all that could be desired; Miss Olive Westwood was effective as Siebel; Miss V. Barry also did well as Martha; the title-rôle was satisfactorily rendered by Mr. John Child, who was in excellent voice; Mr. William Anderson was a good representative of Mephistopheles; and Mr. Graham Marr played most creditably as Valentine. The principals were supported by a chorus of thirty-five voices, a corps de ballet and augmented orchestra. Mr. Cuthbert Hainley was an efficient conductor. The repértoire for the remainder of the week comprises Verdi's Masked Ball, Lohengrin, Carmen, Tannhäuser, Cavalleria Rusticana, Pagliacci, and Maritana.

THE PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Geo. Howard Watson; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. E. Draco.—The Cattaneo company appear in a very clever and humorous acrobatic sketch; Florence W. Gardner's songs at the piano are well received; the Three Favourites appear successfully in their comedy speciality act Park Pets; C. Ibbotson and company create much amusement in their sketch Major McFee, M.P.; Stanhope Gordon is a good light comedian; Andrews and Thompson sing very effectively in the vocal scena The Rube and the Romany; and George Sheldon and company present a highly dramatic episode, entitled Before the Dawn.

SALFORD.—PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. E. B. Goulden; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harold Goulden.—Miss Renée Glendower gave much pleasure with her acting as Janet McAllister (an artist's model) in her new four act play, What a Man Made Her, from the pen of Mr. Charles Darrell. Mr. Edward Rawlinson sustains the part of Rupert very cleverly; Sir Ernest Cavendish is well played by Mr. C. Hartopp; Dr. Mark Haven is excellently presented by Mr. J. M. Olivert; Mr. Barnett Lando is very droll as Gunnerstein, and Miss T. Myers is a vivacious Deborah; Miss F. Russell Spiers as Elfrida and Miss Stella Carmichael as Lady Thora also do good work. The staging is good.

REGENT THEATRE OF VARIETIES, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Turner; General-Manager, Mr. Herbert Raymond; Secretary, Mr. R. H. Lee.—Another pantomime this week, twice nightly. Mr. Wilmot Edison's company includes several clever comedians, who make Aladdin a comical and enjoyable pantomime. Miss May Fayre in the title-rôle makes the most of her opportunities, and sings well; Mr. Mat Kilduff is an amusing Widow Twankey; Mr. Reg. Bolton keeps things lively as Abanazar, and has a pleasant voice; Wishee Washee has an excellent exponent in Mr. Tommy Neildon; Miss Josephine Richards is a dashing Pekoe, and Miss Queenie Harvey is a charming Soshi; Princess Badroulbadour is well presented by Miss Margaret Geddes; Miss Amy Cooper gains appreciation for her singing as Electra; the comic police are in the smart hands of Messrs. Bob and Nat Cameo; Mr. Charles Clark makes a good Emperor, and Miss Patty Wilhelm does well as Kasrac. The scenic effects and dresses are very pretty. Several specialities are much enjoyed and include Mr. Reg. Bolton and Mr. Tommy Neildon, the Abaradoffs, prehistoric mountebanks, and the Greig Dancers, &c.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; General-Manager, Mr. H. Winstanley; Resident-Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Boyle.—Mr. John Tiller's panto, Little Red Riding Hood, consists of plenty of fun, beautiful dresses, pretty scenery, and catchy songs, and twice nightly is much enjoyed. Red Riding Hood is charmingly represented by Miss May Merry; Miss Lulu Russell is a smart Prince Valiant; Miss Zena Benson is a pleasing singer as the Fairy Truelove; Mr. Benson Kleeve makes an excellent King Wolf; Mr. Fred Danvers is a comical Pretty Pet; Mr. Douglas Hayes (Boniface), Mr. Phil Hayes (Oswald), Mr. Fred Lawrence (Dr. Dignum), Mr. Charles Verno (Trotters), Miss Chummie La Mara (Tommy Tucker), Miss Dot Hinson (Mother Hood), Miss Evelyn Warren (Fairy Lightwing), Miss Marie Brian (Nanette), Mr. Sam Mitchello (Joseph), Mr. Geo. Matfey (Fritz), and Miss May Sharples (Capt. Slasher), also keep the fun rolling. Specialities include some smart dancing by the Bros. Hayes and John Tiller's Lotus Troupe; also turns by Ted Waite and the Mascot Troupe of children.

SCARBOROUGH.—THE AQUARIUM.—Secretary and Manager, Mr. Walter Kitchingman.—The Five Olracs top the bill, and provide a turn both clever and amusing; Dan Conroy is a good comedian and dancer; The Taffies, Welsh vocalists, are well received; Arthur Croxon, Yorkshire entertainer is popular; Les Supriskis are smart gymnasts. Other good turns are given by Yettmah, Japanese conjurer, and Harrison Bros. in A Game of Golf.

THE NEW HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Peacock.—Sherlock Holmes is on a return visit. The title-rôle is filled to perfection by Mr. Hamilton Stewart; Mr. Charles Brandon is excellent as Professor Moriarty; as Alice Faulkner Miss A. Bruce Joy leaves nothing to be desired; Mr. Eric Morden makes a capital Dr. Watson; Mr. Arnold Raper and Miss May Beatrice appear to advantage as the Larabees; and Master Thomas Russell creditably fills the rôle of Billy.

SEACOMBE.—KING'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Kiernan.—Messrs. Dudley Bennett and T. C. Wray's company is here this week with A Country Girl. Mr. Nelson Hancock scores as Geoffrey Challoner, his fine voice gaining him great applause in the musical numbers; the clear enunciation and smart acting of Mr. Joseph Bruce are very effective in his part of the Rajah of Bhong; Mr. Percy Everard as Sir Joseph and Mr. H. B. Hargreaves as Douglas Verity are both good in their respective parts; as also is Mr. C. T. Chapman as Lord Anchester. Mr. Percy Russell does well as Lord Grasmere; and the same may be said of Miss Dorothy Arliss as Marjorie Joy. Mr. Coningsby Brierley causes continuous fun by his smart personation of the indefatigable Barry; and Miss Myfanny Newell is good as the Princess. Sophie finds an excellent exponent in Miss Addie Lennard; and Miss Anna Hickinson presents a pleasing and diverting Nan.

SEAHAM HARBOUR.—NEW THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor, Mr. A. C. Harrison; Manager, Mr. Wallace Childs.—Mr. W. Graham Arthur's company occupies the boards with The Mockery of Marriage. Mr. W. Graham Arthur's acting reaches a high standard in the parts of Dick Kenyon in the prologue and Sir Montague Jephson in the drama. Joseph Verham is admirably sketched by Mr. John Riley; Mr. Harold Heath submits a vigorous Jack Stanley; Seth Pearse finds a convincing exponent in Mr. Fred Bentley; Miss Mabel Liston effectively enacts the rôle of Alva Kenyon; Rose Verham is delightfully drawn by Miss C. Middleton; Miss L. Turner is a characteristic Mary Ann Barnicoat; Nellie Kenyon is charmingly drawn by Miss Priscilla Barnard. The scenery and effects are commendable.

SHEERNESS. — HIPPODROME. — Managing-Director, Mr. Adam Seebold; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ted Williams.—Mr. H. A. Langlois and company opened on Monday before a large and delighted audience with Jack the Giant Killer. The pantomime is handsomely staged and dressed, and contains some good musical numbers. In the title-rôle Miss Marie Beresford is very winsome, singing and acting with easy grace; Miss Cynthia Lupino is a dashing Princess Blushrose, and her songs are loudly applauded; she is ably supported by Miss Tina Langlois as Jack's sister. Mr. George Grenville as the Widow and Mr. George Lupino as the Master keep the house in roars of laughter; Mr. H. A. Langlois is a capital Giant Blunderbore. In the Palace scene specialities are successfully introduced by Miss Grace Buckingham and her troupe of performing dogs; Miss Alice Vernon, a clever cornet soloist; the Sisters Florencie, international dancers; and Mr. George Lupino, pirouette dancer.

SHEFFIELD. — LYCEUM THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont.—Mr. J. Gar-Kiddie's company opened to a large audience on Monday in the bright and humorous pantomime The Babes in the Wood, written by Joseph Lomas Barry. Miss Mary Dene was a pretty and graceful Maid Marian, and Miss Marion Scott's Robin Hood delighted the house, and she was loudly applauded for her excellent rendition of the pleasing song "Somewhere"; the Babes were cleverly represented by Lilie and Millie; Mr. Oliver Conroy, a "Sheffield Blade," caused great mirth as Soft Sammy from Crookes; and other commendable impersonations were Mr. Alfred Rousby's Araminta, Mr. Brinsley Smith's Baron Kelly, Messrs. Conan and Doyle's comic robbers, Gentle Albert and Burgling William, Miss Nell Rene's Will Scarlett, Miss Emmie Mappin's Sylvania, Mr. C. Cardle's Lord Knowsall, and Mr. Edwin Webb's Infernalito. The ladies of the Hammersley ballet troupe were deservedly applauded, and the entire production reflected credit on all concerned.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont; Assistant-Manager, Mr. J. Henfrey Aldred.—Mr. Hart's beautiful and funny annual, Jack and Jill, continues to give enjoyment to crowded houses. The charmingly vivacious Miss Josie Delaine is a favourite as Jill; Mr. Albert Le Fre keeps the audience in merriment as Walker, and Mr. Charles Norton acts cleverly as the comic opera King, and brings down the house nightly with his amusing and life-like imitations of popular music-hall pros. The exquisite transformation scene, The Realms of Fairy Gleam, with its lovely ballets of lilies and sunflowers, gives refined delight to lovers of artistic spectacle.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. William D. Forsdike; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. W. Ramsay.—Messrs. Dottridge and Longden's Dick Whittington is doing excellent business. Miss Florrie Gallimore is a great favourite as Dick, and her songs are whistled and sung all over the town; Miss Edith Dottridge makes a delightful and melodious Fairy Queen, and Mr. Will Lorenzi causes great amusement as the lively seaman Captain Tarpaulin.

EMPIRE PALACE.—The Moss' Empires Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Alan D. Dunbar.—Reano's military band begun a return visit on Monday. Mr. Alf Gibson, the original "Put your head through the window, Fred," and Mr. Gus Garrick, the lively burlesque actor, both cause great diversion by different methods, and other popular performers this week are Clark and Hayden, Morrie Mine, Barnard's smartly worked mannikins, the Cumberlands, Goggan and Davis, Will H. Fox, the amusing pianist; the Bioscope pictures and the dashing serio-comic vocalist, Miss Lottie Lennox, with new songs.

THE HIPPODROME. — Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; Resident-Manager, Mr. Frank Poole.—Miss Edith St. Clair's well-staged and uproariously funny pantomime Aladdin is being played twice nightly. Miss Edith St. Clair looks a picture of charming feminine beauty in Aladdin's costly costumes, and acts, sings, and dances with her well-known grace and chic; Mr. Fred Russell proves an admirable comedian in the part of Abanazar; agile dancing is done by the ladies of the Canton Troupe; and the Primrose Quartet sing in a spirited manner "The Soldiers' Chorus" from Faust.

ALBERT HALL.—Poole's great aggregation of pictoralia and vaudeville continues to attract large houses. The Geo. French troupe of cyclists, the Snow Family, skaters; Mr. Harry Bristow, Learto and Pom-Pom, the clever Lilliputian family, and other entertainers, are all cordially applauded.

SHREWSBURY.—THEATRE ROYAL AND HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Director, Mr. W. Yates Gregory; General-Manager, Mr. Thomas Baugh.—Mr. F. V. St. Clair, the vocalist and song composer tops the bill and delights his audiences by his clever versification; Rene is an expert girl juggler; Fox and Melville present some beautiful pictures on their own bioscope accompanied by appropriate melodies; J. D. Pedley is a jovial and up-to-date dancer and comedian; Roy Bevis, a talented conjurer; and Mr. J. B. Andrews sings effectively; and the Godfreys entertain with their quips and cranks and musical items; political and other moving pictures complete.

SMETHWICK. — THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor, Mr. C. Barnard; Manager, Mr. E. Hewitson.—Pantomime is again the rule here, a visit being paid by Mr. Arthur Leighton's company in The Babes in the Wood. The principal boy is Miss Jennie Lynwood, who makes a handsome and dashing Robin Hood, making a great hit in "The girl in the clogs and shawl" and "Charlie Brown"; Miss Lilian Jeffries as the principal girl is a valuable acquisition; there is no dearth of comedians. Mr. J. W. Hooper as the Baron Hotstuff causes much laughter for his capital drollery, and his song "Must go home to-night" was heartily taken up by the audience; Mr. W. B. Frear is a lively and amusing Page, and introduces a very clever dance after his song "The catch of the season"; Messrs. Fyne and Hurley play a very prominent part as I. Killem and U. Eatem, their business being of the active, humorous order; the Babes are represented by the Misses Elsie Videau and Phyllis Hughes, a pair of pretty and talented children, and their song "Little girl from nowhere" is a distinct success; Mr. Alec Godfrey is one of the leading spirits in the merrymaking as the Schoolmistress; the Sisters Lillie and Violet English have been well chosen as the second principals; Miss Millie Gordon, the première danseuse, is well received in two pleasing items; and the Asturias Troupe of National Dancers are also an acceptable feature. Miss Madge Bell appears to advantage as Fairy Goodheart; Mr. Harold Godwin sustains the rôle of Herne the Hunter with every success; and the chorus reflects great credit on Mr. S. Clarke-Richardson. Scenery by A. R. Lingham includes Buttercup Village, Sherwood Forest, Brightson-on-Sea, the Garden of Roses, and the gorgeous palace of the Earl of Huntingdon. Mr. R. L. Cody is responsible for the book; the music by B. J. Paterson and S. Clark-Richardson, and the whole production by Rudolph Kloss, for Mr. Alexander Leighton. The ballet and dances have been arranged by Miss Ina Alston.

SOUTHAMPTON. — GRAND THEATRE. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Fredk. Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Weston.—This week Mr. Martin Harvey and company are appearing in a repértoire of plays. On Monday The Only Way was given before a large and fashionable audience, including the Mayor and Sheriff. Mr. Harvey who was accorded a magnificent reception, was seen at his best as Sidney Carton, and scored a triumphant success; Miss N. de Silva was truly sympathetic as Mimi, and others who lent efficient aid were Mr. Fred Wright, sen., an admirable Dr. Manette; Mr. Charles Glenney (Defarge), Mr. Percy Foster (Lorry), Mr. Leonard Craske (Darnay), and Mr. Philip Hewland (Stryver), and Miss Brenda Gibson (Lucie). Other plays billed for the week include: The World and His Wife and A Cigarette Maker's Romance.

PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. Wm. Trussell.—Barton and Ashley are an entertaining comedy duo; Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Lucas submit a most interesting series of scenes from Dickens's works; Ian Colquhoun is a capital vocalist; and Josephine Crooke excels as a singer of illustrated songs. Others appearing are: Rose D'Aulby, Kenneth and Kane, Willie Long, and Munroe's Comedy Team.

HIPPODROME.—Managers, Messrs. W. de Frece and Fredk. Mouillot. — Pantomime again reigns supreme, Mr. Edward Marriss's company giving capital performances of Dick Whittington twice nightly. Miss Rose Sylvester is a sprightly Dick, singing and acting to perfection; Miss Dolly Denton is a winsome Alice, scoring with her dainty songs; Mr. Chas. Danvers is excellent as Ald. Fitzwarren, and the fun waxes fast and furious while he is on the stage; Mr. Will Manite is an agile cat; and other fun-makers are Messrs. Billy Rex (Dame), George Brentwood (Idle Jack), J. R. Tyrrell (Captain Kettle), and Walter B. Nugent (Pott). Excellent dancing is introduced by the Misses Rosie, Lily, and Edie Manite and Connie Retta, and the performance from start to finish is a capital one.

SOUTHEND-ON-SEA. — THE HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietors, The Southend Hippodrome Proprietary; Resident-Manager, Mr. Lewis de Burgh.—The artists engaged here this week include Jan Rudenyi and company, the celebrated actor-violinist, in The Power of Music; the Hanlon Troupe of aerial gymnasts; Adele Moraw, international comedienne; Burt Shepard and a piano; Chas. D'Aix and his marvellous dog; Dancing Paceys; and Les Alex Carangeots, in their Parisian dancing pantomime, La Fiancée du Dragon.

SOUTHPORT.—OPERA HOUSE, WINTER GARDENS.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Percy Hutchison; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Clarkson.—Our Miss Gibbs, presented by Mr. George Dance's company, is accorded hearty receptions here by large audiences. The title-rôle has a charming and vivacious representative in Miss Kathleen Courtney, who merits unstinted praise; Miss Jennie Richards presents a capital impersonation of Mrs. Farquhar; Mme. Jeanne has an excellent exponent in Miss Nancy Mervyn; Miss Gladys Ivey is very good in the character of Lady Elizabeth Thanet; Miss Winifred Kinckby gives a typical representation of the Duchess of Minster; Mr. Tom Shelford is exceedingly humorous and clever as the Hon. Hughie Pierrepoint; Mr. Theodore Leonard gives a highly commendable portrayal of Timothy Gibbs; as the Earl of St. Ives Mr. Ernest Darrell is distinctly successful; Mr. J. E. Stevenson does full justice to the rôle of Slithers; Lord Eynsford is capitally depicted by Mr. Craufurd Kent; and other good character-sketches are supplied by Mr. R. M. Strachan (Mr. Toplady) and Mr. Henry de Solla as Mr. Beavis.

SOUTH SHIELDS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. John Coulson.—Mr. Edwin C. Jazon's pantomime Cinderella is playing to good houses. The production is bright, up-to-date, and full of "go." Miss Molly Doon plays Cinderella gracefully, and delights all with her singing of "Somewhere" and "Molly O'Morgan." Miss Vera Mayne is a dashing Prince Brilliant, and much humour is created by Leo Fields as Buttons, the Baron's page. Specialities are introduced by the Sisters Varley, the Musical Keiths, Crosby and Walker, and the Carlsons, gymnasts. The scenery and effects are excellent.

EMPIRE PALACE THEATRE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ernest Bridgen.—The premier position on the bill is occupied by Mr. J. L. Shine and Co. in Hogmanay, which is performed in a delightful manner, and well applauded; Keen and Waller

FILM GOSSIP AND NOTICES.

Last Sunday at the Cinema Theatres.

A REPRESENTATIVE of The Era made a round of visits of the West-End cinematograph theatres last Sunday afternoon and evening, and found them, without exception, doing wonderful business. In each case the managers informed the writer that they were using "non-flam" films, and were of opinion that the L.C.C. was powerless to take any action whatever against them. From the writer's own observation there can be no doubt but that these theatres fill a long-felt want in the Metropolis, especially in catering for the foreign residents in our midst. It would be no exaggeration to say that the audiences were made up of quite 60 per cent. of French, Germans, Italians, and Americans. Several of these people, spoken to on the subject, confessed that before the Sunday cinematograph existed they had nowhere but their clubs or the public houses to go to, and that it would entail a great hardship on thousands if such entertainments were closed. The class of picture shown seemed to be mainly historical and travel. No Biblical subject was dealt with, and in only one instance did our representative meet with a comic film.

Cinematograph Deputation to Home Secretary.

A DEPUTATION, headed by Mr. F. Mouillot (Electric Theatres, Ltd.), Mr. G. Washington Grant (president of the Cinematograph Defence League), Mr. F. R. Griffiths, and Mr. J. J. Newbold, waited on the Home Secretary last Monday to suggest various amendments of the Cinematograph Act. In the absence of Mr. Gladstone, the deputation were received by Mr. W. P. Byrne, Assistant Under-Secretary for Home Affairs, who, after listening to and discussing the representations made to him, promised that the suggestions made should be fully considered and that a definite answer would be made at a later date. In the course of the afternoon a meeting of a number of British, American, and foreign cinematograph manufacturers was held at the Holborn Restaurant, when it was decided to give financial support to the Cinematograph Defence League.

New Warwick Pictures.

SOME excellent films have just been issued from the Warwick headquarters. They are respectively Mugchump's Excursion, The Witch of the Glen, and Jenkins Joins the Police Force. The stories will be found extremely interesting.

MUGCHUMP'S EXCURSION.—Mr. Mugchump determines to have a day's excursion. He purchases his train ticket the night before, and at 6.30 he makes an early start. On the way to the station he meets with many exciting adventures and impediments. The roads are up, and excavators at work impede his progress. He leaves the cab and has to scramble across heaps of rubbish, and after being dragged and bumped about until his original smart appearance is considerably spoiled, he reaches the station platform. He is congratulating himself upon arriving in time for his train when he begins a frantic search for his ticket, which, to his horror, he cannot find, having left it behind in his flat. Leaving his portmanteau on the platform he makes a dash for the booking-office for another ticket, a watchful thief at the same time making off with his luggage. The train comes in and leaves the station just as Mugchump dashes on the platform, and after his strenuous exertions he misses the train. His mad search for his luggage, upsetting all and sundry, finally lands him into the arms of the station police.

THE WITCH OF THE GLEN.—The scene opens in the midst of a beautiful forest. The villagers are congregated at a festival to their patron saint. Francis, a village fop, is the centre of attraction to the girls. Two of the village maidens plot to secure his love, and consult the witch of the glen, who sells them a magic philtre. The potion is mixed with liquor and given to Francis, who detects a peculiar taste and shares it with two companions. The result is rather alarming, as the whole three fall immediately in love with the two girls. They fly to the witch's cave followed by their lovers. The witch hides the girls in a wardrobe, and when the men arrive she proceeds in a mysterious and impressive way to awe the men by her incantations. The men are so frightened that they fly out of the witch's haunt. The girls leave their hiding place and proceed to the forest, where they meet the three love-sick villagers. Francis is decoyed away, and his two companions and the two girls go away together and are united in marriage. Francis, under the impression that he is meeting one of the girls, actually meets the witch, who is dressed up for the occasion, and makes love to her. He discovers the trick played upon him, but is too late to stop the marriages and finds himself left in the church with only his wounded vanity for consolation.

JENKINS JOINS THE POLICE FORCE.—Jenkins, a kind of nondescript individual, is desirous of finding employment, and visits a registry office. His antics set the people in roars of laughter, and he receives his slip from the clerk and proceeds to sample his first situation, which is in the office of a merchant. Here he soon gets into disgrace, and is quickly bundled out. Undeterred by his failure, he next applies to a pastry-cook, where he is engaged. With his usual ill-fortune he comes to grief once more. He cannot think of any better way of clearing the shelves than by climbing up them, with the result that the whole of the fittings and contents come tumbling about his ears. The proprietor falls upon the unfortunate Jenkins, soundly trounces him, and once more he is turned out into the street. He tries other modes of employment, until, fired with admiration of policemen on their beat, he determines to become a policeman. He applies, and is finally accepted into the force. Here he appears to have at last gained his proper position, and is apparently successful, if we may judge by the number of persons he arrests. He determines to have revenge upon all those who have treated him so badly in the past, and proceeds on one pretext or the other to arrest them. He is commended by his superior officer for his smartness, but in the midst of his felicitation explanations are given by his victims, with the result that the prisoners are released and poor Jenkins is locked up in a cell by himself.

Markt's New List.

THE list of subjects just released by Messrs. Markt and Co. is a formidable one, including as it does Up San Juan Hill, The Fisherman's Bride, Through the Breakers, Redman's View, Take Mother's Advice, He Wanted a Baby, If Love Be True, The Smuggler's Game, The Highlander's Defiance, Buried Alive, and A Daughter of the Sioux.

HE WANTED A BABY.—Henry Hardman was passionately fond of children, and it was the one blot upon his happiness that no babies had come to bless his own charming home. On the street Mrs. Hardman could scarcely drag him away from the babies out for an airing, and he even sought to abduct an unusually pretty child, and was pursued by a mob of excited nursemaids, who compelled him to return the child, while some husky men evinced an entire willingness to lynch him. He advertises for an infant for adoption, all unconscious of the surprise in store for him, for, while his office is crowded with mothers eager to have their infants adopted, word comes over the telephone that Hardman is very much wanted at home. Discretion is the better part of valour, and Hardman gets out of the window in preference to explaining things to the excited women. He rids himself of their pursuit by exchanging clothing with a man whom he bribes, and continues his way home, picking up a baby carriage as he goes, but he finds that he was too conservative—that more are wanted, and his delight is in proportion to the generosity of the stork. It is a lively little story, with a climax picture that will make a hit with any sort of an audience.

IF LOVE BE TRUE.—If love be true, love will find a way. Neville Sterling by chance encounters Martha Bartlett as she is leaving the box factory where she finds employment. He is deeply impressed by her beauty, and seeks to make her acquaintance, but Martha fears that no good can come from the friendship of a man of wealth for a poor working girl, and, though he protests the honesty of his intentions, she gently repulses him. But Sterling is very much in earnest. He procures suitable clothing, and, disguised with a beard, he seeks, and obtains, a place in the same factory in which she is employed. Their friendship soon quickens into a deeper passion, and all is going well when a fire breaks out, and Neville rescues Martha, who is overcome by smoke while trying to save her chum, who has fainted through fright. He is badly cut, and, worse still, his disguise is penetrated, but Martha realises at last the depth of true love he has to offer, and her hand and heart are the reward of his bravery. The story is tersely and thrillingly told, the factory scenes having been taken in an actual box-making establishment.

THROUGH THE BREAKERS.—The earth sustained no two happier beings than Mr. and Mrs. Nostrand when God's greatest gift, their first-born, was bestowed. They give the child over to the care of the governess, until eight years later we find the father's time entirely taken up at his club, while the mother devotes hers to her whist-parties. Alone, neglected, and forlorn, the child, crushed in spirit, becomes seriously ill. The father is now alarmed in the child's behalf, and insists that the mother stay at home and care for it. He reasons that that is what the little one most needs. He is the first to reproach himself for negligence, and tries to point this out to his wife, but she is not as perceptive, and attends the child in rather a half-hearted manner. She does not consider her child is as ill as they would make her believe, and chafes under the forced and, in her opinion, unreasonable demands. Nervous, tired, and longing for diversion, she defiantly attends a fancy dress soiree. During her absence the child becomes worse, and the doctor tells the husband the end has come. Dispatching a servant for the mother, the doctor endeavours to keep life in the little form until she comes, but in vain. The tie broken, the husband leaves, and she now realises how false and hollow is the world in which she has been living. She sees nothing beyond but expiation. But how can she expiate this sin of neglect? Her child dead, her husband gone, life is mantled by gloom. At the grave of the child we see the poor woman, with bruised heart, breathe forth prayers of contrition, when the husband, drawn by the same impulse, approaches. Softened by the same grief, they are reunited.

Barker's New System.

AT the Empire, a new development of the Bioscope was presented last week in Barker's new system of photography, which makes animated pictures thrown on the screen as steady as ordinary photographs. Among the new photographs is a beautiful coloured picture showing the process of hat-making in the Sunda Islands.

Hale's Tours.

"HALE'S TOURS OF THE WORLD," comprising exhibitions in Oxford-street (London), Poland-street (London), Estcourt-road (London), Birmingham, Bristol, Newport, Manchester, Blackpool, and New Brighton are in the market, and Wheatley Kirk, Price and Co., auctioneers, of 46, Watling-street, E.C., are inviting tenders, subject to the approval of the Bankruptcy Court, for the purchase of the properties in question. The purchase is to be completed on or before Feb. 18, 1910, at the office of Messrs. Lawrence Graham and Co., at No. 6, New-square, Lincoln's Inn, London. The present phenomenal success of cinematographic theatres throughout the United Kingdom is a certain indication of the favourable results which should attend, under good and energetic management, the wonderfully realistic exhibition of "Hale's Tours." The illusion of travelling whilst comfortably seated in an express train and viewing the scenery of the world is a delight not easily forgotten. Compared with other exhibitions, the cost of running a Hale's tours car singly or in pairs is so small that, given a suitable locality, large profits should result.

Election by Vivaphone.

THE vivaphone, a marvellous instrument manufactured by the Hepworth Manufacturing Co., of Cecil-court, London, W.C., is being widely used to make known the speeches of various notable speakers on the Tariff Reform side. The vivaphone, which is a combination of the gramophone and cinematograph, produces results that are strangely life-like, the synchronisation being nearly perfect.

Pictures, Tea, and Variety Turns.

THE old Gatti's Music Hall in Westminster Bridge-road has introduced an entertainment which begins at two o'clock in the afternoon. There is a break at five—but the audience need not go; they can have tea and chat. The entertainment is resumed at six, and closes at eleven. The programme is: Two pictures, a variety turn, two more pictures, another variety turn, and so on. The variety turns include vocalists, comedians, duettists, and dancers. The prices of admission are 2d., 4d., and 6d.; the latter seat entitles the holder to tea. Tea is served by neat waitresses, who bring round a small tray, on which are a pot of tea, a plate of bread-and-butter, and a plate of cake. Smoking, of course, is allowed, and there is a bar at the back of the auditorium, for the place is fully licensed. The management make no secret of their readiness to take hints from their clients. At the close of the entertainment they flash their appeal on the screen: "If you are pleased, tell your friends; if you aren't, tell us."

Pictures that Influence Votes.

MR. RALPH HALL CAINE, an ardent young Liberal and son of the famous novelist, has organised a special series of election films. These are real pictures of actual events to real people. The foreign pictures of everyday life in Protectionist countries make a grim contrast to those taken here in England. Not the least interesting is one showing a Paris horse-meat shop, and poor Parisian wives making their purchases, and workman husbands eating horse steaks. An old age pensioner drawing his pension at Hendon, and an English butcher's shop are contrasted to the three horses' heads, which is the trade sign among the horseflesh butchers in France.

Old Age Pensions Treat.

To celebrate the first anniversary of the Pension Act, Mr. Harry B. Parkinson, the young and popular manager of the Picturedrome, Llanelly, is, on Tuesday afternoon next, inviting all the 450 of the town's pensioners to a free treat in the Picturedrome. The two candidates at the election, Lord Tiverton and Mr. L. Williams, will be present to welcome and receive the old people as they enter the hall. Many local gentlemen have entrusted their motor-cars to Mr. Parkinson to run to and from the Picturedrome any of the old people who may consider it too far for them to walk. The audience will be one of unusual interest, as every person present will be over seventy years of age. Although a stranger to the town some three months ago, Mr. Parkinson, with energetic zeal, is now an established favourite. The Picturedrome is Llanelly's home of amusement and is crowded nightly.

EVERY person entering the Picturedrome next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday will receive a card, whereby he or she is asked to forecast the result of the local election, which takes place on the Wednesday. The person who names the winning candidate, together with the number of votes gained in majority, will receive a three months' free pass, enabling him or her to visit the Picturedrome as often as desired. Over 10,000 of these cards have been circulated about the town, and great interest is being taken in the competition.

Grand Trunk Pictures.

SOME special Canadian pictures were recently taken by Messrs. Butcher and Sons in Canada, in connection with the Grand Trunk Railway. Yesterday, at a "Cinemat at Home," held at the Caxton Hall, Caxton-street, Victoria, S.W., a series of striking moving pictures was shown to a very interested gathering. In rapid succession the Lachine Rapids, Montreal, Silver Mining in Cobalt, and A Fishing Trip in Northern Ontario were shown. Then we were shown the Building of A Transcontinental Railway, Scenes Along the Grand Trunk Pacific, and a Boys' Holiday Camp on Lake Temagami. A Trip Along the "Lake of Bays," and A Glimpse of Apple Picking and Harvesting in Western Canada, followed by A Canoe Race by Indian Guides completed a very fine series. Mr. Frank E. Butcher personally superintended the taking of this remarkably interesting series of moving pictures, we are informed.

Rector and Sunday Pictures.

THE Rector of Bath has stated that he has "not the smallest wish to act as a kill-joy, or to thwart the pleasures of the people. Reasonable relaxation I hold to be excellent, and I would do all in my power to promote it. But I, and those with me, are unanimous in holding that public authority ought to be withheld from Sunday entertainments for profit."

Donation for Poor Box.

Croydon Police-court poor-box on Thursday received £2 2s. from the Electric Theatre, North End, as a further donation.

Cinematograph Duels.

UNDER the name of "Cinematograph Targets, Ltd.," a company has been formed in London to supply the public at popular prices with shooting practice extraordinary, and provide "duels" between the marksman and his targets. At one of the new ranges, by merely pressing a button, any amateur can immediately conjure up life-size soldiers, who will shoot at him from behind natural "cover." Having taken their shots, these realistic targets promptly attempt to retire, and it is the marksman's part to hit them before they get out of range. In most cases the marksman must fire before the smoke has cleared from the target's barrel, a hit being automatically recorded by an indicator. A director of the company explained that the "soldier" was first photographed in appriate scenery and his actions afterwards thrown on a canvas screen in the ordinary way of a cinematograph machine placed over the marksman's head. Then behind the figure in the picture an iron plate is fixed which is electrically connected with the indicator. The first target will be set up in a fortnight's time, and the targets generally installed about London in about three months.

GOSPORT Theatre Co., Ltd., with a nominal capital of £2,500, has been registered the past week, a syndicate having acquired a recently disused Wesleyan Chapel in the High-street, are about to convert primarily for cinematograph show, and ultimately as a theatre of varieties. Gosport, a town of 30,000 inhabitants, hitherto has possessed no place of entertainment of its own, relying upon its neighbour Portsmouth to supply this need, other than travelling circuses and occasionally a touring dramatic company.

Strand Theatre de Luxe.

THE Theatre de Luxe, 65, Strand, W.C., has presented the following films this week: Dove Eyes' Gratitude, How Dutch Cheeses are Made, The Cold Water Massage and the Friction Cure, Anne, Duchess of Masovia, Calino's Fire Extinguisher, Scenes in Durban, and The Jealous Doll.

Ealing Electric Theatre.

ENCOURAGED by the prosperity of cinematographic entertainments in the district, another bidder for popular favour opened its doors on Thursday, Jan. 6, and this time, not only in the centre of the Broadway, but under the very roof of the Hippodrome itself. The management of this new departure evidently aims at attracting what may be called the "upper ten," for the prices of admission are an advance upon those of other houses in the district, but in the elegant appointments of the lounges adjacent to the auditorium, tea-rooms and many other aids to enjoyment, ample justification is found for the extra charge.

West Ealing Cinematograph Theatre.

THE promise of success given by this house upon its opening in September has been more than realised, for up to date the admissions total upwards of 80,000, the record for a week being reached at Christmas, when 10,000 passed the pay-box.

Walham Green Picture Palace.

ONE of the most palatial cinematograph palaces in London has just been opened at Walham Green, just opposite the Granville. Under the management of Mr. Lionel Grant, patrons are given an exceptionally fine show of pictures. There are three sessions daily, and in the afternoon visitors are provided with a complimentary tea.

Bristol Gets Its Licence.

AT the weekly meeting of the Sanitary Committee, at the Council House, Bristol, Mr. O. Smith made an application for a cinematograph licence for a building, formerly Counterslip Chapel, in Philip-street. The surveyor (Mr. Yabbicom) reported favourably of the building, and said the means of egress were ample. The chairman said that committee could grant one certificate as to the premises; and there would be a further certificate required as to the apparatus. Mr. Boyd asked if they had had any accidents in Bristol through cinematograph appliances. The chairman replied in the negative, but there had been very serious accidents elsewhere; there were one or two narrow escapes. The application was granted.

Hemel Hempstead Electric Theatre.

THE Entertainment Properties, Ltd., having purchased the old Salvation Army barracks in Albion Hill outright, at once set to work to refit, reseat, and redecorate it. Having accomplished this, they engaged Mr. Manville Morton to put the finishing touches to it, and boom it, and it is now one of the finest halls of its kind. Mr. Morton, it will be remembered, opened the first of Mr. Leon Vint's palaces at Neath last Easter with the greatest success. There is one continuous performance nightly, from 6.30 until 10.30. The proprietors, being the owners of the New Film Hiring Co., Ltd., are showing some of the finest films obtainable, and are giving occasional "non-flam." programmes.

Prohibited at Reading.

AT the Reading Town Council meeting held last week, the Town Clerk submitted a report to the Watch Committee with reference to the Cinematograph Act, 1909, which came into force on Jan. 1. The Head Constable, the Chief Officer of the Fire Brigade, and the Borough Surveyor submitted a joint report upon the places in Reading in respect of which licences had been applied for, namely:—The Palace Theatre, the Vaudeville Electric Theatre, Broad-street, the King's Hall, King's-road, the Foresters' Hall, West-street, the Large and Small Town Halls, the Royal County Theatre, Friar-street. They said:—"We are unable to recommend to the committee that a licence be granted for the Royal County Theatre, as the premises are not in conformity with the regulations made by the Secretary of State." It was agreed that licences for the other premises be granted. Mr. Bull proposed a resolution that the licences for cinematograph entertainments should be subject to the condition that the premises should not be opened on Sundays This was agreed to by 23 to 1.

ALDERSHOT.—WIDE WORLD PICTURES.—Proprietors, Messrs. J. Golder and Bert Sloman.—Following the necessary alterations to meet the requirements of the new Act, this hall was closed during the first three nights of the week for re decorating purposes. On Thursday a capital programme opened with a series of good pictures, the chief one being The Army and Navy Boxing Championship. The others are: The Last Days of Pompeii, Industries and Sports in Burma, The Brigadier's Strife, Pensions for Working People, &c. The performance is highly appreciated.

ALEXANDRA PICTURE PALACE.—Proprietors, Carpenter's Theatres, Limited; Manager, Mr. J. Connors.—At this popular hall there is a good programme provided for the patrons, and good audiences are the order. The chief film is The White Slave, which is followed with great interest and appreciation, whilst other pictures are The Restoration, A Christmas Miracle, The Mill, &c. Miss Winnie Winn sings delightfully.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE.—THE NEW PAVILION.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Leech; Assistant-Manager, Mr. E. A. Sims.—The cinematograph pictures for the current week are Hunting in Arctic Regions, Sport Amidst Snow and Ice presents apparently few charms to the sportsman, but there is one feature of this series of pictures, they are wonderfully well taken. The pictures were photographed by Messrs. Warwick's special artist. White and Black is a comic film, with grotesque incidents connected therewith. Dimitri Douskoj is the name of a Russian woodcutter. He figures very prominently in a great Russian drama. It is one of Pathé's pictures. Tommy Lad is a startling picture of military life, full of dramatic and romantic incidents. Foolshead Steals a Carpet. This comic individual has been seen in varied guises, but always as an eccentric. A Midnight Adventure is an American romantic story, which ended in a farce. The Two Orphan Girls is a story of the reign of Louis the Fifteenth of France. Saved by a Sock shows a steeple-jack in a perilous position hanging on a ledge of a high chimney, the support to his feet having collapsed, and his saving by means of the sock which he unravels to bring up a rope. Before and After is also very good. For change this week we have The Lovelaces as American song illustrators, and Ted Lowen as the singer of old melodies of a quaint character.

THE ODDFELLOWS' HALL.—Lessees, The Ashton Entertainments Syndicate; Managers, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Marks.—Mr. Marks has arranged a go-as-you-please competition for children every Saturday afternoon which is very popular. The winners are awarded useful prizes. The week's "bill" of pictures begins with a thrilling story of mining life, called Temptation of the Goldfields. It is a narrative of villainy and punishment. The Duchess of Masova is one of those elaborated foreign pictures of romance and mystery. For humour we have Scratch Me, The Widow, Sixteen Children, and The Ideal Servant, all laughter-provoking. The Old Man's Pension Day is a story to interest all. It brings the Boy Scouts to the rescue of an old soldier of the pension list who is being abused by two desperadoes. For specialities Mr. Marks introduces a couple of local youths who give a clog dance—Masters Sidebottom and Bentley.

THE PICTUREDROME.—Lessees, Messrs. Weisker Bros.; Manager, Mr. P. Leckie.—The programme at the Picturedrome opens with a French drama, The Two Orphans, the English version of which was a very popular stage piece some years ago. Those who are familiar with Henriette and Louise, the two sisters, the latter blind and helpless, the former gay and beautiful of face and figure, who becomes the mistress of a young scion of the French nobility. Louise's fate is sad and pathetic. She is exploited by a wicked old French woman, La Frochard, who causes her to beg in the streets. The Motor Cyclist is a very humorous film, and we see in the vagaries of the cyclist some most laughable exploits and spills. We have another amusing adventure of the eccentric individual, Mr. Foolshead, who pays visits, in this instance with alarming, and at the same time diverting, experiences. The funniest and most bewildering and whimsical set of circumstances are produced by what is called Unending Discussions. A good Christmas fairy story is told in The Tale of My Life, concluding with the Stable at Bethlehem and the Adoration of the Son of God. The False Oath is a startling melodrama. A coloured picture is shown of Belgian Cavalry in feats of horsemanship. Alf Warner appears successfully as a light comedian, and his violin-solo and Jap-violin solo were loudly praised. Barney Murphy has a grotesque "make-up," and gives an eccentric dance and a good impersonation of Mark Sheridan.

BELFAST.—NEW ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Will White.—A fine series of pictures has been presented here, including The Jockey, The Garibaldian, The Drunkard's Reformation, &c. The variety element is sustained by Chorley and Connor, comedians and dancers, who are successful, and Mr. Dan Derry, a really good ventriloquist.

ST. GEORGE'S HALL.—General-Manager, Mr. Herbert Rogers.—Under the direction of Mr. Hugh Beckett some interesting films have been presented here, including The Red Domino, Betty's Choice, Under the Mistletoe Bough, &c. Mr. Tom McCullough, who is possessed of a sweet tenor, sings some songs with much expression.

BIRMINGHAM.—KING'S HALL.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. J. P. Moore and B. Kennedy.—The management are pursuing a wise course in continuing their pictorial pantomimes and harlequinade. This week a beautiful subject, entitled Blue Beard, is the leading feature, and it is immensely popular. Other good films are on the programme, including A Doctor's Sacrifice, The Minister's Daughter, The Boy Scouts, Fun with a Tiger, &c. The Wys Troupe, Charles Selbin, and the Levines contribute pleasing variety entertainment.

QUEEN'S HALL.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. B. Kennedy and J. P. Moore.—A splendid pantomime picture, entitled Ali Baba, or the Forty Thieves, is attracting good houses to this popular hall. There is also a powerful dramatic film, A Life for a Life, and several new comic subjects. Vaudeville turns of an attractive nature are supplied by Dandara, coon delineator; Baby Banbury, comedienne and dancer; and the Three Veros, vocalists and dancers.

BRIGHTON.—COURT THEATRE.—Lessee and Manageress, Mrs. Maud Barrasford.—A very attractive series of animated pictures is exhibited here this week. The Indian Trailer is a fine, dramatic film, replete with exciting scenes and incidents; and dramatic stories are conveyed by The American Marriage, The Lifebuoy, and The Seventh Day; while much amusement is afforded by Mr. Pokenose, Pig Chase by Aeroplane, The Lost Handbag, and Why Brown Left Home. Mr. Osland Dehner, baritone vocalist, wins hearty applause, and the pianoforte accompaniments to the pictures and songs are admirably given by Mr. Arthur W. Briggs.

PALACE THEATRE.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Jay and Mann; Acting-Manager, Mr. Herbert Kent.—Prominent among the films exhibited here this week is Macbeth, which admirably depicts stirring and exciting incidents. Other pictures included in the programme are The Man in the Moon, The Robbers' Ruse, Married in Haste, The Violin-maker of Cremona, Two Macs Go Fishing, The Forgotten Watch, and Nick Carter in the Double. Hector MacNeil contributed Scottish songs, and sang them very well too.

DARWEN.—ALBERT HALL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Harry Holden.—A fine set of films is shown, including Sexton Blake, a Modern Highwayman, Wild Birds in their Haunts, Hercules in the Regiment, and Country Cousins. Interspersed are Whitty and Wyse, versatile comedians; Harper, ventriloquist; and Wm. Threlfall, vocalist.

DEWSBURY.—INDUSTRIAL HALL.—Lessees, Messrs. A. and H. Andrews; Resident-Manager, Mr. B. J. Christian.—The pictures shown here this week are a very interesting series, included in the programme are some fine dramatic films, the most interesting being For His Sake; Cupid's Loaf; and The Patriot's Daughter. Some very amusing firms are also shown, Ceremonious (one of the Foolshead series), Aunt Lena's Visit, and The Biter Bit being very popular. All the pictures are exceedingly clear and steady. Everything has been done here in compliance with the new Act, and no stoppage whatever has taken place through its intervention.

DUBLIN.—PICTURE PALACE.—Lessees, Entertainment Halls, Ltd.—The change of films here this week includes the following:—The Hague v. Langford Fight, Amateur William Tell, Adventures of a Sandwichman, Two Little Runaways, Suffer Little Children, Butcher Boy and Penny Dreadful, and Jewel Thieves. Good houses are the rule.

VOLTA.—A new and interesting series of pictures are shown here this week. A sensational dramatic film entitled Bianca Cappello, a noble Venetian lady, being well received. Another good picture is The Dressmaker's Romance. The others include How Soap is Made and The Handkerchief Race, a very amusing sketch.

ROUND ROOM, ROTUNDA.—The Irish Animated Picture Co. continue to give great pleasure to its patrons by providing the latest and most novel films. The pictures are:—Sports in India, Vineyards of Portugal, a dramatic picture of Dimetri Douskei. Mr. Francis Rayne in musical comedy, and Miss Bella Colley, vocalist, have been engaged.

DUNDEE.—PALACE THEATRE.—General-Man. Mr. J. J. Bennell; Acting-Man., Mr. Tom Lunn.—The fame of the Palace Pictures has spread far, with the result that at all performances this cosy house is well filled with audiences who are loud in their praise of the excellent fare provided by Mr. Lunn for their delectation. This week's display includes Spartacus, the Last of the Gladiators, a remarkable reproduction of an episode of ancient Rome. A Wedding Amongst the Rag and Bone Merchants is a perfect rib-tickler. The party set out in hand-carts drawn by two of the guests, and various accidents are met with on the road. The inuptial knot is securely tied, and toasts are heartily drunk at table—too freely, however, for the wedding ends in a prison cell. Many other excellent films are shown, and the singing picture still proves an attractive item.

EMPIRE THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. J. J. Bennell; Acting-Manager, Mr. R. Austin.—A capital programme is submitted here this week, the most popular films being An Episode of Napoleon's War with Spain, Wouldn't it Tire You? A Story of Circus Life, and the talking and singing picture, Come Along Up in the Flip-Flap.

NEWMAN'S PICTURE PALACE.—Lessee, Mr. Fred Newman; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jack Noble.—There is no diminution in the patronage of this popular West End haunt, where the programmes are always of the best and most up-to-date order.

EDINBURGH.—Operetta House.—Lessee and General-Manager, Mr. J. H. Sanders.—In Old Kentucky is one of the principal pictures at this house. The films give a capital idea of life on a Southern plantation, and the numerous incidents which are displayed are remarkable alike for the effective representation of scenery and action. The Adventuress, a tale of French life depicted by leading actors and actresses, is a strongly dramatic subject, and Carmen gives a vivid idea of Bizet's popular operatic story. Foolshead Ceremonious is a droll picture—one of many amusing films. Master George Hendry, vocalist and dancer, contributes a clever act.

Pringle's Picture Palace. — General-Manager, Mr. Geo. Edmonds.—A complete change of programme at this house brings forward a number of admirable films. Briton and Boer, The Wheels of Justice, and Redwing's Gratitude are three splendid pictures, in which dramatic episodes are shown with life-like fidelity. Humour is not absent, and several clever films give the audience an opportunity of seeing the funny side of things. Newman and Brown, musical sketch artists, and Donaldson and Emslie, Scotch character comedians, are clever and versatile performers, whose efforts add greatly to the pleasure of the evening.

GATESHEAD.—Queen's Theatre —Proprietor, Mr. F. W. Bolam; General-Manager, Mr. R. G. Elder; Acting-Manager, Mr. Steve Smith.—Two pictures of much merit, Nursing a Viper and The Stampede, are being shown here this week, and in addition we have Tom Hornsby, the slinging slinger.

Ravensworth Hall.—Proprietors, Messrs. Allan and McDonald; Manager, Mr. R. Allan; Assistant-Manager, Mr. T. S. Newton.—The chief items on the list here are The Hostage and Bride Won by Bravery. Joe Burgess, an amusing comedian, is also an attraction.

GLASGOW. — Gaiety, Ltd. — General-Manager, Mr. J. J. Bennell; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Dickinson.—A good evening may be spent at the Gaiety, where an interesting series of films is presented. Good turns are provided by Alf Tilly and Lena Cody.

GLOUCESTER.—King's Hall.—Messrs. Poole's Theatres, Ltd.—Animated pictures, Biodrama, Cinephone, and illustrated songs form a popular entertainment.

Theatre de Luxe.—Animated pictures run here continuously from 2 to 10 p.m.

GUERNSEY. — Rectory Hall. — Lessee, Mr. Albany Ward; Resident-Manager, Mr. G. A. Deighton.—On Monday Albany Ward's Imperial Electric Pictures opened with Carmen, a splendid film depicting the story of a gipsy girl and her lover. A really beautiful picture is A Pompeian Martyr, appealing to the sympathetic. Father's Baby Boy, Jones Was Never Late, and The Sweep's Bath provoked roars of laughter; Redeemed and Leather Stocking, too, were much appreciated.

HANLEY.—King's.—Lessees, Messrs. Moore and Kennedy; Manager, Mr. H. Kennedy.—Cinderella is a pretty pantomime picture; Little Flower Seller is very pathetic; The Web of Fate The Mad Miner, For the Motherland, The Detective's Bag and The Enchantment Ring are good. The place is packed at each house. Maud Ethelda, the dainty singer, is clever.

HARTLEPOOL.—Empress Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Albert Maxted.—Ruffell's Imperia Bioscope pictures continue to provide the sole attraction here and are very popular. War in the Air, Fishing under Ice, and British Army Manœuvres are subjects which are followed with considerable interest, and The Johnson-Burns Fight is also very interesting. 1776 is intensely dramatic, and a splendid picture, The Park of Caserta (Italy) is a pretty scenic effect, and the many comic films are thoroughly enjoyed.

HASTINGS.—Hippodrome.—Lessee, Mr. H. B. Boyd; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Ewing. — The bioscope pictures shown here are remarkably clear and effective. Some pleasing songs are sung by Gracie Floyde. Local talent is represented by Gus Eric, a Hastings comedian. An amusing turn is also given by Snowden and Alex.

HOUGHTON-LE-SPRING.—The Town Hall Picture Palace.—Mr. Fred Wood provided another good programme. The animated pictures included grand films entitled Sexton Blake and Shelly's Heart, with a host of humorous subjects. The variety turn was Harry Harvey.

JARROW.—The Gem Picture Hall.—Proprietors, Messrs. John Weddle and Co.; Manager, Mr Arthur Clarance.—This hall has a change of pictures, which includes The Martyrdom of Adolf Beck, Trip through the Pyrenees, A Fatal Wedding, Foolshead's Christmas, A Western Cowboy's Story, and Mr. Leolin, in a juggling scene, A Carnival of Clubs.

KETTERING.—Vint's Electric Palace.—Proprietor, Mr. Leon Vint; General-Manager, Mr Arthur Brogden.—The popularity of this house increases weekly, and the twice-a-night system has become a recognised thing. Amongst the principal pictures shown are: The Russian Girl's Heroism; Wanted, a Child; Lines of white on a Sullen Sea; and For Her Sake. The Brady and Johnson Team and C. Hefron (comedian) are great favourites.

LEAMINGTON.—Electric Theatre.—Lessees Messrs. Gillsmiths, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. Harry Plant.—The chief pictures are The Beggar's Gratitude, Before and After, and The Gas Inspector; whilst the others, which are highly interesting and amusing, include Ma Learns to Ride, The Hotel Dog, Private Muggins, V.C., The Subterfuge, and Love and Duty. The variety part of the programme is exceedingly good, and the artists, Miss Mina Langton and Mr. Horace Bernard, are to be congratulated.

LEICESTER.—Empire.—Lessees, The New Bioscope Trading Company; Acting-Manager, Mr Chas. R. Craig.—A Strange Meeting and The Gambler's Repentance are this week's two leading films, which are backed up by the following excellent and interesting pictures: The Production of Coffee, A Sea Drama, The Obdurate Father, Peter's Patent Painter, A Lesson in Charity, Juggling Made Easy, and Scratch-as-Scratch-Can. Lottie Lonsdale, comedienne, owing to the great success she achieved last week, has been retained over another week, and is again making a big hit.

West's Picture Palace.—This new and continuous animated photography place of entertainment continues to put forth very good and well-shown films. The principal ones this week include: East Lynne, The Suicide's Club, Goggan Breaks all Records, Led Astray, The Spy, Aerial Feats, and An Unwelcome Lover.

LLANELLY.—Picturedrome.—Who will win the election? Every person entering the Picturedrome next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday will receive a card whereby he or she is asked to forecast the above. The person naming the winning candidate together with the number of votes gained in majority, will receive a free pass from the management, enabling him or her to visit the Picturedrome as often as desired during the course of the next three months. Mr. Parkinson, the popular manager of the Picturedrome, on the night of the poll proposes to show his cinematograph pictures on a screen outside the Athenæum Hall, and the result of the poll will also be made known on the screen on Wednesday night. At the close of the second performance next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday at the Picturedrome the leading and most interesting election results will be thrown upon the screen. The open solo competition at the Picturedrome last week was a huge success. Mr. Harry Davies, baritone, Llanelly, was the winner. Mr. David Harry, Llwynhendy, came a good second, whilst Miss Howells, Llwynhendy, took third.

MEXBOROUGH.—New Picture Hall.—Lessee, Mr. Will Hunter.—The programme this week includes: The Terrible Brazilian, Aerial Elopement, The Jilt, Sculptor's Statue, Blind Detective, One Touch of Nature, &c.

NEATH.—Palace.—Proprietor, Mr. Leon Vint; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Noice.—A fine film this week is The Flower Girl's Christmas. A Woman's Repentance unfolds a sad story of rural courtship. A stirring story of Indian life is Red Wing's Gratitude. Some most amusing subjects are The Gibson Goddess, Theatre Pass, Bleary, Oh! The Village Aviator, Mr. Poor Luck, Bobby Wide Awake and Noel. The varieties comprise McAskell, comedy conjuror, who is an excellent addition; Allen and Austin, comedians and dancers, got a very favourable reception.

NORTH SHIELDS.—Borough Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. George Black; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Black, jun.—The pictures here continue to win the favour and attendance of the public, and an excellent bill of fare is again introduced this week, the principal items being The Two Orphans, From Cabin-boy to King, Found in a Taxi-cab, &c. Messrs. Chester and Lee's marionettes are appearing, and their clever entertainment is greatly relished.

Howard Hall.—Good houses witness a splendid variety of films, which include The Pillagers, The Hunchbacked Fiddler, &c.

Gaiety Theatre.—Another good programme is again provided here, the most prominent pictures being The Open Gate, Tempered with Mercy, Circus Life, &c.

OLDHAM.—Royal Theatre.—General-Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Kilrow.—A fine series of pictures are being shown here, the principal film being a very dramatic one, The Duchess of Masovia. Another fine one is The Noble and the Dog; A Sticky Proposition is most laughable; Never Late is another good one; and the Dragoon's Helmet is very funny. The remaining pictures are also very good. The Brothers Leotard appear in their funny comedy act.

Hippodrome.—General-Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Acting-Manager, Mr. L. King.—The Heir of Clavencourt is a capital picture. The bill also includes Paris Viewed from the Eiffel Tower (a good view) and The Hunchback Fiddler; Tempered with Mercy also gets well received. The amusing pictures include Stickfast Paste, Dog and Pipe, and Love and War. Mr. King contributes his usual song.

READING.—Vaudeville Electric Theatre.—The principal item on the programme this week is a film showing the equatic performances of Miss Kellerman, the lady swimmer.

West's Picture Palace.—An amusing film apropos of the General Election, Scroggins Puts Up for Blankshire, in which the trials of a candidate are humorously depicted, is being shown here.

ROCHDALE.—Empire and Pringle's Picture Palace.—Lessee, Mr. Ralph Pringle.—Pictures depicting A Mountaineer's Honour and A Russian Girl's Heroism are of stirring interest, and with others of humorous nature are much appreciated by large audiences here. Persugal, a ventriloquist and mimic, and Miss D. Barrington, in a scena, complete an attractive bill of fare.

SALFORD.—Opera House and Assembly Rooms, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Turner; General-Manager, Mr. Herbert Raymond; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. Shepherd.—Among the pictures this week is the drama The Awakening, also The Doctor's Monkey, Mother's Love, &c. Mr. Tom Sherlock also sings illustrated songs.

New Central Hall.—Proprietors, Matt Raymond Co.; Manager, Mr. A. H. Gilbert.—A Tour in Russia, The Stolen Wig, Rich and Poor at Christmas, Baby-rearing Institute in Paris, The Gamekeper's Daughter, The Dwarf Detective, The Terrors of Russia in the Olden Times, and Bobby Wideawake are good Raymond pictures this week. Miss Eva Carter and Mr. A. H. Gilbert also sing acceptable songs.

SHEFFIELD.—Central Hall.—The Jasper Redfern Co., Ltd.; Manager, Mr. Fred Holmes.—A fine programme is submitted here, including the latest films.

Grand Theatre.—Manager, Mr. A. W. Turpin.—Mr. Fred Baugh presents here a series of dramatic, comic, and fantastic pictures with appropriate orchestral music and effects.

Montgomery Hall.—Here Mr. Henry Hibbert's up-to-date pictures delight and instruct all who like to see "the world in motion."

SOUTHAMPTON.—Empire Theatre.—Lessees, The Walturdaw Co., Ltd.; Manager, Mr. A. Denton.—This place of entertainment is doing capital business, and the films are twice nightly loudly applauded.

Philharmonic.—Lessees, The Walturdaw Co. Ltd.; Manager, Mr. Fred Boustead.—There is a fine and varied exhibition of pictures here this week, and good houses twice nightly are attracted.

SUNDERLAND.—Avenue Theatre.—Proprietor Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Harry Esden.—An excellent programme of pictures and varieties is attracting large crowds. Rickaby and Davis score a success in their humorous act Boxed Up; the Beckstowe Bros. provide another humorous turn in "The Butler and the Dude"; Lil Garrick proves a decidedly entertaining comedienne and dancer. The pictorial part of the programme is also quite up to the usual standard.

Palace Theatre.—Hamilton's Pictures and Variety Co.—The chief films are Lake Lucerne, a delightful travel subject, and His Masterpiece, a strong drama. The Cleveland Versatile Troupe score a great success with their entertaining turn, and a humorous sketch, A Kentucky Court House causes general amusement. Frank Martino is also popular with clever imitations.

TODMORDEN.—Town Hall.—A capital programme is submitted this week by the Martell Vaudeville Company. A fine dramatic is The Convict's Sacrifice, while Foolshead's Betrothal causes roars of laughter. A splendid exhibition of Ji Jitsu wrestling is also shown, other films being The Pompeian Martyr, The Conquest, Oh, What a Surprise! The Hypnotic Suggestion, and The Violin-maker of Cremona.

WATFORD.—Picture Shows.—Picture shows are being run by the Kinetic Company in the Corn Exchange and by Bipics, Limited, in the Conservative Hall. Jury's Imperial Pictures re-open at Clarendon Hall to-night (Saturday).

WOOLWICH.—Picture Palace.—Electioneering rival attractions notwithstanding, the public of Woolwich have voted for the Picture Palace all this week. Mr. Wensley Russell is staying on, and Mr. N. S. Nesbitt has the usual complete change of films. The new series includes The Blight of Sin, The Wealthy Rival, Leather Stocking, a most realistic picture of life in the Far West; a humorous, up-to-date picture, A Would-be Hero; and many others.

WORKINGTON.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Mack.—A good set of films, including The James Boys in Missouri, Cambo and Costelle, Monkey and Maid, and the Wonderful Cheers with their clever cats, make up a first-class programme.

YNYSHIR.—Workmen's Hall.—Lessees, Messrs. Pooles, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. W. J. Bvnorth.—An excellent array of animated pictures are here shown. A Mexican's Revenge is a picture full of thrilling situations; The Vandeau Revel, illustrated by Messrs. Poole's Biodrama Co., is a brilliant affair; The Way of the Cross and The Missionary and the Maid are very pathetic; while the humorous side is presented by A Tempestuous Adventure, His Wife Wins, and The Ferryman's Daughter. The Production of Coffee and Delhi are remarkable pictures; and Miss May McPherson and the Cinephone render illustrated songs.

YORK.—Hippodrome.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Bowman.—There is a capital display at this popular house, Sexton Blake being the principal attraction. The Would-be Acrobat is very funny, also Father Buys an Arm Chair. In addition Eric Wilmore is a popular comedian; Dolly Vince a clever coon vocalist; and the Incemores give a clever living marionette show.

Victoria Hall.—Lessee, Mr. Sidney Bacon; Resident-Manager, Mr. Bert Rutter.—The high standard of the entertainment here is fully maintained. The Light that Came and Foolshead's Christmas are perhaps the pick of the pictures. Wragg and Wragg give a skilful exhibition of sword feats which is well received.

For three nights Mr. Wentworth Croke's company presented, with much success, The Prodigal Son at the New Royal Theatre, King's Lynn. Mr. Ernest Owttrim as Magnus sustained the part with ability; as Oscar Mr. Mark D. Draper was excellent; Mr. Charles Sewell as the Governor was dignified; Miss Sara Dudley imparted much pathos to the part of Thora; and as Helga Miss Lily Crammonde showed promise. Miss Maud Locker as Aunt Margaret gave brightness to the play.

A special attraction at the Winter Gardens, Bootle, is the visit of Mme. Sims Reeves in favourite songs of Sims Reeves; the Frohmans give a clever musical entertainment; the Orchids make a hit with their smart patter and singing; Vio Land is a dainty little comedienne and dancer; and the pictures are up to the usual standard.

Mr. William Maclaren and company are presenting Claudian at the Theatre Royal, Leamington. Mr. Maclaren gives a picturesque performance of the title-rôle, and is ably supported by Miss Lily C. Bandmann, who plays the gentle Almida with considerable charm. Very powerful performances are those of Mr. Douglas Earle as Agazil, Mr. Frank C. Chambers as the Tetrarch, Mr. Weston Hubbard as Alcares, Miss Maud Garth as Edessa, and Mr. C. T. Chaloner as Belos.

"The Arcadians" is proving a powerful attraction at the Theatre Royal, Rochdale, this week. Mr. Gus. Oxley as James Smith and Simplicitas keeps the audience in roars of laughter; Mr. Frank Collins is a great success as Peter Doody; Mr. Roy Sidney is a favourite as Jack Meadows; Miss Madge Haines acts the part of Mrs. Smith to the life; Miss Mysie Devine is a delightful Eileen Cavanagh; and Miss Marion Edwardes a charming and fascinating Sombra.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.

STOURBRIDGE.—Alhambra Theatre.—General Manager, Mr. Douglas C. Phelps.—This week Mr. John Warren and company are filling the house twice nightly with his latest conjuring tricks and illusions. Mr. John Warren gives a wonderful turn in his Cheshui; or, Conjurer at Home; Miss Mollie Wynter is a capital whistler; Mr. Jackson Collis sings some good songs; and Mr. F. G. Fenn fetches the house with his dramatic recital "Phil Blow'a Leap." The whole company appears in The Magic Carpet, written by Mr. J. Warren.

SWINDON.—Empire Theatre.—Proprietors, The Wiltshire Entertainments Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Manners.—The attraction here this week is the drama A Broken Heart. Mr. Harry Cullenford submits a powerful portrayal of John Barnard; Stephen Raylton is successfully taken by Mr. Clifford Hamilton; Mr. C. Eldred Wood is very amusing as Tony Tibbets; Mr. Ernest Duval cleverly impersonates Gash Gills; and Mr. Will Beasley is seen to advantage as the Rev. Mr. Staunton. Miss Nellie Hope does well as Mrs. Barnard; the Sally Travner of Miss Nancy Mitchell is pleasing; Miss Daisy Rochefort is eminently satisfactory as Little May; Miss Elsie Shields enacts Grace Fanshaw with ability; and Miss Sheila Walsh gains sympathy with her capital presentation of Mary Barnard.

TONYPANDY.—Royal.—General-Manager, Mr. Sam Duckworth.—Miss Violet Osmund's company, in a new and revised version of The New Barmaid occupies the boards here. Captain Lovebury is safely entrusted to Mr. Leslie Austin; Mr. E. Sykes is successful as Colonel Claymore; and the Bertie White of Mr. Alex. Loftus is praiseworthy. Miss M. Prior shines in the title-rôle; and Miss V. Grafton is good as the Old Barmaid. Mabel, in the hands of Miss M. Mascotte, makes a decided hit.

Hippodrome.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Will Stone.—Topping the bill are Mme. Henglеur's Russian poodles and leaping dogs. Miss Maud Edwards is a clever lady ventriloquist; the Royal Diamonds, one-legged acrobats, score heavily, as do the Royal Minstrel Trio. Syd Kemp and Nelly Neil both do well. The principal picture is In Old Kentucky.

TORQUAY. — Theatre Royal. — Licensee and Managing-Director, Alderman W. H. Mortimer; Secretary, Mr. Arthur Pearse.—Mr. John A. Thomson's pantomime The Sleeping Beauty concludes its run here this week, and has been very successful. Miss Adele Roze has installed herself a great favourite as the principal boy, and Miss Alyce Wyllyams has done very successfully in the title-rôle; the comedians have all made themselves popular, and in Messrs. Richard Teasdale (the King), Joe Monkhouse (Bamboozleum), Edward Hanlon and Charles Harlin are very amusing quartette has been selected. The Four Musical Sconeys have done exceedingly well in their variety turn, whilst Abex is this week introducing some very difficult weight-lifting feats.

WAKEFIELD.—Opera House. — Proprietors, Sherwood and Co.—Mr. George Brydon Phillips's company in the pantomime Sinbad the Sailor is the attraction. Miss Hettie Lee makes a dashing Sinbad; Miss Constance Lait is charming as Badorna, and sings sweetly; Miss Amy Maple as Zoe and Mr. Fred Maple as Hindbad contribute largely to the success of the show. Messrs. Morrin and Cardiff as Jack Bobstay and Ben Brent are amusing, and dance well; Mr. Harry Rose makes a capital Mrs. Sinbad; Mr. George Snow works well as King Tibbles, and is ably supported by Miss Dorothy Tempest is a delightful Fairy Queen; Mr. Harry Ewins is very clever as Agrippa; and Mr. E. Tetley is successful as Captain Scuttle. Smart solo dances are contributed by Miss Nella Dene; specialities are provided by the Maples, Snow and Fairon, and Morris and Cardiff, and all receive well-earned approbation.

New Empire.—Proprietors, Sherwood and Co.—Tennyson and Wallis, comedians, head the bill here, and are very amusing in patter; Mr. J. W. Rowley, the evergreen comedian, gives a popular turn; Wee Montyn Moore is a clever juvenile comedian; Mr. J. W. Darley and company in a domestic sketch meet with warm approval; the Whitworth Trio of trick cyclists display ability; Mark Anthony, comedian, merits appreciation; Siegel and Fields, comedians, are entertaining dancers; Mr. George Porter, vocalist; Emmie Harlow, comedienne; and Della Reay, chorus vocalist, give admirable items.

Hippodrome. — Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. Sydney Tolfree.—The Serenaders, in a pretty Venetian scene, have a fine vocal act; Farley, Rennie, and Farley cause endless laughter in their sketch Fun at the Railway Station; Jack Carew, comedian, gives an enjoyable turn; Harry Wenburn is a versatile comedian; Tee and Tee, musical eccentrics, provide a novel speciality; the Three Brothers Huxter are exceptional acrobats; Renson and Waite, comedy couple, cause much merriment.

WALLSEND. — Borough Theatre. — Proprietor, Mr. Hugh Duffy; Acting-Manager, Mr. Hy. Hearn.—The place of honour is this week held by Leslie's Comedy Cadets, who score in their scena After Lights Out; the Sisters Lindas are dainty comediennes and smart dancers; Kane Cynski, musical virtuoso, obtains a flattering reception; Mueller and Coyne score in a laughable sketch; Andy Fagan, comedian and dancer, has a budget of good songs; Frank Stanert, musical comedian, causes much mirth; Shawlene, whistler, is received with enthusiasm; the Shelleys appear in an up-to-date comedy duologue; Mlle. Leonie De Louvois, in a living art bronze act, completes the programme.

WARRINGTON. — Royal Court.—Proprietor, Mr. J. Beecham; General-Manager, Mr. A. M. Loader.—Mr. Charles Elderton's pantomime company in Robinsoe Crusoe is here this week. Miss Nita Clavering is a dashing hero, who sings in captivating style; Miss Isa Gilson is a charming Polly Perkins; and an amorous Princess is Miss Nellie Stuart. Miss Nina St. Elmo as Captain Kettle and Miss Ivy Boulton as Dolly Dimple are each clever; the delightful singing of Miss Maud Hastings sends her hearers into raptures; Mr. J. H. Booth, under whose direction the pantomime is produced, develops to the full the part of Dame Crusoe; and there is plenty of legitimate fun extracted from the part of Billy Crusoe by Mr. Teddy North. Mr. Fred Boulton does well as a Bill Atkins, whose confederates have capable representatives in Messrs. Will Elton and Harry Elton. Mr. Theodore Jones sings well as King Ki Koko, a remark which also applies to Mr. Percy Wright as King Neptune. The specialities are all good, notably those of the Lottie Stone troupe of dancers; the Marblesque Trio of statuary exponents; Miss Bartinelli, contortionist; Carson Hicks, coon delineator; and the Three Eltons in a smart comedy two-act. Mr. E. Blackster, L.C.M., wields the bâton.

Palace and Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Eric Longden.—Good business is being done here this week. Fred Sinclair and Gracie Whiteford are making a hit in Getting Even; Mona Vivian is a capital mimic and dancer; Arthur Harris scores with good songs; and a dainty artist is Rosie Gaston. Pete and Juno have further established themselves as favourites; Les Saletos are really fine hand balancers; Sim Moree as the "Indiarubber Mohammedan" is a remarkable contortionist; and the Montes Brothers, comedy acrobats, cause plenty of mirth in the sketch Mishaps on a Motor. The pictures are good.

Royal Theatre of Varieties.—Proprietors, the Central Theatres and Franco-British Animated Picture Company; Managing-Director, Mr. Wilberforce Turner; Manager, Mr. J. Waters.—Fred Poplar is a success here. Kitty Wager's winsome ways have won for her a host of admirers; Jack Martin is a popular actor-vocalist; Farrell and Dunn have up-to-date business; and the pictures are good.

WATFORD.—Palace Theatre.—Sole Responsible Manager, Mr. T. M. Sylvester; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. Mason; Assistant-Manager, Mr. W. Wright.—After a brief absence, Mr. Haldane Crichton's principal company is this week paying, by special request, a return visit with The Cingalee, a visit for which Watford theatregoers have been clamouring since the last sojourn of the troupe. Mr. Arthur Cartwright is a convincing Harry Vereker, and Mr. Douglas Munro's smoothly acted Boobhamba is as excellent as ever; Mr. F. W. Ford's Sir Peter Loftus is not overdone—a great point in such a part; and Mr. Scott Cullen as Bobby Warren pleases every moment he is on the stage. Miss Florence Watson rounds off every detail of the trying part of Nanoya; Miss Pauline Hague's Lady Patricia Vane is as dignified and beautiful as ever, but, without being invidious, it may be said that chief honours must still rest between Mr. Jack Crichton's Chambhuddy Ram and Miss Ida Ernest's Peggy Sabine.

WEST BROMWICH.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. R. Nightingale.—Mr. Morton Powell's company is appearing here in the intensely human play How Girls are Brought to Ruin, written by Mrs. Morton Powell, who herself takes the part of Miss Minnie Waters, a study full of interest; Miss Isla Garnet-Vayne is clever as Jessie Burton; Mr. Harry Scott as Harry Hailing is a typical sailor, and Mr. Edward M. Heanley has a difficult dual rôle as Philip Edge, a roué, and Philip Dare, K.C., M.P., while the other parts are all in very capable hands. The play is excellently staged and mounted, and the Bioscope pictures are very fine.

New Hippodrome.—Proprietor, Mr. R. Colin; Resident-Manager, Mr. Joe Hastings.—In addition to some remarkably clever pictures there are turns provided this week sufficiently attractive to secure the success of any show. Howard and Louie appear in a delightfully humorous duologue, A Knight in a Daze, which is much appreciated; Harry Wright is an extempore vocalist, who sings well; Miss Nellie Jannow is a fine singer, and Jackson and May give a wonderfully clever performance, cycling in mid-air.

WEST HARTLEPOOL.—Grand.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Fred Granville.—Mr. E. Hill-Mitchelson and company are appearing this week in Who is She? in which Mr. Hill-Mitchelson undertakes in good style the character of Prince Bora and Miss Georgette Thierry ably interprets the rôle of the heroine.

Empire.—Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. F. Thompson.—Cruikshank, the fool of the family, heads the bill this week. The Globe of Life, exhibited by "Wizard" Stone and Irene Stone, is intensely sensational; the Sutcliffe family of Scottish acrobats, pipers, and dancers come in for a goodly share of applause; and Charles Cardow is a capital entertainer. The Cecilias, lady instrumentalists, Ray and Calden, in an amusing comedy act, and May Thorne, an attractive soubrette, who is appearing in place of Alice Hollander (indisposed), are also in the bill.

WIDNES.—Alexandra Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Kiddie, Secretary, Mr. Thomas Swinton.—Mr. Walter Melville's dramatic success The Beggar Girl's Wedding was well received on Monday by a packed house. Mr. Otto Minster is convincing as the hero, Jack Cunningham; Miss Marie Duncan is a sweet and charming Beggar Girl, and her acting is powerful; Gilbert Lindsay finds a clever exponent in Mr. Herbert Morgan. As Dicky Storm Mr. Herbert Lloyd provides an abundance of fun, while Miss Daisy Meynard helps him considerably as his "donah." Miss Lily Duncker is a charming Elsie Cunningham, and Miss Olive Warne makes a realistic adventuress of Maud Villiers. The staging and costumes are on an elaborate scale. The Bioscope provides an additional attraction.

Co-operative Hall.—Lessees, Messrs. Hamilton and Hughes.—Another strong variety and pictorial entertainment figures in the "two-houses-a-night" system here. The Three Clarkes provide the top of the bill and are clever athletes; other turns are the Alphmegos (comedy merchants), Ford Williams (Welsh basso), and George Bernard (actor vocalist).

WIGAN.—Royal Court Theatre.—Proprietors, The Wigan Entertainments Co.—The Royal Carl Rosa Opera Company is here this week in Carmen, Il Trovatore, Faust, Merry Wives of Windsor, Destiny, Tannhäuser, and Maritana.

Hippodrome.—Proprietors, the Wigan Entertainments Co.—The premier position is occupied here by the Child Trio, who are highly applauded for their musical selections; Albas is a skilful wire performer; Johnny Holland and company cause endless laughter in My Friend, Boots; Curtis Leo mystifies the audience with his tricks; and the Three Orleans sing and dance themselves into favour. Great Thora is a ventriloquist of merit; Jack Smiles is an exceptionally smart dancer; and others entertaining are Harry Zetter, comedian; G. Maston, mimic; and Ryan and Hall, comedians and wrestlers.

WOLVERHAMPTON.—Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Charles Barnard.—Despite strong counter-attractions in the shape of political meetings, good business is being done here by Mathew H. Glenville and Fred Osmond's delightful pantomime Aladdin. Possessed of an attractive stage presence, excellent voice, and winning manner, Miss Hettie Zillwood in the title-rôle is in every respect excellent as the Princess; Mr. Robb Wilton does extremely well as the Widow Twankey, playing a popular role with excellent taste; Mr. Kennedy Allen is also extremely droll as Wishee Washee, and as Abanazar Mr. Bob Selvedge is always to the fore playing in first-rate style. Capital part songs are rendered by the Three Comedy Chanters, who are well received.

CINEMATOGRAPH DEFENCE LEAGUE.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE'S FINE WORK.

We desire to draw the attention of all responsible people connected with the moving picture industry to the assurance given to the Cinematograph Defence League by the London County Council officials, that Mr. Greenwood, chairman of the Music Hall and Theatres Committee, would give no instruction for any action to be taken with reference to Sunday opening pending receiving a deputation to bring their views before him, and to all country members acquainting them of the action of the L.C.C., and advising provincial members to use their own discretion. This statement has been telegraphed to all the London members of the League.

After the meeting held at the Holborn Restaurant on Jan. 5, various sub-committees were appointed to deal with special matters, and arrangements were made for interviewing the London County Council officials and the Home Secretary. Solicitors were consulted, and a conference took place with Mr. C. F. Gill, K.C.

Last Saturday the Home Office regulations were fully discussed, and on Monday a deputation, consisting of Messrs. F. Mouillot, F. R. Griffiths, G. W. Grant, and J. J. Newbold, waited upon Mr. Byrne at the Home Office. They were assured that full consideration would be given, not only to the suggestions offered by the members of the deputation, but also to every one of the clauses in the regulations.

Amendments to the regulations will be made by the Home Secretary with a view to securing, as far as possible, uniformity in the conditions of licenses issued by the various local authorities throughout the Kingdom. Pending further consideration of the suggested amendments, we are informed that the Home Office will advise the various licensing authorities to act leniently under the new Act. Last Monday the committees sat for between five and six hours, and dealt with a large number of applications for membership.

An account was opened at Parr's Bank, and it is requested that all future cheques be made payable to the Cinematograph Defence League at Parr's Bank, Charing Cross branch. The League has been registered under the limited liability Acts, so that the liability of each member is limited to the amount of his individual subscription, and offices have been taken for the business of the League at 18, Charing Cross-road, W.C.

Mr. H. E. W. Poole is the secretary, and he will be glad to receive reports from showmen as to any action taken by the various local authorities.

The names and addresses of the executive committee are as follows:—W. H. Broughton, chairman, 18, Charing Cross-road, W.C.; P. Beck, Alcazar Picture Hall, Shoreditch, E.C.; Sidney Bacon, 143, Charing Cross-road, W.C.; W. M. Borradaile, 20, Bedford-street, Strand, W.C.; T. Einstein, 23, Charing Cross House, W.C.; G. W. Grant, Aldwych Mansions, Strand, W.C.; F. R. Griffiths, 1, Cecil Court, Charing Cross-road, W.C.; Archibald Hunter, 31, Litchfield-street, W.C.; R. T. Jupp, 161, Jermyn-street, W.; W. F. Jury, 142, Long-acre, W.C.; J. J. Newbould, 145, Piccadilly, W.; M. A. Pyke, Dewar House, Haymarket, S.W.; J. Robarts, Arena, Villiers-street, Strand, W.C.; Horace Sedger, 5, Green-street, Leicester-square, W.C.; A. T. Wright, 23, Cecil Court, Charing Cross-road, W.C.; J. D. Walker, 40, Gerrard-street, W.

Mr. G. Carlton Wallace's company opened at the Glossop Theatre Royal on Monday with The Lancashire Lad. Mr. Wallace Clark as David Elmore is well suited; Mr. Ernest Vaughan gives a clever impersonation of Max Carlton; Mr. Wilton Reed as Jem Wincote does full justice to the part; Mr. Rob Anderson as John Willie Wardle is mirth-provoking; and Mr. Geo. Watson is excellent as Tunn o' th' Swiltub. Miss Madge Douglas is a winsome Jessie; Miss Muriel Inglis as Lorna Wincote gives an artistic rendering; Miss L. Reynold as Jane Alice Clitheroe is a typical mill girl; Miss Gertie Haye as Flossy Mayfair dances smartly; and Miss Nellie V. Warden as Mother Wardle gives a capital rendition of a Lancashire housewife.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Draycott's company is at the Darwen Theatre Royal in Her Path of Sorrow. Mr. Draycott gives a fine manly rendering of Richard Burfield; Mr. Frank Eaglesfield displays the scheming Guy Lowther to perfection; Mr. Frank Etheridge is a capable Lionel Heathcote; Mr. Theo Balfour as Markham Ferrers and Mr. Charles Reyne as Farmer Rayne make the most of their parts; and Mr. Will Hook as Tommy Onions, supported by Miss Daisy Carlton as Polly, create roars of laughter. Mrs. Draycott is a charming and sympathetic Pauline Ferrars; Miss Fay Garnet-Vayne acts finely the betrayed Nellie Rayne; and Miss Nellie Freeland is a vivacious Lucille. The company is altogether a strong one, and the dresses and mounting leave nothing to be desired.

Mr. Wentworth Croke's company is presenting The Prodigal Son at the Prince of Wales's, Nuneaton. Mr. Ernest Owttrim gives a powerful rendering of Magnus Stephensson; Mr. Mark Draper acquits himself admirably as Oscar Stephensson; Miss Sarah Dudley, in the dual rôle of Thora Neilson and Elin, displays much ability; Miss Lily Crammonde adds the right touch of subtlety to the character of Helga Neilson; Mr. Chas. Sewell does well as Stephen Magnussen; and the character of Anna, his wife, is ably filled by Miss Florence Lovell. Mr. Arthur E. Holland is well suited as Oscar Neilson.

Mr. W. W. Kelly's company appeared at the King's Theatre, Gainsborough, the first half of the week, in A Royal Divorce. Mr. Keith Fraser gave a powerful rendering of Napoleon; Miss Violet Ellicott was equally successful as Josephine; the opposite type of character of Marie Louise was cleverly portrayed by Miss Winnie Tempest; Mr. Charles Sterling as Marquis de Beaumont, Mr. E. J. Collins as Augereau, and Miss Dorothy Garth as Stéphanie were good representatives of their respective parts; Mr. J. J. Jordan was amusing as the drunken innkeeper. All the rest of the characters were capably filled. Dresses and general mounting are excellent.

At the Theatre Royal, Macclesfield, Mr. Allan Wilkie and his Shakespearean company opened on Monday with The Merchant of Venice. As the Jew Mr. Wilkie gave a clear and vigorous rendering; Mr. Alexander Marsh was warmly greeted for his artistic rendition of Bassanio; Miss Carrie Baillie submitted an admirable portrayal of Portia; as Norissa Mrs. Allen Wilkie acted with much ability; Miss H. Plowright won great admiration as Jessica; Antonio had a capable representative in Mr. Houston Meharry; and Mr. Arthur Keane made an excellent Lancelot Gobbo. The Taming of the Shrew, Merry Wives of Windsor, Romeo and Juliet, School for Scandal, David Garrick, and The Sleigh Bells are also in the bill.

Miss Winifred Maude and her company, under the direction of Mr. Victor du Cane, were at the Perth Theatre for the first three nights of the week with The Sins of a City. Miss Maude, who plays the heroine in a sympathetic manner, is ably supported by Mrs. Wingold Lawrence, Miss Minnie Millwarde, Miss Elsie Maxwell, Miss Mabel Lane, Mr. Arthur L. Read, Mr. Arthur Lester, Mr. Victor du Cane, Mr. Morris Maud, and Mr. Alfred Chester. Mr. George Edwardes's company came on a return visit during the last three nights of the week with The Merry Widow.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

This is the fifteenth annual Shakespearean revival under Mr. R. Flanagan's management of the Queen's Theatre, Manchester, and, among many undoubted successes, Twelfth Night will probably rank as one of the foremost, from the point of view of the public. There is in playgoers a taste for humour nowadays which only an opulent production of Shakespeare or some kindred attraction of an educational sort can divert; and if Shakespeare can be made by modern actors to approximate to the modern sense of humour, so much the better for the enjoyment of the audience. Twelfth Night is a comedy which lends itself to comic exploitation. The tale of Viola and Orsino, with the cross-interests of Olivia, Sebastian, and the rest, matters little to the eye if the humour of Sir Toby, of Malvolio, and Ague-cheek is made the most of, and perhaps a really good Sir Toby will transcend the lot in popular enjoyment. That is almost what it comes to in the present case, in spite of the demands of Viola and Malvolio for premier notice; for Sir Toby is a right funny dog, and was responsible for most of the laughter that accompanied the action on the first performance.

Mr. Ryder Boys, who plays Sir Toby Belch, is an actor of considerable experience and knowledge. To watch him closely, knowing what to look for, is to see exemplified constantly some phase of the actor's art. He has, moreover, a voice that lacks nothing in point of resonance or modulation, though it is certainly on the side of loudness. So far as the requirements go, it is the voice of a comedian who knows how to get every ounce of "fat" out of his part. One cannot get away from Sir Toby in estimating the appeal of the production to its audience. He will prove to be one of the chief elements, if not the chiefest, in the success of the play. That is because an audience likes, above all things, to be amused, not because the current Sir Toby is a transcendant Shakespearean impersonation to the knowledge of the audience. He is funny in the modern sense, far more so than Ague-cheek, who, in the person of Mr. S. A. Cookson, is invested rather with the atmosphere of the play, as, indeed, Malvolio is—a compliment to both. Mr. Cookson at no point of his performance steps out of the character, as he conceives it, for the sake of a laugh. The laugh is moderately there throughout. Especially in the Kitchen scene, his work, in conjunction with Mr. Ryder Boys, is capital. As for Malvolio, an excellent impersonation was only to be expected from Mr. Arthur Grenville, who never forgets that he is Malvolio, and whose enunciation amply makes up for what he may lack, by comparative standards, in cheap arrogance of demeanour. Then there is Feste. But Feste is not an English clown; his tones lack humour, and Signor Gherardi cannot conceal the foreign accent of one whose vocation, it would seem, is rather to sing songs. That he sings them in a tolerable tenor, and is sprightly withal, is much to his advantage in the estimation of the audience, who applaud him well. On the side of the story, we have Mr. Harvey Brahan as Orsino, who is very lovesick and declamatory indeed, according to old Shakespearean tradition, which will not permit one quite to lose touch with the "periods" of the verse. Mr Braban is, however, a capable actor; and if he errs in point of his delivery, he does so in good company; for even Miss Margaret Halstan, who plays Viola, is frequently over-conscious of the length of her lines, though for the most part her rendering is that of a really cultured and engaging actress. Her performance, as a whole, was much enjoyed on Saturday, and earned her well-merited personal recognition. Others to be praised are Miss Moira Creegan, who gives a lively version of Olivia; Mr. A. B Imeson as Sebastian; Mr. Walter T. Clifford as Fabian; Mr. W. H. Perrette as Antonio, the sea captain; and Miss Cicely Richards, who submits a really smart and enjoyable impersonation of Maria, Olivia's woman.

As on previous occasions, Mr. Flanagan has made a big feature of the staging. There is an opening tableau of a wreck on the sea-coast—a very effective picture; and at the end he has introduced a church set, elaborately detailed, for the function of Viola's marriage to the Duke of Illyria. This is a fine piece of work. Intermediately some effective scenes—such as Olivia's garden and the Duke's palace—please the eye. The dresses are no less decorative and splendid in their way. The incidental music has been done by Mr. Yorke Sheffield, and there are several vocal numbers by the Queen's Theatre Choir. So pleased and entertained were the audience at the end of the first performance that Mr. Flanagan was obliged to present himself in response to calls.

THE GREEN ROOM LODGE.

The Green Room Lodge held its thirty-fifth regular meeting at the Imperial Restaurant, Regent-street, on the 7th inst. The reigning Master, Mr. Charles Macdona, was supported by his officers, Messrs. E. H. Bull, I.P.M., Hubert Willis, S.W., J. H. Ryley, J.W., Charles Cruikshanks, P.A.G.Std.B., Secretary, Douglas Gordon, Second Steward, acting as S.D., E. Vivian Reynolds, assisted by Sydney Lawrence, J.D., Frank Vernon, I.G., H. Nye Chart, acting as D.C., A. E. Raynor, Fourth Steward, acting as Organist, J. Cooke Beresford, Third Steward, and E. J. Nesbitt, Tyler. There were also present Messrs. Harry Nicholls, P.G.Std.B., and Akerman May, L.R., Past Masters of the Lodge, and the following members:—Messrs. Leslie Carter, Thalberg Corbett, John R. Crauford, A. E. George, Sydney Lawrence, Arnold Lucy, H. D. McCarthy, Ernest H. Paterson, Herbert Shelley, Spencer Trevor, and D. J. Williams. Messrs. C. A. C. Jackson, J. Channon, and Cecil H. Phillips attended as visitors.

Mr. D. J. Williams was advanced a stage in his novitiation, and interest in the proceedings was enhanced by the delivery of explanatory lectures by Messrs. Harry Nicholls and J. H. Ryley. Owing to the unavoidable absence of Mr. Lestocq, through ill-health, the discussion on the question of a Benevolent Fund was postponed till February 4. Mr. Charles Cruikshanks placed the motion before the Lodge, and read a letter from Mr. W. S. Penley, Past Grand Treasurer of England, the Treasurer of the Lodge.

Apologies for non-attendance, &c., were received from Messrs. Blake Adams, S.D., Henry Ainley, Fredk. Annerley, First Steward, Rev. W. P. Beeley, Chaplain, Louis Calvert, Chas. A. Doran, Lytton Grey, Hubert Harben, Frank Harding, Edward Jones, Organist, Cyril Keightley, Luigi Lablache, P.M., L.R., Robert Loraine, Gerald Maxwell, P.M., A.G.D.C., Walter Maxwell, Percy Nash, W. S. Penley, P.G. Treas., Treasurer, Julian Royce, and Stephen Wentworth. Mr. Robert Minster was proposed as a candidate for election.

An affecting problem was presented to a large audience at the Albert Hall Theatre on Tuesday afternoon last, when a new fairy play, entitled The Princess and the Doll; or, The Golden Comb, supplied the programme of an entertainment in aid of the Bat and Ball Club, established in connection with the Children's Page of the Ladies' Field. The club, it may be noted, has the estimable object of interesting the children of the better classes in the children of the poor, chiefly in order that the latter may be furnished with the materials for outdoor games. Encouraging success has already been attained, for at Christmas, 1908, and in the summer of last year the club was enabled to provide some 500 children, drawn from the poorest parts of London, with a substantial tea and a really good toy, besides furnishing three footballs and a cricket set for the use of school clubs. In the New Year it is the ambition of the club to increase the number of participants to 1,000. A full house and a fancy trade in programmes at the entertainment on Tuesday will, no doubt, go far towards this satisfactory result.

The problem with which the play deals is "Can toys feel pain?" and it is answered in a prologue, three acts, and an epilogue. The story is quaintly begun by Grannie and represented in the subsequent acts. It is that of a wilful and cruel little ten-year-old princess, who treats her toys spitefully, making a pin-cushion of her Teddy Bear, and leaving her doll to sleep out in the cold. By a special dispensation the toys are given one hour of life, and are thus enabled to meet together and discuss their grievances. One old toy—the nutcracker man—who had been in the family for years, and was present at the Princess's first birthday, relates how a malevolent fay presented the baby with a golden comb, at the same time uttering the ominous warning—

Dark the hour and sad the change
If from you this comb shall range.

The comb soon "ranges," the naughty Princess, in a fit of temper, taking it from her head in order to comb the hair of her doll Bluebell. Disaster duly happens, for in a flash or two of lightning the Princess is changed into her doll and the doll into the Princess. Bluebell is delighted to be alive again, and her first care is to pull the pins out of the Teddy Bear and make her former comrades as happy as their state will allow. Meanwhile the Princess is received into the toy community with contumely. As it is not quite certain that she really is the Princess, it is decided to cut her up, in order to find out if she has a black heart. Such a proceeding is happily averted by the Nutcracker Man, who returns to his allegiance and restores the comb to the Princess's head, when she immediately becomes herself again, having learned a wholesome lesson.

A whimsical effect was created by a number of children dressed as counterparts of the denizens of toyland who figured in the piece. Shrill voices piped from beneath bear skins and Gollywog heads, and small boys gabbled off their lines in a desperate effort to get rid of their responsibility. It was all very diverting, and the audience was delighted. Conspicuous among their companions were Miss Vera Le Fleming and Miss Ruby Groom, who danced and sang cleverly. Miss Le Fleming was especially good, and acted with remarkable ease and confidence. She is obviously too young to appear on the professional stage, but when she does she will inevitably make a name.

"THE COMMANDING OFFICER."

An American Military Drama, in Four Acts, by Theodore Burt Sayre.

This drama has scored a decided success at the Savoy Theatre, New York. The scenes are laid at Fort Butler, a military post in Nevada, near the town of Roosevelt City, and the story deals with the indiscretions of the commanding officer's wife, which bring about the death of a mine-owner who has been attentive to her during her husband's absence, and involve an innocent girl. Belle Archer is the wife, Brent Lindsay the mine-owner, and Belle's friend, Floyd Carroll, the innocent girl. The latter has many suitors, and Lieut. Waring is one of them. He has in his possession a photograph of Lindsay in the act of kissing Mrs. Archer. Knowing that she will do her utmost to protect Mrs. Archer's reputation, Waring tries to force Miss Carroll's consent to marry him by threatening to show the photograph. Failing in this, he sells the film to Lindsay for a considerable sum, as he needs the money to cover his speculations in Wall Street. Lindsay promises to hand over the film to Mrs. Archer is she will come to his house for it. At the same time Waring is to be there for his money. Dressed in her husband's uniform, Mrs. Archer tries to keep the appointment, and fails. Waring gets there, however, and during the interview a quarrel occurs, and he kills Lindsay. On the following morning several witnesses testify that they saw a man in uniform leave Lindsay's house, and it is also brought out that the shadows of two persons, a man in uniform and a woman, were seen on the blind of Miss Carroll's room. On investigation it is proved that Lieut. Waring and Lieut. Hammond were absent from quarters that night, and the authorities decide that the one who was not with Miss Carroll was the murderer. The truth is that Mrs. Archer entered Miss Carroll's room after failing to find Lindsay, and it was her shadow that appeared to be that of a man in uniform. Miss Carroll is in love with Hammond, and she had asked him to follow and protect Mrs. Archer. Waring, the real criminal, denies his guilt, and Hammond refuses to compromise his sweetheart by saying that he was the man in her room. Waring, however, tries to clear himself at Hammond's expense, and the latter is believed to be guilty when an old sweetheart of Lindsay's, who was hiding in his room, gives her account of the affair. In the end Waring is banished to Japan, Colonel Archer and his wife are reconciled, and Miss Carroll accepts Lieut. Hammond. The drama is interesting throughout and at times exciting. It is well acted by a company of well-known players, including Miss Isabel Irving, Messrs. Charles Millward, Robert T. Haines, Edward Martindell, George C. Staley, and Charles Lane.

THIS week Mr. A. Clifton Anderson's company is paying a return visit to the Theatre St. Julian's, Guernsey, in The Ticket-of-Leave Man. The play was well interpreted.

PLAYERS OF THE PERIOD.

MR. WALNER GREGORY.

Born in London, near Regent's Park, on Oct. 4, 1869, Mr. Walner Gregory, son of John Ballard Gregory, organ-builder, was educated at private schools in London, Oxford, the Grammar School, Walsall, and O.C.S., Thame, Oxon. He was trained for a commercial life, with several well-known City firms, graduating from office-boy to town and country traveller, then, probably through passing many pleasant evenings at the theatres, developed a serious interest in acting, and exchanged a business career for an engagement with Miss Emma Hutchison, making a first appearance on the stage in the spring of '92, at the Grand Theatre, Derby, as Mr. Carter, in the famous Criterion comedy, Brighton. At the end of this tour Mr. Isaac Cohen, of the Pavilion Theatre, gave him a series of parts in the stock productions, together with a good deal of sound advice on the rudiments of strong character. Opportunities of studying the ways of bustling comedy followed, with tours as Wagstaffe in Pink Dominoes and McManus in Betsy. In the early days of The Dark Continent Mr. Mouillot gave him the part of Michot, in that play, and later Mr. Morgan, in the six months' stock season at Scarborough, considerably developed his memory by a rapid succession of quick changes with about a hundred varied parts, from utility to leads in a repertoire including farce, drama, classics, Shakespeare, and pantomime—all played by the same stock company! It was by this company that the first performances of a popular drama, £1,000 Reward, were given, and fortunately led to the retention of Mr. Gregory for its original tour, which was followed by another stock season, this time at the old theatre in Dudley. Many more touring engagements followed—In the Ranks, A Royal Divorce, The Silver King, and a first appearance in light opera, as Tom Strutt, in Dorothy.

The original country company of A Woman of No Importance was the occasion of a partial reversion to business instincts, Mr. Gregory enjoying a first experience of acting-management, combined with the part of Sir John, and frequent appearances in that originally played by Sir Herbert Tree. Messrs. Morell and Mouillot provided the next new experiences by placing him in charge of the treasury of their first pantomime at Plymouth, with which position he doubled performances as the Wolf. The following season took him on another new sphere, that of advance work for the first tour of A Trip to Chinatown. He also fulfilled similar engagements with The Shop Girl and All Abroad.

A chance of Colonial adventure prompted Mr. Gregory to try fresh fields, and pleasant associations were begun with Mr. Bland Holt, the Australian producer of the Drury Lane and Adelphi successes. Later, with Mr. George Rignold, he accomplished a two years' trip with Mr. Rickards' Little Minister company. On the voyage home an attempt at dramatic construction resulted in a comedy version of Mr. Barrett's novel, A Set of Rogues, which went the usual round of possible producers until eventually exchanged by arrangement, to form the basis of a musical play tried by Miss Ada Reeve some time ago. In 1900 Mr. Gregory made a re-appearance under the management of Mr. Isaac Cohen, at the Princess's, as the villain, in Going the Pace. A tour in repertoire with Miss Lancaster Wallis followed, then Mr. Morrell placed with him the control of the first tour of A Message from Mars, and the production for the suburban company of Becky Sharp, in which, during the illness of Mr. Cooper Cliffe, the part of Rawdon Crawley was played by Mr. Gregory. The courtesy of "the firm" enabled him to accept Mrs. Langtry's offer to take in hand the acting-management of the Imperial Theatre during the run of Mlle. Mars and The Degenerates, which led to similar work at the Comedy for Mr. George Hawtrey, later at Covent Garden for the Moody-Manners opera season, and recently several seasons at the Scala, notably for the great "Lion" play, The Judgment of Pharaoh, and the Ruth St. Denis dances. The last West End theatre engagement in his list is the recent interesting production of Mr. Leslie Faber's Head of the Firm, at the Vaudeville.

In the intervals Mr. Gregory has found time to book and organise the original companies of Sunday and The Garden of Lies, for Mr. Louis Calvert; manage a tour of The Three Little Maids for Mr. George Dance; and to run summer tours very successfully with The Case of Rebellious Susan, The Manœuvres of Jane, and The Liars; also to play in these comedies, and in the "Melville dramas." Further, to be in the fashion, he has, with Miss Florence St. John, been to many of the music-halls in her sketch, Quits, and, finally, was responsible for the introduction of that weird mechanical man mystery at the Coliseum, Occultos.

Mr. Gregory believes in hard work, and for a few weeks last summer held an extraordinary record, starting the day at 9 a.m., by disposing of Mr. Henry Arthur Jones' business affairs; then rehearsing a touring production from eleven to three; directing the destiny of Occultos from 3.30 to 4.30; then, during the late Mme. Illing's absence abroad, attending to her correspondence connected with the German tour; and to fill out the day appearing as acting-manager for the suburban performances of The J.P.

MR. G. CARLTON WALLACE'S company is presenting A Thief in the Night at the Prince of Wales's Theatre, Mexborough. Mr. Stanley Bedwell gives a refined presentation of Alan Escombe; Michael Pagani is made a typical leader of a secret society by Mr. Leyton Cancellor; Mr. Philip Crossley plays well as Richard Cleeve; Lord Romilly has an able exponent in Mr. Hugh Wallace; Mr. Russell Bogue (Drake), and Mr. Robert Merrick (Detective Layton) are effective; Miss Marjory Fane is both cultured and impressive in her rendering of the character of Joan Escombe; Sonia Cleeve is dramatically interpreted by Miss Beatrice Homer; original comedy is provided by Mr. Bert Atherton (Toby) and Miss Winifred Barton (Happy).

AMERICAN AMUSEMENTS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

NEW YORK, JAN. 5.—Mr. Laurence Irving and Miss Mabel Hackney commenced their second American tour at the Savoy Theatre, Atlantic City, N.J., on the 31st ult., appearing in Mr. Irving's translation of Eugene Brieux's comedy Les Hannetons, now called The Affinity, but formerly known as The Incubus. Mr. Irving and Miss Hackney repeated the success they made last season as the Professor and the tyrannical mistress he cannot shake off. Last Monday they began an engagement at the Comedy Theatre in this city, under the management of the Schuberts, and received a warm welcome.

"THE FIRES OF FATE," a drama, in four acts, by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, was produced on Dec. 28 at the Liberty Theatre, New York. The play has been well received by the Press and the public, although the scene which, according to the critics who saw the London performance, was the strongest of the play is not nearly so effective in the New York production. This is the scene of the third act—the Abousir Rock—where the party of tourists are captured by the Dervishes. The English Dervishes, we are told, bore themselves more bloodthirstily, the American Dervishes being much too gentle. Colonel Egerton, the central character, is finely acted by Mr. Hamilton Revelle. Manly and sincere, he wins the sympathy of the audience in the opening scene, and holds it to the end. Mr. William Hawtrey makes himself popular as the Rev. Samuel Roden, and Mr. Edwin Brandt realises the character of the materialistic medico, Dr. James Roden, to perfection. Miss Grace Carlyle plays the American girl Sadie Adams very charmingly; and others who acquit themselves well in their respective rôles are Messrs. Percy C. Waram, Thomas R. Mills, Ernest Perrin, George Henry Trader, Courtenay Foote, and Paul Pilkington. The scenery is excellent.

THERE was a double bill at the New Theatre on the 29th, consisting of Cavalleria Rusticana and Histoire d'un Pierrot, a pantomime, in three acts, with music by Mario Costa, given for the first time in America. Louisette, a young modiste, has many admirers, among them being Julot and the timid Pierrot. The latter serenades her on her birthday, but is too shy to declare his love. Pochinet, an old friend, teaches him how, and the first act ends with the two lovers promising eternal affection. In the second act it is discovered that Pierrot, now a husband, has been unfaithful to Louisette. She reproaches him on his return, and he renews his promises of love; but Julot enters during her absence, and introduces him to a pretty grisette, Fifine, with whom he dances. He gambles with Julot, loses all his money, and finally elopes with Fifine. In the third act the remorseful Pierrot returns, and is reunited to his wife by the child that has been born in his absence. There have also been several performances of La Fille de Madame Angot at the New Theatre recently.

MR. FRANCIS WILSON'S success in "straight" comedy has fully justified the departure he made a few years ago from the field in which he had made himself such a prominent favourite. In other words, he is just as popular in comedy without music as he was in Erminie, which is saying a good deal, for no matter what sort of part he may play Mr. Wilson's Cadeaux can never be forgotten. And now, after entertaining the public for thirty or forty years as an actor, he has come out as an author, having written a three-act comedy called A Bachelor's Baby, which has scored an emphatic success at the Criterion Theatre. Mr. Wilson appears in his own play as Tom Beach, a bachelor with a decided aversion to children. Through the death of his twin brother, the guardianship of his niece, a child of five, is thrust upon him. He tries to evade the responsibility in vain, and the various stages of his conversion from a crabby child-hater to a most devoted uncle afford Mr. Wilson abundant opportunity for fun-making. He could be tender, too, on occasion, and his gradual surrender to the youngster's wiles delighted the audience immensely. At the close of the second act he appeared before the curtain and said that he had tried his best to show what a big part the little ones play in the lives of the rest of us. Baby Davis, as the child, shared the chief honours with Mr. Wilson, and Mr. E. Soldene Powell was very funny as a superannuated butler, the other parts being well played.

"A LITTLE BROTHER OF THE RICH," a satirical play in four acts, by Joseph Medill Patterson and Harriet Ford, the authors of The Fourth Estate, has succeeded the latter play at Wallack's Theatre. It is founded on Mr. Patterson's novel of the same name, and deals with the fads and follies of a shallow, selfish, money-mad set of people, supposed to be typical of a certain section of New York society. Muriel Evers confesses that she can be happy with almost any man except her husband. Evers catches her in an intrigue with Paul Potter, and when a divorce is obtained Potter has to marry her. Two years later she flirts with her first husband when they meet again, and a man of wealth also engages her affections. He presents her with a motor-car, and on one of their trips they meet with an accident, and Muriel is killed. Potter was engaged to Sylvia Castle, an actress, when in a moment of weakness he married the divorced wife of Richard Evers. He returns from the West to be present at Sylvia's début, and at the end of the play takes her to supper, the situation indicating that he intends to marry her. The first scene of the last act represents a "first night" at a theatre, and the final scene gives an interesting glimpse of stage life after the audience has departed, the back-door man proving himself a most amusing character.

Miss Hilda Spong plays Muriel Evers quite cleverly. As Sylvia Castle Miss Ida Conquest is charming, and Mr. Vincent Serrano does well as Paul Potter, the "Little Brother of the Rich." It should be mentioned that the humour of the piece saves it from being as shocking as it sounds.

"THE NEXT OF KIN," a drama in three acts, by Charles Klein, is the current attraction at the Hudson Theatre. The play is written around the trials of Paula Marsh, whose uncle tries to obtain possession of the fortune which she has inherited from her father. To further his plans he employs an unscrupulous lawyer, formerly a Judge of the Supreme Court, whose political influence and perversions of law and justice enable him to block every move made by the young woman's counsel. Furthermore, the uncle and his lawyer enlist the aid of a physician of doubtful reputation in trying to make it appear that Paula is insane, and the distracted girl is committed to a sanatorium. Her uncle's step-son falls in love with her, however, and comes to her assistance, and when she regains her liberty she gives him her hand in marriage.

Although Next of Kin is not so favourably regarded as other plays from the same pen, it seems to please the public, and will no doubt win a fair share of success. Miss Gracie Elliston as Paula, Mr. Wallace Eddinger as her deliverer, Mr. Frank Sheridan as the rascally lawyer, and Mr. Frederick Perry as Paula's legal adviser have earned high praise for their impersonations.

MISS BILLIE BURKE will make her first appearance in W. Somerset Maugham's comedy, Mrs. Dot, on the 20th inst. out of town, preceding her opening in New York. Mr. Frederick Kerr will be Miss Burke's leading man.

"THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER," the musical version of Bernard Shaw's Arms and the Man, is in the eighteenth week of its run, and is still crowding the Casino, the third theatre it has occupied since its opening.

THE DRAMA IN PARIS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, THURSDAY, Jan. 6.—MM. Hennequin and Véber have given us a political vaudeville, wherein Socialists and ultra-Conservatives receive their equal share of chaff. To those English readers not familiar with French politics I would like to point out that there is a kind of "Young Royalist" party here, whom nobody takes seriously, and who seem to think that they further their cause by secretly smashing the statues of those who rendered services to the Republic. These ill-advised youths term themselves "Les Camelots du Roi," and it is indeed wonderful that ridicule has thus far not killed them. The plot of the new play is as follows:—M. Goujon, having bought a title, proudly calls himself Baron Goujon de L'Estang, and he is married to Yvonne, the daughter of the Marquis and the Marquise de Kerlandec. Both the Marquis and his son-in-law detest politics, and would gladly have led a quiet life. Unfortunately, the Marquise is a fanatical royalist, whose sole wish is to see the hated Republic come to grief and a King on the throne in France. To her delight, Goujon becomes militant. He stays out the whole night, and, on his return in the early morn, produces bits of marble and bronze, which, he says, he has broken off the statues in the Capital. The whole thing, however, is a bluff on Goujon's part. Whilst his chauffeur, bribed by him, does the "smashing," he (Goujon) spends the night in the arms of the lovely Clara, the wife of Lebouzier, editor of an anarchist sheet, wherein Goujon is reviled every day. Lebouzier being constantly away from Paris, it is easy for the lovers to meet. Parliament having been dissolved, and the elections drawing near, Goujon is urged by his mother-in-law to go to the provinces and make propaganda for the royal cause. Goujon gladly consents to do so, and at once goes with his beloved Clara to Vouzy-sur-Brenne, an out-of-the-way little village where he hopes to be safe from intruders. Fate, however, decides otherwise. Lebouzier has become the candidate of the revolutionary party in the district, whilst the Conservatives, headed by the Duc de Bliquy, want Goujon to represent them. Goujon, who is staying in the hotel under an assumed name, is in an awful predicament. People believe him to be Lebouzier, and he is compelled to make an incendiary speech against capitalists and society in general. Things reach a culminating point when Lebouzier also arrives, and is, of course, believed to be Goujon. A terrible imbroglio ensues, ending in Goujon—always supposed to be Lebouzier—being arrested for having boxed the ears of the Sous-Préfet and brought back to Paris. Lebouzier also collides with the police, and a very funny scene is the one wherein the two men want to go for one another, but cannot move because they are handcuffed. In the end the matter is cleared up. Goujon's wife is prevailed upon to forgive her husband's escapades, and Lebouzier is made to believe that his wife has never been unfaithful to him. Moreover, Goujon having found some compromising letters from Lebouzier to a certain damsel, the former is compelled to give an undertaking never to publish any more attacks on Goujon.

THERE is much excitement in the theatrical world over the "Chantecler affair," garbled extracts having appeared in the Eclair and the Tout-Paris, taken from the well-known Milan paper Il Seculo. The copies containing these extracts have been confiscated by the police, acting on a complaint lodged by the managing editor of L'Illustration, to which M. Rostand had conceded the sole rights of serial publication. A gentleman living in one of the suburbs—who calls himself an Englishman, but is supposed to be a German—has been hawking these extracts about for some time, and even offered them to a well-known English paper for the sum of £24. The editor of the English paper very properly sent this man's letter containing the offer to M. Rostand. Inquiries made by the police failed to prove that the Anglo-German in question had been guilty of any illegality, and no proceedings will be taken against him. It appears, however, that an actor who at one time took part in the rehearsals behaved in an indiscreet manner. In fact, it is no secret that M. Rostand, while at a Montmartre cabaret one evening, was astounded to hear the "Hymn to the Night," which is included in Chantecler, openly recited. What causes M. Rostand most annoyance is that the incriminated article contains some of the verses in a mutilated form, and a plot which is nothing but an invention. M. Rostand describes it as a gross libel on his work.

MR. F. R. BENSON'S Shakespearean company (North) is paying a welcome return visit to the Grand Theatre, Lancaster, and has drawn good houses each night. On Monday The Merchant of Venice was given. Mr. Henry Herbert gave a finished and impressive rendering of Shylock; Miss Gladys Vanderzee played Portia with skill and delightful feeling; Mr. Robert Atkins was a good Antonio; the Prince of Morocco was well represented by Mr. John Cairns; and Mr. C. E. Sworder was a capable Gratiano. As Jessica Miss Dorothy Radford did exceedingly well; as also did Miss Kate Turner as Nerissa. The Tempest, King Lear, The Merry Wives of Windsor, As You Like It, and Macbeth are also billed. Throughout the plays have been beautifully costumed and staged.

MR. NELSON BARRETT'S pantomime Cinderella opened at the Theatre Royal, Goole, on Monday. Miss Eva Travis as Cinderella is a decided success; Miss Georgie Hawkins makes a charming Prince; Miss Isa Bernard as Rose sustains her part in an able manner; and valuable support comes from Miss Vera Leslie as Fairy Fortune. Amongst the comedians (all of whom are clever) are Mr. J. Mackenzie (Peps), Mr. A. Farren (Baron), Messrs. A. Stokes and E. Maccabe (the Ugly Sisters), Mr. H. May (Garlie), and Mr. Anderson (Phil), who keep the house in roars of laughter.

AT the New King's Theatre, Kirkcaldy, Mr. Wilson Benger is presenting The Eve of Her Wedding with much success. The leading part is taken by Mr. Cecil A. Melton, and his interpretation of George Tremain wins unstinted admiration; Squire Leverton is well played by Mr. Charles Osborne, and that of his son, Dick, equally so by Mr. Henry Danson; Mr. C. Milley Doyle is excellent as Rudolph Earle; and Giovanni is capitally handled by Mr. Arthur Keand. Mr. Chas. W. Dockwray is clever in the dual parts of Paul Cairshaw and Hiram P. Younger; and Mr. Herbert Hastings gives a sympathetic rendering of Jack Herne, a cripple. Mr. Harry Leyton acquits himself creditably as Dean Clifton; Miss Pauline Nanton is a clever exponent of melodramatic art, and displays marked ability as Mavis Leverton; Renée de Telle is a masterpiece of stage villainy as portrayed by Miss Annie Ayton; and Miss Nancy L. Clarke does well as Edith Trevanion.

THEATRICAL GOSSIP.

SIR HERBERT TREE will reappear at His Majesty's on Monday, the 24th, when Beethoven will be revived for a week. A few changes will be found in the cast, but for the most part the original company will appear, including, in addition to Sir Herbert Tree as Beethoven, Mr. Henry Ainley, Mr. William Haviland, Mr. Edward Sass, and Miss Evelyn D'Alroy. As on the previous production of this play, the orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Adolf Schmid, will be enlarged.

"THE O'FLYNN," which is Sir Herbert's next production at His Majesty's, will be produced on Feb. 1. The first scene is a State Ball at Dublin Castle, among the distinguished guests being James II. himself. The second is laid at Castle Famine, as The O'Flynn humorously alludes to his ancestral home. After many dashing adventures the intrepid Irishman—portrayed, of course, by Sir Herbert—woos and wins for his bride the lovely Lady Benedetta, to be played by Miss Evelyn d'Alroy. Mr. Henry Ainley will appear as Lord Sedgemouth, Miss Auriol Lee as Fancy Free, and Mr. William Fay, Mr. Edmund Gurney, Mr. Jules Shaw, Mr. Nigel Playfair, Mr. Sheil Barry, Mr. William Mackintosh, Mr. Hubert Carter, Mr. Sydney Paxton, Mr. Edward Sass, and Miss Helen Ferrers are also engaged.

THE next manager of the Strand Theatre will be Mr. Robert Hilton, who starts his season early next month, with a revival of Richelieu. David Garrick is to be played at matinées. Future productions include a new version of L'Arlésienne, by Alphonse Daudet, in which Miss Ellen Terry will probably appear. Mr. Rider Haggard's Cleopatra is also included in Mr. Hilton's list of productions. Landon Ronald's orchestra of forty performers has been engaged. Mr. J. R. Wilkinson, a well-known Eccentric Clubman, is to be general business-manager.

MR. H. B. IRVING has chosen the evening of Jan. 29 for the production at the Queen's of a new stage version, by Mr. Comyns Carr, of Robert Louis Stevenson's famous story, "The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." An interesting engagement made by Mr. Irving is that of Miss Tittell Brune, the young Australian actress, who lately succeeded Miss Violet Vanbrugh at the New Theatre as Claire Foster in The Woman in the Case. Miss Brune will play the part of Agnes Carew, the sweetheart of Dr. Jekyll during the time that gentleman retains his original personality. Among others in the company will be Mr. Eille Norwood, Mr. Charles Sugden, Miss Cynthia Brooke, and Miss Dorothea Baird, the last-named appearing as Mrs. Jekyll.

MR. MARTIN HARVEY commenced his spring tour of the provinces last Monday at the Grand Theatre, Southampton, and during the week appeared in The Only Way, The World and His Wife, The Conspiracy, and A Cigarette Maker's Romance. The initial week of the tour has been of a most auspicious character, large and enthusiastic audiences being the rule. The popular actor appears at the Theatre Royal, Bournemouth, next week, and the interest of local playgoers is showing itself in some capital advance booking.

DURING the last few days Mr. Martin Harvey has been much amused at a schoolboy's "howler" in which he was involved. The youngster perpetrated the following pronouncement:—"Martin Harvey invented the circulation of the blood." As some publicity was accorded this really tremendous statement, Mr. Harvey, in the course of an interesting letter to us, thus refers to the matter:—

"The schoolboy was, after all, not so very far wrong, for though the matter is not an 'invention' (as my young friend has it), it remains, in the circumstances, a curiously-interesting fact that the circulation of the blood was discovered by an ancestor of mine, Sir William Harvey, who lies buried in the Chapel at Hemstead, near the place where he lived, Hemstead Hall, in Essex."

MR. OSCAR ASCHE and Miss Lily Brayton continue to enjoy social and artistic success in Australia. Such a "boom" has been created in Sydney, where the popular artists have been lately appearing, that one bookshop reports a sale of 3,000 copies of Shakespeare since the beginning of the season. One of the leading Sydney preachers, moreover, has made Mr. Asche's Othello the subject of a sermon.

MRS. PATRICK CAMPBELL sailed on Wednesday for New York. The popular actress takes with her a play, entitled The Ambassador's Wife. It is the work of a new writer, who bears the name of Allan Patrick Campbell. The author, it may be concluded, is the only son of Mrs. Campbell. He was formerly a naval cadet in China on H.M.S. Glory and later an undergraduate of Hertford College, Oxford.

THE late M. Coquelin, the distinguished French actor, left estate of the gross value of £2,390 in the United Kingdom. He has bequeathed £8,000 to the Home for Comedians founded by him, £4,000 to his two nieces, £2,000 to his brother Gustave, and £4,000 to his servant Gillet. The testator's wishes are thus expressed:—"Apart from these few legacies, my son is therefore, of course, the universal legatee of what I have had so much trouble in earning. I beg him to be sparing of it, and, if he does not marry, to leave whatever remains thereof to the Association of Dramatic Artists, upon the committee of which I should like him to sit, if he share my ideas, and to succeed me some day in the presidency of that association."

MR. ACTON BOND and Miss Eve Tame took the parts of Malvolio and Viola at the first evening public dramatic reading of the Weston-super-Mare branch of the British Empire Shakespeare Society. Twelfth Night proved a big draw, for a large and representative audience were present at the Assembly Rooms on Monday last. Miss Tame was presented with a bouquet. In acknowledging a vote of thanks Mr. Bond expressed his gratification at being present at their first big function, and predicted much success for the cause in Weston. Not only, he added, was Shakespeare, without doubt, more appreciated and understood when prominent men and women cheerfully gave up their time for rehearsals, to achieve such an evening's success, but all that was best in dramatic work generally would also gain considerably.

A MEETING of the committee of the Touring Managers' Association, Ltd., was held at the Managers' Club, Savoy Mansions, Strand, on Jan. 7. Present: Mr. Cecil Barth (in the chair), Mr. E. G. Falcon, Mr. G. Carlton Wallace, Mr. Lauderdale Maitland, Mr. William Holles, and Mr. Frank Weathersby. A member reported a dispute with a resident-manager, and, both being agreeable, two members of the committee were appointed to arbitrate in the matter. The solicitor was instructed to take proceedings on behalf of a member against an actor who broke his engagement.

AT a meeting of the committee of the Managers' Club, held on the same day, the following gentlemen were elected members:—Mr. José G. Levy, Mr. George Dorman, Mr. Jack Denton, Mr. William H. Chattell, Mr. Arthur Ralph, Mr. Alban B. Limpus, Mr. Frederick Mouillot, Mr. Edwin T. Heys, and Mr. F. Brown.

MR. PERCY HUTCHISON received, at the hands of his Opera House, Southport, patrons, last week a wonderful greeting, and on Saturday night last extra rows of stalls and chairs had to be added to accommodate the huge audience. With Brewster's Millions every evening and Pinkie and the Fairies every afternoon a record week's business was done at the Opera House. At the termination of the performance, after Mr. Hutchison had received twenty-two calls during the evening, a speech was demanded from the popular lessee and manager, at the conclusion of which Mr. Hutchison was enthusiastically cheered.

ON the stage, immediately the curtain finally fell on Brewster's Millions, Mr. E. W. Silverthorne and Mr. Geo. Clarkson, the joint managers, presented to Mr. Hutchison, on behalf of the company, a handsome diamond scarf pin. The gift was feelingly acknowledged by the recipient.

MISS EMMA HUTCHISON and Mr. Percy Hutchison made handsome New Year's gifts, consisting of a case of silver-backed brushes, scarf pin, and watches to Mr. E. W. Silverthorne, manager of Brewster's Millions company, Mr. Geo. Clarkson, resident-manager of the Opera House; Mr. A. P. Kaye, stage-manager; and Mr. O. Hazleton, secretary.

"THE FIRES OF FATE," produced with such success by Mr. Lewis Waller at the Lyric Theatre, will have the benefit of a very strong cast when Mr. Vedrenne presents his company to Mr. Robert Arthur's patrons at the Fulham Theatre on Monday, Jan. 31. Included in the company will be Messrs. Stephen Ewart, Herbert Vyvyan, Frederick Worlock, Stanley Logan, Arthur Coventry, Herbert Maule, Gerald Mirrielees, Alfred Sandoe, Charles Francis, G. T. Lambert, and E. Vanderlip, and Mesdames Ruth Bower, Lydia Hayward, and Gwendolen Floyd.

MR. ROBERT ARTHUR has decided to adopt still more popular lines at the Grand Theatre, Fulham, in the shape of a reduction in prices, which will come into force from Monday next. Patrons will therefore have an opportunity of visiting Mr. Bannister Howard's very successful pantomime The Forty Thieves at reduced charges for the remaining weeks of the run, during which an orchestra stall may be had for 3s., and a seat in the gallery for 6d.

MR. PERCY HUTCHISON is to undergo to-day an operation for appendicitis. As he is in excellent general condition, there is every expectation of its being successful, and he has the best wishes of all his many friends.

THE New Frances Club, in spite of its comparatively short existence, has already gained a reputation for excellent Sunday concerts. Another of these was given by the club members and friends at the Rehearsal Club on Sunday evening, when songs were artistically rendered by Miss Roma Castille, Miss Gertrude Hember, and Mr. Harry Tolfree. That well-known artist, Miss Italia Conti, recited, Mr. Gordon Goodyer contributed humorous and serious piano recitals, and Mr. Sutherland Mackay's violin solos were greatly appreciated. The concluding item on the programme was a sketch, by Bertha N. Graham, An Alien Star, which was ably performed by Misses Winifred Howell-Jones, Muriel Meek, and Mr. Harold B. Lewis. The club is situated at 425, Strand, and has a growing membership.

WE regret to have to record the death on Saturday last of Mr. Augustine Knight, of pleurisy and pneumonia, at West Stanley. Mr. Knight was at one time a member of Mr. F. R. Benson's company. He also acted in The Grip of Iron, Passion's Power, In the Shadow of Night, and The Worst of Her Sex, making a hit as Le Loup in The Face at the Window. From 1906 to 1909 he toured The Assassin, The Mysteries of the Thames, and Revenge. In August, 1909, he rejoined The Face at the Window company to play Le Loup and undertake the general management for Messrs. Marriott Watson and James Ussher. He was a Mason, being a member of the Cheltenham Lodge and Liverpool Dramatic Lodge. The funeral took place at Cheltenham on Wednesday. Wreaths were sent by Miss Ella Vane, Mrs. Knight (sister-in-law), F. Threlkeld, N. B. Wilson, Miss Eva Trevenna, Mr. Arthur Keand, the members of The Face at the Window company, Messrs. Marriott Watson and J. Ussher, Miss Hettie Senior, Mr. George Stevens, Mr. T. W. Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. Tom J. Taylor, Mrs. Hancock (sister), Miss May Vane, Miss Whiting, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. A. Workman, Mr. and Mrs. G. Stevenson, W. M. and Brethren, the Royal Masonic Lodge, Cheltenham, and the members of Only a Little Boy Company. Mr. Alan Hineson sent a cross.

MISS RUTH VINCENT will be one of the most interesting of the newcomers to Covent Garden during the forthcoming season of grand opera under Mr. Thomas Beecham. The popular artist will appear as Gretel in Humperdinck's fairy opera. Miss Vincent studied with Mr. Hermann Klein, and subsequently in Paris with M. Bouhy, and her singing of the florid Italian airs (with an E in alt) at the Palace Theatre recently placed her in the very front rank of English sopranos.

THE full cast of Dame Nature, which will be produced at the Garrick Theatre on Thursday, will consist of Messrs. Ernest Leicester, Norman Forbes, Frank Cooper, J. D. Beveridge, F. Kinsey Peile, Charles Hampden, Charles Dodsworth, Bertram Steer, and George Bealby, and Misses Ethel Irving, Nancy Price, Alma Ellerslie, Minnie Terry, Verita Vivien, Winifred Harris, Pamela Gaythorne, and Agnes Hewitt. At the end of a month, when Dame Nature gives way to a new piece, the former will be transferred to another theatre.

THE KING has granted Mr. H. S. J. Booth permission to accept from the King of Italy the title of Chevalier, and to wear the decoration of a Knight of the Crown of Italy, for organising the brilliantly successful Adelaide Ristori Memorial performance, given at His Majesty's Theatre in November of 1908. The investiture of the Order was made through the Italian Embassy by His Excellency the Marquis de San Giuliano, Ambassador to the Court of St. James's.

A NEW one-act play from Mr. Basil Dean's pen, entitled Effie, has been acquired for eventual production by Miss Horniman's company at the Gaiety Theatre, Manchester.

MR. ROBERT WHYTE, JUN., has, we are glad to hear, successfully undergone his operation, and is now well on the way to recovery.

"RICHARD III." will be given as a dramatic reading by the British Empire Shakespeare Society—for the first time in Central London—on Thursday evening next, at University College, Gower-street, W.C. Mr. Acton Bond will appear in the name-part, Mr. Halliwell Hobbes as Clarence, Mr. Frederic Sargent as Buckingham, and Mr. Franklin Dyall as Richmond; Miss Adeline Bourne as Margaret, and Miss Nora Lancaster as Lady Anne. Mr. Howard Rose, Mr. Thomas Stewart, Mr. George Musgrove, Mr. Trevor Roper, Miss Florence Geere, and Miss Juliet Hardinge will also be included in the cast. Romeo and Juliet will be given by the Society, with a star cast, on Monday afternoon, Feb. 21, at the St. James's Theatre. Miss Evelyn d'Alroy will interpret Juliet.

EARLY this week Mr. W. W. Kelly sent to the Lord Mayor of Liverpool a cheque value £140 2s. 6d., the result of the benefit performance at Kelly's Theatre, Liverpool, in aid of the sufferers by the wreck of the Ellan Vannin. The popular manager has received the following letter in reply:—

"Dear Mr. Kelly,—I beg to acknowledge, with many thanks, the receipt of your letter and cheque for £140 2s. 6d., the proceeds of the entertainment given at Kelly's Theatre in aid of the Ellan Vannin disaster. Such a handsome contribution to the fund is a most welcome addition to the effort which I have been making towards the object, and I think you are to be congratulated on the result of your assiduous efforts which have culminated in such a success.—Believe me, yours very truly, W. H. WILLIAMS, Lord Mayor."

AN interesting début was made at the Opera House, Northampton, recently, when Miss Nell Compton, a daughter of the popular comedian, Mr. Edward Compton, made her first appearance on the stage. Miss Compton elected to start her career in the characters of Sophia Freelove and as Maria in The School for Scandal, and acted in such a way that it was difficult to realise that it was a novice who was playing the parts.

MISS COMPTON is eighteen years old, and studied elocution, singing, music, and acting at Paris under Mlle. Favotte Faylis, of the Théâtre Française. Mr. Compton had already given one of his daughters to the service of the stage, Miss Viola Compton having met with conspicuous success on tour. She was seen in London at the Coronet last year, when she cleverly realised the title-rôle in a play founded on the life of Nell Gwynn.

NEWS is to hand from America of the death on the 2nd inst., after a long illness, of Mrs. Agnes Booth Schoeffel, wife of Mr. John B. Schoeffel, the owner of the Tremont Theatre, Boston. Mrs. Schoeffel, famous thirty years ago as Miss Agnes Booth, a Shakespearean actress and creator of many rôles, was born in Sydney, Australia, on Oct. 4, 1843. Her maiden name was Marian Agnes Land Rookes, and she was the daughter of a British officer then stationed in Sydney. She was attracted to the stage at an early age, and at fourteen made her début as a dancer.

SIX months later she went to San Francisco, where she appeared in drama, under the management of Mrs. John Wood. Later she joined the company at Maguire's Opera House, and remained with it until June 17, 1865. Four years previous to that, on Feb. 11, 1861, she married Henry A. Perry, an actor of ability, but he died within a year. Mrs. Perry went to New York in 1865, and made her metropolitan début at the Winter Garden in October of that year. Later, joining Edwin Forrest, whom she supported in Richelieu at Niblo's Garden, she became one of the leading actresses in the country.

SHE became the wife of Mr. Junius Brutus Booth in the spring of 1867, and thereafter was professionally associated with every star of prominence. She was for many years at the Madison-square Theatre, where she created the leading parts of numerous successes. Mr. Booth dying on Sept. 17, 1883, Mrs. Booth became the wife of Mr. John B. Schoeffel on Feb. 4, 1885. She retired from the stage a few years later and took up her residence at Manchester-by-the-Sea, subsequently moving to Boston, where she was a popular favourite. She is survived by her husband and two sons, Mr. Junius Brutus Booth and Mr. Sydney Barton Booth, the latter being in Miss Lillian Russell's company.

BY the courtesy of the manager of the Aston Theatre Royal and the members of the pantomime company performing there, about 250 children from the Cottage Homes of the Aston Union at Erdington on Saturday attended a matinée performance of The Babes in the Wood, heartily enjoying the treat.

MISS MARGARET MORRIS'S classic dancing, which has been a feature of the Fred Mouillot Cinderella tour, will shortly be in evidence in the metropolis, for when Orfeo is revived at His Majesty's in the early spring, in addition to appearing as première danseuse, Miss Morris will arrange all the dances. This week Miss Morris is at Croydon, where her "Dance of the Elves and Gnomes" makes Cinderella doubly attractive.

SINCE his return to Melbourne Sir Rupert Clarke, Bart., has made arrangements whereby he can give up a considerable portion of his time to the management of the firm of Clarke and Meynell, under which style it is to be in future carried on, Sir Rupert Clarke and Mr. Clyde Meynell now being the managing-directors and sole lessees of the Theatre Royal, Melbourne, and the Criterion Theatre, Sydney.

THE handsome building, the Royal Victoria Pavilion Theatre, Ramsgate, has been leased to Mr. Thomas Richard Price, who has secured as his manager his brother, Councillor Charles Price, who has had great experience in this country, America, and the Continent. The summer season dates will be booked in conjunction with the Theatre Royal, Margate, by Weathersby's Agency.

THE many friends of Mr. Armstrong Bell, acting-manager of the Royal, Portsmouth, will regret to hear that he is making but very slow progress towards recovering from his severe attack of neuritis. Mr. Horner is temporarily discharging the duties appertaining to the post.

MISS AMY EVANS sang a new love song for the first time at the Savoy Theatre in the second act of Fallen Fairies on Wednesday. The words, which are by Sir William Gilbert, are very poetical, and the music by Mr. Edward German is worthy of that composer's high reputation. The new song was very successful.

A COMMITTEE, including Mr. C. F. Collings, Miss Vita Spencer, Mr. Robson Paige, Miss Lucy Sibley, Mr. Cecil Raleigh, Miss Rose Cazelet, Mr. Henry Pettitt, Miss Kitty Marion, Mr. Fred Annerley, Mr. Edward Morgan, Mr. Langford Reed, Mr. Henry le Grand, Miss Beatrice Chester, Mr. Basil Dean, Miss Rose Mathews, and Miss Muriel Cottell, have issued a manifesto in order that all members of the Actors' Association who vote for the above may know exactly what they are doing. The candidates desire to state that they are in favour of, and if elected to the Council will do their utmost to obtain:—A minimum wage of £2 per week for all persons playing speaking parts of more than three lines. A payment of one full night's salary for all morning performances. Payment for all rehearsals after two weeks given free in the country and four weeks given free in London. Payment of cab fares up to 10s. to any member of a company requiring the same when any rehearsal has been protracted after ten o'clock at night. A free agency. The suspension of any stage-manager, acting-manager, or theatrical manager from service on the Council while employed in any of the above capacities. A standing order to the effect that the fullest possible publicity should be given to the minutes of the Council, and that nothing should be omitted therefrom saving such legal matters as our honorary solicitor may advise on the ground that they are transactions which should not be disclosed till they are complete, or that they are of a nature calculated to imperil the Society by an action for libel. The fearless exposure of all bogus or suspicious management. No increase in the subscription.

WHEN Don is moved to the Kingsway on Monday next it will be preceded by Mr. Harold Montague in a humorous pianologue. Mr. Herbert Trench has secured the services of Mr. Christopher Wilson as musical-director at the Kingsway during his season there. Mr. Wilson has had great experience in theatrical work. He directed the music for Mr. F. R. Benson during his Lyceum season in 1900, and was with Mr. Otho Stuart during the whole of his tenancy of the Adelphi, composing music for many of his productions, amongst others Mr. Besier's Virgin Goddess.

AT the end of the second act of A Reformed Rake at the Prince of Wales's, Grimsby, on the 7th inst., Mr. Edward Compton was presented with a magnificent silver cigar casket by Mr. J. H. Curry, the managing-director of the theatre. With it was a note from the donor: "Dear Mr. Compton, please accept this small token of my great admiration for you as an actor, my regard for you as a brother manager, and my esteem for you as an accomplished gentleman and a man of honour. When you chance to glance at it may the memories it conjures up be happy ones. With all good wishes for a bright and happy New Year. —Yours faithfully, Joseph H. Curry."

AT the conclusion of the performance, after Mr. Compton had briefly thanked the audience for their kind support, he said:—"I also desire to thank my old friend and your esteemed manager, Mr. Curry, for the very handsome silver cigar box with which he has surprised me to-night. I was quite taken aback—indeed, I haven't got over it yet—and it was accompanied by such a charming letter that I blushed furiously on reading it, and I believe, in fact, if you could see it, I am blushing still. Seriously, it has touched me deeply. I thank Mr. Curry from the bottom of my heart, and I assure him again that I shall always regard his beautiful presentation as another link in the chain which holds me so firmly and affectionately to the Grimsby Theatre and Grimsby theatregoers."

"CHRISTMAS AND THE DRAMA" was the title of a lecture delivered by Professor Gollancz at the London Institution on Monday. When the new religion came from the East, he said, the Roman Saturnalia exceeded all bounds in lewdness and immorality. To divert the attention of the people the Church fathers invented the liturgical drama, which finally celebrated in the monastic schools the festival of St. Nicholas, still kept up by children as the festival of Santa Claus. The monastic drama was the precursor of modern comedy and tragedy—the buffoons, the jugglers, and the comic interlude players enacted secular pieces always associated with Christmas.

THEY could not doubt that some of the very finest plays that were ever likely to be written were written by Shakespeare for the period between Christmas and Twelfth Night, when revels ceased and work began. There was inherent evidence that Love's Labour's Lost, Cymbeline, and, of course, Twelfth Night, were written for that season, as well as Ben Jonson's wonderful masques. The association of Christmas with the drama was still maintained, as could be seen by the titles of the children's pantomimes, and he hoped they might look forward to the tercentenary of Shakespeare, when some new dramatic genius would arise to perpetuate in dramatic form the great and noble ideals of the season.

THE Mayor and Mayoress (Sir William and Lady Dupree), with a large party, witnessed the performance of Alone in London at the Prince's Theatre, Portsmouth, on Saturday evening. The cosy theatre was packed from floor to ceiling. Miss Nellie Clyde, who charmed the audience with her acting of Nan, the flower girl, was the recipient of many floral offerings, including a magnificent bouquet from the Mayoress. A very pretty compliment was paid to the actress after the third act, several Portsmouth flower girls handing bunches of their flowers to her over the footlights.

"IT'S ALWAYS THE WOMAN" is the title of a new drama by Riada (Frank Adair), author of The Favourite, &c., and is to be produced in London in June.

IN addition to The Way the Money Goes, by Lady Bell, which is to constitute the next production of the Stage Society, the programme will include a one-act play, by Fred D. Barker, entitled A Lioness and Her Whelps. The two pieces will be presented on the evening of Sunday, Feb. 6, and in the afternoon of the following day.

MISS MAB PAUL has left for Australia to play lead with Mr. George Willoughby (Meynell and Gunn) in The Night of the Party, The Woman in the Case, Preedy and the Countess, &c. Miss Paul has just completed a very successful tour with the first-named piece. It may be recalled that she played junior lead with the late Sir Henry Irving as Beatrice in Dante, and Melantho in Ulysses with Sir Herbert Tree.

THE partnership heretofore subsisting between Joseph Ainsley, Henry Hall, and Henry Lewis Osmond, carrying on business as theatre proprietors at Houghton-le-Spring in the County of Durham, under the style or firm of the Houghton Theatre Company, has been dissolved by mutual consent as and from Jan. 6, 1910, and Mr. Henry L. Osmond has disposed of his interest in the New Gaiety, Houghton, to his two late partners, and intends touring his new musical absurdity, Miss Plaster of Paris. The tour will begin on Easter Monday.

THE Princess Marie Louis of Bourbon, Duchess of Seville, Princess of Karadja, and Prince Constantine of Karadja, and friends, visited the Coronet Theatre on Wednesday afternoon to witness the remarkably successful revival of The Private Secretary, which Mr. Robert Arthur has staged this season for forty performances. Mr. Eade Montefiore, the manager of the Coronet, was honoured by an invitation to lunch to meet the Royal party prior to the performance.

THE new piece destined for production next month at the Prince of Wales's, to which we referred in our last issue, is to be called The Balkan Princess. The plot concerns a princess who, while incognita, meets a nobleman in a restaurant and falls in love with him, until, angered by his disloyal sentiments, she reveals her identity and demands that he shall be arrested. The third act brings about the happy reconciliation of the princess and her prisoner. The principal members of the cast will be Miss Isabel Jay, who will play the Princess; Mr. Bertram Wallis, who will portray the seditious nobleman; Mr. James Blakeley, and Mr. Lauri De Frece.

AN event which is being anticipated with much interest in Berlin is the production next month of Mr. Arthur Nevin's Indian opera, Poia, at the Royal Opera—the first American work ever put on that stage. Poia is the Indian god, or rather Messiah, who brings the dying the consoling message of their reception into the realms of the happy. The book is by Mr. R. Hartley, and the composer has founded many passages upon native melodies of the Blackfoot Indians, among whom he lived some time for the purpose of study. It is even stated that some original Indian instruments are on their way from America to take their place in the Royal Opera orchestra. Herr Leo Blech, one of the first Kapellmeisters of the Opera House, will conduct the work.

MR. EDWARD COMPTON, who has recently made quite a number of notable additions in regard to costume plays to the drama, produced a new play on Friday evening at the Theatre Royal, Huddersfield, set in the eighteenth-century period. This latest addition to Mr. Compton's répertoire is an adaptation of Charles Mathews' Used Up, entitled The Blasé Baronet. It has been specially written for Mr. Compton by Walter E. Grogan, of whose works Mr. Compton has several already in his repértoire, including A Reformed Rake and The Scarlet Coat. On Friday Mr. Compton celebrated his birthday, and was presented with a laurel wreath by the members of his company as a token of the esteem and regard in which he is held.

THE Lent term of the Trinity College of Music will commence very shortly. On Wednesday next the opera class, conducted by Mr. Cairns James, will meet, and on the following Wednesdays Les Cloches de Corneville is in rehearsal. On Thursday the orchestral class (conductor, Mr. Wilhelm Sachse) will meet, and on the following Mondays and Thursdays. On Monday, Jan. 31, there will be a students' concert; and on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 1, the first of four lectures on Musical History will be delivered by Dr. C. W. Pearce at 3.30 p.m. The Lent term will end on April 8.

MR. ARCHIE SELWYN, on the completion of a special re-engagement as Charley, in Charley's Aunt, has been engaged to play George Fisher during the spring tour of Are You a Mason?

MISS LYDIA DONOVAN, who has just terminated a six months' successful engagement as Zara in The Girl Who Went Astray, was the recipient of two beautiful bouquets, one from her manager and other from the juvenile and heavy leading men of the company, on the occasion of her 825th performance of Lady Isabel in her own copyrighted version of "East Lynne," which she produced for Mr. Bulmer and which drew packed houses at the Opera House, Londonderry, the last three nights of last week.

THE new one-act play, The Parents' Progress, which is to be put on in front of The Little Damozel at the Prince of Wales's, will be produced on Tuesday, Jan. 25. The cast will comprise Mr. T. Gideon Warren, Miss Clare Greet, Miss Ruby Miller, Mr. Ernest Thesiger, Mr. Guy H. Addison, and Miss Lorna Lawrence. The scene of the playlet is laid at Balham, and is concerned with the affairs of a ready-made clothier.

IN consequence of the success of Cinderella at the Crystal Palace Theatre, Mr. J. Bannister Howard has arranged to give extra matinées on Thursday next and the following Thursday in addition to the usual matinées on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

THE variety stage is claiming more and more from the ranks of the legitimate. Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, one of its most distinguished representatives, has succumbed to a tempting offer to appear at the Coliseum, where she opens in September next. Miss Winifred Emery has been secured for the Hippodrome, whither she goes on Feb. 21; and Miss Fanny Brough will shortly appear at the Empire, where she will play the principal part in a farcelet, entitled A Change of Front, by Mr. Malcolm Watson.

WE are glad to hear that Mr. Lestocq is completely recovered from his recent indisposition and is now as alert and energetic as ever.

THE entire rights of De Thuiskomst, a wordless play, invented by George Unwin, with the music by Jacques Henri, have been acquired by Herr Engelen, of Amsterdam, who will produce it shortly in that city. It will afterwards be seen in the principal capitals of Europe, including London and New York. The music is said to be exceptional. The story is tragic, and will be interpreted by some of the most prominent Dutch actors and actresses.

A BROCHURE DE LUXE, dealing with Mr. Beecham's forthcoming opera season at Covent Garden, is issued free by Mr. Thomas Quinlan. The booklet gives the plot of the operas forming the répertoire, including that of Elektra, and a list of the singers.

MISS EMMA HUTCHISON and Mr. Percy Hutchison have secured the entire provincial and suburban rights of Don, and will send out an exceptionally strong company at Easter.

THE Theatrical Managers' Association of Australia, of which Mr. Clyde Meynell is chairman pro tem., and Mr. Phil Finkelstein hon. secretary, is now a powerful body, and has done a great deal to conserve the interests of the various managements throughout Australia, and improve matters generally in connection with the business.

THE old Theatre Royal at Croydon, where Edmund Kean, Sothern, Charles Mathews, Ben Webster, Buckstone, Irving, and Toole appeared, is being demolished. Originally a theatre stood almost opposite the site of the present structure on Crown Hill. Access to the gallery of this house was obtained by a wooden staircase outside. The building was pulled down during the remodelling of the west side of the High-street and the destruction of the old Middle-row. Amongst those mentioned as proprietors of the theatre at one time or another are Burton, Fly, Gilles, Watton, French, Barrett, and the Buckstones (Jack and Rowland). Miss Foote was advertised to perform there in March, 1830, and she came to Croydon for that purpose, but refused to appear because the salary offered was too small. Charles Kelly and Harry Taylor played there, as did also Charles Mathews; Irving and Foote acted there for a week. When Sothern acted there the house was so crowded that money had to be refused.

EDMUND KEAN appeared there as Sir Giles Overreach and Richard III., and Webster walked to Croydon, when poor and half-starved, to play at the old theatre. William Gilles managed the property for many years. He was an old-time actor who had a long and varied career, travelling and performing in most of the towns in the United Kingdom. He was for some period with Charles Kelly, husband to Miss Ellen Terry. He was also partner with Robert Soutar, husband of Nellie Farren, in Blackburn, Oldham, as far back as 1858. The following dates are interesting. In 1800 the old theatre was built by Fly. In 1845-6 it was run as an amateur theatre, and was taken by Harry de Brennir and his Tremont Serenaders for three weeks, the prices being five shillings all over the house. The original entrance was then under what was recently the gallery archway. In 1835-6 Barrett was proprietor. Before Messrs. Roberts, Archer, and Bartlett took the theatre, John Loome had it, the Four Musical Palmers forming the orchestra. In 1875 or 6 Lady Sebright brought a company to the house which included Sothern and Charles Mathews, giving a show for the benefit of the hospital, high prices being charged.

LONG "queues" of cold, shivering Parisians were waiting their turns in the street outside the Porte Ste. Martin Theatre, Paris, on Thursday night to procure tickets for Chantecler. Seats in the stalls and the dress-circle for the first two performances fetched £5 each, and were sold by speculators at double that sum. For the first twenty performances it will be impossible to obtain a stall under £2, and accommodation in the amphitheatre will command proportionately high prices. Although the box-office has only been open about eight hours, the advance bookings already exceed £2,000.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Whistler's "Irving."

IN consequence of the death of Mr. E. Thomas, of Philadelphia, Whistler's "Irving as Philip II. of Spain," for which the late owner gave 4,800 guineas at the Irving sale of 1905, is, says the Daily News, again in the market. No Whistler has ever fetched so high a price at auction in this country, though by private treaty "La Princesse du Pays de la Porcelain" and the Valparaiso Nocturne were more highly valued. Some time after being exhibited at the Grosvenor Gallery in 1877 as "An Arrangement in Black," Irving picked up the "Philip II." for £20 or £30. Some will recall, again, that it was temporarily in a Bradford gallery when, a few hundreds yards away, the actor was bidding farewell to life.

Dull Lovers.

"WHY," asks a querist in the Daily Mail, "are present-day plays about such uninteresting people? Everywhere you go you see old men of forty making love to the heroine, and the audience seem to like it. Why cannot a young man be a hero nowadays? Whenever you see a man of less than thirty in a modern play he seems to have been interpolated as a kind of comic relief. Is it because the dramatists are middle-aged and out of touch with youth? They have deceived themselves, I suppose, into thinking that only middle age is attractive and interesting. Their heroines are thirty-five, and their heroes forty, and their young men impossible. And it is just the same whatever you read or wherever you go, the man in the thirties is the only person that seems to matter.

Serious Heroes.

"THE dramatist's hero of to-day has grown his wisdom teeth at the back of beyond and faced adventure in the dark and dangerous places of the earth. Or he has won wealth as a pioneer in new countries, and returns with a mission to rebuke our frivolity, or he does quixotic things to point a sermon, or he is a victim of the engrossing cares of high finance, or he is in arms against a narrow-minded world. But whatever his particular duties he is always and altogether a most mature and serious-minded person. And naturally he takes his love-story very seriously—which perhaps explains his popularity.

Cynical Youth.

"It is scarcely the fault of the dramatist. He can only hold up the mirror to nature and try to see it does not slant. Every age has its hero, and it should be recognised that to-day only a mature hero can be regarded as desirable or even possible as the perfect lover. And why? I put the question to a woman, a wise woman, who confesses forty. 'Only a young man can be a hero,' she decided, 'but the modern young man is not young. He has sold his birthright for the bubble reputation of a cynic.'"

Cinderella's Other Slipper.

A CORRESPONDENT writes as follows: Noticing the favourable reports and rumours of the beautiful and funny pantomime Cinderella (presented by Moss' Empires, Ltd., by arrangement with Messrs. Ernest Stevens and R. C. Buchanan) at the Alexandra Theatre, Stoke Newington, I paid a visit to that fine building (now replete with every comfort) the other evening, and was compelled to admit that what I had read and heard was true in every detail. I do not think I ever enjoyed a theatrical entertainment so much. It is quite a fairy play with music, full of choice tit-bits and rollicking, clean fun. While in the refreshment bar I chanced upon a gentleman who informed me he had just arrived from the East, and we chatted sociably together during the interval. He appeared to be a great scholar, and (inter alia) made known to me the following story of Cinderella's "other" slipper, which he stated appeared in the original script of the story, but which does not appear to be generally known: When Cinderella ran away from the Prince's Palace on the fateful stroke of twelve she, in her haste, dropped one of her slippers. On arriving home, and prior to going to bed, she placed the other slipper near at hand. Her two sisters shared the same sleeping apartment with her. Very early in the morning one of the said sisters whispered affrightedly that she thought a burglar was in the room, and sure enough it was so, and the bad man was the Evil Genii come to steal the slipper. All the sisters thereupon jumped out of bed, and seizing the man, they looked for something to thrash him with. Cinderella's slipper being the nearest object, they slapped the man soundly with it, knocking sense and nonsense out of him until he begged, on his knees, for mercy. Then the faithful men retainers came in, and taking the burglar away they drowned him in the local duck-pond. Thus it came about that both of Cinderella's slippers performed a useful service; one secured to her a noble prince as a husband, while the other probably saved her life.

The Acting of Children.

"THE children who have recently astonished London do not seem to me to go beyond elementary acting," writes Mr. E. A. Baughan in the Daily News, "but the astonishing thing is that they show a keen sense of humour, as if they themselves thoroughly understood our grown-up sense of the inappropriate. I have never been able to understand this sense of humour in children, for it presupposes some curious power of analysis which we hardly associate with childhood. They pretend to themselves that their dolls and teddy-bears are alive, and the grown-up creature who clumsily shows that he does not understand that serious make-believe has a poor chance of being popular.

"I HAVE never seen a child act in the true sense of the word. They are never anything but themselves, or a conscious exaggeration of themselves. As I have already written, many grown-up players do not go beyond that elementary form of acting. The real art of imagining the emotional and mental life of a character and conveying it to the audience they cannot be expected to possess. Very few grown-up players are actors in that sense; very few indeed! All that these wonderful children prove is that the superficial type of acting is just a matter of instinct, and is not an art at all."

A Theatrical Time.

THE eighteenth century was a demonstrative time in England, one of italics, one far more theatrical than has been supposed (says Mr. Walter Sichel in his recently-published life of Sheridan). Tears did not go out of publicity till 1808, when the surtout came into fashion and the eighteenth century may be said to have died. For some forty years they were cultivated in both Houses, where they were as common as the Latin quotations. Burke wept when Fox praised him in 1790, and fox wept at Burke's irrevocable farewell from his friend and pupil in the following year. Fox, indeed, was an inveterate weeper on political emergencies. Tears trickled down the fat cheeks of this spoiled child of fifty in 1799, when he hurried up for two days from his Arcadian self-exile in the vain hopes of at length defeating Pitt. Fox and Burke were emotional, but Pitt, the unruffled, wept also, "pressing his hat upon his brow," when the vote impeaching his beloved Lord Melville was recorded.

We shall be obliged if our readers will send us any amusing anecdotes they may hear, or accounts of any quaint incidents they may witness while acting or rehearsing.

Captain Kidd has one great advantage—it starts with an excellent story. Mr. Richard Harding Davis's play, The Dictator, which was performed on May 3, 1905, at the Comedy Theatre by an American company, headed by Mr. William Collier, is a good example of the comedy of adventure. By the time that this is in print the performance of the piece will have been reduced to convenient limits, and the dialogue and incidents curtailed and condensed. Captain Kidd is the name adopted by young Viscount Albany, who, having been insulted by a cabman in New York, has knocked him down, and left him for dead. Flying to the States to escape arrest for murder, he embarks on the Bolivar, a ship bound for Porto Banos, a town in Central America. On board of the vessel is a charming young lady named Lucy Sheridan, who is going out to Porto Banos to marry the Rev. Arthur Bostick, a pale and plain clergyman. On the voyage Viscount Albany falls in love with her, and she is favourably impressed by his boldness, vivacity, and unfailing good humour. A certain Colonel John T. Bowie has been appointed American Consul of Porto Banos, and has arranged, in order to obtain power, for a revolution to take place on his arrival. Unfortunately, his local partisan is overpowered by a rival, Santos Campos, and Bowie is afraid for his life to land. Albany, on his side, has been frightened by the appearance on the ship of a secret service detective, named Duffy, who has been ordered by cable to arrest the Viscount for the affair of the cabman; so Albany and Bowie exchange identities, and the former goes on shore as the Consul of Porto Banos. Before he leaves the ship, however, he almost estranges Miss Sheridan from him by—in his character of Colonel Bowie—embracing Mrs. Bowie, a young and attractive female.

In the next scene we are at the American Consulate. The clergyman has been arrested by mistake as Viscount Albany, and has been chained to the short and sprightly stewardess of the Bolivar, who has been taken for his accomplice. Santos Campos, now general and president of the state, arrives with his troops, and bullies the pretended Consul, whom, however, he dares not attack in the sacred shelter of the Consulate. Albany, who has plenty of money, hires an army and prepares for resistance. His anxieties are increased by the menacing attitude of a certain passionate and revengeful Central American, Senorita Juanita Arguilla, an old flame of Bowie's. But Miss Sheridan, whose loyalty to her clerical fiancée weakens when she learns of his incarceration with the stewardess, is still favourably disposed towards the Viscount. In the end, of course, he triumphs, gets through his difficulties, and marries Lucy, the Rev. Arthur pairing off with the Senorita, who will assist him in converting the natives.

The success of the play is assured by the dominating personality and immense popularity of Mr. Seymour Hicks, who is the spoilt child of his particular public, and is allowed by them unlimited licence. He keeps the house in intermittent laughter while he is on the stage; and so deliciously absurd are his "gags" and jokes, so buoyantly audacious are his sallies, and he has such a complete faith in himself and trust in his audience, that he proves entirely irresistible. He gets the utmost amount of effect out of his songs, notably one about the only girl he ever loved. But it is the never-ceasing activity, the unfailing good humour of Mr. Hicks that win the day. Miss Ellaline Terriss's charm and cleverness are as evident as ever, and in the part of Lucy Sheridan she is only second to Mr. Hicks in her amusing interpolations. She renders her two songs, "Peru" and "Yucatan" with her usual grace and expression, and her passages of arms with Mr. Hicks, and her share in duets with him, are very daintily done. The surprise of the evening was the success of Miss Ivy St. Helier, who played the "Louie Freear" part of Aggie Shrubb with an easy, natural humour, which was very effective, and won a well-deserved encore for a capital song in the second act, her high note bringing down the house. Mr. Evelyn Beerbohm very cleverly made the most of the slight part of Dick Hyne; Mr. Hugh E. Wright gave importance to the part of Simpson by the dry humour with which he depicted the gloomy valet; and Miss Hilda Guiver's fine voice, impressive energy, and bold beauty were valuable in the rôle of the Senorita Arguilla. The remaining characters, small as they were, had all excellent representatives. Mr. John Clulow was strong and characteristic as the conspiring Colonel; Mr. Fred Lewis's loud and throaty secret service agent stood out distinctly; Mr. Cyril Ashford, well made up, was passively drôll as the comic clergyman; Mr. Frank Wilson made a dazzling and truculent Santos Campos; Mr. Frank Vigars did well as the Captain of the Bolivar; Mr. J. J. Hooker was efficient as Dr. Vasques; and Mr. Charles Bradley was satisfactory as Lieutenant Perry. Praise is also due to Miss Mollie Lowell, a buxom and attractive hotel proprietress; and to Miss Sylvia Buckley, an agreeable representative of Mrs. John T. Bowie, Miss Florence Thurston dancing well as Sarita. Mr. Joseph Harker has painted two picturesque scenes; Mr. Fred Farren has arranged some pretty dances; and the chorus and costumes are charming. We must not forget to praise Mr. Leslie Stuart's music, which is in that clever composer's most sweet and facile vein. Captain Kidd will develop into a success.

Costume at the Theatre.

"IT is amusing," says John Bull, "to hear that in Berlin they are at last making a fierce stand against the wearing of 'day' dresses at the opera and theatres by women of wealth and rank, as has hitherto been a sort of lingering fashion; also against the wearing of evening dress, by men, at weddings, funerals, and afternoon receptions of a ceremonial nature. A club has been formed amongst the most influential people in Berlin society, and the reform was openly started on New Year's Day in all the fashionable restaurants, theatres, and public places of amusement."

"THE QUEEN OF HEARTS" AT KENNINGTON.

[SECOND NOTICE.]

There is something uncommon and original about the "book" of the Kennington pantomime. Since the opening night large excisions have been made in the text, but sufficient of the dialogue has been left to outline the story of the greedy king who marries his cook, and of the sorceress who keeps a charming damsel of Royal blood under her spell, and curses the Royal tarts, with the result that the king and queen are dethroned and obliged to resort to menial work to obtain a living. Their son, Florizel, falls in love with the enchanted maiden, faces danger and temptation to reach her, and eventually marries her. The elasticity of the story admits of the introduction of any amount of interpolated fun; and laughter seldom ceases during the performance of this lively and diverting annual. The members of the cast all work hard, and their burlesque acting has the necessary dramatic backbone. Mr. Stephen Adeson, for instance, gives suggestion of real power in his travesties of melodrama, and plays the King with irresistible energy and spirit, singing with a humorous earnestness and point which bring down the house. With him, as the lawyers say, is Mr. Arthur Rigby, whose drollery is various, ingenious, and unconscious. The elderly woman of the lower middle class is always an amusing personage in a suburban pantomime, and Mr. Rigby does not vulgarise the type. His lecture to ladies is punctuated with screams of laughter, obtained in legitimately comic means. Both he and Mr. Adeson introduce plenty of business; and the house rings with mirth at their troubles with the donkey-cart, in which they "move" to their new home, and at their odd attempts at making pastry. Mr. Harry Dent, who plays the treacherous Knave of Hearts, overflows with fun, and completes the trio of broad fun-makers. He joins with Mr. Adeson in an amusing "skit" on certain music hall turns, and is constantly creating merriment throughout the progress of the pantomime. A dashing, delightful principal boy is Miss Violet Loraine, whose energy and activity are agreeably spontaneous, and whose voice, good in both upper and lower register, is heard in some very spirited and successful songs. Miss Loraine is full of animation and earnestness, and her fine figure and supple grace complete her triumph as Florizel. A sweet and sympathetic Estrella is Miss Mabel Green, whose singing is decidedly above the average, and who looks very pretty and pathetic as the enchanted princess. Miss Elsie Evelyn Hill enacts the sorceress, Armida, in sternly dramatic style, and presents a very imposing appearance; Miss May Sheridan is admirable in every way as the Fairy Fortuna; Miss Renee Reel dances cleverly as the Joker; and Miss Ethel Buckler, Miss Mabel Vere, Miss Eunice Gray, and Miss Clarice Carley are handsome and graceful Builders of Bridges. The incidental music, composed by Julian H. Wilson and J. O. Shepherd, is remarkably good, and some of the numbers are quite operatic. The ballet is tastefully attired, and does its work well, under the able direction of Miss Madge Martin, whose Eight Sunbeams are pretty and dainty dancers; and the choruses are remarkably well rendered by trained singers, under the expert bâton of Mr. Wilson. There is some very beautiful scenery by Messrs. Stafford Hall, W. T. Helmsley, G. E. W. Mickie, and J. Fowler Hogg, notably a set of four leading up to that of Poppy Land, at the end of the first part, painted by the last-named artist, in which the colours are agreeably dainty and delicate. There is also a cleverly-contrived airship panorama by the same gentleman in the second part. The Queen of Hearts is a composite entertainment, and it is difficult to say whether its success is due to the way in which the artists have energised and invented, to the way in which the costumiers and the scene-painters have done their work, or to the complete and careful manner in which Mr. Robert Arthur has superintended the preparation of the whole. Success, at any rate, has been attained; and Mr. H. Barrett Brandreth is kept busy in attending to the demands on him in the front of the house, where the box-office is besieged at all hours.

Caruso at the Post Office.

AN amusing anecdote relating to Signor Caruso's recent tour in America is given in the Paris Temps. The famous tenor, who had just left the Metropolitan Opera House, where he had scored a tremendous success, went to the post office, accompanied by a friend, to take out an insured letter containing a large sum of money which had been sent to him from Europe. The official, however, notwithstanding his protests, refused to hand over the packet to him. He vainly exhibited envelopes, cheques, and photographs; the postal employee would not hear of it. "Come again to-morrow," he said, coolly. "But I am leaving this country to-night," exclaimed Caruso. "I must have my money now!"

THE American official suddenly appeared to have been struck by a bright idea. "You claim to be Caruso, do you? Well, then, you can easily prove it; sing us something." Taken aback at the request, Signor Caruso hesitated one moment. But the postal official had settled himself comfortably on his seat to hear the tenor, and had invited his colleagues to act as judges. So the famous singer gave up resistance, and gave, in his most enchanting tones, the romance from the third act of The Tosca, in which the hero declares in sighs that he is going to die in despair, and that he has never loved life better.

"BRAVO! bravissimo!" exclaimed the officials, at the concluding notes. "And now," added the letter clerk, "here is your packet. We knew who you were all the time; only, as you charge the poor public such impossible prices for hearing you, we thought we would do so free of charge. Kindly sign the receipt book, and accept our sincerest thanks." There was nothing left for Caruso to do but to laugh at the adventure, which he did, says the Temps correspondent, very heartily.

"DON," Rudolph Besier's comedy, was produced at the New Theatre, New York, on Dec. 30, and, being admirably acted by the company, was received with applause and much laughter. Mr. Matheson Lang was capital in the title-rôle, and Mr. William McVay did equally well as General Sinclair, Don's prospective father-in-law. Mr. Louis Calvert's embodiment of the religious fanatic, Thompsett, was true to life. Miss Beverly Sitgreaves, Mr. E. M. Holland, Miss Thais Lawton, and Miss Leah Bateman-Hunter played prominent parts, and contributed to the success of the performance. Liz, the Mother, a one-act play, by Frederick Fenn and Richard Pryce, preceded Don as a curtain-raiser. It was originally produced in London at the Waldorf Theatre under the title of His Father, and is a grim portrayal of life and character in the East End of London. Miss Annie Russell acted the title-rôle of Liz Piecemeal effectively, and was well supported by Miss Beatrice Forbes-Robertson, Mr. Oswald Yorke, and Miss Jessie Busley as the other members of the Piecemeal family.

THE Glossop-Harris Répertoire Company opened at the New Theatre Royal, Whitehaven, on Monday, in The Merchant of Venice. Mr. H. P. Owen does well as Antonio; Mr. Frank Cellier makes a powerful Shylock; Miss Ine Cameron makes a clever Jessica; and Miss Florence Glossop-Harris an excellent Portia. Other plays down for the week are The Taming of the Shrew, Romeo and Juliet, The School for Scandal, Merry Wives of Windsor, Hamlet, and Othello.

ACTORS' ASSOCIATION.

Minutes of the Council Meeting, held on Tuesday, Jan. 11, at 32, Regent-street. Present: Mr. Frederick Moriand, in the chair; Mr. H. W. Mote, Solicitor; Messrs. F. J. Arlton, Cyril Cattley, Leonard Shepherd, J. Poole Kirkwood, Langford Reed, Lewis Casson, Miss Agnes Imlay, Miss Marion Lind, and Mr. D. Young, Secretary.

The minutes of the meetings held on the 4th and 8th inst. were read and confirmed.

The Secretary was instructed to acknowledge receipt of Mr Freund's letter and to write to Herr Stark saying that they would be willing to wait until he was able to give more information with regard to the re-construction of the Rules and Regulations of the German Actors' Society.

The auditors presented the report of accounts and balance-sheet, which was discussed at length, and eventually Messrs. Barnes, Dunn, and Boughton promised the final statement of accounts in time for the Special Meeting of the Council on Friday (yesterday) at 12 noon. The Council accorded a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Boughton for his very clear statement of accounts.

It was decided that the Secretary be instructed to arrange for a new register or details of a scheme for presentation that day three weeks.

The Secretary was instructed to acknowledge the receipt of the letter from the Amalgamated Musicians' Union, and to say that they agreed to appoint a delegate to the London County Council on Wednesday, the 26th inst., and that they would be glad to hear further from the Union as to their proposed action.

The Secretary was instructed to place the last paragraph of the letter with regard to the suggestion of organising Sunday concerts on the Agenda for the first meeting of the new Council. The Secretary was further instructed to acknowledge receipt of the letter from the Secretary of the Imperial Sunday Alliance and to thank them for their kind expression of opinion.

The Hon. Solicitor tendered his report in which it was stated: "We have had an interview with a member, and he has accepted the sum offered by a manager in full settlement of the claim. We have had a letter from a manager offering to settle two claims by paying less than what is claimed and have had an interview with a member who has instructed us to accept an amount in settlement. The Hon. Solicitor likewise read the proposed agreement with the Kitchen Committee.

The Finance Committee's report was submitted by Mr. Arlton and adopted.

It was proposed that the standing order with regard to dogs be uphe'd. An amendment that small dogs be permitted was lost, and a proposition that a notice be posted in the rooms and on the landing on the entrance to the rooms that dogs are not admitted was carried.

The following were elected:—Una Erle, H. A. Saintsbury, Hamilton Deane, H. S. Gerrish, Eva Balfour, Ethel Fifield, Roy Byford, Adeline Leicester. The nominations were:—Arthur Baxendell, Geoffrey Saville, Beatrice Smith, Alice O'Dea, J. Plumpton Wilson, Evelyn Shaw, Ernest Vinden, Jessica Thorne.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—Though many of the candidates now up for election are well known to the members of the Actors' Association, their views on certain matters of vital importance have never yet been publicly formulated. What we think about the past does not matter so much as what we should propose to do in the future. In order that there may be no doubt about our opinions, and in order that all members who vote for us may know exactly what they are doing, we desire to state that we are in favour of and if elected to the Council shall do our utmost to obtain:

1. A minimum wage of £2 per week for all persons playing speaking parts of more than three lines.
2. A payment of one full night's salary for all morning performances.
3. Payment of all rehearsals after two weeks given free in the country, and four weeks given free in London.
4. Payment of cab fares up to 10s. to any member of a company requiring the same, when any rehearsal has been protracted after ten o'clock at night.
5. A free agency.
6. The suspension of any stage manager, acting manager, or theatrical manager from service on the Council while employed in any of the above capacities.
7. A standing order to the effect that the fullest possible publicity should be given to the minutes of the Council, and that nothing should be omitted therefrom, saving such legal matters as our honorary solicitor may advise on the ground that they are transactions which should not be disclosed till they are completed, or that they are of a nature calculated to imperil the society by an action for libel.
8. The fearless exposure of all bogus or suspicious management.
9. No increase in the subscription.

In order that a definite result may be obtained at the coming annual general meeting, and that the future Council may have some exact guidance as to the wishes of the members of the association, we venture to express the hope that members who approve of the policy we have put forward, and will support it by voting for us, will not vote for any other candidates. A half-and-half Council will be worse than a curse to the Association. We beg members to vote on principle frankly and fearlessly one way or the other. But we trust they will leave nothing in doubt. We say to them plainly, if you vote for anyone whose name is not to be found in the signatures to this letter, do not vote for us. But if you vote for us, do not vote for anyone else.—We are, Sir, your obedient servants

(Signed), C. F. Collings, Vita Spencer, Robson Paige, Lucy Sibley, Cecil Raleigh, Rose Cazalet, Kitty Marion, Fred Annerley, Edward Morgan, Langford Reed, Henry Le Grand, Beatrice Chester, Basil Dean, Mildred Cottell, Rose Mathews, and Henry Pettitt.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—Members of the Actors' Association have this year an unusual chance of letting the council known exactly what they think of it. For a long time past it has been the custom to elect the council at the annual general meeting, only those persons present giving their votes. This year every member of the Association has been sent a voting paper, so that the entire strength of the Association can record its opinion. This I devoutly hope it will do, in decided terms. Nothing is so bad for any Association as a half-hearted, half-and-half administration. Opinions on certain matters have recently been so divided that I venture to assert that it is the duty of every man and woman in the Actors' Association to record his or her vote this year.

Let me point out at the same time that no vote is valid unless the subscription of the voter is paid before Jan. 25. The members who do not want to pay their full subscription within that time can qualify by paying one-quarter, in the usual way. So to my fellow members of the Association I say, "Don't waste time, qualify at once, and record your votes."

May I point out in conclusion that members need not vote for the full number of twenty-five candidates? They need only vote for the candidates they know—for the candidates whose views they agree with.—Faithfully yours,

CECIL RALEIGH.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

BERLIN, THURSDAY, Jan. 13.—The author is new to fame, and as a novice he is entitled to a good deal of respect and commendation; his intentions are excellent, and perhaps some day he will do better work. There is a certain amount of dramatic swing in the piece, and this appealed to the audience, so that abundant applause followed each act. The characters, nevertheless, are all more or less impossible, and some of the scenes are comical in their effect where, alas! they are meant to be tragic. The Don Juan is one Giovanni, who, after a number of years passed in the pursuit of love-making, finds more than his match in Cornelia—a very remarkable young person, who is engaged to Franzesco. The maiden loses her heart—or, rather, her head. She believes herself passionately enamoured of the elderly Giovanni, and behaves herself as no well-brought-up Roman maiden should. In fact, the ardour of her passion gives Don Juan pause. This is, as the title tells us, his last adventure, so we are naturally prepared for the worst. Cornelia confesses to Franzesco that she has gone off the path of rectitude, but she loves her betrothed in reality, and is forgiven, while Giovanni, after declaring he loved Cornelia, plunges a dagger—with which he has been trifling throughout the whole of the play—into his heart. The cast was satisfactory, each member doing his or her best to make the characters convincing—a thankless task.

THE Neues Theatre is bringing out the German version of When Knight Were Bold early in February. Herr Siegfried Lutz has translated it and obtained all rights for Germany. Dr. Lothar is adapting it to the German stage. Herr Harry Walden, one of our first actors, will be cast for the rôle of Sir Guy de Vere.

"DER VIZE-PAPA," three-act farce, by Arthur Richards, met with a very cordial reception at the Rose Theatre last week. It has a complicated plot, and its fun is caused by a series of improbable "situations." Several couples who ought to be elsewhere turn up at a smart seaside place, and all, of course, are staying at the same hotel, where the various parties endeavour to avoid being seen by each other. The last act passes in Berlin, the native city of all concerned, and gradually things right themselves. There is very little originality in the plot, but the humour is undeniable, and the interpretation was of the best.

MRS. FRANCIS MACLENNAN was cast for the part of Aida at the Royal Opera on Monday. This is one of her best rôles, and both the Emperor and Empress had warm words of appreciation to the charming artist the first time she appeared in the part. On Monday evening the house was crowded, and Mrs. Maclennan, who still sings under her maiden-name of Florence Easton—was applauded to the echo. Mr. Maclennan was again honoured by a summons to the Imperial box recently, after singing Raoul in Die Hugenotten at the Royal Opera. His Majesty, who was present with two of his sons, complimented the famous tenor very highly, and expressed his pleasure that Mr. Maclennan had quite recovered from his late indisposition.

THE scheme of a new Grand Opera here is meeting with great interest everywhere. It is a private undertaking, like the Komische Oper. Herr Fedor Berg, the proprietor of the Thalia, is the enterprising man, and Angelo Neumann has been selected as manager-in-chief, always supposing he can obtain permission from the National Theatre at Prague, where he is still manager, and where his contract has some time to run. The new house is to be built in Kurfürsten Damm, the most aristocratic thoroughfare in Berlin.

The Tyrolean	MR. ARTHUR HYDE
La Lune	MISS RUTH THORP
Uncle Podpurple	MR. LOUIS EDMONDE
La Pas Bas	MISS DOROTHY FROSTICK

The Private Secretary, now in the third week of its Christmas season at the Coronet, is going capitally to a rippling accompaniment of laughter, and by the shrieks of merriment which greet each phase of the imbroglio, it is evident that there are many who keenly appreciate its humours, or else to whom the comicalities of this old farce are entirely new. An audience put in the best of possible humours by the exposition of this merry farcical comedy, witnessed on Monday the first production of Mr. Powis Pinder's merry musical contribution to the evening's entertainment, entitled The Revellers. It is a light, filmy trifle, well adapted to pass the fleeting hour during the festive season, and is commendably crisp and bright in action. Uncle Podpurple, of Peckham, is caught by some revellers asleep, and is promptly adorned with a luminous nose, which causes him great perturbation and discomfort. This happens at a carnival in the garden of the Hotel Revel, Nice, a most charming and picturesque scene by the way, which quite warms the fancy and inclines the eye and ear to merriment. It transpires that Podpurple is really there partly on the business of catching his nephew, who has run away with one of the teachers at the Sunday school, and partly on pleasure bent. The party of revellers includes his scapegrace nephew and his fair bride, and anon by dint of threatening Uncle Podpurple with all sorts of penalties in the shape of telling his good wife at home of his "carryings on" with the Queen of the Carnival and others, and more by token that his nephew's bride looks so very charming in her fancy costume as "La Lune," he is persuaded to forgive the runaway pair.

Mr. Powis Pinder has a good song, "The Ladies," admirably rendered; Miss Ruth Thorp sings very sweetly "Moon of the Mediterranean"; Mr. Arthur Hyde sings with great fervour "Love in a cottage"; and Miss Ethel Quarry gives a pert rendering of "Suburban romances." Miss Dorothy Frostick gives us a taste of her quality in the menu dances arranged by Mme. Sismondi, viz., "Salome," "Champagne," and "The Vampire," whilst Mr. Louis Edmonde is full of fun as Uncle Podpurple, of Peckham, "on the loose." As a bright, amusing, and pretty curtain-raiser, or on the halls, the piece should have some vogue. The costumes of the Toreador, La Fleur, La Lune, the Tyrolean and La Pas Bas are very tasteful and pretty, and as aforesaid, the scenery, by Messrs. Bull, is sweetly pretty.

THE New Opera House, Kidderminster, is occupied by Mr. John A. Thomson's pantomime, The Babes in the Wood. It is an excellent production, and good houses have thoroughly enjoyed the entertainment.

A COPY of "THE ERA" will be forwarded to any address in the United Kingdom for six stamps.

LONDON VARIETY THEATRES.

THE EUSTON.

Since her rapid rise to popularity Miss Victoria Monks has been much at the Syndicate halls and at those governed by the Variety Theatres Consolidated, and her appearances at the snug house near the great termini in the Euston-road have been marked by hearty receptions. At present Miss Monks has no number in her répertoire that is likely to be the vogue. The Euston folk naturally look for something catchy and bright from so popular a chorus singer; and on the night of our visit it was easy to see that they were not deeply interested in either of the two selections she gave in the first house. There were no massive choral effects from the "gods" or the pit. The plaint of a stage nigger—fed up with manager's bluff—who has made up his mind "to go home to Jacksonville' was certainly the better of the twain.

Mr. Tom Dunville exploits several quaint notions in his song, "Rub it in; rub it out," and has an excellent standard of comedy in his "policeman" song. It is the fate of the "force" to be burlesqued on both stages; and on the variety boards we know of no prominent comedian who has not at some time or other included the "copper" in his repertory of characters. As long as fun is the predominant feature of such impersonation everybody's satisfied — not excepting Robert himself; for no one takes more good temperedly comic aspersions on his alacrity and usefulness than the men who guard our homes. They must at any rate regard as a rich treat the fund of drollery to be found in Mr. Dunville's "Bobby's" notebook.

Mildred Deverez and Tom Terriss are here with "The Vampire Dance," the purport of which is not quite so well understood in the Euston-road as it is in the Strand. Miss Deverez is a fine figure of a woman, and Mr Terriss supports her quite effectively. Step dancing and high kicking have a popular exponent in Miss Kitty Colyer, whose alertness and skill in a series of rapid steps and a final handspring or two bring down the house. Bert Woodward, who is called the steeplechasing "cyclist," makes light of the feat of a somersault on his bike over a table; and we have a remarkable exhibition of roller skate dancing by Len Hale, a performer who shows immense cleverness and aplomb.

Miss Jennie Johns, comedienne, is quite at home when, as a peri of a seaside pier, she criticises a number of male admirers, whose mannerisms she hits off with no little humour. Her second song details some of the adventures of a middy of the King's Navee, whose experiences with the fair sex remind one of the stories told in the novels of Captain Marryatt. Geoffreys and Benson are responsible for a lively sketch, in which the lady of the twain impersonates an Irish slavey of the boisterous stage pattern. The final jaunting car song, accompanied by a dance, is heartily applauded. The comedy of the Gothams, vocal entertainers, is very much the same as it was on the first appearance of the team in this country several years since. Neither has any alteration been made in the harmonised quartets nor in the naive fun which wins such a hearty reception. Gicardo, juggler, and Jock Whiteford are the other announcements on the bill, which is carefully supervised and directed by the popular Mr. Fred McAvoy, Mr. Henri Gros' lieutenant at this house. Mr. Victor Opferman's orchestra is an excellent body of instrumentalists, who do capital work in the accompaniments. Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope projects a number of pictures of a most interesting character.

WOOLWICH HIPPODROME.

Excellent business has been maintained here during the holiday season, the seating capacity of the hall being tested to its utmost accommodation, and this speaks well for the Christmas fare that has been placed before the patrons of this house. The bill for the current week is also a capital one, and at the top is placed Ashley Page and Marion Denvil and company, in the sketch Cromwell or the King? which deals with a wounded soldier, who has been fighting for the King, taking shelter from Cromwell's men in the house of a Cromwellian, in whose daughter he finds his sweetheart and former playmate. In a pretty piece of acting the girl endeavours to hide the soldier's presence from the men, who, suspecting, come to search the house, but he is eventually discovered, and during some high words that are exchanged between the parties, the officer of the guard pierces him with his sword, and considering him killed, he and the guard withdraw, but on the fall of the curtain the soldier returns to consciousness, and so all ends happily. The sketch is well acted and suitably dressed and mounted, and has a good reception. Arthur Reece is heard to advantage in a couple of smartly-written ditties, and scores handsomely in the song "When women get their rights," his many topical and political allusions, more especially those dealing with the advantages of Tariff Reform, meet with an enthusiastic response, which, by the way, may indicate which way the wind is blowing. A lively turn is offered by Edie King, who evokes much applause by her rendering of "The girl in the red cockade," and other songs; she also displays much ability as a dancer, and several international dances are most gracefully performed, and meet with general approval. Edward E. Ford provokes roars of laughter by his representations of "Faces I have seen," his facial expressions being funny in the extreme; he also has the happy knack of getting a tight hold of his audience, and he may be fairly summed up in his own terms—"Boschar!" A popular turn is provided by the Barton and Franklin Trio, whose playing upon bagpipes, trumpets, bells, &c., is cordially received; they are also highly successful in their singing and dancing. Jack Crawley is very amusing in his imitations and anecdotes, and is extremely diverting. Considerable hilarity is produced by Lowenwirth and Cohan, and their Hebrew sallies are warmly welcomed. Elsie Earle scores well in her songs, "March, march away," and "'Twas a battle of love against gold." The Colonial Girls give a bright performance in their vocal and dancing scena, and are accorded a hearty welcome. The Bioscope concludes the bill with up-to-date films.

In the front of the house Mr. Herbert H. Laidman, the popular manager, continues to bestow generous attentions, and is ably assisted in this respect by Mr. A. Bradley; while behind Mr. Reuben H. Presland capably undertakes the stage-management. The orchestra, upon which so much depends, is under the careful direction of Mr. Douglas H. Ross.

THE FORESTERS'.

The directors of this well-conducted establishment have provided an excellent programme for this week, the foremost item being that popular dramatic sketch, The Maid of the Alps, by George Marriott and company. To again describe the story is quite unnecessary, as it is so well known, but suffice to say that Mr. Marriott's impersonation of Mother Potard, the Hag of the Hills, is still as powerful as ever. Miss Edith Finlay acts and sings well the character of Louise, being well supported by Mr. J. Purdie as Sir Stratton Towers, by Mr. R. Raymond as Lucas, a brigand chief, and by Mr. O'Shea as Jeremy Diggs. The Sisters Desmond, as usual, are well received for their capital rendering of "The Motor" and "The Horse," also "Hunting," in which the different styles of the coster and aristocrat are well personified. George Acre, burlesque and character vocalist, possesses a good style, which is seen to advantage in a burlesque of a bull-fighter. His second item, "Westminster," is a tuneful number, and well staged, the special setting displaying The Abbey.

The Rhoderick Duo, two pretty young Scotch lassies, received rounds of applause for their delightful rendering of "Crooket Bawbee" and "Annie Laurie," both voices being extremely sweet and blending well together. The McKinleys, duettists and dancers, are responsible for some clever dancing in wooden shoes, the lady singing a pleasing little song, "Nora," which has a catchy chorus. Mr. H. G. Brandon and company, in an original petite comedy drama, entitled Light at Last, by Mr. Brandon, are most interesting throughout, notwithstanding the fact that the story has been told before. Danton and Morris are amusing fellows, who are responsible for good dancing, singing, and bright repartee. Miss Dora Lonsdale (comedienne), the Two Ludoes, tumblers and contortionists, and the Bioscope, conclude a most enjoyable evening.

SHEPHERD'S BUSH EMPIRE.

The popular impression is that a General Election does not have a good effect upon business in the entertainment world, consequently it was with a little surprise that we listened to the greeting at Shepherd's Bush on Wednesday, "Haven't a seat in the place! Do you care to stand?" Glancing through the programme a minute or two later it became obvious that there was plenty of cause for the packed house, for although the programme at this hall is always particularly good, the present week's bill is even more attractive than usual. At the head is Mr. Fred Karno's big production, Perkins, M.P., with that excellent comedian, Mr. Fred Kitchen, in the title-rôle.

Some of the adventures of Mr. Perkins formed, if we remember rightly, the subject of one of Mr. Karno's previous productions; at all events, the programme refers to the present one as dealing with the "further adventures of the well-known character," which, it goes without saying, are extremely humorous. Perkins, who at the opening of the sketch seems more "at home" selling ointment than soliciting votes, is one of the funniest characters that Mr. Kitchen has introduced us to, and the little play depends almost entirely upon the impersonation of this rôle. In the second of the three scenes we are shown Perkins canvassing, a spectacle which, apart from its intrinsic humour, naturally has considerable topical interest.

The last scene presents (with quite a large degree of success) the interior of the House of Commons, and we witness the triumphant entry of Perkins, M.P., who, by the way, champions the cause of the Suffragettes. In this scene Perkins more or less runs riot, and his extraordinary methods of introducing bills, dealing with opposition, and so on, are the cause of roars of laughter. Mr. Kitchen is ably seconded in his efforts to amuse by a large company, which includes Miss Aggie Morris (as Mrs. Perkins), Miss Lily White, Miss Grace Wixon (leader of the Suffragettes), Mr. Herbert Sydney (Perkins's rival candidate), and Mr. Albert Taylor. The sketch is excellently mounted, as Mr. Karno's sketches always are.

Edna Lyall sings a couple of ballads in a very pleasant manner, Tosti's "Good-bye," in particular, being much appreciated, and Mazie Hibbs shows considerable ability as a speciality dancer. Louie Counsall and Oscar Mills appear with much success in a musical melodramatic burlesque entitled On the Stage, their humorous singing of a coon song and their performance of a mock melodrama causing great merriment.

Gladys Mavius sings a couple of songs, one with the somewhat ironical title "It's a grand old world to live in," the other "She's coming home to-night," both of which find great favour. A most exciting turn is that contributed by the Tom Davies' Trio, called Motoring in Mid-air, in which motor-cycles are ridden at a tremendous pace on a circular slanting track. During part of their show the track is raised to a height of eight or ten feet from the stage, the effect being most sensational, as it is obvious that the slightest divergence from the track would be attended with consequences of a more or less disastrous nature.

One of the most delightful and picturesque turns of the concert party variety now before the public is that of The Courtiers, which includes and is under the direction of Mr. Paul Mill. The pretty appearance which this act presents, and the really excellent singing of charming songs, make entertainment of a most pleasant type. Miss Rosa Loader, "the happy slavey at the piano," is extremely clever, and her singing and imitations prove her to be possessed of a keen sense of humour.

The orchestra, under the experienced direction of Mr. Henry W. May, is this week playing, as an overture, a selection from Mr. Somerville's opera, lately at the Savoy, "The Mountaineers." Mr. Lewis Vincent is the popular acting-manager, and he is ably and courteously seconded by Mr. Herbert Mack.

ILFORD HIPPODROME.

After the pantomime season, which has done much to popularise this new outer-metropolitan hall, variety entertainment has once more resumed full sway, and the programme submitted here this week is par excellence in every detail. George Gilbey, the popular Lancashire star, is making his initial appearance, and his songs and patter are receiving their usual hearty welcome. His song, "I couldn't; could you?" quite suits the popular taste, and his second effort, in which he amusingly portrays his rôle as a policeman, is really too funny for adequate expression. Another screamingly funny "turn" are Clark and Hamilton, the inimitable pair, whose eccentricities convulse the audience with laughter throughout their entertainment.

Miss Carlotta de Yonson presents the sensational detective dramette Sexton Blake, a most stirring illustration of the unravelling of the intricate case of the Neva Brotherhood, a desperate anarchical secret society. The efforts of Miss Carlotta de Yonson and her capable company are warmly applauded. A splendid novelty act is provided by Stylo, a clever hoop manipulator; whilst another clever turn are the Three Glenvilles, in a pretty dancing and vocal act. Chris. Richards, comedian, carried the audience to a high pitch of mirth with his funny antics, displaying many clever tricks of manipulation with his hat.

Vera Wooton, a dainty comedienne, pleases the audience immensely with her song "I like your picture hat," the chorus being a very "swinging" one, to the full taste of the audience. A very clever musical act is rendered by the Four Cecilians; and another excellent "turn" is Miss Yvonne Lamor, a comedienne with a good voice and style. Some interesting naval pictures are exhibited on Ruffell's Bioscope.

The new manager of the Hippodrome, Mr. Jack M. Hart, who took over the reins of office last week, is showing excellent enterprise. In his capable hands the popularity of the "hall" has already received a decided fillip. Mr. Hart, prior to his coming to Ilford, was identified with the management of the Camden Hippodrome.

Miss Rosie Lloyd, the charming comedienne, tops the bill at the Palace, Gloucester, and gets a capital reception; and Horace Wheatley's droll singing and inimitable dancing install him a favourite at once. Clown Argo gives a clever exposition of mimicry; and the Starley Brothers, trick cyclists and motor cyclists, are very smart. Messrs. Burns and Bentley dance excellently; and Olive and Owen have a tuneful scena in The Roadside Tinker. Steve Bartle, edeophonist and concertinist, goes well; and White and Clifford, in "Watch the piano," have a good number. The Palacescope concludes.

STAGE STAFF GOSSIP.

The Home Secretary, in his reply to the joint letter sent to him by the various societies on behalf of the artists, actors, musicians, and employees on the opening of cinematograph theatres on Sundays, says that the L.C.C. regulations do not require to be sanctioned by him, and that the matter is now receiving the attention of that body. The various societies have now asked the L.C.C. to receive a deputation from them on the matter, and as the L.C.C. has consented to receive a deputation from the proprietors of these exhibitions, it is to be assumed they will take the opportunity of hearing both sides. Although the question of departing from or modifying the L.C.C. regulations for Sunday entertainments is not entirely one for the proprietors and employees, there are many other organisations that will, no doubt, have something to say on the matter. Whether the theatre and music hall managers are moving in the matter remains to be seen.

The eighteenth annual general meeting of the members of the general staff branch, N.A.T.E., will take place on Sunday, Jan. 30, in Terry's Theatre, by kind permission of Mr. Edward Terry. Nominations for office must reach the secretary on or before Jan. 23, and resolutions and amendments to rules for consideration at this meeting by next Wednesday. The audited statements of accounts for the past year were submitted to the committee at the meeting on Wednesday night at 29, Wellington-street, Strand. At this meeting eleven applications for membership were granted.

A summary of the accounts is as follows:—

There were about 40 members of the Vaudeville staff present at the dinner given by Mr. F. Anstey, author of the Brass Bottle, on Sunday evening in the Salisbury Hotel, St. Martins. Mr. C. T. Cory, the master carpenter of this house, presided, and after the dinner an excellent concert was given. Mr. Mercanton, Mr. Vernon, and the chairman made short and breezy speeches during the evening, and the whole party enjoyed themselves immensely.

Friends of Mr. William Barbour, the electrician at the St. James's Theatre, will regret to hear that he is seriously ill with pneumonia. Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander paid a visit the other day to ascertain how Mr. Barbour was progressing. The doctor cannot yet say how the illness will develop.

The annual general meeting of the cinematograph operators will be held at 2.30 on Tuesday next at 29, Wellington-street, Strand. All members in London are urged to attend. On Tuesday last the committee met, and among those present were Messrs. J. Wood (president), E. Catlin (vice-president), H. L. Merritt, (secretary), Wm. Johnson (hon. treasurer), and Malcolm, Mason, Weedon, Hughes, Mayo, Field, Hughes, and Hutchins. The secretary submitted his draft of the annual report and the treasurer his report on the accounts. Messrs. Mason and Weedon were appointed auditors, and the statement of accounts will be submitted to the meeting on Tuesday. A number of applications for membership were granted, and several suggested alterations to the rules considered.

The first general meeting of the members of the Dramatic and Variety Theatre Employees' Provident Association was held last Sunday in the St. James's Theatre. In the absence of Mr. Cecil Paget, who was unable to attend, Mr. James Cullen, chairman of the Management Committee, presided, and was supported on the stage by Mr. Harry Norton, Mr. Arthur Palmer (master carpenter the Comedy Theatre), Mr. Phillip Sheridan (electrician, Strand Theatre), Mr. F. B. Fidge (electrician, Lyceum Theatre), Mr. David Sheridan (electrician), Mr. Albert Jones (Royal Opera House), Mr. J. Reid (president of the Theatrical Carpenters' Society), Mr. J. N. Hunt (Alhambra), Mr. G. Pickering (Duke of York's Theatre), Mr. H. Lane (Savoy Theatre), and the secretary, William Johnson.

Mr. Chairman, in declaring the meeting open, said:—"Gentlemen, in opening the proceedings of our first annual general meeting I wish to welcome you, the more so as I think you will all agree that, notwithstanding the comparatively small number of members who joined us nine months ago, the result of the nine months' work has been very satisfactory and fully justified our expectations. The report and balance-sheet proves that our expectations were warranted, and that all we have to do to realise in the fullest measure our estimate of the possibility of such an association is that each member will do his utmost to increase the number of members. If each one of us would secure even only one member this month our membership would then reach 700. I may say that non-members have been invited to this meeting to hear our proceedings, but I must ask them not to take part in the discussion or to vote, and when a vote is taken all members will please hold up their green cards. I do not think we shall take up much of your time to-night, and I will now call on the secretary to submit the statement of account approved by the committee and issued to members."

Mr. William Johnson then formally moved the adoption of the audited statement of accounts, and in doing so briefly referred to several items and dealt with several questions which had been put to him prior to the meeting. He said they commenced the New Year's account with £48 18s. 3d., after dividing £222 15s. of the surplus funds among the members.

Mr. Harry Norton, one of the trustees, seconded the resolution, and while expressing his satisfaction with the result of the past year's work, regretted that a larger number of members had not thought fit to attend the meeting. The resolution, on being put to the vote, was unanimously adopted.

The secretary then, on behalf of the committee, formally moved the adoption of the following amendments to the rules, recommended by the committee:—

Clause (a), Rule 6, page 4, to read—After the words "who is" on last line but one—"a financial member or becomes a financial member of the N.A.T.E."

Clause (b), Rule 8, page 5—Add at the end of clause the words "A member shall clear his card of all dues on or before the last Saturday on the card, or be fined 6d."

Clause (a), Rule 12, page 6—After the word "received" on second line, add the words "by the secretary."

Clause III., Rule 16, page 8—Add the words "sick member on first line the words "within three days of being notified."

Rule 21, page 9—Add at bottom "Any member failing to attend a general meeting, or sending to the secretary an acceptable excuse before the meeting, shall be fined 6d."

New clause, to be Clause (b) of Rule 21—"Every member shall pay 2d. for each new card, and to replace a card lost by a member such member shall pay 3d."

Mr. Arthur Palmer seconded the proposal. In reply to several comments and amendments to the recommendations, the secretary said the proposals arose out of their experience in the management of the association during the past year. It was very much to be regretted that members did not take a greater interest in their own affairs, and the least they could do was to attend the general meeting, as even when the results were so satisfactory, as in this case, the members ought to show their appreciation of the committee's efforts and work on their behalf. He felt sure that most of the unfortunate incidents that were annually reported in connection with similar societies arose from the neglect of the members to take a personal interest and fulfil their responsibilities. The committee's recommendations were adopted.

Mr. Philip Sheridan moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. George Alexander for kindly lending his theatre for the meeting. Mr. Sheridan said it must be a pleasure to them all to meet in such a beautiful theatre, and he felt sure they all appreciated Mr. Alexander's kindness. He was very sorry to hear that Mr. Wm. Barbour was seriously ill, and he hoped that Mr. Barbour would soon be amongst them again. Mr. Albert Jones seconded the resolution. The resolution was supported by the secretary, who said it would gratify them to know that they could support this resolution most whole-heartedly, because Mr. Alexander was one of the kindest employers in their business, and he took an interest in the welfare of every man and woman in his employ. The secretary said Mr. Alexander had made an offer which it would interest them to know. On the occasion when Mr. Alexander presided at the annual dinner of the Heads of Departments Association, and when the proposal to establish a club for theatrical employees was being considered, Mr. Alexander alluded to the matter, and said he would be glad to have the honour of furnishing the first room when the club was to be established. This question of club as a sort of headquarters of all the theatrical employees societies was one which would be practical when their Provident Association had secured that number of members which it ought to have, and which he felt sure it would in time secure, and when the time arrived he had no doubt but that Mr. Alexander would give effect to his offer. He heartily supported the resolution. Mr. J. Cullen briefly endorsed all that the secretary had said in regard to Mr. Alexander, in whose service he (the chairman) had been for many years. "No man," said Mr. Cullen, "could wish for a better employer or manager." The resolution was carried with hearty cheers.

Mr. H. J. Kemp moved a vote of thanks to the committee for their services. This was seconded by Mr. J. Haley, of the Alhambra, and carried unanimously. The proceedings then terminated. After the meeting a number of non-members applied for membership forms.

THE BALHAM HIPPODROME.

Provision for the politicians of Balham is made by Mr. E. W. Hancorne James, the zealous manager of the hall, who has made arrangements by which election results will be displayed this evening on the sheet. Meanwhile, the entertainment for the current week is being liberally patronised, the first house on Wednesday being almost without a vacant seat. Mainly responsible for so gratifying a result is the engagement of Mr. Joe Elvin, who is presenting to Balham audiences his latest sketch, Billy's Money Box, which is manifestly another winner. Mr. Wal Pink, the author of so many of Mr. Elvin's former successes, has provided the famous comedian with an unlimited quantity of funny lines, which all score laughs innumerable. Mr. Elvin's support is as capable as ever, and the popularity of his production is unbounded. Pathos is provided by the romantic military episode, The Last Command, in which Mr. Fred Maxwell gives his impressive performance of a Colonel who has to see his son led out to execution in order to preserve the honour of his regiment. The exciting incidents of the story, which holds the attention of the audience, are skilfully defined by the members of an able company.

As an exponent of the Terpsichorean art Miss Bertha Winder long since won renown, though her years are few. She bounds on to the stage bedecked with medals, a handsome belt which adorns a side-table denoting the championship honours held by the youthful artist. Miss Winder dances with rhythmic grace, and subsequently in golden clogs executes a series of intricate steps, which win the admiration of the most critical. Dancing of an eccentric order is submitted by Mr. Russell Brandow, a coloured comedian, whose expert footwork is varied by the oddest movements and acrobatic tricks that arouse frequent laughter.

Carrie Laurie's Juveniles carry on their school with their customary diverting and harmonious results. Their latest inspiration is to represent various professions, appearing in turn as boy scout, Red Cross nurse, Suffragette, member of the force, &c., with songs appropriate to each character. Pictures, both funny and educational, are presented on the Bioscope, that of the Persistent Wooer being particularly mirth-provoking. The admirably chosen programme has contributors also in Mr. Tom E. Hughes, the comedy purveyor, Miss Daisy Hurdle, comedienne; the Carina Sisters, instrumentalists; and Mr. G. S. Melvin, comedian. The orchestra is under the competent direction of Mr. Lawrie Owen, Suppé's fine march, "Light Cavalry," figuring as an overture.

Miss Nellie Brierley, the pit-brow lassie, noticed by us at the Rotherhithe Hippodrome last week, is not a protégée of Mrs. D'Oyly Carte's, but was found by Mr. G. W. Blythe singing in a small hall at the colliery village of Great Harwood, near Blackburn. Born at Blackburn, she was brought up in Darwen. Owing to a paralytic stroke at the age of eighteen months, she has to walk with crutches. In her early education music lessons were included, and her phenomenal voice was trained by Mme. Minne Grimes, of Darwen. Mr. G. W. Blythe, her discoverer, wrote her a scena, entitled The Toilers, which was produced at the Empress, Brixton, on Aug. 30 last year, with immediate success, and as a result it was secured for the Stoll and Barrasford tours.

Messrs. Little and Darcy's pantomime, Sinbad the Sailor, is at the Opera House, Crewe. Miss Mary Poulton is a dashing principal boy; Miss Carrie Harding is a dainty and winsome Zorilda; Miss Connie Clare is successful as Selim; Miss Dolly Clare has many admirers as Zuleika; Miss Bessie Defries is a charming Fairy Queen; and Miss L. Van Lachterop makes a pleasing Princess Zaidee. As Mrs. Sinbad Mr. George Collins is a decided success; Mr. Walter Adams creates much merriment with his droll rendering of Tinbad; Mr. Charles Preston makes many friends as Captain Cook; Messrs. Newco and Sullo as Baccah and Stoppah are excellent knockabouts; and Mr. Van Lachterop is a typical Emperor Ali Loofah. Mr. A. E. Mann appears as the Old Man of the Sea. Specialities are given by the Szarvai-Ferencz Troupe of Hungarian singers and dancers, Newco and Sullo, and the Havana Girls.

RINKING GOSSIP AND NOTICES.

Glasgow's Latest.

The newest addition to Glasgow's two dozen rinks is that in the Exhibition grounds at Dennistown. It opened auspiciously at the New Year, and caught a large share of the holiday crowds. Mr. James Slater, recently of Ayr Rink, and who has been associated with numerous amusement ventures in this same place, is the manager, and is busy preparing for a Burns Night Carnival on Jan. 25, a date dear to the heart of every Scotsman.

Political Rinking Carnival.

So successful was the skating Farmyard Carnival held last week at the Royal Concert Hall, Hastings, that another carnival was arranged for last Wednesday. The fancy dress was of a political character. All competitors were dressed in blue and white (Unionist) or red, white, and blue (Liberal), or to represent something political, as Tariff Reform, Free Trade, &c. The judging of the fancy dress was by ballot of the spectators.

Children's Carnival at Hove.

The outstanding event at the American Roller Skating Rink, Hove, this week, was the children's carnival, which took place on Wednesday. It was a brilliant success, as nearly all the children of the leading families in the district had entered. Handsome prizes were offered for the best dresses and these were distributed at four o'clock, when regular skaters were permitted to use the rink.

Notes from Liverpool.

Rinking is now immensely popular in the Mersey city, the many special attractions offered drawing big crowds. At the Albert Hall, Pudsey-street, the first match under the Liverpool and Wirral Hockey League was announced to be played on Thursday night between teams representing the hall and St. Helens. For the evening of the 19th a summer costume carnival has been arranged at the new premier establishment in Renshaw-street, when a number of attractive events will be competed for. The Bootle Roller Rink, at the corner of Knowsley-road, boasts of a noiseless floor, an excellent military band, and a handsome café lounge.

Newington Skating Rink.

The fancy dress carnival held at the Newington Skating Rink, Hull, last Tuesday night was a huge success. There were some 500 spectators and about 250 competitors present. Many of the dresses were decidedly novel. The prize-winners were:—Lady's fancy costume, Miss R. Nicholson; gentleman's fancy costume; Mr. C. Harman; most original lady's costume, Miss Carlin; most original gentleman's costume, Mr. Hull; lady's comic costume, Miss R. Woodins; gentleman's comic costume, Mr. Swannack.

New Manager at Nottingham.

The Empress Rink, Nottingham, management has appointed Thos. Duckworth as floor manager. Mr. Duckworth has been at the rink since the opening.

Penzance Skating Rink.

On Tuesday evening the first fancy dress carnival was held here, and was most successful, both as regards the skaters and the large number of spectators, while the fancy-dress costumes were exceedingly good, there being a great number of a humorous description. The arrangements were carried out by the manager, Mr. Robert Thomas, who was ably assisted by Mr. Alex. Corrison, the assistant-manager.

Two Miles' Race at Southampton.

The Coliseum, Southampton, was well patronised last Wednesday, when A. H. Bear (London) met T. G. Court (Southampton) in a two miles race for a side stake. Both men kept well together, and a most exciting struggle was witnessed. On entering the last lap Court took the lead, and by a great effort Bear got level, and snatched a victory. In a one-mile race Heasell was first and Collier second. The half-mile ladies' race was won by Miss Bright, with Miss Tilbury second. The judge was Mr. Kelly Whitlock.

Little Yorks at Southampton.

The Royal Pier Roller-skating Rink is going very strong, in spite of opposition, and during the holidays each session has been extensively patronised. On Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, the Little Yorks have been specially engaged to give their finished and skilful exhibition. Both these youthful artists are exceedingly graceful in everything they do, and are aptly programmed as "Two skaters with one mind."

Southampton's Newest Rink.

The magnificent new rink belonging to the Southampton Skating Rink Company, Ltd., and situated in the Shirley-road, was opened on Wednesday afternoon by the Mayor (Alderman C. J. Sharp) in the presence of a very numerous company of guests. The rink is a really splendid addition to the attractions of the town. It is conveniently situated, and has a skating surface of from 15,000 to 20,000 feet, making it, as the Mayor said, probably the finest rink in the South of England. It is 200ft. long by 100ft. wide. The special spring floor of 2in. Canadian maple is bedded for smooth running and little sound. The opening ceremony was performed by the Mayor, who was accompanied by the Mayoress, and others who participated in the little ceremony in the centre of the floor were Mr. Chas. Bedworth, chairman of the company, who presided, Messrs. Bernard Harfield, J.P., and Sidney G. Bedworth (directors), Mrs. and Miss Grierson, Mr. W. T. Bowman (secretary), the Misses Bowman, and others. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Balfour were also present. In the course of the afternoon Mr. F. Scott and Miss Gladys Ivy gave an exhibition of fancy skating.

Lady Guinness opens Suffolk Rink.

Lady Evelyn Guinness, who was accompanied by the Hon. Walter Guinness, on Monday opened the new West Suffolk Skating Rink, which has been erected at Bury St. Edmunds by Whitmore's Timber Co. Among those present were Sir Henry J. C. Bunbury, Lady Bunbury, and Miss Bunbury, Sir Walter Greene, the Mayor of Bury St. Edmunds (Mr. A. Mitchell), and many other residents of West Suffolk. After the opening ceremony Mr. G. L. Betts—who designed the ring and superintended its erection—on behalf of the management presented Lady Evelyn with a handsome pair of silver-mounted skates of the "Wolf" pattern as a memento of the occasion. Sir Walter and Lady Evelyn Guinness skated round the rink, and afterwards there was an exhibition of fancy skating. The floor of the rink has a skating surface of 160ft. by 80ft. It is of rock maple, and was supplied by Messrs. Brown and Co., of Ipswich. The walls of the building are of brick, and the roof of corrugated iron, matchboarded inside. A tearoom, ladies' and gentlemen's cloakrooms, &c., are arranged. The rink is under the management of Mr. S. Reach.

Street Skating Stopped in Paris.

Following a number of accidents, roller skating in the Paris streets has been absolutely prohibited by the Prefect of Police.

Plimpton's at Ton-y-Pandy and Truro.

The Rhondda Valley district of South Wales is practically studded with rinks, and the latest town to adopt a rink in Ton-y-pandy. Messrs. Plimpton's, Liverpool, have been entrusted with the laying of the floor, and they have also secured the order for Richardson skates. Plimpton's have also been entrusted with the order for the supply of maple and the laying and surfacing of the floor at the Truro rink.

LA TORTAJADA will be seen at the Coliseum on Monday, when the Grotesques, who have just finished a successful season at the Queen's Hall, will also appear. An interesting newcomer will be Miss Mabel Mavia.

THE Manchester Chronicle says:—"Jack Smiles dances with a rare regard for accuracy and elegance," and his father, Jack Boston, is still smiling and smoking a Boston cigar.

"THE ARCADIANS," the London musical comedy, was produced for the first time in America at the Forrest Theatre, Philadelphia, on the 27th ult. Mr. Frank Moulan was the principal comedian, and Misses Connie Ediss, Julia Sanderson, and Ethel Cadman played the leading musical parts.

MAURICE DE FRECE, the oldest-established dramatic and variety agent in the world, has left the nursing home partially recovered from his long, severe illness, and has been appointed general-manager of the De Frece's Agency, Ltd., of 178, Charing Cross-road, where he will be pleased to see his old and new clients and numerous friends.

THE popular vocalist, T. C. Note, a stylish singer of sensible songs, tops the bill this week at the Empire Music Hall, Wrexham, and second only in importance to him are the Maynards, with an amusing comedy act, The Lady and the Page. Fred Buckley is a vocalist and comedian of ability; and Miss Daisy Devonport commands applause by her clever singing and dancing.

A BOOK of stories and recitations from the pens of Mr. J. W. Parratt, of Ilkley, and Mr. W. Milton Thompson, of Dulwich, S.E., has been placed on the market, at the price of 1s. The work contains many good pieces in prose and verse, a feature being made of humorous stories, which are in English, Scotch, and Irish, and in the Yorkshire dialect.

MESSRS. H. ARMITAGE AND ARTHUR LEIGH'S company is presenting With Edged Tools at the Theatre Royal, Worthing. Mr. Hamilton Deane as Jack Meredith gives a manly impersonation of the character; Mr. Henry Gunn as Guy Oscard presents a fine character-study; Mr. Campbell Goldsmid as Victor Durnovo gives an excellent portrayal of an exacting part; Miss Marie Leonhard makes a bewitching Jocelyn Gordon; the Millicent Chyne of Miss Marguerite Cellier deserves commendation; and the remaining characters are well placed.

THE management of the Haymarket Theatre have issued a very tasteful and artistic souvenir of the Blue Bird. It is in oblong octave form, and its letterpress consists in an essay by Mr. Herbert Trench on the life and work of Maeterlinck. The picture on the cover is taken from the familiar poster drawn by Mr. John Hassall. The illustrations within show scenes and characters from the piece, reproduced from pastels by George P. Denham, A.R.C.A., from photographs by the Dover-street Studios and original drawings by J. Cayley Robinson and S. H. Sime. The souvenir is printed and published by Mr. John Long.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

[We do not answer inquiries by post. In all letters the names and addresses of inquirers must be given as a guarantee of good faith. Initials only or pseudonyms will be used in the answers if so desired.]

HARRY BRAHAM.—Your questions involve considerable search, and will be replied to next week.

SPARES.—A-Ba-Be's picture postcards have been seen lately on the Stoll tour at Bradford. You might inquire at Moss and Stoll's head office, Cranbourne-street, Leicester-square, London, W.C.

F. SMITH (Hove).—Paul Bedford appeared in the drama in 1865, but not in the title-rôle, which was played by Joseph Jefferson. In such characters as Jack Gong and the Kinchin Paul was without a rival, but his range of character was very limited, and Rip was quite out of his line.

EDINBURGH.—We know nothing of the comedian you name in London, but if he is as good as you say he is we hope soon to see him here. The paper could be procured through any well-established newsagent, or of the Prompter Publishing Company, 50, Copthall-avenue, London, E.C.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, & DEATHS.

The charge for inserting in "The Era" an announcement of a Birth, a Marriage, or a Death, or an "In Memoriam" notice, not exceeding twenty-four words, is One Shilling and Sixpence.

As a guarantee of good faith, the name and address of the sender must accompany each notice.

BIRTHS.

DEATHS.

BORÉE.—Jan. 5, in Berlin, Albert Borée, German comedian.

KNIGHT.—On Jan. 8, at West Stanley, Augustine Knight, aged 41, from pleurisy and pneumonia, accelerated by heart failure. Liad to rest at Cheltenham.

MADDIN.—Jan. 11, suddenly, 54, Elmbourne-road, Tooting, Charles James Maddin, of Westminster. Funeral service, St. Margaret, Westminster, 2.30; Brompton Cemetery, 3.30, Monday, Jan. 17.

NOLAN.—On the 12th inst., at 2.30 a.m., Michael Patrick Nolan, aged 42 years. Funeral will take place to-day at the Lambeth Cemetery, Tooting, at 2.15 p.m. The cortège will leave the residence of the deceased, 17, Bushey Hill-road, Peckham-road, S.E., at one o'clock.

SCHOEFFEL.—Jan. 2, at Boston, Mrs. Agnes Booth Schoeffel, professionally known as Miss Agnes Booth, American actress.

IN MEMORIAM.

CRISP.—In loving memory of Winifred (Minnie) Crisp, dearly loved wife of Frank Crisp (baritone), who died suddenly, Jan. 18, 1909. Deeply mourned by sorrowing FRANK and the little children, EILEEN, MADELINE, and PAT. In the midst of life we are in death.

HARCOURT.—In affectionate remembrance of my dear husband Fred Harcourt, who passed away Jan. 12, 1906. Never forgotten by his loving wife Lilian Harcourt. R.I.P.

LAWRENCE.—In loving memory of my dear uncle, Joseph (Joe) Lawrence (upside-down comedian), who departed this life Jan. 24, 1909. "We miss him most who loved him best."—From niece, ADA, Leeds.

MACCABE.—In loving memory of Joseph Maccabe (Joe Mac), died Jan. 11, 1893. Gone but not forgotten by his wife, ALICE MAYDUE.

READ.—In ever affectionate memory of my dear husband, Theophilus Read, late lessee of the World's Fair, Agricultural Hall, Islington, who departed this life Jan. 16, 1906.

Though gone, not forgotten.

READ.—In loving memory of my dear father (and partner), Theophilus Read, who departed this life Jan. 16, 1906. Deeply mourned by his only son, T. E. Read, daughter-in-law Letitia, and two grandchildren (Claude and Winnie).

Always in our thoughts.

ROBSON.—In loving memory of my dear mother, Emily Maria Robson, who died Jan. 17, 1909.

TAYLOR.—James Goulde Taylor, Jan. 16, 1904, the beloved father of Chisholm Taylor.

BIRTHDAYS OF THE WEEK.

We wish Many Happy Returns of the Day to the following ladies and gentlemen:—

Alexandra Carlisle—Saturday, Jan. 15.

THE LAW OF COPYRIGHT FOR ACTOR AND COMPOSER.
By ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B. (Lond.).
Chapter I.
COPYRIGHT AS OPPOSED TO PERFORMING RIGHT.
Chapter II.
PERFORMING RIGHT.
Chapter III.
INFRINGEMENT AND REMEDIES.
Chapter IV.
MUSICAL COPYRIGHT.
Chapter V.
INTERNATIONAL AND COLONIAL COPYRIGHT.

Copyright confusion is like the poor, always with us, and as it seems likely to remain so until at least the crack of doom, it were well for all concerned, or likely to be concerned, to take immediate steps to secure a copy of Mr. Albert A. Strong's new work, entitled "The Law of Copyright." Mr. Strong is already favourably known to the profession for his textbook on "Dramatic and Musical Law," which, like his latest production, is published at "The Era" office. "The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer" essays to make clear to the non-legal mind what is—or, in some cases, what probably is—the law as to musical and dramatic copyright. The chapters on the Berne Convention and on the Chase Act, passed by the United States Congress last March, are full of interest.—Referee.

"The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer," by Albert A. Strong, LL.B., solicitor, author of "Dramatic and Musical Law," ("The Era" office), seems to be the one compendious and indispensable authority on the subject, as vexed as the "Bermoothes" and as tortuous as a Chancery suit, that has long been wanted. It is in every essential a text book for the perplexed layman, and no solicitor or barrister worth his salt ought to think of taking or appearing in "proceedings" without consulting its pages. It must suffice, after what has been said, to state little more than that the contents include five chapters, respectively named "Copyright as Opposed to Performing Right," "Performing Right," "Infringement and Remedies," "Musical Copyright," and "International and Colonial Copyright." The work, for all its precise authority, is not dry reading. The statutes, with the elucidatory notes, necessarily impose a task on the reader which takes some tackling, but they had to be there. The cases adduced, however, are full of interest. Certain of them might fitly find a place in the romance of copyright. There was the fight of Charles Reade with George Conquest over "It's Never Too Late to Mend," for instance, and the equally interesting conflict of Mr. J. A. Cave with Chatterton over "The Wandering Jew." The latter was a famous battle. Chatterton took it to the House of Lords, and was finally beaten, to the unspeakable relief of Mr. Cave, who is never weary of relating the story. Had the result been otherwise, it would have meant his ruin. I well remember meeting him on the day of his victory and "crashing a cup with him" in honour of the same. "The Law of Copyright" is dedicated to Mr. A. W. Pinero.—Sportsman.

"SARAH" AT THE COLISEUM.

The news which has come to us from Paris that, after much doubt and difficulty, Madame SARAH BERNHARDT has consented to appear at the London Coliseum next autumn is extremely welcome. It was not without much hesitation that the great French actress decided to allow her name to appear in the bills of a music-hall. We must remember that the equivalent of a "variety theatre" in London is a "café concert" in Paris; and the name conveys to French ears a very different idea. There is no music-hall in Paris which is quite on the same grade as the Palace or the Coliseum. We do not mean to draw any invidious comparisons between these places of amusement and others equally excellent on their own lines; we merely refer to certain subtle differences in the audiences and the entertainment. But, at last, Madame BERNHARDT'S scruples were overcome. The shades of meaning have been pointed out to her; and she has been informed that many of our leading English actors and actresses have appeared, or are to appear, at our music-halls. She has accordingly engaged herself and a company of five actors and actresses to perform at the Coliseum for a period of four weeks, with the option of renewal for another four weeks; and she will appear for half an hour every evening in a scene from any play at her choice—in L'Aiglon, La Dame aux Camélias, &c.

The announcement that Madame BERNHARDT is to perform portions of her splendid dramatic repertory is indeed delightful. Madame BERNHARDT is a most accomplished variety artist; and, in case of need, she could supply three entirely different turns. She could "clay-model" cleverly in the sight of the audience; she could paint a landscape or do a caricature in charcoal in the same manner; and she could give a charming performance with some of the wild animals whom she has made her pets, concluding by jumping into her celebrated satin-lined coffin, and being carried off the stage amidst thunders of applause. But Madame BERNHARDT is simply going to give us extracts from the pieces which have made her so famous. No doubt this may prove in practice to be the best plan; but we cannot help wishing that it had been feasible for her to present, even in a condensed form, some of the many fine one-act pieces with which the French stage is so well supplied.

The appearance on the variety stage of our best actors and actresses in plays written by our cleverest dramatists is a fact of striking significance. It has been pointed to as an instance of the aggrandisement of the music-hall at the expense of the theatre; but there is another side to the question. The original object of the theatre was to produce plays in three, four, or five acts. The original object of the music-hall was to present songs, acrobatic entertainments, and any other interesting, amusing, and exciting items. The two entertainments stood distinctly apart. Music-hall artists went on the stage; and, less frequently, theatrical artists took to the "halls," but the two departments were kept distinct. As we have pointed out again and again, if a variety theatre is licensed to produce plays of any length, and composes its programme of dramas and comedies interspersed with "variety turns"—as used to be done, at one time, at the old Britannia Theatre—it is not the variety business that has gained an accession, but the theatrical business which has received an addition. The distinction is not in the name or the permission to smoke, but in the nature of the entertainment provided. The introduction of sketches into our "variety bills" rather suggests that the tremendous prosperity of the music-hall has outgrown the supply of purely "variety" attractions. From time to time the same problem is observable in the theatres. Then there is a panic, and an apprehension of a theatrical slump. A theatre is turned into a music-hall, and back again to a theatre. Then the managers rouse themselves to desperate efforts, attractive plays are discovered, and prosperity reigns once more.

From an artistic point of view, the introduction of plays at the halls and their limitation are decided advantages. The writing of short pieces is an art in itself. More difficult in some ways than the writing of long plays, but easier, of course, in others, the craft is one which should not be allowed to become extinct, as it nearly has become at the theatres. When we think of the masterpieces in little of LABICHE and others, and of the beautifully concrete achievements of some of our own comedietta-writers, we turn to the variety stage with the hope that it may foster contemporary talent in this department. One counsel we give to managers, authors, and artists who are engaged in the selection and production of "sketches"—i.e., not to be afraid of their public. The best is not too good for them, as long as it is the best. However mixed an audience is, it appreciates exquisite delicacy, true refinement, and real pathos. It is not by assuming density and vulgarity in the common people, and writing or acting down to them, that the greatest success is to be obtained. It is true that a fastidious and cultured audience will endure mediocrity with more equanimity than a rough-and-ready one; but, if the appeal be made with supreme art, there is no public which appreciates beauty and poetry more than a "popular" public. We feel certain that Madame BERNHARDT'S genius, her perfection of technique, and her infinite charm and skill will be as warmly applauded at the Coliseum as they were, many years ago, at the Comédie Française.

"DICK WHITTINGTON."

Pantomime, Book and Lyrics by Dan Thomas, Produced at the Richmond Hippodrome on Monday, Jan. 10.

Dick Whittington ..... MISS DAISY YATES
Ald. Fitzwarren ..... MR. H. D. LYNDON
Alice ..... MISS OLIVE WEST
Idle Jack ..... MR. JACK HARRIS
Capt. Kettle ..... MR. ROMEO MISSOURI
Bill Blower .. } MESSRS. HAVERLEY AND HOMER
Tom Bowling }
Hon. Bertie ..... MISS WINEFRED RAY
Polly Prim ..... MISS MAY BARKER
Emperor of Morocco ..... MR. ARTHUR WADE
Princess ..... MISS LYDIA FLOYD
Chopem ..... MISS JACK WELLER
Cat ..... MR. PETE ALMONTI
King Rat ..... MASTER NIPPER MAHER
Slipon ..... MR. WILL NORMAN
Slipoff ..... MR. CYRIL STAFFORD
Fairy Queen ..... MME. LILLIAN
Betsy ..... MR. DAN THOMAS

The tabloid pantomime boasts a distinct advantage over more elaborate entertainments. Mr. Dan Thomas is responsible for the very latest tabloid version of Dick Whittington, and let it be in fairness acknowledged he has so artfully prepared his menu that the dish is a huge success. Scene 1 shows Cheapside, and Dick and Cat are introduced in the orthodox fashion; in Scene 2 the theft is committed, and Dick leaves for Highgate. In Scene 3 we have a wonderfully well-trained ballet, and the general picture is quite excellent. The story is followed in its original version. Dick goes to sea, gets shipwrecked, arrives at Morocco, and saves the country by the aid of his feline companion. He returns laden with wealth and honour, and in Scene 11 he is proclaimed Lord Mayor of London.

One can hardly speak too highly of the general interpretation. Of course, premier honours go to the irrepressible Dan Thomas. As Betsy, the cook, he is the life and soul of the show, and is ably seconded in his efforts by the whimsicalities of the idle apprentice, Jack, capitally played by Mr. Jack Harriss. The Alderman is played with dry humour by Mr. H. D Lyndon; the vagaries of two L.C.C. "sailors" are happily and drolly depicted by Messrs. Haverley and Homer; Mr. R. Missouri finds scope for his undoubted ability as the reckless, swaggering sea-dog, Kettle; Miss Daisy Yates is an ideal Jack, dashing and bright; quite early she becomes prime favourite, and is an artist of value; a pert and pretty Alice is found in Miss Olive West, her dancing and singing alike winning commendation; Miss Winefred Ray looked charming as the Hon. Bertie; and Polly Prim is dainty and bewitching as played as May Barker. Mr. Arthur Wade is dignified as the Emperor, and sings his allotted song in good style; while Miss Lydia Floyd as the Princess also wins recognition. Quite a hit is made by a dusky warrior, Chopem, who is seized with a frenzied desire to decapitate everyone's "lalipaloola," that is, their heads. Probably the favourite with the juvenile portion of the audience is the Cat, Tommy the Terror, splendidly played by Mr. Pete Almonti. Mme. Lillian is the Fairy Queen and vocalises sweetly. All things considered, this tabloid "show" is unique; the music—much of it exceptionally good—is by Carl Hamlin; and Dan Thomas is responsible for the book and lyrics. We doubt if he will ever do better. Mr. Harry Lawrence ably conducts the orchestra, and in the front of the house Mr. Wilkes is in command.

"BABES IN THE WOOD" AT TOTTENHAM.

Tottenham is having a sumptuous feast at the hands of King Pantomime just now. Following Puss in Boots last week, Mr. Andie Caine's elaborate production, Babes in the Wood, is Mr. T. S. Mayne's attraction this week. This ever-courteous manager has had a big crowd to distribute in the various parts of the house each night. He was somewhat handicapped in the earlier part of the week by the absence of his able lieutenant, Mr. Harold Nuttall, who has had the misfortune to lose his father. The book of Babes in the Wood is written by Mr. Ben Albert. There is not a dull moment in the eight scenes. A merry company of sixty work hard and harmoniously from start to finish, and in the scene depicting The Enchanted Wood group, pose, and dance in a manner which compels applause. The Village School is replete with genuine fun and frolic, and The Baron's Library affords an excellent medium for some droll fooling between the two bold, bad, and beery hirelings (Messrs. Coda and Danton) and the wicked uncle (Mr. Wall Kent). The title-rôle is performed in precocious, yet dainty, style by Misses Dorothy Elliot and Mabel Lucina. The Sisters McColla (Dolly and Madge) sustain their parts of Will Scarlet and Margery Daw faithfully and well. In their duet, "Come over the garden wall," they are excellent. Mr. Andie Caine is a delightful Dame, Anne Chovey, bubbling over with comic repartee. Mr. Ben Albert makes a jovial Friar Tuck, and plays a prominent part in the pantomime. Robin Hood is played gallantly and gracefully by Miss Alice Digby; and that of Maid Marion is coyly sustained by Miss Lily Brammer. As the scheming Sangride Miss Bergitte Linderup looks charming and acts ably; Miss Hawthorne Thwaites as Fairy Luna is particularly appealing in her song "Somewhere"; and Mr. Jimmy McGrath is extremely quaint as Jimmy Green. Gorgeous sets and elaborate costumes make up a really fine show.

"BABES IN THE WOOD" AT THE MARLBOROUGH.

[SECOND NOTICE.]

The up-to-date pantomime, mounted in excellent taste, and presented by Mr. Fred Fredericks at that favourite theatre of the Northerners—the Marlborough—is, it appears, cutting the record. And those who know those records do not need to be told that this is a great achievement. Of the charming and novel effects in the scenery, of the crispness and consistency of the story, and of the solidarity and unity of the company we have already written, but with a second visit we were able to enjoy even more fully than on Boxing Day the excellent acting. It is good fun and wholesome fun that the kiddies and the grown-ups laugh at; and from first to last there is not the slightest taint of vulgarity in dress, demeanour, or dialogue.

Whimsical Ernie Mayne has added many droll touches to his unctuous impersonation of Joe Sliaker, the more tender-hearted of the necessary pair of cut-throats. Resourceful in gag and business, Mr. Mayne must feel a real delight in the uproarious laughter that greets his every entrance and his every bit of business. Another of the chief fun providers is Mr. Arthur Stigant, who has no difficulty in securing his share of public favour. In various disguises, which are scarcely less droll than his numerous gags, this capital comedian keeps well within the legitimate bounds of fun by his impersonation of the giddy and ancient coquette. He scores most unmistakably in "What a pity she lived so long ago," a topical song that will be ever increasing its tale of verses with the advent of Parliamentary contests in the neighbourhood.

Miss Ruth Lytton's Colin is quite a dainty and delightful performance from first to last. She looks particularly fascinating in her Scotch dress, and speaks her lines with a real sense of dramatic effect. Miss Daisy Wood as Phœbe, the village beauty, is full of rustic coquetry, and is always nice, and bright, and intelligent. "Who's going to take me for a walk?" is a question asked nightly in song by Miss Wood, and many of the youths of Holloway would gladly accept the invitation. Mr. Tom J. Morton as Bobby Bilberry, a farm labourer, and Miss Maggie Bowman as Dickie co-operate in some entertaining and interesting interludes. One of the most effective of these is a skit on transpontine melodrama. In this Miss Bowman proves herself to be an actress of considerable gifts, and it is refreshing to hear her clear delivery and to note the animation she puts into every line of her part. Mr. Morton keeps well within the lines of his bucolic impersonation, but lets himself go in an eccentric policeman dance and as a seaside masher.

Mr. Hal Forde's penny plain and tuppence coloured villain of Richardson's show or travelling booth type is intensely amusing in its jack-booted ferocity and robust denunciation of anything virtuous. The combat between Mr. Forde and Mr. Ernie Mayne is one of the tit-bits of the production, and it is followed by the heartiest ebullitions of mirth all over the house. Mr. Forde maintains a serious countenance that adds to the laughable nature of his work. Mr. Lew Leslie is entitled to further praise for his Squire Stubbly. He has opportunity for a most entertaining chorus song when he sings "Ding, dong." A popular little lady is Miss Hester Reeve, who as Daisy makes a hit in the now famous melody "Somewhere," for the singing of which she has to concede an encore. Miss Ethel Oliver as Silvius looks pretty and picturesque, and the four dairymaids have attractive representatives in Misses Betty Burdette, Muriel Lillington, Edith Janner, and Babs Johnston. Mr. Hugh Fleming is the business-manager for Mr. Fredericks; Mr. A. L. Pitman stage-manager; and the musical forces are directed by Mr. Ernee Woodville. Mr. Murray-Herriot, the resident-manager, is wearing a perennial smile as a result of the excellent business that is being done with Holloway's latest pantomime.

"A SHAPED END."

Sketch, in One Act, by Godwin Bulger, Produced at the Balfour Institute, Liverpool, on Saturday, Jan. 8.

Thomas Venton ..... MR. J. A. DODD
Richard Estland ..... MR. GODWIN BULGER
Violet ..... MISS NORA NEARY
The Lady from Next Door .. MISS MARY WITTY

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

This is a smart little trifle, much above the average of curtain-raisers in merit, and, after a little judicious pruning of the earlier portion of the dialogue, so as to accelerate the action, it should prove acceptable. There is a touch of originality about the story which makes it refreshingly welcome, and it is sufficiently interesting to hold the attention of an audience.

The incident takes place in the bachelor flat of Richard Estland, where we find his next-door neighbour, described at "the lady," engaged in placing his arm in a sling, he having met with a slight accident. During the operaton they exchange confidences, in the course of which he relates his youthful love for a girl since married, while she tells a sad story of her husband's desertion. On retiring, she asks him to summon her should he need any further assistance. Violet Venton, his former sweetheart, then puts in an appearance, and declares her determination not to return to her husband, owing to his brutality. Estland, however, convinces her of her indiscretion in coming to him, and eventually the woman decides to return home. She is on the point of departing when her husband, having suspected the place to which she had fled, appears; whereupon Violet is hidden in an adjoining chamber, "the lady" accompanying her. An angry scene takes place between the men, and the husband, noticing his wife's glove on the table, is about to force an entrance to the inner room, when "the lady" appears, much to his consternation, for she at once recognises him as the husband who had abandoned her several years previously. Estland gives him the alternative—which he accepts—of disappearing from the country, or being arrested for bigamy. The amateurs performed the sketch in fairly commendable style.

ALEXANDRA PALACE.

The Christmas attractions ended on Saturday evening last with the second week's variety entertainment in the Central Hall. Costel, the Court magician, did some smart tricks of legerdemain; Sid Penna was equally at home in each of his musical numbers; Miss Lily Macarte, "the Girl in the Hoop," was graceful and agile; on the horizontal bar Mlle. Dagmar proved herself to be a lady athlete of no mean order, and her comedian attendant added to the success of her entertainment; and a facial mimic, Amandus, gave presentations of popular notabilities, and, whatever opinion any of the audience might have had in regard to Mr. Lloyd George's policy, no possible exception could be taken to the wonderful make-up as the Celtic Chancellor of the Exchequer. Another number of varied musical instruments, well and carefully executed by Rosina, was listened to with pleasure. The performance concluded with a miniature menagerie, representing a stag-hunt by trained dogs, under the able tuition of Mlle. Rosini, whose fortune-telling dog, Rosie, calls for special comment.

ELLA BLAIR and her Bower Boys, in their sensational dancing act, top the bill at the New Empire, Aberdare, and are well received; Cliff Inman, eccentric comedian and dancer, occupies a prominent position; Hetty Knight, a chic comedienne, provides one or two good songs; and Ada Gatley is well rewarded for her unique wire act.

LONDON PAVILION.

The domestic comedy of the mean street has been almost invariably a source of merriment at the halls. Mr. Chevalier, it is true, endowed the coster with romance, but the variety comedienne rarely takes a sentimental view in song of Mrs. Coster or of the class of which she forms a type. The domesticity of the homes of the masses, and its attendant worries, is decidedly more popular because more cheerful, and the song that puts a comic complexion on every-day incidents in the homes of the toiler can scarcely fail to be successful, simply because it touches on subjects with which nine-tenths of popular music hall audiences are familiar. Such a song, of course, largely depends for its success on the comedy gifts of its exponent. Miss Vesta Victoria, who is the chief lady star of Mr. Frank Glenister's capital New Year bill, has a delightful aptitude for such songs, and the great ability with which she interprets them has been recognised quite as universally in the United States as in the United Kingdom. Just now this favourite comedienne is dealing very cleverly with "the simple life," or, rather, with that view of it that may be compassed from the back garden of a small suburban villa. The proud owner, who calls it "Arcadee," insists on the partner of his joys being decked with roses, and restricts her nutriment to apples and bananas. Vesta's appearance as a suburban copy of an Arcadian maiden, with her ruddy tresses hanging down her back, and her head leaf-crowned, is the drollest piece of absurdity that we have met with for some time. "Now, I have to call him father," the song that has captured two hemispheres, is the final triumph of the popular lady, who is cheered to the echo.

Mr Harry Ford—a rare favourite at this house—nas a song on "Fact," which is full of paradoxes, pithily rhymed and pointedly put; and in a later song, "Let it go," the comedian impersonates a broken-down swell, who is equally as ready to outbid a Rothschild or a Carnegie as to formulate a Budget. Both songs get away from the beaten track, and afford considerable amusement. Mr. Chris. Richards is chiefly notable as a dancer and hat manipulator; and we get some sensational foot and head-over-heels work from Miss Kitty Colyer. Mr. Ernest Shand has much pertinent matter scattered throughout his patter, which is invariably amusing. Mr. Ben Albert's working man, too, is a faithful, as well as a funny, study; and Mr. Ambrose Thorne's light comedy finds many admirers. Who that has heard Ellwanger and company in Who Did It? has been able to do anything else but laugh? and the light-hearted behaviour of the Hiatts, in a comedy musical mélange, makes their offering a most acceptable one. For legitimate farcical acting, commend us to Mr. Rutland Barrington in Faithful James; and the jollity and heartiness of the fun in The Butler's Concert, exploited by Joe Peterman's company, are unmistakable, Mr. Walter Williams as the Secretary and Mr. Frank Leedam as the Professor being especially conspicuous. Mr. Fred Russell's ventriloquial comedy is backed up by much originality. His "figures of speech" in two senses are extremely funny. Other interesting turns are contributed by the Elsie Girls, Francis and Alfred (who combine jesting and juggling), the Fitzroys (flying ring performers), the Gothams, and Jock Whiteford. Mr. A. Bond-Sayers has an excellent orchestra here, and it is pleasant to see Mr. William Cobbett back again, completely recovered from his illness.

FUNNY FOOTBALL.

A comic football match took place at Craven Cottage on Monday afternoon, where eleven players of the Fulham F.C. opposed twenty-four of the performers engaged in the Aladdin pantomime at the Lyric Opera House, Hammersmith. Miss Kittee Rayburn, the principal boy, kicked off. Mr. Harry Morgan, the Weird Wizard of the pantomime, netted, and his colleagues almost dislocated his arm in their vigorous congratulations. The "police" took the goalkeeper, Claud Lipp, into custody for allowing the goal to be scored. Mr. Fred W. Graham scored from a penalty. Some amusement was caused by the antics of a couple of donkeys who patrolled the ground, and their services were requisitioned to defend the Pantomime goal, several shots from the Fulham players striking the quadrupeds. A third goal for Fulham was scored by Mr. Price, who was promptly smothered with flour, a number of white bombs being also exploded. Just before half-time Ryan, one of the policemen, adopted the Rugby code, and, carrying the ball over the line, scored the equalising point. Three goals each was the score at half-time. Mr. Bruce Lindley, the Grand Vizier, after a devious run which mystified his opponents, shot into the undefended Fulham goal, the home team now playing without a custodian. Three times the Fulham full-back tried to shoot a goal from the ten yards line, but each time failed to drive the ball through the serried ranks of the Pantomimists, who lay in the goal two deep. Exactly how many goals were registered probably even the referee could not tell, but the official verdict gave the result as 11—10 in favour of the Pantomime company. A collection was made on the ground on behalf of local charities, to which the proceeds of the game will also be given.

In the evening the members of the Fulham Football Club paid a visit to the Lyric Opera House, Hammersmith, to witness the pantomime Aladdin, and showed their appreciation of the performance by hearty applause.

The members of the Fulham football team, between one of the scenes, appeared on the stage, and, addressing the audience, Mr. Fred S. Jennings, the manager of the theatre, said:—Ladies and gentlemen,—I have here on the stage to-night, in full force, the members of the Fulham football team, who played a charity match to-day—our second annual match—with our pantomime company. I am pleased to say that the pantomime company are not only excellent artists, but good football players. Thanks are also due to Mr. Wentworth Croke for his kind and magnificent support of the whole affair. I have tried to make him come on the stage to-night, but unfortunately he has a very bad cold. The Fulham football team wish to present Miss Kittee Rayburn, who "kicked off" this afternoon, with this cup. It is impossible to state the exact amount realised by the match, but I have every reason to believe it is in excess of last year. I need hardly say I hope we shall play this match next year, and for many years to come, with even bigger success than to-day. I will conclude by thanking the Press and public for their kind attendance this afternoon.

Here repeated calls were made for Mr. Wentworth Croke, who finally appeared, and said:—It is very nice to see you all in "front" to-night. I really do not know why I am dragged on. (A voice from the audience: "Because you are a jolly good fellow.") I have not a word left to say after Mr. Jennings' eloquent speech. Thank you all very much indeed for being here. I hope you are coming again in the same numbers every night during the run of the pantomime. Thank you.

YAMAMOTO and Miss Koyoshi, Japanese equilibrists, in a marvellous series of equilibristic poses, are proving an extremely popular star turn at the Pavilion, Wishaw, N.B. Miss Ada Kessanly's clever fox-terriers are marvels of dog training; the Real McKays (Harry and Jean) are a couple of versatile youngsters; Radena Day is a dainty comedienne and dancer; the Handleys introduce some pleasing Scotch comedy in a musical sketch; and the Bioscope concludes.

"THE LADDER OF FAME."

BY DAN ROLYAT.

"There was once," writes Mr. Dan Rolyat, "a 'mysterious' manager who advertised for clever amateurs to make up a variety combination he intended running at a small town on the Welsh coast. Now, having earned a small reputation in Birmingham as an amateur entertainer, I was naturally anxious to stagger other worlds with my stupendous talent, so I wrote to the aforementioned 'manager' (?) and carefully explained that 'as a comedian my performance began just about where Dan Leno's left off.' He replied that if I was as good as I thought I was, he would either have to enlarge the hall or give overflow performances; but if I cared to accept £4 a week for the season he would be pleased to fix up. I accepted promptly. At last I had my foot upon the first rung of the 'Ladder of Fame,' and quite believed my second step would take me over the top of it. 'What a death!'

"Upon arriving at the hall I was gently informed by the manager that all the company would have to parade the town on bicycles in full make-up. I looked upon this as somewhat lowering to my dignity, especially as they had billed me as Dan Leno's only rival. However, I put my pride in an empty pocket, and hoped that, with the aid of some fearsome whiskers and a generous application of grease paint, no one would recognise me. Fortunately, no one did; in fact, with the exception of a few half-starved boys leading dyspeptic donkeys, I don't believe anyone took the slightest notice of us. Well, we paraded deserted streets in a drenching rain for two solid hours. I often wonder what I must have looked like. I am not an adept at face make-up even now, but my idea of a funny make-up then was extremely crude, and it's letting it off very lightly at that. I leave you to imagine what I looked like after the rain had finished with me. At two o'clock in the afternoon we were about to open the doors for the matinée, but the comic caretaker of the hall freezingly remarked that 'No doors wasn't going to be hopened till a few little hexes was settled.'

"I think he must have noticed the somewhat anæmic queue outside, which consisted of six small boys, who had been handbilling for us, and were coming in 'on the nod.'

"After a scramble, we reluctantly parted with the necessary palm-oil, and were condescendingly allowed to open the doors and 'stagger humanity,' but we were the first to receive the staggers. The doors opened to a big rush of cold air, a few invalids, one or two little children, and the above-mentioned 'on the nod' contingent. 'What a hit.'

"The performance trickled along quite harmlessly without any serious demonstration from the audience; only an occasional 'nasty hacking cough' from some old invalid, and then 'Peace, perfect Peace.' It was like performing to a troupe of 'opium biters,' but this peaceful calm was somewhat ruffled when we came to one of our 'best turns,' a big novelty in those days—the 'Animatograph,' or 'Moving Pictures.' Dear! Dear! Dear! Cinematographs even to-day are a trifle 'jerky,' but ours was worse than a motor-'bus with convulsions. It took a good twenty minutes to induce even the preliminary disc to appear on the sheet, then followed some weird splotches and jags that resembled Wormwood Scrubbs being struck by lightning, and then, oh Joy! a picture actually appeared. True, it was somewhat vague, but still it was a 'picture.' Then all the company tried to guess what it was. I said it was an oil-spring on fire; another said it was Mount Vesuvius in eruption; upon referring to the programme, however, it turned out to be 'A Baby and a Kitten Playing.' The patience of the audience was positively beautiful, but after waiting fruitlessly for the rest of the series, the whole audience (thirteen) arose in a threatening manner, so our trick orchestra (trombone and harmonium) prematurely played the National Anthem, thereby completely cutting out the 'screaming (?) farce,' in which I had a fine part.

"Thus ended the first performance, and for the rest of the week I blushed every time I passed one of our day-bills.

"On the following morning, after a heated debate, we decided to abolish the usual method of charging for admission at the doors, and adopt the ingenious idea of taking up a silver and copper collection. That night we simply fought for the privilege of going round with the collection bags. Saturday arrived at last, and I may say that I was a 'good first' at the treasury call, only to discover that our worthy manager had left the town the previous night in mufti and a milk-train, and had carelessly omitted leaving either our salaries or his new address. Result—Auntie received a wire worded thusly:—'Dear Auntie,—You will be pleased to hear that I have made an enormous success. Kindly wire thirty shillings, Post Office, Rhyl.'"

HOLLOWAY EMPIRE.

Under the energetic management of Mr. Bertie Ralland, affairs continue to thrive apace at this well-known place of entertainment, and the present programme is being well patronised. A starring engagement is being fulfilled by Jack Lorimer, the well-known Scotch comedian, and it is an agreeable circumstance to be able to record the entire success of his reappearance here. He contributes three songs, "I got married to-day," "My Hielan' Lad," and "Jeannie McGregor," all given in his well-known style. The premier acrobats, the Cragge, create much merriment in their latest acrobatic comedy sketch Territorials, the new recruit, Billy, causing considerable amusement with his queer antics. Their turn is received with great favour. Billy Hobbs, a remarkably agile coon vocalist and expert clog dancer, gives two capital songs, "When I wasn't any bigger than you" and "Trans-Mag," concluding each item with a cleverly-executed dance; the eccentric nature of the latter convulses the house. A very successful turn is given by Jennie Hartley, who sings "Climbing," and her singing and dancing show no small amount of talent.

La Freya appears in her original artistic visions, and Mlle. Lucia presents her mysterious musician. This is a distinctly novel show; the mechanical figure is brought on by an attendant, placed in a chair with an auto-harp upon a stand in front of it, and at the word of command plays the accompaniments to Mlle. Lucia's songs. This interesting number affords free play to the imagination. It is so strange and mystifying that one is absolutely at a loss to understand where Art ceases and Nature begins. Maxey and Pete provide a capital entertainment as eccentric wheelers, whose clever tricks are set off by their comic antics. Stella Stahl gives a neat song, "Gogo," and dance, and the Empire Comedy Four gain much applause for their very popular turn. Mr. Fred Camp presides over the very efficient orchestra, and, in addition to the above programme, some capital pictures are shown by the American Bioscope.

MR. CHARLES MADDIN, of Westminster, passed peacefully away at his residence at Tooting on Tuesday at the early age of forty-seven, after a short illness of only three days. Mr. Maddin was the father of Miss Iris Fox, who is playing Pekoe at the Lyric Theatre, Hammersmith, with pronounced success. Mr. Maddin for years had been closely identified with the variety world, in which his friends were legion.

VARIETY GOSSIP.

THERE will be general regret at the news that Mr. Alfred Moul, of the Alhambra, is ill with a severe attack of appendicitis. He was in Paris on Sunday, the 2nd inst., superintending the final rehearsals of a production of his Psyche ballet at Olympia in that city. On the Tuesday morning, although he was suffering from serious internal inflammation, he decided upon an immediate journey homeward rather than remain at a foreign hotel.

ON his arrival in London, he was met by a doctor at the station and went home to bed. A specialist was called in, and an operation was decided on. This was successfully performed on Wednesday by Mr. William Henry Battle, the well-known surgeon, of 49, Harley-street. Up to the time of going to Press the patient's condition is pronounced to be highly satisfactory, and his progress most encouraging.

NOTWITHSTANDING the contradictions of Paris and London journals we may take it that Mr. Oswald Stoll has captured Mme. Sarah Bernhardt. She is to make her appearance at the Coliseum in September with a company. It is quite possible that "La Grande Sarah" will give excerpts from La Tosca, Fédora, L'Aiglon, La Princesse Lointain, and—why not?—Hamlet.

MR. CYRIL MAUDE having gone to the Coliseum, it is quite in accordance with the fitness of things that Miss Winifred Emery (his accomplished wife) should go over to variety for a time, and she has accepted an advantageous offer from Mr. Oswald Stoll to appear at the Hippodrome, where she is expected to make her début on Monday, Feb. 21. The popular actress has one or two little plays up her sleeve, but has not yet decided which to produce. Why not try A Soldier's Daughters?

MISS FANNY BROUGH will make her second experiment in variety at the Empire, where she has been engaged to replace Miss Evelyn D'Alroy—shortly returning to His Majesty's to support Sir Herbert Tree in Beethoven. For the favourite comedy actress Mr. Malcolm Watson has written a little piece of a farcical character, entitled A Change of Front, which will take the place of Sanctuary, the serious little drama from the same pen now running successfully at the Empire. It will be remembered that Miss Fanny Brough made her variety début in Law and Order, a comedy duologue played by her and Mr. Stanley Cooke at the Palace Theatre in January, 1908.

A WRIT for libel has been issued by the management of the Palace Theatre against Mr. William Archer and the proprietors of the Nation, in consequence of an article written by the critic animadverting in that journal against the class of audiences frequenting the famous variety house in Shaftesbury-avenue.

MR. HARRY BICKLEY very kindly sends five shillings for the widow of the late John Callan.

THROUGH a printer's error, the praise bestowed on Mr. Ernie Mayne, the chief comedian at the Marlborough, Holloway, was assigned to Mr. Eric Mayne. Reference is again made to Mr. Ernie Mayne's funny impersonation in a second notice of the Holloway pantomime in another page.

MR. BERT FELDMAN was an interested spectator at the Grand, Glasgow, pantomime of Mother Goose on Monday, especially as several new numbers had been added to the long list of Feldman's songs given there. This pantomime has been making fresh records for New Year holiday drawings here, despite the strong opposition, and there is no need to ask the familiar query, "Is everybody happy?"

THE annual dinner and dance of the Music Hall Artists' Railway Association will be held at the Criterion Restaurant on Sunday, Feb. 20, when it is hoped to secure a prominent proprietor to take the chair. The proceeds will be given to the funds of the new Variety Benevolent Institution. By the matinée at the Coliseum, music-hall charities—the V.A.B.F. and the institution just named—benefited to the extent of £140 each.

THE "ballet-revue," "On the Heath," at the Alhambra, is bright and breezy, and has the added merit of providing opportunity for the introduction of "skits" upon current events. The latest parody is on the Vampire Dance, which lends itself readily to ridicule. Miss Julia Seale displays considerable humour. An election burlesque is another amusing interlude, and in its second edition the "ballet-revue" should find renewed popularity.

WE may once more remind our readers to-morrow (Sunday) is fixed for the fourth annual general meeting of the Federation at the Bedford Head Hotel at six o'clock prompt. Mr. Fred Russell will deliver the chairman's address, the general secretary will give his report, and the V.A.F. balance-sheet up to Dec. 31, 1909, will be submitted, and there will be a discusion on the General Federation of Trade Unions.

THE Slaviansky Russian Choir, now singing with very great success at the London Coliseum, were commanded to sing before the King during the first week of their appearance. They sang fifteen songs to His Majesty, who warmly applauded, and made very complimentary remarks upon the performance. At his own request His Majesty was introduced to Mme. Slaviansky, to whom he expressed his warm admiration of the choir's beautiful singing.

EVERYBODY is congratulating Mr. Charles Coborn upon the tremendously popular ovation which he received at the Middlesex Music Hall last Tuesday night, upon the historic "last appearance" of that celebrated hall, under the management of Mr. J. L. Graydon. One report states that the audience "went wild with enthusiasm." Mr. Charles Coborn's forecast for the General Election result gives:—Unionists, 279; Liberals, 263; Nationalists, 82; Labour, 46. This is not as he would like it, but like what he imagines the result will be.

NEWS of the serious illness of the mother of Miss Bertha Doud Mack, skate dancer, has been cabled from the States, and unless she has a more reassuring bulletin to-day Miss Mack will be obliged to cancel all outstanding engagements and return to the States immediately to be at the bedside of the sufferer. Miss Mack is deeply sensible of the courtesy she has received on this side, and she will return to England to take up her work again as soon as she can leave her mother.

THE Sketch Association held its first smoking concert at the Crown Hotel, next door to the Hippodrome, W.C., on Sunday. Mr. George Gray, the president of the association, being away on tour, Mr. Arnold Bell presided most efficiently over a representative gathering. Mr. Leonard Mortimer had charge of the musical arrangements, and he provided an excellent programme. Mr. Harry Pleon and Mr. Herbert Terry both worked hard, and their efforts largely contributed towards the success of the evening. The ladies turned up to the first smoker in considerable force, and the chairman evidently gauged the feeling of the audience when he announced amid applause that another smoker would be held at an early date.

AN application for a dramatic licence by Mr. Frederick Mouillot to perform a pantomime for the week commencing Jan. 17 at the Hippodrome, Margate, was brought before the Council at the Town Hall on Tuesday, and on being put to the vote it was decided not to grant the licence asked for.

CROYDON'S oldest playhouse, the Theatre Royal, is being demolished. Its history goes back to the days of wax candles and oil lamps. In 1830 it was announced that the house would be "splendidly lighted with gas." Many great actors have appeared on the stage, among them Edmund Kean, Edward Askew Sothern, Charles Mathews, Ben Webster Buckstone, Henry Irving, and Toole. When the Buckstones took the theatre the band was sent into the street to attract an audience, but the police arrested the musicians as rogues and vagabonds.

THE old house opened with varieties on Easter Monday, April 20, 1908, under the name of the Hippodrome, with two houses a night; and it had a variety career in 1897, being then opened as the Empire, with Messrs. Fred Bartlett and Edmund G. Pratt as managing-directors and Mr. Will Sergeant as manager.

THE house will be rebuilt by the Moss and Stoll combination, and will not be finished for some months, as the house is not yet completely pulled down.

MR. CONWAY WERTHEIMER, Conservative candidate for South Hackney, accompanied by Messrs. J. J. Roberts, Ranger, Barnett, Friedberg, J. McCarthy, and G. Dickson, occupied the stage box at the Hackney Empire on Saturday evening last, and on being recognised by the large audience, met with an enthusiastic reception.

DURING the evening Mr. Wertheimer presented the star turn of the week, Miss Marie Kendall, with a handsome bouquet, composed of choice exotics tied with streamers of blue and white. Miss Kendall, in thanking him from the stage, who was afterwards introduced to Mr. Wertheimer, referred to him as the plucky candidate, and took that opportunity of wishing him success.

ON the previous evening (Friday) Mr. Bottomley was present at the Empire and also presented Miss Kendall with a bouquet. Mr. Chas. Marte attended to the welfare of the visitors, and Mr. J. Christie, London district manager for Moss and Stoll, rejoices in excellent business, notwithstanding the political excitement prevalent.

MR. FRANK DANBY, who with his company made such a successful visit last week to Birmingham, had an unpleasant surprise on Friday night (7th) on visiting the Grand Theatre. He was met at the stage-door by a gentleman, who informed him that he held a warrant for his arrest

HAD it not been for the services of the ever-courteous manager, Mr. Foster, Mr. Danby would have spent the night in Winson Green Gaol. On promising, however, to deliver his body at eleven o'clock the following morning, Mr. Danby was allowed to give his sketch. It was then proved that the Mr. Frank Danby wanted was the nom de théâtre of another gentleman. The matter will, of course, be pursued further.

ONE thousand poor children filled two spacious rooms in the Floodgate-street Schools, Birmingham, on the afternoon of the 7th inst. They were the happy little guests of Miss Dorothy Ward, a Birmingham lady, who is the popular principal boy in the Prince of Wales Theatre pantomime. They laughed, talked, and sang, and a merrier party never assembled under one roof. Mr. J. Stevenson, superintendent of school attendance officers in the city, had undertaken to arrange the affair for Miss Ward, she having sent him a cheque to defray expenses, and he was ably assisted by the school attendance officers and their wives and daughters.

MISS WARD, Miss Daisy Dormer, Miss D'Amato, Miss Jean Burton (the Babes from the Prince of Wales Theatre) assisted at the tables, and found the novel experience thoroughly enjoyable. They also sang several chorus songs, which the children took up with great enthusiasm. After the youngsters had been regaled with sausage-rolls, buns, cakes, and tea, they each received an apple and an orange as they filed out. Miss Ward and her friends were evidently very happy in their self-imposed task of giving the kiddies a delightful afternoon.

MR. CHARLES CLIFFORD, the solo harpist, was at the Palace, Jarrow, last week, after a prolonged absence, and delighted audiences nightly by his playing and singing. Mr. Clifford plays two kinds of harps, one a large Erard harp and a small Irish harp. The latter is an especially unique instrument on account of the quality of tone and rarity and value. Notwithstanding that he has received many tempting offers to tour in Australia, United States, South Africa, and other places, Mr. Clifford has preferred to stay in the homeland

MR. HARRY ROXBURY has no sooner launched his brilliant tabloid musical comedy Sergeant Longfellow than he is preparing a further new production on a sumptuous scale. This new three-scene sketch, entitled On the Track, will be produced by Mr. Roxbury at the Empire, Leeds, on Monday, Jan. 24. Miss Vashti Wynne, co-author, and Mr. Dudley Powell have composed the music.

THE scenes will be a Matrimonial Agent's Office, a Railway Station, and On the Beach at the Seaside. It contains an abundance of good wholesome fun, and the latest adventures of the famous detective, Archibald Longfellow, will be awaited with keen interest. Mr Roxbury himself will appear as the detective, and his various disguises include that of an office boy, railway station porter, strolling player on the beach, and an old woman in charge of a bathing-machine.

MISS BILLIE BURFORD, who is delighting patrons of the Birmingham Empire this week, sails for South Africa to fulfil a three months' engagement, on Saturday, Jan. 29.

THE seventh annual sacred concert in the Nottingham Empire, in aid of the fund for the support and endowment of the Empire Cot in the Nottingham Children's Hospital was crowded. The £63 6s. realised in the collection goes to the charity, for nothing is paid away in expenses, the Empire being lent by the directors, and the staff, under Mr. Albert C. Duncan, giving their services. The sum is a record for the series, of which this is the seventh concert.

CAPTAIN MORRISON, in a short address at the interval, explained that a sum of £30 was asked for annually to keep up the cot, and there was being laid by out of the surplus year by year a sinking fund, which would eventually, it was hoped, amount to practical endowment, so that the Empire Cot would be perpetuated. The sum required was about £1,000, and they were going well towards that end, for they had already in seven years, in addition to paying their way, the £30 annually, put aside over £75.

NOTWITHSTANDING the demonstrations against it, John Lawson's sketch The Miracle pursues its successful career. It will be at the Hippodrome, Poplar, next week. The Synagogue scene has been altered.

ARTISTS may be reminded that Mr. Charles Hector's complimentary night at the Queen's, Poplar, is on Friday next, Jan. 21. Mr. Hector announces that all necessary permissions have been granted.

A FEATURE of Collins's programme next week will be the introduction of Mr. Tom Wood's latest comedy sketch, entitled A Slight Misunderstanding; or, Fweddie's Dilemma. Those who have seen the number at rehearsal proclaim it one of the funniest fifteen-minute farces ever staged. Included in the cast are Miss Madge Soutter, sister of Miss Lillie Soutter, and Mr. Edmund Russon, while Mr. Wood will figure prominently as a jovial "boy in blue."

MR. WALTER F. MUNROE, the man who first booked and introduced in London Harry Lauder, opens on Monday at the Empire, Hackney, with his juvenile comedy team. Mr. Lauder states that he had offered his services "free gratis" to both London managers and London agents, but could never get a footing in the Metropolis until Mr. Munroe, recognising his wonderful abilities (although he was receiving a small salary) took him up, and after a hard fight induced Mr. Tom Tinsley to put him in the programme at Gatti's (Road) as an extra turn.

FROM that time Lauder never looked back. Says Lauder: "I have to thank Mr. Walter F. Munroe for his exertions on my behalf and for securing for me my first engagement in London." Mr. Munroe's wife (Emma Don), the well-known popular male impersonator, is also playing London after a long and successful tour of the provinces.

MISS ALICE MAYDUE was able to resume her part in The Motor Chase on Monday, at the Hippodrome, Manchester, after her severe indisposition.

MR. LEO DRYDEN will produce at the Empire, Wolverhampton, on Monday next, for the first time, a new song playlet, entitled False Gods.

THE annual dinner and ball of the Terriers will be held at the Horns Hotel, Kennington, on Sunday, March 6.

AT the meeting on Sunday last the Secretary presented the annual report and balance-sheet of the Terriers' Association for the year ending Dec. 31, 1909—one of the most successful in the history of the association, the profit on the year's working exceeding all records. At the conclusion of his speech the Secretary was heartily congratulated.

MR. BERT WELDA was initiated into the mysteries of the Terriers' Order on Sunday last. The ceremony was performed by Terrier W. L. Murray, W.T., assisted by Terrier Ben Obo, V.T. Terrier Arthur Were officiated as Organist. Mr. Paul Reed (of Baines and Reed) has successfully passed the ballot.

THE Johnny Alexander Complimentary Benefit Committee met on Thursday at 18, Charing Cross-road, Mr. Chas. Coborn presiding. A telegram from Sir H. E. Moss, J.P., kindly promised his support and patronage, and a number of letters were read from gentlemen offering to serve as members of the committee. Amongst others were Messrs. F. H. Pedgrift (The Era), Fred Kitchen, Will Oliver, Fred Griffiths, J. W. Cragg, the Renads, Abel and Welsh, James Stewart, Fred Herbert, Fred Neiman, Arthur Gallimore, Atroy, Geo. Ayburn, Pat Rafferty, &c.

THE question of the date and place of the proposed benefit was discussed, and ultimately adjourned for some of the members of the committee to ascertain price for renting a certain well-known hall for a matinée. The hon. officers were elected, and it was decided to write and ask if they would be willing to accept the positions.

THE following have already accepted honorary positions in connection with the benefit:—Mr. Joe Elvin (hon. treasurer), Mr. C. Douglas Stuart (assistant hon. treasurer), Mr. Arthur Were (hon. secretary), and Mr. T. C. Callaghan (assistant hon. secretary). The names of the others will be announced next week. The meeting was adjourned until Tuesday next at eleven o'clock, when a draft of the circular asking for donations will be submitted. Another meeting will be held on Thursday at twelve o'clock.

FRIENDS of Mr. Fred Lewis, circus advance agent, will be glad to learn that he has now fully recovered from his severe ailment, caused by a nasty kick from his fiery steed whilst on tour in Ireland, 1909 (tenting). Although his doctor ordered him to hospital, the popular Fred's characteristic pluck would not allow him to leave his post, and he remained in harness up to the last moment. Mr. Lewis is now quite fit.

MR. CHARLES COBORN, vice-president, took the chair at the 642nd meeting of the Executive Committee of the M.H.A.R.A., held at the offices of the Association on Wednesday afternoon. Messrs. J. W. Cragg (trustee), Johnny Alexander, J. Miller Northern, T. C. Callaghan, Wm. Welsh, J. H. Milburn, Jack Crawley, R. Abel, Harold Finden, and Lieut. Albini were also present. The weekly financial statement, showing forty-seven new members and a cash total of £57 7s. 6d., was passed.

THE Brothers Webb spent their Christmas at Budapest, where twelve English artists met and dined on turkey and plum-pudding at Trenk's Restaurant. The jovial crowd included Arthur Webb, Joseph W. J. Webb, Charles F. Stirling, B. Gross, Alexander Gross, Charles F. Stirling, J. Miles Stavordale, Walter Freswick, Kathleen Vere, R. A. Speedwell, Harry Hurrell, Carl Ryden, and Millie Miles-Stavordale. The three toasts proposed were "Our King," "Absent Friends," and "Our Home." The gathering excited a good deal of interest, and much care was exercised by M. Trenk in the preparation of the pudding.

MR. G. H. ELLIOTT is scoring an unqualified success as Chocolate in the Prince's Theatre, Bristol, pantomime Mother Hubbard. The part itself is not a very important one—in fact, it might with advantage have been written up a bit—but Mr. Elliott certainly makes the very most of his opportunities. However, he soon stands out as one of the shining lights of the pantomime by means of his specialities of song and dance. "How d'you do, my baby," gets Chocolate into the good graces of the audience, and in this song he has the assistance of a chorus of well-trained children. "Good-night, number one," also introduces the children successfully; "I used to sigh for the silvery moon" is really pretty and most artistically done by Mr. Elliott; and his final effort, "Don't take me home," as rendered by him, gives full scope to his untiring energy. Mr. Elliott has a really pleasing voice, both in speaking and singing; he is an excellent dancer; and his well-made frock suits of white satin, &c., are no mean attraction. There almost seems to be something magnetic about Mr. Elliott's coons, and the Prince's audience began to find this out on the first night of the pantomime.

MISS OLLA HUMPHREYS, a young Australian actress, is to make her appearance at the Palace Theatre shortly in an adaptation from the French by Mr. Michael Morton.

MR. MORTON, who is the author of Resurrection (taken from Tolstoy's novel), My Wife, Her Father, and other clever adaptations, is not an entire stranger to the variety stage, as a short work from his pen taken from the French, and entitled Charlie the Sport, has been successfully produced at the halls.

MR. CYRIL FAIRLIE has been re-engaged by Miss V. Clifford to play his original part of the Thief in My Friend the Thief at the Queen's, Poplar, next week.

MESSRS. BROWN AND ROBINSON, the singing bricklayers, have been re-engaged for a further run of six months with Mr. Harry Rickards in Australia through Messrs. Neiman and Benn's Agency.

MR. HENRY HERNE and Miss Ida Millais, who have been touring the provinces with their water sketch, Blackmail, will return to London on Monday for a short season, opening at the new Imperial Palace, Canning Town.

THE management of the Camden Hippodrome have made arrangements for to-night and next week whereby the results of the various polls will be telephoned there the moment the counting is finished, and immediately announced from the stage.

HOLDEN'S MANNIKINS, which have been such an enormous success at the London Coliseum, are at the Hackney Empire on Monday. The life-like movements of the puppets and the clever lighting effects are very much to the taste of the thousands of North-East Londoners who visit their favourite Empire.

MR. EDGAR CURTIS, the well-known humorist, has lately taken up the living marionette business with considerable success, as has been evidenced by the many social functions for which he has been requisitioned. He has earned the encomiums of that past-master of the art, Mr. Walter Graham.

MISS GERALDINE MONTROSE has purchased the entire rights of the thrilling sketch The Storm, by Percival Sykes. Wonderful rain and storm effects are to be a feature of the production. We might have something like Sir Herbert Tree's "thunder" in Julius Cæsar or the rain storm that was such a feature of The Ruling Passion twenty years ago at the Standard Theatre, Shoreditch, now the Shoreditch Olympia.

OUR contemporary, the New York Clipper, in a recent issue devotes some space to a glowing eulogium of Mr. George Lashwood, who has achieved in America one of the greatest triumphs of his career. His songs, "My latchkey" and "In the twi-twi-twilight," are specially mentioned as being much to the taste of our transatlantic cousins.

THE usual monthly meeting of the Committee of the Music Hall Sick Fund was held on Wednesday afternoon at the Crown Hotel, Charing Cross-road. Mr. Jennings (hon. trustee) occupied the chair, and there were also present Messrs. T. B. Brydge, A. Drew, and F. Boyer. There was no business of any public interest, and the proceedings closed with the usual vote of thanks to the chairman.

MR. SAMUEL LLOYD, of the Pavilion, Glasgow, is still seriously ill, a slight relapse having taken place at the end of last week. Kindly messages of sympathy have been received from all parts of the country by Mme. Lloyd, and have helped to tide her over a trying and anxious time. During the illness of Mr. Lloyd, the busy traffic of the New Year was ably looked after by Mr. Evan Good.

THE directorate of the Pavilion, Glasgow, recognising the serious nature of the illness of Mr. Samuel Lloyd, and the likelihood of a lengthy period of convalescence, have appointed Mr. Evan Good, who has been assistant-manager here for several years, to the more responsible post of general-manager. Mr. Good entered on his new duties at the beginning of this week.

MR. BENJ. WOODGER, secretary of the Music Hall Home, desires on behalf of the committee to thank Vivian Evans (Empire, Wolverhampton) for £1 13s. and George Weldon (Hippodrome, Dewsbury) for £2 6s., being box collections for the Home Fund; also a donation of £1 1s. received from C. C. Mannering, of South Norwood. A committee meeting will be held on Thursday next at the Empire, Camberwell, at 12 noon.

THE Music Hall Home is now in its fourteenth year, and accommodates twelve old performers with home comforts. The committee hope for the support of the profession to The Era New Year appeal, headed by Miss Vesta Tilley. This annual appeal is the main support of the Home. The secretary will gladly send a collecting card to any willing to work on behalf of the Fund. Men's old clothes and boots are always very acceptable.

A NOVEL football match was played on Monday afternoon at Craven Cottage Grounds, Fulham, between the Aladdin pantomime company from the Lyric Opera House, Hammersmith, and a team of Fulham players, the proceeds being devoted to local charities. The Fulham team consisted of the usual eleven, but the pantomimists numbered over a score. The latter were attired in all sorts of costumes—pierrots, policemen, cats, and clowns—while Mr. H. Morgan appeared as Abanazar.

MISS KITTIE RAYBURN, the popular principal boy of the Lyric Aladdin company, kicked off, and the fun became fast and furious. The game was highly interesting, even the referee at times taking a player's part. The theatrical team claimed to have won by nine goals to eight, the scorers being:—Aladdin Company: Ewart, Graham, East (twice), Morgan (twice), Shirley and, Klitgaard (twice). Fulham—Lindsay (twice), Wayman (twice), Millington (twice), McEwan, and Lindsay. During the progress of the game Mr. Richards, the musical director at the Lyric, collided badly with another player, and had to be assisted off the field. Several of the ladies, including Miss Rayburn, with collecting boxes, drove round the ground in a donkey cart.

THE Royal Palace Theatre, Ramsgate, which was recently renovated and remodelled at a cost of £10,000 from designs by Mr. Frank Matcham, has been taken over by Mr. Charles Evans, of the Grand Hall-by-the-Sea, Margate, who will reopen it on Monday, Jan. 31, with one of Mr. Walter Melville's latest dramatic successes. Mr. Evans, who is justly popular throughout the district, has engaged the services of Mr. Henry Bowman to be his resident-manager. This gentleman returns to the town after an absence of two years on tour, and, considering his vast experience in booking attractions suitable to the tastes and requirements of local patrons, and the esteem in which he was held during his several years management of the Amphitheatre (on the site of which the present up-to-date building has been erected), we consider Mr. Evans could not have put matters in more capable hands.

THE old Middlesex Music Hall in Drury-lane saw its last performance on Tuesday night, when Mr. J. L. Graydon, the doyen of music hall proprietors, said farewell to those staunch variety patrons for whom he has catered so admirably. Almost immediately the housebreakers will arrive to perform the final "turn." For the last night the ancient office of "The Chairman" was revived, and ancient frequenters recalled memories of Gus Leach, chairman for many years, who used to sing a stirring ditty entitled "Sunday morning down Petticoat-lane."

THOUGH Mr. Graydon, finding the competition of syndicates and gigantic circuits too strong for him, is relinquishing the cares of proprietorship, he will still do his best to serve the interests of the Proprietors of Entertainments Association, of which he is the active hon. secretary, and he will keep in touch with the modernities of the up-to-date variety theatre through his directorship of the Palace Theatre.

No one in the ranks of proprietors has done more to establish the popularity of sketches than the popular proprietor of the "Mo." The writer well remembers the production there of the Dromio-like sketch Chickweed and Groundsel, written by Charles Merion, and played by the fascinating Sisters Mario and the twin Brothers Wemms. Joe Keegan and Joe Elvin (father and son) gave of their best at the Drury-lane house, where all their early successes were seen in turn—Sport, The Tinker's Holiday, The Clock, The Hansom Cabby, &c. Mr. Johnny Hanson was a great favourite, too, in The Doctor.

THE more notable productions included a one-act version of Rip Van Winkle and a tabloid version of "Jack Sheppard," by Frank Hall (afterwards secretary of the Music Hall Benevolent Fund), entitled Captain Jack and Wild Ju-Nathan, which scored a great success on its production and was revived several times. The hero was played by Miss Alice Maydue, now acting in The Motor Chase, and a later protagonist of prison breaking was Miss Carrie Julian, now Mrs. O'Brien, the hostess of that famous house Rule's, Maiden-lane, a lady who now does so much for poor professionals. Miss Rose Hamilton was also seen in the part.

LATER, Miss Julian was seen at the Middlesex as the hero in Mr. Frank Hall's version of Robin Hood, in which the author played Friar Tuck. An immense favourite with the Mogulites, too, was Harry Lynn and his daughters. He was an actor of the Macready school, who presented melodramatic playlets by the dozen.

MR. GRAYDON took over the house in 1878 from Mr. H. G. Lake, who had accquired the Metropolitan, which he held for many years. Alterations and improvements were immediately initiated, and the inaugural night of the new proprietor happened on July 31, 1878. Among the entertainers on that evening were Diamond and Gant, the latter being the father of Charlie Ross, afterwards famous as a dancer in Gaiety burlesque. Like his sire, Charlie died young. The then great topical singer, Charles Williams—acknowledged to be the best in his "line of business"—was another entertainer at the opening night, and Polly Randall, a good dramatic descriptive singer, another.

DAN LENO owed much of his initial success at the halls to the encouragement of Mr. Graydon, who first billed him as the great comic vocalist. The Irish vocalist was always a cherished turn at the old house; and Pat Feeney and Nellie Farrell were the adored of the "gods." Another idol was Charles Godfrey, who sang "On Guard" and "Across the Bridge." Lottie Collins was quite a youngster when she appeared as one of the Sisters Collins; and among the conspicuous successes of the late eighties were Sweeney and Ryland and the Brothers Armstrong, knockabouts—now represented by Barney Armstrong, the popular comic singer.

ONE of the finest acrobatic teams of the present day—the Kellinos—were represented by their ancestors at the old "Mo"; and a most interesting crowd of acrobats and musicians were the Seven juvenile Sisters Matthews, one of whom is now Mme. Frasetty, the well-known violinist and xylophone player. An appearance at the Middlesex in mid-Victorian days gave a sort of cachet to a turn, and every performer of any prominence thought it an excellent experience to face the music at the "Mo."

THE new hall is to be called the Middlesex Empire, and the scheme for its erection is understood to be in the hands of Mr. Isaac Lyons, a brother of Mr. Joseph Lyons. The seating accommodation of the new house is stated to be over two thousand, and therefore a big auditorium is foreshadowed. The old "Mo" tavern will be kept standing, and the new place may be opened by August Bank holiday.

MR. WILL EDWARDS, his numerous admirers and friends will be sorry to learn, has been confined to his bed for some time with bronchitis, and pneumonia was at one time feared. But the genial comedian is now on the mend.

MR. FRED WHITTAKER, with feline grace and comic activity, is playing the very necessary cat in the production of Dick Whittington at the Shakespeare Theatre, Liverpool. Pussy has been a study for years with Mr. Whittaker, who originates his own dresses and masks, and the shouts of delight from the youngsters at the house named when, as the "tabby" beloved by Dick, he comes on is eloquent testimony of his success. He has played the part for sixteen consecutive seasons, and his eccentricities and prancings round the balcony of the house are great features in the success of the pantomime.

DAMAGES to the amount of £250 were awarded by a jury on Thursday in Mr. Justice Phillimore's Court to Mrs. Marie Becker, a music hall performer, in respect of a libel which appeared in the Magician, a periodical published in connection with the business of Messrs. Gamage, Limited. The plaintiff formerly acted as medium in a thought-transference performance given by the late M. Guibal, the conjuror. He died in hospital a long time after she had left him. But the Magician, in an article, which it said was supplied to it by a "soulless trick," repeated a mistaken story that Mrs. Becker had shot M. Guibal.

MR. OSWALD STOLL, the chairman and managing-director of the Leicester Palace Theatre, kindly granted the use of the building on Sunday afternoon and evening last for a concert on behalf of the Leicester Poor Boys' and Girls' Summer Camp, the attraction being the Grenadier Guards' band, under the conductorship of Lieutenant A. Williams, M.V.O., Mus.Doc., Oxon. The building was crowded on both occasions, and the performances evoked the greatest pleasure. In addition, Miss Edith Kirk and Mr. Percival Driver appeared as soloists.

AT the conclusion Mr. W. E. Tyler moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Stoll for the use of the Palace, and to Mr. C. Finch-Hatton, the acting-manager, and his staff, which was heartily accorded. Mr. C. Finch-Hatton replied, remarking that he had been down to Mablethorpe and seen the work there, and could confidently recommend it to the support of all philanthropically inclined people. It was a pleasure for him to do what he could for so good a cause.

SONGS, WRITERS, AND SINGERS.

MESSRS. FRANCIS, DAY, AND HUNTER have received glowing accounts from Mr. Richard Waldon about their song "Send them along to me," which is another of the many numbers of this well-known firm that he has in his magnificent production. Mr. Waldon, speaking of this song, says, "The song was encored three times to-night."

MR. GEORGE GRAVES is singing with huge success at Drury Lane Theatre that well-known comic song "For months and months and months," written and composed by Joseph Tabrar. It is in many other first-class pantomimes, and is published by Messrs. Francis and Day.

DURING the last few days the growing number of applications from pantomime artists has been noticeable for Messrs. Francis and Day's pretty song, "Pride of the Prairie Mary," a number destined to be ranked with the most popular ditties of the year. A few permissions to sing this admired song at theatres of variety are available.

SONGS from the pen of Jack Mahoney and Theodore F. Morse, the famous American song-writers, are always in greatest request with those who like quaint and tuneful numbers, and the twain's latest composition, entitled "Jungletown" and "On a Monkey Honeymoon" will be eagerly sought after by artists in search of novelties of distinction. Messrs. F. and D. Spell are the publishers.

THAT notable octette of singers and dancers, the Palace Girls, have been nightly at the fine house in Cambridge-circus, and seen to great advantage, in the two-step entitled "Billy 'Possum," composed by T. W. Thurban, of "Brooklyn Cake Walk" fame. The item is published by Messrs. Francis and Day.

MISS MADGE TEMPLE'S dresses have been evoking cries of admiration from the lady visitors at the Tivoli, so exquisite are they. "I'm looking for Mr. Wright" and "I used to sigh for the silvery moon" are growing more and more in public favour, as was inevitable seeing that the fair artist brings to her rendering archness and a cultured and beautifully-modulated voice.

MISS HILDA ELEN, the niece of the celebrated coster comedian, who is touring the provinces with Fred Mantell's combination, has made a great success with her song, by Maurice Scott, entitled "John Henry."

MISS VICTORIA SIEVER'S beautiful rendering of Henry E. Pether's ballad "Love makes the whole year June" at the Lyceum is doubtless responsible for the daily increasing London sales of this number, and Dundee and Newcastle-on-Tyne are among the provincial places of note who show seemingly unsatiable maws for more and more copies of the morceau. Messrs. Francis and Day are the publishers.

FROM Messrs. Chas. Woolhouse, of 174, Wardour-street, W., come a number of songs, pianoforte pieces, vocal exercises, and vocal quartettes. "Rest of the weary," a sacred song, composed by Wilfrid Shaw to the words of S. B. Monsell, is an excellent specimen of this class of music. The song is not only dedicated to Mme. Edna Thornton but sung by that eminent English artist. A very pleasing Nocturne for the piano has been composed by Lita Masey, in admirable contrast to the lively gavotte for pianoforte written by Fredk. W. Martin, entitled "Springtime." "A sprig of white heather," a Scotch ballad by Darman Ward to the words of Thomas Kay, has much charm both in music and words; it is dedicated to, and sung by, Mr. Harry Lauder; and so excellent a portrait of the world-famous singer is given on the cover, so full of character and beautifully printed, that it is worthy of a frame. In Scotland white heather is considered to have special virtues, and, as a verse of the song has it,

"For if she will wear it who's guileless and true,
Her fondest desire it will be to renew
Those bonds of affection which Nature imparts
In valley or mountain to pure loving hearts."

We have it on the authority of Mr. Richard Swiveller that beer always has the best flavour when drank from its "native pewter," and the quaint song "The pewter pot," composed by Alba de Benedi, with words by Frank Bunnie, fully bears out this statement. "The pewter pot" is a capital song for a baritone. From the same composer comes "Drowsy Dustman Dan," a song likely to interest our young folks, who, when getting sleepy, say "the dustman is coming." That this idea is not confined to English children is shown by Hansel and Gretel in Humperdinck's opera referring to it in the Forest scene. A simple and easy song of somewhat the same character is "Baby," composed by Arthur Cole. "A Message," words by S. Hawkshaw and music by Wilfred Shaw, is a graceful song of sentiment. In this work much depends on having a clever pianist, for the accompaniment is far more difficult than any of the preceding songs. "The Message" is dedicated to, and sung by, Mr. Charles Saunders. A violoncello and pianoforte duet is always welcome, and Victor Montefiore's "Serenade" should, when well played, prove very attractive. A. B. Cawood has written a dainty Minuet for the pianoforte, which, however, to do full justice, requires an experienced player. From the same composer comes an expressive "Evening," also for piano. Dedicated to the members of the Plymouth Orpheus Male Voice Choir is "The Elected Knight" quartette or chorus for men's voices, written by David Parkes to Longfellow's verses. A piano accompaniment for practice only is also included. The mystical ballad of Longfellow is from "Nyerup" and Rahbek's "Danaka Viser" of the Middle Ages, and deals with the first preaching of Christianity in the North. The effective quartette is arranged for first and second tenor and first and second bass. A charming vocal composition is "There is a height" for first and second treble, alto, tenor, and bass. The music is by L. Robinson and the words by Lewis Morris, with the kind permission of Messrs. Kegan Paul, Trench, Trübner. Another quartet by L. Robinson, to the words of Helen F. Bantock, bears the title "Love Sleeps," and is arranged for soprano, alto, tenor, and bass.

SEVERAL vocal exercises by W. McConnell-Wood, from the Conservatoire, Leipzig, and R.A.M. (London), are for the medium voice, and intended to be used in conjunction with Concone's forty studies for contralto and bass and the fifty studies for medium voice. For vocal students the above work should prove of great value, as in addition to the exercises Mr. McConnell-Wood gives several useful hints as to attitude, position of the tongue, and management of the throat, and other hints as to vowel sounds. All these hints are practical, and the sound common sense of proper voice production.

MR. ANDREW N. ALLEN has just written and composed a new soldier song for Miss Vesta Tilley, entitled "Look for a soldier if you want to find a girl."

MR. HARRY LUCK has in study a new song by Chas. Collins and himself entitled "The quaint old fellow, with the quaint old style," also one by Harry Wincott, "Moving the happy little home." Both songs will be produced at an early date.

"NICK CARTER."

A Miniature Monologue, by Ivan P. Gore and Bernard Mervyn, Produced at Sadler's Wells on Monday, Jan. 10.

Richard Morgan .....MR. JOHN F. TRAYNOR
"Bully" Bunce .....MR. IVAN P. GORE
Ned Westerton .....MR. W. E. MOSS
Milly Gray .....MISS MAMIE RENDLE
Ilma D'Arvois .....MISS PHILLIS DAILLEY
Nick Carter .....MR. BERNARD MERVYN

They adore thrills at Sadler's Wells, and Mr. Bernard Mervyn has given his audiences at this theatre plenty of them this week in his new sketch, Nick Carter. Mr. John F. Traynor plays the part of Richard Morgan in fine style. Richard is a first-class president of a gang of thieves, murderers, swindlers, and other undesirable individuals, styling themselves the "International Crimes Association." Ilma D'Arvois, represented by Miss Phillis Dailley—well-dressed, subtle, and with good declamation—is the lady in the case, who manages all the delicate details in scientific robbery that her male associates might bungle. Ned Westerton, a young bank manager, is sent by his people with a certain sum of money to the Continent, and, of course, Morgan gets to hear of it. Otherwise there would be no story to tell. So the villains, male and female, conspire to obtain possession of the money. And what better way can there be of luring a young man to his doom than by telling him something he should not believe about his sweetheart, rejoicing in the good old noveletty name of Milly Gray. Milly is a good girl—that need scarcely be told—but her best boy is led to believe she is not. He is induced to visit a cellar near the Thames in order that the truth of the matter may be made clear to him. The object, of course, is to rob him. Just before his arrival, Nick Carter, detective, arrives on the scene, spying out the land, as it were. The action of the little piece is very rapid. Nick discovers himself to the gang, and is immediately made prisoner. Nevertheless, he hurls defiance at Morgan and all his myrmidons, swearing that he will land them all in gaol before midnight. He has only six hours in which to do it, and as he is a prisoner behind iron bars the odds seem against Nicholas. But he keeps his word—how, it would not be fair to tell. There is much of the impossible in this "miniature monologue"—we would rather have written dramatic playlet—but what it lacks in probability it makes up for in excitement. The dialogue does not dovetail smoothly at present, and should be re-written in places; then Nick Carter, played by the same company, for the most part very capable actors, will be a welcome addition to any variety programme. Mr. Bernard Mervin as Nick Carter gave us a very fine impression of the name part.

The Bros. Lawrence are styled on the programme "Scotland's representatives." If being attired in plaid suits, and dancing to a string of Scottish melodies entitles them to this description, well and good. Otherwise their accent, their clog and sand dancing—both extremely good—and their singing are not representative of the land north of the Tweed. The Sisters Judge introduce their marvellous performing parrots, macaws, and cockatoos; Lilly Denville is a dainty little comedienne and dancer; Cyclumina is a novel trick cycle act; Ajax and George are well styled gymnastic wonders; and Grace Dudley, the Seven Wulfrunas, and Wallace Sims complete the programme.

MESSRS. DOTTRIDGE AND LONGDEN have, as expected, produced a twice-nightly pantomime for the halls far in advance of anything so far seen. Their Dick Whittington is a brilliant production, and its gorgeous costumes are the talk of all who behold them. It is admitted on all sides to be one of the brightest and most refined and funny pantomimes at present touring.

DEATH OF MICHAEL NOLAN.

To many of his friends, who knew how illness had afflicted Michael Nolan during the last two years, his death on Wednesday morning at his residence, 17, Bushey Hill-road, Peckham, has not come as a surprise. He was barely forty when lung and heart disease prevented him from working—a sore trial indeed for a man so popular as he was. In the zenith of his powers as a stage Irishman Michael Nolan wore with dignity the mantle of Pat Feeney, of whom he occasionally reminded one. His voice was tuneful; he sang always with real feeling and no little culture; and his Hibernian characters sustained the best traditions of the race for humour and pathos.

Born at Tipperary forty-two years since, the deceased became a chorister in the Bradford Catholic Cathedral at the age of ten. His first appearance was made at the Star Music Hall,

MICHAEL NOLAN.

Bradford, on Sept. 13, 1880, then under the management of Mr. William Taylor. From the first Master Nolan made a favourable impression, and so successful was his début that Mr. Taylor kept him on for three weeks, at that time quite a long stay, especially for one so young. It was on the Friday evening of the third week that the late George Leybourne, the lion comique, presented Michael with a gold watch, subscribed for by some of his admirers, and with it some good advice.

Master Nolan sang mostly Irish ballads, afterwards going through the various grades of Irish business. As a boy he constantly wrote songs for himself and others, and to this fact he considered much of his success was due. His first great hit will be easily remembered—"Little Annie Rooney is my sweetheart." One can scarcely think of this "darlint" without in some way blushing for her, for "Annie Rooney" had sweethearts in nearly every country under the sun. "Dada's baby boy," "Whistle and wait for Katie," "That's a Mick," "Where was Hooligan," and other enormously successful songs followed from the same pen, and with much the same result. In comedy Mr. Nolan's first real triumph was "The brick came down," written by the late Tom Browne, and this character immediately stamped the versatility of the singer.

Always trying to be strictly original, and keeping in a path entirely his own, his creation, "Play us an old come-all-ye," was an acquisition to his previous record. Mr. Nolan and his wife (Miss Agnes Hazel) sailed for South Africa in September, 1897, and there again he added to his high reputation; but a greater success awaited him on his arrival in Australia, where he served a comfortable season of six months with Mr. Harry Rickards in 1898. He went again to Australia in 1907, once more renewing most pleasant impressions, and adding largely to the number of his admirers. Mr. Nolan took a great interest in the charities of the profession, was a popular Water Rat, a staunch V.A.F., and did much effective work as a member of the executive committee of the M.H.A.R.A. The last few months of his life were much cheered by the success on the variety stage of his daughter, Miss Aggie Nolan. His son, Mr. Bert Nolan, is connected with Barclay's Agency. To the bereaved widow and family we add our own to the many messages of sympathy they have received.

Says the Daily Chronicle:—"The dead singer was always ready to do a kind action. One bitter winter's day, when the snow was a foot deep, he was 'discovered' by a friend as he was taking a bottle of wine and some other delicacies to a poor sick professional."

The funeral is fixed for to-day at the Lambeth Cemetery, Tooting, at 2.15, the cortège leaving the residence of the deceased, 17, Bushey Hill-road, Peckham-road, S.E., at one o'clock.

"AT THE MASKED BALL."

A Musical Sketch, Produced at the Bedford on Monday, Jan. 10.

Bouncey Larkitt .....MR. ALFRED LESLIE
Charlie Flickers .....MR. JOHN ASHBURN
Splitz .....MR. ROBERT COMBER
Mrs. Larkitt .....MISS MARGARET LUREY
Miss Jessie Weaver .....MISS JESSIE HART
Lucy .....MISS MAY STAPLES

This new musical sketch, which had its first production on Monday evening, is the initial essay of the Stage Production Company, and is under the direction of Mr. John Ashburn, who is the producer of it. There is a slight plot of a husband and his friend, who go to a masked ball, to which, as well, have gone his wife and his friend's fiancée. They meet, and a scene follows, so disguises are adapted by all four unknown to each other, and further complication of an amusing nature follow. All is happily cleared up at the finish. Mr. Alfred Leslie is good as Larkitt, and Mr. John Ashburn does well as Charlie Flickers; while Mr. Robert Comber is very comic as Splitz, the waiter. Mrs. Larkitt is smartly played by Miss Margaret Lurey, who contributes a clever dance, and Miss Jessie Hart makes a captivating Miss Weaver. Lucy, the maid, is pertly played by Miss May Staples. There is a very large chorus, and when the whole has been pulled together, the show should prove a very lively one. The music is tuneful, but we think another song or two would materially add to the success of the sketch, which is well mounted and very well dressed.

MR. AUGUSTE VAN BIENE, who arrived from New York on the Kaiser Wilhelm II. on Tuesday, will appear at the Hackney Empire on Monday next in a new sketch called Van Biene's Baby. Though not without pathetic touches, the sketch will be, on the whole, comic, and this will be the first time that Mr. Van Biene has appeared in a humorous play.

VARIETY ARTISTS FEDERATION.

At the special general meeting of the V.A.F. held on Sunday at the Bedford Head Hotel (Mr. Fred Russell, chairman), a portion of the suggested alterations to the rules was dealt with. The consideration of the remaining alterations was postponed until a later meeting. The principal variations in the new rules deal with the qualification for membership and the appointment of a permanent chairman. Rule 4 now reads as follows:—

4.—QUALIFICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP.

(1) Any person who, in the opinion of the Executive Committee, is a bona-fide performer, shall be eligible for membership. The term "bona-fide" performer shall mean:—

(a) Any performer who accepts contracts for engagements over his own signature, and who is actually engaged in entertaining music hall, theatre, or circus, or kindred audiences.

(b) Any proprietor of sketches, troupes, or other acts, whether appearing in the same or not.

(c) Any member of sketches, troupes or other acts.

But any person acting in the capacity of manager, sub-manager, manager's clerk or assistant, shall not be eligible for membership.

The Executive Committee shall have power to grant permission to any existing member of the Federation to transact agency business, but no member shall act as an agent without the written consent of the Executive Committee.

(2) A member retiring from the profession for the purpose of becoming a proprietor, manager, sub-manager, manager's clerk or assistant, having been a member of the Federation for one year, and still continuing to pay up his subscriptions and levies, shall be entitled to the death levy, but shall not have the right to attend meetings, vote at elections, or be eligible for the Executive Committee.

(3) That any member of the Federation retiring from the profession to take up a paid office in the Federation shall be entitled to all the benefits of an ordinary member, but shall not have the power of voting at meetings or elections.

NOTE.—The word "manager" as used in these rules shall mean any person who is the manager of a music hall, theatre, or circus in his own right, or acting in that capacity on behalf of a syndicate or company. It shall not apply to managers of sketches, troupes, &c.

Rule 10 deals with the appointment of a permanent chairman, and reads:—

A permanent chairman of the Federation, who shall be a member of the Federation, and who shall be appointed by the then Executive Committee in the United Kingdom voting by ballot, who shall be paid a salary determined by the Executive Committee, and shall remain in office until a resolution to remove him is carried by a two-thirds majority of the then Executive. His agreement with the Executive Committee shall be subject to three months' notice on either side.

"A MILLION AND A HALF."

A Farcical Comedy Act, Produced at Collins's on Monday, Jan. 10.

Mr. Alfred Selwyn has a first-rate bill at the Islington Green house this week. The outstanding feature is Miss Lallie Forsyth's humorous little sketch A Million and a Half. It is a big laugh, and well and briskly played by all concerned. The only bone we have to pick with the management in connection with it is that the names of the lady and gentleman who so ably help Miss Forsyth to take curtain after curtain are not mentioned in the programme. Now to the story, something similar to which we remember having heard before. The heroine is left a million and a half of money on condition that she weds a certain gentleman. She detests the idea, so conspires with her maid of all work that they shall change places, for, by so doing, she hopes that the suitor will refuse to marry her. Mistress and maid change clothes, and then the fun begins. The suitor arrives, and is promptly received by the maid posing as mistress. The finale can be imagined after it is recorded that the real mistress, as maid, becomes jealous of her servant's shameless masquerade. There are the usual explanations, and all ends happily with wedding bells.

Nellie Nestle looks well, and sings "Love rules the world" in first-rate style. She has a fine, strong voice, and knows the class of song that suits it. Veronne gives an impersonation of the late Sir Henry Irving in The Bells. The comedians are Frank Jester and Metz and Metz. Candos and Constable presented their farcical absurdity, Fluffie, and got plenty of applause for it, too. Cissie Esdaile is a very dainty comedienne; and in the same programme are the Brothers Hamilton, Edith Evelyn, and the Eight Marvels. A Ladies' Beauty Show has been in progress during the week. The final judging takes place to-night (Saturday).

CAMBERWELL PALACE.

The name of Arthur Roberts on the top of the bill makes Radical and Tory alike forget his opinions for a few hours, and spend at least one evening away from the atmosphere of politics to breathe the more genial air of the Camberwell Palace. Even our friend the Socialist is tempted to lock up his red tie and pass a short while away from his grievances, for Mr. Roberts is a magnet that can draw, and his sketch, The Importance of Being Another Man's Wife, is still the laughter-making machine it has always been. Another attraction this week at this comfortable theatre of varieties is the Four Netherlands in their speciality, the bare foot dance; grace and ability are intermingled, and they give a really charming performance. Their voices, too, are good, and the quartette retire amid a storm of handclaps.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Finden nightly receive great applause. In their well-known comedy duologue they are quite as good as ever, and add considerably to the evening's amusement. Football lovers who attend this hall this week are fortunate, for the merry face of Sammy Shields gladdens their eyes, and his racy songs and football anecdotes give them abundance of amusement. The management has been fortunate in obtaining the services of Hunter and Morris. The former is an acrobat and comedian of no small order, and the later a charming comedienne, who can sing a good song; her ragtime melody, "Coonville Coloured Band," being rendered with a dash and vigour which is typical of the lady.

Lovers of juveniles pass a pleasant twenty minutes in witnessing the turn of Haley's Garden of Girls. This turn has special scenery and electrical effects, which, together with the ability that the little ladies undoubtedly display, go to make a really excellent spectacle. The concertina well played is an instrument which has a charm of its own, and when a good instrument is placed in expert hands this charm is greatly increased. Minnie Paget is the lady who entertains us on the concertina this week, so one expects to be—and is—enchanted. Harry Weldon, a comedian whose eccentricities amuse the house, is another valuable asset to the bill. His Dick Turpentine has run a long time now, but is just as amusing as ever. That inimitable mimic, Syd May, is also on the programme, and his imitations of Sam Mayo and George Robey are very lifelike. Perhaps the voices of Austin and Cowan, however, the popular Australian vocalists, give as much pleasure to the audience as any other turn.

WISPER AND BEATTIE BLOOM wish to thank George Gilbert, proprietor of the Hippodrome, Lowestoft, for paying full week's salary, although they only played four nights.

SONGS, WRITERS, AND SINGERS.

Undeniably one of the most pronounced song successes of the present season is Mellor, Lawrance, and Gifford's tuneful number, "It's the Alpine dress you're wearing," which Messrs. B. Feldman and Co. are so vigorously exploiting. Mr. Knight Pearce, conductor of the Dick Whittington pantomime at the New Theatre, Cardiff, writes that this song is one of the principal hits of the show. The Sisters Bartholomew, too, at the Grand, Fulham, are scoring tremendously with it.

Mr. Bert Feldman, who is just now touring the principal pantomime centres, was highly delighted, a few nights ago, when he looked in at the Theatre Royal, Edinburgh, to hear the wonderful reception which Miss Clare Hartland received for her delightful rendering of his firm's great song, "Somewhere." At the King's Theatre also, he was more than gratified by the audience's keen appreciation of Miss Kittie Douglas's rendition of two more of his firm's songs, "A girl up North" and "Booby Boo," both of which "went" with great éclat.

At the Queen's Theatre, Fleetwood, during the current week, Miss Doris Phillips has been winning golden opinions for her two charmingly rendered songs, "Just as the brook flows" and "Somewhere," both of which are Feldman publications. The choruses have "caught on" tremendously, and both songs have been redemanded nightly; truly a flattering compliment to both singer and songs.

Messrs. Feldman and Co.'s four songs, "I do like to be beside the seaside" (Arthur Godfrey's greatest hit in the pantomime), "I must go home to-night," "It's the Alpine dress you're wearing," and "Somewhere," all loom large in the New Theatre, Cardiff, pantomime, and win nightly torrents of applause from the house's delighted patrons.

At the Theatre Royal, Worcester, Miss Ethel Dancy, the Fairy Queen, has made the greatest success on record in this town with Feldman's delightful song "Somewhere," the chorus of which is already all over the town, and she is nightly the recipient of many encores for her cultured rendering of this ubiquitous ballad of the emotions. Miss Gertrude de Lacy is also phenomenally successful in the same beautiful song, in the well-known play Dare-Devil Dorothy.

Miss Madge Brownie, who is playing in pantomime at the Bordesley Palace, Birmingham, testifies to the wonderful success she is achieving with Godfrey and Letter's catchy chorus-song, "Molly O'Morgan," which nightly "brings down the house." The part-author of this successful Feldman publication, Mr. Will Letters, is principal comedian in the same pantomime.

At the Hippodrome, Accrington, this week, Miss Jennie Reeve is scoring a well-deserved hit with Messrs. Rogers and Neat's tuneful song, "Pretty little girl from nowhere," one of the most successful of the recent Feldman publications.

The most necessary elements in the success of a pantomime are the elements themselves. As compared with last year the weather has been decidedly favourable, and there is sufficient briskness in the temperature of the atmosphere to make audiences visiting pantomimes feel on good terms with themselves. This readily puts them in the humour for taking up the choruses of any catchy refrain which they may listen to. This is particularly noticeable in the numbers issued by the National Music Publishing Company, of 132, Charing Cross-road, W.C., which include the successful songs, "There's a girl in Berlin," "You might shake hands," "You all want something to cuddle," "Won't you come to Madeira with me," and "Lena Schmidt," all of which are swinging waltz-time melodies. Also the quaint ditty, "Is that a fact," sung by the great Scottish comedian, Neil Kenyon, and the inspiriting march song, "Baden Powell's Scout," whose subject, of course, deals mainly with the future defenders of England.

The phenomenal success attained in last year's Drury-lane pantomime by Mr. Wilkie Bard "Put me upon an island where the girls are few" has been repeated this season by several comedians in the provincial pantomimes. The sale of this song, so the National Music Publishing Co. inform us, is as great as ever.

Another very pretty number is "Nora from Norway," which is being successfully featured in several productions this year. This is also published by the National Music Publishing Co.

A notable hit has been secured by several of the principal boys with the popular and amorous song "I'll have the bread and cheese and the girlie." There is a popular and heavy demand for this number, which is written and composed by that well-known writer of a great many of the most recent successes, Will Letters.

The popular comedian, Mr. Charles Whittle, whose every song is an assured success, has one of the best of them published by the National Music Publishing Co. It is entitled "I'd like to spend my holidays with you." It has created a most favourable impression everywhere. Permission for producing any of the above-mentioned successes can be obtained on application to the National Music Publishing Co., of 132, Charing Cross-road, W.C.

Miss Ada Reeve has kindly consented to act on the committee of management for Johnny Alexander's benefit.

The members of the pantomime company at the Prince of Wales's Theatre, Birmingham, made extra contributions to the Variety Artists' Benevolent Fund in a novel way on Monday afternoon. The Brothers Egbert arranged a hoop-la stall in their dressing-room, and their confrères paid sixpence for seven rings. There were very few who did not prove themselves experts, and as the fancy articles disappeared silver coins dropped with a ring into the collecting box.

Miss Ruth Vincent, the musical comedy favourite, after a successful tour of Mr. Stoll's principal provincial houses, will commence a three weeks' engagement at the Hippodrome prior to appearing in grand opera during the forthcoming season. Lamberti, whose imitations of musical composers recently created very favourable comment, returns to the Hippodrome on Monday.

One of the funniest "turns" in Connor's Circus at the Crystal Palace is The Coster's Derby, shrieks of laughter greeting Eliza and her better half. The imperturbable demeanour of 'Liza, in spite of the reckless pace of their steed is humorous to a degree, but she quickly shows her pugilistic powers when a constable makes his appearance and endeavours to check her furious driving. This scena is only one of many funny and extremely clever items in the programme. The Dekoe Family still remain very popular, their performance being remarkably clever, while the pluck and daring of little Mona and diminutive Douglas Connor have been greatly admired. These two juvenile bareback riders, by the way, are son and daughter of Mr. F. J. Connor, the genial proprietor of the show. The last performance of the circus will be given on Saturday, Jan. 29.

BIRMINGHAM MANAGERS.

MR. W. GOODWIN WOODWARD, BORDESLEY PALACE.

A bright personality and a thorough knowledge of his business are essential qualifications of the successful theatrical manager. They are typified in Mr. W. Goodwin Woodward, the popular chief at the Bordesley Palace Theatre, Birmingham. He is urbanity personified, and as to experience, he has been nurtured in the lap of the Thespian art, so to speak. Born at Cheltenham he belonged to a musical family, and made his début at nine years of age, singing at a concert. He won a scholarship at Cheltenham Grammar School for singing, and trained for the Civil Service, which he entered and did successfully for years. His natural inclination, however, was to tour with various operatic companies; but after one or two essays in this direction he came to the conclusion that it was more congenial in the front of the house. He then drifted into theatrical management, a sphere in which he has laboured since then with credit to himself and honour to the profession.

First of all he was engaged by St. John Denton to produce pantomimes, and stage-managed them. Then he was secured by Fred H. Anderson as general-manager of his touring companies, more especially The Sands of Time, which was produced at the Shakespeare, Clapham, and afterwards toured. He then filled the position of manager for the Palace Theatre of Varieties, Northampton. During his period of office he greatly popularised the cake-walk in the town, training a number of raw youngsters to take part in a competition in a remarkably short time, his prowess as a pantomime producer standing him in good stead. On vacating his position he was engaged by Mr. Charles Macdona, and was for five years manager of various musical comedy companies run by that gentleman, including The Chinese Honeymoon, The Country Girl, The Toreador, and The Cingalee tours. The pantomimes he has produced include Cinderella (Harriett Vernon, principal boy), Dick Whittington (Marie Loftus, principal boy), Puss in Boots (Lil Hawthorne, principal boy), Babes in the Wood (Rita Presano, principal boy), &c. At the present time he is utilising his pantomime experience with every success on behalf of the production The Fair One with the Golden Locks, which is enjoying an auspicious season at the Bordesley Theatre.

Having risen from the bottom rung of the ladder Mr. Woodward is more in sympathy with the men who work under him than one who assumed command of a theatre without previous experience. Though a strict disciplinarian, he retains the goodwill and wins the respect of all with whom he comes in contact. In this connection it should be mentioned that during his managership at Bordesley he was the central figure at a presentation and complimentary supper arranged by the staff and friends. His successful managements of the London Princess's, Shakespeare, Clapham Junction, and Dalston theatres, and of the old Elephant and Castle, have also spoken well of his capabilities.

Mr. Woodward's chief hobby is bulldog breeding. He is also keenly interested in shooting, being, in fact, a thorough student of Nature. His private office at the theatre is shared by a pet canary, which trills away merrily whilst he is at work. A few days ago the bird managed to escape from its cage, and when it was not to be found Mr. Woodward was inconsolable. At length the canary was safely returned to him.

On one tour Mr. Woodward had for a companion a valuable two-year-old bulldog. "Baby," as he was called, was not beautiful, and on Mr. Woodward going in search of lodgings, accompanied by his pet, their custom was declined at every call. "Love me, love my dog," was evidently Mr. Woodward's motto, for he resolutely declined all the lodgings if his dog could not be entertained as well, and for that week, at least, the manager and his pet slept at the theatre. But it became evident that this state of things could not continue, and reluctantly at last, as all the world seemed against "Baby," he was sent back to London.

"THE BLACK ANGEL."

Produced at the Queen's, Poplar, on Monday, Jan. 10.

Raoul, Vicomte de Lenoir..Mr. John Burnett
Granville Savernake ..Mr. Henry Hargreaves
John Waring .....Mr. George Ingleton
Evangeline Dupres .....Miss Dora Heritage
Mimi Augarde .....Miss Lucy Burrows
Fifi Melargs .....Miss Claire Townshend
Betty Seabrooke .....Miss Eugene Magnus

This sketch is from the clever and facile pen of Miss Eugenie Magnus, who has written several successful sketches, and deals to some extent with the half-world. The scene depicted is a salon in the establishment of Raoul, Vicomte de Lenoir, in the evening. It is Betty's birthday, and all are in good spirits with the exception of Betty, who is particularly despondent, for she is tired of the life she is living. Her spirits rise with the arrival of John Waring, for she really loves him, despite the fact that she has assisted in the plucking of this "pigeon" on past occasions. He wishes her "Many happy returns," and gives her a present, at which she is visibly affected. They toast one another's loves, after which he touchingly appeals to her, and begs her to run straight. The party then return, and all ask Waring to stop with them for the night, but he tells them he is unable to as he has £20,000 in his pocket, a legacy of his little sister's. This only causes them to be more determined that he shall stay; £20,000 would be a nice little parcel to "cut up." They decide to get him to have a parting drink and to drug his glass; but Betty has seen all, and instantly decides that the man she so loves shall not be robbed. She takes the drugged wine, and after the others have left bolts the door and tells Waring all. She tells him to escape quickly, for her accomplices are desperate characters, and then falls to the floor, for the deadly drug has taken effect. Turning the lights out, Waring picks up the inanimate form of the "Black Angel," and as the party rush in through the burst door he escapes with Betty in the confusion and darkness.

Though the plot is a slight one the dialogue is brisk, and interest is maintained to the fall of the curtain. Miss Eugenie Magnus as Betty, the "Black Angel," did excellent work in a part that fitted her exceedingly well. Mr. George Ingleton gave a strong and sympathetic reading of John Waring. The other characters were adequately filled.

The varieties included Ethel Christi, Brull and Hemsley, Alice Blandford, Dusty Rhodes, Bob and Jimmy Leonard, Orpheus, and May B. Brilliant. Special mention must be made of the splendid pictures as depicted by the Queen's New Bioscope the subjects being really interesting and the production exceptionally good.

Mr. Harry S. Hart, variety agent, is laid up with a sprained ankle, through trick roller skating. The accident happened on Monday night at Olympia, and the sufferer will be in bed for a week.

"A STROLLING PLAYER."

Sketch, in One Scene, by Beatrix De Burgh. Produced at the Empress, Brixton, on Jan. 10.

A Strolling Player .....Mr. H. A. Saintsbury
Richard Brinsley Sheridan ..Mr. Clive Currie
Mr. Richards .....Mr. Alfred Beaumont
Mr. Tickle .....Mr. Fred Grove
Martha .....Miss Margherita Gordon
Alice .....Miss Laurie Flockton

Snippets from Shakespeare are presented in a very attractive form in the newest production with which Mr. H. A. Saintsbury is associated. Mr. Saintsbury has the part of an itinerant actor, who has tramped to London with his daughter to seek out Sheridan with the hope of obtaining an engagement. He meets with the celebrated actor-dramatist at an inn where Sheridan is entertaining his boon companions, the old actor being brought with little ceremony into the room where the party are making merry. Not knowing who they are, the strolling player refuses indignantly to accede to their suggestion to recite; but his daughter is starving, and in order to earn a meal for her he consents. His performance takes the form of a series of extracts from Shakespeare's plays, in illustration of various human emotions. Thus love is represented by Romeo's "banishment" speech; melancholy by Hamlet's soliloquy, "To be or not to be"; philosophy by Jaques' homily from As You Like It; revenge by Shylock's malevolent utterance on the Rialto; ambition by Wolsey's affecting lines from Henry VIII.; and jealousy by Othello's fiery denunciation. The old actor is almost exhausted and falters at the last line, but his hearers have been greatly impressed, and one of the company suggest Lear, in which the services of the girl might be utilised. The player accepts the suggestion, and taking his daughter in his arms begins the scene in which Cordelia dies in the aged King's arms. It is soon obvious, however, that the actor is not speaking the lines of the part, and that the form that he clasps in his arms is really dead. The noisy party are rendered silent by the tragic occurrence, and after Sheridan has declared himself and promised to look after his welfare, the old man is left alone with his grief.

The arduous work of the leading rôle was artistically accomplished by Mr. H. A. Saintsbury, who invested the familiar selections with suitable degrees of emotion, skilfully-varied inflection, and facial expression happily suited to each rôle. Mr. Saintsbury, we would suggest, might diminish the difference in age between father and daughter, and give the veteran actor a less patriarchal appearance. A few lime effects towards the close, too, might not be inappropriate. The impersonation, however, was a decided success for Mr. Saintsbury. He bears an enviable reputation at the Empress, but his admirable performance won entirely on its merits, and led to him being recalled thrice at the close. Worthy support was given by the cast—capable players all of them—who "dressed" the stage most effectively, and worked up the scenes realistically. Mr. Clive Currie was a sympathetic Sheridan, whom he made quite the actor and the gentleman; Mr. Fred Grove's ripe abilities enabled him to make of the bibulous Mr. Tickle a most amusing personage; and Mr. Alfred Beaumont also did valuable work in a subsidiary part. A touching portrayal of the old man's daughter was given by Miss Laurie Flockton, who acts and speaks well. The sketch is dramatically conceived and well connected, and the audience became absorbed in it throughout.

"THE CHANGELING."

By W. W. Jacobs and Herbert C. Sargent, Produced at the Peckham Hippodrome on Monday, Jan. 10.

George Henshaw .....Mr. Martin Adeson
Ted Stokes .....Mr. V. C. Newman
Mrs. Henshaw .....Miss Dorothy Neville

The above capital sketch, produced under the direction of Mr. T. B. Vaughan and John Lawson, is no stranger to the boards, having formed the lever de rideau at Wyndham's Theatre during the run of When Knights Were Bold. The plot of the piece is as follows:—George Henshaw has been seen by his wife in company with his friend Ted Stokes flirting with two ladies on the top of a 'bus. Henshaw denies that he was there, but his wife refuses to believe him. Henshaw consults his friend Stokes as to how he can get out of his unfortunate scrape. The ingenious Stokes hits upon a novel scheme. It was not George Henshaw who was flirting, but one, James Bell, of Scotland, who is, unfortunately, very like him. Henshaw demurs at the idea at first, but ultimately resolves to try his luck. He puts on what he considers a Scotch costume, and makes ludicrous attempts to assume a suitable accent. Meanwhile, Mrs. Henshaw has overheard their little plot. She receives "Mr. Bell" and his friend, and pretends to believe their story. When, however, they have gone, she locks the front door, and informs her astonished husband on his return that he is Mr. James Bell, that her husband is already upstairs, and that she is just going to bed herself. Poor Henshaw is thus locked out for the night, and is left to cool his heels in the street, and find such consolation as he may in the society of his friend Ted Stokes.

Mr. Martin Adeson gave a very ludicrous conception of the henpecked husband, George Henshaw, and caused roars of laughter. Mr. V. C. Newman was capital as the quick-witted Cockney, Ted Stokes, and Miss Dorothy Neville was very good as the irate spouse, Mrs. Henshaw. The piece was received with every mark of approbation, and is certainly one of the most humorous contributions to the stage that Mr. W. W. Jacobs has ever given us.

Mr. Albert Bruno, who met with an accident at the New Empire, Wakefield, on Christmas Eve, is progressing favourably and is now able to resume his part in Mr. Fred Karno's sketch The Bailiff.

The programme of the Palace Theatre will receive an important addition on Monday next, when Mr. Alfred Butt will present for the first time on the variety stage, Lady Constance Stewart-Richardson, who will submit a series of dances based on classical music from the old masters. Lady Richardson is one of the most noted members of society, chiefly because of her daring exploits as a huntress. At the Bath Club she won the Challenge Shield three times in succession, and afterwards caused great consternation with the British authorities in West Africa owing to the fact that the lady penetrated further into the interior than was thought advisable, until at last Lady Constance was ordered to return to the Coast.

Lady Constance is the daughter of the late Lord Cromartie and a grand-daughter of Anne, Duchess of Sutherland. Her object in making an appearance on the variety stage is to raise funds to found a school for boys, so that her special theory of education may be carried out. The Greek system of education seems to Lady Constance as being the real foundation, and she has adopted as her motto "Mens Sana in Corpore Sana." She suggests that all sensible actual bodily exercise has a tremendous influence on the mind, and that physical and mental development should be evolved co-jointly. Lady Richardson will practically adopt some children between the ages of two and twelve years and gradually educate them to become hardy Britishers. Among the dances to be submitted are: "Au Printemps" (Grieg), "Chansons Sans Paroles" (Tschaikowski), "Marche Funebre," from the Sonata Op. 26 (Beethoven), and polka, "Bonne Bouche" (Waldteufel).

MUSIC HALL HOME SHILLING FUND.

We are again making an appeal on behalf of the Music Hall Home Era Shilling Fund, and with that appeal we have very great pleasure in associating the name of Miss Vesta Tilley, who will for the next few months act as a sort of fairy godmother to the fund. "I think," said Miss Tilley, in conversation with our interviewer the other day, "that the Music Hall Home is a very deserving charity and a very excellent thing. Something of the sort was certainly wanted for the poorer professionals. Every week of my life I give pounds away at the stage-door to numbers of the profession who call upon me for assistance. Now this year I want to create a record in the matter of collections for the fund, and I personally shall work my very hardest for it. In everything I wanted before the profession has always come forward very generously, and I hope that they will help me all they can now. I have a number of private friends who are going to work for me, too. I think, however, that most of the support should come from the professionals themselves. Outside people have their own charities to look after. I have asked my husband if he can arrange special matinées at each of his halls for the benefit of this fund, and he thinks that he will be able to do this. A great deal in that case will rest upon the artists, and if they would turn up we should be enabled to augment the funds of the Home very considerably. Wherever I am now appearing I am fixing up cards so that members of the same company for the week may put their names down for a subscription. I also hope by the sale of autograph postcards in the front of the house to collect a still further sum for the same purpose."

As was arranged last year, a solid gold medal will be presented by The Era to the collector who obtains the largest amount for the Fund up to March 31, 1910, the lists closing on that date.

LAST OF "THE OLD MO."

MR. J. L. GRAYDON SAYS "GOOD-BYE!"

Sic transit! The old Middlesex Music Hall has closed its doors, and many of us are sorry that it is so. The great assemblage of last Tuesday night at Mr. Graydon's famous hall in Drury-lane meant more than a change of management. It was the last night of an old tradition. For "the guv'nor" was saying good-bye to us all after nearly forty years of successful management, after being a pioneer in the variety business, and after having achieved a splendid record for fair dealing, honourable management, and liberal catering on behalf of his patrons; and there were those of us present who felt sad amidst the laughter, and when "the guv'nor" broke down in making his speech we broke down too. Blood is thicker than water even in these hustling commercial days, and some of us have memories, and some of us are old-fashioned enough to keenly regret the passing of the old Mogul.

This much is certain—Mr. Graydon's regret at leaving the hall which he has conducted so creditably is not less poignant than that of its patrons at losing him. He having sold the property to Mr. Harry Lyons, brother of Mr. Joseph Lyons (of J. Lyons and Co., Ltd.), the Middlesex will be razed to the ground, and a new hall—a larger one—with all the latest improvements and appliances, will be erected on the site, and probably designated the Middlesex Empire. It will have a seating capacity of 2,800, and will be run on the two-houses-a-night principle.

The Middlesex was always a friendly, homely place. The audience was always on the best of terms with the stars, and conversations were carried on between them over the footlights and between the verses. This tradition was carried out to the last, and on Tuesday, as always, waiters looking like noblemen in disguise (the only people in evening dress) dispensed stout to the aristocracy in the stalls, while outside the gallery doors coster girls (the professional descendants of Nell Gwynne) sold oranges to wet the whistles of the Mogul "gods."

There was no "half-time" on Tuesday last, and big bills announced the fact, to the astonishment and dismay of more than one regular patron. The house was packed, and everyone who is anyone in the variety world made it a point of honour to turn up some time during the evening or early morning. There was no standing on ceremony, and star artists chatted on old times with West End managers or agents, and even the great ones of the "legitimate" hobnobbed with the daily paper journalists present, and they all toasted "the dear old Guv'nor" in the time-worn circle bar—for the last time.

Everyone was "reminiscing" on Tuesday, and the triumphs of Dan Leno and Herbert Campbell and Marie Lloyd and Joe Elvin on the boards of the "Old Mo." in the days that are gone were particularly recalled. Here and there in the house sat clean-shaven men with iron-grey hair, hawk-like faces, and mobile lips which gave away their secret. These were some of the other stars, who on nights far back were heroes at the Middlesex.

Again they heard the roars of laughter rise up to them, and the volley clappings and whistling of the "gods" aloft. They had come to see the last of the old place that had piloted them to fame.

And the "gods"! They imperilled their lives, as they ever did, hanging over the iron railing which prevented them from falling into the pit, and, with their bowler hats well back from their front locks, they sang choruses and whistled to the click-clack of light heels, and shouted friendly encouragement to the funny man, and sucked oranges. The sedate circle refreshed itself on Banbury cakes, purveyed by a pale-faced youth, and chortled joyfully to "the floor-flogger" to "go it."

On this farewell occasion Mr. Graydon reintroduced the old-time chairman's table, and the names of the artists who were not on the programme were announced from the chair. There were various chairmen during the evening, all shining lights of the profession, and all desirous of taking an official part in the change which the whirligig of time has brought about. The last men at the "Old Mo." to handle the gavil were Edward Angel, Ernest Lepard, Charles Coborn, John Wood (Marie Lloyd's brother), and Papa Brown.

The bill was, surely, the smartest and brightest ever seen, even in a house renowned for many years for its "lightning programme" and brilliant talent. The regular company included Corrina, the champion lady wrestler of the world; Wilson Hallett, the child mimic and comedian; Leslie, Lyn, and Willie, Fred Costin, Marie Lord, Mlle. Pollo, Billie Hurst and George Fredericks, the Sprees, Eva Daunton, Cresswell and Cross, and Evelyn Beresford and company, in a sensational Indian episode, entitled The Half-Caste.

But a host of artists made an appearance besides. There were Edith Evelyn and company, Rose and Calvert, Steve Buckingham, Katie Lawrence, Jack Marks, Sadie Stewart, Frank Boyce, Little Victoria, Maurice, Four Mexicans, Jenny Hylton, Claude Gardner, Mason and Moore, C. C. Gibbs, and the Lyons Trio.

One of the delightful moments of the evening was when Charles Coborn appeared and sang his old and famous number, "The man who broke the bank at Monte Carlo." How the "gods" sang, how we all sang the well-known refrain! And Charlie, in fine robust voice, as ever, made it hard to believe that fifteen years had passed since we heard him sing the ditty to success at the old Trocadero and London Pavilion not so very far away.

Mr. Graydon confessed to the writer that, for the third time in its 240 years of existence, the Middlesex will be entirely rebuilt and reconstructed. Only the old Mogul tavern is to be kept open during the rebuilding. Mr. Graydon will still remain a director of the Palace Theatre, Shaftesbury-avenue; of the Empire, Middlesbrough; and hon. secretary of the Proprietors of Entertainments Association, in which important spheres he will still have at heart the best interests of the profession which he has done so much to conserve and promote.

The Middlesex anniversary, which was celebrated so recently as Nov. 10 last, was to a certain extent a farewell function, and Mr. Graydon on that occasion was the recipient of a beautifully-designed silver-gilt loving cup from a few friends in the variety world, and an illuminated address from the members of the staff as a mark of their kindly feeling towards "the Guv'nor," both of which testimonials are prized amongst his most cherished possessions.

Frank Parker told a good story during the evening apropos the energy of Mr. Graydon, and in a measure confirming the saying that he was only happy at the Middlesex, and spent every waking moment there. It appears that some years ago Mr. Graydon had occasion to take his daughter to school, at Dieppe. He told everyone that he intended to take full advantage of the fact to steal a complete week's rest from London, and the variety business in particular. He accordingly made arrangements with his manager to attend to everything in his absence, and away he went. The second day of his stay in Dieppe no letters arrived for him. This fact agitated Mr. Graydon so much that he took the next boat back to England. In response to his manager's anxious inquiries as to the reason of his early return, he said: "Oh, I'm all right, and so is Dieppe; but there's no place like Drury-lane."

At about 10.45 Mr. Graydon went on the stage to make his farewell speech. A fine figure of a man, his appearance was the signal for an outburst of applause seldom heard even within the walls of the "Old Mo." He said:—

"I am very sorry to leave old friends, but, like all other earthly institutions, I have to submit to the inevitable laws of change; but I am proud to think that, in spite of all opposition, the Middlesex has held its own to the last. It is with the deepest regret that I am leaving this dear old place, but in these times of big combinations and large speculations a single-handed man is handicapped to a great extent, and for that reason I think it best for me to retire. During the long period I have been proprietor I have altered the hall several times. When I came here over thirty years ago it was a small place of entertainment—no stage and no scenery, merely a platform with mirrors at the back; and three large alterations brought it up to its present condition. I take this opportunity of thanking the artists who have appeared here to-night and on past occasions, and I thank the staff for their valuable assistance. The rebuilding of the new Middlesex will occupy eight months. I hope to be able to pay a visit to the new hall. Ladies and gentlemen, again and again I thank you for your long and continued support." (Here Mr. Graydon broke down, and in the storm of applause that followed waved his hand to the audience and walked from the stage.)

For our part we all wished him health, long life, and continued prosperity, and as the evening wore on the spirit of goodwill and enthusiasm was abundantly manifested. And then we sang "For he's a jolly good fellow" and "Auld Lang Syne," not once, but twice and three times. The famous old house, the boxes richly decorated with choice blooms, has rarely appeared more brilliant than it did last Tuesday night on the eve of its demolition.

The oldest Middlesex attendant has been on duty in the stalls for thirty-seven years, and there are very few nights when he has missed the roll-call. This is Mr. E. Gilbert, and his memories and anecdotes of "the old days" and the old stars—and stars of to-day as well—would make fine reading had one the space to spare to record them.

The distinction of having given the very last turn on the stage of the old "Mo" belongs to the Lyons Trio.

It is interesting to recall that Mr. Graydon's early experience of music halls was gained about the time of the Great Exhibition, 1862, at Weston's. Then a youngster in his teens, he acted as treasurer at that hall, and it was his duty to pay salaries, often of the most modest dimensions, to artists who have since become prosperous beyond their wildest dreams. Mackney, the famous negro comedian, he remembers making what was then regarded as a meteoric progress through the salary list. Mackney used to have ten pounds a week, then twelve, and then eighteen—an enormous salary for an artist in those days. When William Holland, the people's caterer, engaged George Leybourne's exclusive services for a year at the rate of twenty pounds a week he made a landmark in music hall salaries. Mr. Graydon remembers Mackney as the first music hall artist to use a brougham for his round of turns. Miss Annie Adams, another popular favourite of the time, soon followed suit. "Vernon Rigby and Charles Bernard, two of the finest vocalists of their day, were members of an operatic company engaged at Weston's," Mr. Graydon informed the writer. "The place had been a schoolroom once, and then a public room. There was a tavern next door. The first music halls, as we know them to-day, were the Canterbury, which Mr. Charles Morton developed from a public house free-and-easy, and Weston's. Ned Weston must have made a lot of money during the Exhibition year. We used to have the place full three times over in a single evening, the audience coming and going, you know. Western built a pretty place called 'The Retreat' at Kentish Town, and gave a garden party there. One of his friends said, 'What a capital Cremorne this would make,' and Weston foolishly jumped at the idea. He spent no end of money on the place, and it was his ruin. All his neighbours objected most strongly to the transformation, and he was engaged in constant litigation. Meantime, the music hall suffered. Other halls sprang up—the Oxford, the Cambridge, and so forth—and snapped up the available variety turns, so Weston's was left to rely upon its musical selection company when it needed something more."

When Mr. Graydon left Weston's he embarked for a time in the licensed victualling trade; and then, in 1871, he came to the Middlesex, where he has ever since remained, becoming proprietor in 1878. The Middlesex has an interesting history. It is an outgrowth of the Great Mogul, one of the oldest taverns in London. The Mogul had its singing room; then it became the Mogul saloon, and finally, when the music hall became a recognised institution, the Middlesex Music Hall arose and flourished.

Mr. Graydon has had distinguished visitors at the Middlesex from time to time. For instance, Colonel Burnaby occupied a box at the Middlesex three nights before he went away to meet his death. Colonel Burnaby's mentor for the occasion was Mr. John Hollingshead, who during his management of the Gaiety often came to the Middlesex with the view of picking up an oddment of undiscovered talent. In this way he acquired the services of Miss Connie Gilchrist. Arthur Roberts went to the Middlesex from the Penny Reading business at a salary of £2 10s a week. He used to stand behind a little table in those days and give imitations of Society types. That was, of course, before he sang "If I were only long enough." Dan Leno made his first success at the Middlesex. Mr. J. W. Rowley was another great favourite. It was there he acquired the name of "Over" Rowley, so called because having once turned a somersault at the end of his song "Going to the Derby" he was henceforth doomed to perpetual repetition of the feat by loud demands of "over, Rowley!" Miss Marie Loftus likes it to be known that when Mr. Graydon topped his bill and starred her first of all she was far from being a star. Her salary was about £3 10s.—perhaps £4. Mr. Graydon evidently knew how to "top" his bill; and his judgment has been supported by thousands of Marie's admirers since

THE SHOWMAN WORLD

Triumph of the Guild Work.

SIX weeks ago three London suburban fairs were threatened with extinction. The Rural District Council of Isleworth and Heston petitioned the Home Secretary under the provisions of the Markets and Fairs Abolition Act, to do away with the local fairs of Hounslow, Heston Green, and Isleworth. The Rev. T. Horne took the matter up, got into direct touch with the showmen using these fairs, and in their name, because they were Guild members, sent three petitions to the Home Office, one for each threatened fair. We published the text in full of these petitions in our columns. Mr. Horne then went down to Hounslow and Isleworth, and warned the people whose fairs were attacked of the danger before them. Prominent public men in all the three places supported the action of the organised showmen. The result of the work done is seen in the official letter from the Home Office sent to the Guild offices, which reads as follows:—

Home Office, Whitehall.
Jan. 8, 1910.

SIR,—With reference to your letter of the 6th ultimo, in which you ask that the fairs held at Heston, Hounslow, and Isleworth may not be abolished, I am directed by the Secretary of State to say that he has made inquiry, and has informed the Urban District Council that he would not feel justified in issuing an Order for their abolition.—I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

G. A. AITKEN.

The Rev. T. Horne, The Showmen's Guild.

Good News for the New Year.

IT has been decided to issue a penny weekly popular paper dealing exclusively with the Showman World and its allied industries. It will be the official organ of the great trade societies in Showland. All the news week by week of the trade and business of the fairgrounds of the United Kingdom will be given fully. It will be the official gazette of The Showmen's Guild, and will give detailed account week by week of the Parliamentary defence work, the defence of fairs, and the opposition to corporations endeavouring under by-laws to injure the show business. It will be an accurate register week by week of fairs, fairgrounds, and lessees, market inspectors and agents, to whom tenants must apply. It will chronicle week by week the life and enterprise of showland. It will be sold at one penny, and will be obtainable every Saturday morning on every fairground in England, Ireland, Scotland, and Wales. The Rev. T. Horne will be the editor; Mr. F. H. Pedgrift, business manager and publisher; and the office of issue will be the Era offices. The first number will appear at the end of February (next month).

The Showman World Page of "The Era."

IT is not intended to give up the Showman World Page of The Era. All important news will appear the same week in both papers. The decision to found a popular penny showman's weekly paper has been demonstrated by the rapid growth of the demand for increasing space to fully record the news of showland, hence the necessity and the growing importance of a supplementary (yet perfectly self-contained) penny paper to deal faithfully with the important and growing industry of the fairs, feasts, and wakes of the kingdom.

The Coming of Age of the Guild.

A SPECIAL significance attaches to the London celebration of the above event. Showmen from all parts of the Empire will gather at the World's Fair on Wednesday next, at 11 a.m., to rejoice in the triumph of their trade society. See our showmen advertisements for further details.

Important Hoopla Decision.

THE Lord Chief Justice and Justices Bucknill and Bray heard a novel appeal in a King's Bench Divisional Court on Thursday. A showman placed his "hoopla" near the Promenade at Whitley, Northumberland, and invited the public to throw rings (at so many a penny) for prizes. The urban district council wanted to see plans, and they summoned the owner for not giving notice of the erection of the structure; but the magistrates dismissed the information. The district council, as appellants, urged that the magistrates should have convicted, seeing that the "hoopla" was a "temporary building" within the meaning of the statute. The Lord Chief Justice: "My brother Bucknill knows all about these things; I don't."

MR. JUSTICE BUCKNILL, who had been studying a plan of the "hoopla," replied with a smile, "Yes, I think this is correct. (Laughter.) The Lord Chief Justice said that if they decided that the "hoopla" was a building it might be suggested that a tent was a building too! "Suppose my brother Bucknill wants to put one of these things up at his garden party in the summer, would he have to send plans to the local authority?" (Laughter.) Counsel did not solve this question. Mr. Justice Bucknill said there was no question of egress and ingress, as everybody stayed outside. The appeal was dismissed.

AT Mold Fancy Fair held in Roberts's field, New-street, recently, were P. Collins's No. 1 motors, haunted castle, cakewalk machine, racing bicycles, and No. 2 Wonderland show; also Capt. Roper's wild beast show; and minor amusements by Cordwell and Brummy Dick.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE SHOWMEN'S GUILD.

For the twenty-first consecutive year the Vandwellers' Society (now known as the Showmen's Guild) held its business, committees, and annual public meeting at the Manchester Centre of Showland. This year marks the coming of age of the society. It was quite the right thing that the celebration of its majority should take place at its original home and birthplace, Salford, Manchester. The Caxton Hall, where the gatherings took place, is on the outer edge of the Flat Iron Market and Fair Ground, one of the most historic spots, as regards show life, in the North of England, well within the shadow of sacred Trinity Church, a church that, to its lasting honour it may truly be said, it has mothered (in the spiritual sense) Manchester show life.

Invited Speakers.

The invited speakers at the majority commemoration were the Rev. H. Norburn, Rector of Birch, Longsight, the Senior Hon. Local Chaplain of the Guild; the Rev. Peter Green, Rector of Sacred Trinity Church and Hon. Local Chaplain for Salford; and Charles Howard, Esq., Hon. Solicitor for Manchester and District. The afternoon meeting was well attended by showpeople, and great enthusiasm marked the proceedings. The Rev. T. Horne occupied the chair. In his opening speech the chairman briefly related the story of the rise and progress of the Guild—how it came about that the whole of showland twenty-one years ago was without leadership and had no organisation to defend its honour and its livelihood from ignorant and sometimes vicious attacks of the avowed enemies of the people's fairs, and the amusement caterers, whose avocation was threatened with extinction. The veteran pioneers of trade organisation included many who had gone to their rest. Their bright example lived after them, and the men and women of to-day—the sons and daughters of the grand old men of the past, followed in their footsteps. The work they set out to do twenty-one years ago had been much blessed, and showpeople did well to rejoice and to thank God for the signal success of the trade protection work of the society.

How the Guild preserved the People's Fairs.

The success of the Guild petitions against the abolition of fairs of Greater London was of the utmost importance. The most recent example of its work was altogether most satisfactory and eminently encouraging. Three fairs—those held at Hounslow, Isleworth, and Heston Green, were threatened by the local authorities with extinction. The Guild took care that the people of Hounslow, Isleworth, and Heston Green were roused to a sense of what the District Council was aiming at. Public protest by the people concerned, and the petitions of the Guild won the day against the abolitionists, and the Home Secretary told the District Council that he did not feel justified in abolishing the people's fairs. The whole scope of their now many-sided work was to uplift the showman and to improve the open-air amusements of the people. He asked Mr. Charles Howard, Hon. Guild Solicitor, to move the first resolution.

Mr. Howard's Speech.

He claimed a long acquaintance with the showman trade society. He had been its hon. Solicitor in Manchester now for over twelve years. The more he knew about showmen the prouder he was of their friendship. Their Organising Chaplain and chairman at that meeting had referred to the grand old men and veteran workers in showland. He knew one of these veterans, Richard Newall, very intimately. Mr. Horne had referred to the loss the executive council sustained by the death of such sterling characters He had always found Richard Newall one of the most sincere and trustworthy of men. Referring to the different departments of the Guild's work, he especially commended the religious and educational work that so largely occupied the Organising Chaplain. No work could be more fruitful in permanent results of the highest value than the services on the fair grounds carried on by the Guild. The Parliamentary Defence Work was of undoubted importance to the showmen and traders at the fairs. Year by year about one hundred bills seeking additional powers were brought into Parliament. There was always the danger that somewhere in the bill there might be a prohibitive or restrictive clause dealing with show business. It was the work of the Guild to have all Private Bill legislation closely scrutinised and to vigorously oppose all restrictive proposals. Besides the Parliamentary work there was the active defence of existing fairs when corporations wanted to do away with them. They had just heard from Mr. Horne how successfully the Guild did the work. They did right to rejoice at the growing strength and power of the Guild. He had the greatest possible pleasure in proposing the resolution that "This meeting heartily approves of the work of the Showmen's Guild."

The Rev. H. Norburn's Address.

One of the good things at the Manchester meetings of the Guild is the bright, cheering address of the senior hon. local chaplain, the Rector of St. Agnes Church, Birch, Longsight. For sixteen years the good Rector of Birch has been closely identified with the work of the Guild, and is senior hon. local chaplain. He commenced his address by expressing his whole-hearted sympathy with the showpeople. His admiration for them had grown with the flight of time. He reminded them that not only had the Church been closely identified with the Guild work through the organising chaplain (Mr. Horne), but that, in his opinion, the Church owed a deep debt of gratitude to Mr. Horne for showing to the world at large the possibilities of trade unionism based upon religious principles, and in definite touch with the Church of God. Here they had in the Guild, he said, a successful example of the highest form of trade combination. The organised showmen, he contended, were an example to all other trade unions. The showmen in their Guild not only protected their trade, but at the same time they provided the ministrations of religion and saw to the education of their children in both religion and citizenship. He instanced the great love of home that was the special feature of van life, and told of his own intercourse with quick-witted youngsters of the caravans on a recent occasion. It was their travel from place to place that made them so bright and so shrewd.

Speaking from his own experience as one of the local chaplains, he averred that in trying to do some little good amongst showpeople when temporarily domiciled in his parish, reflex good had come to him. His own sympathy had been kindled, his charity broadened, and his general view of life sweetened. In stretching out a helping hand to showpeople, he found his hand and heart more ready to go out to other classes in community who, from the singularity of their mode of life sometimes were misunderstood. He found himself taking an interest not only in show van-dwellers when in his parish, but also in gipsy and other out of the ordinary people who located their movable dwellings for a time in his neighbourhood.

He could not sit down upon so memorable an occasion without the expression of the admiration he felt for the work of the organising chaplain whose whole life had been given to his people—the showfolk. The chaplain, by his enthusiasm, by his untiring endeavour, had given them inspiration and confidence. He felt that that work deserved a definite recognition from the Church. This one thing was certain, that Mr. Horne had won the heart of Showland. The Guild, in all its good work, was blessed in the service of such a man. In seconding the resolution of endorsement of the Guild work, it was largely the acknowledgment of Mr. Horne's work, given so fully and so freely for the general good of the showpeople. It gave him great pleasure, therefore, to second Mr. Howard's resolution.

The Rev. Peter Green's Speech.

The Rector of Sacred Trinity, Salford, in whose parish Caxton Hall is situated, was cheered on rising to support the resolution. He referred in most kindly terms to his intercourse with the showpeople on the Flat Iron Market Fairground close by his church. He recounted a humorous incident that marked his settlement six years ago in Salford. He landed, he said, a perfect stranger at the Exchange Station, and asked a cabman to drive him to Sacred Trinity Church. The cabman, with a bewildered look, said, "I don't know where it is, sir." "Oh, it's the church in the centre of the main street of Salford. You can't miss it." "I know where you mean," said the cabman. "You mean the church near the Flat Iron Fairground."

That was a good lesson for him (the new Rector). It taught him that there was something better known and nearer to the heart of the people than the church of the parish. That was the fairground. It was, you see, he pointed out, "the church near the fairground," not the fairground near the church. The Flat Iron Market was the central geographical point, not Sacred Trinity.

He had found nothing on the fairground that in any way called for criticism or rebuke. He confessed that he could not say as much as that for other classes of entertainment. The shows that frequented the Flat Iron had his most hearty approval. He and the assistant clergy had been on the showman's free list for years past. All that they (the clergy) had seen was of the best character. When a movement was set on foot a little time back to do away with the Flat Iron Fair, he was approached by those who desired its abolition. He asked the abolitionists not to attempt to shelter behind him (the Rector) to do their dirty work, for he had no complaints to make against the showpeople. They were no annoyance to him or disturbance of his services. Mr. Horne had asked him to become the hon. local chaplain for Salford. Most gladly he would do so. He was proud of his showmen parishioners, and would do his best in every way to further the excellent work of the Guild.

Mr. Norburn had referred to the high ideals of trade unionism that marked the Guild. He asked the showpeople to remember their honourable distinction and past records as the amusement caterers of the people. It was historically true that from the mummers or wandering actors and minstrels of the ancient world all our modern theatres and music halls had grown. Showmen had a grand history behind them, let them do credit to this well-won reputation and most ancient lineage. Again he asked them to remember how historically true was their link with the Church. It was the mystery plays, like the Chester plays and others, that trained (under the church itself) the early dramatists and actors of our country. The Showmen's Guild was, in that respect, maintaining the noblest traditions of an honourable past. In that endeavour he bade them God speed, and most heartily supported the resolution.

The chairman put the resolution to the meeting, and it was carried with acclamation

A hearty vote of thanks was then accorded to the invited speakers, and the afternoon session of the Guild terminated.

The Festive Celebration.

The main object of the Manchester meetings was not to advocate its claims to recognition or to its members' right to full citizenship, but it was rather the pleasant function of rejoicing over the signal success that had marked its twenty-one years of activity. The principal event of the day was therefore the social gathering at 6 o'clock after the general meeting.

The Caxton Hall is admirably fitted for meetings and social gatherings. Mr. Marsh, mine host of the Black Lion, provided an excellent meal, and the tables were beautifully decked by a wealth of choice flowers. The whole scheme of provision for the guests was perfect, and there is a general demand that the social be an annual fixture. Nearly one hundred guests were present, amongst them being P. Collins (president), George Green (acting vice-president), T. Hurst (hon. secretary), the Rev. T. Horne (chaplain), R. Dixon, John Collins, and Marshall Hill (vice-presidents), W. Mitchell (treasurer and trustee), Mr. B. Mitchell (trustee), F. Mellor (hon. treasurer), Messrs. E. Geoghegan, H. R. Hibbert, Wm. Holmes, J. Ingham, J. Jewell, S. Mercer, Wm. Mitchell, H. Shuttleworth, and G. Marshall (members of committee), Mr. and Mrs. J. Ingham, Mr. and Mrs. R. Ingham, Mr. and Mrs. T. Forshaw, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. J. White, Mr., Mrs., and Miss Fred White, Mr. and Mrs. Butterworth, Mr., Mrs., and Miss Sedgwick, the Jewell family, the Hibbert family, Mr., Mrs., and Miss Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Holmes, jun., Mr. and Mrs. James Norman, Mr. and Mrs. West, Mr. and Mrs. Marsden, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. and Miss Ormerod, Mrs. and Miss Bettany, Mr. H. Shuttleworth, Mr. S. Mellor, Mr. Frank Smith, Mr. F. Mellor, Mr. John Green, Mrs. Clough, Mrs. Beaumont, Mr. George White, Mr. Hill, Mr. W. D. Day, Mr. John Crighton, Mr. J. Proctor, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Alcock, Mrs. Clegg, Miss Lorenzo, Mr. Jones, Mr. Whatton, Mr. Hackett, Mr. Kemp, Mr. T. Smith, Mrs. Gilbert Dixon, and others.

A Brief Business Interlude.

Whilst the hall was being transformed into an impromptu ballroom, a considerable amount of formal business was done. Mr. George Green, vice-president, occupied the chair, the president having left on urgent business before the tea was well over. The proposal of B. Mitchell, seconded by Wm. Holmes, that the annual report on page 29 of the "Year Book" be taken as read and passed, was carried unanimously.

THE SHOWMEN'S GUILD OF GREAT BRITAIN.

FOUNDED 1890. President—PATRICK COLLINS.

TWENTY-FIRST ANNUAL REPORT.

The fact that the Vandwellers' Society, now known as the Showmen's Guild, sprang into being twenty-one years ago, and that the trade society of showland this year celebrates its majority, compels a reference to the great work done by the organised showmen. In the twenty-first annual report the committee feel that the record of the year's work is of such vital importance that its story must not be overshadowed by the details of the work of the past twenty-one years.

The committee have dealt with (in a special report) the Guild's successful and beneficent career, and to that statement they refer the members for the fuller history of the Guild's endeavour. There must of necessity be some reference to it, if it be only to congratulate the whole body of members on the signal success of their enterprise. The committee are proud of the fact that to-day the Showman has fully vindicated his character, despite the calumny and the prejudice of ignorant and intolerant enemies. Public opinion has fully justified the travelling showman. The showmen have claimed, and have won, citizenship and fellowship in the social and industrial progress of the nation. They are not a class separate and apart from the rest of the commonwealth. Their life may seem extraordinary when seen at work, but in all other respects they are just ordinary people, part and parcel of human society, with their place defined in the vast and complex economy of the Empire. Twenty-one years of incessant work has proved their right to recognition as skilled craftsmen in an ancient and honourable industry—the amusement caterers of the people—the entertainers, traders, and workers at our holidays, fairs, feasts, and wakes.

Arising out of this claim for recognition and citizenship, they have had to fight those who would stigmatise and penalise them by special and invidious legislation, such as the various Movable Dwellings Bills that from 1887 to the present year (1909) have sought the sanction of Parliament. Closely allied with this must be placed the pernicious crusade against the popular open-air amusements of the people by public bodies. Various Corporations have tried in private Bill legislation to obtain restrictive and prohibitive powers over the people's fairs in the past twenty-one years.

The organised showmen, in defending their avocation in life, have been the champions of popular rights in holidays and fairs that mistaken zealots would have swept away but for the untiring zeal and the effective work of the Guild. The executive committee refers pointedly to this part of their labour, because the year 1909 was the triumph year of success in this branch of the protective work of the Guild.

The committee hailed with gladness the relegation of the Movable Dwellings Bill of 1909 to a Select Committee of Parliament. For more than twenty years the maligned showmen have had to battle against puritanical fanaticism and the recurent attacks of ignorant zealots who, in spite of all evidence to the contrary, would treat the showman and his family as pariahs, as gipsies, or as tramps of the road.

Showmen have at last had the opportunity of vindicating their character in the most thorough and effective manner before a tribunal that will do justice to the weighty evidence submitted to it.

The Press of the country has given the widest possible publicity to the showmen's case against class legislation. The great departments of State dealing with local goverment have fully corroborated the claim of the showmen for equal law and equal justice with other citizens. It is a veritable triumph of truth against prejudice and calumny. The Guild committee looks forward with every confidence to the report of the Select Committee of the House of Lords on the Movable Dwellings Bill, 1909. It is confidently anticipated that that report will fully vindicate the character and for all time determine the status of the showmen and his true place in the national life.

Immediately linked with this great triumph was the signal victory won in the Private Bills Committee of the House of Commons. The important Corporation of Oldham determined—despite all the efforts of the Guild committee to effect a compromise—to persevere in their effort to obtain special retrictive powers—vastly in excess of the ordinary law—over the show business.

The Guild, acting in the interests of the whole body of showmen, opposed the penal clase in the Corporation Bill. The Parliamentary Committee not only threw out the objectionable clause, but also, in order to mark their condemnation of such proposals, ordered the Corporation to pay the whole of the costs of the Guild petition and appearance by counsel and by witnesses against the Bill. This is the second time that the Parliamentary Committee has taken the extremely rare course of condemning a Corporation in costs when seeking additional powers in private Bill legislation. It is to be hoped that public bodies will learn the obvious lesson, and that no more attempts will be made by penal clauses in private Bills to restrict the show business or to interfere with the people's harmless amusements. 1909 was, indeed, on these two counts alone, a year of triumph.

Further, the committee were able, through their executive officials, to open more fruitful negotiations with the Home Office on the question of the Cinematograph Bill, and were instrumental in obtaining extremely necessary and most valuable concessions and amendments in the Bill before it passed into law. The Cinematograph Act, 1909, will be an enduring monument of the work of the Guild in safeguarding the Show business from ill-considered legislation. The section of the Act dealing with portable structures is largely based upon the expert advice, most warmly welcomed by the Home Office, of the Guild executive officials dealing with the question.

With regard to the defence of the People's Fairs whenever threatened, the past year has been one of most gratifying success. Mitcham Fair, for the third year, was held, in spite of the prohibitory notice that "no sites would be let on the Fair green." The London showmen, strong in their faith that the fair will be saved for the people, have determined to persevere in their opposition to the abolition movement. So long as the showmen have the support of their patrons—the people of Mitcham—so long will they continue the struggle. The London committee in this matter are confident of ultimate success.

A significant indication of the determination of the Mitcham showmen tenants to maintain the fair was the starting of a special Mitcham Fair Defence Fund. The Guild was also instrumental in effecting a wise and just settlement of the trouble between the West of England show people and the Corporation of Penzance. The petition of the combined Metropolitan Boroughs for stricter bye-laws with regard to open-air amusements in Greater London was also successfully opposed; and attacks upon showlife in various parts of the country have been effectively dealt with. This part of the Guild's defence work for showland is being more and more appreciated and understood by the general public.

Public meetings, with civic recognition of the Guild, have taken place at King's Lynn, Gloucester, and Rotherham. The annual meetings at London and Manchester continue to receive the warm support and ever-increasing sympathy of the show-loving public.

Meetings of the Guild have been also held at Wrexham, Blackburn, Boston, Leicester, Redruth, Treorchy, Mexborough, Burslem, Greenock, Dewsbury, Mitcham, Cleethorpes, Longsight, Stalybridge, Ayr, and Gloucester. The response has been most gratifying, both as regards attendance at the meetings, members enrolled, and subscriptions received. The financial support, both in ordinary and extraordinary subscriptions, will place 1909 amongst the record years of the Guild's existence. A reference to the subscription list in the "Guild Year Book" and to the detailed statement in the annual balance sheet, will demonstrate the solidarity of the whole showman world in supporting trade defence and advancement. The Guild Chaplain records in his annual report the religious and educational work on the fair-grounds. To that report the executive council points with pride and gratitude, as justifying the Guild's claim to speak for the whole life of showland, both the economic and ethical factors that constitute all human progress.

The Showmen's Guild, in its onward march, has gone from "defence" to "advance." Those two words were emblazoned upon its shield at the beginning of its career, and they remain, after twenty-one years' high endeavour, the proud watchwords of its corporate life—"Advance" as well as "Defence." "Each for all; all for each."

Signed, on behalf of the executive council of the Guild,—

PATRICK COLLINS, President.
GEORGE GREEN, Vice-President.
T. HORNE, Chaplain and Organiser.
T. HURST, Hon. Secretary.

Dec. 31, 1909.

The hon. secretary, Mr. T. Hurst, read the balance-sheet, from which the following financial statement is taken:—

Receipts from all sources, £552 7s. 2d. Expenditure, Parliamentary work, £151 0s. 1d.; expenses of meetings and public propaganda work, £155 4s.; defence of fairs, £83 18s. 11d.; printing, advertising, and stationery, £61 6s. 7d.; 1908 balance due to secretary, £40 5s. 8d.; salaries and wages, £32 2s.; postage and petty cash, sundries, and bank charges, £5 6s.; total £552 7s. 2d.

There are outstanding liabilities of nearly £60. It is confidently anticipated that the annual meeting will not only find that small deficit, but will also provide a good working balance for the Guild funds. Printed copies of the balance-sheet will be sent to members only on application to the Guild secretary after the London meetings.

Proposed by B. Mitchell, seconded by Frank Mellor, that the balance-sheet, as read, be adopted. Carried unanimously.

The secretary read the list of nominations for the executive council and divisional committeemen. The election then took place, with the following results:—

For Wales and the West of England: Messrs. A. Anderton, J. Brewer, J. B. Butlin, James Dooner, R. Dooner, J. Fossett, Wm. Hancock, F. Haywood, C. Heal, Marshall Hill, J. Jones, J. Johnson, J. North, A. Rowland, T. Rowland, H. Scard, H. Studt, Jacob Studt, and John Studt.

For Scotland: Messrs. A. Burton, J. Caddick, jun., Wm. Clark, jun., J. Day, George Green, F. Green, A. Henderson, J. Howard, C. Irvin, W. Irvin, J. McIndoe, T. Paulo, S. J. Rostron, E. Sheeran, H. Strand, Wm. Strand, J. Styles, P. Swallow, James Wilmot, John Wilmot, Walter Wilmot, and J. Wingate.

For Ireland: Messrs. W. H. Toft and D. Turnbull.

Mr. Superintendent Pike announced that the net proceeds of the Bolton Supper and Ball amounted to £9. Mr. Pike, on the motion of the Rev. T. Horne and Mr. T. Hurst, was warmly thanked, Mr. Horne read a resolution of thanks from the last council meeting of Bolton, thanking the showpeople of Bolton Fair for their benefit performance, whereby over £21 was raised for the Bolton charities. The London meeting was duly announced, and the business gave way to dance, song, and music. It was delightful to see the people's entertainers at home and amusing one another. We trust that the social side will not be neglected in the future. During the evening the following telegram was received from the Parliamentary solicitor:—"Sorry only got notice of meeting to-day. Been very ill. Will attend London meetings. Wish you all success.—Watson Wright." Regret was expressed at the cause of Mr. Watson Wright's absence.

New Skatery at Oswestry.

A FINE rink will be opened in Oswestry during the next few days. The promoters of this rink are the directors of the Pudsey-street Rink, Liverpool. Richardson skates will be used exclusively in this rink.

Premier Rink, Luton.

LAST Friday Professor Shaw, the floor-manager, raced F. W. Rickard, holder of the half-mile running championship of Luton. The runner received 40 yards start, but Professor Shaw won by 50 yards. Time, 1min. 37sec.

The Royston Paris.

SUNDAY'S spectacle at the Paris Hippodrome was one impossible ever to forget, comprising as it did the first appearance of the famous Rays, the extraordinary American skaters. Their performance was a succession of the most stirring, perilous, and artistic figures. A huge and enthusiastic crowd applauded the performers to the echo. The whole of Paris will be seen at the Hippodrome. The famous Rays only remain in Paris, in afternoon and evening exhibitions, until Jan. 15.

THE Five M.P.'s provide the attraction at the Alexandra Palace, Morley, and their selections on various musical instruments are much enjoyed. Alfonzo is a marvellous feet equilibrist. Sericomedy and dancing are well represented by Miss Nell Dennis and Miss Daisy Almer, who receive warm appreciation. Last Saturday over 400 children were entertained to a substantial meal, and thoroughly enjoyed the treat.

"CINEMATOGRAPH COPYRIGHT." (The law affecting the same.) By William Jago, F.I.C., F.C.S. (Barrister-at-Law). Price 6d. Address, THE PUBLISHER, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-st., Strand, W.C.

RINKING GOSSIP AND NOTICES.

A Night of Nights.
LAST night (Friday) was a night of nights at Earl's Court. The great rink was thronged with merrymakers in every imaginable kind of fancy dress. Possibly one of the best-thought-out costumes was worn by a prepossessing damsel, and represented "the North Pole." If there are such fairy creatures at the North Pole then it is a more desirable place than it has up to now been given credit for. The carnival was at its height when THE Era was going to press, and we regret that time did not permit us to stay long enough to ascertain the names of the fourteen prize-winners. The many beautiful and valuable prizes had been on exhibition at the rink for a week or more, and included ladies' and gentlemen's fitted dressing bags, a huge barometer, a case of fish knives and forks, a Doulton dinner service, a kit bag, a marble clock, a solid silver inkstand, a solid silver tea service, and several silver trinkets every lady likes to see in a home.

Manager Izod's Fine Organisation.
THE greatest credit must be given to Mr. Izod, the manager of Earl's Court, for the great care and thought he bestowed on this carnival. To our personal knowledge for weeks past he has pegged away night and day in organising committees, approaching influential people—in fact, he has unceasingly toiled to make the function a triumph. That he succeeded a glance at the rink last night quickly proved, for his quiet organisation made every detail work with a smoothness that was in itself admirable. The official programme and time table was as follows:—8 p.m., All Skate; 8.30 p.m., Rainbow Dance (couples only); 9.15 p.m., Exhibition of fancy skating (W. Stanton); 10 p.m., Grand March, followed by judging of classes; 11.30 p.m., Distribution of Prizes; 12 p.m., Moonlight; couples only (chimes and waltz); 12.15 a.m., Confetti Battle; 12.30 a.m., God Save the King. Mr. Stanton's exhibition was a delight to all who saw it, and got a hearty reception.

The Gavioliphone.
ANOTHER novelty which Mr. P. W. Willard introduced at the carnival at Earl's Court was a perpetual musical programme. The fine band at this rink is now supplemented by a Gavioliphone, in itself a mechanical band, 12ft. broad, 4ft. deep, and 15ft. high. By means of the man-made band and the one made up on human units a constant musical programme was sustained, and we understand that in future this will be one of the features of the Earl's Court Rink. Mr. Willard informed our representative that his company had bought up every Gavioliphone in existence—there are only about fifteen of them. They are in several sizes, and the purchase price ranges from £200 to £1,800 apiece.

Ladies' Rinking Hockey Match.
A LADIES' hockey match will take place at the Earl's Court Rink on Thursday, Jan. 20, at 9 p.m., between the Balham Ladies' Amateur Hockey Club and the Brighton Olympia Ladies' Hockey Club. It may be remembered that a fortnight ago the last-mentioned team met another "representing the Ladies of London" at Porchester Hall, Bayswater, and won an interesting game by two goals to one.

Olympia Barnyard Carnival.
LAST night (Friday) the management of the Olympia Skating Rink held a very successful barnyard carnival. Olympia was turned into a veritable farmyard, with haystacks, pig-pens, &c., but plenty of room to skate. People came in fancy costume as farmer's girls, drovers, dairymaids, &c., or farmyard animals. It was all very amusing.

London Rink Hockey League.
AT the Crystal Palace last Saturday, Goy's gained a decisive victory over Thornsett, but much of the credit was detracted from their success, in that the losers were compelled to play a man short throughout, owing to the absence of their clever half-back, E. R. Young. The game was of a fairly even character during the first period, but Goy's managed to secure a lead of a goal through the medium of Pinkey. The brothers Spence came within an ace of making the scores equal on several occasions, but the splendid defence of Goy's averted a point. Goy's set up an incessant attack after the interval, as Cardin, despite determined efforts, was unable to cope with the speedy attack of Stephens and Pinkey. Schultze kept a very good goal, but was beaten on four occasions by Stephens (2), Pinkey, and Johnson, and H. Spence scored for Thornsett, who were beaten by 5 to 1.

Crystal Palace Skating Carnival.
So tempting an occasion was that of the first fancy dress skating carnival at the Crystal Palace last Wednesday evening that a "record" attendance was reported, both of skaters and visitors. Many of the skaters displayed remarkable grace and certainty in the performance of difficult figures, and their adroitness, added to the great variety of handsome or comical dresses, made the spectacle very fascinating. There were prizes for evening dress and for effective and beautiful costumes as well as for those of original and humorous character. A good deal of invention was shown, and some dresses had a political motive, one lady typifying the "General Election," while a male performer careered around under the motto, "We Want Eight," with a Dreadnought on his head. The entertainment included a display of scientific and trick skating by Syd Martin. The prize-winners in the various competitions were as follow:—Effective and handsome costumes: Miss Wicker and Miss Linden, and Messrs. Baber and Bowyer. Original costumes: Miss O'Connor and Miss Biggs, and Messrs. Malthorpe and F. A. Belton. Advertisement class: Miss Heywood and Mr. Aslett. Burlesque costume: Mr. Hardrup. Ladies' most handsome evening dress: Miss White. Children's class: Misses Schofield and Abbott, and Masters G. Watts and Morley.

C.P. Skating Gymkhana.
THOSE who wish to be thoroughly amused and interested, should visit the Crystal Palace on Saturday, Jan. 29, when a skating gymkhana is to be held there on the great rink. The events include one mile amateur handicap under N.S.A. rules, wheelbarrow race, hurdle race, obstacle race, sack race, and musical chairs. The gymkhanas at the Palace are always a popular feature, and this being the first of the season, a good attendance is expected.

The A.P. Skatery.
AT the Alexandra Palace the skating rink, although one of the finest in the North of London at the present time, is being considerably enlarged, and when completed will take its place amongst the very best in the whole of London. The old orchestra has been removed and new maple wood flooring laid. The other end of the rink is being rounded off and extended to correspond, thus doing away with the square ends and throwing another 3,000 to 4,000ft. into the area of the rink.

Southern Counties Championship.
THE Amateur Rink Hockey Association have completed arrangements for the Southern Counties Championship trophy, and entries close the latter end of the month, when the draw for the first two rounds will be made.

Aero Skates.
THE success of the Aero roller skates for which A. G. Spalding and Bros. are responsible has been phenomenal. They are made of steel, no castings are used, and there is an adjustable cushion to carry heavy weights. Another point in their favour is that they are adjustable as to weight, and the erstwhile popular tank rivetings are conspicuous by their absence, foot-plates being of one piece bent over to include the platform for rubber cushion and swivel blocks. The greatest advantage, perhaps, is that they possess the durability and strength of non-extension skates combined with unique lightness. They are made in many different qualities, ranging in price from 12s. 6d. to 22s.

What a Rink Instructor Earns.
THE earnings at a popular rink are fairly good. The instructor is paid a fixed sum weekly, and in addition takes forty per cent. of the fees he obtains from pupils. At some rinks the arrangements may vary slightly from this, but the total earnings generally come out between £3 and £5 weekly. The chief instructor—known as the floor manager—may take 10 per cent. of the total fees obtained as well as the larger percentage from his own special pupils. These facts are on the authority of Answers.

"Independent of Frost."
WHEN did the roller-skating rink first appear in England? There is a boom in rinking to-day, and we know that the Londoner of the late seventies was enthusiastic over the same amusement, but how much earlier that that can the rink date? London, at any rate, seems to have possessed a rink over three-quarters of a century ago, for in 1823 mention can be found of the invention of a skate "for rendering the amusement independent of frost," which was being "practically exhibited at the old tennis court in Windmill-street."

Honour for Curtis.
A YOUNG professional roller skater has just been engaged for a year by a Russian prince who is anxious to be initiated in the art. The lucky fellow is Mr. Curtis, one of the professionals at the Holland Park Rink. He first came under the notice of the Russian nobleman when the latter was taking lessons, and, being desirous of learning fancy skating, resolved to take the young fellow back with him. Mr. Curtis left England on Monday.

Legal Music.
THE proprietors of the South London Skating Rink were summoned at South-Western Police Court on Wednesday for keeping open a building in Varden's-road, St. John's-hill, Battersea, for skating and music without a certificate from the London County Council. It was explained that the Council declined to grant a certificate because certain conditions in the structure of the building had not been complied with. Originally a band was employed, but this was replaced with a mechanical contrivance called an orchestron. Mr. de Grey imposed penalties amounting to £4, with £2 2s. costs.

Moss-Stoll People Investing in Rinks.
IN addition to the small rink now being operated by the Moss-Stoll people at the Panopticon, Cardiff, the same firm is now preparing a rink at Andrew's Hall, Cardiff. Richardson skates are being used exclusively in both rinks.

Racing for Challenge Cups.
THE first of a series of six handicaps for the challenge cups presented by Mr. Alec Flood was decided at the Brixton Rink last Wednesday night, before a very large attendance. S. F. Casey was on scratch. E. W. Bussey won his heat in fine style from the 5yds. mark, but in the final he failed to get near J. F. Harrison, who displayed excellent form, and skated his final heat faster than the backmarker. Officials:—Starter and referee, Mr. A. Flood; timekeeper, Mr. H. G. Brockman. The remaining fixtures at the Brixton rink, so far as at present arranged, are as follows:—Jan. 17, one mile sealed handicap; Jan. 19, inter-club race v. Ilford S.C.; Jan. 26, three-quarter mile handicap; Feb. 9, one mile handicap; Feb. 23, three-quarter mile handicap; March 9, one and a half miles handicap; March 23, one mile handicap; April, one mile club championship scratch race.

Wednesday Next at Brixton.
ON Wednesday next the Brixton and Ilford speed clubs will meet at the Brixton rink in a four-a-side contest over a mile. There will be four heats drawn on the pool system, so that each competitor meets every other, and at the close the total scores will be taken out, and the club with the best aggregate will win. The introduction of inter-club contests into roller racing will do much to arouse enthusiasm among the speed skaters. Next Wednesday's experiment will be watched with more than usual interest by all who follow racing on the rollers.

"One Better" at Ealing.
AT Ealing the Walpole is always "going one better," and on Tuesday evening the great Continental Carnival was one of the best. There were kings and queens of the revels, grand marches of the nations, Berlin cotillons, Viennese flirtations, Parisian serpentines, and innumerable other attractions, which made the time limit of Mr. Byng-Hall's programme very difficult to keep. But the bumper entertainment promised was well carried out to the satisfaction alike of "rollers" and spectators.

"Fun Night" at Ilford.
RECORDS go by the board every week at the Ilford Skating Rink, and the number of rinkers who have patronised this popular rendezvous during the past fortnight has exceeded any previous figure. Free tuition is still a popular feature. The Speed Club hold some exciting races each Wednesday evening. Another "fun night" has been arranged for Tuesday, Jan. 18, and Mr. Fred Leighton, the enterprising manager, is introducing other attractions for the near future.

Walham Green Opening.
THE opening of the great Walham Green Rink has been postponed until the music licence is granted. The licensing committee sit on the 27th inst., and as no opposition to the licence is anticipated, the probable opening will be on the 29th.

ALTHOUGH racing is receiving so much attention, still the subject of figure skating is by no means being overlooked, and the test figures which have been set for the International Style Championship are now being circulated, and the competition for the "Richardson" Cup, a magnificent trophy standing 22in. in height, will doubtless be very keen. Figure tests are arranged to take place during the month at Liverpool and Surbiton, and possibly much hidden talent will be discovered.

Richardson Cup coming to London.
THE Richardson cup will be ready in about a week or ten days' time. The trophy will be prominently displayed in some London store. This handsome gift on the part of the donor should have a stimulating effect upon amateur figure skaters in this country.

Highgate R.S.C. Handicap.
AT the Highgate Rink, Holloway-road, last Thursday night the members of the Highgate R.S.C. held a 20-lap handicap, the distance being just over a mile, and there were seven starters. Officials:—Judge and starter, Mr. F. Irvine; timekeeper, Mr. H. Knight (hon. sec.). John Withers, 1¼ laps, 1; H. O'Hagan, scr., 3; A. Gaskin, 1 lap, 3; F. Bailey, 1¼ laps, 4; E. McGee, 1¼ laps, 5. Won by 2 yards; same. Time, 4min. 39sec.

Tilting on Rollers at Eastbourne.
On Wednesday evening a very successful "Cinderella" Carnival was held at the Devonshire Park Rink. The rink was crowded with skaters, whose fancy costumes were well up to the usual high standard of excellence which obtains here. The first prize for ladies was won by Miss Ford, who was dressed as a mermaid (with the necessary modifications). Mr. O. Lerwill won a challenge race against Mr. C. Arnold, an exciting hockey match for ladies on skates was played between Brighton and Olympians, and tilting at the ring, a feather-blowing race, with an egg-and-spoon race, made up a very interesting programme. Mr. Norman Holdsworth is the new floor-manager here.

Wanted for the Continent.
Skating acts of all kinds are wanted at once by the American Roller Rink Co., of 27, Rue de Mogador, Paris. Write to-day, giving full particulars.

Charge of the Light Brigade.
MR. H. J. WHARTON, the energetic manager of the Stourbridge rink, ever on the look-out for novelties, introduced the above competition for gentlemen on Thursday evening, and was rewarded by eighteen entries. The competition, skated off in six heats, caused much fun and amusement to the numerous spectators, and was won by Mr. Rutland. Great preparations are being made for the Children's Carnival on Jan. 22.

Two-Year-Old Skater.
MRS. MEREDITH, mother of Leon Meredith, the cyclist, gave a novel treat to two hundred of her little friends at the Porchester Hall this week, in the shape of a children's skating party. The youngest guest, an enthusiastic and capable rinker, was one year and eleven months old.

Chimp goes Rinking.
A CHIMPANZEE which showed considerable ability as a roller skater, attracted considerable attention last Thursday at the Holland Park Rink.

Goy's II. v. Silverdale.
AT Cricklewood last Thursday evening, in the Second Division of the London Rink Hockey League, Goy's II. beat Silverdale by 1 goal to 0. Nothing was scored in the first half, but immediately after the interval Darnton ran down the left wing and scored for Goy's. The latter club continued to do most of the pressing, but nearing the end several attacks were made on their goal. Parnell cleared, and Darnton, securing the ball, got through again for Goy's, but the point was disallowed for "sticks."

Monohan in Portsmouth.
THE Great Monohan is due at the Empire Palace, Portsmouth, next week.

Bad News for Bertha Doud Mack.
MISS BERTHA DOUD MACK has received a cable from America advising her of the serious illness of her mother, Elizabeth A. Cutter. In consequence Miss Bertha has resolved that unless she hears better news by to-day (Saturday) she will cancel all her outstanding engagements and return to the States immediately. Miss Mack will be at Northampton next week.

Maida Vale Palace to Open Next Month.
THE Maida Vale Roller Skating Palace and Club in Delaware-road, to be opened early next month, is to be the largest permanent rink in the world, we are officially informed. The length of the whole building is to be 495ft. and the breadth 120ft., and the skating surface will be 375ft. by 106ft. No less than £25,000 has been expended on it. Among the conveniences offered to skaters are a restaurant and café capable of accommodating 750 persons, a balcony lounge to seat 250, promenades providing seating room for another 1,500, cloak-rooms, baths, and telephones. A band of fifty performers has been engaged, while during sessions another band will play in the lounge.

Skater v. Runner.
AN interesting event took place at the Premier Skating Rink, Park-street, Luton, on Saturday evening. Mr. F. W. Rickard, a well-known runner and a member of the Luton Athletic Club, challenged Mr. Shaw, the floor manager, to a race of half a mile (6 laps). The skater started scratch and conceded the runner fourteen yards start. The raced proved very exciting, the skater gradually gaining and passing the runner in the third lap. Rickard gave the onlookers the impression that he was "saving himself" and would probably put on a good sprint in the last lap and finish first, but this he failed to do, owing to taking the corners too close, which checked his pace very much. The prize, a gold medal, went to the skater, who won easily by about fifteen yards.

Roller Rink for Stratford.
THE roller-skating boom has reached Stratford, and last Tuesday afternoon a new and spacious rink, erected for Mr. Mullis in Wood-street, was opened by the Mayor (Alderman Deer). The building is 70ft. by 58ft., and nicely fitted up, with specially prepared floor of American maple.

Children's Carnival at Bedford.
A VERY successful children's fancy dress carnival was held at the Castle Rink, Bedford, on the 6th inst., when nearly 200 children took part. During the afternoon prizes were given for a wheelbarrow race and the best costumes, and each child "dipped" in a bran tub. Mr. Corfield's arrangements were perfect. After the usual evening session, dancing was indulged in until 2 a.m.

The Rexos.
ON Monday next the Rexos will have arrived at the Grand Theatre, Birmingham, the fourth town on their triumphal tour of the Moss-Stoll tour.

Good Business in Brum.
HABITUES of the Birmingham skating rinks seem to be oblivious of the political storm, and on Monday night Edgbaston Reservoir, Erdington, Lozells, the City rink, Smethwick, and Northfield rinks were exceptionally well patronised. At Lozells and Smethwick hockey matches are advertised to take place shortly, whilst Erdington is putting forward an attractive programme for January 22.

Hess and Chivers at Cowdenbeath.
EMPIRE ROLLER SKATING RINK, Cowdenbeath, opened recently by Mr. Gavin Rawlston, M.P., Unionist candidate for Fifeshire, has evidently fulfilled a want in the town. The attendance has been highly satisfactory. Last week the first gymkhana was held. The well-known skaters, Hess and Chivers have been appearing in their fancy and trick skating; also their famous comedy performance this week.

Gillingham Hippodrome Rink.
A FANCY dress carnival was held here on Thursday, Jan. 6, in celebration of Twelfth Night. The function was a gigantic success. A number of valuable prizes were given for the most original and humorous costumes.

Address, Care of "THE ERA."

CUSHION FRAME. ANTI-JAR.
RICHARDSON SKATES are the BEST in the WORLD.
They have held ALL WORLD'S RECORDS for twenty-four years, and every event of importance during the past few years, either fast or fancy has been won on RICHARDSON SKATES, including Harley Davidson's victory at Olympia Rink, London, February 26th, 1909.
STATEMENTS WHICH CANNOT BE DISPUTED:
The Richardson Ball Bearing Skate Co. positively equipped 90 per cent. of the Rinks operating in America. Sixty per cent. of the Rinks in this country operated by independent rink proprietors are equipped with Richardson Ball Bearing Skates.
Richardson Skates are the universal choice of, and used by, practically all the leading instructors, unless employed in rinks operated by other skate manufacturers. The Richardson is the most perfectly constructed Skate on the market. The front truck is under the ball of the foot, and the rear truck practically under the heel, which allows the skater to be over his work. This principle is acknowledged to be the best by the leading skaters of the world. Rear trucks extending back of heel only act as a leverage when skaters lose their balance.
The Richardson Ball Bearing Skate Factory have equipped more independent Rinks than all other manufacturers combined.
The repairs of Richardson Skates are 50 per cent. less than those of any other make, and the simplicity of construction makes it an easy matter to effect repairs.
Manufacturers: Richardson Ball Bearing Skate Co., Chicago, U.S.A.
Sole Distributing Agents for Europe: J. C. PLIMPTON & CO., Limited, Plimpton's Buildings, 116, Old Hall Street, Liverpool; 38 and 40, Curtain Road, London, E.C.

NOTICE.—OPTION CLAUSE.

COUNSEL WAS REQUESTED TO ADVISE

Whether, having regard to the terms of Clause 16 in the model contract attached to the Arbitrator's Award, the Management are entitled to insist upon the exercise of their option.

(a) In the event of the Artiste having filled by engagements made either wholly or partly after the date of the contract, all vacant dates within 18 months after the date of the notice of intention to exercise the option, and

(b) In the event of the Artiste having, in similar manner, partly filled his time so that the number of vacant dates within that period is insufficient to comply with the option.

COUNSEL'S OPINION.

In my opinion the clause requires the Artiste so to arrange his or her engagements, made after the date of the contract with the Management as to render it possible for the artiste to fulfil a re-engagement with the Management, should the latter exercise the option conferred upon them by the contract; and that it is no answer for the Artiste to say that he or she cannot fulfil such re-engagement because of engagements made by him or by her after the date of the contract.

(a) In my opinion the Management are entitled to insist upon the exercise of their option, although the Artiste may have filled up all vacant dates within 18 months after the date of the notice of intention to exercise the option, provided such engagements were made wholly after the date of the contract. So far as these engagements were made before the date of the contract, the Artiste is entitled to fulfil them, and the Management cannot insist upon such engagements being a breach of the artist's contract with them.

(b) In my opinion the Artiste is bound to reserve sufficient dates to enable him to fulfil a re-engagement by the Management. If, therefore, he accepts engagements after the date of the contract which prevent him fulfilling his re-engagement in its entirety, he commits a breach of his re-engagement.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

RE APPLICATIONS FOR ENGAGEMENTS.—All applications by either Artists or their Agents must be made to the Head Office. Lowest terms must be stated, and distinction made between salaries required for larger and smaller towns. Vacant dates should be stated. If a list of existing bookings be sent, it will render selection easier. Artists employing agents should accredit one only at one time, as the friction arising when several Agents are employed at the same time, all expecting the one booking to go through each of them, often renders it expedient to avoid that booking altogether rather than give undeserved offence to several Agents. New Acts seeking Engagements, or turns not rebooked (possibly because they have played a series of dates without introducing new business), will facilitate matters by having their acts seen by our District Managers. Their Districts and Postal Addresses are as follow:—

EDINBURGH, GLASGOW, NEWCASTLE, and DISTRICT.—MR. S. GETHING, Empire Theatre, Glasgow.

LEEDS, SHEFFIELD, HULL, BRADFORD, and DISTRICT.—MR. T. GERALD MORTON, Empire Palace, Leeds.

BIRMINGHAM, NOTTINGHAM, LEICESTER, and DISTRICT.—MR. HATTON WHARTON, Empire Theatre, Nottingham.

LIVERPOOL, MANCHESTER, and DISTRICT.—MR. HORACE COLE, The Empire, Liverpool.

SOUTH WALES DISTRICT.—MR. ALBERT MITCHELL, Empire Theatre, Cardiff.

LONDON DISTRICT.—MR. J. CHRISTIE, Empire Theatre, Shepherd's Bush, W.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SOUTH SHIELDS.—Artists working in the North of England who have odd weeks vacant are invited to communicate with the Local Manager at above Theatre, with a view to arranging a trial week.

N.B.—MR. OSWALD STOLL or MR. FRANK ALLEN can be seen by appointment on all matters arising out of the above, and for the discussion of entirely new Numbers.

All Artists or Agents who communicate with our District Representatives must have made definite applications, in accordance with above directions, to the Head Office, at the same time, or just previously. Artists and Agents are requested to note that the Standard Theatre, Shoreditch, and the Terriss Theatre, Rotherhithe, come within the areas absolutely barred by us. Artists and Agents are also requested to note that the Hippodrome, Aston, Birmingham, comes within the area absolutely barred by the Grand Theatre and Empire Palace, Birmingham.

INSTRUCTIONS TO ARTISTS.—Artists must have at least Fourteen Band Parts for English Orchestrations, and Seventeen Band Parts for Foreign Orchestrations. Matter of Bill, Blocks, and Specimens of Pictorials FOR THE ABOVE THEATRES must be sent to Co-operative Offices, at above address, THREE WEEKS before Opening, failing which Artists will run the risk of having their Engagements cancelled. It is important that separate bill-matter, blocks, pictorials, &c., for Dublin, Belfast, and South Shields, be sent direct to Mr. Frank Allen at the Co-operative Offices. IMPORTANT.—Artists must forward Copies of Songs to the STAGE DEPARTMENT, ABOVE ADDRESS, TWO WEEKS previous to opening, with Assignments for same, which will be returned. Artists are requested to note carefully that the clause in their contracts relating to rehearsals will in future be strictly enforced. Artists' Scenery, Properties, &c., MUST be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Licensing Authorities. ARTISTS WILL CLEARLY UNDERSTAND THAT THEIR BUSINESS MUST BE FREE FROM ALL VULGARITY.

No order or contract for goods or services must be accepted for any of the foregoing theatres except upon receipt of an Official Form, issued from the Co-operative Offices, London, and signed by either Mr. Oswald Stoll, Mr. Frank Allen, or the Chief Accountant, otherwise the Company concerned will not be responsible for same, and will refuse payment. In special cases, where goods are required at once, suppliers must look to the individual placing the order, who will be personally liable, unless an official confirmatory order, signed as above, is received within forty-eight hours. Invoices must be sent to the Theatre, but monthly statements should be sent to the Co-operative Offices. The individual Company on whose behalf orders are signed is solely responsible for payment. The Management will not hold themselves responsible in the event of loss of or damage to any MSS., Songs, &c., submitted for consideration.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

ABERDARE.—NEW THEATRE.—Proprietors, The Aberdare Public Hall, Theatre and Billposting Co., Ltd.; Manager, Mr. Z. Andrews; Acting-Manager, Mr. B. Richards.—The F. R. Benson Shakespearean company (South) is spending a week here. A start was made on Monday with The Merchant of Venice. Mr. Charles Warburton distinguished himself in the title-rôle; Mr. Basil Osborne played well as Prince of Morocco; Mr. Owen Evans was good as the Duke of Venice; Mr. Douglas Rubery was seen to advantage as Bassanio; Mr. Norman Harle was successful as Lorenzo; and Mr. Baliol Holloway was praiseworthy as Shylock; Miss Emil Leslie was a delightful Portia; Miss Marjorie Palgrave as Jessica submitted a capital portrayal. The Taming of the Shrew, Macbeth, Merry Wives of Windsor, and Hamlet are included in the week's bill.

NEW EMPIRE.—Proprietors, The New Empire Co., Ltd. (Aberdare); Managing-Director, Mr. Victor Rowe; Manager, Mr. Victor Knight.—Howe and Ardie, comedy acrobats and gymnasts, are smart as well as humorous; the Sisters Carlton, comediennes and dancers, win deserved applause; Nat Known is a good comedian; and Bert and Dora, in their novel patter and singing act, are well received. The pictures shown on the Bioscope are very interesting.

ABERDEEN.—HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Proprietors, Robert Arthur Theatres Co., Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. H. Adair Nelson.—The D'Oyly Carte Principal Répertoire Company are still delighting all-comers with their inimitable representations of Gilbert and Sullivan opera.

PALACE THEATRE.—Lessees, United County Theatres, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. Percy H. Gallagher.—The principal attraction this week is found in the marvellous display of quick-change versatility given by Chanti, the modern Proteus. Others contributing to a well-balanced programme are Harry Morris, character comedian; the Vays, with their comedy sketch, Life in the Slums; Alick Lauder and company, in The Christening; Charles Erard, pianist and mimic; Elsie Bernard, saucy comedienne; and Frank Hartley, a clever young juggler.

ACCRINGTON.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. B. Ormerod; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. E. Barnes.—Messrs. H. Armitage and Arthur Leigh's company are paying a welcome return visit here with the dramatic success, Leah Kleschna. In the title-rôle Miss Bessie Rignold repeats her performance in a most praiseworthy manner; Mr. William Clayton is to be commended for his powerful and earnest delineation of Kleschna; Mr. Charles Barrett once more gains applause for his clever work as Paul Sylvaine; and a capital portrayal of Raoul Berton is submitted by Mr. Algernon J. Hicks. Mr. Graham Pockett does full justice to the part of Schram; Mr. Edgar J. Coyne is most satisfactory as General Berton and Valantine Favre. Miss Ethel Russell gives a splendid rendering of Madame Berton; and Miss Madge Beresford is all that could be desired as Sophie.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, The Accrington Hippodrome Co.; Resident-Manager, Mr Walter Mould.—Mr. Jack Haddon's pantomime, Robin Hood is proving immensely popular here. Miss Marie Brayman makes a dashing principal as the famous outlaw, Robin Hood; Miss Mabel Osborne is a most dainty and attractive Maid Marian; the babes are capitally played by the Sisters May; and Miss Carrie Parry is applauded for her number, "Somewhere." Mr. Harry Elliston makes a quaint dame as Euphemia; Mr. Victor Wallace does exceedingly well as the Baron Skeemalot; and he is ably assisted in creating much laughter by August and September as Nobby Tike and Sloppy Sam. Specialities are introduced by the John Lloyd Quartette of vocalists, Madame Teresa's troupe of juvenile singers and dancers, and the Eight Little Pinkies, who appear most delightfully gowned. The chorus is powerful, and the staging most effective.

ALDERSHOT.—THEATRE ROYAL AND HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Clarence Sounes: Resident-Manager, Mr. Jack Gladwin.—The pantomime of Aladdin is being presented at two houses a night. Although the well-known story of Aladdin is only lightly touched on, there is a run of humour, singing, and several speciality dances that help to make a good performance. The principal rôles are undertaken by Misses Amy Bellwood, Beatrice Harris, Jeannie Halworth, Messrs. Bert Harrow, Happy Attwood, Bernard and Weston, and Mansell Fane. The band is under the direction of Mr. Julian Rutt, whilst Mr. C. A. James is business manager to the company.

ASHINGTON.—MINERS' THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Fred Gould.—Mr. Charles Elderton's pantomime Aladdin opened to a large house on Monday night. Miss Maudie Vincent makes a capital Aladdin. As the Princess Miss May Gibson is most winsome, her singing being highly appreciated; the Sisters Terry are both excellent in their respective parts; Mr. Will Beanland as Widow Twanky is most amusing; Mr. Harry Harrop as Abanazar is popular; and Messrs. James and Alexander, the police of the piece, and the Emperor (Mr. James Matchett) are particularly good. The Cameron Quartette of male voice singers is encored nightly; Li Chang Hi, the Chinese magician, deserves special mention; and Morrisley, in his balancing and musical turn, is clever.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Chas. Revell; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. Revill, jun.—Mr. Richard Nightingale's Aladdin is a very fine production. Both scenically and in dress it is a gorgeous specimen of the Christmas burlesque. There is fun, too, as well as tuneful music. Miss Edna Latonne is a spirited Aladdin, a good singer and dancer, being especially good in the ditty, "Ship Ahoy." Miss Jenny Hackett is a dainty Princess; Pekoe and Caramel are shapely and smart exponents of their respective characters; Miss Amy Pauline Gradwell and Miss Marie Radcliffe as Genius of the Ring and Slave of the Lamp contribute capably to the musical portion of the pantomime. The Abanazar of Mr. Walter Bishop is replete with mystery and comic cunning; Mr. H. Albery as the Widow Twankey is a great factor in the making of mirth; Mr. Arthur Pier is an imposing and humorous Emperor; and Mr. Laurie Oban as Gin Sling, Mr. Joe Perth as Wishee-Washee, Francis and Francis as Flip and Flop, and a host of pretty girls all add to a grand success. The specialities include the Brothers Lloyd in a really fine double bounding cable act; Perth and Oban do smart and expert pedal work; France and Francis give an amusing knockabout act; and Max Merlin, the human crocodile, is astounding.

EMPIRE HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Resident-Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Leech; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Jesse Burslem.—At the head of the programme here for the week Ernest Gittens' company figure in the military operatic sketch, entitled The Daughter of the Regiment. Notable exponents are Mlle. Adele Prescott, whose Marie is really very fine; and Mr. F. H. Wood, a humorous Sergeant Sulpice. The Phœnix Trio of singers are good in harmony and dancing; the Days have touched the acme in telepathy; the Wedburns furnish, as usual, some good vocal comedy, and they are also expert instrumentalists; Baby Myrtle Grove is a dainty vocalist and dancer; J. P. Ling is a comedian and mimic of ability; the Three Orros, with a silver chain act, are very acceptable; and the Four Mayos give a clever eccentric skating act.

BARROW-IN-FURNESS.—ROYALTY THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Stone.—Mr. Ernest R. Abbott's company opened with Sapho here on Monday. He himself gives a capital picture of Jean Gaussin, and Mr. Stephen Crossley is a capable Dechelette. Mr. Edward Ouston does well as Flamant, and Mr. Edwin Keene is a good Uncle Cesaire. Miss Ada Abbott makes a fascinating Sapho. Trilby is also billed.

TIVOLI.—Lessee, Signor R. Pepi; Acting-Manager, Mr. Henry Wood.—An excellent programme is presented here this week, the chief item being a dramatic sketch given by J. Atkin and company. All the characters were most capably portrayed, and the audience heartily applauded their efforts. The Great Albas gives a remarkably clever tight-wire performance; W. Gregory is a wonderful contortionist; the St. Johns have a capital musical turn; the Sisters Brookland are a pleasing turn; Will E. Stopit is a capable comedian; and Vernon's Bioscope shows some interesting pictures.

BATH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Egbert Lewis; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lewis A. Long.—Dick Whittington, which was produced at Eastbourne at Christmas, was staged on Monday last for a two weeks' run by Messrs. Murray King and Clarke. The pantomime, besides being full of brightness and go, is well staged and prettily dressed, and the songs are quite the latest. Mr. Murray King himself heads the comedians as Idle Jack, and works with all his wonted energy to make enjoyment for young and old, and that he succeeds is beyond doubt. He receives good support from Mr. Tom Walls as the Cook, and Mr. Ardene Linden as Fitzwarren; while two lively gentlemen who add to the general merriment are Mr. Herbert Walton and Mr. Jamie Dallas as Pott and Pann. Mr. T. R. Pinaud, jun., is the delight of the youngsters by his impersonation of the Cat. Perhaps the most popular artist in the cast is Miss Gertrude Gilliam, who as Dick proves herself to be a little lady who can act, sing, and dance with equal success. She has a captivating coadjutor in Miss Norah Dwyer as Alice, who also is a pleasing vocalist and skilful dancer; the majestic presence of Miss Adele Levey is well suited to the Emperor of Morocco, a rôle she enacts with confidence and no little effect; Miss Edith Jefferies is well placed as the Fairy Felma; and Mr. Douglas Cox, in addition to the onerous duties of stage-management, appears in the part of the Demon Rat. The dances introduced by the Lottie Stone Troupe are well executed; and the large chorus enter into the spirit of the pantomime. Mr. Michael Dwyer is the musical-director, the producer and general-manager being Mr. F. Maxwell Stewart.

PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Chas. Schuberth.—James Fawn is as good in song and story as ever; one of the finest turns is that of the Montaldos, whose training of parrots, cockatoos, and macaws is truly wonderful; a charming song-and-dance interlude is that introduced by the Garricks, a quartette of cultured vocalists and dancers; Frank Coyle returns to rattle off three of his latest ditties with success; Luigi Salvino, a young instrumentalist, is making rapid improvement in the profession of his choice; the Sisters Melba once again are heard to advantage as harmonising duettists; one of the best single-handed novelty items seen here for a long time is the tambourine playing of J. P. Carroll. The pictures include interesting and amusing subjects.

BEDFORD.—ROYAL COUNTY THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. E. Graham Falcon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter R. Wilson.—The Flag Lieutenant has been responsible for a deal of enthusiasm here. The company is that of Mr. Lyn Harding and Mr. Sidney Cooper, and it would be difficult to find one more capable. Mr. Mark Paton seems made for the part of the Vice-Admiral; Mr. Stanley Groome cleverly impersonates John Penrose; and Mr. Hastings Lynn's rendering of Richard Lascelles could not be easily improved on. Major Thessiger finds a most able exponent in Mr. Frederick Leister; and Mr. Edward Mervyn is natural as the Naval Surgeon. Miss Mabel Rees' performance as Mrs. Cameron is particularly striking; and Miss Rita Johnson very cleverly portrays Lady Hermoine Wynne. Miss Una Venning is good as Viola Hood.

BELFAST.—GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; Acting-Manager, Mr. James M. McCann.—Notwithstanding the success of Mr. Fred W. Warden's pantomime, Aladdin, last nights are announced, and the final performance takes place to-night, Saturday. Benefits are the order of the day. On Wednesday Carlton, who has made himself so popular, appealed to his legion of admirers, and last night, Friday, Miss Georgie Corlass, the principal boy, took a well-deserved benefit, when extra attractions were provided.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. A. Salmond.—The attraction here this week is the comedy drama, When Woman Hates, presented by Mr. Bulmer's company. Miss Chrissie Dunbar, an accomplished actress, furnishes a clever impersonation of the rôle of Cora Daintry; and Miss Lala Stanhope deserves much praise for her embodiment of Marie Rokeby. Mr. B. H. Davis as General Sir Henry Rokeby furnishes a good impersonation; and the rôle of Lieutenant Fred Rokeby, R.N., was filled with ability by Mr. Lorrie Lingard. The humour of the piece was in the hands of Miss Marie Dalby as Mrs. Sally Potts and Mr. Evans Roland as Patrick O'Brien, the latter furnishing a capital impersonation. Mr. Austin Mortimer fairly earned the anathemas of the crowded audience by his realistic impersonation of the villainous Godfrey Lawton; and Miss M. Lowe Dare furnished a skilful impersonation of Edith Rokeby.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred Willmott; Resident-Manager, Mr. Henry T. Downs.—The star here is Miss Lottie Lennox, who wins success with her capital rendering of several chorus songs; Mr. Edward Crossland's melody-makers appear to advantage in their phantom scena, The Burglar's Dream; and the sand dancing of Mr. Frank Weaver is exceedingly smart. Mr. G. W. Blythe's musical scena, The Toilers, in which Miss Nellie Brierley appears, and sings several songs with much taste and expression, is undoubtedly one of the best items on the programme; Starr and Leslie are great favourites here, and their speciality act is greeted with enthusiasm; the Sisters Macarte appear in their Japanese scena, and their realistic reception is certainly flattering; and the impersonations of Will Burnand reflect much credit on this capable artist. Also appearing are Maud and Gill, speciality gymnasts; Watson and McQue, comedians; and the Hipposcope.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES, LIMITED.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. C. Laidler.—The leading attraction here is provided by Arthur Watson and company, in the musical comedy, The Cruise of H.M.S. Victory; Stewart and Morgan are on a return visit, and delight all with their capitally rendered vocal items; and Prof. Dunning's ventriloquial act gains much approval. Mr. Fred Elton provides an unequalled entertainment at the piano; and the parodies of Mr. C. Vincent are unquestionably funny. Kahn and Kahn's illusions are undoubtedly mystifying; and Miss Dulcie King Lloyd is a charming comedienne with good songs. The Bioscope, with a picture, entitled Scroggin Puts Up for Blankshire, completes the programme.

BIRKENHEAD.—NEW THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee, Mr. W. W. Kelly; Acting-Manager, Mr. Herbert M. King.—C. St. John Denton and Peter Davey's pantomime, Blue Beard, has been transferred from Chester for a week's season here, and has done remarkably well. Mr. Tom Seymour enacts the title-rôle with much humour and effect; Miss Ernestine Desborough is an irreproachable Selin; Miss May Hart is a capital Shacabac; Miss Christine Roy is a bewitching Fatima; and Mr. Arthur Royce as Sister Ann, Mr. Max Copland as Mustapha, and Mr. Percy Galins as Swank provide much merriment. Miss M. Sadie is a good Lieutenant Pursey; Miss Thelma Geary is efficient as Miss Silvery Thames; the Golywogs are well represented by Miss G. Mansell and Miss D. Hart; Miss Mollie Geary is the solo dancer; and the chorus and ballet are most effective. The mounting is on a liberal scale. The orchestra is under the management of Mr. Claude B. Yearsley.

ARGYLE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. D. J. Clarke; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Keating.—Mr. Leslie Harris, a thoroughly clever and amusing entertainer at the piano, is a leading feature; the New York Nippers, in their singing and dancing act, are on a welcome return visit; and the remarkable banjo-playing of Olly Oakley, accompanied by Jan Hurst, pianist, is deservedly popular. Other turns of importance include those of the Hendersons, vocalists and instrumentalists; Tee and Tee, eccentric musicians; George Benson, a capable mimic; Jock Mills, a good Scotch comedian; Nellie Martell, comedienne; Mal Vern, in a novel exhibition; and Brown's Royal Bioscope.

HIPPODROME.—Director of Entertainments, Mr. Will Sley; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Weston.—Mysticus, in his interesting show, worthily heads an excellent company, which also includes Miss Dora Hainton's highly-appreciated dramatic sketch, Her Certificate; Miss Lena Grey, a smart male impersonator; Charlie Lloyd and Cissie Barwick, vaudeville artists; the Brothers Leo, in an amusing turn; Comical Walker gymnast; Globella, on the revolving globe; Tom Isherwood, comedian; and the Hippodrome pictures.

BIRMINGHAM.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Tom B. Davis; General-Manager, Mr. Philip Rodway.—George Robey is a huge success in Jack and the Beanstalk pantomime, and Miss Ada Reeve has a big following. There is a healthy demand for seats, and extra matinées have been arranged.

PRINCE OF WALES.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. F. Graham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Henry Johnstone.—Babes in the Wood pantomime continues to run smoothly, and crowded and enthusiastic audiences assemble at each performance. Mark Sheridan and the Bros. Egbert are popular comedy merchants; and Harry Conlin is a bright and clever dancer. Miss Dorothy Ward is a prime favourite, and Miss Daisy Dormer is a successful principal girl.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Lester Collingwood; Business-Manager, Mr. Fred Bernardo; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. T. Guest.—Aladdin is a popular pantomime, and all previous booking records are being broken.

BORDESLEY PALACE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Goodwin Woodward.—After a month's successful season The Fair One With the Golden Locks moves on this week.

METROPOLE.—Proprietor, Mr. Andrew Melville; Manager, Mr. J. H. Taylor.—Driven from Home is a popular draw here this week. A notable feature is the clever performance of Miss Ada M. Ryder in the rôle of Laura Raybrook and Walter Hatherleigh, jun. Mr. George P. Beresford is very popular in the part of Walter Hatherleigh; a fine character is that of the old father, Antony Raybrook, represented by Mr. Felix Pitt; Mr. John B. Shinton is also responsible for a good performance as Geoffrey Waring; Mr. Andrew Emm, in the part of the half-witted outcast Willie, is very popular.

ASTON THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee, Mr. Charles Barnard; General-Manager, Mr. E. Hewitson; Manager, Mr. P. Martin Morris.—Another Man's Wife is being presented here by Fred Granville's Productions, Ltd. The chief figure is Lucy de Vergas, whose fortunes are portrayed in a distinctly effective manner by Miss Ruby Loncraine. Mr. Alfred D. Adams sustains the character of the villain, Paul Bernstoff with realism; and a clever comedy couple are to be found in Mr. Leonard Marshall and Miss Marion Mayne, who cause much merriment in their respective parts. Miss Beatrice Western displays ability as an adventuress.

CARLTON THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. James Alexander.—Mr. William Maclaren and Miss Lily C. Bandmann are a great attraction here in Claudian. Mr. Maclaren does full justice to the title-rôle, and Miss Lily C. Bandmann as Almida provides a fine study. Both are frequently recalled; Miss Jean Fergusson, Miss Maud Garth, Mr. Frank Owen Chambers, Mr. C. T. Chaloner, and Mr. Douglas Earle are also prominent in a splendid cast.

THE EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. W. Matcham; Assistant-Manager, Mr. A. Williams.—Gobert Belling's four-legged comedians are popular with the audiences here, and they have a great reception; Mr. Albert Marsh and his talented company present a thrilling playlet, entitled Chums Till Death, in which clever acting is thoroughly appreciated; the Rexos provide a novel exhibition of fancy roller skating; Miss Ethel James is a charming and talented entertainer at the piano; Sebastian Merrill and Co. are sensational trick cyclists; and Charles Santon possesses a wonderful voice. Harry Merrylees, Scotch comedian; Lizzie Glenroy, comedienne and dancer; and the De Breans, Japanese entertainers, also contribute.

GRAND.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. R. Foster; Assistant-Manager, Mr. H. Lucas.—Miss Lelia Rose heads a capital bill in a diverting musical scena, entitled A Dressing-Room Dream, and adds considerably to her popularity in Birmingham; Bert Coote and company present a humorous sketch, A Lamb on Wall Street; and Annie and Maud Kramer are talented American entertainers. The Four Amati Sisters are singers of musical ability; the Whibys present their magic blackboard; Clown Argo is a clever mimic; the Staigs are daring cyclists; Maude and Sydney Wood are popular duettists and dancers; Les Bollingers manipulate old rags with artistic effect; and the Sisters Caselli are also well received.

GAIETY.—General Manager, Mr. Albert Bushell.—Conspicuous in a good all-round programme is Alan Holt and company, who appear in a sensational dramatic episode, A Society Woman; Mabel Thorne, the well-known comedienne, is a favourite chorus singer; and Will Netta's Singing Jockeys provide a novelty that is well appreciated. Ted Karno and his team of merrymakers present their farce, Hotel de Quick; Les Zannonis give a clever exhibition of juggling and club swinging; the Lauri Brothers are neat acrobats; the Smythson Comedy company keep the audience amused; Addie Adele is a popular actress-vocalist; and Little Abo is a smart juvenile comedian.

HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Tom Barrasford; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. D. Elbourne; Assistant-Manager, Mr. C. Baldry.—Lovers of good dancing thoroughly enjoy the brilliant performance of Mlle. Alexia in her latest creation, "Au bal Masque"; Austin Rudd, comedian, keeps the audience in a merry mood; the Brothers Pasquali are loudly applauded for tumbling and equilibristic feats; the Gascoignes are clever and amusing jugglers; Adah Payne, vocalist, is well received in several popular melodies; and W. E. Gillin is a smart ventriloquist, whose turn is greatly amusing. Cash and Clair, American "Tanglefoot" boys; Lily Eyton, comedienne; Harry Shaw, comedian; the Croisit Trio; and Natalia and Diana, gymnasts, provide other good turns.

ASTON HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Aston Hippodrome, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. T. H. Middleton.—Pantomime again reigns at this popular house, Mr. Jack Haddon's company presenting a delightful version of Jack and the Beanstalk. Miss Alma O'Brey makes a dashing principal boy, her singing being a good feature; and Miss Ida Brophy as Dora pleases greatly with coon songs. Mr. Gordon Brookes is a never-failing source of humour as the Dame; and Mr. Hal Ford, sen., makes a capital Baron. The Tintos are an immediate success as Dip and Dap, eccentric flunkies; Mr. Bob Baxter is excellent as Silly Billy; and Miss Marie Raynor and Miss Marie Altino as the fairies display great ability. The pantomime is a distinct success from every point of view.

CURZON HALL (AMERICAN AND CONTINENTAL CIRCUS).—Director and Organiser, Mr. A. Edward Inshaw.—There are several novelties in the programme this week, the principal being the sensational act of the Brothers Miranos, one of whom balances a huge pole whilst the other performs daring feats at the top. Captain Frank Taylor's baboons and monkeys give an amusing turn; a pretty serpentine dance on horseback is contributed by Miss Challina; and Miss Martha is an accomplished trapeze artist.

BISHOP AUCKLAND.—EDEN THEATRE.—Lessees, Messrs. R. Addison, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. J. Huntley.—Quite a large house was the order on Monday to witness Mr. Wentworth Croke's company in The Christian. Mr. R. Scrope Quentin gives a capital representation of the Hon. Jno. Storm; and as Horatio Drake all credit is due to Mr. Arthur D. Layland; Mr. Jno. Blake does justice to the part of Lord Ure; Mr. W. Ellis meets with approval as Lord Storm; Mr. Wm. Mallalieu is a tower of strength as Archdeacon Wealthy; and a like remark applies to Mr. Edwin Ling as Father Lamplugh. Miss Muriel Marsden handles the rôle of Glory Quayle in a painstaking manner; and Miss Alice Maude is good as Mrs. Callender.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, The Hippodrome (Bishop Auckland), Ltd.; Managing-Director, Signor Pepi.—Ryan and Hall are funny acrobats and wrestlers; Stylo does well in his hoop juggling turn; Mr. J. W. Rowley keeps the house in high spirits; Miss Aida Martini sings with good effect; and a pleasing turn is provided by Wilman in his musical scena; Reno is a great cyclist; and Ike and Will Scott, comedians and dancers, are great fun-makers. An interesting bill is wound up by smart Hipposcope films.

BLACKBURN.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, the Royal and Hippodrome Co.; Governing-Director, Mr. Harry Yorke; Acting-Manager, Mr. Reginald Yorke.—A most attractiev production is provided here this week by Mr. James Kiddie's company in the pantomime, The Forty Thieves, and in seven scenes produced twice nightly there are no dull moments. As Abdallah, captain of the thieves, Miss Rose Pareezer was strong alike in singing and acting, and made a most pleasing impression; Miss Elsie Steadman as Ganem was exceedingly successful, and quite artistic; Morgiana was very prettily played by Miss Lyle Jeffries, and she also sang sweetly; Mr. Percy Curry as Ali Babi is quite a success; Mr. Arthur Behan as Cogia is alike funny and of easy bearing. Other parts are Messrs. Fame and Fortune's Pitchett and Poppit, who cause much merriment.

PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Will Murray.—The "Metablescope," an artistic and mystic act, is presented here by Signor Arvi—the turn is successful; the Achmed Ibrahim Troupe of Bedouin tumblers are excellent in their equilibristic and tumbling feats, and come in for applause; Montes Bros., in The Scotchman and the Driver, are good; and Dan Conroy proves an able comedian. Victor and Louis ably present The Golfer and the Caddie; Alex Lofton is a clever coloured comedian; and Eileen Douglas, a musical comedy girl, gives a turn.

BLACKPOOL.—HER MAJESTY'S OPERA HOUSE.—General-Manager, Mr. J. R. Huddlestone.—Mr. Louis Calvert's company is playing Sunday again here this week. The title-rôle is excellently played by Miss Janet Lind, and Mr. Pennington Gush very ably depicts Colonel Brinthorpe. Mr. Richard F. Symons as Towzer, Mr. L. St. G. Lowther as Davy, Mr. James Hussey as Lively, and Mr. Geo. Marriott, jun., as Jackey are also actors of sterling ability.

PALACE.—General-Manager, Mr. Geo. H. Harrop; Acting-Banager, Mr. Fred Waller.—Harry Nelson, the comedian, is going strong here this week, his suffragette song being especially well received; Richard Fineberg contributes some excellent character studies; My Fancy dances herself into favour; the McConnell Trio sing well; Beattie Bloom is a pleasing serio; Wisper is a comical juggler; Pat Lynch contributes a wooden-shoe dance; the Richards Trio are amusing golfing acrobats; Dusty Rhodes brings down the house with his songs; and Eily Adair is a clever comedienne and dancer.

BLYTH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur C. Moody.—Messrs. H. B. Levy and J. E. Cardwell's pantomime company opened here on Monday with Babes in the Wood. Little Peggy McDonnell and Cissy Wyse submitted delightful performances of the titular rôles; Miss Marie Lumberg was a charming Robin Hood; Miss Winifred Norman a successful Maid Marion; and Mr. Neil Hardy, as the Baron, met with hearty applause. Mr. Jimmie Watson as the Nurse was amusing; the Ruffians as played by Messrs. Graham and Barron left nothing to be desired; and specialities of a pleasing nature were presented by Miss Norman, Messrs. Watson, Graham and Barron, the International Troupe of Dancers, Peggy McDonnell, the Marguerette Quartette of Dancers, Mr. Harry Tullett, and Neil Hardy.

BOLTON.—THEATRE ROYAL (LTD.).—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. John Moncur. The very successful pantomime The Babes in the Wood concludes an all-too-brief stay this (Saturday) evening. On Wednesday evening Mr. J. F. Elliston took his thirtieth benefit.

GRAND THEATRE (LTD.).—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Kenyon.—Mr. John F. Preston and his company, including Miss Mabelle F. Barlow, are appearing here in the racing episode Rogues of the Turf, and are well received. Variety turns are also given by Arthur Harris, vocal comedian and actor-vocalist; Agnes Tina, mimic and impersonator; Mike Cray, eccentric comedy juggler, and his dog Dooley; Leo Tell, mimic; Mlle. Leoni de Lourois, in living art bronzes and masterpieces; Farrell and Dunn, Caledonian duo; Jan. B. Vanbert, illusionist and sensational painter; Tom Costello, comedian, in "The Old Clown"; and the Premier Imperial Bioscope.

EMPIRE HIPPODROME, LTD.—Director of Entertainments, Mr. Will Sley; Manager, Mr. A. R. Harrison.—Foremost in this week's bill are Haley's Juveniles, who appear in a pleasing vocal scena; Other items are Miss Ethel Mann, American contralto; the Korries, in their novelty, "The Kirbstone Serenaders"; Mather and Mayer, eccentric comedy entertainers and quaint dancers; the Three Hodginis, aerial gymnastic wonders, in a sensational display in the revolving breakaway ladder; Ernest Tilbury, tenor; Phinae and Aida, in their revolving pedestal; L. W. Harris, comedian; and the Hippodrome pictures.

BOOTLE.—WINTER GARDENS.—Lessee, The Excelsior Co.; Manager, Mr. George Barry.—Mr. Alf. Holt, American mimic, gives a clever entertainment; H. O. Borrie bewilders the audience with his smart feats of juggling; and Mayer and Brown cause a diversion with their refined drawing-room sketch. Mr. P. Collins obliges with a violin solo, which pleases the audience immensely. Other items are contributed by Miss Rose de Mars, a charming comedienne, and the animated pictures.

BOURNEMOUTH.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Proprietors, David Allen and Sons; Sole Lessee, Mr. Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Hubert Dunbar.—A large house assembled on Monday at this theatre to greet Mr. Martin Harvey on his welcome return visit in The Only Way. Mr. Martin Harvey's powers as an actor are too well known to need reiteration, and it suffices to say that he has lost none of his old skill in appealing to all that is best in human nature, and that his delineation of Sidney Carton was in every respect masterly. The pathetic little character of Mimi was depicted with winning charm and skill by Miss N. de Silva; Mr. Charles Glenney provided a fine study of Defarge, the stern avenger of his family's wrongs; Mr. Lorry and Mr. Stryver had suitable exponents in Messrs. Percy Forster and Philip Haviland; the character of Dr. Manette received able treatment from Mr. Fred Wright, sen.; Mr. Leonard Craske played the Marquis de St. Evremonde with the requisite lightness of touch; Miss Brenda Gibson made a charming and winsome Lucie Manette; in strong contrast was the character of the Vengeance, played with skill and realism by Miss Mary Rorke. The World and His Wife and A Cigarette-maker's Romance are also in the week's repertory.

BRADFORD.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager, Mr. T. F. Doyle; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Richardson.—The gorgeous pantomime Jack and the Beanstalk continues to win unstinted admiration from crowded audiences, and roars of laughter greet the quaint humour of Mr. Rowland Hill (Mother Muggles), Mr. Harry Ed. Ray (the Squire), Mr. Marriott Edgar (the Milkman), and Mr. Kit Keen (the Sweep). Miss Nell Emerald's animation and energy as principal boy have won her popularity. The Toreador song from Carmen is one of Mr. Cyril Thompson's finest efforts in the character of the Demon, and he shares honours with Miss Annie Schuberth, the gifted vocalist and charming Fairy Queen.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Lessee, Councillor F. Laidler; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. M. Hamilton.—The Forty Thieves, with gorgeous surroundings and no end of fun, are a source of delight to the crowds who throng the theatre, and Mr. Dick Tubb as Ali Baba, Mr. Arthur Gibbons as Cassim Baba, Mr. Fred Spencer as Cogia, Mr. Alf Corri as Hasserac, and Mr. Chris le Brun as the Donkey are prolific fun-producers. Miss Ada Fawn, the principal boy, is a prime favourite; Miss Lesley Gibson, the lainty principal girl, Miss Mabel Mannering, Captain of the Forty, and Miss Patricia Weldon as Selim, have a host of admirers, and undoubtedly the pantomime is assured a long and successful run.

THE EMPIRE.—Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Percival Craig.—Charles T. Aldrich, the "man of many parts," clever protean actor and mimic, is on a return visit this week eliciting unbounded applause, and in his usual eccentric style Will H. Fox is entertaining at the piano; the Cumberlands give a remarkable acrobatic performance as trick cyclists; and The Coons' Revelry is an amusing turn presented by Barnard's Mannikins; Gus Garrick's "dish of music-hall tit-bits" is a very acceptable item of the fine programme, to which Harry Clifford, comedian; Miss Billie Burford, chorus singer; Goggin and Davis, versatile comedy acrobats; Edna Lyall, the Yorkshire nightingale, and the Bioscope contribute with much success.

THE PALACE.—Lessee, Mr. F. Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. E. Harrison.—Plenty of variety marks the programme here, Bonnie Goodwin's Picaninnies, under Miss Lily Vine's direction, furnishing a bright and attractive item; and very acceptable contributions are furnished to the capital evening's entertainment by the Fordyces, comedy artists; Estrella, international dancer; Baker and De Sales, in a sketch, Much Ado About Nothing; the Donnas Trio, clever equilibrists on the trapeze; Friscari, amusing top-hat manipulator; Amy Anderson and company in a rollicking comedy act, The Banana Queen, and the Palace Perfection pictures.

BRIGHTON.—GRAND THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Ernest Gates; General-Manager, Mr. Ben Court.—The pantomime, Robinson Crusoe, is still running merrily here, and continues to attract good houses. Miss May Mars is completely successful in the title-rôle, and wins enthusiastic encores for her artistic vocalisation; Mr. Jimmy Fergusson as Captain Kettle, Mr. Lyons as Corkscrew Bill, and Mr. Dave O'Toole as Mrs. Crusoe provide plenty of fun; and others meriting especial praise include Miss Violet R. Orme (Polly) and Miss Vera Ray (Fairy).

ALHAMBRA.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Alfred Smith; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. A. Smith.—Theo Boumeester, a clever Protean artist, wins very hearty applause for his smart work in the sketch, Who's Guilty? Crib and Crib, tramp comedians, are very entertaining with their quaint songs and patter; the Brothers Matthews are effective in a coon comedy act; Les Melachinis are neat conjurers and illusionists; Charles Wilson gives a capital jumping display; J. W. Ellison is successful as a vocal and light comedian; the Bellam Trio are well received in a novel vocal and dance act; Jessie Lee is a charming comedienne; Martinett and Wallace are clever performers on a variety of instruments; and the Alhambra Picturegraph is interesting.

HIPPODROME THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, Messrs. Barrasford and Smith; Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; Resident-Manager, Mr. B. J. Brown.—Percy Honri and company are distinctly successful in the musical fantasy Concordia; Wilton Heriot and company are very diverting in the farcical sketch Father's Footsteps; the Tourbillon Troupe of cycle acrobats perform some smart and daring feats; the juggling McBanns submit a clever turn; Abel and Welsh are eccentric eccentrics and contortionists; Harriet Rose is a dainty and pleasing singer; the Laure Cabiacs, Parisian comedy acrobats, are well received; Fake White contributes some clever lightning sketches; Ess and Hoey are able comedians; and Harry Sims gives a good comedy turn.

WEST PIER.—Secretary, Mr. A. W. Scholey.—Mr. Ernest E. Norris and company are here this week with Lady Clancarty.—Mr. Ernest E. Norris gives a fine impersonation of the dashing Irishman, Lord Clancarty; Miss Muriel Dole makes a graceful and charming Lady Clancarty; Mr. Edward S. Petley makes a dignified King; Miss Maud Stonor is a vivacious Lady Betty Noel; Mr. H. C. Lancelly achieves much success as the Earl of Portland; and able support is rendered by Mr. Taylor Vinson (Goodman), Mr. Norman Wrighton (Lord Woodstock), and Mr. J. B. Benson North (Lord Spencer).

BRISTOL.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Macready Chute.—Mother Hubbard is popular with all classes, and deservedly so, for the pantomime goes remarkably well. The story is a pretty and interesting one as told by Mr. Hickory Wood, the scenery and dresses are quite up to the high standard expected at the Prince's, and the artists are all clever in their respective parts. Miss Lulu Valli, a smart principal boy, acts excellently as Reggie, and has a new song of a topical character, entitled "I remember you," which goes very well; Miss Alice Pollard is charming as Goody, her songs and dances being appreciated; Miss Sydney Fairbrother continues to improve on her quaint study of Mary; and Mr. G. H. Elliott's specialities of song and dance, combined with his clever acting as Chocolate, have already made him an especial favourite. Mr. Horace Mills acts remarkably well as Mother Hubbard, his songs going capitally; Mr. George Barrett is really amusing as Tacks; and Mr. Charles Harvey avails himself of all opportunities as the Squire.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Resident-Manager, Mr. H. C. Alty.—Here also the attendance is highly satisfactory, and everyone seems much pleased with Robinson Crusoe. The scenery and dresses are good and appropriate, the artists work hard in their respective parts, and there is a lot of really good dancing introduced by several members of the company. The comedians (Messrs. Charles F. Martell, John R. Bennett, Edwin Garth, and Frank Dunlop) do capitally in their respective parts of Bo'sun, Mate, Dame Crusoe, and Will Atkins; Miss Kitty Upton and Miss Blanche Marion are decidedly clever in their respective parts of Robinson and Polly Hopkins; the Misses Jeannette Albert and Rosie Albert are decidedly smart as Captain Lanyard and Sally; the Misses Rita Emson and Kitty Emson are pleasing as Bob Mainstay and Susie; and all the remaining parts are well done.

PALACE.—Local Manager, Mr. Horace Livermore; Treasurer, Mr. F. J. V. Welchman.—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lucas head the bill with their interesting impersonations of characters from Dickens, their entertainment being highly appreciated; the Brothers O'Brien perform very cleverly on the horizontal bars; Hulo Hodgson and Harry Lowther's company score with their farcical episode, entitled Barmaids; Randolph King, in his "one-man programme," presents some excellent impersonations; Camille Feo is an accomplished juvenile dancer; Maise Dene is an expert dancer; Syd Crossley, comedian, is appreciated; Yetta is a really clever wire performer, introducing the cake-walk on the wire; Fred S. Peake and company score with their dramatic sketch, The Hypocrite; and animated pictures conclude.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. B. Pearce Lucas; Resident-Manager, Mr. Sid Macaire.—The programme is headed by the Riogoku Family of Japanese artists (seven in number), their act including most difficult equilibristic acts, tumbling, vaulting, floor contortion, acrobatic, and risley performances, &c., and the public are invited to inspect their wonderful collection of silk and velvet embroidered Japanese scenery and costumes; the Daunton-Shaw Troupe of Australian trick cyclists present a very clever act; Ivo Hayman and Mildred Franklin highly amuse with their patter-and-song act, entitled The Gossipers; Phil and Nettie Peters amuse as American-Dutch comedy artists; Gus Barra, described as "the mad musician," does a clever turn; Eddie Martyn is a smart wooden-shoe dancer; Bert Crosbie, comedian and dancer, is appreciated; the Five Singing Gipsies score with their musical scena; and the Carlyles, speciality dancers, are highly accomplished, the "Apaches' dance" being introduced, amongst others. Interesting animated pictures conclude.

COLSTON HALL.—Poole's Myriorama and variety entertainment continues to attract a large attendance at each performance, notwithstanding the excitement of the election.

BURNLEY.—VICTORIA OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. C. Horner.—Mr. Robert Courtneidge's company is here with The Arcadians. Miss Mysie Devine is a captivating Eileen, and Miss Marion Edwards receives full appreciation for her beautiful singing as Sombra; Miss Katie Yates is a success as Chrysea, and Miss Madge Haines provides much humour as Mrs. Smith; Mr. Ray Sidney as Jack Meadows and Mr. Roy Lorraine as Bobby add to the vocal strength of the cast. The lions' share of the fun falls to Gus Oxley as Simplicitus and to Mr. Frank Collins as Peter Doody, who provoke a constant ripple of laughter. A strong chorus and pretty dances add to the general excellence of the production.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. C. Horner.—Crowded houses are fully enjoying the programme provided. The Serenaders in a scena Old Venice please greatly with delightful operatic singing, and an exceptionally clever ventriloquial act on the wire is provided by Rex Fox; in Fred Poplar, comedian, there is every reason to be satisfied, and the Rene McKays (Jean and Neil) are talented juveniles; Jack and Willie, coloured boy equilibrists, are very good; and Barnes and West provide a smart dancing turn; Mr. Kitty, Fred Poplar and W. H. Downes are also in the bill. The Empire Theatrescope concludes.

PALACE THEATRE AND HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. R. Badcoe.—Dan Whitley heads the bill here, and his songs and chatter are responsible for frequent laughter; Mona Vivian earns much favour with clever dancing and impersonations, and rollicking tumbling is provided by the Five X Rays; Curtis and Piccs are a charming musical and dancing combination, and Farr and Farland are smart talking comedians; Reg Ewen is highly appreciated for good songs, and Norah Desmond sings illustrated songs sweetly; Damerell and Rutland are good, and the Palace Perfection Pictures win much favour.

BURTON-ON-TRENT.—NEW THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. H. G. Dudley Bennett; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. De Hague Body.—Mr. Milton Bode brings a welcome change of fare here this week in the shape of pantomime, Little Red Riding Hood. The title-rôle is ably filled by Miss Babs Lloyd, whose dancing is a special feature of her performance; Miss Aimee Roberts, a dashing Boy Blue, sings and acts extremely well; Miss Blanche May (Bo-Peep) and Miss Ruby Wentworth (Tom) are effective in their respective parts; Miss Carda Walker, the possessor of a charming voice, is an ideal Fairy Queen; a quartette of clever comedians are Mr. Laurie Wylie (Squire), Mr. Rolando Martin (Johnny), Mr. Frank Lilliput (Simon), and Mr. J. E. Conan (Dame Trot), who keep the audience in roars of laughter. The Three Marvellous Pattersons, Laurie Wylie and his mimicking mannikins; and Zellini, comic juggler, also prove great attractions. The scenery and dresses are excellent.

BURY (Lancs.).—ROYAL, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Assistant Acting-Manager, Mr. H. H. Potter.—Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison's company is presenting with every success Brewster's Millions. The play is beautifully mounted, the Yacht scene in the third act being particularly fine. As Monty Brewster Mr. Charles Esdale is eminently successful, and meets with well-merited applause; Charlie Harrison is well played by Mr. Gordon Ash; Archie Golding and Joseph McLeod are in the capable hands of Mr. Henry Hampson and Mr. Aubrey Mather respectively; Mr. Robert Forsyth gives a good performance as Mr. Grant; Mr. A. P. Raye is a typical Frenchman as Monsieur Bargie; Peggy is charmingly played by Miss Cicely Stuckey; and the remaining parts capably portrayed by Misses Pauline Straus as Mrs. Dan de Mille, Frances Davie as Janice Armstrong, Dorothy Whittaker as Barbara Drew, May Scton as Trixie Clayton, and Phyllis Stuckey as Miss Boynton. Mr. George Salver as Captain Perry, Mr. A. Andrews as Colonel Drew, and Mr. Otho Hazelwood as Frank Bragden also do good work.

CIRCUS OF VARIETIES, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Assistant Acting-Manager, Mr. H. H. Potter.—There is no falling off in the popularity of the Ottograph pictures, and Miss Florence Phillips, a girl with a baritone voice, and the Sisters Brenton afford pleasant relief.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. Thomas Baker.—The songs of Billy Williams, "the man in the velvet suit," are proving a source of great delight; Zanora and Berg are expert comedy cyclists; old favourites are seen in the Lovelaces, American song illustrators; the Sages, comedy burlesque artists; Ford and Hanson, musical millionaires; the Five Bohemians, vaudeville entertainers; and Layton and Douglas, in a clever musical act, are also well received.

BURY ST. EDMUNDS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—General-Manager, Mr. Auguste A. Peuleve.—The Woman of Kronstadt was here for three nights. Mr. Keith Kenneth staged the play well, and presented a good all-round company, specially meritorious performances coming from Mr. Montague Lane (Col. Bonso), Mr. Bernard Copping (Paul Zassoulic), and Mr. H. Colbeck (Baron Muller). Other rôles were well sustained by Mr. Keith Kenneth and Mr. George Gordon. Miss Ida Chapman as Marion Best succeeded admirably in a difficult part, and the Princess was charmingly personated by Miss Betty Fairfax.

BUXTON.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, The Buxton Gardens Co., Ltd.; Secretary and Manager, Mr. Arthur Willoughby.—Mr. G. Brydon-Phillips was unfortunate to hit Buxton during election week, for politics here always take first place. A really excellent show was given by Mr. Phillips' company. Sinbad the Sailor was played, with Miss Hettie Lee in the title-rôle, and a really bright exponent she was; Miss Constance Lait played prettily and sang particularly well as Badoura; and Miss Amy Maple made quite a hit as Zoe, and, in conjunction with Mr. Fred Maple as Hinbad, delighted the audience with their artistic and amazing dances; Miss Claire Farron was a quaint Princess Naggles; Messrs. Morrin and Cardiff were amusing as Jack Bobstay and Ben Bunk; Mr. George Snow was diverting as King Tibbles and Mr. Eldrett Gulson was good as Captain Scuttle and Mr. Harry Rose desires special mention as Mrs. Sinbad. A special matinée is arranged for this afternoon.

CAMBRIDGE.—NEW THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. B. Redfern, J.P., D.L.—A Message From Mars is skilfully handled by Mr. Frank Mouillot's company, and is as interesting as ever. Mr. Aidian Lovett is entirely satisfactory as Horace Parker; as the Tramp Mr. Norman Clark is distinctly good; the Messenger is impressively acted by Mr. George P. Polson; Miss Aubrey Ashton and Miss Rose Hellene also give valuable assistance.

CARDIFF.—NEW THEATRE.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Robt. Redford.—Dick Whittington continues its unbounded popularity, and notwithstanding the outdoor election attraction, good houses have ruled throughout the week.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, Cambrian Theatres, Ltd.—Mother Goose is achieving a great reputation here. By his energy and hard work Mr. Graham Morrison, the general manager, has considerably raised the status of this theatre during pantomime, and has quickly achieved popularity.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. J. Taylor.—A very appropriate visit is being paid this week by Fred Karno's company in Perkins, M.P. Mr. Fred Kitchen as the labour candidate once more makes a hit, and causes continual laughter. Breathless excitement and interest follows the turn of the Bellclair Brothers, America's greatest gymnasts, who perform wonderful feats of endurance with remarkable ease; Gladys Mavius sings two songs in a pleasing manner; the Northern Troupe of international dancers once again show exceptional dexterity; the Three Delaries, exceedingly clever trapeze acrobats, introduce a novel demon effect to their act; Jennie Alexander, juvenile comedienne and mimic, gives a performance which would do credit to an adult; Daras is a smart impersonator of celebrated composers; Marshall and Parr harmonise well together; and a pathetic film on the bioscope completes.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Acting-Manager, Mr. Will A. Jackson.—The ever-welcome sketch, Saved by Wireless, is presented most effectively by Mr. Gilbert Heron and company. This turn is an interesting and exciting one, and thoroughly deserves the hearty applause which frequently punctuates the acting. John R. Poole is presenting Mr. Godfrey Price in an original song-scena, entitled The Trumpeter; Les Saletos prove a wonderful duo in head and hand balancing; Tom Yorke, character comedian, gets a good hold on his audience by his well-rendered singing; and Enzer and Miss Clarice, the juggler and lady ju-jitsu champion; Josephine Crooke, in illustrated songs; Bonnette and Corri, comedy jugglers; and Archie Pitt, a quaint comedian, all do remarkably well.

CARLISLE.—H. M. THEATRE.—Lessees, Mr. Thos. Courtice and Mrs. R. Stewart M'Kim; Manager, Mr. Thos. Courtice.—A return visit of Messrs. Polini and Melford's company in The Silver King is drawing large and enthusiastic audiences. Mr. Fred D. Davis was a tower of strength in the title-rôle; Miss Mildred Surrey, too, was no less successful as Nellie Denver, adding grace and refinement to histrionic ability; it is needless to say that the veteran Mr. Edward J. George as Jaikes is perfection; Miss Hilda Bateman and Master Eric Dene gave intelligent renderings of the children's parts; and "The Spider," in the hands of Mr. Arthur H. Rooke, was, as usual, a most interesting character. Mr. Fred May made a robust Cripps, and Mr. Arthur Wright contributed an excellent character sketch as Coombe. Henry Corket was capitally played by Mr. Ralph Leon; in the thankless part of Olive Skinner Miss Mary Glenbrane made the most of her few opportunities; and Miss Margaret Rooke was an amusing Tabitha.

CASTLEFORD.—ROYAL.—Sole Proprietor and Licensee, Mr. Chas. Gadsby; Business-Manager, Councillor Henry Masterman, J.P.—Miss Marie Dagmar's company with The Tyrant occupies the boards. The piece is well mounted and forcibly acted. In the title-rôle Mr. Roy Fortescue is a conspicuous success. In his fine performance he is ably seconded by Miss Marie Robson, who gives a telling impersonation of Tisbe. Homodei is admirably sustained by Mr. Percy Follis; Mr. Edward E. Louis plays Rudolph in a finished manner; Miss Jean Scott plays with sincerity and earnestness as Lady Catherine; Miss Katie Lever is a graceful and amusing Reginella; and Mr. Wilson Summers' efforts as Victor are rewarded with roars of laughter. Mr. Fred Luard also obtains a good deal of humour from the character of Nobbo; Mr. J. P. Lallan presents a bluff and soldierly Lieut. Taska; Enlie is undertaken in a praiseworthy style by Miss Lallah Shelton; while Daphne receives capable treatment at the hands of Miss Emmie Burns. Messrs. J. W. Brookes and Nicola Cavallo give able performances as Angelo's Bodyguard.

QUEEN'S THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, The Castleford Queen's Theatre Co., Ltd.; Managing Directors, Messrs. Charles Beanland and W. H Emerson.—The chief attraction here is Sahib Gustave Fasola, presenting "The Bridal Chamber," and his smart and clever illusions are watched with considerable interest. The Three Brothers Huxter, in a skilful and amusing combination, "Languid Energy," are vigorously applauded; Jack North, an eccentric comedian, scores an immediate success; Little Dot Moss's songs, dances, and banjo solos again take immensely; much appreciated also is Rene, a clever little lady juggler; Drum and Major (Tom and Katie), in an amusing act, "The Broker's Man," make one scream with laughter; Nellie Walton is heard to advantage as a singing mill girl; while Roy Beavis, as a comedy conjuror, receives much approbation. Capital pictures are again being shown by the Loyal Dominion Co.

CHATHAM.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, Messrs. C. and L. B. Barnard; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lionel Barnard.—Mr. Herbert Sleath's company is in possession here with The Woman in the Case. Miss Maud Hildyard as Claire Foster and Miss Kathleen Russell as Margaret Rolfe are worthy of much praise, their acting in the third scene being rewarded with abundant applause; excellent work is done by Mr. James Lindsay as Thompson; and the part of Julian Rolfe is in the able hands of Mr. William Kershaw.

BARNARD'S PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. L. B. Barnard.—Mlle. Dalmere's performing animals prove very attractive; the Three Rochesters scare more particularly in a barefoot sand dance; Arthur Holland pleases with his song-scena; the Borghetti Troupe are skilful and daring acrobats; Hayman and Franklin's Players create heaps of fun with their sketch Toplitsky; or, The End of the World. Also appearing are Nellie Shand, comedienne; and the Daimlers in a comedy act.

GAIETY THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Capt. H. E. Davis; Manager, Mr. G. Humphries.—The sensation of this week's programme is the Parisian dance novelty, La Fiance du Dragon, executed by Les Alex Carangeot; St. George Sylvesta mystifies with his illusory novelties; the singing of the Rhoderick Duo is appreciated; and the programme includes Percy Maye in his speciality; the Four Black Diamonds; Frank Mortimer, with chorus songs; Ruby Roya, neat little dancer; and pictures by the Edisonograph.

CHELTENHAM.—OPERA HOUSE.—General-Manager, Mr. H. Oswald Redford.—The Little Damozel pays a welcome visit. Miss Ida Molesworth as Julie Alardy, the heroine, is piquant, pert, spiteful, and alluring by turns—an excellent study; Mr. George A. Brandram is exceptionally good also as Captain Neil Partington; Mr. Frank Lacy is effective as Recklaw Poole; Mr. Townsend Whitling's study of Walter Angel is very good; Mr. Mark Blow is an interesting stage dude as the Hon. Fitzroy Lock; Sybil Craven is nicely played by Miss Roxby Barton. Minor parts are efficiently sustained by Messrs. Julian Cross, W. J. Stack, E. L. Hocking, and A. Redmond.

CHESTER.—ROYALTY THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. B. Fountaine.—Mr. George Dance's excellent company presents Our Miss Gibbs. The title-rôle is delightfully interpreted by Miss Kathleen Courtney, whose exquisite voice, finished acting, and enchanting vivacity delight the audience; Mr. Theodore Leonard as Timothy Gibbs keeps the house in a roar of merriment from start to finish; the Hon. H. Pierrepoint of Mr. Tom Shelford is a clever and amusing portrayal; Mr. J. E. Stevenson as Slithers does full justice to his tricky part, and Mr. Craufurd Kent capably interprets the love-sick Lord Eynsford. Highly creditable, too, are the character parts of Mr. Ernest Darrell as the Earl of St. Ives and Mr. De Solla as Mr. Beavis. Miss Gladys Ivery gives winsomeness and distinction to Lady Elizabeth, and the graceful figure of Miss Nancy Hervyn as Mme. Jeanne, idealised her portrayal of the merry modiste. Miss Winifred Knightley as the Duchess and Miss Jeannie Richards as Mrs. Farquhar are typical and efficient in their respective parts.

COLCHESTER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Charles Macdona; Lessee and Manager, Mr. F. Graham Macdona.—The Arcadians, billed for six nights, is playing to bumper houses. Mr. Chas. A. Stephenson as Simplicitas is clever and bright; Mr. Alfred Beers as Peter Doody is exceedingly droll; Mr. Arthur S. Macdonald smartly depicts the engaging rôle of Jack Meadows, and as Eileen Miss Gladys May is sprightly and charming. Miss Gertrude Aylward makes a popular Mrs. Smith; Miss Sybil Tancredi sings with culture as Sombra.

HIPPODROME.—Directors, Messrs. Fredk. Mouillot and Walter de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ben de Frece.—The big item this week is The Boy Scout, the company comprising Mr. Chas. Geoffrey, Mr. Martin Sands, Miss Josie Beltram, and Miss Crissie Francess. The programme also includes the Hamiltons, comedians; Elsie Athas, speciality comedienne; Denaro Brothers, juvenile hand balancers, equilibrists, and acrobats; Cissy Lupino, speciality dancer; Phil Kaufman, descriptive vocalist; and Fred Godfrey, comedian, with good pictures to conclude.

CORK.—OPERA HOUSE.—Manager, Mr. R. J. Bell.—The Sleeping Beauty occupies the Opera House with great success. Miss Adele Roze as Prince Charming plays in dashing style; as Bo-Peep Miss Nellie Scorey proves very versatile, being a clever flautist and a nimble acrobat; Miss Alyce Wyllyams makes a pretty Princess Beauty. The comic element is well sustained by Mr. Richard Teasdale as King Ruby, Mr. Sidney Godfrey as Selina, Mr. Joe Monkhouse as Bamboozleum, Mr. Edward Hanl amusing Dame, and keeps the ball of fun merrily rolling; Mr. J. W. Gallagher as Jack is exceedingly funny, and is one of the hits of the evening; the Muggies of Mr. Fred Acton is worthy of special mention; Miss Kitty Russell is a very dainty Jill; Mr. Edgar Martell gives an excellent imitation of the Goose; the Miltons cause much merriment in a comical and clever skating act; specialities are provided by the Eight Sydney Girls, who give an excellent display of dancing, and the Society Quartette, whose singing and dancing is very popular.

HIPPODROME.—General-Manager, Mr. Geo. Weldon.—Kirk and Saraski (two ladies), in a very clever aquatic act, richly deserve the hearty reception accorded them; the Six Manchester Lads are a smart combination, and submit a clever dancing speciality, "In the Old Oak Tree," which is well received; the Victors are clever acrobatic barrel jumpers; Syd Garti and Lucky Law provide a popular and humorous turn; Amy Alnutt is a successful chorus singer; the Bros. Graham give a very good comedy and acrobatic turn, which evokes much laughter; the barefoot dancing of Lily Belle is much appreciated; and the animated pictures complete a very enjoyable programme.

DONCASTER.—NEW GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE, LTD.—Manager, Mr. J. W. Chapman.—Robinson Crusoe was presented here by Mr. E. C. Jazon's company. Miss Florence Lewis was loudly acclaimed in the titular rôle; Miss Carlotta Wood as Polly Perkins, created a good impression; and Miss May De Rowse submitted a fine assumption of Tom Bowling; Mark Lane was screamingly funny as Dame Crusoe; a meed of praise must be awarded to Mr. Aldro Lukos, who represented the Monkey. The chorus was tuneful and well-balanced, and included a number of sweet voices. Pleasing specialities were contributed by the Countess, the Eduns, Aldro Lukos, and Messrs. Williams and Warden.

DUBLIN.—GAIETY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frederick Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Charles Hyland.—The pantomime of Dick Whittington and His Cat concludes here to-night after a very successful run.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frederick Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Charles Terry.—This week finishes the annual opera season of the Moody-Manners Co., Ltd. On Monday Samson and Delilah was reproduced before a crowded audience, Mlle. Zelie de Lussan and Mr. Philip Brozel both appearing with great success in their respective parts of Delilah and Samson. La Traviata, The Bohemian Girl, The Masked Ball, Cavalleria Rusticana and Pagliacci, Tannhäuser, and Carmen are announced for the remainder of the week.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Marriott Watson; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. F. Wright.—This week the boards are occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Mackay with Rollicking Rory. The title-rôle is capably filled by Mr. Chalmers Mackay, who displays considerable ability; Mrs. Mackay submitted a powerful reading of Grace D'Arcy; and Miss Nana Flensburg was pleasing and effective as Rosie. Mr. J. P. MacBride, a capital Desmond, sings capitally.

EMPIRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager and Secretary, Mr. George H. Marsh.—The attraction here this week is the celebrated comedian Mr. W. J. Churchill, whose funny patter keeps the house in the best of humour; the Newmans perform new and original bicycle feats; Musical Silvo contributes musical selections which are warmly appreciated; and J. H. Scotland's songs are well received; as a Scotch comedian George Roe scores a success; Ethel Arundel, an engaging soubrette, has a host of admirers; in a musical comedy sketch, entitled The Dude's Wooing, Mr. Tom Bryce is nightly recalled. The de Rells and the Empire pictures complete the programme.

TIVOLI.—General-Manager, Mr. Charles M. Jones; Assistant-Manager, Mr. H. A. Murphy.—This week's variety programme here includes: Charles Prelle's Bijou Circus; Sam Richards' Six White Boys; Tom and Neal, burlesque wrestlers; Beatrice Allen, dainty comedienne; Lee and Bentley, in their sketch, The King's Counsel; Tom Dean, comedian; Ethel Brailsford, comedienne; Milton and Horton, comedy triple bar artists; Brothers St. Clair, and the Bioscope.

WORLD'S FAIR AND MUSIC HALL.—Proprietor, Mr. C. A. James.—The following artists are appearing here: Warren and Granville, comedy artists; Teddy Lennon, comedian and dancer; George Mack, descriptive vocalist; Marie Woolstan, ballad vocalist; Ted Heaton, comic vocalist; and the cinematograph.

DUDLEY.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. Maurice Clement; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. W. Tilley.—Pantomime again reigns here under the popular title of The Babes in the Wood. Miss Jennie Linwood makes a bright and captivating Robin Hood; Miss Lillian Jeffries a sweet and graceful Maid Marian; and a special feature is the dainty and lady-like representations of the Babes by the young and pretty Misses Elsie Videau and Phyllis Hughes. The fun is kept fast and furious, being contributed by Mr. J. W. Cooper as the Baron, Mr. W. B. Freer as Billikin, and Messrs. Fyne and Hurley as Killem and Eatem; Mr. Alec Godfrey does well as Agnes Lizzie Snowdrop; and Mr. Harold Godwin as Herne the Hunter, and Miss Madge Bell as the Fairy both sang well; Miss Millie Gordon as première danseuse, and the Asturias Troupe of National dancers deserve special praise.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, the Midland Entertainment Corporation, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. F. H. Waters.—The Friscos, Continental eccentrics, occupy first position here this week; Ernesto, juggler and musical equilibrist, performs clever tricks; the Raymond Trio are really good in their musical and dancing act; and the Barrys, character vocalists, are in charming voice; Tom Garland proves himself an expert ventriloquist, and Bert Anderson keeps up a continuel fire of wit during his smart turn as an illusionist; Baby Vi Davis is very much at ease as a vocalist and dancer; the Empire Pictures are both dramatic and amusing.

DUNDEE.—HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Manager, Mr. Louis Karpe.—The curtain will ring down to-night on Mr. Robert Arthur's admirable pantomime Cinderella. On Monday evening Miss Agnes Tandy, the popular principal boy, against medical advice, began the performance, but was unable to continue, and her part was undertaken by Miss Dollie Hook, the second boy, who gave a wonderfully good performance. Mr. Harry Ongar (Dandini) has introduced a new song this week, "One of the girls," which proves a popular item; Messrs. E. Statham Staples and Alfred Clark have added to the comic department, their contributions being in the best vein of pantomime; Cinderella is admirably portrayed by Miss Felicia Firmen; Miss Dorothy Moulton is an exceedingly graceful Fairy Godmother; and Mr. W. Leopold, jun., an agreeable Capers. A word of praise is due to the Lottie Stone Troupe, whose dainty and agile dancing has added much to the attractive nature of the pantomime.

KING'S THEATRE AND HIPPODROME, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Moul; Manager, Mr. S. McIntosh.—An interesting programme is headed by Cornalla and Eddie, whose act is a capital combination of clever acrobatic work and delicious comedy; James Willard and company receive well-deserved applause for their splendidly acted playlet, The Ace of Hearts; Tiny Arnold sings and dances cleverly; Johnny Walker enlivens the house with his rollicking ditties and smart patter; Rowlands and Ford, Welsh and Scotch comedians, are distinctly funny; King Luis and Partner display strength and equilibrium of a remarkable order in a novel turn; Ancie Gerrard renders several flute and piccolo solos in tasteful manner; Kelly and Agnes introduce plenty of humour into their racy act, and several capital films are exhibited by the Kingscope.

GAIETY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Moul; Manager, Mr. S. McIntosh.—Mr. Charles Harrington's company is playing to good business here in The Octoroon. A fine manly Salem Scudder is found in Mr. C. Harrington; Jacob M'Closky is imbued with due ferocity by Mr. G. Lubinoff; Mr. John Boehm infuses much pathos into the part of Old Uncle Pete; Mr. John Gibson gives an able impersonation of Lafouche; Mr. Reginald Kloof contributes a life-like embodiment of Wah-no-Tee; Paul is smartly enacted by Miss Gem Lloyd; Miss May Vernon is seen to advantage in the rôle of Mrs. Peyton; Zoe is played with appropriate tenderness by Miss Hero Hathaway; Miss E. Turner Elliott does ample justice to the part of Dora Sunnyside; and Grace and Minnie have excellent representatives in Miss H. Johnson and Miss Jessie Green respectively.

KINNAIRD HALL.—Hamilton's Excursions complete a successful season here to-night. Mr. Claude Howell, the genial guide, took a complimentary benefit on Friday evening, when, in addition to the ordinary company, a host of local talent assisted.

DURHAM.—THE PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. T. C. Rawes.—We have here this week Agnes Moreno and company, who are enthusiastically received, in an original scena, An Old Time Story; Hinton and Wooton, in their football match on bicycles, as usual, prove popular; and the Lizzette Trio of ladies receive loud applause for a clever acrobatic act; Neumann and Browne, the bachelors, raise hearty laughter; the singing of Helen Martin is worthy of praise; Mark Hanbury is a comedian of merit; and Molly Augarde sings sensible songs. An interesting picture by the Cathedoscope completes.

ASSEMBLY ROOMS THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Rushworth.—Mr. T. N. Walter's company, in the musical comedy, The Flower Girl, was to be here from Thursday to Saturday.

EASTBOURNE.—DEVONSHIRE PARK THEATRE.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Murray King and Clark.—Mr. H. Armitage and Arthur Leigh's company is appearing here in With Edged Tools. Mr. Hamilton Deane and Mr. Hefry Dunn share honours for their able work as Jack and Guy; Mr. Campbell Goldsmith gives a strong and penetrating performance as the villainous slave-driver Durnovo; Mr. J. D. Geddes gives a sound rendering of the part of Sir John Meredith; Mr. Albert Campbell is a good Maurice Gordon; and in the smaller parts of the doctor and servant Mr. Arles Conway and Mr. Frank Layton do well. Miss Marie Leonhard shows great skill and ability as Jocelyn Gordon; Miss Marion Fawcett does polished work as Lady Cantourne; Miss Marguerite Cellier is a satisfactory Millicent; and clever help comes from Miss Violet Thorbold as Lady Herries and Miss Florence Dulhunty as Marie, the native girl.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr Sidney W. Winter; Manager, Mr. E. W. Holford.—In place of the usual variety bill Mr. Joe Collins' company is appearing here in Puss in Boots, as bright and pretty a pantomime as could be desired. Miss Lucia Collins is an attractively charming principal boy, Juan; Miss Eva Ellis sings very sweetly, and acts with grace and cleverness as Princess Carita; Miss Elsie Don is a handsome and striking Lola; Miss Josie Hammersley is a dainty and refined Perditia, the fairy; and other pleasing ladies fill a big cast. Mr. Frank Bertram provides many laughs as the widow Donna Dolores; Mr. Wyn Weaver, in a really funny and characteristic manner, does excellent work as King Komilfo; Mr. Billy Young and Mr. Charles Jackson are a happy pair; Sancho and Pancho, and take a good share in the merriment; Mr. Algenon Lee is an amusing Bilbalio; and Mr. Bryden Currie as the cat, Grimalkin, is one of the best seen here for a very long time. Mr. William Myles is the musical conductor, and he has put some excellent work into the well-arranged and tuneful music. The Six Monte Carlo Girls are very capable dancers; and the Eight Gems give evidence of their ability.

EDINBURGH.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—Managing Directors, Mr. F. W. Wyndham and Mr. Geo T. Minshull; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. M Downie.—The Dollar Princess, which Mr. George Edwardes's company is playing here, has undergone some alteration since it was first in Edinburgh, and the attractiveness of the piece is increased by the changes which have been introduced. Mr. Leonard Mackay now plays the part of Freddy Fairfax, with the sound method and careful attention to detail which mark the work of this excellent actor and vocalist; Mr. W. Louis Bradfield, graceful, easy and humorous, is exceedingly happy in the rôle of Harry Q. Conder; and Mr. Eric Thorne is amusing in a part which offers him fewer opportunities than the characters in which he has lately been seen. The charming personality of Miss Clara Evelyn, and the liquid notes of her expressive voice enable her to make a complete triumph in her impersonation of Alice; Miss Norma Whalley, an actress of prepossessing appearance, who is gifted as a singer and has a sense of humour, is admirable as Olga, while Miss Mabel Russell's dainty ways, her delightful singing, and beautiful dancing draw forth the enthusiastic plaudits of the audience. Mr. Paul Plunkett is notably good as John, Earl of Quorn, and a capital bit of work is contributed by Mr. Percy Davison as Sir James McGregor; his duet and dance with Miss Russell being heartily encored. The choruses are sung with precision and effect under the direction of Mr. Thomas M. Tunbridge, who likewise handled the orchestra in a masterly manner. The mise-en scène is characteristic of Mr. George Edwardes at his best, and the play is assured of crowded houses during its run of a fortnight.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Directors, Mr. F. W. Wyndham and Mr. Geo. T. Minshull; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Whitehead.—Crowded houses continue to testify to the popularity of Humpty Dumpty, which promises to equal any previous record in the long list of Royal pantomimes. Amusing election gags have this week added not a little to the humours of the comedians, whose efforts in the direction of fun-making are exceedingly happy. Songs, dances, and odd jests go with great effect, and the many fine spectacular scenes are justly admired. The leading performers have become firmly established in public favour, the list including, among the ladies, Miss Iris Banfield, Miss Iris Coley, Miss Maggie Fraser, Miss Zoe Gordon, Miss Radie Hurman, and Miss Clare Hartland. Mr. Ivan Berlyn, Mr. Joe Nightingale, Mr. Jack Lane, Mr. Ian Lloyd Mackenzie, Mr. Shaun Glenville, and Mr. Arthur Burgoyne work admirably in their respective human rôles; while Queen and Le Brun find their opportunities as a Cow and a Horse. The Tiller troupe of dancers put much lively and energetic work into several special turns.

KING'S THEATRE.—General-Manager Mr. Amand Mascard.—The Babes in the Wood is still holding its own amongst other attractions in the city, and the members of the clever company who are responsible for the success of the production have introduced much new business, and several fresh songs which bear the hall mark of success. The fun of Mr. Will Terry and Mr. Sam Fay as the villains does not stale with repetition, and the vivacity of those excellent actresses Mrs. Mollie Woolstenhulme, Miss Dolly Elsworthy, and Miss Kitty Douglas suffers no abatement as the run of the piece continues. The pretty children, Baby Boden and Miss Vi Wilson, still delight the audiences, and the pantomime goes to the accompaniment of applause and laughter every evening.

EMPIRE PALACE THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. Aynsley Cook.—The rousing reception accorded to Reano and his fine body of instrumentalists on their return visit to Edinburgh must have been very gratifying to the enterprising conductor and his company. Mr. J. L. Shine and company repeat their striking success in the pleasant domestic sketch Hogmanay; the Westwoods give an excellent exhibition of expert cycle riding; Walter and May are among the foremost coloured singers and dancers imported from America; J. A. Wilson with his wonderful dog, Private Towser, form a happy pair of performers; and Olive Lenton, with a full chorus, appears in a tasteful scena entitled Harvest Home. The single-handed turns include Leonie Dixon, a smart speciality dancer; Violet Stockelle, a dainty comedienne; and Larry Lewis, who provokes laughter as an eccentric comedian. The American bioscope pictures are up to date.

COOKE'S ROYAL CIRCUS.—Proprietor, Mr. John Henry Cooke; Manager, Mr. Talbot Cooke.—Mr. Cooke has found a strong attraction in Siberia, a spectacle which is adapted to the arena with all the well-known skill of the experienced caterer for the public. The scenes in the ring partake of the dash, interest, and variety for which Mr. Cooke's company are remarkable, an especially seasonable and amusing burlesque of an election meeting being received with shouts of laughter. The close of Miss Cooke's charming exhibition of her power in horse-training was on Monday evening applauded to the echo, and the Earl of Haddington, who occupied a box, presented the fair equestrienne with a handsome bouquet.

EXETER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Chairman and Managing Director, Mr. Edward J. Domville, J.P.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy M. Dunsford.—The concluding week of Red Riding Hood's stay in Exeter was entered upon on Monday, and the production maintains its popularity to the last. One or two changes have been made in the cast, Miss Madge Campbell appearing very successfully as Boy Blue, Miss Beatrice Varley impersonating Prince Charming in good style, and Miss Ethel May playing with vivacious charm as Robin Hood.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred Karno; Resident and Acting-Manager, Mr. Frederick Sandy.—An enjoyable programme here has Brinn for its chief attraction. His juggling with heavy guns and other impedimenta of a battleship is greatly appreciated. A very pleasing turn is that of Charles Baron's burlesque menagerie, another excellent item being the appearance of Walter King, the doleful one. Chas. Lewis contributes a ventriloquial act of distinct merit; Burns and Bentley are a smart dancing team, and Mabel Mignon, comedienne and dancer, is also well received.

FALKIRK.—THE GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. H. C. Ebbutt.—Messrs. Little and Darcy are responsible for the production of that funny and interesting pantomime, Dick Whittington, which attracts large houses each evening. Miss Helen Mohr as Alice displays much versatility in her acting, singing, and dancing; Mr. Sidney T. Russell does well as Idle Jack, and, along with the principal girl, introduces some clever dancing; Miss Jennie Machay takes the part of the Good Fairy, which she impersonates very creditably; while as Dashing Dick Miss Nina Carlton makes a sprightly actress. The Dame is effectively enacted by Mr. Jack McKenzie.

GAINSBOROUGH.—KING'S THEATRE.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Lewers and Bennett; Resident-Manager, Mr. Walter Norman.—Mr. Wentworth Croke's company appeared here on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, in The Prodigal Son. Mr. Ernest Owtrimm and Mr. Mark Draper gave excellent representations of the two brothers Magnus and Oscar. Miss Sara Dudley, in the dual character of Thora and Elin, was all that could be desired; and Miss Lily Crammonde was excellent as Helga. Messrs. Chas. Sewell and Arthur Holland gave good character studies of the Governor and Neilsen; Miss Florence Lovell as Anna and Miss Maude Lockyer as the Factor's Sister were equally capable. Scenery and general mounting good. The rest of the week is occupied by The Cingalee.

GATESHEAD. — KING'S THEATRE. — Lessees, United County Theatre, Ltd.; Chairman, Mr. Alfred Moul; Local Manager and Licensee, Councillor H. Arnold.—"Starring" here this week is Alfred Marschall, in a series of wonderful balancing feats; Victor Widdicombe and company, in the comedy episode Her Devonshire Dad, are highly successful; Sid Cotterell and his company return to score once more with The Substitute; Dancit an American dancing marvel, is accorded flattering praise; Hampton and Bauman, coloured entertainers, merit the applause accorded; Norah Noble is a dainty comedienne; and Harry Harvey, a local comedian, and the Kingscope are other attractive items submitted.

METROPOLE THEATRE.—Sole Lessee, Mr. F. W. Bolam; General-Manager, Mr. R. G. Elder; Acting-Manager, Mr. Ernest Dixon.—Mr. T. Arthur Jones's company, in When Other Lips, forms the attraction here this week. A manly Ted Daunton is presented by Mr. John Davidson; Basil Cunningham is effectively portrayed by Mr. Juan D'Albert; an amusing Tommy Neccles is done by Mr. Charles Preece; there is much that is good in Mr. Jones's impersonation of Jenkins; Mr. F. Thorpe-Tracey makes a capital Dodble Topwash; Miss Marie Daventry gracefully impersonates Ruth Lingley; a telling depiction of Octavia is given by Miss F. Melrose Millett; and other parts are well done.

GLASGOW.—KING'S, LTD.—Managing Directors, Messrs. F. W. Wyndham and G. T. Minshull; Business Manager, Mr. Hugh Macfarlane.—Mr. Robert Courtneidge's company is again visiting the West-end house in that delightful musical fantasy, The Arcadians. Mr. Walter Passmore is leading comedian this time, and as Simplicitas scores with every line; Miss Ethel Erskine again fills the rôle of Sombra, and sings and acts with all her wonted grace and charm; other Arcadians being represented with pleasing effect by Misses Mabel Munro and Margaret Paton, and Messrs. Douglas Phillips, and Dalton Murray; Mr. Oliver J. Round repeats his extremely funny impersonation of the jockey Doody; as depicted by Mr. Harold E. Pearce, Jack Meadows proves a prepossessing lover, the kindred part, Eileen Cavanagh, having a winsome exponent in Miss Billie Sinclair; Miss Veronica Brady makes Mrs. Smith the embodiment of good nature; the Bobby of Mr. Louis Victor is particularly smart; and Mr. Ivan Cleveland bears himself well as Sir George Paddock. The chorus and orchestra are under the able direction of Mr. Edwin Thornton.

ROYALTY.—Sub-Lessees, the Scottish Playgoers, Ltd.—Manager, Mr. Alfred Wareing.—After another successful run of Mr. Neil Munro's play, Macpherson, the Repertory Company on Wednesday revived Sir W. S. Gilbert's amusing comedy, The Palace of Truth. Since the play was given here in November one or two slight changes have taken place in the cast, but the humour of the dialogue is as telling as ever, and the public interest in this early example of Gilbertian wit shows that the Repertory Company were well justified in producing it. A new one-act play, Coming Home, was given in front for the first time on any stage, and a notice of this will be found in another column.

GRAND.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; District Manager, Mr. B. G. Maclachlan; Resident Manager, Mr. W. Christie Grant.—The rush on Mother Goose continues. Needless to say, Neil Kenyon, in the title-rôle, still continues popular, his pawky sallies causing roars of laughter. Jack O'Connor as Jack Goose also wins favour, and his versatility and humorous resource seem unbounded. Of his various skits, the "Boy Scout" convulses old and young. Lily Morris (a great local pet) as Colin, nightly adds to her admirers by her attractive movements and fine singing. As Gretchen, May Moore Duprez, although only joining the company a week or two ago, has already made a wonderful impression, her Dutch business and dancing making quite a hit. Fred Allandale, as the Laird, gives a stylish performance, and has a couple of fine vocal numbers to his credit in "Don't take me Home" and "Someone to Cuddle." Mr. Charles A. East makes a successful Mayor, which remark is equally applicable to R. B. Drysdale in the dual-rôle of King Goose and Lawyer Cantankerous. Joe Arthur as the Goose acts capitally, as also do Messrs. B. Moran and Luke Dawe as the performing horse High Flyer. The Satanic performance of Alex. Davidson as the Demon is meritorious, his rendering of "If I were King of All" being most effective. Rhoda Gordon as Jill Goose, Ray Gordon as Lady Ida, and Howell Hersee as Fairy all make modest but winsome appearances. Lily Edwards is a dashing Erie, and her new song, "I must go home to-night," went well.

PRINCESS'S.—Proprietor, Mr. Rich Waldon; Acting Manager, Mr. Hugh Murdoch.—Willie Winkie still continues to keep the folks of the South Side in continuous merriment. Miss Jessie Templeton is still the dashing Willie, and her singing is thoroughly appreciated. Miss Venie Clements as Brenda is immensely popular, her juvenile impersonation being one of the hits of the panto. That old Princess idol, Miss Edith Haley, is capital as Teddy. Mr. Harry Levaine has fallen into the part of Muggins with great aptitude, and gets through a lot of excellent work; he is ably supported by Mr. Barry Gilmour, who, as 'Enery, has long since "caught on." Mr. Harry McClelland and Mr. Fred. Ingram as Baron Winkie and Liza respectively, are all that could be desired. Lanky and Swanky are effectively represented by Messrs. Mount Stephens and Harry Rennior. The Sisters Crystal as Rab and Jeannie do excellently in their parts, and their singing and dancing are alike good. The accustomed Scotch character, this year Mac Solder, is entrusted to Mr. Billy Oswald, who makes quite the most of it. The Misses Nybloc and Temple in their respective parts of Silvia and Dr. Mischief are worthy of mention, and a like remark applies to Miss Madge Locke as Robin, and Miss Lily Wright as Polly Primrose.

METROPOLE, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Arthur Jefferson; Acting-Manager, Mr. G. Gordon Jefferson.—Mr. Evelyn O'Dell and his company are here in The Old Home, in which Mr. O'Dell gives a natural delineation of the Rev. Eric Armstrong. Mr. Charles Franmore touchingly portrays the old fisherman Daddy Dean; while Miss Nina Blake-Adams gives an excellent rendering of his "devil-may-care" daughter, Hazel Dean. Mr. Fred L. Conninghame is very amusing as the gruff old braggart Sam Adams, and Mrs. L. W. Braithwaite makes a motherly Bridget Donoghan. Villainy is well expressed by Mr. Horatio Sinclair as Lord Avondale. Mr. Fred. Stone as mine host of the Mariner's Rest, and Miss Ethel Ashleigh as his daughter Polly, are good. A strong cast is completed by Mr. John Ernest as a fisherman; Mr. Harry Dean as the Village Doctor; Mr. Tom Baker as Ned Somerton; and Mr. Frank Vesey as Joe Strong. A fine setting is that of Lord Avondale's Oak room in the third act.

LYCEUM.—Proprietor, Mr. Rich Waldon; Resident Manager, Mr. J. H. Oakden.—The Bad Girl of the Family is attracting large audiences. In the title-rôle Miss Violet Crossley acts her part to perfection; Miss Daisie Cook as Gladys Erskine is also very good; Mr. Rich. A. Greene as Lieut. Marsh, R.N. had also a good reception; Mr. Luke Forster as the wealthy Jewish money-lender was all that could be desired, as also was Mr. Geo. R. Montford as his son Harry Gordon. The comic element, in the hands of Miss Amy Randolph and Mr. Tom May, is capital.

EMPIRE.—District-Manager, Mr. S. Gething; Resident Manager, Mr. Geo. F. Reynolds.—Adeline Boyer, the Californian dancer, tops the bill, and contributes her interesting and well-staged dancing act. A Princess of Israel. An excellent reception is given that clever vocalist, L'Incognita. Millie Engler and company cause much fun with their farcical sketch, Beauty and the Burglar, in which Miss Engler sings sweetly, and Miss Louie Linsley is very amusing as the servant girl. The Bensons repeat their previous success with their vocal, musical, and comedy turn. Alfred H. West is heartily applauded for his pianoforte selections; Richard Corbin and his dogs again show the perfection to which the training of animals has been brought; Jack Smiles, in his "Months and Months" song and his eccentric dancing, takes well; Bert Errol gives an amusing and clever turn as a lady vocalist; and Rita Rhylie proves herself a dainty comedienne. The Bioscope, with the latest films and the election results keeps the entertainment going briskly.

PAVILION, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Evan Good.—One of the cleverest dancing turns seen here for a long time is heading this bill this week—the Four Fords, whose efforts have met with hearty and enthusiastic approval; Arden and Abel once more cause roars of laughter with that intensely funny sketch, Three of a Kind; Bellong Bros. give a novel and daring cycling and acrobatic turn; Dave Samuels as a Hebrew delineator is full of quaint touches; Edie Veno is an eccentric comedienne of great originality; Fanny Humber contributes a cleverly diversified musical and dancing turn; Rastus and Banks in song and dance take extremely well; and an ingenious variation in acrobatic turns is provided by the Four Panamas in their pantomime speciality, The Delineator.

PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. Rich. Waldon; General Manager, Mr. Harry M'Helvie.—George Gray, in his sketch, The Fighting Parson, is loudly applauded; an enjoyable diversion is made by the El Tampico Quartette; Bertha De Pas provides a pleasing performance in the low comedy line; Wal Croft makes a hit with his Scotch character sketch The Last Roll Call, being ably assisted by Miss Kathleen Naughton; and others who contribute to the entertainment are Daisy Taylor, comedienne; the Spanish Goldinis; Montes and Welma, high leaping act; and Will Leslie, Scotch comedian.

COLISEUM.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; District Manager, Mr. S. Gething; Resident Manager, Mr. Harry Burdette.—Herbert Darnley's Company of Comedians in The Barnstormers is exceedingly amusing; another interesting turn is that provided by the Lukushimas, a clever troupe of Japanese acrobats and balancers; the Benrows, clever musical and vocal specialists, fill the place vacated by Chas. Dares' Minstrels, and are heartily applauded; other notable turns include the Musical Gees in The Musical Smithy; the Rawsons, vocal and musical entertainers; Ross and Lewis, eccentric dancers; Harry Leybourne, comedian and mimic; Harry Bedford, character comedian; and the Royal Delomes, dancing specialists, in the Phantom Clogs.

PANOPTICON.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. A. E. Pickard.—A strong attraction is provided by Jem Mace, the veteran boxer's troupe of lady athletes, including Miss Nora Sullivan, who displayed wonderful feats of strength; D. J. Pedley is very quaint; Patricia Lind, a clever comedienne with good songs; J. J. Daly, comedian; and the Bioscope with a capital selection of pictures, complete the programme.

GLOUCESTER. — PALACE.—Owners, Messrs. Poole's Theatres, Ltd.; Director, Mr. C. W. Poole.—Those clever comedy acrobats, Wild, Willie, and West, are here again, and go better than ever; La Belle Lumière, in electric speciality dances, provides a capital performance; Arthur Melrose, comedian and word whistler, is heartily applauded for a clever turn; and Tony Iveson as the "Ragman at the Piano" is as entertaining as ever; Lillian, trick cyclist, is good; and Terry and Bentley are smart; Woolmer Young, comedian, is quite to the liking of the audience; and Albert St. Clair, double-voiced vocalist, wins applause.

GREENOCK.—KING'S THEATRE.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. A. B. and J. J. Wright.—The Gay Gordons proves highly popular here. Miss Clarice Lockstone and Mr. William Greene are excellent in the two principal rôles. Mr. Edward Carlton is exceedingly funny as Nat the showman; Mr. W. H. Desmond is quaint and grotesque as Edmund; and Mr. Greville Hayes submits a capital impersonation of the American millionaire. Miss Florrie Groves makes the most of her opportunities as Charlotte; the rôle of Victoria is pleasingly rendered by Miss Mabel Dent; Miss Ada Mellon is a very natural Mrs. McLeod; and Miss Violet Moreme makes a handsome and dignified Lady Millicent. The scenery and dresses are greatly admired.

HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. L. Skivington.—John Warren and company, in two clever illusionary acts, "The Conjurer at Home" and "The Magic Carpet," provide the principal turns here; Derenda and Green introduce comedy juggling of a very clever kind; Charles Banks, with the assistance of his well-trained dog, wins favour; Chorley and Conner entertain with their lively patter and humorous songs; and Maud Vera is a pleasing comedienne and dancer.

GRIMSBY.—PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. H. Curry; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. W. North.—The bright Dutch musical comedy, Miss Hook of Holland, is being very well received. Miss Gertrude Melville gives a really captivating impersonation of Sally, and sings the many songs allotted to her with pleasing charm and taste; Mr. Arthur Ballance as Bandmaster van Vuyt wins much favour for his excellent vocal work; Mr. Wood Mansey as Captain Adrian Paap also sings with fine effect; Mr. Edmond Russell as Mr. Hook leads the comedy, and gives a clever representation of this droll character; Mr. Fred Dark also creates much amusement as Simon Slinks; Mr. George Mudie, jun., gives a breezy representation of Ludwick Schnapps, and sings and dances well; and Miss Laurie Lindsley contributes excellent work in the quaint part of Mina.

THE PALACE.—General-Manager Mr. F. Verner Walford.—Athas and Collins have a comedy speciality that is at once smart and original, and the gentleman partner accomplishes some good eccentric dancing; Keen and Waller are a couple of acrobats, who combine really clever feats with some capital burlesque; the O'Hanlon Trio give a refined entertainment, and the singing of one of the ladies is much admired; Miss Violet Ray is a versatile musician, as she possesses a rich soprano voice, and is also a skilled performer on the violoncello; Colbert shows much ability as a hoop manipulator and club swinger; and Cliff Ryland repeats his former successes here.

GUERNSEY.—THEATRE ST. JULIAN'S.—Lessee, Mr. Ed. Marris; Acting-Manager, Mr. Stanley Hope.—A return is made this week to vaudeville. A funny little playlet is put on by Miss Lily and George Antley; Ray Randall, comedian, and Tony Cooper, comedian, score with their respective efforts; Hugh and High astonish all with their musical act; Harry Maynard makes a hit with his vocal successes; and Buster Brown gives demonstrations in skating.

HALIFAX.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—Max Montesole and Angus McLeod's company has done good business this week with Pinkie and the Fairies. Miss Hetty Kenyon is a dainty Queen of the Fairies; Miss Hermione Gingold is a great favourite as Pinkie; Charles Chappell is a happy, natural Tommy; Miss Dolly Sommers makes a pretty Herald; the Misses Aileen Faithful, Pegy Rae, and Kathleen Yorke make sprightly elves; Miss Estelle Theband is very successful as the Sleeping Beauty; and Miss Muriel Alston is good as Molly. Miss Lucy Caine sings and dances admirably as Cinderella; Miss Joan Maitland (Dick Whittington) and Miss Clara Milvain (the Beauty) are both good. Messrs. Cyril Twentyman (Prince Frog), S. Wilkinson (the Cat), S. Williams (the Butcher), T. P. Hayes (Irons, the gardener), R. Haines (Uncle Gregory), Miss Lucy Evelyn (Aunt Caroline), Miss H. Gunn (Aunt Imogen) maintain the humour of the play and are all excellent.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME, LTD.—Managing Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Reg. H. Foster.—Harry Tate's Motoring is proving a big draw and a hearty laughter-maker; Albert and Edmunds company are no less successful with The Tower of London; the Keppels are operatic vocalists of a high order, and receive a brilliant reception; Alice Gill, vocalist, is very popular; Ruby Dahl, with The Merry Mannikins, Charles Byron, character comedian, and the Palace Pictures complete.

GRAND THEATRE, LTD.—Managing Director, Mr. Wm. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Resident-Manager, Mr. S. Winks.—Frank M. Thorne's company is drawing good houses with Little Phil's Mother, Mr. Thorne ably taking the part of Sam Perkels. Mr. Percy Ballard is good as Frank Towers; Mr. H. W. Monte does well as Geoffrey Dyne, Mr. T. McInnes makes a typical Scots retainer as Donald Taggerty; Mr. J. E. Tomlinson is a good character study as Bill Brisket; Miss Maud Russell plays with considerable power and emotion as Ruth Towers; Miss Violet Crawford is admirable as Elspeth; Little Gertie Renaud plays her part to perfection as Phil, the crippled boy; Mr. H. T. Booth's Prison Chaplain is a praiseworthy effort.

HAMILTON, N.B.—HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Bostock; General-Manager, Mr. Rene Clayton.—Pantomime is the fare supplied at the Hippodrome this week, Dick Whittington and His Cat being the attraction. Dashing Dick and his winsome sweetheart Alice are admirably rendered by the Sisters Cora. Idle Jock is amusingly rendered by Mr. W. Jones; Mr. Sam Thomson being the Alderman. Mr. Michael Kemble and Miss Connie Eswin sing well in the rôles of Demon and Fairy. Specialties are Lindsay and Harte, Sisters Cora, The Four Killarney Girls, and the Celesta Quartette.

HANLEY. — ROYAL. — Proprietors, Hanley Theatres and Circus Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. G. Elphinstone.—The funniest and most successful pantomime ever produced in Hanley is Messrs. Dotfridge and Longden's Robinson Crusoe, now in its fourth week, and still attracting splendid business. Miss Maude Mortimer takes her benefit on Friday, January 28, when a fine house is assured. Miss Yolande Noble, Arnold Richardson, C. Heslop, H. Flockton Foster, and Elma and Elton are warm favourites.

GRAND.—Proprietors, Hanley Theatres and Circus Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. G. Elphinstone; Manager, Mr. Arthur Rand. — Fine houses are being drawn to this large building, where the Jackson Family give a musical entertainment of surprising excellence and brilliancy. Frank Lister, the popular London actor, in an Australian dramatic sketch, The Sundowner, is vociferously received; Hayes and Merritt, bounding trampolinists, evoke much cheering; Thora is a novel ventriloquial act, is successful; Dorothy Dundas, a dainty vocalist, is a hit; and Charles Ulrick, the barrel king, Bert Weston, a comedian, Miss Hanid Alexander, vocalist at the piano, and the pictures are other attractions.

HARROGATE.—GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. Eric Fielding-Sm

gave a favourable reception to Miss Hilda Beverley and company in A Destroyer of Men. Miss Beverley is powerful and artistic in the part of Olga, being very ably assisted by Mr. H. Kyeland-Leigh as Count Starevitch; Mr. Herbert Pearson, in the triple rôle of Karl Mishla, an exile, Herr Runz, an Austrian detective, and Uno, the Hunchback, scores heavily; Mr. James Jarrett plays Michael Mishla in good style; Mr. Jack Armitage as Fedor, police spy, and Paul Starevitch, the Count's son, is interesting. Mr. Arthur Swaine does full justice to the part of Colonel Limevitch, and Messrs. Leonard Conroy and Tom Slater as General Drakensburg and Sergeant Krauz give valuable assistance; Miss Mary Brammer as Vida gives a sympathetic rendering, and Misses Elsie Schular and Louie Underwood as Vashti and Nadine do full justice to their respective rôles. The comedy element is safe in the hands of Mr. Edward Keith and Miss Dorothy Hildebrande.

HOUGHTON-LE-SPRING. — GAIETY.—Owners, Messrs. Hall, Ainsley, and Co.; Manager, Mr. H. L. Osmond.—This week Messrs. M. H. Glenville and Fred Osmond's company is here in For Wife and Kingdom. Mr. Reginald T. Fox as the General and Mr. Matthew H. Glenville as Captain Lubeck both give powerful performances; Mr. Edward Hobart as Sergeant Offenbach meets with much success; Miss Lydia Audre is a delightful Grand Duchess; and Miss Lilian Malvern as the Wise Woman of Gotzberg is successful. The humorous element is cleverly interwoven, and on Monday night Miss Mabel Beriton, Miss Alice Buckland, and Mr. Lewis Gordon kept a crowded house in a merry mood.

HUDDERSFIELD.—HIPPODROME.— Proprietors, the Northern Theatres Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. W. Robinson; Gen.-Man., Mr. Otto C. Culling; Resident-Manager, Mr. N. M. Robinson.—Robinson Crusoe, presented by Mr. Harry Burns, is being played twice nightly. There is plenty of good clean fun and bright singing and dancing. The cast includes Miss Minnie D'Aubyn, a dashing Crusoe, and a fine singer, with a happy smile; Miss Fanny Harris is a sweet little Polly Perkins; Mr. Arthur Aiston, an always merry Atkins; Mr. Dan Hendy, a clever acrobatic dancer, as Friday; Mr. Mark Stuart, a discreet Dame Crusoe; and Messrs. Tray and Rich, diverting as the Captain and the Mate. A well-trained chorus and some specialities from the Eight Yankee Doodle Girls also deserve notice.

PALACE — Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Herbert Garside.—The star turn here is Slaterstein, Limited, as presented by Joe Peterman and George Rickett's company. It is full of fun and bustle. Also appearing are: Miss Rosie Archer, an acceptable mimic at the piano; the Netty Janowsky troupe, in a daring acrobatic turn; Miss Minnie Warner, a bright comedienne; J. H. Greener the singing collier; Miss Edie Reynolds, a charming violin player; and the Francoli pantomimists, in a smart and lively turn. The Palace pictures are also good.

HULL.—GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Mortons, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. W. Morton.—The election has taken none of the gold from the eggs of Mother Goose, who terminates her run to-night (Saturday). Miss Lola Paley as Gretchen still keeps to the fore, and the singing of Miss Romaine (Fairy) is far above the usual heard in pantomime. The Brothers Rich have proved that as comedians they are far above the average.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Morton's, Ltd.; Mr. Geo. Morton, Manager.—A Broken Heart has caught on at the Alexandra this week. Mr. Harry Cullenford enacts John Barnard; Miss Sheila Walsh plays with great skill the rôle of Mary Barnard. The comic relief is well sustained by Mr. C. Eldred Wood as Tony Tibbets and Miss Nancy Mitchell as Sally Traverner. The play is received with much enthusiasm.

HYDE.—EMPIRE AND THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessees, Central Theatres and Franco-British Picture Co.; Managing-Director and Licensee, Mr. W. Turner; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ernest Percival.—Although The Babes in the Wood is the third pantomime in three weeks, Messrs. Somers and Saunders' company is being heartily received. The Babes have clever representatives in the Sisters Maudsley, whose songs and dances win many encores; Miss Daisy Astor is a dashing and popular Robin Hood; and Miss Lulu Lord a graceful Maid Marion. Mr. Macallister is a comical Dame, and Messrs. Denby and Dent create plenty of fun as the robbers.

ILKESTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. L. F. A. Rogers.—A Life for a Life and The Sorrows of Satan are being played here by Mr. Chas. H. Lester and company. The former piece was put on on the opening night, when Wee Winnie, a promising juvenile actress, received quite an ovation for her reading of Venetta. As Eulalie Miss Lallah Davies played feelingly; and Mr. Chas. H. Lester's impersonation of Don Leon Farnandes gained marked approval. Miss Dorothy Riddell as Kate Evelyn was quite at home in the part; and Mr. Bert Albert as Kit Oswald was very successful. Mr. Horace Buckley was amusing as Tim McCarthy; and Miss Jennie Clare made a lively Nancy Dorn. Mr. Hugh Travers realised Pedro Li Calci, the evil genius, cleverly.

INVERNESS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Mr. Burgess.—For the first three nights of this week we had Mr. George Edwardes's company in The Merry Widow. Miss Phyllis le Grand was a perfect exponent of the part of Sonia, making that personage irresistibly attractive; as the Prince Mr. Robert Needham acted with much ability; and the other serious parts were in admirable keeping. As the highly diplomatic Ambassador of Marsovia Mr. H. Sinclair Cotter was extremely diverting. A special word should be said for the clever dancing of Frou-Frou (Miss Nesta Laurel).

IPSWICH —LYCEUM THEATRE.—Mr. George Dance's excellent company in Our Miss Gibbs is here. On Monday the Hon. Hugh Pierepont was admirably played at short notice by Mr. Frank Sealey in the absence of Mr. Eustace Burnaby through indisposition; Timothy Gibbs, in the hands of Mr. Vincent Erne, is very mirth-provoking; and Lord Eynesford by Mr. Arthur S. Radcliffe is a good character study. Mr. A. Gordon Begg as the Earl of St. Ives, Mr. J. S. Durant as Slithers, and Mr. David Miller as the solicitor are excellent. Mary Gibbs is a delightful character as played by Miss Elfie Vincent, modest yet chic, and her singing, especially of the well-known "Yorkshire" song, is charming; Miss Lilian Birtles is Lady Thanet. Miss Amy Singleton is the Duchess of Munster, Miss Florence Hillow is Mrs. Farquhar, and Miss Ellaline Thorne is Madame Jeanne. The three Irish colleens are prettily played by the Misses Mollie Cole, Norah Nelle, and Olga Grey. The numerous minor parts were well filled. The dresses are superb, and the mounting is delightful.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. E. H. Bostock.—The Donaldson Brothers' realistic sketch entitled Sports in a Jungle heads the bill here, and is deservedly popular. Miss Cissie Curlette is a clever comedienne and mimic; Captain Kettle is an ingenious conjurer; and David Poole, ventriloquist, is above the ordinary. Miss Nora Emerald is good, both in singing and dancing; the Brothers Ford do a pleasing turn, their dancing being especially good; the Whittington Trio deserved the applause they evoked by their comic acrobatic exhibition.

JARROW.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. H. Lionel Locke.—Messrs. C. and F. Renads' company is here in The Swiss Express. Mr. Wilford Bailey gives a good account of Dr. Gondimar Gull; Messrs. Charles and Frederick Renad are most diverting as the eccentric servants; Mr. Victor Raymond is well placed as Dudley Green; and Mr. James Hawkes is quite at home in the part of Bob Rollingstone, Mr. Harwood Cooper causing much amusement as Jack Gadabout. Miss Dorothy Deakin makes a winsome Virginia Square.

JERSEY.—OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee, Mr. Edward Marris; Acting-Manager, Mr. Stanley Hope.—Mr. Arthur Carlton's Cinderella is an amusing and pretty production. All the parts are well filled, and amongst those particularly deserving of mention are pretty and dainty Miss Ella Wilmer as Cinderella, Miss Florence Wilton as Prince Charming, Miss Bessie Heins as a bright Dandini, and Miss Maisie Brodribb as a very taking Dolly Varden. Mr. Herbert Colley and Mr. Fred Hutchings cause roars of laughter as the Ugly Sisters; Mr. George Grand is especially funny as the Page; and Messrs. Sandy and Carl add a good deal to the amusement as Nail 'Em and Pinch 'Em. The ballets are well arranged.

KETTERING. — VICTORIA THEATRE.—Managers, Messrs. Alf. Bailey and Co.—Mr. Edward Graham Falcon's company is here with Cinderella. Miss Cecilia Gold is charming in the title-rôle, and Miss Maud Nicholls is a dashing Prince. The comic element is very strong, and the efforts put forth cause great amusement. Mr. Glen Alva as Buttons, Messrs. Harley and Harden as Slip and Slop, and Messrs. Lesby and Lawrence as the Sisters meet with hearty approval.

KING'S LYNN.—NEW ROYAL THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. B. Parcezer; Resident-Manager, Mr. Reginald Pareezer.—Mr. Arthur Carlton is presenting his popular pantomime Puss in Boots this week to the great delight of large crowds. Miss Victoria Carmen as Colin has a delightful voice, and her vivacity makes the part go with a swing; Miss Ruby Emmerson as Princess Iris is captivating; Miss Louie Love as Felina contributes some delightful songs; Miss Nancy Renshaw as Pompey introduces some nigger items; Mr. Fred Lyndo as King and Mr. Michael Madden as Queen contribute humour to the play; and the Brothers Hannaway as Rufus and Uriah create unbounded merriment. Mr. Harry Gilmore is most agile as the Cat, and the Fantasia Troupe of Dancers go through some graceful evolutions.

LANCASTER.—GRAND THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Stanley Rogers; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. C. Howitt.—An excellent presentment of Lucky Durham is made this week by Messrs. H. Armitage and Arthur Leigh's company. Mr. Edmund Kennedy supplies a fine conception of John Durham; Mr. Arthur Leigh plays with artistic realism the part of the Hon. Reginald Steighton; Mr. William Calvert does extremely well as Lord Mountfallon; as Helen Vallerton Miss Florence Tressilian is responsible for a delightful performance; Miss Dorrie Turner is well suited in the part of Margaret Steighton; Miss Frances Wolviston is a distinct success as Lady Mountfallon; and a word is also due to Miss Nellie Bonser for her portrayal of Mrs. Durham.

LEAMINGTON. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessees, Messrs. Dottridge and Longden; Manager, Mr. Chas. H. Longden; Assistant-Manager, Mr. John Halifax.—The theatre was closed during the earlier part of the week, owing to the election here, but on Thursday re-opened with performances of A Message from Mars, by Mr. F. Mouillot's company.

LEEDS.—EMPIRE.—District-Manager, Mr. T. Gerald Morton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Alex Galley.—The Boissets provide plenty of fun in A Trip to the Continent; the Will o' the Wisps, in mirth, music, and dances are one of the favourite turns; Clark and Hayden are capital musical comedy artists; interesting stories are related by Henriquette Maude, the plucky New Zealand traveller; J. W. Hall has a great reputation for making an audience laugh, and he is as popular as ever; a capital musical act is given by Olga, Elgar, and Eli Hudson; Madge Osmond, the ideal dandy, creates a good impression; Harry Drew's songs are highly appreciated; and Mabel Sinclair and Reichen's Dogs are also here.

BARRASFORD'S HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. Harry Dunford.—The Paolias go through a graceful athletic act. Lafayette Dewson, a talented pianist; Clare and Pastor, smart instrumentalists; Geo. Hall, comedian and whistler; and Mozzetto, a clever juggler, are also in the bill.

CITY VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred Wood; Acting-Manager, Mr. Sam Jones.—Haines and Borthwick supply a capital premier attraction in a sketch, Half-a-dollar; Ryder Slone's songs are much appreciated; Dora Barrington supplies a delightful operatic act; and Alf Onzo, Fred S. Howard, Diamond and Hart, and Archie Glen take well.

THE QUEEN'S.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred Wood; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Bush.—Mr. Wm. Watson's pantomime Robinson Crusoe is being presented twice nightly to crowded houses. The Waldrons are prime favourites; Hilda Claremont makes a sweet Pollie, and her remarkable singing gains her much applause; Mlle. De Rose acts spiritedly as Crusoe; J. H. Hawtry satisfactorily sustains the rôle of the King; the Sisters Gaye's dances meet with much approbation; and Miss Ruby Carlton is big favourite as a Mermaid.

LEICESTER.—ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.—Business-Manager, Mr. Walter P. Wright.—Messrs. Thos. McKenzie and C. St. John Denton's pantomime, Sinbad the Sailor, is still going strong here.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Acting-Manager, Mr. P. Allerton Turner.—A first visit is being paid here this week by Miss Dot Stephens's company in the drama, A Child of the Streets, in which Miss Stephens, who has achieved great popularity in both theatre and music hall in Leicester, plays the principal part of Doris in a charming manner. She is supported by a capable company.

PALACE THEATRE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; District-Manager, Mr. Hatton Wharton; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. Finch-Hatton; Assistant-Manager, Mr. W. S. Buccleuch.—The big attraction here this week is Olga Petronowa, the Russian conductress, and her military band. At the other end is George D'Albert; Ethel Newman scores a success with her original monologue, Her Wedding Day; Sydney James's Strolling Players are a most entertaining turn; John Scott and company are popular in Dolly's Deception; Ethel Bourne, contralto, is making a hit; Fayre and Manning are clever dancers; Lilian French dances and sings attractively; and the Bioscope shows Wild Birds in Their Haunts, a really magnificent film.

PAVILION THEATRE.—Proprietor and Director-General, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Acting-Manager, Mr. Joseph Lawrence.—Mr. Frederic Baugh is presenting Mr. Brien McCullogh (a great favourite with Leicester audiences) and company in the pathetic story of a woman's downfall, East Lynne. The only other items in the programme are Nora Stockelle, a dainty soubrette, and the Bioscope, with two good pictures.

LEIGH.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. J. W. Cragg; Manager, Mr. W. Heath.—Mr. Frederick Melville's company, in Her Road to Ruin, is playing to good houses. Mr. Charles Dickens scores continuously as Frank Temple; the Bishop is ably characterised by Mr. Dane Clarke; Mr. Alex Bradley displays the requisite amount of villainy as Philip Hardy; Miss Ada Champion gives a graceful and emotional representation of the much-wronged Jess Willoughby; Mary Dawson finds an able exponent in Miss Mabel Coleman; Miss Maud Gill makes a natural and charming May Willoughby; Mr. William de Brigord capitally sustains the rôle of Charlie Cholmondeley; Mr. Kendrew Wilson gives a clever rendition of Tom Wells; relief from the exciting incidents is provided by the excellent comedy of Mr. Harry Talbot as Billy Boots, his efforts being well seconded by Miss Grace Emery as Jenny Crackling.

GRAND THEATRE AND HIPPODROME, LTD.—Secretary and Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Woolstencroft.—The Bros. Wills, eccentric acrobats, are deservedly applauded; Miss Edie Endon is a dainty comedienne and dancer; Linn and Darius have a refined vocal and musical entertainment; Selby and Myers, comedians and dancers, are highly successful; Bostock's trained baboons are exceedingly clever; Les Zelovas, acrobatic equilibrists, provide a neat turn; Mr. Jack Martin, actor-vocalist, meets with approval; Sid Bedford and company, sketch artists, are also successful; and the Hippodrome pictures conclude.

LINCOLN.—ROYAL.—Lessees, Messrs. Seddon and Pope; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ernest Pope.—Mr. Haldane Crichton's company gave an excellent interpretation of The Cingalee on the first three evenings of the week. Miss Florence Watson ably interpreted the name-part, and Mr. Arthur Cartwright admirably played Kercher. Mr. Scott Cullen's Bobby Warren was highly entertaining; Miss Pauline Hague was charming as Lady Pat; Mr. Jack Crichton's Chambhuddy Ram and Miss Ida Ernest's Peggy were the cause of much merriment and were warm favourites; Miss Sadie Simpson was very graceful, and she introduced with Mr Geoffrey Berwick a very cleverly-done version of the Vampire Dance.

PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. A. E. Dobney.—Conway and Leland, the merry monopedes, are at the head of a very good bill here.

CENTRAL HALL.—A return visit of the Walturdaw Pictures is proving attractive, the subjects being varied and interesting and the pictures clear and steady.

LIVERPOOL. — ROTUNDA THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery.—Two Little Vagabonds is here this week, Mr. Henry R. Smith having brought a good all round company. Mr. Frank Beresford handles the part of George Thornton with considerable skill; Mr. Charles Brock affords much satisfaction as Captain Darville; the humorous rôle of Bill Muggins is capitally held by Mr. Charles L. Ludlow; Miss Dorothy Milne sympathetically portrays Marian Thornton; a pleasing Barbara Scarth comes from Miss Mabel Cooke; Mr. Edward Beecher does well as John Scarth; and the two "vagabonds" are delightfully impersonated by the Misses Helen Grenville and Ivy Millais.

STAR THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Harris Fineberg.—The attractive domestic drama Only a Little Boy is here this week, the company presenting it being that of Messrs. F. Marriott Watson and James Ussher. Mr. Watson plays strongly as the scoundrel Jim Bragstone; Miss Dot Forde is to be commended for her pathetic rendering of Billie; the distressed June finds in Miss Florence E. Florence a really able exponent; Miss Hettie Senior makes a bright and spirited Tag Raga, and earns rounds of applause; and the comedy is in the good hands of Mr. Cecil Raymond (Joshua Snell) and Miss Fanny Olive (Mona).

KELLY'S THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. W. Kelly; Acting-Manager, Mr. Reginald Grant.—Her Forbidden Marriage is here this week, among the principals being Mr. Louis Hector, whose performance of George Addison earns general approval; Mr. W. H. Porter, who presents a powerful Charles Devereux; Mr. T. Macdonald, as his rascally companion, Geoffrey Broughton; Miss Alice Bowes, a sweet Lucy; and Messrs. Fred de Vere (a humorous Timothy), Frank Denis (Sir George Lancaster), James Raymond (Dr. Fenwick), Miss Sybil Hare (Patty), and Miss Grace Lester (Lady Lancaster).

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Manners.—Jack Lorimer is here this week enjoying a rousing welcome from his numerous admirers—his latest pretty Scotch scena, Jennie McGregor, is particularly relished; Signor Rosi's Italian ballet, presenting Uncle Isadore, remains another week; May Henderson proves as lively as ever and earns rounds of applause; Vincent, the acrobatic table expert has a good turn; Stella Stahl pleases greatly with her songs and dances; Miss Marquis introduces her highly trained ponies; Cruikshank is immensely popular with his funny ways; James Stewart, the tramp pianist, keeps his audience in a merry mood; some capital dancing is executed by the eight Lancashire lads; and Mdlle. Haydee's miniature vaudeville theatre proves exceedingly interesting.

LYRIC.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry C. Arnold.—The attraction here this week is a well-presented pantomime, Babes in the Wood, for which Cullen and Carthy are responsible. It is full of fun and go, and the company is very creditable. Miss Bessie Cohen makes a dashing Robin Hood; Miss Maudie Ford as Mair Marian and the Misses Dollie Cullen and Elsie Jordison as the "Babes" are acceptable; Miss Mario Fern pleases as the Fairy Queen; and the humour is well provided by Little Cluley as the Bantam, Arthur Stratton (the Baron), Mr. Tom Drew (Dame), and Cullen and Carthy (Robbers). A number of specialities are introduced by Miss Bessie Cohen, the Granada quartette of lady dancers, Dollie and Elsie, &c.

ROYAL HIPPODROME. — Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; Resident-Manager, Mr. Walter Hassan.—Top of the bill this week is Joly Violetta, a famous French dancer, assisted by Signor Arnaud, Brazilian dancer; the Carson Brothers go through some graceful feats of strength; Willie Gardner shows himself to be an accomplished dancer on roller and ice skates; Briff, Braff, and Broff are unique comedy tumblers; Ferguson and Mack make merry with their sketch, The Dimple Sisters; as comedy artists the Arthur Gallimore Trio are a capital turn; Godfrey James, the singing collier, finds much favour; Leo and Roland are a smart couple of novelty equilibrists; Elroy, the armless wonder shows remarble deftness with his feet; and also in the company are Mark Leslie (swell coon), Wyllie (tramp musician), and Anna Heath (comedienne and dancer).

ROYAL PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank O'Toole.—The stock dramatic company here are this week engaged on The Drama of Life, in which Messrs. Harry Tresham (Harry Beech), Sydney Grant (Walter Beech), Miss Gertrude Entwistle (Sylvia Beech), Miss Lilian Radbourne (Betty Black), and Miss Gertrude Gilman (Lady Jane) are prominent. Mr. Anthony Brown's Bioscope shows Dottynob's Double.

OLYMPIA.—District-Manager, Mr. Horace Cole; Acting-Manager, Mr. Ernest Wighton.—The big thing here this week is a wrestling turnament, in which fourteen heavy-weight champions of the world take part; Ernest Cadle's funny sketch The Casey Army, is richly enjoyed; Ted E. Box makes his audience roar with laughter by reason of his humorous stories; the Marno trio of comedy acrobats are an excellent show; the Sarnthaler sextette of lady vocalists and dancers are accorded a most flattering reception; O'Malley and Brown provoke endless laughter with their trifle, You're Still a Friend of Mine; Lester Carey has some taking illustrated chorus songs; and contributions also come from the Cavallotti Brothers (instrumentalists and duettists) and Jessie Albani (comedienne).

PAVILION.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Manager, Mr. George F. Slatter.—Heading the programme here is Fred Karno's lively sketch, The Bailiff, which provokes roars of laughter; Edward Platt presents the Child trio of musicians, whose work calls forth much approval; Ted Waite is a comedian well worth listening to; Stanley and Vandyke are a clever comedy duo; Sydney Brandon smartly undertakes characters from Dickens; the Stavordale quintette of instrumentalists render several popular numbers; Les Carmody Trio have a merry juggling and acrobatic mélange; Frank E. Ford does well as a wooden-shoe dancer; and others who appear are Frances Hanlon (refined comedienne and dancer) and Will Walton (comedian).

MAIDSTONE.—PALACE.—Manager, Mr. S. Baskerville.—The following are contributing to a well-varied programme here this week: Miss Harriett Vernon, with some well-sung songs, including her latest success "Emblems"; the Howards, clever instrumentalists; Leslie Race, a successful vocalist; Hammon and Wyatt, in a smart gymnastic act; Barney Vox, a clever and amusing ventriloquist; Kisbey, the call boy; and Miss Ada Spencer, comedienne. The Palace Pictures, with some up-to-date films, complete the bill.

MANCHESTER.—ROYAL OSBORNE THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Mason.—This week the attraction here is Mr. James Kiddie's pantomime of Dick Whittington, which made a marked success at the Grand Junction Theatre last week, and is still drawing good houses.

Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Dry.—A pleasing entertainment is provided here this week by Cecil Gray, Dora Eastlake, and company, in The Last Straw, a weird drama, in one act; Tom Grave, in his sensational new motor act; Ada Oxley, in a bright sketch, entitled Peggy; the Rosses, comedians and dancers; Tony Freedman, light comedian; Wilkinson and Layton, in a new comedy sketch; the Hargreaves Trio, in a capital scena; and Les Supriskis, marvellous lady gymnasts.

GRAND JUNCTION THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Brearley.—Messrs. Hallatt and Howard's company are entertaining local audiences for a third week in Her Love Against the World, having appeared during the past fortnight at other of the Broadhead theatres, with the usual success.

QUEEN'S PARK HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. W. Meek.—A capital programme here is headed by George Mozart, the well-known burlesque laughter-maker; while another excellent turn is that of Johnson and Bert, in their novel act, entitled A Queer Customer. Will Willis, comedian, is also popular; and Tod Lowen adds an enjoyable act in new words to old melodies. Other pleasing items are the Ten Dixie Girls, in their vocal and dancing act; Hamlet, a comedy acrobatic burlesque; and Herma, gladiator and heavy-weight lifter.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Hall.—The top of the bill here this week is a very amusing turn by Chas. Austin and company, in Parker, P.C., which affords fine opportunities for burlesque humour of an enjoyable kind; Sam Mayo, the immobile comedian, is also prominent in popular favour; Cassie Walmer, the eccentric contralto, adds an accomplished comedy turn; and entertaining items are forthcoming by Archie Naish, a smart comedian at the piano; Emil Solbrig's Automatus, in an eccentric act, A Day Out; Ginsy Woolf and her Sunbeams in The Mermaid of Margate; Billy, the wonderful horse, with the human brain; and Mina Denvil, an engaging vocal comedienne.

HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Manager, Mr. Nelson Barry.—The Motor Chase runs its course here next week: Miss Julietta introduces some wonderfully well-trained sea-lions, which go through an astonishing performance; the Miles-Stavordale Quintette give a delightful musical turn, their songs without singers, a perfect imitation of the human voice on banjoes and harp, being, as usual, greatly enjoyed; Eadie and Ramsden, the musical comedy duo, are highly successful, the former having some exceedingly good and novel business; Chas. Matthews and Another do some smart jumping; the Coloured Meisters score a big success; Fred Keeton is a capital comedian; and last, but not least, O'Gust, the French clown, makes a big hit with his clever imitations.

PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Frece; Manager, Mr. A. J. Carter.—Mr. Sydney Cooper and the Tally Ho! Trio's pantomime, Cinderella, is the attraction here this week. It is a capital show, the scenery, dresses, and dancing being all one can desire. Miss Gladys Soman is a refined Prime Charming; Miss Doris Longden as Cinderella sings nicely and is a graceful dancer; Miss Fay Desmond as the Fairy Godmother pleases greatly with her excellent singing; Miss Bertha Belmore is a dashing Dandini; Mr. Fred Park, although wrestling with a severe cold, does well as the Page; Messrs. Charles Wood and Fred Anderson score as the Ugly Sisters, the latter making a hit with his "I wish I had someone to love me" ditty; and the Tally Ho! Trio as the Baron and the Broker's Men are well received throughout. The Eight Sunrays are good dancers.

TIVOLI.—Managing-Director, Mr. Charles A. Wilkes; Manager, Mr. Arthur B. Wilkes.—A very laughable farce, entitled No. 9, is produced here this week by Lawrence Brough and an excellent company. The performance is excellent throughout, and is a big success. Dainty Ruth Molloy is well received for her imitations of music-hall stars; Joe Belmont scores in a refined singing, whistling, and bird imitation novelty act; Minnie Thornton gives a clever dancing act; Lily Dyer takes well as a bâton-swinger and dancer; Kitty Cameron, comedienne, is a graceful dancer and a nice singer; Mr. and Mrs. Royston-Dene are successful in My Lady's Chamber; and Rose and Wold are smart in a comedy wire act. Picture complete.

KING'S THEATRE, LONGSIGHT.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. James R. Trippett.—Mr. John Tiller's capital pantomime Jack and Jill is playing here to full houses twice nightly, after a highly-successful week at the Queen's Park Hippodrome.

HULME HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. E. Owen.—Mr. John Tiller's delightful pantomime Red Riding Hood is here this week, and full houses are the rule. Miss Lulu Russell cuts a fine figure as Prince Valiant; Miss May Merry is very pleasing as Red Riding Hood; Miss Zena Benson is a charming Fairy; and Miss Evelyn Warren is successful as Fairy Lightwing. Mr. Benson Kleve as King Lupus scores; Mr. Fred Danvers is very amusing as the Ugly Daughter; the Brothers Hayes contribute some wonderfully clever dancing; and good support is rendered by Mr. Fred Lawrence, Mr. Charles Verno, Miss Chummie La Mara, Miss Dot Henson, and others. Some exceedingly good dancing is done by Tiller's Lotus Troupe and the Mascotte Troupe of Children, and the scenery is excellent.

MARGATE. — HIPPODROME. — Managing-Directors, Messrs. Fredk. Mouillot and Walter de Frece.—The week's programme includes the Glennie's Royal Marionettes, which is a good show, and includes the pantomime representation of The Babes in the Wood; James Chatham, whistling comedian, has made himself popular, and Nellie Neal has also scored a success as comedienne and dancer; Lang and Pleydell, the comedy duo, have provoked much laughter; and Jenny Lynne, comedienne; Nash and Nash, patterers and dancers, with Jack Rae, comedy gymnast, have individually added their quota to an attractive programme.

MERTHYR TYDFIL.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessees, The South Wales Entertainments; Manager, Mr. Albert Jackson.—The Moody-Manners Opera Company is giving a series of popular operas, and opened on Monday with a grand representation of Faust. Mr. John Child delighted his hearers with his fine singing as Faust; and Mlle. Beatrice La Palme gave a charming and artistic interpretation of Marguerite; Mephistopheles, by Mr. Wm. Anderson, was an excellent performance; and Valentine had a good representative in Mr. Graham Marr. Miss Olive Westwood was effective as Siebel; and Miss V. Barry sang well as Martha. The augmented orchestra and an efficient chorus prove a great acquisition. The week's programme also includes Tannhäuser, Carmen, Il Trovatore, Maritana, Lohengrin, and The Bohemian Girl.

TEMPERANCE HALL.—Manager, Mr. Israel Price.—The Pichel Troupe of acrobats head an attractive bill, and give a good show; Dave Carter, tenor vocalist, secures a hearty reception; Douglas and Gordon are a merry pair of Scotch comedians; and other good turns are provided by Marion Lewis, comedienne; Harl, juggler; and George Morton, comedian; and several interesting films are shown on the Biograph.

Benson.—Further capital fare was provided here this week, the bill being headed by Minola Hurst and her miniature marvels, who are well described as "the novelty of the season"; Everhart does some remarkably clever work with his hoop; and a capital ventriloquial sketch is provided by Baddow. Other good turns include Della Lav comedienne; the Lynchs, in American picture song; Jock Barrie, Scotch comedian; the Five Obraes, in their acrobatical funniosities; Jack Clarke, a popular local comedian.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. Teale Lingham.—The delightful pantomime Cinderella continues its successful career at this popular theatre, and is drawing crowded houses nightly. The popularity of Miss Iris Hoey as Cinderella, Miss Cressie Leonard as the Prince, and Miss Meg Hamilton as Dandini, is now firmly established, and no doubt much of the success of the production is due to these charming art boy song and dance, and the Brennans, in a dancing act, are very diverting; and Talbot and Pearce, in musical duologue, are well received; Herbert Shelley is always good, and as Dan the Outlaw, excels himself. The Athlones are expert athletes; and Lil O'Gorman, a comedienne who must feel gratified at her encouraging reception. The usual excellent biograph pictures are shown.

HIPPODROME THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Lessee and General-Manager, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. F. Miller.—Vonetta is creating a sensation here by her wonderful versatility and the gorgeousness of her accessories; Herbert Rule is a clever comedian; Dale and Vale, in song and dance, are entertaining; and Herbert Croxon's mimicry is of the best. George Gregson and company cause plenty of mirth in their comedy sketch, An Ideal Maid; and Paulton and Doley deserve mention no less for their humour than their skill. The Faludy acrobats are extremely clever; and Les Belles Americaines are winsome and expert. Marie Stroud, a comedienne of merit, and the usual bioscope pictures complete.

OLDHAM.—GRAND THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Acting-Manager, Mr. S. SCARBOROUGH.—THE AQUARIUM.—Secretary and Manager, Mr. Walter Kitchingman.—Robins and Collier top the bill here; Harry Bradshaw, tenor, is popular; Florence Creagh and company appear in a duologue, Her Return; Lily Hales, comedienne and dancer, is successful; Ernest Clifford is a clever wooden-shoe dancer; and Harry Wenburn and Harry Rickley are amusing in their respective turns. Other attractions are the Bioscope and the skating rink.

THE NEW HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Peacock.—Messrs. Matthew Glenville and Fred Osmond's pantomime Aladdin is the attraction here. Miss Hettie Zillwood as the principal boy is distinctly successful; Miss Lou Charlesworth, a charming Princess, sings well; Mr. Clarence Turner and the Brothers Lavelle are responsible for considerable merriment as Mrs. Twankey and the Policemen respectively; and the other parts are all creditably filled. Specialities are given by Miss Hettie Zillwood, Miss L. Charlesworth, the Venester Troupe of dancers, Brothers Lavelle (comedy acrobats), the Sisters Wingrove (expert dancers), Pulo (comedy juggler), Clarence Turner (comedian), and Miss May Wyatt (violoncello soloist).

SEACOMBE.—KING'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Kiernan.—Mr. Wentworth Croke's company is in possession this week, with The Bondman. Jason and Michael Sunlocks are played with commendable skill by Mr. Philip Darten and Mr. Stanley Harrison respectively; Mr. Wilfred Beckwith gives a meritorious impersonation of Ham Fairbrother, and Mrs. Fairbrother is well depicted by Miss Madge Lanerton. The dual rôle of Grandfather and Father Ferrati is admirably played by Mr. W. H. Rotherham, who rises to a pitch of high artistic excellence as the priest; Miss Violet Macaree displays great skill and power as Greeba; and the smaller characters are in capable hands. The numerous settings are capitally managed, and the effects are realistic.

SHEERNESS. — HIPPODROME. — Managing-Director, Mr. Adam Seebold; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ted Williams.—A week's visit was opened on Monday by Mr. G. W. Bowes' company in The Sign of the Cross. The virile character of Marcus was strongly rendered by Mr. Leonard Yorke, whose impassioned appeal to Nero was a fine elocutionary effort. The vanity and ferocity attributed to Nero were cleverly realised by Mr. Aubrey Fitzmaurice; and the cunning and treachery of Tigellinus and Licinius capitally emphasised by Messrs. G. Osmond and Mr. Evan Davis respectively. Mr. Donald McAdam impersonated the bibulous Glabrio; and Mr. Theo Leslie played well as the sensuous Philodemus. Miss Eileen Leoville as Ancaria, Miss Lilian Ward as Dacia, and Miss Gabriel Romero as Berenice all played with dramatic force. Miss Margaret Wall's rendering of Poppæa was very effective; and Miss Florence Maher was an earnest and impressive Mercia.

SHEFFIELD. — LYCEUM THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont.—Mr. George Dance's company began a welcome return visit on Monday in the delightful and humorous musical comedy, Miss Hook of Holland. Miss Marie Studholme, a special Lyceum favourite, was cordially received, and she acted and sang with her accustomed charm and vivacity; Miss Maude Kenny made a graceful Mena; Mr. Alfred Wellesley was first-rate in the part of Mr. Hook; the Captain Paap of Mr. Frederick Hobbs was a commendable impersonation; Mr. Frank Crisp gave an amusing character sketch as the Bandmaster; and Mr. Fred. Lyne's Simon was excellent. The chorus was admirable, and the piece was staged in an artistic manner.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont; Assistant-Manager, Mr. A. Henfrey-Aldred.—The brilliant, spectacular, and humorous annual, Jack and Jill, is up to the high traditions of the Royal, a fact which the Sheffield public have recognised in the manner dear to the managerial mind. Miss Ella Retford as Jack is a tremendous favourite with all classes; Miss Josie Delaine is a pleasing Jill; and Mr. Albert Le Fre as Walker and Mr. Charles Norton as the King share the honours as comedy merchants of the first order. The exquisite ballets are loudly applauded.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. D. Forsdike; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. W. Ramsay.—Dick Whittington continues its successful run here to the accompaniment of loud laughter and hearty applause.

EMPIRE PALACE.—The Moss' Empires Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Alan D. Dunbar.—A programme full of good items is provided this week, the celebrated conjuror-humorist and "globe-trotter," Raymond, filling the place of honour on the bill; Les Romanis do a very novel act; the popular vocal comedian, Mr. Ernest Shand, causes hearty laughter; and others who successfully entertain large houses are Miss Annie Purcell, musical comedy artist; Mr. Paul Barnes, comic vocalist; Gitto, vocalist; Mr. John McCauley, Scotch entertainer; Mr. Cyril Glensy, protean-actor, and company, in the diverting sketch The Last Chance; Mr. Harry Anderson, topical and motto vocalist; Little Miss Muffit, Australian comedienne; the Bioscope, with splendid pictures; and the Barrowskys, acrobats.

THE HIPPODROME. — Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; Resident-Manager, Mr. Frank Poole.—Mons. Foot-Gers, the smart Parisian mimic and comique, is well received here; Messrs. Dale and O'Malley have struck quite a new vein of comedy and make-up, and their business is a welcome change to the old-fashioned "Irish comic" absurdities; Miss Leonara Beverley, a graceful ballad vocalist, wins hearty applause; the Davis and Gledhill Trio, in Cycle v. Motor, bring down the house; and others who get deserved approbation this week are: Miss Teddy Edmonds' farce company, in The Lady Jockey; Mr. C., patterer; Miss Maud Courtnay, vocalist; the "Boys of England" (five gallant young Englishmen), vocalists; Mr. Dan Filmer, comedian and dancer; the Robertsons, dancers, etc.; and the Resas, jugglers. Some artistic bioscope films conclude.

SHREWSBURY.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Director, Mr. W. Yates Gregory; General-Manager, Mr. Thos. Baugh.—Elections notwithstanding, Mr. Arthur Carlton's superb pantomime Babes in the Wood is a highly successful attraction here. Mr. Martin Haley as the Baron is throughout amusing and energetic; Mr. Gus Walker ably seconds his efforts to amuse in the part of Nurse Prettypet, whose topical songs are admirably sung; Messrs. Harley and Melton are a hard-working and capable pair of comedians as Weary Willie and Tired Tim, their knockabout business and songs being praiseworthy; Mr. Bert Lloyd is droll and a diverting singer as Pickles; the Sisters Lang as the Babes merit high encomiums for their pleasing acting and vocalism; Miss Gertrude Douglas is a first-class principal boy as Robin Hood, her songs being rendered with spirit and effect; Miss Verona Philis uses her sweet voice effectively as Maid Marion, and she is an agile dancer; Miss Rene Glynne acts and sings in talented fashion as Allan-a-Dale; Mr. Angus Stong as Will o' the Wisp and also as King Richard performs these parts with care and ability, his songs being among the most meritorious features of the pantomime; Miss Ethel Dancy is a graceful Fairy Fortune; and Effie White contributes a charming serpentine dance. Choruses and tableaux are commendable, and the finale is especially good.

SOUTHAMPTON. — GRAND THEATRE. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Fredk. Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Weston.—Mr. Mouillot's pantomime Robinson Crusoe has arrived, and, judging by the attendance, it is an undoubted success. The production is under the direction of Mr. J. R. La Fane, to whom the greatest credit is due. Miss Hilda Vining plays the title-rôle with dash, and has established herself a prime favourite. Miss Daisy May is successful as Polly, her breezy interpretation of the part calling forth applause; her "Silvery Moon" song and dance is quite the tit-bit of the show. Messrs. Matt Powell (Dame), Mark Lupino (Billy Crusoe), and Ernest Sefton (Will Atkins) are a capital trio of comedians, and vie with each other in fun-making. Mr. Chas. Resti (Friday) is a versatile artist, scoring alike in song, dance, and conjuring. Miss Mary Pitcairn is a charming Princess Moonshine; Miss Ruby Melbon sings well as the Fairy; and others who prosper are Messrs. Roland Stagg (King), Allandale (Piccalilli), Alfred Drayton (Bumper), Robertson (Davy Jones), and A. Cooke (the Monkey). The animated toy shop introduced by Viviana and company gives great pleasure; and the dancing by the Fedora Quartette is quite a feature of the prformance. The scenery and effects are beautiful, and the orchestra is under the direction of Mr. Ernest Hartmann.

SOUTH SHIELDS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. John Coulson.—Miss Hook of Holland is being presented by Messrs. Dudley Bennett and T. C. Wray's company. The piece is bright and sparkling and the music infectious. A great deal of good comedy is introduced by Mr. Charles Sims as Mr. Hook, Mr. Charles Berkeley as Ludwig Schnapps, and Mr. Edward Kipling as Simon Slinks (a canal loafer); Mr. F. G. Dunn is capital as the Bandmaster, with his fetching Tra-la-la-la-la-la song; Mr. R. Selby submits a good portrayal of Captain Adrian Paap, singing his number, Soldiers of the Netherlands, in good style; and Miss Madge White as Mina and Miss Nan Stuart as Sally, Miss Hook of Holland, are both excellent in their respective parts and in their singing. There is a well-balanced chorus and augmented orchestra under the direction of Mr. Harry Richardson.

EMPIRE PALACE THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ernest Bridgen.—The chief item is Frank and Jen Latona in music and comedy, who have a good reception; Harry Ray and Lillie Calden contribute a refined comedy act; Falco and Eida introduce by song and dance the subtleties of Ju-Jitsu; and Harry Friskey (American comedy juggler), Tom Moore (character comedian and vocalist), Lilian Trevellie (dainty soubrette), Sam Dalton (vocal eccentric), and the Bioscope complete the programme. A successful picture matinée was given on Wednesday afternoon, at which trial turns appeared of persons who are desirous of adopting the music-hall stage as a profession.

STAFFORD.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. James E. Johnstone.—Miss Rose Moncrieff's company in Sinbad the Sailor is the attraction. Miss Moncrieff makes a dashing Sinbad; Miss Christine Comez a charming Sadie; Messrs. Simmonds and Sparkes as Tinbad and Hinbad contribute largely to the success of the show; Mr. Eddie Noble makes a capital Mrs. Sinbad. In the specialities E. Levano gives a marvellous exhibition of side tumbling.

STALYBRIDGE.—Lessee, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. K. Stewart McDonald.—His Dishonoured Wife is being presented, with Mr. Victor Rae as Frank Lindon, a village blacksmith, in the leading part. Florence Lindon is cleverly portrayed by Miss Belle Tilbury; the villainy is supplied by Messrs. Horatio Sinclair and Edward Brown; and Mr. Harry Tilbury, as an Irish comedian, creates much hilarity; Mr. Fred Owen is a capital Neil Locksley, of Scotland Yard.

ST. HELENS.—THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, St. Helens Theatre, Ltd.; General-Manager, Mr. McLeod Loader; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Harry E. Johnson.—Mr. E. Hill-Mitchelson and company are here this week in Who Is She? Miss Georgette Thierry plays the title-rôle with intense dramatic feeling and great success, and Mr. Hill-Mitchelson has a strong part in Prince Bora, which he presents with much skill; King Vladimir is admirably portrayed by Mr. James Stillwell; Miss Constance Medwyn is a stately Keta Noveitch; Mr. Sinclair Holden (Capt. Arthur Gower) and Miss Alice Barber (Countess Ludovi), have some lively passages, and fill the parts well, while Miss Mabel Ronald makes a pretty boy King. Praise must be accorded to Mr. Bernard Leill for an excellent Chang-Tee. The play is well staged.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. Barrasford, Sley, and Wilmot; Acting-Manager, Mr. Leo Weisker — A wonderfully clever performance is given by George the 1st, the distinguished ape; Seener and Fridkin's Troupe give great pleasure with Russian songs and dances; Janet Hall's marvellous voice wins her high appreciation, and Phil Rees' Stable Lads are worth hearing; Three Alskarno's perform some smart acrobatic feats, and W. B. Roby's songs are well received. Lillie Le Breton is a graceful gymnast.

STOCKPORT.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Charles Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Revill.—Brought to Ruin, capably presented by Mr. Morton Powell's company, has been highly attractive here this week. As the workgirl, Jessie Burton, Miss Isla Garnet-Vane acts with much feeling; Harry Hailing, a sailor, is impersonated in manly style by Mr. Harry Scott; Mr. Edward M. Heanley makes a capital villain, Philip Edge; and Solomon Sleek is amusingly played by Mr. Alaric Burton. Miss Winnie Waters is a pleasing character, admirably portrayed by Mrs. Morton Powell; and the part of Mrs. Annie Burton is filled with ability by Miss K. Eckhart.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, The Stockport Empire Theatre Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Black.—F. Mackinnon's Scotch Meisters, in a comedy vocal act Ancestral Spirits, are entertaining harmonising vocalists; the Violas are mystifying mental telepathists; Harry Zetter, vocalist and dancer, is received with favour; very pleasing are the Sisters Desmond, character duettists; Cora Duncan and Albert Brasque present an amusing sketch, My Lancashire Wife, with gratifying

FILM GOSSIP AND NOTICES.

THE Theatres Committee of the L.C.C. have agreed to receive a deputation from the four Societies who addressed the Home Secretary on the matter of Sunday entertainments on Wednesday next, the same day on which the joint deputation from the Cinematograph Defence League, &c., are to be received. The representatives of the artists, actors, musicians, and employees meet to-day to prepare the statement on their case for the committee.

Fine Warwick Picture.

THE house of Warwick has released a very fine film this week in The Disguised Bridegroom. Mildred is the beautiful daughter of wealthy parents. Her father determines she shall marry a rich but deformed marquis, who is a suitor for her hand, but Mildred, declining to have a husband provided for her, informs her lover, a humble yeoman, of the persecutions of the Marquis. John and some companions kidnap the Marquis, and John dresses up in the latter's clothes, making himself up so successfully as the Marquis that he manages to impose upon all. He plots to impersonate the Marquis at the marriage ceremony which Mildred's father has arranged, and all goes well until the end of the ceremony. As the final signatures are attached to the marriage contract, the real Marquis, having escaped, appears on the scene. Mildred prevails on her father to forgive her lover's stratagem to gain her hand, and all ends happily.

New Subjects from Markt.

THESE include In a Hempen Bag, The Test, On the Little Big Horn, A Corner in Wheat, Jinks the Grounch, If Love be True, and On the Border."

In a Hempen Bag.

THE house cat has become such a nuisance that the mistress decides it shall be drowned. To this end she secures a bag, ties the feline pest in it, and despatches the maid for the old deaf gardener to take it to the river and throw it in. Meanwhile, the mistress has discovered the nurse drunk, and discharges her. The children, finding their pet tied up in the bag, let it out and carry it away to hide. The nurse, perturbed at her dismissal, to get even conceives the idea to hide the baby, and seeing the empty bag, being ignorant of its destination, puts the infant in it and ties it up. The deaf gardener enters and carries the bag off, making his way to the river. On the way he meets a couple of boys with a rifle, who, upon learning the contents of the bag, beg the old man to let them have a shot at it. To this he consents, but the gun jams and won't work, so the man proceeds on his way. At the house there is a panic in the endeavour to find baby until the presence of the cat tells them of the impending danger. By this time the bag is brought to the river, but the boys run up just as the old man is about to throw it over. They have adjusted the rifle, and beg for another chance. The old man tells them he will open the bag and they may shoot as the captive jumps out. You may imagine their surprise when instead of a cat they find a baby.

The Test.

THIS subject presents another episode in the Wright family. Harry gets in bad for a time, but he wriggles out like a trout off a hook and comes up with that perennial grin. Harry is starting on a business trip and Bessie is sad. As he turns to fasten his grip wifey extracts a photo, handing him the closed case. Putting the case in his pocket, he departs. Next we find him at the hotel of another town enjoying convivial society. He does not forget a letter to wifey. He tells her how lonesome he feels, that her picture is now before him. When Bessie reads this, she storms. "What a fib. I thought so." She writes him of the trap she set, and when he looks at the case now for the first time, he is flabbergasted. "Now I'm in for it. Ah, an idea." He telegraphs to his mother to send him at once the photo she has of Bessie. The photo arrives and he starts for home. Of course you may imagine the reception, but when he shows himself possessed of her photo, Bessie pleads for forgiveness for having doubted him. Another victory for Harry.

A Corner in Wheat.

No subject has ever been produced more timely than this powerful story of the wheat gambler, coming as it does when agitation is rife against that terrible practice of cornering commodities that are the necessities of life. Laws are being framed with a view of suppressing such nefarious transactions, and no more convincing argument could be shown than that set forth in this picture. Every phase of the question is illumined, beginning with an animated reproduction of Jean François Millet's masterpiece, "The Sowers." From the barn they start, and with the grain sack hung from their shoulders, the two bent and knotted forms are seen trudging wearily over the ploughed ground, their arms swinging in perfect chronometry with a slight gush of wheat grain pouring forth at each advance of the arm. What a contrast is shown in the office of the Wheat King surrounded by his lieutenants, waiting for the word as he engineers the great corner, whereby he will obtain absolute control of the entire produce, not only of the present, but the future toiling of the poor sowers. Into the wheat pit we go, and there find a struggling mob of brokers with their all slowly but surely melting under the blast of the King's determination. At length the battle is won, and the Wheat King stands majestically amid the debris of wrecked fortunes. There is no vengeance possible here but the hand of God, and one of the sins that cries to heaven for vengeance is denying food to the hungry. This cry is heard, and as the King is showing his friends through the elevators into the bins of which is flowing the steady stream of his golden grain, he trips and falls into one of the bins and is buried.

An Urbanora Joke.

THERE has been a good topical "Urbanora joke" at the Palace this week. The heads of distinguished politicians are literally poured on to the screen in a fluid state and gradually, to a gathering roar of applause—or howl of execration, as the case may be—the face assumes its proper proportions. Then—and here is the symbolism—just as we suppose his position is secure, the face becomes fluid matter again and disappears. It is amusing and very witty. The "joke" has been received amid a tumult each night.

G.N.R. Bioscope Lectures.

THE Great Northern Railway Company has been holding bioscope lectures in the Parish Hall, Great Church-lane, Hammersmith. Places of interest on the East Coast route from London (King's Cross) to Scotland are illustrated and explained by the lecturer.

After Dinner at Prince's.

FOR the convenience of its customers the Prince's Restaurant made special arrangements by which election results were immediately and prominently displayed to those frequenting the establishment during the General Election. Each Sunday night there will in future be a cinematograph performance after dinner in the dining room.

"Fairyland in Nature."

"FAIRYLAND IN NATURE" was the title of a most interesting lecture seen at the Cory Hall, Cardiff, last week, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, by Mr. R. Kearton, F.Z.S., London. It was greatly appreciated by the large audience present. The lecture, which was illustrated with splendid still and moving pictures, was most instructive, and showed a great insight into animal and bird life. The lecturer also remarked upon the great improvement in illustrating natural history. As illustrating his remarks, a view of a solan goose taken from a wooden caricature of two centuries ago was thrown on the screen, and this was followed by a photograph of the same bird taken within the last few years, and which is admitted by competent judges to be the best of some 10,000 natural history photographs which have been taken during that time by the lecturer.

Canadian Cinematograph Views.

AT Caxton Hall last Friday night a new series of moving pictures, illustrative of Canadian life and industry, was shown. Typical scenes from all parts of the Dominion were illustrated, including fishing and hunting trips, farming operations, silver mining, and Indians canoe racing, while other pictures showed the different phases of railway construction in the far west of Canada, where the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway (the new Trans-Continental line) is being completed at the rate of three miles a day. The photographs were all taken by Messrs. W. Butcher and Sons, of Farringdon-avenue.

Charity Picture Show.

THROUGH the courtesy of the directors of the Hemel Hempstead Electric Theatre, the Entertainment Properties, Ltd., and the enterprise of the popular manager, Mr. Manville Morton, the inmates of the Union attended a free show given by the management on Wednesday afternoon. The party consisted of men, women, and children, and were under the control of Miss Marner (sister of Sir Alfred Marner, M.P., Chertsey). Each one was presented with chocolate by way of refreshment.

The "Fifax" Reflectorscope.

UNLIKE the magic-lantern or the cinematograph, this new scientific toy has no limitations, as by its aid picture postcards, photographs, or sketches may be reflected on to a screen with a brilliancy that brings out all the detail of the originals; and as nowadays no home is without a collection of postcards or snapshots, the acquisition of a "Fifax" Reflectorscope will provide a constant source of entertainment.

Death of a Popular Lecturer.

MR. HORACE DAVIS, the popular lecturer and vocalist, of Messrs. A. and H. Andrews' animated pictures, at St. James's Hall, Plymouth, succumbed to a severe attack of pneumonia after a very brief illness, on the 15th inst. Deceased was an entertainer of long experience and great ability in catering for public amusement. Practically born into the business, his father and mother being in the profession, he, at an early age, joined a travelling circus. After five years he became a member of the Moore and Burgess Minstrels, along with his brother, with whom he worked later on in a double turn on the music halls, as Davis and Davis, the "Original Golfers." For a long period he took part in Ginnett's and Pink's successful music hall sketches, Dick Turpin and The Hunting Morn. Later he became business manager of "The Johnstown Flood" and "The Haunted House" shows at the Marine Gardens, Portobello. The funeral, which took place at Plymouth Cemetery on the 17th inst., was attended by the widow and brother and sister-in-law of deceased. Mr. Gilpin, manager of St. James's Hall, representing Messrs. A. and H. Andrews, and the staff, who acted as bearers. There were several beautiful wreaths from relatives and friends, including one from Messrs. A. and H. Andrews and staff. Deceased was held in high esteem by all who knew him.

Living Pictures in Colours.

A NOVEL method of taking photographs in natural colours has been invented by a French scientist named Berthon, which seems likely to prove a solution of the interesting problem of cinematography in colours. He splits up the colours of the object photographed into the three primary colours—blue violet, green, and orange—by means of three narrow-coloured slits in the lens of the camera. In front of an ordinary photographic film he puts a special screen consisting of a great number of very narrow curved celluloid strips, which reproduce images of the coloured portions of the lens over the ordinary photographic image on the film in their complementary colours. What looks like an ordinary photograph results, but when such a picture is thrown on a screen through a lens with the three-coloured slits similar to that used in taking the pictures, the original is seen in its natural colours.

Unlicensed Cinematograph.

THE "G. L." Syndicate, Ltd., occupiers of the Royal Cambridge Music Hall, Commercial-street, Spitalfields, answered a summons, at the Old-street Police-court, on Thursday, under the Cinematograph Act, 1909, for allowing the said premises to be used on four different days in January for an exhibition of pictures or other optical effects by means of a cinematograph for the purposes of which inflammable films were used, without a licence, contrary to the Act. The magistrate said that defendants had deliberately broken the law from Jan. 1, at some risk to the public. He imposed a penalty of £20 and £4 per day for three of the four days named, as on the one day it was admitted that although the transformer had broken down it had been installed. He further allowed 21s. costs, making in all £33 1s.

New Leicester-square Picture Palace.

A SPLENDID new picture palace is now in course of construction in Bear-street, just adjoining Leicester-square. It is hoped that the opening ceremony will take place in less than a month from the present time.

Premier Theatres Enterprise.

A NEW electric theatre is being built by the Premier Electric Theatres, Ltd., on a prominent site in the Leytonstone-road. The plans have been prepared by Messrs. Emden, Egan, and Co., the well-known theatrical architects. The theatre, which will be of handsome elevation, will be sumptuously decorated and luxuriously furnished, with a seating capacity for upwards of 1,000 persons. Considerable enterprise is being shown by this company, scarcely a week passing without building operations being commenced on additional new theatres.

Bannister Howard's Electric Theatre.

MR. J. BANNISTER HOWARD has secured a site in Westgate-street, Bath, for an electric theatre, and has secured Mr. Bertie Crewe's services to prepare plans. Accommodation for about 400 is to be made, and popular prices to be charged.

ANOTHER series of good films has been seen this week at the Kensington Picture Theatre. The subjects were A Race for Brandy (Lux), a rollicking knockabout comedy; Wrongdoing Brings its Own Punishment (Pathé's), a story of the Riviera; Beauty Spots in Prince Olaf's Land (Wrench), a beautiful travel picture; Ma Goes to Work (Lux); A Woman's Treachery (Hepworth); Capture of Bear Cubs in Ariege, France (Pathé's), a most interesting and educating travel subject; Hot Pickles (Hepworth), being the story of an Indian colonel, who has invented a new kind of pickle, which causes any amount of trouble and fun; and A Midsummer Night's Dream (Le Lion), a magnificent production of Shakespeare's greatest comedy.

ALDERSHOT.—WIDE WORLD PICTURES.—Proprietors, Messrs. J. Golder and Bert Sloman.—The popularity of the Wide World Pictures is as great as ever, and there is no reason for wonder, when the excellent programmes are taken into consideration. During the first part of the week the following were among the pictures shown:—Auto Heroine (dramatic), Guardian of the Bark (dramatic), The Highway Man (dramatic), Fraternal Jealousy, 'Arry and 'Arriett (comic), Sports in Burmah, and Rifle Bill (dramatic). Amongst the films shown during the last nights of the week were, A Poor Man's Romance, Next of Kin, The Mill Girl, Troublesome Feet, Plucky Little Girl, Electric Hotel, Wet Day, and Peeps into Nature's Realm.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE.—THE NEW PAVILION.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Resident-Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Leech; Assistant-Manager, Mr. A. E. Sims.—The pictures at the Pavilion this week include some stirring phases of life in the mountainous backwoods of Kentucky. The events portrayed are founded on fact. It is entitled The Mountaineer's Honour. Drowsy Dick's Dream is a very funny picture; The Widow's Reward is also a very interesting domestic incident; Poultry Breeding has special interest for those who keep fowls and are attached to poultry breeding; Peddling Patrick Pinches Poultry is a very funny film; Scroggins Puts Up for Blankshire is a timely picture of electioneering, specially appealing to the voters of the day; The Pillagers is highly dramatic in story and impressive in its details. There are two other pictures we must not omit to mention. Paper-making—all the processes are seen in working order; The Heir of Clavencourt is a fine, majestic spectacle, somewhat depressing, however, in details. Interlude artists are not numerous. Rosa Backley is introduced as a baritone vocalist of some merit. A lady with a man's voice is something of a novelty. Alan Wright also sings illustrated songs.

THE PICTUREDROME. — Lessees, Messrs. Weisker Bros.; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. Leckie.—The World in Motion entertainment at this resort is showing to well-filled houses two hours each evening and matinées. The bill for the current week includes pictures:—The Heir of Glavencourt, a picture which secured the gold medal for all-round excellence. It is a striking series of happenings of a romantic and troublous period. The Hunchback Fiddler is one of the beautifully coloured series of films, and the subject has to do with Brittany people, the land of legend and fancies. Funny pictures, produced for laughter, are Mr. Foolshead Steals a Carpet, Bleary Oh! the Village Aviator, A Sticky Proposition. All these films are designed to create laughter, and they succeed. Noel and Legends of Babylon are also fine films which fix attention. The special variety artists engaged for the week are Harry Beasley, an old local favourite, who sings a couple of comic songs, and an expert violinist, Carlos Menard. He played "Carnival de Venice," "Adeste Fidelis," and other selections, with imitations, in first-class style.

ODDFELLOWS' HALL.—Lessees, The Ashton Entertainments Syndicate; Managers, Mr. and Mrs. J. Marks.—The seekers for diversion amongst the community of workers still throng to the cinematograph picture shows at the Oddfellows' Hall. "The Palace of Variety and Pictures" is a high-sounding title, but Mr. Marks endeavours by his spirited catering to justify the designation. The picture heading the programme is entitled Scroggins Puts Up for Blankshire. This is opportune at the moment, as the General Eelection is occupying the thoughts and attention of the public. His Laurels is a very good dramatic sketch; The Duchess of Dantzig is a French episode, in which the Great Napoleon and Sans Gene figure. The New Burglar Alarm is a very funny picture. The Garibaldian Boy is a very fine picture. It shows the heroic spirit of an Italian boy for the love of country. His father has been called to arms to support the rising of the patriotic insurgents of Garibaldi, and he enlists and goes to the field of battle, and is slain. His closing moments are most pathetic. The Two Burglars is designed to create mirth. There are other pictures of interest. The artists specially engaged as supplementary performers are a good baritone vocalist, Mr. J. Roberts, who sings "Down the Vale" and "A Soldier's Song," and a comic singer, Mr. Arthur Page, a very good singing comedian.

ATTERCLIFFE.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manageress, Miss Ethel J. Hope.—Pictures of a highly dramatic character are shown here this week. Lines of White on a Sullen Sea is full of absorbing interest, The Necklace of the Virgin is another series which is received with enthusiasm; Maud Muller and a Motherless Waif are also most interesting. A Magnetic Removal is a clever trick picture; The Haunted Man and From White to Black are of the comic order, and cause hearty laughter. Miss Bessie Hardman, described as the Yorkshire Soprano, is responsible for several well-rendered songs.

PICTURE PALACE.—Lessee, Mr. Matt Raymond; Resident-Manager, Mr. Edward King.—The pictures shown here this week are quite up to the usual high standard, the principal one, Duel in Mid-Air, is most thrilling and exciting. Others are Poor Blind Sister, or the Two Orphans; A Kind Employer; No Excitement; The Merry Clown; and Election Humour, which is just the thing at the present time. Mr. Doc Thomas, a smart singing ventriloquist, is paying a return visit, and meeting with the greatest possible success.

BELFAST.—NEW ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Will White.—A fine series of pictures has been provided here, under the direction of Manager Will White, including The Brutal Master, A Story of Circus Life, The Lion's Bride, &c. The vaudeville element is sustained by Billy Ross and company in their amusing comedy act Mick Maloney's Troubles, and Hyman and Gray, talented comedians and dancers, who gain a gratifying reception.

ST. GEORGE'S HALL.—General-Manager, Mr. Herbert Rogers.—Under the direction of Mr. Hugh Beckett some capital films have been shown here, including A Gift from Santa Claus, The Bride and the Bridegroom Visit the Zoo, Lucy of Lammermoor, Bill the Billposter, &c. Morris St. Clair, ventriloquist, appears, and his capital entertainment has afforded much pleasure.

BIRMINGHAM.—KING'S HALL.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. J. P. Moore and B. Kennedy.—A splendid dramatic subject, depicting the adventures of the detective, Nick Carter, is one of the chief items on an attractive programme of animated pictures. Pantomime pictures are as popular as ever, the subject this week being Ali Baba and His Donkey, and this is followed by an amusing harlequinade by the toy pantomime troupe. Other interesting pictures are The Haunted Man, The Wheels of Justice, and Patent Shaving Powder. The Moxon Brothers are popular jugglers and eccentric dancers.

QUEEN'S HALL.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. B. Kennedy and J. P. Moore.—A new programme is submitted here this week, the pictures including A Mother's Love, Temptation, Ma-in-Law Would Fly, The Gambling Fever, and many others equally exciting and interesting. Hearty applause is accorded the variety turns by Mabel Kington, ballad vocalist; and the Hayes, duettists and entertainers.

NEW BIRMINGHAM PICTURE PALACE.—There has been a further addition to the number of places of amusement in Birmingham. Electric Theatres (1908), Ltd., of London, has taken a commodious shop in Station-street, right in the centre of the city, and the interior has been transformed into a cosy and attractive entertainment hall. Four hundred plush tip-up seats have been installed by Messrs. A. R. Dean, and the length of the place is about 100ft. The charge for admission is 3d. and 2d. There is a continuous performance daily from two o'clock until eleven. The manager is Mr. George Putman, who has had considerable experience of similar entertainment halls in London.

BRIGHTON.—COURT THEATRE.—Lessee and Manageress, Mrs. M. Barrasford.—There is a very attractive series of animated pictures exhibited here this week. The Honour of the Alpine Guide and the Escape of Count De la Valletta convey very dramatic stories; The Little Teacher is highly interesting, and much fun is afforded by The Two Burglars and I'll Show You How It Happened. Mr. Osland Denner contributes baritone songs in artistic style, and Mr. Arthur W. Briggs merits warm praise for his pianoforte accompaniments to the pictures and songs.

PALACE THEATRE.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Jay and Mann; Acting-Manager, Mr. Herbert Kent.—A pleasing exhibition of animated pictures is given here each afternoon and evening by the New Bioscope Trading Co., Ltd., under the management of Mr. George Aubrey. The story of Tom Thumb is presented in coloured pictures; Empire Day is a patriotic subject; The Girl Detective and The Fool's Daughter are strongly dramatic; The Burglar's Mistake is full of exciting incidents; and The Wrong Valise is very humorous.

CANTERBURY.—ST. MARGARET'S HALL.—The Electric Picture Palace, as it is now called, is securing crowded audiences in spite of a strenuous political fight in the Cathedral city, and certainly the pictures presented are calculated to draw, no matter what counter attractions may also be en evidence. The Palace management have added to their success by introducing topical items (animated), including election scenes, with portraits of all three candidates, a scene from the local skating rink, and the Post Office United Football Club at play.

DARWEN.—ALBERT HALL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Harry Holden.—Among the fine films shown are Surprise of Professor, The Highwayman, Alpine Echo Drama, Sport in Canada, The Coastguards, Wanted, a Medium, and The Doctor's Sacrifice. Cynoki, Hungarian musician; Van and Lillie Gelder, magicians; and Jack Binns, comedian, are also well received.

DEWSBURY. — INDUSTRIAL HALL. — Lessees, Messrs. A. and H. Andrews; Resident-Manager, Mr. B. J. Christian.—A very interesting and amusing series of pictures are being shown here this week. A splendid picture of Indian life, The Gratitude of Red Wing, meets with great approval; The Brothers, a pathetic drama, and A Woman's Repentance, a domestic drama, are also very interesting and realistic pictures; The Diver's Remorse is a picture full of exciting incidents; The Haunted Man and None But the Brave Deserve the Fair are very funny pictures.

DUBLIN.—ROUND ROOM ROTUNDA.—The Irish Animated Picture Co. still continues to run successfully here, large audiences being attracted daily by the charming series of films and variety programme provided.

PICTURE PALACE.—Lessees, Entertainment Halls, Ltd.—The change of pictures here includes:—1776, or the Hessian Renegade, Nick Carter, Gold Digger's Son, A Cheap Removal, He Wins at Last, Hand of the Victim, Glass of Goat's Milk, Robson's Revolving Heel Pads, &c. Good houses are the order.

DUNDEE.—PALACE THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. J. J. Bennell; Acting-Manager, Mr. Tom Lunn.—The uniform high standard of excellence is well maintained in this week's programme, which demonstrates the wonderful diversity of the pictures at the disposal of the management here. The Old Woodman unfolds the tale of the magic waters of youth in screamingly funny fashion. Adele's Wash-day keeps our risible faculties in good working order, while in Temptation and Forgiveness and The Lady Detective we have a couple of fine, thrilling picture-stories. Many others, along with the ever-popular singing picture, complete a tip top programme.

EMPIRE THEATRE — General-Manager, Mr. J. J. Bennell; Acting-Manager, Mr. R. Austin.—An excellent programme is submitted here this week, and the audiences are large and appreciative. Mr. Tom Imeson, pianist-lecturer, adds further pleasure to the programme.

NEWMAN'S PICTURE PALACE.—Lessee, Mr. Fred New man; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jack Noble.—The programme presented by Mr. Newman this week is of quite an entertaining character, and gives the greatest satisfaction to the many patrons of this cosy West End house.

EDINBURGH.—OPERETTA HOUSE.—Lessee and General-Manager, Mr. J. H. Sanders.—Among many fine films that of Laddie, a pathetic story of a mother's love, stands out with prominence; Fools of Fate is a tragic drama of the Wild West; and several humorous subjects, of which Foolshead Pays a Visit and Naughty Boys are, perhaps, the most laughter-provoking, are shown. The Bros. Allison, patter comedians and dancers, enliven the programme with their clever turns.

PRINGLE'S PICTURE PALACE. — General-Manager, Mr. Geo. Edmonds.—The principal film in the programme here this week is a vivid picture of Life in a Circus, and other subjects of a thrilling nature are Entombed Alive, and The Vendean Rebel. There are several humorous films of an entertaining description, and capital turns are given by Zenora, a clever equilibrist, and Mr. Tom N. Mills, Australian comedian.

GATESHEAD.—QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. F. W. Bolam; Acting-Manager, Mr. Steve Smith.—The programme here this week comprises The Living Doll, The Lamp, Love not to be Trifled With, Cape to Cairo, The Outcast's Christmas, Ma Turns Socialist, First Floor Flat, and The Child Benefactor. Cade Burnett, the actor-vocalist, provides a pleasing interlude.

RAVENSWORTH HALL.—Proprietors, Messrs. Allan and McDonald; Manager, Mr. R. Allan; Assistant Manager, Mr. J. S. Newton.—The bill at this comfortable "house" contains Panther Hunt, Crippled Cyclist, Convict's Revenge, Ingenious Safe Deposit, Wanted a Child, A Gift from Santa Claus, Girl's Cross Roads, Why Jones Couldn't Sleep. The Sisters Parker, singers and dancers, add to the enjoyment.

GLASGOW. — GAIETY, LTD. — General-Manager, Mr. J. J. Bennell; Acting-Manager Mr. George Dickinson.—The Bioscope is still proving a big attraction here, and the pictures submitted this week are of the usual high standard, and are full of interest. The following are some of the most noteworthy:—The Zoo at Antwerp, The Chinaman's Dream, The Galley Slave, Tempered With Mercy, The Kingdom of Liliput, and Calino Among the Cannibals. There is, in addition, a variety programme, which is sustained by Phil Dave, champion buck dancer, and Millie Fleming, the "dot" vocalist.

GLOUCESTER. — KING'S HALL. — Poole's Theatres, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. R. T. Rea.—The Cinephone and Biodrama continue. The vocalist is Miss Molly Gwynne, for the illustrated songs.

THEATRE DE LUXE.—Electric Theatres, Ltd., 1907.—A continuous programme is announced here, the hours being from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. About one-and-a-half hours' good animated pictures are shown, and then repeated.

GREENOCK.—EMPIRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. J. Bennell; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank L. Clayton.—Good houses are still being drawn by the admirable collection of pictures, humorous and interesting, which are submitted here. This week's selection includes An Episode of Napoleon's War with Spain, Foolshead Steals a Carpet, Ma Turns Socialist, Spartacus, the Last of the Gladiators, A Story of Circus Life, and Come Along Up in the Flip Flap on the cinephone. Little Eddie Maley is well received in an illustrated song, "Sweetheart Days."

GUERNSEY.—RECTORY HALL.—Licensee, Mr. Albany Ward; Resident-Manager, Mr. G. A. Deighton.—Albany Ward's Imperial Electric Pictures are still here, doing good business. This week the films comprise The Scales of Justice, and a beautiful art drama, A Bunch of Violets, appeal to the pathetic; The Dancing Powder and the Uncontrollable Cycle provides much fun; Muggins, V.C., was keenly appreciated; The Golden Spider is a beautifully coloured film; and His Lost Love tells of a love tangle of two brothers. Skating in Australia proved a novelty.

HANLEY. — KING'S. — Manager, Mr. H. Kennedy.—Fine pictures are splendidly shown, the chief being Blue Beard, a charming pantomime film; The Burglars and the Boy Scouts, very interesting; The Minister's Daughter, very powerful; A Glass of Goat's Milk, a scream; The Doctor's Sacrifice, a domestic drama; Some Fun with a Tiger, &c. Howard Graham, coon comedian, is very successful.

HARTLEPOOL.—EMPRESS THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Albert Maxsted.—Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope, always popular, continues its attractions this week, when some capital films are shown. One particularly vivid is The Forest Child, a dramatic story of American prairies and camps. A Sister's Devotion and The Scales of Justice are also intensely dramatic, and are followed with the keenest interest. Much merriment is caused by the American Marriage, The One-legged Beggars, and The Smart Burglar; and of a distinctly instructive character are An Obstacle Gun Drill by British Bluejackets and a picture of The Largest Pigeon Farm in the World. Variety to the programme is added by Collin and Irene, exponents of thought transmission and mental telegraphy. They thoroughly mystify their audience.

HASTINGS.—PIER PAVILION.—General-Manager, Mr. J. D. Hunter.—Some excellent bioscopic representations of Life in the King's Service, Afloat and Ashore, are being exhibited twice daily in the Pavilion. All the incidents of a sailor's life, from learning to swim until he is paid off, are seen. A variety of military manœuvres, including the reviews on Salisbury Plain in connection with the Army, are shown. Many humorous films are introduced, and Miss Maude Evelyn engages in some patriotic songs in a pleasing manner.

JARROW.—THE GEM PICTURE HALL.—Proprietors, Messrs. John Weddle and Co.; Manager, Mr. Arthur Clarance.—This week we have quite a change of pictures, which include the following: The Galley Slave, The Lovely Lake Lucerne, Best Man Wins, A Story of Circus Life, Scroggins Puts Up for Parliament, and a most pleasing turn in Mr. Hyman Long.

KETTERING.—VINT'S ELECTRIC PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. Leon Vint; General-Manager, Mr. Arthur Brogden. — Excellent business continues, and the management has complied with the rules under the new Act. In addition to constructing a special entrance and exit for the patrons of the grand circle, a comfortable crush room and lounge has been provided. The pictures include A Woman's Repentance, Redwing's Gratitude, and A Flower Girl's Christmas. Allen and Austin, comedians and dancers, and Bert Alden, comedian, provide the turns.

KIRKCALDY.—EXCHANGE PAVILION.—Licensee, Dr. Walford Bodie; Manager, Mr. George Lee.—The London Safety Bioscope Company are presenting a most instructive and amusing series of pictures here this week, the most important of which are The Abduction, An Extraordinary Journey, Sold to Thieves, Jack Johnson, Tricksy, the Clever Princess, Roller Skating Mad. Mr. Charles Coll is appearing here.

LEAMINGTON.—ELECTRIC THEATRE.—Lessees, Messrs. Gillsmiths, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. Harry Plant.—Another most attractive programme of animated and coloured pictures is provided this week, in which circus life, the fairy tale Aladdin, and other interesting and amusing subjects are depicted. The variety portion of the entertainment is exceedingly good. Miss Mina Langton still continues to delight the audiences with her illustrated songs, whilst the new artist, Mr. Bert Williams, scores a great success in his clever rendering of Geo. R. Sims's celebrated poem "In the Signal Box," which he recites to illustrations. Miss Maud Hummerston is a capable pianist.

LEICESTER.—EMPIRE.—Lessees, The New Bioscope Trading Company; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. R. Craig.—The management here continue to put forward most interesting picture programmes. The two outstanding films this week are The Man in the Iron Mask and The Watch Swallower, which are followed by A Railway Hero, A Wonderful Coat, A Lesson to Husbands, The Violet Seller, Matrimonial Shoes, Confidence, Magda, Foolshead as Sportsman, Two Gossips, and Uncle Reuben's Courtship. La Belle Cerise, a dainty vocalist and dancer, is on a welcome return visit.

MEXBOROUGH.—NEW PICTURE HALL.—Lessee, Mr. Will Hunter.—The programme this week includes Brave Orphan Boy, Stag Hunting in Java, Course of True Love, Animated Cotton, Meskal, The Smuggler, Mayor's Holiday, &c.

NEATH.—PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. Leon Vint; General-Manager, Mr. Arthur Brogden; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Noice.—This week's programme included Captain Fracasse, a dramatic episode; His Socks, most laughable picture of Bertie and his socks; Gentle Hearts, pathetic story of poverty and a pet dog; Calino at the Seaside, out for a holiday, but asking for trouble; The Cab Runner—the runner has a journey for nothing; Neilson's Clever Boys and Girls, in their scena, entitled an "Impromptu Rehearsal"; "Restoration," a dramatic domestic tragedy, caused through misunderstanding; An Unending Discussion, the greatest talking match ever seen; The Light that Came, a beautiful love story of a blind musician; and Foolshead's Christmas, a screamingly funny picture.

NORTH SHIELDS.—BOROUGH THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. George Black; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Black, jun.—A very attractive programme has again drawn large and delighted audiences here this week. The Mountaineer's Honour is a fine film, and is immensely popular; The Galley Slave is also greatly enjoyed; and other excellent pictures include Stickphast Paste, The Lady Detective, Poultry Breeding, &c. For specialities Mr. Black introduces Mr. D. W. Watson, post horn player, vocalist, and cornetist, and Mr. T. C. Johnson, actor vocalist, who are both heartily greeted.

HOWARD HALL.—A new and interesting series of pictures are shown here, and include The Mexican's Revenge, Dimetri Dronskoy, Woman's Treachery, &c., &c.

GAIETY PICTURE HALL.—Another good programme is provided here, the chief films being the Duchess of Mesovta, The Mountaineer's Honour, The Magic Pipes, &c., &c. Mr. Richard Smith, the local illustrated songster, appears successfully.

OLDHAM.—ROYAL THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Kilrow.—Professional Duty is a capital top-liner, and was much appreciated. Other dramatic films are also shown, and a good number of amusing pictures includes Mr. Foolshead Pays a Visit, Ma Goes to Work, and Scroggins Puts Up for Blankshire. Mr. Don Cameron contributes a song to a good programme.

OSBORNE. — Proprietor, Mr. W. Hughes.—This hall continues to do very good business, the pictures being up to the mark, both in humour and pathos, and duets are given by Messrs. Ripley and Inglesend.

SALFORD.—OPERA HOUSE AND ASSEMBLY ROOMS, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Turner; General-Manager, Mr. Herbert Raymond; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. Shepherd.—Among this week's films are Nick Carter, Ma-in-Law Must Fly, The Golden Spider, Blind Man, By Rail to Hardanger, Norway, Suicide as a Profession, The Lamp, &c. Mr. Tom Sherlock sings an illustrated song, "Death of Nelson."

NEW CENTRAL HALL.—Proprietors, Matt Raymond Co.; Manager, Mr. A. H. Gilbert.—The Raymond pictures this week include The Circus Girl, Dragoon's Helmet, Ma Learns to Ride, The Subterfuge, Hercules in the Army, Maud Miller (pathetic drama). Miss Eva Carter, lady baritone, also sings acceptable songs.

STALYBRIDGE.—ODDFELLOWS' HALL.—Lessees, Messrs. A. and H. Andrews; Manager, Mr. W. Llewellyn. — The programme that the above management have provided this week comprises Cupid's Loaf, The Patriot's Daughter, For Her Sake, Watches of the Night, The Cowboy Millionaire, in which we see clever riders giving a show of splendid horsemanship; The Glass-blowing Industry, a pretty picture of interest; The Country of Fiox, a splendid travel picture; In Love with the Picture Girl, An Apish Trick, The Biter Bit provide the audience with plenty of laughter. Illustrated songs are rendered at each performance by Mr. Llewellyn.

FORESTERS' HALL. — Lessees, Bros. Lens; Manager, Mr. Frank Lens.—A really fine programme has been secured by the management of this hall, and among those that seem to go with a swing are: Noel, a striking story of Chrismastide; The Jockey, which deals with the temptation of a young jockey by a rascally bookmaker; A Bad Dream of a Professional Horseman, The Cowboy Millionaire, and Fishing with Dragging Nets. Pseudo Lady's Maid, Ingenious Safe Deposit, The Charming Children, and The Two Mr. Whites cause their fair share of amusement. A splendid turn is provided by James Bindon, the original whistling newsboy.

STOURBRIDGE.—ALHAMBRA PICTURE HALL.—Some capital pictures are shown this week, including Suffer Little Children, The Victim, and Ma Takes to Riding.

SUNDERLAND.—PALACE THEATRE.—Hamilton's Picture and Variety Co.—Some capital humorous and dramatic pictures were shown here to good audiences on Monday night, the New Corn Cure and The Improved Inkstand causing great amusement. Never Despair was a capital dramatic item. Mlle. Rosinni had a good reception, her animals giving every proof of patient training; Zasma was also successful in his scena Gymnastics on the Lawn.

ALEXANDRA PICTURE PALACE.—Proprietors, Carpenter's Theatres, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. J. Connors. —The management are presenting a capital set of pictures at this popular hall. Each film is quite clear and steady, and seen under the most favourable conditions possible to imagine. The chief picture is The Light That Came, a series of realistic scenes which tell a story of a blind musician, and there are many others of instructional and humorous variety.

TODMORDEN.—TOWN HALL.—A good programme is again presented by the Martell Vaudeville Company, the house being full in all parts on Monday night. A splendid film is The Suicide Club being Broken Up by Nick Carter. The club consists of men who are tired of all ordinary things, and meet together to draw lots, the one drawing the fatal number being left in the room with a revolver and shooting himself. His body is then taken and cast into some country road, and thus the cause of his death can never be traced. Nick Carter gets into the room disguised as a member of the club, and prevents the suicide and exposes and breaks up the club. Remorse is a fine dramatic picture, a murder being committed and the murderer repenting. The Haunted Hat and The Detective's Bag are laughable comics; while The Slum Waif is very pathetic.

WEST HARTLEPOOL. — ROYAL ELECTRIC THEATRE.—Councillor Everton, formerly proprietor of the Empress Theatre, has with considerable enterprise converted the erstwhile Royal Roller Rink into a comfortable theatre, where he intends presenting the pick of vaudeville and films, and if the audiences which are assembling this week may be taken as a criterion, then success is his. There are on the programme this week the Mysticos, who claim to be the world's greatest experts in silent thought transmission, and their performance is a wonderful one, mystifying beyond description; and Harry Leaton, a chorus vocalist, who is well received, especially in his song "Sinner and Saint." A pretty dramatic story is told in the film The Belle of Brittany. Circumstantial Evidence is also a capital picture, well staged and acted. There are heaps of humorous pictures, amongst which are Animated Cotton, The Strong Arm of the Law, and A Five-story House, which keep the audience in excellent spirits.

PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Geo. Black.—The popularity of Black's pictures increases weekly, and packed houses result nightly at each performance. The list this week is well selected and gives general satisfaction. Particularly good and clear films are The Open Gate, The Heir to Clarancourt, The Heroine, and a local scene of Workmen Leaving the Shipyards. The Brothers Harrison are very good comedians, and Dunco and Langdon provide an amusing comedy sketch.

WHITLEY.—BATHS PAVILION.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. R. L. Grice.—At the Batley Picture Pavilion Mr. R. L. Grice has a fine array of pictures, dramatic, interesting, instructive, thrilling, and comic. The special production is the great picture, entitled Dimitri Donskoj, a thrilling drama relating in vivid portraiture a tragic episode during the dominion of the Tartans in Russia. An interesting and instructive picture, the Brunettz Dancers, follows, The Pillagers and The Hero's Reward are good. The usual comic series includes The Servant's Revenge, Mrs. Muggin's Fiance, Ma Turns Socialist, and a topical picture brimming over with laughter, Scroggins Puts up for Blankshire. As starring interludes Mr. Grice has provided Xerxes, the champion boy wrestler of the world, and Mr. R. Ratcliff, in his gladiatorial act. The story of Carmen, interesting to all the theatre-going public, is presented each evening; also a fine scenic picture of beautiful natural effects, entitled The Waves of St. Jean de Lux. On Sunday the usual evening concert will be held, when, in addition to talented soloists, a number of special and beautiful pictures will be shown.

WIGAN.—NEW PAVILION.—Lessees, the U.S.A. Animated Picture Co.; Manager, Mr. Fletcher Sansome.—A splendid programme of pictures is attracting large crowds here this week. The Leopard Queen, a story of a female Robinson Crusoe, and The Mysteries of Paris, an adaptation of the celebrated novel by Eugene Sue, are the two principal films. Another capital film is Love's Tragedy, a romance of the Napoleonic wars. Much amusement is caused by A Sticky Proposition and The Doctor's Monkey. A special variety turn is supplied by Tate's Juveniles (14 in number).

YNYSHIR.—WORKMEN'S HALL.—Lessees, Messrs. Pooles, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. J. W. Bynorth.—An excellent display of pictures is again presented. Most pathetic pictures (dramatised) are Suffer Little Children and A Mexican's Gratitude. A House Under Repair, Romance of Boot and Slipper, and Sleping Pills are very amusing. The Gipsy's Baby and Transporting Logs, and An Egyptian Mystery, are other excellent pictures; and A False Comrade, a most stirring reminiscence of the Franco-Prussian War. The Cinephone and Miss May Macpherson, as usual, have new illustrated songs.

Seacombe Carnival Fair.

MR. P. ROSS COLLINS has held a fancy fair at Seacombe during the past week and with gratifying success. The chief attractions were P. R Collins's electric motor and the twin yachts, shooting ranges by Messrs. Humphreys and Wright; houp-la circles and squares and watch la frames by Messrs. J. Hall, D. Dicks, and W. Kemp, throwing games by Messrs. Humphries, Wright, Hall, Grant, and Fletcher.

A CELEBRATED member of the St. Petersburg imperial ballet, Mlle. Maria Ruthovskaja, has just passed her examinations at the St. Petersburg University preparatory to being called to the Bar.

CINEMATOGRAPH OPERATORS' MEETING.

The annual general meeting of the Cinematograph Operators' Association was held on Tuesday at 29, Wellington-street, Strand. There was a fair attendance. Mr. J. Wood, president, presided. Among those present were Messrs. Catlin, Malcolm, Hutchins, Field, Hughes, Clayton, Holmes, Talbot, Merritt, and Wm. Johnson.

Mr. H. L. Merritt, the hon. secretary, presented his report on the past year's work, which was unanimously adopted, with a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Merritt. A summary of the report will be issued to members. The treasurer presented copies of the statement of accounts and the auditor's report. A summary of the accounts is as follows:—

Audited and found correct, Jan. 14. Signed by E. H. Mason and T. G Weedon, auditors. Countersigned by H. L. Merritt (secretary), and Wm. Johnson (hon. treasurer).

The treasurer's statement and auditors' report were adopted.

On the election of officers and committee, Mr. J. Wood and Mr. Edward Catlin (the president and vice-president respectively) expressed the opinion that these offices should be filled by new men each year, so that the honour of these positions might be open to all members. Both these officers received a hearty vote of thanks for their services. The following were elected: President, A. Malcolm; vice-president, E. H. Mason; secretary, H. L. Merritt; hon. treasurer, Wm. Johnson. Committee: Messrs. Field, Weedon, Gilling, Hutchens, Catlin, and Wood. Finance committee and trustees: Messrs. Wood, Malcolm, and Merritt. Mr. A. Malcolm was also nominated for election as a member of the National Committee N.A.T.E. The president and secretary were appointed to act on the joint deputation from the four societies to the L.C.C. Several other important questions were deferred to the next meeting, which will be held on Tuesday.

The rules were thoroughly revised, and some of the more important alterations are as follows:—

"The objects of the Association shall be:

(a) To promote and protect the interests of qualified operators, and to raise the status of their profession.

(b) To encourage its members to acquire a full knowledge of the science of their business, and to keep them well advised of new inventions and current trade topics and events.

(c) To establish a standard of proficiency by qualifying examinations.

(d) To secure the recognition of a minimum rate of pay for each class of work.

(e) To provide legal advice and (at the discretion of the committee) legal assistance.

(f) To keep an employment register and otherwise assist unemployed members to obtain employment.

(g) To grant relief, by means of the Benevolent Fund, to any member (as per rules) in distress or temporary need, and such other benefits as may be hereafter agreed upon."

With regard to extra and special services rendered by the operator, the new rule is as follows:—

"11. Members rendering services to artists, or anybody other than their employer (in the way of projecting films or song slides) shall be entitled to ask a minimum pay of 5s. per week for such services from the person to whom the service was rendered. The above clause only applies when the apparatus and operator are provided by an exhibitor. In places where the apparatus is the property of the management, and the operator is on the staff, and in receipt of an inclusive salary, no such demand must be made.

"For services rendered in connection with Sun day concerts, not under the control of his em ployer, the operator shall be entitled to a fee of not less than 10s. 6d. for each concert."

Five hundred copies of the revised rules are being printed, and will be ready for members next week.

Bostock's Jungle at Manchester.

MR. FRANK C. BOSTOCK is at present located in the Liverpool-road district of Manchester, where his unrivalled show is attracting thousands of young and old. This is not merely an exhibition of wild animals; it is an ample and entertaining demonstration of what they can be trained to do under skilful and humane methods of treatment. Mr. Bostock relies on the arenic method, which is not only spacious for the work, but affords the right opportunities for sightseers, who may witness the spectacle of a dozen animals at once under the control of a single intrepid trainer. No fewer than twenty-two different acts are to be seen, and Mr. Bostock's trainers have been selected by him as the most daring and famous of their respective nationalities. The element of humour is well introduced, the animals themselves being made to contribute to the laugh, and a happy feature of the show is the provision of side entertainments for young and old, at no extra charge. Incidentally, entertainment is provided by M. Henri Rey, assisted by "Raffles" and "Martino," and nothing is wanting, even to the rides of children on the elephant's back, to make this visit of the Bostock Arena and Jungle memorable to the juvenile population, to say nothing of its attraction for adults. The show is under the personal direction of Mr. Bostock, who is very ably represented by his courteous manager, Mr. Tudor.

Illness of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dashwood.

WE are very sorry to hear that Mr. Arthur Dashwood business agent for Bostock and Wombwell's Menagerie, Royal Agricultural Hall, London, has been lying very ill with influenza this last week at his apartments, 11, Cloudesley-place, Islington, and his wife, who has been nursing him through his illness, has now fallen a victim to the malady. We sincerely trust they both will soon recover, and that Mr. Dashwood will soon be back to resume his duties at the World's Fair once again.

STRAIGHT TALK FROM MR. W. H. BROUGHTON.

The newly-formed Cinematograph Defence League has a very energetic chairman in Mr. W. H. Broughton, and when The Era representative called on that gentleman last Wednesday, he found him with Mr. H. E. W. Poole, the secretary, very busy indeed with the affairs of the League.

Mr. Broughton laughed when the writer commented on this fact, and the pile of provincial correspondence at hand.

"And yet there are people," he said, "who accuse us of not doing enough for the provinces. As a matter of fact, travelling showmen in the country and cinema proprietors in provincial towns get the lion's share of our attention. I have always strenuously advocated looking after their interests since the inception of the League. And we do so. When the League has accomplished what it set out to do, the whole of the interests involved in the cinematograph industry should be solidly combined.

"One great thing I flatter myself the League should congratulate itself upon is the permission obtained from the Home Secretary that picture palaces, for the present, may remain open on Sunday. We feel quite confident that all the suggestions—or nearly all—laid by us before the Home Secretary, will be accepted. In my opinion, had the picture palace proprietors taken the advice of The Era right along, a great deal of the present friction could have been avoided.

"Another fact of importance is that the Theatres and Music Halls Committee of the L.C.C. is going to receive a deputation from the Trade Protection Society, and also the Defence League on the 26th, and you may depend on it that our arguments will be of the most formidable kind. Another item that is giving us a great deal of work is the organisation of alternate monthly meetings—one in London and then in Manchester, London again, and then Liverpool, London once more, and then Glasgow, and so on. By this method we hope to meet the convenience of most of our members, and if the country people do not come along, they have only themselves to blame for not being represented.

"The published reports of the two interviews we have had with the Home Secretary is proof, I think, that the intentions of the committee and the League is to get such conditions for the whole business that few harassing restrictions will remain. We want one strong Showmen's League, and every cinema proprietor should join with a view to standing firm on any future crisis that may arise in the industry, such, for instance, as the resisting of any manufacturer attempting to make a corner in films.

"We want equal rights for all kinds of shows. Now I know for a fact that at least three entertainments were given last Sunday—at the Albert Hall, the Queen's Hall, and Covent Garden—and as much as a guinea apiece was charged for seats, and there was no question at all that the proceeds of those entertainments were to be devoted to charity, or even that a percentage was to go in the same direction. Now, why should one set of people be allowed to give entertainments for gain and others be refused the same chance? The L.C.C. take money for seats in the parks on Sunday in the summer from people who want to listen to their bands. Why should they be permitted to do this? What charities get the moneys thus collected? The L.C.C. has before now tried to get an unfair advantage over the commercial entertainment provider by asking powers to engage artists to sing at its park concerts. Up till now it has failed, but the desire to unfairly compete with us is there all the same.

"We don't ask any of our employees to work seven days a week. If they don't want to work on Sundays they need not do so. They are paid at so much per day, just on the same principle as the L.C.C. tramway men are paid, and get their days off by arrangement. As a matter of fact, I have found that my operators and other employees prefer any other day but our deadly dull Sunday on which to have their weekly holiday. One operator when I engaged him stipulated that he should not be called upon for Sunday work. Very well. I placed him at an establishment which did not open on Sunday.

"If the L.C.C. desires it, we are quite prepared to put on a programme made up entirely of historical, scenic, and travel films, but all this humbug about shows being given for charity only must go by the board. Let us be honest. Let the L.C.C. be honest and cease to grant licenses which show everyone a way to evade its regulations. Let us by all means give a percentage of our Sunday takings to charity, but let us cease all this cant about the strict observance of the Sabbath. The L.C.C., as I have already pointed out, is one of the worst offenders itself in disturbing the sanctity of the Sabbath. The running of its tramway service is a necessity, and it makes men work on Sunday to run that service. Our entertainments are necessary on Sunday to keep the people out of the dirty, damp, joyless streets and the public-houses. The day has gone by when the fetish of Sunday is universally worshipped.

"The tone of the cinematograph business during the past twelve months has been considerably raised. Picture palaces by the score, on high-class lines, have been built. They are well seated, well ventilated, and have plenty of exits. As capital has been invested in the business the standard of entertainment has become a very high one, and will probably become even more so. Personally, any advice that I can give to showmen, anywhere, I shall with the greatest possible pleasure, and even quite apart from the working of the League itself. The picture palace has come to stay, and the sooner everyone with the slightest concern in it realises that fact the better. It is and education for the people."

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.

TONYPANDY.—ROYAL.—General-Manager, Mr. Sam Duckworth.—Mr. Walter Melville's company, in Her Second Time on Earth, is doing well here. Mr. L. Meadows gives a good study of Captain Jasper Norman; Jack Carton is admirably undertaken by Mr. Wingold Lawence; Mr. R. Wood plays Guy Brand in a forcible manner; and as Tom Norman Mr. A. Richards is well placed. The Dr. Ridley of Mr. W. Westwood is praiseworthy; Laura Norman is sympathetically portrayed by Miss Doris Whyte; and Miss Marie McAulay scores heavily as Doris Grey. Miss M. Kildare as Kitty Rosebud and Mr. P. Baverstock as Teddy Butterfly provide plenty of humour.

HIPPODROME.—Lessee and General-Manager, Mr. Will Stone.—Miss Gladys Maxwell presents a clever sketch, A Midnight Call; the Stanley Brothers, comedy cyclists, are well received; Eastman, comedy juggler, is clever; Dainty Daisy gives a good item; Clive Watts and Syd. Kemp also do well. Several good films are shown.

EMPIRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Walter Wright. —Heading the programme here are Joe Peterman and George Ricketts, in The Pawnbroker; Gorman's Juveniles are cleverly trained; the Norman and Lennard Trio of musicians meet with a hearty reception, as does Gena Manon, soubrette and vocalist. Burt Shepard, Leonard and Vereker, and Aggie Nolan are also in the bill, which is wound up by the Empiroscope.

WAKEFIELD.—OPERA HOUSE. — Proprietors, Sherwood and Co.—Messrs. Dudley Bennett and T. C. Wray's company with The Country Girl occupies the boards. Mr. Nelson Hancock as Geoffrey Challoner acts and sings well. Mr. Percy Everard is highly successful as Sir Joseph Verity; Mr. Joseph Bruce makes an imposing Emperor, and wins applause in topical songs; Mr. Coningsby Brierley introduces much unctuous humour into the part of Barry, his efforts throughout causing great merriment; Mr. C. T. Chapman is well suited as Lord Anchester; and Mr. H. B. Hargreaves acts capably as Douglas Verity. Miss Anna Hickisch makes a distinct hit as Nan, her finished singing giving great delight; Miss Dorothy is very sweet and charming as Marjorie Jay; Miss Myfanny Newell sings prettily as the Princess; and Miss Addie Lennard wins great admiration for her clever rendering of Sophie. Miss Mary Greenhous is a pleasing Mrs. St. Quinton, and Miss Hilda Darrell makes a handsome Lady Anchester. The play is well staged.

NEW EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Sherwood and Co.—The Devil's Sunday is excellently presented by Mrs. John Lawson and company. Slippere, the talented blind musician, obtains a well-merited recall; Sterling and Cashem are a smart comedy couple: Henri Bekker, conjurer, assisted by Miss Maie Bekker, provides a popular turn; Miss Edna West, comedienne, wins applause with catchy songs; Fred Hallam, comedian, is amusing with patter; the Three Orleans do some capital dancing; and Little Dando, comedian, wins approbation.

HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Sydney Tolfree.—The Kraggs, gymnasts, give a fine turn; Curtis Leo introduces a wonderful bantam in addition to a clever conjuring act; Kydd and Kydd, comedians, are amusing; Ross and Grayson are capital in a singing and dancing act; the Cosman Couple, in an acrobatic display, are amazing; Fred Herbert, vocalist, does well; and Rorke, Rook and company, in a musical burletta, The Prince's Love Affair, are received with enthusiasm.

WEST BROMWICH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. R. Nightingale.—Mr. A. Austin is presenting Cinderella here. It is a well-produced pantomime, and admirably dressed. Miss Mary Austin is well placed as the Prince; the Cinderella of Miss Maidie Harrison is a refreshing study; Miss Gertrude Bond is charming as the Queen of the Fairies; and Little Miss Gladys Liggett as Woodbine, the principal dancer, is really very clever. Mr. Fred E. Ellis is good as Baron Stoneybroke; and Mr. Tom Read as Pickles, the Baron's page; while the other parts are all well sustained.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. R. Colin; Resident-Manager, Mr. Joe Hastings.—Captain Permane appears with much success here with his wonderful performing bears; Henrie is an equilibrist of ability; Mysto is delightfully funny; and Dudley Hases, "the other Mrs. Brown," provides a most enjoyable turn.

WEST HARTLEPOOL.—GRAND.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Fred Glanville.—The F. R. Benson company is always sure of a hearty welcome by lovers of Shakespeare in West Hartlepool, and this week the répertoire embraces King Lear, Hamlet, The Taming of the Shrew, King Richard II. (by special request), The Tempest, Macbeth, and Twelfth Night. In the first-named, presented on Tuesday night, Mr. Henry Herbert's acting as the mad King was intensely realistic; Miss Gladys Vanderzee as Cordelia acquitted herself with exquisite charm and grace; as Goneril and Regan Miss Kate Turner and Miss Lily Barclay played admirably; Mr. Cyril Sworder presented a well-studied piece of acting as Edmund; Mr. Sam Cohen showed undoubted talents in his rendering of the part of Edgar; and Mr. Robert Atkin showed great skill in representing the Earl of Gloucester.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. F. Thompson.—The excellent programme submitted here this week is headed by O Hana San and Co., whose performance is a veritable feast of Oriental beauty, the tableaux being superbly effective. The eccentricities of the Leslie Brothers are absolutely irresistible. The personification of muscular strength is to be found in the wonderful strong act. "The Armourers," by the Four Regals. Addie Dorina, the clever protean artist, has been seen here before in her smart sketch Dr. Spot's Patients, which goes as well as ever. Operatic singing of a high order is given by Ruth Davenport, and in her graceful song from Dorothy her exquisite soprano voice is heard to distinct advantage. Her dress also calls for special praise. Rhoda Paul is a smart male impersonator, and there are some interesting pictures.

WIDNES.—ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Kiddie; Secretary, Mr. Thos. Swinton.—Miss Lena Stanton's capital pantomime Dick Whittington and His Cat is a great attraction here. Miss Lena Stanton is a smart and charming principal boy; Miss Mollie Le Mair's ability is aptly suited to the part of Alice, and she does well; Mr. Owen Hunter makes the most of the part of Alderman Fitzwarren; and Mr. J. Harrington is a successful Idle Jack. Miss Dot Russell is a charming Princess, and Miss L. Fountaine a graceful Fairy Bowbell. Pretty dances are contributed by the Pagoda Troupe and the Sisters Holman.

CO-OPERATIVE HALL.—Lessees, Messrs. Hamilton Hughes.—George Prince, the crazy comedian, tops an excellent bill here; Clare Aston provides another good turn as a drawing-room entertainer; Dennis and Morris, comedians and dancing experts; and Ward and Davies, in a comedy duologue, Wanted, a Typist, are also extremely good. The Empire animated pictures include some capital films.

WIGAN.—ROYAL COURT THEATRE.—Proprietors, Wigan Entertainments Co.—Mr. J. A. Campbell's principal company is here in From Convent to Throne. Miss Mary Fulton acts in an expressive manner as Princess Maritza, while Miss M. Grayson renders excellent service as Rosella. Miss Esmie Malin displays power as Lady Rotha; Miss K. M. Davies is quite adequate as the Mother Superior; and Miss Maie Pretty as the Lady Violetta is all that can be desired. Mr. A. H. Stuart plays with artistic feeling as Maurice; Mr. W. J. Millar is an excellent Baron; and Mr. Graham Woods and Mr. T. C. Vane do well in their respective parts.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, the Wigan Entertainments Co.—Alone in London is being presented here. Miss Nellie Clyde acts remarkably well as Nan; Miss Lena Vernon merits warm praise for her impersonation of Ruth Clifton; Miss Molly Monaghan as Mrs. Maloney would be difficult to excel; full justice is done to the rôle of John Biddlecombe by Mr. Russell Norris; Walter Burnaby is in the capable hands of Mr. Chas. Gibbon; and Mr. J. W. Wilkinson as Old Jenkinson, and Mr. Frank Caffery as Charlie Johnson distinguish themselves.

WISHAW, N.B.—PAVILION.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Bostock; General-Manager, Mr. René Clayton.—Miss Rose Elliott, in a series of new songs, is proving a big success here; Lieut. Travis, in an exceptionally good ventriloquial turn, is also a big favourite; Dolly, Agnes, and Maud, the Staffordshire box-makers, introduce some excellent singing and comedy work; Winona, the original aerial rifle and pistol shot, is an excellent turn; Donal Macdougal, the lively Scot; and the Bioscope concludes.

WOLVERHAMPTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Charles Barnard.—Mr. Walter Melville's company with The Beggar Girl's Wedding is here. Mr. Otto Minster makes a popular hero as Jack Cunningham; Mr. Herbert Morgans acts with ability as Gilbert Lindsay; Mr. Herbert Goddard is especially good as Robert Grimshaw; Mr. Charles Brucester plays creditably as Norman Marsh; Mr. Harry Playfair's Joe Webster is a capital study, and he is well seconded by Mr. Horace Kenny as the Podger. Mr. Herbert Lloyd as Dicky Storm and Miss Daisy Maynard as Tina Torkington cause a considerable amount of amusement. Miss Marie Duncan as Bessie Webster is a quiet but effective heroine; Miss Lily Duncker looks charming as Elsie Cunningham; and Miss Olive Warne does well as Maud Villiers.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. Vivian Evans.—Leo Dryden, in his well-known song playlets, was enthusiastically received here on Monday, the audience joining heartily in the choruses of "The Miner's Dream" and "A White Man," whilst his "False Gods" is intensely dramatic. The Brothers Werds, in a clever acrobatic turn, keep the audience in excellent humour; and the same may be said of Ardell and Odell. The remarkable intelligence displayed by Thiessen's fox terriers is a source of wonder; Taree produces marvellous effects on a mouth-organ; Walter Lawley's tenor voice is above the average; Maud Esmond pleases in her songs; Charles Grantley is a particularly happy comedian; and Lilian Rose, a little comedienne, wins much applause with "Somewhere."

THE PAVILION.—Proprietors, Messrs. Bennett and Stone.—The Leotards, staircase performers and hand-balancers, top the bill here, and Maud May, comedienne and dancer, and Howard and Wallace in Taming a Wife also appear. The principal pictures shown are A Rose of the Tenderlion, The Falling Arrow, and In the Window Recess.

WORCESTER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur Carlton; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. Edward Evans.—Mr. Ian Robertson and his company are this week introducing to Worcester audiences The Passing of the Third Floor Back, by arrangement with Mr. Forbes Robertson. Mr. Ian Robertson finds the part of the Passer-by, who exercises such beneficial influence over a strongly-mixed domestic circle, greatly to his liking. He assumes a breadth of benevolence and good nature which is wholly convincing. Miss Helen Parsons' assumption of the part of 'Stasia, the lodging-house slavey, is the more admirable by reason of the restraint she exercises with such telling effect. Miss Jennie Thomas plays the part of the lodging-house-keeper, Mrs. Sharpe, with full appreciation of its opportunities. The other characters are in equally capable hands, as follows: Joey Wright, Mr. W. C. Billington; Christopher Penny, Mr. J. Woodall-Birde; Major Tomkins, Mr. P. Gedge Twynam; Mrs. Tomkins, Miss Lena Delphine; Vivian, Miss Barbara Everest; Jake Samuels, Mr. Stanley Brown; Harry Larkcom, Mr. Herbert Garthorne; Miss Kite, Miss Drusilla Wills; and Mrs. Percival de Holey, Miss B. Ripley.

WORKINGTON.—OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Stanley Rogers.—Mr. J. A. Campbell's Old Folks at Home company draws good houses this week. Mr. Frank Liston as Lord Kenilworth plays with spirit; Mr. Geo. Steel makes a typical yeoman as Andrew Ross; and Mr. Vincent Wardle plays the hunchback to perfection. Miss Maud Warburton is a charming Dorothy, and Miss Dorothy Davey gives a good interpretation of Bonita.

CARNEGIE HALL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Stanley Rogers.—The Orchids, a very smart variety duo, top the bill; Joe Atkin contributes good comedy songs; and the pictures are interesting.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Mack. —Mexican Bill and Before the Mast are sensational films, and very well received. Miss Lizzie Round, male impersonator, and the physical marvel, Paul Cavalli, are the variety attractions.

WREXHAM.—THE EMPIRE MUSIC HALL.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. J. Scott.—Herman and Evelyn are a great attraction this week with their refined and daring performances on "the silver thread"; Ryder Davis, a clever comedian, commands plentiful applause by his songs and monologues; Eva Ward is a pleasing burlesque artist; and Crossley fully maintains his unique reputation with his table act. The Bioscope pictures this week include a thrilling representation of The Fall of Rome.

YORK.—ROYAL.—Lessees, Messrs. Waddington; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. J. Dacre.—Mr. J. B. Howard's excellent company is appearing, with huge success, in The Earl and the Girl. The whimsicalities of Mr. Bert Beswick are exactly suited to the rôle of Jim Cheese; Miss Ada Waugh gives a clever rendering of the part of 'Liza; Mr. Herbert St. John is in every way suited to the rôle of Dick Wargrave; and Elphin Haye has a charming representative in Miss Lily Gullick. Mr. Leslie Downham is a lively Crew Boodle; Mr. E. G. Hall is to the fore as Bunker Bliss; and Miss Ida Stratham is an interesting Daisy Fallowfield.

OPERA HOUSE AND EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. Sidney Brooke.—Mr. J. Gar Kiddie's pantomime Little Bo-Peep is merry and bustling in the extreme, and large houses have been the rule during the present week. Miss Eva May Rossiyn is a dashing Boy Blue, singing well and giving a capital performance; Mr. Harry Rex is quaintly funny as the Baron; and Mr. J. W. Groves as Granny Brown revels in a part exactly suited to his quaint style. Miss Lizzie Payne is demure and pleasing in the title-rôle. Little Ivy Francis, a dancer of extraordinary merit, and Cliny and Clancy contribute to the fun.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. G. Bowman.—Excellent films and large audiences are the order of things here. The Postmistress is most exciting; A Talkative Woman causes much amusement; and an excellent conjuring entertainment is provided by the Barries and Lottie Joycliffe.

VICTORIA HALL.—Lessee, Mr. Sidney Bacon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Bert Rutter.—Flo Leonard is deservedly popular here, where the fine pictures are heartily received nightly. The principal ones this week are A Tale of Circus Life and Free Trade and Tariff Reform. Good business is done.

Calvin Brown's New Enterprises.

JOHN CALVIN BROWN, proprietor of the White City at Manchester, returned to headquarters on Wednesday from a trip to Spain, where he made some contracts along amusement park lines that will interest showmen greatly when the plans are all perfected for public announcement. It is known that Mr. Brown has contracted to build all the principal attractions, such as a water-chute, a scenic railway, and several other like shows for a syndicate of French and Spanish bankers and capitalists, who have just received a Government concession, that will make of their resort one of the most attractive along the Mediterranean shore. Already the syndicate have a magnificent hotel, restaurant, casino, music hall, and other attractions, and the intention is to have everything in the shape of amusement and entertainment for visitors that can well be thought of. Several hundred acres of ground are included in the concession, which is located so close to Barcelona, the manufacturing metropolis of the country, that when an electric railway now under way is completed the place will be easily reached from the centre of Barcelona in fifteen minutes, and at an expense of about twopence or so. Five sulphur springs bubble up on the ground, and it will be made a health as well as pleasure resort. The directors of this company controlling the place visited many places before deciding to entrust the amusement end to anyone, and liking White City, Manchester, and Mr. Brown's shows at the recent International Exposition at Nancy, France, so vitally well, decided to contract with him, and the result will certainly be a pleasure resort, where only the best will be found. While the company will own all the attractions built by Mr. Brown, still there will be room for others, and Mr. Brown will have charge of their selection and installation if he can get the right kind.

A COPY OF "THE ERA" will be forwarded to any address in the United Kingdom for six stamps. The Era is posted on Saturday in time to reach London Subscribers by the first Town Delivery, and Country Subscribers should receive their Papers by the first London Post. Address, THE PUBLISHER, 5, Tavistock-street, W.C.

LONDON AND SUBURBAN THEATRES.

"JACK AND THE BEANSTALK" AT BRIXTON.

[SECOND NOTICE.]

Boys and girls of Brixton, as well as the grown-ups, are taking full advantage of the treat offered them at the local theatre, where crowded houses nightly and matinées thrice a week testify to the popularity of Jack and the Beanstalk, Mr. Fred Melville's third annual pantomime in the locality. The production furnishes a succession of lively scenes, sparkling with fun and melody. A profusion of pretty sets illustrate the piece, particular attention being attracted by the Realms of Fairyland, a perfect bower of delicate bloom, wherein nymphs sport and tastefully arrayed coryphées flit blithely about the stage. A realistic Sunrise is here depicted, and when at the close golden rain descends upon the picturesque crowd, the effect is quite entrancing.

The principals have the rare recommendation of prettiness and vivacity. Miss Daisy James is a fascinating Jack, and has strengthened her already great popularity in the neighbourhood. Her silken suits become her remarkably well, while the appearance of a principal boy in a "merry widow" hat is distinctly novel. Miss James acts and sings with dash and buoyancy, "Ship ahoy!" going with an irresistible lilt. "Let's all go down the Strand" is another triumph, and causes quite a competition among the audience as to who shall shout the loudest, encores innumerable being exacted. A winsome maiden is the Princess Truelove of Miss Marie Moss, who acts with grace and delicacy, and sings and dances prettily. A particular hit is made with "The clogs and shawl," an exhilarating song, in which the singer has the assistance of a number of typical Lancashire lasses. Miss Moss also gives "My little soldier boy," in which she receives invaluable aid from Little Amy Stuart, a smart comedienne and dancer.

The comic contingent is again led by Mr. Newman Maurice, the author and producer of the pantomime, who makes of Mrs. Jack a florid, flaxen-haired dame, with an amusing simper and a diverting habit of seizing upon the humorous side of a situation, with the result that laughter is always ascendant while he is on the stage. The Schoolroom scene is a prolific source of drollery, and gives rise to a riot of fun. Invaluable work is here done by Mr. Nat Lewis, a comedian of ponderous proportions, who makes a droll fat boy, and as the giant's daughter, Mabel, creates unlimited mirth. A jovial giant and a melodious one is Mr. Pen Armstrong, whose trumpet tones are well suited to the part. His voice is a cultivated one, as is proved by his rendering of "The Bedouin's Love Song," which arouses some of the heartiest applause of the evening. Mr. Chas. Leverton is an eccentric Baron D'Ooffess, with a querulous accent that is very whimsical, and he has strong support from Miss Dorothy Vernon, who confers upon the Baroness "cattish" propensities that add to the levity of the audience.

The "second boy" has the distinction of possessing two sweethearts, and little wonder when he has so smart and dashing an impersonator as Miss Marie York, who is a fascinating Philomel. As Rosetta, his lady love, Miss Dorothy Millar is most attractive, and wins unbounded applause for the song "It's the Alpine dress you're wearing." Similar honours are achieved by Miss Ruby Lester, whose 'Lavender" song is spiritedly sung and artistically worked. The Demon Discord is an awe-inspiring personage in the hands of Mr. Victor Cannon, and fairy spells are pleasantly woven by Miss Grace Rosaire, whose strong and flexible voice is heard with pleasure in "The Garden Enchanted," the upper notes being especially well produced. Miss Dorothy Maurice is a captivating Cupid, and executes a pas seul, of which clever and graceful pirouetting is a feature. The Cow is realistically embodied by Messrs. Curds and Whey, who cause boundless fun, the children shrieking with delight at the antics of the animal when it goes on the rampage. Mr. Harry Philipi and Mr. James Philipi add to the fun in a couple of comic characters, and join their brothers in a knockabout act, which keeps the house hilarious, and reveals the performers' strength and skill in hand-balancing and somersaults. In the Schoolroom scene the opportunity is taken of presenting several talented juveniles. The Sisters Arthur sing and dance in entertaining style; Miss J. Mealing wins commendation in the ballad "Beware"; and Miss May Hill, a youngster with a most expressive countenance, sings "Booby-boo" effectively. In Jack and the Beanstalk Brixton may certainly be credited with having acquired a record success.

"GOODY TWO SHOES" AT CLAPHAM.

[SECOND NOTICE.]

Passing the early part of her career 'midst the turmoil of political strife, Goody Two Shoes was in anything but an enviable position, and it speaks volumes for her attractions that she has battled successfully against the adverse conditions prevailing, and risen to the highest pinnacle of success. It is, however, not surprising, as the rollicking humour and tuneful music of the production, aided by magnificent scenery and dresses, form as delightful a performance as could be imagined, and one calculated to drive dull care away. We have previously given a full account of the story, and have now only to add that, since the opening performance, the piece has been freshened up with new songs, and the comedians having thoroughly worked up their respective parts, the pantomime bids fair to eclipse all previous records.

Of the artists, Miss Queenie Leighton, as Prince Charming, has added fresh laurels to her fame as the best of principal boys. Her gallant bearing and dashing style is magnetic in rousing the audience to a high pitch of enthusiasm, and the success of her songs is accentuated by the hearty manner in which they join in the various choruses. It is not in this respect alone that Miss Leighton excels, as she impresses all with the vigour and force of her acting. Miss Gracie Sinclaire continues to captivate all hearts with her winsome and charming portraiture of Goody, and her dainty personality and pretty singing alone make her a decided favourite. Miss Irene Vernon's reputation is enhanced by her clever embodiment of Baroness Bounder; and Miss Minnie Mulvey as Marjorie is seen to great advantage in song and dance, enacting the rôle with much vivacity. Miss Eva Reed is prominent with a humorous presentation of Jane, and her eccentric dance never fails to elicit an encore. Miss Annie Wallace makes an ideal Fairy Queen, and her excellent singing is greatly admired.

At the head of the fun-makers we find that versatile comedian, Mr. Harry Pleon, who causes roars of laughter by his comical interpretation of the rôle of Baron Bounder. Full of resource and never sparing himself, Mr. Pleon ensures the success of the piece. He is well seconded by that admirable artist, Mr. J. J. Dallas, who plays the part of Widow Niblick with a quiet drollery that always finds its mark. His make-up is really excellent, and he is very entertaining. Equally successful is Mr. Fred Mulvey as Jack. He is always in the picture, and his witticisms keep the ball of fun merrily rolling. A vein of sentiment is struck by Mr. Roland Bottomley, who does full justice to the part of Rupert, and sings magnificently. Mr. Walter Balfour acts the part of the Demon with dramatic force; and Mr. Bert Atherton does well as the Postman. We must not forget to mention the clever and graceful ballet dancing of Mlle. Dolli, which evokes considerable applause. The pantomime concludes with an old-fashioned harlequinade by the Sando troupe. The whole production is under the stage direction of Mr. Ivan Capell, and the comfort of the audience is assiduously attended to by the resident acting-manager, Mr. H. Percival Young, and Mr. Frank Seabrook, the acting-manager for the pantomime company.

"CINDERELLA" AT THE ELEPHANT.

[SECOND NOTICE.]

Crowded audiences are the rule at the above house, where Mr. Charles Barnard's tuneful and humorous production still continues to attract. A good many improvements and additions have been made since the opening night, and thanks to the untiring efforts of the artists engaged a really excellent entertainment is provided. In the character of Prince Casimir dashing Miss Mary Ambrose is quite an established favourite, her two principal songs being "Bohemia" and "Ship ahoy!" In the latter number she is assisted by Miss Baby Wolf, a clever juvenile artist, who also sings with much effect "The girl in the clogs and shawl," which she accompanies with a clever dance. Mr. George Newburn as Dandini has made a big hit in his chorus song, "I've a lass in Yorkshire." He introduces a series of clever imitations of well-known artists, perhaps the two best being his impressions of Mr. George Mozart and Mr. Lew Lake.

The two clever comedians, Mr. Freddie French and Mr. Ted Young, in their respective characters of Hercules (Baron) and Tiny (Baroness), work well together to achieve excellent results. One of the most humorous situations by them is an extremely funny scene in which the Baroness doses her spouse with turpentine in lieu of brandy, which the Baron likes too well as a panacea for all his ailments. Outside their house at two o'clock in the morning after the return from the Prince's ball, when they recall reminiscences of their younger days, is another side-splitting episode, and Mr. Freddie French introduces into the Ballroom scene a most amusing "comic drunk." He is particularly successful in his song, "Different styles of dancing," in which he introduces some really good dancing, which is much appreciated. Mr. Ted Young scores in a clever "medley" on popular songs. The characters of the two Ugly Sisters, Araminta and Elvira, are played by Miss Alice Inman and Miss Florrie Haydon, both of whom work hard to bring these two characters into prominence. Miss Madge O'Neill makes an admirable Duke of Whistbridge, singing in fine style a very catchy number, "I do like to be by the seaside." Mr. Tom Poole as the Baron's servant, Capers, is highly successful in his endeavours to amuse. He introduces some good dancing and some excellent tumbling, also a very amusing "racecourse" gag. In the character of a tipster he induces the Baron and Baroness to part with their money over "certs," whose names are "Ice Cream," "Air Ball," and "Good-bye." Needless to add, ice cream melts, air ball bursts, and good-bye wins. When, however, the Baron and Baroness go to draw their winnings they find both tipster and bookie have said good-bye. Mr. Tom Poole keeps the audience in roars of laughter as the Tipster, and he is assisted by Mr. Jack Glynn, who is seen at different times as the Bookmaker, a Wrestler, and the Prince's Flunkey.

Miss Lilian Errol has captured the hearts and affections of both young and old by her charming personality as Cinderella. Her rendering of "Silvery moon" is delightful, and her graceful dancing is greatly admired. A humorous "Parrot" duet, introduced with Mr. Tom Poole, is one of the most successful numbers in the production, the skating verse being extremely amusing. Miss Winifred Rochfort as the Fairy Queen who watches over the destiny of our heroine, is heard to advantage in the very tuneful number "Somewhere." Some good dancing is provided by Benn's Dutch Boys and Girls.

Mr. Will Cutler is responsible for the stage-management, and is to be congratulated upon the excellent arrangements behind. The music is tuneful and the choruses catchy; altogether, the musical arrangements are above the usual pantomime average. Mr. Sydney Barnard is in charge in front, where he has achieved much popularity.

"THE HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT" AT THE BROADWAY.

[SECOND NOTICE.]

The pantomime so successfully produced on Boxing Day is still running its course merrily, and crowded houses are the rule at every performance. The entire show is bright and smart, some judicious cuts and clever additions having been made. Miss Mina Green continues her delightful performance of Prince Opulent, and sings her numbers capitally, especially "Let's all go down the Strand" and "I don't care if it snows." Miss Ida Valli is a clever and winsome Jack, her singing of "Ship ahoy!" and "Don't take me home" being warmly applauded. Miss Maidie Scott is a warm favourite as Jill, her songs being heartily encored. Miss Maudie Francis is not only a charming little lady, but a clever artist, and her song, "Old Jack Frost," is excellently rendered. In company with Miss Gladys Nelson (another clever little lady) she appears in a pretty and effective contribution, entitled "Little Miss Snow Shoes," in which both appear to great advantage. Miss Elsie Skilling sings with taste and skill "Somewhere"; Miss Maude Lake is a pleasing and tuneful White Heather; Little Zola is very funny as Father Hubbard, and sings "Whoever would have thought it?" capitally; Mr. Syd Walker is amusing as the Squire, and makes a hit with "Has anybody here seen Kelly?"; the Brothers Oboe are amusing as Ripp and Rapp; Mr. Sam Poluski, jun., is very good indeed as the Cat; and Mr. Fred Emney as Mother Hubbard proves himself in the first rank of pantomime dames.

Miss Lottie Stone's troupe are clever and charming dancers; the chorus is attractive and well trained; the scenery and dresses admirable; and the music exceedingly well arranged. Mr. James Leslie represents Mr. Fred Karno, and Mr. Bertram Iles is the popular resident-manager.

DALSTON THEATRE.

On Monday, Jan. 17, the Play, by Hall Caine, entitled

"THE CHRISTIAN."

Mr. Wentworth Croke is presenting this week at the Dalston Theatre the Lyceum Theatre version of the play The Christian, which has already formed the programme there on several previous occasions, and then, as now, been well received by appreciative audiences. The trying part of the Hon. John Storm, who subsequently becomes the Rev. John Storm, is undertaken by Mr. Henry Wolston, who succeeds in impressing audiences with the seriousness of the character. The woman so closely and dramatically associated with him in the story, Glory Quayle, is impersonated by Miss Gladys Purnell, who makes everyone sorrow with her in her sorrows and rejoice with her in her joys. Mr. John Hastings Batson is a quietly impressive Father Lamplugh, while, as a contrast, the Archdeacon Wealthy of Mr. Charles E. Dering is just sufficiently pompous. Mr. Arthur E. Maskell is a quaint Parson Quayle, and Mr. Royce Milton is a dignified Lord Storm, while Mr. Wilfred Noy as Horatio Drake and Mr. Fred Morgan as Lord Robert Ure impart the necessary interest to those characters. The Mrs. Callendar of Miss Mollie Hayden is rendered an interesting creature, while the Black Meg of Miss Lizette Cardoga and the Mother Kent of Mrs. Harriet Russel are each very praiseworthy character sketches, and Miss Gertrude Maxwell scores creditably as Lady Robert Ure.

THEATRE ROYAL, STRATFORD.

On Monday, Jan. 17, for the First Time in London, the Drama, in Four Acts, by Fred C. Somerfield, entitled

"GEOFFREY LANGDON'S WIFE."

Produced at the Rotunda Theatre, Liverpool, on June 22, 1908, Geoffrey Langdon's Wife has since toured the provinces until making her appearance before a metropolitan audience at the Stratford Theatre Royal on Monday night, when her enthusiastic reception augured well for the future success of the piece. The story is well written, and the many thrilling situations are continued with a sure dramatic touch, while the necessary comic relief is not too obtrusive, and has the advantages of being connected with the story.

Geoffrey Langdon's wife Mary is beloved by Felix Beverley, who pesters her with his unwelcome attentions. Mary's husband, Geoffrey, although very jealous of his wife's honour, has yet contracted a liaison with a certain notorious Mrs. Sands, and when he finds Beverley and Mary together he is ready to believe in his wife's unfaithfulness. Angrily he leaves Mary, with the remark that he will go back to the other woman, and the distraught wife, chancing to have a knife in her hand, tries to stab her husband and then rushes from the room. Langdon is not hurt, but the miscreant Beverley returning, the two men fight, and Geoffrey Langdon is killed, chance fixing the crime on a newcomer, Jack Stirling, who enters the room just after Beverley's flight, and is found alone with the body. Jack is acquitted of the murder, and he chivalrously becomes a suitor for Mary's hand, but under the impression that she herself is the guilty party, and also because of Beverley's influence over her, Mary refuses him. This further obstacle in Beverley's way of obtaining his life's desire preys upon his brain, and in one of his morbid soliloquies he is overheard confessing his guilt by Mary's father, Colonel Miles. With this knowledge and the possession of a sleeve-link which Beverley lost in the struggle with Langdon, the Colonel is enabled finally to clear his daughter's good name, and there is a new dawn of happiness for her in her betrothal to Jack Stirling, that remarkable "creature of circumstances," Felix Beverley, taking his life by poison.

Mr. Fred C. Somerfield's company, under the direction of Mr. Percy Brown, interpret the piece with much credit, and a word of praise must be bestowed upon the scenery and the appropriate incidental music. Mr. Wilson Coleman in the outstanding part of Felix Beverley acts with much strength and variety, probably exactly conveying the author's intention that Beverley is not utterly bad, but is a strong-willed man whose "love knows no bounds," and who wrecks his life thereby. Mary, in the experienced hands of Miss Amy Ellam, is represented with tact, sympathy, and charm, and the part is exceedingly popular. Mr. John S. Milward is a manly and interesting Jack Stirling; and Mr. H. Cresgh Hunt, though rather too declamatory, is otherwise commendable as the pusillanimous Geoffrey Langdon. Mr. Cyril Grier exactly hits off the affable good-natured Colonel Miles; and Mr. W. Annesley supplies a clever portraiture as Arthur Bellairs. Miss Kathleen Magee brings much ability to bear upon the unthankful rôle of Mrs. Sands; and Miss Minnie Goepel is pretty and pert as Sweet Nancy. Mr. Percy Brown as Thomas is of invaluable service to the lighter side of the piece; and Mr. Will Glaze as Charles is also very amusing. As Detective Banks Mr. Harland Brooks is well placed; and Mr. Charles Drew completes the cast as Inspector Froest.

"ALADDIN" AT THE LYRIC, HAMMERSMITH.

[SECOND NOTICE.]

This merry pantomime is still doing record business at this popular house, and enthusiasm and laughter are plentiful. Miss Kittee Rayburn has made herself a prime favourite with the audiences, and her songs, both topical and sentimental, win encores, and her lively, sprightly acting is admired. Miss Nancy St. John, too, with sweet singing and dainty dancing, remains a great favourite as the Princess Badroulbadour. Mr. Manitto Klitgaard is an imperious Emperor of China, and Mr. Cecil Clayton causes shouts of merriment as Wishee-Washee. Mr. Harry Morgan's popular Abanazar remains a distinct feature of the panto, and many others in the cast add to the attractiveness of the entertainment. We must not omit the specialities of Victor's Troupe and the Nine Foliettes, while the dancing of La Belle Trio arouses enthusiasm. Mr. Wentworth Croke's pantomime is essentially one to be seen more than once, and we heartily congratulate that enterprising gentleman and his worthy lieutenants, Mr. Thos. Barry and Mr. Fred S. Jennings on the success—financial and artistic—achieved.

MR. PERCY WILLIAMS'S company is at the Aberaman Grand Theatre in The Fatal Wedding. Mr. Hugh Montgomery excelled in the rôle of Howard Wilson; Mr. S. Herbert Humber is a successful Robert Curtis; Mr. Watson Hume is seen to advantage as Peter Schwartz; the Rev. Dr. Laneford is effectively represented by Mr. J. Newton; Miss Leah Marlborough gives a fine portrayal of Cora; and as Mabel Wilson Miss Ethel Kay does some excellent work. Excellent singing is to be heard by the specially trained children.

MR. EDWARD NEVILLE and his répertoire company opened at the Goole Theatre Royal on Monday with Nana. Mr. Edward Neville gives a fine representation of the part of Hector; Mr. Walter H. Wilson is an excellent Phillipe; Mr. Frank Wheatley submits a finished performance of Fontaine; Mr. H. Sisto does creditably in the part of George Hugen; and in the title-rôle Miss Rosie Neville is clever and finished. Miss Dorothy Dewhurst is a charming Blanche; and Miss Loie Esmond an excellent Rose Mignon. Sapho and The Sorrows of Satan are included in the bill.

MESSRS. O. SILVERSTONE AND H. WRIGHT'S company are at the Darwen Theatre Royal in The Nihilist. Mr. Geo. Mitchell plays Ivan Nowasky with force and skill; Mr. O. Silverstone, admirably suited as Prince Alexander, is well supported by Mr. C. Newton Buckland as Piertree Petoff; good work is done by Messrs. Cowell Clark and J. Brunelle Harvey as Karl Orioff and Father Gourko respectively; comedy being well sustained by Mr. H. Wright as Bobbie Smart, supported by Miss Jessica Ford as Katrina. Miss Edna Clare gives an excellent rendering of Alexina Orioff; Miss Florry Kelsey is an ideal Princess; and Little Minnie Halstan does well as Little Alexina.

MR. JAMES BELL'S company is presenting The Idol of Paris at the Prince of Wales's, Nuneaton. Miss Annie Bell as Flare-Flare plays with much success; Mr. Sidney Arnold is vigorous and convincing as Victor; Mr. Cyril Austin-Lee as Philip D'Esterré is resourceful in his ruthless scheming; Mr. C. St. John Medley is good as Gustave Langlois; Mr. Gordon Robey creditably enacts the part of Prince Sergius; Miss Frances Bruce ably depicts Mme. Sancterre; Mr. H. Vyvian Thomas as Tatave is exceedingly droll, being ably seconded by Miss Annie Megson.

MR. CHARLES GODFREY, JUN., is leaving the Spa, Scarborough, after eleven long seasons' engagement as musical director. The only reason given by the directors is that a change might be acceptable to their patrons.

DRAMATIC COPYRIGHT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—Now that there is some prospect of a revision being made of the law of copyright, I should like to draw attention to what is probably the point of most importance to dramatic authors, managers, and, indirectly, the theatrical profession generally. The recent report of the committee appointed in connection with the International Copyright Convention appears to contain a reference to the point with which I propose to deal, thus stated in the summary of the report before me: "With regard to choreographic works and entertainments in dumb show, the committee state that British law is now obscure, and probably gives no protection against the performance of works which depend practically upon costume and get-up, and dramatic action, which is not dialogue or music." The language is ambiguous, but we know what is meant.

Now, I am able to remove a great deal of the obscurity referred to, and, in doing so, I hope to make clear what dramatic copyright is, and is not, according to the view of the present law taken by some of his Majesty's Judges; for, as plaintiff in an action for alleged infringement of performing right, I obtained, as recently as May 18 last, the opinion of the Court of Appeal. Without going into details, it is sufficient to recall that the matter in dispute was, primarily, the plot or story, or dramatic fabric, which was an original creation, and, secondarily, certain similarities of dialogue and ideas were cited. The learned Judge in the Court of First Instance read and compared the plays, and thereupon came to the conclusion, and found as a fact, that the one was an infringement of the sole liberty to represent the other. This judgment was reversed by the Court of Appeal, their Lordships laying down what must be taken to be the present law of dramatic copyright, and in doing so they also laid down, for the first time I believe, a rule of law for such cases, which I have attempted to epitomise thus:—

"In cases of alleged infringement of dramatic copyright, in order to determine whether there has been an infringement of the sole liberty of representing a dramatic piece the plot or story embodied in the written words of that piece must not be taken into consideration. The infringement must lie in the similarity between the actual words or dialogue of the two plays, and unless such verbal similarity be shown to exist to a substantial and material degree there can be no infringement of the performing right within the meaning of the Acts relating to dramatic copyright. The plot of a dramatic piece and stage situations, scenic effects, and such matters, can only become material after an infringement of the words has been established, and then solely for the purpose of showing the way in which the copy was taken or the intention of taking it."

If, as I have endeavoured to do from a copy of the full judgments before me, I have correctly set forth above the latest view of the meaning and intention of the Acts relating to dramatic copyright, then there does not seem to me to be that obscurity in the British law which the committee suggest. "The sole liberty to represent" a dramatic piece—that is, performing right—means merely the right to speak particular written dialogue on the stage: it does not mean the right to perform by means of dramatic action a particular series of events. From this it is obvious that plays given in dumb show, such as L'Enfant Prodigue, are entirely without protection. With them must be classed as non-infringements all cinematographic representations of stage plays, although in Karno v. Pathé Frères a learned Judge found to the contrary. But a graver consequence follows from this judgment. Dialogue alone being the part protected by law, it follows that the moment that a play is publicly produced, or privately circulated with a view to production, any persons so minded are now legally entitled to take its scenario, plot, situations, "business," and scenes, wholly and in detail, and after getting new dialogue written—the easiest thing in the world—may perform that play all over the country, or next door to the theatre first producing it, without fear of penalties or injunction.

A judgment which renders such a state of things possible can only be regarded as a literary pirates' charter. Under it the celebrated stagecraft of Sir Arthur Pinero becomes the property of every Tom, Dick, or Harry who can scribble new dialogue to his works, but who could not construct an actable play to save his life. Similarly, the delightful invention and ingenuity of Mr. Barrie are open to all; there is nothing to prevent the wholesale production of rival versions of Peter Pan identical with the original in everything but dialogue, and the same applies to every author's plays—produced or to be produced. A recent case affords an example of what is sometimes done in this direction. A leading London manager who had produced a play which was a phenomenal success, applied to the Courts for an interim injunction against a provincial manager, alleging that the latter was touring a play which was a replica of his, but to which new dialogue had been supplied. The interim injunction was granted, but as the provincial manager eventually agreed to discontinue the tour the action was dropped. Now, had the above interpretation of the law been then the established one that provincial manager could have defended his position, relying on the fact that he had taken none of the dialogue.

Most authors, if not all, have hitherto produced their works under the impression that original matter embodied by them in written words was protected with the words embodying it. The original matter in a play—including therein originality of treatment—is generally more valuable than the words. To the construction of a play an author often devotes many months and much hard thinking in an endeavour to invent striking incidents and dovetail the various parts together to form an artistic whole. And there is much justification for supposing that this part of the product of an author's brain was a property duly protected by the law. In the well-known case of Chatterton v. Cave, which reached the House of Lords, it was held that two dramatic situations, apart from the dialogue, were protected by the Act of 1833. Now, a plot may fairly be described as a connected series or chain of situations, and it is difficult to see why such a series should not enjoy protection as a whole when two insignificant situations can. In all subsequent cases known to me it appears to have been taken for granted that the plots were protected, and that the plays had to be considered as a whole in determining questions of infringement and not merely the dialogue. I believe that the first case which may or may not be said to point in the opposite direction is Tate v. Fullbrook (1908), the headnote to the report of which I quote from "Law Reports":

"The Acts relating to dramatic copyright contemplate, as the subject of protection under them, something which can be printed and published. Therefore, where a dramatic piece in which there is copyright is, as regards the verbal composition, in substance entirely different from another dramatic piece alleged to constitute an infringement of that copyright, the mere fact that accessorial matters, such as scenic effects, make-up of actors, or stage "business," in the latter piece, as performed, are similar to those employed in the performance of the former will not constitute an infringement of the copyright therein, such matters, taken by themselves, not being the subject of protection under the Acts relating to dramatic copyright, though in cases where the verbal composition of the pieces is more or less similar such matters may be regarded as throwing light on the question whether there has been an infringement."

A very important thing to observe is that in the "accessorial matters" named above the plot of a drama is not included. The Court, in fact, were doubtful whether the music hall sketches in question had any plots at all or were dramatic pieces. It was in applying the decision in Tate v. Fullbrook to the facts of my own by no means parallel case—for it was not concerned with a mere sketch, but with a complete opera—that the new rule was laid down by the Court of Appeal, definitely excluding plot and everything in a drama but dialogue from enjoying protection. It is interesting to note that this view of the law was not put forward by counsel for the appellants, and consequently was not argued; but it came from the Bench as a surprise to both sides when their Lordships delivered judgment.

That a plot embodied in written words composing a drama can be printed and published all will agree, and it certainly can be performed. Indeed, it is the essential part of drama, the very backbone of most plays, and can exist independently of dialogue. But words cannot be performed! Possibly much of the existing confusion arises from failure to discriminate between "copyright" as applied to printed books and "performing right" as applied to drama, but the difference is readily apparent to those whose business it is to "represent" a play, and must surely have been known to the framers of the Act of 1833. It is significant that in that Act the word "copyright" has been carefully avoided, and in place of it is used the phrase "the liberty of representing, or causing to be represented," a dramatic piece, which is the same as what we now call "performing right" or "playright."

In America there is no obscurity as to there being protection for plots, and I will briefly quote from a reported case which puts the pro-plot point of view much more clearly than I can. The case is that of Daly v. Palmer (1868), wherein the plaintiff alleged that a certain sensational railway scene, forming an important part of his drama, had been copied by the defendant, although new dialogue and characters had been provided. In delivering judgment for the plaintiff, Mr. Justice Blatchford said:

"'The sole right also to act, perform, or represent the same, or cause it to be acted, performed, or represented, on any stage or public place' must be held to confer the right to represent in whole or in part. All that is substantial and material in the plaintiff's 'railroad scene' has been used by Boucicault in the same order and sequence of events, and in a manner to convey the same sensations and impressions to those who see it represented as in the plaintiff's play. Boucicault has, indeed, adapted the plaintiff's series of events to the story of his play, and in doing so has evinced skill and art; but the same use is made in both plays of the same series of events, to excite by representation the same series of emotions, and in the same sequence. There is no new use, in the sense of the law, in Boucicault's play of what is found in the plaintiff's railroad scene. The railroad scene in Boucicault's play contains everything which makes the railroad scene in the plaintiff's play attractive as a representation on the stage. . . . The adaptation of such series of events to different characters who use different language from the characters in the first play is like the adaptation of a musical air to a different instrument, or the addition to it of variations or an accompaniment. The original subject of invention—that which required genius to construct it and set it in order—remains the same in the adaptation. A mere mechanic in dramatic composition can make such adaptation, and it is a piracy if the appropriated series of events, when represented on the stage, although performed by new and different characters using different language, is recognised by the spectator, through any of the senses to which the representation is addressed, as conveying substantially the same impressions to, and exciting the same emotions in the mind in the same sequence and order."

To me the above appears to be a commonsense view of what is embraced by "performing right" or "liberty of representation," and unless British law be amended somewhat on those lines so as to afford protection to original dramatic work as well as to dialogue, it will be farcical to pretend that under the terms of the International Copyright Convention British or foreign dramatic authors have any real protection in British countries for their works.

This important subject of dramatic copyright is far too great to discuss adequately in a single letter, and I have had to content myself with outlining some of its many aspects. May I hope that you will, by means of correspondence and special articles, do all that is possible to help to bring about clear legislation giving protection to every commercially and artistically valuable part of a dramatic piece?—Yours faithfully,

W. GUNN GWENNET.

MR. EDWARD GRAHAM FALCON is this week staging his pantomime, Little Bo-Peep, at the Grand Theatre, Luton. The first word of commendation is due to Mrs. Falcon for the costumes, which are exceedingly pretty. As Bo-Peep Miss Flora Morris is charmingly chic; the Boy Blue of Miss Mabel Kessler is extremely popular, her cornet solo in the Palace scene taking the houses nightly by storm; Prince Pastorelle is well taken by Miss Ruby Carter; and the dancing of Miss Rosie Stevens is full of grace. Baron Budget is in the capable hands of Mr. F. G. Royde; and the eccentrics, Mr. E. Hans, Mr. W. Lux, and Mr. G. Wood, are good laughter makers.

MR. H. LESLIE BELL'S grand comic pantomime Cinderella is the attraction at the Batley Theatre. Miss Daisy Silcott as principal boy makes a hit; Miss Lily Pearl as Cinderella is a big success; and Mr. Barry Bond as the Baron is responsible for a great deal of the humour, being ably supported by Gus Davis and Pat Yost as the Ugly Sisters and Mr. Tom Veronique as the Page. Miss Annie Craig is good as Dandini; and Miss Daisy Rhyl fills the rôle of the Fairy in a charming manner. Specialities are introduced by Gus Davis, Lew Towers, and the Kitma Dancing Girls. Cinderella has drawn crowded houses.

MISS IDA MOLESWORTH and Mr. Mark Blow's company is at the Pavilion Theatre, Weymouth, in Under Two Flags. Miss Doris Gilham is a capital exponent of Cigarette; Beauty was well played by Mr. Douglas Murray; Barklie Cecil Royallieu was in the capable hands of Mr. J. O. Cuthbertson, and Lord Rockyngham was ably represented by Mr. Pringle Roberts; Miss Elizabeth Dundas was very charming as the Princess; Mr. Walter Rousby played the Rake in a light and happy manner; and other parts were well supported. On Thursday and Friday the same company appeared in The Luck of Roaring Camp.

"THE CINGALEE" is being presented at the King's Theatre, Kirkcaldy, by Mr. Haldane Crichton's company. Mr. Herbert Franklin is successful as Bobby Warren; the flattering reception accorded Mr. Frank Barclay as the Hon Harry Vereker is fully deserved; Mr. Frank Lennard is worthy of praise as Boobhamba; and Messrs. Hylton, Warde, Crafton, Williams, and Frank Crichton are valuable members of the cast. Miss Isa Bowman's Nanoya is heartily applauded. Miss Florrie Greensmith is an able Peggy Sabine and Miss Ray Anderson a striking Lady Patricia Vane. The dancing of Miss Winifred Stone is a decided hit.

AMERICAN AMUSEMENTS.

(FROM OUR NEW YORK CORRESPONDENT.)

NEW YORK, JAN. 12.—Mr. Otis Skinner has made a success at the Garrick Theatre in a four-act play, entitled Your Humble Servant, by Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson. Mr. Skinner impersonates a vainglorious and happy-go-lucky actor named Lafayette Towers, and the play treats of theatrical life and theatrical people of the "one-night-stand" class, Towers and his troupe being American cousins to Vincent Crummles and his aggregation of talent. The first act takes place behind the scenes at the Weedsport Opera House during a performance of The Bandit's Bride. In romantic garb, Towers comes off the stage with the applause of the audience ringing in his ears. A "barnstormer" all his life, to whom Broadway is the ever-distant goal, Towers has a ward named Margaret Druce, a child of stage parents, whom he evidently regards with the feelings of a lover. But Margaret is in love with Dick Prentice, a stage-struck youth from New York, who has run away from home and is now a member of the company. Dick's father, a millionaire, follows his son and makes vain attempts to coax him to leave the stage. Isidore Blum, the manager, suddenly departs with the takings and the actors are stranded. In the second act they have managed to get back to New York, and the cheerful Towers, with Margaret and Dick, is living in a boarding-house, looking for work and putting off the landlady. The absconding Blum turns up, and by backing the right horse wins a sum of money which he shares with Towers and Margaret. Dick has returned to the home of his rich father in Madison-avenue in the meantime, being tired of stage life, and in the third act we find him there. A "swell" entertainment is being given, and Towers and his ward, having gone into vaudeville, they come on to do a turn without knowing whose house they are in. When Dick and Margaret meet, she deceives him "for his good" by declaring that it is not he whom she loves, but Towers. Dick goes out raving, and Towers comes to embrace his ward, who then has to undeceive him. The last act shows Miss Druce's dressing-room on the occasion of her great triumph as a star. Towers has trained her, and she finally realises that she does love him after all.

Mr. Skinner acts the optimistic Towers to perfection, his clever characterisation undoubtedly saving the play. Mr. A. G. Andrews is very good as Isidore Blum, and the part of Margaret Druce is effectively played by Miss Izetta Jewel.

"OLIVE LATIMER'S HUSBAND," a drama in three acts, by Rudolph Besier, was produced at the Hackett Theatre last week at a special matinée. Miss Mary Lawton appeared as Olive Latimer, Mr. Sheldon Lewis as Sir Charles Weyburn, M.D., and Mr. Verner Clarges as Dr. Morpeth. The play was well acted, but it is too sombre and depressing to please the general public, and is hardly likely to be more successful here than it was in London. The performance of this drama has closely followed the production of Don, a comedy by the same author, which has been well received at the New Theatre.

"IF you were in your coffin I believe you'd sit up and flirt with the pall-bearers" is one of the felicitous remarks made in A Little Brother of the Rich at Wallack's Theatre, by the divorced husband of Muriel Evers (Miss Hilda Spong), who admits that she "can be happy with any woman's husband but her own."

"DER FLOH IM OHR" (The Flea in the Ear), a lively farce from the French of Georges Feydeau, was recently performed for the first time in this country at the Irving-place Theatre. A young wife tests her husband by sending him a note in which a mysterious woman asks him to meet her at a certain hotel. The wife intends to be there herself, but the husband is proof against temptation, and hands the note to a gay young friend. All the persons in the play, including a fire-eating husband with a revolver in every pocket, meet at the hotel, in which there is a room that appears or disappears with its occupants at the touch of an electric button, and the results are astonishing and diverting.

MISS ETHEL BARRYMORE will appear in Pinero's Mid Channel at the Empire Theatre on the 31st inst. The company will include Mr. H. Reeves-Smith, who played Captain Jinks when Miss Barrymore first appeared in the play of that name, and Mr. Charles Dalton.

MR. GEORGE EDWARDES has acquired the English rights of the farcical play, Is Matrimony a Failure? from Mr. David Belasco.

THREE holiday attractions at the Philadelphia theatres had to be postponed on account of the terrible storm that swept over the Eastern States on Christmas Day. The Arcadians was a day late in opening at the Forrest Theatre, and the same thing happened to Mr. J. E. Dodson, whose appearance at the Opera House in The House Next Door was delayed for twenty-four hours. At the Garrick Theatre Mr. William Collier had to wait till his scenery arrived on the following day. Miss Maxine Elliott braved the storm, however, and gave a performance of Deborah of Tod's at the Adelphi Theatre before a large and fashionable audience, but forty-two horses had been tired out when the scenery reached the theatre.

"KITTY GREY," with Mr. G. P. Huntley, has been doing well at the Illinois Theatre, Chicago, and Herod, with Mr. William Faversham in the title-rôle, has been produced in Washington and Philadelphia, following a successful run in New York.

TRINITY COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

Miss Sarah Fennings, professor of the Trinity College, gave a violin recital on Wednesday afternoon. In Bach's Andante and Allegro from his "Double Concerto for Two Violins" Miss Fennings was assisted by Miss Alice Lees, and good results were secured by the two performers. Eight violin solos were included in the programme. Bach's "Sarabande" and "Præludium" came first, Miss Fennings being successful in the great composer's second work. A graceful Menuet of de Bussy and Méhul's Gavotte also greatly pleased the audience. A certain want of freedom and decision in her attack was evident at times, but Miss Fennings' tone was full and round, and her playing expressive. In Wilhelmj's arrangement of Schubert's fine Ave Maria Miss Fennings was at her best. A Canzonetta of d'Ambrosio and a very quaint and pleasing Gavotte of Gossec also brought the performer compliments, and the audience heartily applauded her playing of the Wieniawski "Faust Fantasie," with which the recital concluded.

AT the Grand, Mansfield, Mr. A. E. Smith is breaking records this week with his pantomime The Sleeping Beauty. Miss Kathleen Garnon is a dashing Prince Perfect, scoring a distinct success with several good songs; Miss Elsy Denys is a charming Beauty, with a sweet voice and dainty presence; the Sisters Lesmere are pleasing in their musical numbers; and the Sisters Wynstay are two clever dancers. Mr. Billy Taylor, who was a great favourite here last year, is funnier than ever as Beauty's Nurse; Messrs. Foley and Francis as John James and James John, who also made a big hit last year, have a capital reception, the originality and quality of their patter being greatly appreciated. Mr. George Alderman is good as King Sol.

MR. EDITOR.—Sir,—In your issue of Jan. 1 you give the credit of the production of Humpty Dumpty at the King's Theatre to Charles Goss. It should have been yours faithfully, Charles Goff. King's Theatre, Hammersmith, Jan. 15.

PLAYERS OF THE PERIOD.

MISS GLADYS FORD-HOWITT.

Belonging to the third generation of an old theatrical family, Miss Gladys Ford-Howitt is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howitt (Mary Ford), both widely known in the profession. Born in Leicester, Miss Howitt proudly claims Irish descent, being the grandchild of the late Mr. T. W. Ford, who was born in Dublin of Irish parents, her grandmother being Mrs. T. W. Ford (Miss Adelaide Ross). On her mother's side she is the great-grandchild of the late Lady Anne Hewitt and grandniece of the late Rev. Peter Hewitt. In 1904 this little lady made her début at His Majesty's Theatre in Mr. Tree's production of The Tempest, appearing as a Nymph, a Gnome, and a Reaper. Owing to her tender age, however, she was most reluctantly compelled to resign her engagement and to retire somewhat hurriedly and ignominiously to the sacred precincts of boarding school—where she remained for three years studying at Beach House College, Ramsgate. Previously she commenced her education at the convent in Nottingham, and is now studying music under Mr. G. W. F. Crowther, A.R.A.M. Miss Ford-Howitt possesses a talent for writing, which was evidenced at the early age of nine, when she wrote a wonderful version of the pantomime Beauty and the Beast. In later years many small novels, plays, &c., came from her pen, and a really clever farcical comedy, entitled The Lady Gymnast, dealing with physical culture, was evolved. Unfortunately, these early efforts have not arrived at the dignity of print or reached public fame.

[Photo by Wood-street Studio.

MISS GLADYS FORD-HOWITT.

Miss Howitt's first leading part was that of Betty Price Cordiner in Mr. H. F. Maltby's comedy Sir George of Almack's, produced at the Theatre Royal, Ryde, I.O.W. In this piece she played on tour, and also in The Youngest of Three, East Lynne, In Holy Orders, The Rivals, &c. Then came a double engagement with her mother in the modern comedy John Drayton, Millionaire, and as Phyllis, originally written for her in The Power of Lies. Mr. Leonard Rayne, with whom Mr. Howitt was for many years associated, on his departure for South Africa, presented Miss Howitt with a magnificent diamond ring. She was leading lady and stage-manager (!) in a revival of the late Charles Rogers's drama entitled The Ladder of Life, toured for many years by the late Henry Dundas. Miss Howitt fulfilled her second engagement at His Majesty's Theatre in Sir Herbert Tree's recent production False Gods. She possesses a very beautiful photograph of Miss Viola Tree, given to her by that charming young lady, bearing the inscription, "Gladys, from Viola Tree." At the termination of False Gods Miss Howitt was engaged by Mr. Wm. Giffard for Mr. Louis Calvert's tour of Sunday, appearing with marked success in the title-rôle.

MR. WILLIAM H. PERRETTE.

Born in the Army, Mr. William H. Perrette, the talented sketch artist, served two years in the Royal Horse Artillery, sixteen months of the period being passed in India. Through playing with the regimental amateurs, Mr. Perrette acquired stage aspirations, and left the Army to join the profession. His first engagement was at the Theatre Royal, Windsor, where he got his notice because he could not be heard—a statement that anyone who has listened to Mr. Perrette's fine resonant voice will receive with incredulity. He has never had that fault found with him since, and can, he says, be heard all right now, even when asking a pal to partake. Mr. Perrette joined that fine old actor, T. C. King, for utility at the Theatre Royal, Worcester, getting his promotion to juveniles very quickly, and having his first experience of pantomime. After about a year with various stock companies, he was engaged for the Adelphi, under the Gattis. The original contract was for three months; he remained two years and eight months, playing in Michael Strogoff, Never Too Late to Mend, &c. He then toured with Chas Reade and Henry Pettitt's company, in Love and Money, for twenty-four weeks. After an American season as lead with the celebrated manager, John Stetson, Mr. Perrette visited New York and toured the States, and on his return to this country had a season at the Surrey with Geo. Conquest, as heavy lead and character. He then journeyed to India, China, Japan, Straits Settlements, and the usual Eastern tour with Norville and Crofton, playing lead in their répertoire. Home again, he had several short engagements in London, and afterwards toured England with Miss Marriott, and subsequently her son, Richard Edgar. Visits were then paid to Australia, New Zealand, and India again, Rio Janeiro, and Monte Video, and a tour of South Africa with Captain Disney Roebuck.

MR. W. H. PERRETTE.

After this big spell of globe-trotting came a tour at home with Mr. Robert Arthur as Cyril Meredith in A Mother's Sin; then three tours with Alone in London, playing John Biddlecome, and acting as general-manager for Mr. J. F. Elliston; a stock season with R. Flanagan at the Theatre Royal, Huddersfield; then a tour with The Henrietta from the Avenue Theatre, London, playing the lead in place of the late W. H. Vernon. Subsequently he joined Mrs. Sara Lane at the "Brit." for lead, and remained there four years. The engagement was a rather peculiar-worded one: he was cast for all leading parts "not in possession," meaning those not played by Algernon Syms, he being juvenile, and Perrette heavy lead. The Lion's Heart, from the Princess's, was sent on tour by Messrs. Dottridge and Longden, he playing Rizardo. Then followed a short engagement, playing Louis Calvert's parts when that gentleman joined Mr. Beerbohm Tree.

Mr. Perrette then took a turn in the "halls" with sketches, and for several years appeared in a musical comedy sketch, Teasing the General. He subsequently returned to his early love, and claims to be the first English leading actor playing in English in Russia and appearing for a season in St. Petersburg. On a subsequent visit he played Dick Turpin with the well-known and highly-respected circus director, Ciniselli, crossing Siberia to Vladivostock. On returning to England Mr. Perrette played Ghost in the recent production of Hamlet at the Elephant, and then came his present engagement with J. Pitt Hardacre as Gouget in Drink. Mr. Perrette is now appearing in the revival of Twelfth Night at the Queen's, Manchester.

MR. CHARLES ALLAN.

Born at Chislehurst, Kent, and educated at Charterhouse, where he was a schoolfellow of Johnston Forbes Robertson, Mr. Charles Allan first studied for the legal profession, and, passing the necessary examinations, became a qualified solicitor. Eventually, finding the law most unsuitable and uncongenial to his taste, he went on to the stage, and made his debut at the Imperial Theatre with the Vokes Family. Afterwards he joined the German Reed Entertainment, and played all Mr. Corney Grain's parts in the operettas. An engagement offered him in The Pickpocket by Mr. Charles Hawtrey drew him away to the Globe, and after the run of that piece he joined Sir (then Mr.) Herbert Beerbohm Tree at the opening of the Haymarket Theatre. With Sir Herbert Mr. Allan remained for over eleven years, making two tours to America and being associated in every production under the distinguished actor's management. Mr. Allan played in the production at the opening night of His Majesty's, and remained there until the end of the season. Since then he has appeared at the Haymarket, Drury Lane, the Duke of York's, the Comedy, the Lyric, and in several plays of R. C. Carton under Mr. Frank Curzon's management. Mr. Allan played Dr. Thornton in Peril at the Haymarket Theatre with Miss Julia Neilson, Mr. Fred Terry, Mr. Brookfield, and Sir Herbert Tree. Other notable parts that have fallen to him are the Grave Digger in Hamlet, Polonius, Dr. Caius in The Merry Wives, Casca in Julius Cæsar, the Burgomaster in An Enemy of the People, Mr. Kelvill in A Woman of no Importance, Beau Nash in M. Beaucaire, Mr. Petrie in A White Man, Sir Babbington Muller in Public Opinion at Wyndham's, and the Bishop of Dromborough in The Rich Mrs. Repton at the Duke of York's.

MR. CHARLES ALLAN.

Mr. Allan has played in three State performances at Windsor Castle under different managements, and once at Balmoral before her late Majesty, when, in company of the other principals, he had the honour of being presented to the late Queen. A souvenir of this performance in the shape of a massive silver cigar-case with an inscription is one of Mr. Allan's most cherished possessions.

MR. HERBERT COLLEY.

Born in Camberwell on Oct. 25, 1870, Mr. Herbert Colley at the age of nine was introduced to wigs, costumes, and paints by Alexandra Knight, who was at that time appearing with Charles Wyndham at the Criterion Theatre. From that time until he was fifteen years of age he used to sing at London concerts as a boy comedian. Then he had to take to life seriously, and was placed on the staff of the Daily News. He stayed three years, and then left to take up the stage permanently. He took a partner, with whom he did good business in London under the name of the Two O'Gradys, Irish knockabouts, opening at Lovejoy's, Peckham. They also fulfilled engagements at the old South London (then run by Messrs. Poole and Ulph), the Star, Raglan; Trevor, and Gatti's. Separating from his partner, Mr Colley went to America, and had the pleasure of being stranded at St. Catherine's, Ontario, Canada.

"My last engagement abroad," says Mr. Colley, "was with Andrew Robinson, in South Africa, and here I had another lively time. Arriving at Mafeking, I found the Matebele War had broken out, and, being unable to go on any further, I volunteered for service and was accepted, and under Colonel Plumer I had the honour of being on the first maxims leaving Mafeking for Buluwayo. After fighting, starving, and having the roughest time I ever experienced, I arrived, after five months' active service, at Kimberley, along with twelve others, and being sent for by Captain Fuller, of the Cape Mounted Police, District II., we again volunteered, for rinderpest duty. We were placed under Sergeant Ball, a son of old Ireland, and well known in Kimberley, and with him I had one of the happiest times of my life—rough, wild, and dangerous, but free." Leaving the service, Mr. Colley proceeded to Cape Town, where he ran several entertainments at the Good Hope Hall, now the Good Hope Theatre.

Mr. Colley has played principal comedy in comedy, musical comedy, pantomime, drama, and sketch. Amongst his chief impersonations were Sammy Blythe in When London Sleeps, Spotwell in My Sweetheart, Rae de Pulht in Master of the Chain, Mike in A King of Crime, Faggles in Rogues Fall Out, Bobby Bloom in A Romany's Revenge, Paddy O'Quirk in Parson Thorn, Patsy in Klondyke Nugget, Fergus O'Reilly in British Empire, Dolly Briskett in Queen of the Night, Obadiah Dawson in What Became of Mrs. Rackett, Jim Palfrey in In Sight of St. Paul's, Catrouse in Monte Cristo, Mortimer in The Broken Melody, Joel in Hester's Mystery, Roseberry in The New Housemaid, and Ugly Sister, Dame, and Baron in pantomimes, acting also as stage-manager for many of the productions. He has just concluded a six months' engagement with Mr. George Kingston at the Pier Pavilion, Lytham, in variety and producing farces, and is now engaged with Mr. Arthur Carlton's pantomime company. In the spring he goes out with The Lunatics, the musical farce by Nita Rae, with which he will tour for the third time.

MR. HERBERT COLLEY.

MISS JOSIE BELTRAM.

An early beginning in her profession was made by Miss Josie Beltram, who fulfilled her first engagement when she was about fourteen years old, appearing in the part of the little cripple girl, Olive, in Forgive Us Our Trespasses, under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Scarth. Soon after she was engaged by the late Mr. Osmond Tearle for such parts as the little Duke of York in Richard III. and Fleance in Macbeth. The young actress was very delighted at the opportunity thus offered, for Shakespearean work was always, and is still, the work she likes best. "I used to wish so much that I could have the bigger parts," she said, "and was especially anxious to play Jessica in The Merchant of Venice, but I was not old enough then. I stayed with Mr. Tearle for twelve months, then left the company, and had my first pantomime engagement with Mr. Arthur Milton, playing a tiny part in Aladdin—the Slave of the Lamp. Then I went on tour with Messrs. Dottridge and Longden's company to play one of the boys' parts in Two Little Heroes, after which, to my great pleasure, I went back to the Osmond Tearle company, and played Jessica and a pretty round of parts—the Player Queen in Hamlet, Phœbe in As You Like It, Maria in The School for Scandal, &c. Since then Miss Beltram has played only boys' parts. She joined the Hardie and Von Leer company to play Wally in Two Little Vagabonds, and after her first tour with that popular play went to one of Mr. Henry Chattell's companies, Revenge, in which she played the boy's part (Maurice). Back again to Wally, she represented the rôle for nearly two years, relinquishing it to rejoin Mr. Chattell for Nello in Her Love Against the World. After that tour she resumed her acquaintance with Wally last spring, and is now back with Mr Chattell's company playing Nello again. "Once while with Two Little Vagabonds the Dick and myself," adds Miss Beltram, "were waiting for an entrance, when one of the stage hands inquired whether we 'travelled with the company.' I think he thought we were two local small boys engaged for the occasion."

MISS JOSIE BELTRAM.

AMUSEMENTS IN AUSTRALIA.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

SYDNEY, DEC. 7, 1909.—Miss Nellie Stewart revived, at the Theatre Royal, her fine impersonation of Zaza in the comedy-drama of that name. All the lightheartedness, all the ruthless abandon, and all the touching pathos the accomplished actress brought to bear on an audience which, individually and collectively, loves "our Nellie." The quarrel between Zaza and Florianne (Miss Nellie Strong) was most realistic, and the scene with Toto (beautifully played by tiny Vera Huggett) was full of tender feeling. Mr. Harcourt Beatty once more is the Bernard of the story, full of charm and finesse. Miss Madeline Meredith makes the most of tipsy Aunt Rosa, a type of maudlin dipsomania. Mr. Harry Ashford played "straight" as Cascart, and Mr. Templar Powell was the battered old rake the Duc de Brissac to the life. The rustic epitome of good nature, Natalie, was handled by Miss Harriett Trench with most pleasing results; and Mr. Colin Campbell was the Alcazar's hustling manager. The revival was once more directed by Mr. A. B. Tapping, who is a past master of dramatic detail.

"THE WEDDING RING" was produced at the Palace on the 4th by Mr. George Marlow's dramatic company. Sensation reigns supreme in this play, and the strong company is in its exact element in acting the many strongly-drawn parts. Miss Nellie Ferguson is Mary Ashford, and she depicts the rôle just as one imagines that Benjamin Landeck drew her. The declaration of her marriage was most exciting. Miss Nora Wynne (Violet Foster) and Miss Lilian Booth (the Duchess of Brierly) played effectively. The rollicking maid Johanna was allotted to Miss Ethel Buckley with great judgment; and Mr. Wilton Welch as Lord Robert Chalmers joined her in making the comedy element most acceptable. The hero, Gerald Armstrong, by Mr. Kenneth Hunter, needs no bush. Harry Norman (Parson Darch) and J. P. O'Neill (Allison) were of great assistance.

"HAVANA" at Her Majesty's entered upon its last fortnight, as the Royal Comic Opera Co. opens here on the 18th in new productions. The Taming of the Shrew will be followed by representations of Julius Cæsar, and the Asche-Brayton Shakespearean "boom" will conclude on Wednesday evening, the 8th inst.

THE Tivoli has a capital new turn in the Apache Dance by the Little Dartos. The Sisters Trapnell and Mlle. de Dio are still prime attractions; and a new juvenile singer, Master Allen Hart, made a most favourable impression. Fanny Powers, the excellent mimic, is here again, and most welcome.

THE National Amphitheatre, West's Pictures, Spencer's Theatrescope, Bijou Picture Theatre, and a host of minor attractions await the Christmas visitors, whose numbers will be diminished on account of the disastrous strike.

MR. HARRY RICKARDS, with his customary generosity, will give his annual Christmas dinners to 1,000 poor folks at the Town Hall. Next Monday, the 13th, a performance will be given to help the fund for this dinner. Tommy Burns and Bob Fitzsimmons (boxers), Mrs. Fitzsimmons, Mlle. de Dio, and the evergreen Harry Rickards will be in the programme.

MELBOURNE, DEC. 14, 1909.—HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. J. C. Williamson; Business-Manager, Mr. E. J. Tait.—A crowded house said farewell to The Lady Dandies at this theatre on Saturday evening, and the leading members of the company were recalled again and again. The theatre will remain closed until next Saturday, the intervening period being devoted to the very heavy work and constant rehearsal necessary to produce the Christmas pantomime, Aladdin.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessees, Messrs. Clarke and Meynell; Business-Manager, Mr. Arthur Levy.—A magnificent house, which included the Governor-General, Lady Dudley, and suite welcomed Mr. Oscar Asche and Miss Lily Brayton on their return to Melbourne on Saturday night, and followed with profound attention the finished acting by the two principals in Othello, and the straightforward and painstaking rendering of Iago by Mr. Herbert Grimwood. The rest of the company appeared to advantage in the same characters as they played in the previous rendering of the tragedy in Melbourne. The reception throughout accorded to the performers was heartily appreciative, especially at the conclusion, which was delayed till close on half-past eleven o'clock. Othello will be played for eleven more nights, and will then be withdrawn in favour of The Merchant of Venice, which will be produced on Thursday evening, the 23rd inst.

KING'S THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. William Anderson; Business-Manager, Mr. Julius Grant.—Mr. William Anderson's production of Hamlet is receiving strong support, the house being packed nightly. Mr. Walter Bentley takes the part of the Prince of Denmark, and Miss Eugenie Duggan is well suited in that of Ophelia. The rest of the company appear to advantage in their various rôles, while the scenery is all that can be desired. On Saturday evening, the 25th inst., Mr. Anderson presents his Christmas pantomime, Babes in the Wood, for which production he made several important engagements during his recent visit to England.

OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. Harry Rickards; Business-Manager, Mr. Fred Aydon.—The Kremka Brothers still continue to head the bill with their remarkably clever balancing act. Mr. Franco Piper is now an established favourite with his novel and entertaining banjo "turn." Mr. Tom Dawson is back with several quaint ditties to the delight of his numerous patrons; while Hassan (magician), Walter Emerson (comedian), Vaude and Verne (patter comedians), Gwennie Hasto (comedienne and dancer), Post Mason (baritone), Brown and Robinson (harmonists), and a host of other artists all contribute entertaining turns.

GAIETY THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. James Brennan; Business-Manager, Mr. Harry Brennan.—The bill here is very strong just now. Several new items have been added for this week. Harry C. Willis gives a clever and humorous ventriloquial exhibition; and Monnier and Franz, two powerful athletes, make their reappearance. Con Carroll and the Weston Sisters, besides other members of the company, give excellent turns.

MESSRS. LYN HARDING and Sidney Cooper's excellent company is this week presenting The Flag Lieutenant at the Opera House, Southport. Mr. Edgar Kent depicted the rôle of Richard Lascelles in a realistic and natural manner, which left nothing to be desired; Mr. Montague Love submits a capital representation of William Thesiger; as Vice-Admiral Sir Berkeley-Wynne Mr. George Mallett presents a dignified and clever portraiture; Miss Florence Jackson is a charming and highly-successful representative of Mrs. Cameron; Miss Dorothy Ripley is a praiseworthy and clever delineator of Lady Hermione Wynne; and Miss Winifred Valiant is very good in the part of Viola Hood.

AT the Theatre Royal, Smethwick, a change is provided from pantomime fare this week, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Draycott and company presenting a new drama by Mrs. F. G. Kimberley, entitled Her Path of Sorrow. Mr. Charles Draycott makes a powerful Richard Burfield; Mr. Frank Eaglesfield portrays in striking fashion the iniquitous Guy Lowther; Mr. Frank Etheridge as Lionel Heathcote gives a fine interpretation; Mr. Theo Balfour is well placed as Markham Ferrars; Mrs. Charles Draycott is seen to advantage as Pauline Ferrars; Miss Fay Garnet-Vayne admirably delineates the unfortunate Nellie Rayne; and the humour of the piece finds capable exponents in Miss Daisy Carlton as Polly Green and Mr. Will Hook as Tommy Onions.

THEATRICAL GOSSIP.

SIR CHARLES WYNDHAM and Miss Mary Moore appeared in The Mollusc at the Comedy Theatre, New York, on Monday, and won enthusiastic praise on all sides. The triumph achieved by the eminent artists is all the more pronounced on account of the fact that the charming comedy was not a brilliant success when first presented in the States.

WE deeply regret to announce the death, on the 20th inst., at 178, Stockwell Park-road, in his 75th year, of Charles James Davies, late of the Admiralty, and for thirty years Secretary of the Royal General Theatrical Fund. Mr. Davies was deeply respected by all the profession. The funeral will take place on Monday at Norwood Cemetery at 12 o'clock.

SIR HERBERT TREE will preside at the annual general meeting of the Actors' Benevolent Fund, which will be held on the stage of His Majesty's on Monday, Feb. 7, at twelve noon, when the report of the committee and the accounts for the year 1909 will be considered. The attendance of subscribers is requested, and all those interested in the work of the fund are invited to be present.

MR. OSCAR ASCHE and Miss Lily Brayton have enjoyed such a gratifying success in Australia that they have arranged to extend their tour for a further term of six months. Their return to England will be made in the autumn, when they propose to appear at a West-End theatre in the dramatisation, by Mr. Asche himself in association with Mr. Norreys Connell, of Mr. Stanley Weyman's historical novel "Count Hannibal," which was produced at the Prince's Theatre, Bristol, on March 18 last.

MR. MARTIN HARVEY concludes a remarkably successful visit to the Theatre Royal, Bournemouth, to-night, townspeople and visitors having vied with each other to give the popular actor a hearty greeting. On Monday Mr. Harvey is to appear at Oldham Grand Opera House, where The Breed of the Treshams will be played during the week with a special performance of A Cigarette-maker's Romance on Friday. On Monday week, the Harvey company go to the Grand Theatre, Derby.

MISS JESSIE ROSE, the famous Savoyard, was married on Thursday at the Registry Office, St. Giles, to Major Ford, of Chalfont St. Peter's, Bucks. After the ceremony the party went to the Holborn Restaurant for the wedding breakfast. The bride was formerly the wife of Mr. Percy Elliot, and her decree nisi was only made absolute on Monday last. She has been on the stage between sixteen and seventeen years, and has appeared in many of the Gilbert and Sullivan productions at the Savoy. She was playing Zayda in Fallen Fairies until she left the theatre last Saturday.

THE estate of the late Mr. Lionel Brough, who died on Nov. 8 last, aged seventy-three, has been valued for probate at £2,645 12s. 7d. gross, of which £2,317 6s. 1d. is net personalty. The will of the late comedian, which is dated March 4, 1904, reads as follows:—"This is the last will and testament of me, Lionel Brough, of Percy Villa, South Lambeth, in the county of London, actor. I hereby revoke all former testamentary dispositions made by me. I give all my real and personal property whatsoever and wheresoever and whether in possession, reversion, remainder, or expectancy unto my daughter, Mary Bessie Brough, for her own absolute use and benefit."

MR. LEWIS WALLER has selected an able and interesting cast for The Strong People, which is to follow Sir Walter Ralegh at the Lyric Theatre whenever a successor to that exciting play is needed. Mr. Waller, in the principal part, will be supported by Mr. Lyn Harding, Mr. Guy Standing, Mr. A. E. George, Mr. S. J. Warmington, Mr. W. Cronin Wilson, Miss Dorothy Dix, and Miss Marjorie Day. The action of the piece is laid at the present time, and passes in Pennsylvania.

THE Actresses' Franchise League have moved into their office, Room 17, Ground Floor, Adelphi-terrace House, Strand, W.C. The office hours are from 10 to 1 o'clock every morning, when the honorary secretary will be very pleased to see all members of the League and all friends of the movement. Badges and literature are on sale, and voluntary workers are badly needed. The first of the "At Homes" of the New Year will be held on Friday, Feb. 4, in the Grand Hall of the Criterion from 3 to 5.

AN ingenious means of catching the public attention during election time has been adopted by Mr. George de Lara, the general-manager of the Puss in Boots pantomime company, appearing this week at the Eastbourne Royal Hippodrome. Mr. de Lara took an empty shop and turned it into a committee room for Puss in Boots, replete with posters and instructions for returning Puss at the top of the poll. He has also evolved a method of "realising the poster" by driving Puss to the large chemist's shop known as Boots', and on the cat's entry into the stores—well, there you are—Puss in Bo ts'.

THE Follies have revived their amusing "potted pantomimo" at the Apollo, with several up-to-date additions. There are some clever imitations of Mr. Wilkie Bard and Mr. George Graves in Aladdin at Drury Lane, and a quaint caricature of the popular Mr. James Glover; and many of the old features of the droll entertainment are preserved, and evoke hearty laughter.

MR. ALLAN WILKIE'S production of The Merry Wives of Windsor has proved a marked success. Mr. Wilkie has hitherto had a decided leaning towards the tragic plays of Shakespeare, but, bowing to popular taste he has found that the comedies are very much to the palate of the present-day public, and that a judicious blend of tragedies and comedies in most towns undoubtedly makes a strong week's programme.

THE three months' run of uninterrupted success only seems to have mellowed and improved The Little Damozel at the Prince of Wales' Theatre, and the company—which, with one exception, is the same as on the opening night—work smoothly and harmoniously together. Mr. Charles Hawtrey has far more opportunity as Recklaw Poole than in many of his previous impersonations, and the pathos at the conclusion of the play seems to come to him as easily as his well-known lighter portrayals. Miss May Blayney in the title-rôle is aglow with intelligence and appreciation, and may be regarded as a most valuable acquisition. Mr. A. Vane-Tempest's cleverness is well adapted to the part of the aristocratic waster, the Hon. Fitzroy Lock; and Mr. Arthur Playfair as Walter Angel, the restaurant proprietor, is capital. Miss Gladys Mason's quiet manner is most effective in the part of Sybil Craven, and her short scene is most tellingly rendered. Mr. Leon M. Lion now replaces Mr. Cecil Rose as Abraham, and the play seems good for a run of indefinite length, and is brightly preceded by Mr. George Paston's much-acted Tilda's New Hat.

COMPLAINTS having been made by members of the Actors' Association of the non-receipt of voting-papers, they are notified that they can be supplied with the same on application to the secretary at once.

MISS VIOLA TREE will give her first concert recital at Bechstein Hall on the evening of Monday, Feb. 21. Miss Tree's melodious and sympathetic voice has oft been heard on the stage of His Majesty's, and she has sung at various concerts recently. The recital next month is bound to attract a large number of people well known in society who are interested in the musical career of Sir Herbert Tree's charming daughter.

MR. J. B. MULHOLLAND is making rapid progress towards the completion of his new theatre at Wimbledon, which it is estimated will be ready for opening in the autumn. The building is designed to accommodate some 3,500 persons, who will all have an uninterrupted view of the stage.

THE new Parliament will have offered for its consideration a Bill proposing the reorganisation of the Crystal Palace company. The scheme provides that from Jan. 1, 1911, the management should be vested in a board of nine members as follows:—One appointed by Board of Trade (chairman), one appointed by City Corporation, one appointed by London County Council, one appointed by Surrey County Council, one appointed by Kent County Council, and four appointed by the company.

THE Palace is to be deemed to be a work on which the Public Works Loan Commissioners are to be authorised to lend £75,000 at 3½ per cent., to be repaid by annual instalments. The company are also to form a sinking fund, which is to amount in fifty years to £250,000, and applied from time to time in the purchase and ultimate extinction of the £250,000 first debenture stock.

THE money received from the Public Works Loan Commissioners is to be applied in (1) paying the costs of the debenture holders' action, (2) the arrears of interest on the first debenture stock to Dec. 31 next, (3) the costs payable in the proceedings for winding up the company, (4) a dividend of 2s. 6d. in the pound to the unsecured creditors, and (5) in necessary repairs to the Palace. All arrears of interest on the £150,000 second debenture stock are to be cancelled, and the company are to create a new second (1911) debenture stock, amounting to £250,000, carrying 4 per cent. per annum, and secured only as a second charge on the property of the company.

THE scheme also provides that the £150,000 second debenture stock is to be cancelled, and an equal amount of second debenture stock substituted. From Jan. 1, 1911, the whole of the £95,000 third debenture stock is to be cancelled, and second debenture stock equal to one-half of the amount issued to the holders. The unsecured creditors, in addition to the 2s. 6d. dividend, are to receive 5s. in the pound in second debenture stock.

"THE FORTY THIEVES" at Fulham has now entered on its last week but one. It has been considerably improved since it began its career, and now runs briskly and smoothly. Mr. Passmore has one or two good new songs, and his headdresses are more curious and effective than ever. Mr. Spry's dry humour keeps its excellent flavour, and his business is as effective as of yore. Miss Hettie Gale and Miss Lillie Lassah repeat their successful songs and dance equally well. In fact, the dancing is one of the features of the show, and in this the Sisters Bartholomew are especially strong. The episode of the motor-bus is capitally worked out, and keeps the house in fits of laughter.

MR. F. M. PAGET, as we have known him for many years in the theatrical profession, now desires to attach to his signature the name of Olver, and in future will be known as F. M. Olver-Paget. Mr. Olver-Paget during his sojourn in Windsor made himself philanthropically popular by assisting the Fire Brigade, the Salvation Army, the Mayor's Soup Kitchens, and presenting to the Constitutional Club an Empire clock that registers the time in all parts of the world. On his return to London he has distinguished himself again by interesting himself in the Poplar Christ's Church Mission by obtaining as an answer to his pleading to Sir William Treloar the admission of Teddy Bawn, a poor Poplar cripple, into the Home at Alton, where he is comfortably and happily ensconced, and the workers in the Christ Church Mission are enthusiastic over Mr. Olver-Paget's efforts and interest.

THE Press of Copenhagen and all the theatrical managers are at daggers drawn, it is stated, because the latter want to compel the critics to write only favourable notices. The contest commenced when the board of theatrical managers forbade the admission of one critic representing a special theatrical paper. The whole Press has now declined to publish anything about the theatres.

THE Elephant Theatre pantomime Cinderella still goes merrily, and crowded houses are the rule. Messrs. Ernest Stevens and R. C. Buchanan are to be congratulated on presenting such a beautiful and humorous production, and Mr. Stanley Rogers, the author-producer, must be keenly gratified at the result of his work. There would appear to be no doubt that this pantomime is beating Mr. Charles Barnard's records of last season.

AT the close of Where Children Rule at the Garrick Theatre on Saturday evening the stage staff presented a handsome gold bangle to little Maudie Olmar, the skilful child dancer who proved to be such a brilliant success. Little Maudie was a favourite with everybody connected with the production.

THE Playgoers' Club are entertaining about 2,000 children at the Pavilion Theatre, Mile End, this (Saturday) afternoon, when the youngsters will also enjoy a meal that will be provided for them. The arrangements are under the direction of the honorary treasurer, Mr. F. S. Hess.

"THE TRAGEDY OF GUIDO FAWKES," written by Dudley J. Symon, the music composed by Fredk. J. Bodilly, was witnessed by large audiences at the St. James's Church Hall, Britannia Row, Islington, on Saturday and Monday evenings. Although this new production was described on the programme as "a Christmas pantomime in three acts," it was more in the nature of a comic opera. A good deal of credit is due to the composer of the music, he being only a young man of 22. Although not distinguished by any striking originality, the setting of some of the solos and choruses showed decided ability on the part of the youthful composer. The story of the Gunpowder Plot was amusingly burlesqued; and the introduction of two or three characters, which were new to the student of history, served to give a humorous interest to the tale of Fawkes and his followers that was greatly appreciated. The most successful songs included "Some long for a wife," "A Conspirator's Life," "Alas! I know not," and a Scotch ditty, entitled "Maggie." The musical piece was excellently played by local amateurs, and an amateur orchestra enjoyed the advantage of being led by the composer, Mr. F. J. Bodilly. The choruses were admirably rendered. It should be mentioned that the Rev. H. J. Watters, vicar of St. James's Church, Prebend-square, N., who took a keen interest in the performance (the proceeds of which are to be devoted to the parish funds) is connected with the Actors' Church Union, he being the chaplain for the Islington district

MR. CHARLES FROHMAN purposes inaugurating his Repertory Theatre at the Duke of York's shortly after his return from America, about the end of the month. Arrangements for the scheme are well forward, and little remains to be done but to start it on its way. On Feb. 22 Mr. Frohman will produce for a series of matinées at the Globe The Climax, by Mr. Edward J. Locke.

"THE CLIMAX," in common with The Mollusc, has only four characters, chief of whom is a young lady vocalist who is devoted to her art. She is wooed by a doctor, who abhors the stage and uses his hypnotic power to compel her to renounce her career and to marry him. On the day of the wedding, however, he reveals his duplicity, and the girl, released from his influence, returns to her operatic work.

MR. PERCY H. VERNON is concluding his sixth engagement with Mr. W. W. Kelly's Royal Divorce company as Tallyrand, having played the part altogether over 800 times. He has been engaged by Mr. Robert Hilton as stage-manager for his season at the Strand Theatre, opening early in February. The first production is Lord Lytton's Richelieu

SOME excellent dramatic performances of The Marriage of Kitty and The Idler were given by Mr. Henry Grierson, of Farnborough, at the Pleasure Gardens Theatre, Folkestone, on Tuesday and Wednesday, in aid of the military charities of Folkestone. The performances were under distinguished patronage, including the Mayor of Folkestone, Brigadier-General the Hon. E. G. Montagu Stuart-Wortley, C.B., C.M.G., M.V.O., D.S.O., Rear-Admiral Sir Colin Keppel, K.C.V.O., Commanding Cruiser Squadron, Sir Edward Sassoon, Bart., &c., and were attended with the greatest success, the theatre being filled with fashionable audiences. A supper and a ball were given each night.

MR. NORMAN V. NORMAN, who was the guest of Mrs. Henry Grierson, took up the part of Travers in The Marriage of Kitty at the last moment. His Worship the Mayor of Folkestone presented Mrs. Grierson with a bouquet on Wednesday night on behalf of the Shorncliffe Garrison, and in a graceful speech thanked Mrs. Grierson for the admirable performances, and Mr. Norman V. Norman for the aid he had rendered. Mrs. Grierson and the other ladies received numerous floral tributes at each performance.

"DAME NATURE," at the Garrick, is adorned by a number of beautiful dresses. In one of Miss Ethel Irving's costumes cashmere de soie and cashmere of a beautiful shade of plum are utilised. The cashmere de soie is of so thin and supple a texture that it is used for the bodice draperies, beneath cords that hold the filmy folds in place. Upon the hips it is applied in a most novel manner in the form of puffings and gaugings, over which a modified fishwife drapery is arranged, caught at one side beneath buckles covered with the material. The major portion of the skirt, where it is box-pleated, and also the under-sleeves, are rendered in cashmere, while the guimpe and sleeve cuffs are composed of lace, delicately veined with gold. The introduction of a tiny cravat of pale blue beneath the overturned collar has a very charming effect.

AN example of the new colours is given in the dark-blue sapphire gown worn by Miss Irving, in which a hint of grey is noticeable. There is a reminiscence of the Russian blouse in the scheme of the skunk-trimmed toilette, which has a collarless guimpe made of gold lace and a broad waistband of sapphire blue silk, fastened at one side beneath three gold buttons.

MISS NANCY PRICE wears some magnificent toilettes. Very subtle and elegant is an afternoon robe of elephant-grey chiffon velours, opened over a guimpe, and turned-down collar of point de Venise, finished with a cravat of black silk and revers embroidered to match the velvet. The Princesse corsage and tunic are draped in one, and at the back the tunic is longer than in front, showing two sash-ends, with tassels, which fall at the left side. A large buckle is introduced in the centre of the corsage, and the tunic is finished with silk fringe of a darker shade of grey than the dress.

A BLUSH-ROSE pink satin evening dress is also worn by Miss Price. The drapery is moulded to the figure, and at the back is caught into a huge enamelled ornament. The décolletage is edged with pink pearls, and the sleeves are remarkable, inasmuch as they are diminished to the merest little draperies, passed round the arms and knotted in front. With this gown Miss Price wears an evening cloak of widely-meshed grey tulle Grècque veiling, a foundation of blush-rose tulle slit open at the sides, and bordered with an embroidery of tissue ribbon, formed in the similitude of flowers, in the softest and palest shades of blue, green, and pink, with gold and silver intermingled.

ANOTHER evening cloak worn by Miss Price is made of gorge de pigeon silk, with a collar and sleeves cut in one, and embroideries of opalescent mother-of-pearl. It is the complement of a gown of white chiffon velours, made splendid by means of chain armour, wrought in tiny pearls, with a very deep fringe. Upon the décolletage, shoulders, and sleeves, sparkling diamenté embroidery adds brilliance to the lustre of the pearls and the whiteness of the velvet.

THE Manchester Playgoers' Club have affiliated with their London confrères, and in future the members of the London Club when visiting Manchester are to have full privileges in the local Society, and Manchester members are to have corresponding privileges for periods not exceeding thirty days within any twelve months. As the London Playgoers' Club is a club for gentlemen only, lady members are not included in this arrangement.

MISS JANICE DEANE, who was playing Edith Marsland in Mr. E. C. Stafford's Private Secretary company last autumn, has been engaged by Mr. A. Bertram for Louise in Mr. Herbert Sleath's Woman in the Case company.

THE wholesome honest fun and the brilliance of the Alexandra Theatre pantomime Cinderella (presented by those enterprising managers, Messrs. Ernest Stevens and R. C. Buchanan), have tempted Sir William Treloar to arrange another treat for his cripple children, and the latter have accordingly been invited to witness Cinderella this (Saturday) afternoon. The youngsters will be in charge of the Mayor of Stoke Newington and the Aldermen of the Islington Borough Council.

MR. WALTER REYNOLDS has extracted from the Bard of Avon's works some striking and amusing phrases bearing upon the present political situation. Such he considers are examples of Shakespeare's foresight: "Windy attorneys, George profaned."—Richard III. "The tribulation of Tower Hill or the limbs of Limehouse."—Henry VIII. "Crack the lawyer's voice that he may never more false title plead."—Timon of Athens. "That fellow is a fellow of much licence."—Measure for Measure. "I cried 'Mum,' she cried 'Budget.' Heavens defend me from that Welch fairy."—Merry Wives. "We will not leave one lord."—Merry Wives.

MISS EMMA HUTCHISON and Mr. Percy Hutchison's actual company and production of Brewster's Millions, from Wyndham's Theatre, London, packed the New Theatre Royal, Birkenhead, last week, despite the never-failing counter election attractions, an overwhelming majority being secured for Brewster's Millions nightly. The political fever was thrust aside, the heckler's voice unheard, and suffragettes appeased. There was nothing but enthusiastic applause and laughter from the rise to the fall of the curtain, the wonderful Ship scene being cheered to the echo.

THE council meeting of the Actors' Association was held on Jan. 18 at 32, Regent-street. Present:—Mr. Clarence Derwent (in the chair), Mr. H. W. Mote (solicitor), Messrs. F. Morland, Lewis Casson, F. J. Arlton, Cyril Catley, J. Poole Kirkwood, F. Llewellyn, L. Shepherd, F. Annerley, C. F. Collins, Miss Agnes Imlay, and Mr. D. Young (secretary). The minutes of the meetings held on the 11th and 18th inst. were read and confirmed.

In answer to a letter from Mr. Cecil Raleigh, the secretary was instructed to inform him that voting papers had been sent to addresses appearing in the register, but owing to the neglect of the members to forward permanent addresses, as required by the rules of the Association, authentic addresses in many cases were not procurable. In order to secure the secrecy of the ballot, Mr. Mote has placed a box at the disposal of the Association, which will be kept locked until the day of the election, namely, Jan. 25. It was decided that the scrutineers be asked to begin their work as early as possible, and the secretary was directed to give them all information required as to the members who have paid their subscriptions this year.

THE hon. solicitor reported on three legal matters, and also drew attention to the agreement with the Kitchen Committee, which the secretary was instructed to sign on behalf of the Association.

THE following were elected members:—Gordon Bentley, Maud Bower, Douglas Rowe, Gordon Phillott, Peggy Butler, Geo. Saville, Arthur Baxdendell, Beatrice Smith, J. P. Wilson, Alice O'Dea, Evelyn Shaw, E. Stewart Vindon, and Jessie Thorne; and Cyril Ashford, Leslie Oswell, and Roberta Pulleyne were nominated for election. It was decided that no nominations be accepted unless the accompanying entrance fee and subscription be paid in advance.

THE Council regret that owing to the fact that the letter from the provincial actor was unsigned they could not take official notice of the contents. They will be glad if he would kindly disclose his identity, so that the matter may be referred to the new Council.

MISS GRACE HARLINGTON, who has been deputising for Miss Alice Maydue in Messrs. Moss and Stoll's production of The Motor Chase at the Hippodrome, Manchester, has been re-engaged by Mr. Frank Bertram to play her old part of Batty in his forthcoming tour of The Breed of the Treshams, of which company Mr. T. R. Gwyn-Richardson will once again be general-manager.

A CONCERT was given in the Theatre Royal, Smethwick, on Sunday in aid of the Crippled Children's Union. The theatre was packed, and it was generally agreed that the concert was the finest ever given in the town. The orchestra of ninety professional musicians included a number of the principal members of Dr. Richter's renowned orchestra. Mr. Wilfrid Hickling, who conducted, was heartily congratulated.

AT the Brighton Grand Theatre on Friday last Miss May Mars (who was celebrating her birthday) was the recipient of many floral tributes, which she, on the following day, took to the Sussex County Hospital for decorations in the various wards.

OWING to the indisposition of Mr. C. W. Somerset, the part of Don Bernadino de Mendoza, the Spanish Ambassador in Sir Walter Ralegh, at the Lyric, has been played during the past week by Mr. Hugh B. Tabberer.

THE last night of Cinderella at the Crystal Palace Theatre has been fixed for Feb. 5. The pantomime has drawn crowds to the Palace Theatre daily since Christmas Eve. By the way, patrons of the theatre who have missed the genial presence of the manager, Mr. J. E. Sharpe, in front of the house, will be glad to learn that that gentleman returns to the theatre on Monday, Feb. 7.

THE versatile actress and authoress, Miss Vashti Wynne, wife of Mr. Harry Roxbury, is returning to the legitimate theatre. She has been engaged by Messrs. Smith and Carpenter to play Miss Frances Dillon's part in The Proud Prince, and will open at the King's Theatre, Hammersmith, on Feb. 7. Miss Wynne has written the sketches and pantomimes which have popularised Mr. Roxbury, and she has been playing with him in her recent successful tabloid musical comedy, Sergeant Longfellow, on the Stoll tour.

SATURDAY last saw the finish of the successful pantomime, Robinson Crusoe, at the Royal Artillery Theatre, Woolwich, prior to its tour in Scotland. Many valuable presents were made to various members of the company, who have been most popular during their month's stay. No less than fifty-seven boxes of chocolates were handed up, and gifts of bouquets and baskets of flowers, presents of jewellery, &c. The company presented Mr. Michael Connolly, musical director of the theatre, with a case of briar pipes. Quite a host of friends journeyed to Euston, despite the early hour, on Sunday morning, to see the company off to Motherwell.

ON the application of counsel for Sir William Gilbert, Mr. Justice Neville on the 14th inst. granted an ex-parte injunction over yesterday (Friday) restraining Mr. Workman from allowing the song "Love rules the world," to be introduced into Fallen Fairies, the new Gilbert-German opera at the Savoy Theatre. In the course of the week, however, an arrangement was arrived at by which the defendants would be allowed to reintroduce the song on the following terms: Defendants admitted that they were not entitled to introduce the song without Sir William Gilbert's permission, and they expressed regret for having done so. They acknowledged the plaintiff's courtesy and consideration in permitting the song to be reintroduced, and they undertook to insert in all the house bills words indicating their obligations to Sir William Gilbert in allowing the song to be sung. The injunction was accordingly discharged.

THAT talented little artist Miss Florence Imeson has been re-engaged for another eighteen months by Messrs. Wheeler and George Edwardes for South Africa. If she returns to England next year she will have accomplished a 2½ years' tour. She will fulfil her second four months' season in Johannesburg next April (during which time she appears in Dorothy and The Geisha with Mr. C. Hayden Coffin). Last Christmas, our readers will remember, Miss Imeson scored a genuinely artistic success as principal girl to Miss Ada Reeve's "boy" at the Shakespeare, Liverpool, and it is owing to Mr. T. B. Davis's courtesy in releasing her from his three years' option that she has been enabled to accept this very "gilt-edged" contract with Messrs. Wheeler and George Edwardes.

MR. W. W. KELLY at his Mersey-side theatres this week has had diverse attractions and uniformly excellent business with both. At Kelly's Theatre, Liverpool, Mr. Frederick Melville's company, with Her Forbidden Marriage, has drawn deeply interested houses, and a remarkably good all-round performance has received well won plaudits. At the Birkenhead Theatre Royal Messrs. C. St. John Denton and Peter Davey's company playing Blue Beard, transferred in its entirety from the Royalty Theatre, Chester, has enjoyed remarkable prosperity. On Monday, at Kelly's Theatre, Liverpool, Mr. Alexander Leighton's The Babes in the Wood company will be the attraction, whilst at the Birkenhead Theatre Royal, Mr. Wentworth Croke's company, in Aladdin, commences an engagement, Miss Kittee Rayburn appearing in the title-rôle.

FIFTY Welshmen have made a pilgrimage to London expressly to hear their gifted countrywoman, Miss Amy Evans, sing. The party visited the Savoy on Thursday night and were delighted with Miss Evans's singing, as well as with the performance of Fallen Fairies. At the close the visitors went behind the scenes and presented Miss Evans with a beautiful bouquet. The excursionists returned to Ton-y-Pandy, Glamorganshire, their native town, at one o'clock a.m. from Paddington.

"TOM THUMB," the pantomime produced by Mr. William Bailey at the West London, is the property of Mr. F. R. Griffiths, who on Monday reproduced it at the Grand Theatre, Forest Gate, where it repeated the success scored at the historic Marylebone house. Mr. Ward Bailey, the versatile son of a versatile father, is directing the musical arrangements of the production. Mr. Bailey, jun., is a clever writer of melodrama, his work in conjunction with the late Mr. Charles Berte having won considerable popularity.

THE annual supper and ball in connection with the Belfast pantomime was held in Ye Olde Castle on Wednesday night last. The guests included Mr. Fred W. Warden (managing-director, Grand Opera House and Theatre Royal, Belfast), Mr. James M. McCann (acting-manager, Grand Opera House), Mr. W. A. Salmond (acting-manager, Theatre Royal), Miss Thelma Raye, Miss Georgie Corlass, Miss Topsy Sinden, Miss Connie Glenabyn, Carlton and Mrs. Carlton, Mr. "Pip" Powell, Mr. Fred Bulmer, Messrs. Geo. H. Brookes and T. Dawes (London), and B. Machlachan. After a recherché supper in King's Hall, the jolly party adjourned to the ball-room. Dancing commenced about 1.30 a.m., the music being supplied by Messrs. Quillan, Doherty, and Murphy, and it was five a.m. before the merry throng broke up, having thoroughly enjoyed the very pleasant proceedings. Mr. J. M. McCann, assisted by Mr. W. A. Salmond, was responsible for the entire arrangements, which were perfect.

MISS MARY AMBROSE, who is scoring successfully as Prince Casemir in the Elephant pantomime of Cinderella, has been presented by an anonymous admirer with a handsomely-bound copy of Burns' poems. About seventy members of the O.P. Club attended the performance of Cinderella on Wednesday evening.

"THE MERCHANT OF VENICE" will be revived for a four weeks' season at the Court Theatre next month, under the direction of Mr. Smyth-Piggott. The part of Shylock will be played by Mr. Arthur Phillips, a young actor, lately a member of Miss Lena Ashwell's company at the Kingsway, and Mr. Cyril Keightley will be the Bassanio. Portia will be undertaken by a promising young actress new to London.

THE pantomime Mother Goose at the Grand Theatre, Glasgow, has broken all records of that Theatre from a pay-box point of view. But despite that fact, unless some arrangement can be come to, the run must be a short one, to allow Mr. Neil Kenyon to take up his future engagements. Mr Kenyon is due to open at the Adelphi towards the end of February.

A WELCOME return visit of Mr. and Mrs. John Walters' pantomime Robinson Crusoe is drawing good audiences to the Albert Theatre, Brighouse. Miss Florence Carlisle as Crusoe is excellent; Miss Kitty Fiske as Polly Perkins is charming and dainty; Miss Hilda Hemus brings down the house with her songs; Miss Kitty Chester is very good as the Fairy Queen; Mr. Alby Benson as Dame Crusoe is quaint; Mr. Tom Lewis is excellent as Will Atkins; Mr. W. Bland is irresistible as Billy Crusoe; and Mr. J. Randolf Sutton and Mr. Dan Belmore are very capable as the Pirates. Specialities are introduced by Eugene, the Daniels, Dylam and Dole, and Jack Green.

MR. STANLEY ROGERS' Aladdin pantomime continues its run at the Leith New Gaiety Theatre, and has secured a large measure of patronage. Miss Mabel Hind and Miss Lily Lonsdale as Aladdin and the Princess have achieved great success; and excellent entertainment is supplied by the Abanazar of Mr. Ernie Myers, who is well supported by Mr. Tom Carrick, Mr. J. G. Aitken, and the Brothers Firman; while Mr. John Darlison, with his troupe of Leith Little Lassies, introduces an interesting fanciful fairy scena.

MR. TREMAIN, a local gentleman, produced his third pantomime at Herne Bay on Jan. 18 for three nights and a matinée, and had the satisfaction of seeing the Town Hall Theatre crowded at each performance of Beauty and the Beast. The cast being all local talent, great credit is due to the stage-manager for the way he utilised his material, and the ballet and incidental dances were charming tributes to Miss Lancaster Gaunt's abilities as a teacher. The book, which was the work of the late Mr. R. Planchi, was brought up to date and brightened by the most popular songs. Miss Dolly Redman was an excellent Beast, and was well supported by Miss Amy McMinn as Beauty. Mr. Alf Smith also did some good work as Sir Aldgate Pump, and Mr. Stanley Miller sang with good voice as the Demon King. Since Mr. Arthur J. Barclay, the entertainment-manager to the Herne Bay Council, has had the Town Hall Theatre under his charge great improvements have been made in the lighting, advertising, and general arrangements, and, when a few more are completed, it will become one of the most charming little theatres on the South-East Coast.

IN the Westminster County Court on Wednesday Mr. Archibald Selwyn, an actor, and Miss Lena Graham, whose stage name is Miss Margareta Gordon, brought actions for salary against Mr. Harold Smith, whose address was given as the Constitutional Club and his profession as that of theatrical manager. The defendant did not appear, and was not represented.

MR. MOTE, solicitor for the plaintiffs, adduced evidence that Mr. Selwyn played the part of the Rev. Josiah Flewitt and Miss Graham the part of Mrs. Pilling in The March Hare on a tour for the defendant. Mr. Selwyn was also stage-manager. At Llandudno they were told that some of the bookings had fallen through, but that there would be another nine nights, and Mr. Selwyn sent the "props" on to the Alexandra, Stoke Newington, but that booking fell through as well. Miss Graham had given a fortnight's notice, but rejoined on the statement that there would be another nine days' engagement. Each claimed for the nine days and a fortnight in lieu of notice, Miss Graham stating that she lost an engagement through rejoining with the defendant. Judgment was given for both plaintiffs, with costs.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

The Adventures of Irene.

"I FANCY my earliest misadventure occurred at the Theatre Royal, Margate," writes Miss Irene Vanbrugh in Cassell's Saturday Journal. "Like my sister Violet, Miss Evelyn Millard, and a host of other actresses, I commenced my theatrical career in Miss Sarah Thorne's répertoire company, and made several unobtrusive appearances under her guidance at that theatre. The play was a strong melodrama with a military setting, and a star actor, who used frequently to visit Margate, came down to play the star part. I, be it said, was a little drummer-boy. There was a very important moment in the drama, when the star actor gathered his faithful troops about him with the cry: 'Men, come around me!' The play was rehearsed, but the faithful troops, for some reason or other, had deserted the theatre—possibly in search of refreshment—and left me faithful and alone. By and by the cry 'Men, come around me!' rang out, and, to the intense astonishment and annoyance of that star actor, down on to the stage stepped a solitary little drummer-boy! The actor glared, but everybody else shouted with laughter, and 'Men, come around me!' was considered to be a huge joke at my expense for quite a long time afterwards.

Her Son was Safe.

"I was touring with some play or other, and in the course of my travels had arrived at Glasgow. After tramping wearily about all day in search of lodgings, I eventually found a more or less suitable abiding-place in the house of an old Scotchwoman. But my patience was rewarded so very late in the day that I had to rush off to the theatre immediately. I returned after the performance, to find the house in darkness. I knocked at the door, received no answer, and, becoming more insistent, knocked again and again. How long I stood upon the doorstep awaiting admission I cannot say, but at last, after a particularly furious attack with the knocker, a window was flung up on the first floor, and the nightcapped head of the old lady appeared. 'Oh, it's you!' said she, with a sniff. 'Weel, its nae use chappin' at the door; I canna' let ye in.' 'Not let me in!' I gasped. 'No,' said she. 'You lookit so respectable the noo that I didna' ken ye was theatrical. I canna' let you in. Ma son's at hame, and it wadna' dae.' I argued, and I beseeched, but all to no purpose. The old dame was obdurate, and in the end I had to go, luggageless, in search of an hotel for the night."

A Closed Reticule.

"IN The Gay Lord Quex I created the part of Sophie Fulgarney, the manicurist. One night my manicure bag refused to open. I struggled desperately with the catch while the audience progressed from broad grins to titters, but still the thing refused to budge. What on earth should I do? 'Ah!' I ejaculated at last, with a sudden inspiration; 'the bag won't open. I'll call the gardener.' And with that I left Lord Quex on the stage and disappeared into the wings, there to get that refractory bag opened by a stage hand."

Her Papers in Disorder.

"I EXPERIENCED quite a disaster once in His House in Order. As Nina I used, in the third act, to discover some important letters, which I afterwards secreted in the front of my bodice. As a matter of fact, I had a pocket specially arranged to hold them; but on this dreadful night, no sooner had I tucked them away than I found them scattered all over the stage. I gathered them up as casually as I could, and replaced them in my dress. A few minutes later I was kicking them about with my feet. Again I picked them up and put them away, and again they strewed the stage. It was really too absurd, for Mr. Alexander, who was supposed to know nothing of the existence of these letters, had to avoid seeing them and try to appear unconscious of the fact that every few moments I was stooping to pick one or other of them up. Directly I got out of sight, you may be sure I examined that treacherous pocket, and I found a large hole in it—a hole which existed for a remarkably short period after the fiasco it had occasioned."

A Flying Cat.

"IN The Thief, at the St. James's Theatre, the second act was laid in a bedroom, and one night a black cat peeped out from under the bed in the middle of the biggest scene in the play, and—meowed! The audience was vastly amused, but Mr. Alexander and myself felt rather disconcerted—especially as the cat seemed bent on staying with us. At length the time came for me to go into an adjoining room and don a dressing-gown, and Mr. Alexander, taking advantage of this, decided to quiet the audience and scare the cat away at one and the same time. So he called 'Marise!' (the cue for my return) in a voice of thunder. The effect on that cat was remarkable. With one flying leap it left the shelter of the bedstead, cleared the footlights, and landed sheer into the orchestra, whence it disappeared never to be seen again!"

Irving on an Endowed Theatre.

"You were speaking just now of the very right desire for an endowed theatre, and of the schemes for it which people, who have the thing at heart, from time to time propose," said Sir Henry Irving one day to Mr. W. H. Pollock. "Well, there is, now, one such theatre in London; but I say now advisedly." For a moment I paused to catch his meaning and he went on: "The Lyceum is an endowed theatre. I make a great deal of money by these tours, in the provinces, in America, might perhaps make as much or more in Australia some day. What becomes of it all? You know how much or how little goes in personal expense. Where do the big sums go? Into the Lyceum Theatre, into my desire to make it what I doubt if the State will ever make any theatre, a playhouse endowed as the best Continental State Theatres are endowed, but naturally free from their inevitable disadvantages."

A Much-needed Umbrella.

"IRVING," says Mr. Comyns Carr, in "Some Eminent Victorians," "more than once told me the story of how he and Bateman paced up and down the Adelphi terrace at midnight debating the possibilities of the success of The Polish Jew at the Lyceum. Bateman, as he frankly avowed to the actor, had no faith in the popular appeal of the play, and it was, I suppose, only because he found himself at the end of his tether that he somewhat reluctantly consented to permit Irving to make the experiment. How hardly pressed the enterprising manager must have been at the time was proved by the fact that one evening, when I was walking with him down the Haymarket, he pointed to a corner public-house and said to me, 'The owner of that house once held an umbrella over me in the rain when I most needed it, and I shall never forget it.'"

Fanny Elssler's "Ovation."

"MISS MAUD ALLAN, who is seeking fresh laurels in the United States, can hardly," says the Pall Mall Gazette, "hope for a reception on the scale of that accorded Fanny Elssler, when she crossed the Atlantic in 1840. At Washington it was found necessary, for lack of a quorum, to suspend the sittings of both Chambers on the nights the Viennese dancer performed. When she visited the Capitol, the Congressmen rose in a body and invited her to sit in the Speaker's chair. In many other towns she was the subject of official, as well as popular, ovations; and at New Orleans the warships in the harbour greeted her with a salvo of artillery."

"WHEN KNIGHTS WERE BOLD."

The Original Farce in Three Acts, by Charles Marlowe, performed at the Criterion Theatre on Monday, Jan. 17.

Sir Guy de Vere .....MR. JAMES WELCH
Wittle .....MR. GEORGE F. TULLY
Barker .....MR GORDON TOMKINS
Hon. Charles Widdicombe..MR. HENRY J. FORD
Sir Brian Ballymote .....MR H. K. AYLIFF
Isaac Isaacson .....MR. A. CLIFTON ALDERSON
Rev. Peter Pottleberry .....MR. GUY LANE
A Herald .....MR H. AGAR LYONS
Hon. Mrs. Waldegrave ....MISS MABEL YOUNGE
Lady Millicent Eggington ..MISS MAEV O'HEA
Lady Marjorie Eggington ..MISS EVELYN CECIL
Kate Pottleberry .....MISS PEGGY KENNEDY
Miss Sarah Isaacson .....MISS DAISY CORDELL
Alice Barker .....MISS ANNIE CHIPPENDALE
Lady Rowena Eggington ..MISS AUDREY FORD

The success of When Knights Were Bold has made its story famous and familiar, and a mere allusion to its idea is sufficient. Since the London production of the piece at Wyndham's Theatre on Jan. 29, 1907, there have been many changes in the cast; and in the company which presented the piece at the Criterion on Monday evening at the commencement of Mr. James Welch's season, only Mr. George F. Tully, Miss Daisy Cordell, Miss Annie Chippendale, and Miss Audrey Ford remained of the original combination. The piece is as screamingly successful at the Criterion as it has been at other theatres and in the provinces, and the performance is one long peal of laughter. Mr. Welch abandons himself entirely to the spirit of the part of Sir Guy de Vere, and is lavishly liberal in gags and business. With the aid of a very effective wig, which he ruffles up at intervals, and great mobility of feature, he is able to excite the hilarity of his audience irresistibly; and to see him imitating the antics of a monkey, spilling whisky and water, and swaggering about the stage with a long sword is excessively provocative of merriment. He is admirably supported. Miss Audrey Ford is a handsome Lady Rowena, and depicts in spirited style the romantic impulses of the lady; and a really excellent and artistic embodiment of Isaac Isaacson is contributed by Mr. A. Clifton Alderson, who makes the intriguing Jew a quite possible and natural personage, and does some strong acting in the mediæval part of the play. Mr. George F. Tully's Wittle is an imperturbable and irreproachable valet, and Mr. Guy Lane supplies a very effective impersonation of the pompous but well-meaning Dean. Mr. Gordon Tomkins is decidedly good as Barker; and Mr. Henry J. Ford gives a neat and crisp performance as the Hon. Charles Widdicombe. The important part of Sir Brian Ballymote has a tall and able representative in Mr. H. K. Ayliff, who plays it with energy and ability; and Mr. H. Agar Lyons is efficient as a Herald. The female parts have all agreeable and accomplished exponents, Miss Mabel Yonge as the Hon. Mrs. Waldegrave being effective; Miss Maev O'Hea making a charming Lady Millicent; Miss Evelyn Cecil playing Lady Marjorie pleasantly; Miss Peggy Kennedy doing good work as Kate Pottleberry; and Miss Daisy Cordell being an attractive and graceful Jewess. Miss Annie Chippendale is seen to advantage in the small rôle of Alice Barker. Mr. Bruce Smith's scenery, especially the very solid-looking "Knight's Room" of the first act, is excellent; and Mr. Percy Greenbank's clever jester's song and Mr. Brigata Bucalossi's appropriate incidental music are greatly enjoyed.

When Knights Were Bold was preceded on Tuesday by a new play in one act, by F. Howell Evans, entitled

"MILLIE'S MOTHER."

Bertie Gaunt .....MR. LEOPOLD PROFEIT
Dr. Joliffe .....MR. HARRY AGAR LYONS
Millie .....MISS MAEV O'HEA
Mrs. Grimston .....MISS MABEL YOUNGE

This short and amusing sketch dealt with the eternal mother-in-law difficulty in a new way. Mrs. Grimston, much to her annoyance, finds herself "buried down in the country" with her newly-married daughter and son-in-law, Bertie Gaunt, and in order to induce him to live in town she makes Millie pretend to talk in her sleep, and express yearnings for the Metropolis. Bertie discovers the trick, and reproaches his wife, who agrees that they shall both seem to sleep on separate sofas, and shall let Mrs. Grimston know their real wishes by feigning to discourse in slumber. The plan answers admirably. The mother-in-law leaves the house in high dudgeon; and the young couple's happiness is assured. Miss Mabel Younge gave a telling performance as the imperious mother-in-law; Miss Maev O'Hea was a pleasing and refined Millie; Mr. Leopold Profeit was smart and satisfactory as Bertie Gaunt; and Mr. Harry Agar Lyons played a young doctor with ease and judgment. Millie's Mother evoked much laughter, and well served its purpose as a preliminary piece.

LEONCAVALLO'S new opera Maia was performed for the first time at the Costanzi Theatre, Rome, on Saturday night. The libretto is a fascinating love story with passionate passages, which give full play to the composer's melodic temperament. The gifted composer himself conducted, and the work met with a cordial reception from a crowded house. On the following evening the same composer's comic opera Malbruk was produced in Rome.

"THE QUEEN OF HEARTS" pantomime at Kennington enters upon the last fortnight of its run on Monday next, the 24th inst., the last performance taking place on Saturday, Feb. 5.

THE Tivoli, Pentre, has been leased to Mr. Wm. Stone, lessee of the Hippodrome, Ton-y-pandy, for a period of three years.

THE first anniversary of Our Miss Gibbs takes place at the Gaiety Theatre this (Saturday) evening.

THE death of Mme. Meta Illing has resulted in the dissolution of the English Theatre in Germany. At a meeting at Frankfort recently it was decided that the enterprise was too intimately bound up with its foundress to survive her.

THE dramatic reading of Richard III. by the British Empire Shakespeare Society, for the first time in Central London, on Thursday evening at University College, Gower-street, was an arrangement of great interest, the cast including Mr. Acton Bond, Mr. Halliwell Hobbes, Mr. Frederic Sargent, Mr. Franklyn Dyall, Miss Adeline Bourne, Miss Nora Lancaster, Mr. Howard Rose, Mr. Thomas Stewart, Mr. George Musgrove, Mr. Trevor Roper, Miss Florence Geere, and Miss Juliet Hardinge.

"A Voice."

THE Americans (we are informed) have fallen in love with Mr. Forbes-Robertson's voice. Many declare that nothing like it has been heard in their country before (which is highly probable); and no fewer than three critics in describing its tones have employed the words "molten golden notes." Thousands of dollars are being offered by competing gramophone companies for a record of a Forbes-Robertson recitation from Shakespeare, the idea being (says Mr. Percy Burton, his manager) that money could be made by selling such an article to schools and colleges and dramatic academies all over the world. Mr. Burton has himself been offered first-rate royalty terms for getting Mr. Forbes-Robertson's "voice" out of him, but the actor, with his customary tact and caution, is thinking the matter over.

A COPY of "THE ERA" will be forwarded to any address in the United Kingdom for six stamps.

Mr. Frederick Fenn, who has so cleverly dramatised M. Henry Bataille's play La Femme Nue, has had plenty of experience as a dramatist. He is, perhaps, best known in connection with the libretto of the comic opera Amasis, which was produced at the New Theatre in 1906, but a more seriously artistic effort of his was The Convict on the Hearth, a realistic one-act play of humble life, which was presented in the same year at the Court. Mr. Fenn has dealt very judiciously with La Femme Nue, which was first performed at the Paris Renaissance in the February of 1908, with M. Guitry in the part of Pierre Bernier.

Dame Nature is the tragedy of unsophisticated affection in opposition with worldly craft and sensual corruption. A few alterations have benn made in the names of the characters in Mr. Fenn's adaptation, but the main story has not been much changed. Robert Bertram, a struggling artist, has married his model Lolette. She has shared his poverty and troubles and has been his model for his painting "La Femme Nue"; and when that work receives the gold medal at the Champs Elysées Salon, Robert makes Lolette his wife. A few years elapse. Robert, famous and rich, has become the painter à la mode, and then the snob that lurked in him comes to the fore. Whereas at one time he only saw Lolette's qualities, he now blushes for her ignorance; for, whilst he has risen to the lovel of a society man, she has remained the girl of the people. He then falls violently in love with the Princesse de Chabran. He is captivated by her imperious beauty and her aristocratic airs. Yet he ought to have known that these aristocratic airs are anything but genuine, considering that the Princess is the daughter of a rich German financier, and that her husband, an old ruined nobleman, only married her for her immense dowry. The Princess loses her heart to the talented young artist, and Lolette arrives at the inopportune moment when Robert clasps the would-be aristocratic lady in his arms. The Prince is quite willing to let his wife divorce him—for a consideration, of course; and the Princess has made up her mind to marry Bertram, who is only too anxious to rid himself of Lolette. She, however, refuses to part with her husband and to destroy her happiness. She has violent scenes with Robert and the Princess, and tries in vain to awaken better feelings in them. Pitiless because they love, they coolly overlook Lolette's feelings in the affair. In the end, Lolette is vanquished. Not wishing to prove an obstacle in Robert's way, she leaves him to return to a former friend, whom she left when she made Robert's acquaintance.

This story is developed with an agreeable amount of reality. The character of Lolette, a child of nature, is drawn with great fidelity and with almost merciless exposition of the weakness of the temperament depicted. The Prince de Chabran, with his cynical theories of life, his perfect manners, and his mixture of physical senility and mental alertness, is distinct and interesting; and the minor personages are very skilfully sketched. Dame Nature is a good acting play, and the success it achieved at the Garrick on Thursday was chiefly owing to this fact, and to the remarkably judicious way in which the parts were cast. That of the painter's wife was played by Miss Ethel Irving in a manner which secured instant and emphatic recognition. The sincere and affectionate character of the woman, her warm heart, and her impulsive emotions were depicted by Miss Irving in the most vivid, winning, and natural way; and she added immensely to her reputation by a performance which thrilled the audience to the core, and carried all before it by its energy, ability, and earnestness. The chief responsibility of the play rested on her shoulders, and she rose to the occasion readily, the ungoverned passions of the unhappy woman being shown with a force and freedom which were irresistible. Miss Irving's treatment of the realistic scene at the end of the second act, when Lolette breaks down in uncontrollable hysterics, was both bold and true, and the thoroughly naïf manner in which the discarded wife fought to recover her husband at the conclusion of the third division of the piece was marvellously effective. Altogether Miss Irving has seldom had a rôle which suited her more exactly, and her performance of it was a complete triumph. Miss Nancy Price's Princess de Chabran was a remarkably fine rendering. Miss Price is at her best in a character of this kind, and her embodiment of the pretentious parvenu was sharp, seductive, and bitterly satirical and sarcastic. Miss Price has seldom done anything better than this very effective and incisive interpretation. Mr. Ernest Leicester, in the rather unthankful rôle of Robert Bertram, played with solid force and an almost brutal vigour which carried conviction; and Mr. Norman Forbes's Prince de Chabran was a strikingly clever bit of character-acting—polished, finished, and very delicately handled. Mr. J. D. Beveridge won the heart of the audience completely as Bertram's shrewd, good-natured friend Paul Garford, and a peal of applause was evoked by his fine delivery of a philosophic speech in the second act, and Mr. Frank Cooper endowed James Ridgeway with the dignified courtesy and serene repose of a consummate man of the world. Mr. F. Kinsey Peile gave a neat, crisp, and clever reading of the rôle of Henry Greville; Mr. Charles Hampden was thoroughly satisfactory as Chaillard; and Mr. Charles Dodsworth's Arnheim was worthy of his reputation, Mr. Richard Hatteras being excellent in the small part of Rivett. Amongst the many minor characters Miss Agnes Hewitt's Mrs. Garford stood out by reason of its firmness and bold emphasis; and Miss Mabel Hunt played Isadora Lorenz with a quiet sense of humour that was effective, Miss Minnie Terry enacting Mimi neatly, Miss Verita Vivien doing good work as Emma, and Mme. Certin and Mme. Moulzi having competent representatives in Miss Florence Nelson and Miss Winifred Harris. Mr. Reginald Walter deserved praise for his performance as Certin; Mr. H. Asheton Tonge's Taubman was highly commendable; Mr. Bertram Steer was seen to advantage as Sadler; Mr. Reginald Eyre was efficient as Taylor; and Mr. George Bealby, Mr. John Castle, and Mr. Edmond Breon rendered good service as Roussell, Johnson, and Harvey. Mr. McCleery's interiors were appropriate backgrounds, and Mr. F. de Foss's production of the piece ensured the smoothness of the performance, which was received with enthusiasm, and will doubtless be many times repeated before the public will tire of the play.

"THE BLASÉ BARONET."

Comedy, in Three Acts, adapted by Walter E. Grogan from Used Up, Charles Mathews' version of L'Homme Blasé, Produced at the Theatre Royal, Huddersfield, on Friday, Jan. 14.

The production of a new play by Mr. Edward Compton is always interesting, and a large, fashionable audience assembled on the 14th inst., the anniversary of Mr. Compton's birthday. The story of Used Up will bear repetition. Sir Charles Coldstream, the blasé baronet, at the opening of the action is entertaining, for the relief of his utter boredom, two parasitic friends, Sir Adonis Leech, and the Hon. Tom Saville, in a dining room leading from the room set as the principal scene. During the progress of the dinner the dining-room door closed, there enters into the other room Mary Wurzel, who has come to repay a debt owed to Sir Charles by her dead mother; also John Ironbrace, a blacksmith, who has been sent for to fix a guard across the balcony to a window overlooking the river Thames. The blacksmith, formerly a master ironfounder, tells the story of his marriage, and of the loss of his wife, his consequent grief and eventual downfall. These troubles he attributes to the scheming villainy of some fashionable gallant, on whom, if ever discovered, he vows a terrible revenge. Shortly after the blacksmith's departure, Sir Charles and his friends emerge from the dining room. Sir Charles bewails the fact that at the early age of thirty-three he is eaten up with ennui, that life has absolutely nothing more to offer to his jaded palate, and begs his companions to discover for him a new sensation. Leech boasts about his own conquest of a woman: a conquest procured by foul means, and, after running through a long list of methods, all of which are rejected, flippantly suggests to Sir Charles that possibly in the sea of matrimony he may find distraction even sufficient to satisfy his craving for sensation. Offered in jest, Leech and Saville are amazed to find that the suggestion appeals to Sir Charles. Much concerned at this, they now try to dissuade, only to find the idea more firmly fixed. Further remonstrance being worse than useless they take their leave. Shortly after their departure, there is announced a near neighbour of Sir Charles, a certain Lady Clutterbuck, who turns out to be the victim of whom Leech had boasted, the wife of the blacksmith; but having been persuaded to believe him dead, has later been married to the elderly and now deceased Clutterbuck, who had nothing to leave her but his title. Sir Charles, still thinking on his matrimonial idea of proposing to and marrying the first woman he meets, concludes that this well-preserved, middle-aged widow will answer his purpose admirably. He proposes marriage, and after a show of coy hesitation is accepted. The calm and matter-of-fact treatment of the business rather piques the lady. They sit together on a couch to talk over the arrangements, and are thus discovered by the blacksmith, who immediately jumps to the conclusion that Sir Charles is the cause of his wife's downfall. Sir Charles, too bored to deny the accusations of the irate blacksmith, finds the prospect of a fight promises some slight acceleration of pulse, and tauntingly accepts the challenge to combat. They strip, and, coming to close grips, wrestle violently, until, in one of the bouts they approach too near the balcony window, and, losing foothold, suddenly disappear into the river beneath. An outcry is immediately raised, but in spite of all efforts, neither of the two can be found, and they are given up as drowned. This, however, is not the case, each escapes to opposite sides of the river, thinking he has been the cause of the other's death. The blacksmith hides for some time, eventually making his way to the farmhouse of Farmer Wurzel in a famished condition, to seek food and a hiding place. Already Sir Charles has come to the same place and secured employment as a ploughboy, his identity being known to the farmer's niece Mary. Wurzel gives the blacksmith food and hides him in a secret cellar of the house. Sir Charles, who, under the novel conditions of his now strenuous life, begins to find a savour in mere existence, is rapidly falling in love with Mary. Lady Clutterbuck comes to return to Mary the money left in her charge for Sir Charles, and during the interview catches a sight of the assumedly drowned Ironbrace. This knowledge she artfully conceals, and determines to force Sir Charles, whom she has recognised through his disguise, but whom she sees is now in love with Mary, to pay, for his release, such a sum as will reinstate her blacksmith husband in his former position as master founder. Sir Charles, who was Wurzel's landlord, had made a will leaving his estate to Leech and Saville. The pair arrive with a lawyer to dispose of the property, and after some conversation in which their opinions of Sir Charles are expressed with more freedom than politeness, depart with Mary to inspect the farm. During their absence, Sir Charles who has overheard the conversation, enters and in revenge for the insolence of his whilom friends hurriedly adds a codicil to the will, leaving all to Mary in the hope that she will accept him; but Lady Clutterbuck comes in and threatens the disclosure of his identity to the authorities unless he fulfils his earlier promise to her, and compels Mary to release the lover she was about to accept as Joe the ploughboy for fear of his arrest for the blacksmith's murder. The third and last act, which takes place in the evening of the same day, finds Ironbrace being called up from his hiding place to feed, and hear the story of Mary's legacy from the farmer A lively interview ensues, and, footsteps being heard, the blacksmith is hurried into his hiding place, where later Sir Charles is also unceremoniously thrust. The two meet in the dark, sounds of a scuffle are heard, and suddenly Sir Charles emerges with the idea that he has seen the ghost of the drowned man. This error is, however, shortly cleared up, and to the satisfaction of all concerned. Sir Charles and Mary are plighted, Lady Clutterbuck gets the money she desired for her husband's help, the two parasitic friends of Sir Charles are sent to the right about, and all ends happily with the confession of the Baronet that he is no longer blasé.

The play ran with a smoothness which gave evidence of thorough rehearsal, and Mr. Compton, as Sir Charles Coldstream, achieved a personal triumph by the incisiveness of his method and thoroughly appropriate style. Mr. H. Crocker and Mr. L. Meade, as Leech and Saville, did well all that was needed; Mr. Philip Gordon gave a very natural performance as Wurzel, and Mr. Frank Royde put in some fervent work as Ironbrace. Miss Marie Hassell, looking superbly, made every possible point as Lady Clutterbuck, and Miss Kathleen Leigh was sweetly modest as Mary Wurzel. Mr. Clifford Marquand was adequate as the valet, James. The mounting and dressing of the play—in Mr Compton's favourite costume period, were rich, artistic, and accurate.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

BERLIN, THURSDAY, Jan. 20.—Herr von Kotzbue has been in his grave nearly a hundred years—he was done to death by a fanatical youth, who believed his mission was to stab those whose politics differed from his own; and, though he had only reached the age of fifty, he left a prodigious number of dramatic works behind him. They are not all good, by any means, but Der Wirrwarr is very good of its kind. Kotzbue said of his works that he did not think they would live longer than half a century, but he added that they would be imitated for a much longer period. In this he was right; there are few German farce-writers who have not, at one time or other, made use of "Father Kotzbue's" ideas. Wirrwarr stands for hurly-burly, and the plot of the piece is hardly discernible. The whole fun is in the comedy—and very wild comedy it is in parts—of the "situations," and the rush of complications and misunderstandings, which will not bear detailing. How merry, happy-go-lucky Fritz Hurlebusch makes a fool of his uncle, the sleepy old Herr von Langsalm, by dressing him up when in a state of somnambulism in a white gown and cap, must be seen to be appreciated. Fritz is destined to marry a wealthy maiden, but is in love with a poor one, and, of course, in the end gains his way. The audience laughed from start to finish, so that a complete success may be recorded.

THERE has been a great paucity of novelties during the past week, but a considerable number will be produced in the next few days. At the New Schauspielhaus to-night Alt-Heidelberg, with Herry Harry Walden in the rôle of Prince Karl Heinz, is being revived. The Deutsches produces to-night the four-act comedy, Der gute König Dagobert, by André Rivoire, translated and adapted for the German stage by Felix Salten. The next novelty at the Deutsches Chamber Plays—to be given this week—is a five-act comedy, by Herbert Eulenberg, entitled Der Natürliche Vater. Dr. Eulenberg is one of the most promising dramatists of the day, and his latest work is being anticipated with a good deal of interest. The next production of the Deutsches Theatre will be Hugo von Hoffmannsthal's new comedy, Christine.

"DER GROSSE TOTE," a new grotesque farce, in three acts, by the Danish authors, Julius Magnussen and P. Sarauw, will be produced for the first time on a German stage on Saturday at the New Schauspielhaus. The piece, which the authors term "a merry tragedy," is to be given simultaneously in Vienna—at the Deutsches Volks Theatre. It has already met with a good deal of success at the Court Theatre, in the Danish capital.

ERNST VON WILDENBRUCH'S posthumous play, Der Deutsche König, is being given three times a week at the Royal Schauspielhaus, and still proving an excellent draw. Two nights ago the Emperor witnessed it for the third time, besides having been present at a couple of rehearsals. The Empress, the Crown Prince and Princess of Roumania, Princess Victoria Luise of Prussia, and other members of the Imperial Family were also of the party.

A GALA performance at the Royal Opera was given last week in honour of the Imperial Prince Hai Tsun and other members of the Chinese Naval Commission. His Majesty selected the Assyrian ballet, Sardanapal, which was also given before their English Majesties during their visit last year. The Emperor, with the aid of an interpreter, was very busy explaining the show to the Celestial guest. The effect of the Emperor's pet ballet is, candidly speaking, soporific.

LEHAR'S delightful operetta Der Graf von Luxemburg, has passed its fiftieth performance, and there is not the least decrease of popularity; it will doubtless go on its triumphant way for weeks to come. Leo Fall's Dollar Prinzessin has removed to the Thalia, where it is holding the boards nightly to good houses, while the composer's other successful operetta, Die geschiedene Frau, is drawing equally well at the Theatre des Westens.

IBSEN'S enigmatical play, Baumeister Solness, is being revived to-night at the Lessing with an exceptional cast. Fräulien Orloff is taking the part of Hilda Wangel, and Herr Monnard the title-rôle.

ACTORS' ASSOCIATION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—As I understand a motion is to be put at the annual general meeting of the Actors' Association asking for the return of the actor-managers, may I crave a little of your valuable space to put a little of the other side of the question before my fellow-members.

I think the Association should be such that any member should feel quite free and safe to express his views on matters brought to his notice in the association, without any fear of his doing so affecting his chances for engagements. Let us have an association to represent the employed artist without interference from the employer. Personally I should like to see our annual subscription raised to a guinea. Any member who has visited and accepted the hospitality of the Actors' Association in New York must wish we could compare more favourably with them.—Yours faithfully,

A MEMBER.

An Acrostic.

THE following acrostic on the anniversary of Mr. Forbes-Robertson's birthday on Sunday last appeared in the New York papers on that day:—

J ust some words of heartfelt greeting, borne by thought across the sea
F rom the land that binds thee strongest to "the country of the free."
O ver there success consoles thee; here, thy kindred and thy friends
R ender tribute to thy greatness, waiting till thine exile ends.
B irthday greetings will be many, both expressed and unexpress'd,
E very happiness to wish thee, with increasing comforts blest.
S even years of plenty wait thee, as in old Egyptian tale,
R iches, added fame and honours, for dreams do not always fail.
O n the threshold of the climax to a nobly-lived career,
B rilliant with artistic splendour, without favour, without fear;
E ver looking towards the ideal, always striving for the best,
R eaching onward, upward, forward with the poet-painter's zest.
T hus, now reaping, comes the harvest, thou hast waited all too long;
S pringtime, summer may be passing, but at autumn is life's song
O f the sweetest, truest nature. May the zenith of thy prime N ow be gladdened by fulfilment of our hopes, the dues of Time!

MUSIC HALL HOME SHILLING FUND.

We are again making an appeal on behalf of the Music Hall Home Era Shilling Fund, and with that appeal we have very great pleasure in associating the name of Miss Vesta Tilley, who will for the next few months act as a sort of fairy godmother to the fund. "I think," said Miss Tilley, in conversation with our interviewer the other day, "that the Music Hall Home is a very deserving charity and a very excellent thing. Something of the sort was certainly wanted for the poorer professionals. Every week of my life I give pounds away at the stage-door to numbers of the profession who call upon me for assistance. Now this year I want to create a record in the matter of collections for the fund, and I personally shall work my very hardest for it. In everything I wanted before the profession has always come forward very generously, and I hope that they will help me all they can now. I have a number of private friends who are going to work for me, too. I think, however, that most of the support should come from the professionals themselves. Outside people have their own charities to look after. I have asked my husband if he can arrange special matinées at each of his halls for the benefit of this fund, and he thinks that he will be able to do this. A great deal in that case will rest upon the artists, and if they would turn up we should be enabled to augment the funds of the Home very considerably. Wherever I am now appearing I am fixing up cards so that members of the same company for the week may put their names down for a subscription. I also hope by the sale of autograph postcards in the front of the house to collect a still further sum for the same purpose."

As was arranged last year, a solid gold medal will be presented by The Era to the collector who obtains the largest amount for the Fund up to March 31, 1910, the lists closing on that date.

All sums contributed to The Era Shilling Fund will be gratefully received and duly acknowledged in the columns of The Era. They should be sent to Mr. F. H. Pedgrift, hon. treasurer, at The Era Office, 5, Tavistock Street, Strand, W.C.

THAT versatile little lady, Marie Jones, makes her first appearance before a London audience on Jan. 24 at Collins's, in her new protean comedy, Wanted, the Co-respondent, written, invented, and acted by herself.

MISS MARIE REEVE, the heroine of many panto mimes, is playing principal boy in Little and D'Arcy's Forty Thieves this year with great success, as the presents from her numerous admirers go to testify. Notwithstanding several tempting offers, she has not yet settled for next year. She opens at the Syndicate halls shortly.

MISS LOUISA PEACH made such a big hit at Mr. Raymond's Hall, Walthamstow, with The Tragedy a few weeks ago that she returned there last week and this with The Settler's Daughter and The Sin and the Sorrow, and goes back again on Feb. 7 with another sketch from her répertoire. Miss Peach is supported by an excellent company, which includes Messrs. Charles Daly, E. H. Dobell, Edwin Bennett, and Edmond Sydney.

THIS is the cat presented by Mr. Fred Whittaker with feline grace and comic activity in the production of Dick Whittington at the Shakespeare Theatre, Liverpool. Pussy has been a study for years with Mr. Whittaker, who originates his own dresses and masks, and has played the part for sixteen consecutive seasons. His ecentricities and prancings round the balcony of the house are great features in the success of the pantomime, in which he gives great delight to the kiddies.

STAGE STAFF GOSSIP.

THE Theatres Committee of the L.C.C. have agreed to receive a deputation from the four Societies who addressed the Home Secretary on the matter of Sunday entertainments on Wednesday next, the same day on which the joint deputation from the Cinematograph Defence League, &c., are to be received. The representatives of the artists, actors, musicians, and employees meet to-day to prepare the statement on their case for the committee.

As there appears to be some confusion in regard to the conditions imposed by the L.C.C. the publication of these conditions may be found useful.

ON May 4 the Council discussed the question, and it was decided not to consider any application to give concerts at premises licensed by the Council unless the application is accompanied by an undertaking from some recognised society or organisation, unconnected with the premises concerned, to the effect that:—"(1) The concerts will be properly conducted and not for private gain or by way of trade; (2) the licensee or his servants will have nothing to do with the arrangements for the concerts (i.e., the engagement of artists or employees, &c.) beyond being responsible to the Council for the observance of its regulations; (3) none of the persons employed at the licensed premises on weekdays will have any pressure put upon him or her to assist at Sunday concerts; (4) an audited balance-sheet will be submitted to the Council at the end of each series of concerts; (5) the rules required to be observed on week-days for securing the safety of the audience will be complied with; (6) the heads of the society or organisation will hold themselves responsible for seeing that the assurance given to the Council is adhered to."

AT a meeting of the General Staff Branch of the N.A.T.E. on Wednesday evening the following nominations were approved by the committee and their election to the National Executive Committee recommended at the general meeting of the members of this branch on Sunday week at Terry's Theatre:—President, Mr. J. Cullen, master carpenter, St. James's Theatre; vice-president, Mr. G. H. Dyball, stage-manager, the London Pavilion; general treasurer, Mr. James Atterton, Criterion Theatre; general secretary, Wm. Johnson; for the committee: Messrs. H. Porter, Criterion Theatre; Ed. Stow, Vaudeville; J. N. Hunt, Alhambra Theatre; G. Pickering, Duke of York's Theatre; C. T. Cory, master carpenter, Vaudeville Theatre; and Mr. C. Thorogood, as one of the trustees. Several applications for membership were granted, and it was decided to print 1,000 copies of the branch statement of accounts for the past year. These will be issued to-day.

A MEETING of the Theatrical Carpenters' Branch will be held in the Salisbury Hotel, St. Martin's-lane, at 8.30 p.m. on Sunday, when nominations for the committee and officers for the ensuing year will be received and candidates for election to the National Committee will be selected. All members are requested to attend.

MR. H. S. HENBY, a member of the Heads of Departments Association, has gone with Miss Maud Allen to America to act as her stage-manager during the American tour. This association has now three members in New York City.

MR. WILLIAM BARBOUR, electrician at the St. James's Theatre, is, from the latest report, progressing favourably, but he will not be able to resume work for some weeks yet.

AT a meeting of the Edinburgh Branch of the N.A.T.E., held on Sunday last in the Buchanan Temperance Hotel, High-street, a number of new members were elected, and a further meeting will be held to-morrow to elect the officers and committee for the ensuing year.

THE general staff of the N.A.T.E. will hold their seventh annual dinner and smoking concert in the Salisbury Hotel, St. Martin's-lane, on Sunday evening, Feb. 13, at 6.30. The number of tickets, price 2s. 6d. each, is strictly limited to eighty, and over fifty have already been applied for. Those wishing to be present should make early application to the secretary, Wm. Johnson, or one of the stewards at the theatres and music halls.

LATE last week the stage hands of the Moulin Rouge, Paris, requested the manager to sign a contract promising to retain them in their present employment so long as he remained manager of the establishment. The manager signed the contract under compulsion, but sought a way out of the impasse in which he was placed.

FORESEEING trouble, he had taken the precaution of engaging extra hands. He decided to discharge the men and retain the non-unionists. But the malcontents refused to accept the two days' wages offered them, and left, taking their effects with them. Five of the discharged men turned up in the evening, but they were not allowed to resume work. Meanwhile, the musicians, who knew that trouble was brewing, threatened to join the movement. Eight of them actually left, but the performance took place all the same.

THERE was also trouble at the Parisiana. The stage hands and the entire orchestra went on strike. A small staff behind the scenes worked very hard in order that the performance might not be interfered with. A pianist took the place of the full orchestra. The strike was a failure. The strikers at the Moulin Rouge informed their comrades at the Parisiana that the movement had not succeeded, and that they could resume work. The men returned to their posts. The public did not take the side of the strikers, and the mutilated performances did not even excite protests.

"THEATRICAL ACCOUNTS FOR BUSINESS MANAGERS." How the affairs of a theatre can be most efficiently controlled by the adoption of systems of internal check. By Cuthbert E. Smedley, A.C.A. Price 3s. 6d., post free 3s. 9d. Address: The Publisher, "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

[We do not answer inquiries by post. In all letters the names and addresses of inquirers must be given as a guarantee of good faith. Initials only or pseudonyms will be used in the answers if so desired.]

VICTOR H. CRAWFORD.—The clause referred to is a very unusual one, and in our opinion 90 per cent. of theatrical contracts would not contain such a clause.

SPINDLES.—Little Tich's first appearance at a London theatre, so far as we are able to discover, was at the Pavilion, Mile End, E., as King Mischief in the production of Cinderella on Dec. 27, 1886. Later he went to Drury Lane, and also to the Garrick in Lord Tomnoddy.

HARRY BRAHAM.—(1) Sophie Eyre died of heart disease at Naples on Oct. 29, 1892, and is no doubt buried there. (2) Fred Leslie died on Dec. 7, 1892, and was interred in Charlton Cemetery. (3) Kate Vaughan died on Feb. 21, 1903, in Johannesburg, where she is buried. (4) William Elton—not he who was lost in the Pegasus in 1843—died, we believe, in Sydney, N.S.W., and is buried there. (5) Charles Danby died on Sept. 7, 1906, and lies in Paddington Cemetery. (6) William Farren passed away in retirement at Siena, Italy, where he was buried.

CHARLES BARRETT.—Mr. William Terriss was assassinated when about to open the door of the Royal entrance to the Adelphi Theatre in Maiden-lane, Strand, on the evening of Dec. 16, 1897, previous to the performance of Secret Service, in which he was playing the hero. The murderer was a man named Richard Archer Prince, a super, who was sentenced to be confined in Broadmoor Asylum as a criminal lunatic during "Her Majesty's pleasure." The deceased actor, whose real name was Lewin, was forty-nine years of age.

BOW PALACE.

The good houses which have been experienced here this week are to a considerable extent, no doubt, due to a very interesting set of pictures shown by the Palace Bioscope, dealing with that martyr of miscarried justice, Adolf Beck. The film, which is some 1,600 feet in length, was only obtained after much trouble and great expense, and deals with the arrest, prosecution, imprisonment, and release of the unfortunate man. It is really one of the most stirring stories ever staged for the cinematograph. Another very interesting item, unmentioned on the programme, was the declaration of election results during the evening by genial Mr. Harman, the manager, who has made himself so popular during his régime here.

The chief item in the bill is a miniature melodrama in three scenes, presented by Bernard Mervyn, entitled Nick Carter, which positively bristles with sensation. Imagine an old-time Adelphi melodrama potted down to a twenty-minute sketch, and you then have some conception of the intense excitement produced by the wonderful doings of "the man from Pinkerton's." What matters whether the plot is an impossible one, or whether the story be incongruous, or even whether dramatic situations have been too heavily handled, as long as the sketch serves its purpose in rivetting the attention of the audience, and this Nick Carter most certainly does. The conception of the name-part by Mr. Bernard Mervyn is certainly an excellent one, his restraint, in a rôle which might have been so easily exaggerated, being most praiseworthy.

Judge's cockatoos, parrots, and macaws were very entertaining, and the manner in which these birds executed tumbling feats, skirt-dancing, and other items showed very careful and patient training. One of the parrots danced quite naturally to the strains of the "Sizilietta" waltz. The Two Diamonds were well to the fore in a medley of harmony. They have a very tuneful number in "Silena." Styled as "Scotland's Representatives," the Bros. Lawrence have little pertaining to "the land o' cakes," excepting their costumes. They are both clever dancers, and were well received for some difficult steps neatly executed. Baker and Balfe are quite a good turn, the male partner being warmly applauded for his xylophone solo, "The Wee Macgregor." Also in the bill were the Seven Wulframs, with their tumbling sketch Fun in a Café; Grace Dudley, comedienne; and Lily Denville, in song and dance.

We noted in our last week's issue the immediate success at Collins's of the sketch, entitled A Million and a Half, produced at that house under the direction of Miss Lallie Forsyth. The name of the authoress, Miss Rita Carlyle, did not appear on the bill—a regrettable omission. She played the part of Delia Sinclair.

MISS MAY POULTON, a dashing principal boy, who has scored all along the line with Little and Darcy's pantomime Sinbad the Sailor, and who has had several tempting offers for pantomime, 1910 and 1911, to undertake the principal boy's part, will, at the termination of her present engagement, appear on the variety stage with a budget of smart up-to-date songs, written and composed specially for her by that well-known author and composer, Geo. Collins. Those who have heard the little lady sing "Ship ahoy," "Seaside," and "Somewhere" in pantomime will look forward to Miss Poulton's début on the halls with keen interest.

MME. YVETTE GUILBERT, as a "highly-taxed singer," states that her highest salary at the Empire was never above £480 for the week of six performances. "Nowadays," she says, "an artist of great reputation, of great popularity, of long years' standing, breaks a record if he commands and receives at the 'halls' a weekly salary of £300. But the joy of drawing high salaries is not unmixed any more, for, as the severe Surveyor of Taxes refuses to make any allowances concerning my travelling and hotel expenses in London, I am paying for my otherwise lovable sojourn of six weeks there annually the enormous tax of about £70, and I am even told that a higher taxation is to be expected if the actual elections will result in a Governmental victory."

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, & DEATHS.

The charge for inserting in "The Era" an announcement of a Birth, a Marriage, or a Death, or an "In Memoriam" notice, not exceeding twenty-four words, is One Shilling and Sixpence.

As a guarantee of good faith, the name and address of the sender must accompany each notice.

Frank Allen—Friday, Jan. 28.
Mabel Mannering—Friday, Jan. 28.

MR. JOHNNY JOHNSTON, the Original Dandy, again gives evidence of his remarkable versatility, playing Dame, in his ninth pantomime as principal comedian, in The Forty Thieves for Messrs. Little and D'Arcy. Mr. Johnston has a tempting offer to go to Australia again and another for the States.

SATURDAY next (29th inst.) will be the last day of Connor's great circus at the Crystal Palace. This is the finest circus at the present moment in London, and the many and varied "turns" are extremely clever and refined, the clowns, in particular, being a source of great amusement to the children and the "grown-ups," their absurdities—The Spanish Bullfight and the Costers' Derby—being excruciatingly funny. The whole show, under the kindly management of Mr. F. J. Connor, goes with a swing, and has proved immensely popular. The performers include two wonderful juveniles—Little Mona and Douglas, daughter and son of Mr. Connor, and for children of such tender years their "turn" is certainly the best yet seen.

A SPECIAL extra-turn matinée takes place at the Paragon to-day (22nd) with a view to discovering new talent. Mr. Jack E. Cohen, the hustling manager, informs us that he has a fine programme of budding artists.

THE Mannings, in their living marionette entertainment, made a very successful appearance at an entertainment given at Canonbury Tower Club (King Edward's Hall), and capital turns were also given by Charles Delvos, conjurer, and Finley Dunn, with the "Eton boy." Mr. Walter Dixon also brought along his company, consisting of the Misses Julia Larkins, Nellie Walker, Violet Bamberger, Gertrude Fryett, and little Doris Rex. Mr. Dixon and Miss Fryett were much applauded in their new and original dances, entitled "Valse Arcadia" and "Araby." Very amusing and clever was the dance of the Teddy bear and Doris Rex, a little girl of five.

THE Snow Family (skaters) and the George French Troupe (cyclists) finish to-night a most successful season at the Albert Hall, Sheffield, where they have been delighting large audiences nightly with their clever acts

THE Society Quartette, appearing this week at Dewsbury in Harry Roxbury's pantomime, Mother Goose, are undoubtedly a hit. One of them (Miss Bessie Esmond) makes a fine boy, and scores with her song, "Ship, ahoy!" She has received several offers for next season

JOHN CLEMPERT, who is now on a voyage to South America, is enjoying himself immensely on board, joining in every kind of sport, and having a nice sea-bath every morning.

THEATRICAL ACCOUNTS FOR BUSINESS MANAGERS.
How the Affairs of a Theatre can be most Efficiently Controlled by the Adoption of Systems of Internal Check.
By CUTHBERT E. SMEDLEY, A.C.A.
Price, 3/6. Post free, 3/9.

All concerned with the business side of a theatre will find much useful information and many valuable hints in "Theatrical Accounts for Business Managers," by Mr. Cuthbert E. Smedley, published at The Era office.—Referee, Jan. 31, 1909.

"Theatrical Accounts for Business-Managers," by Cuthbert E. Smedley, A.C.A. (The Era, Ltd., London, 3s. 6d.), is a most concise and comprehensive little work, calculated to prove of assistance to the theatre-manager. It shows how the affairs of a theatre can be most efficiently controlled by the adoption of systems of internal check. Specimen pages of the books to be kept are given, and the chapters treating of receipts, tours, book-keeping, and accounts and audit will be found to contain much useful information. In the appendix is given "a form of agreement with artists for touring engagements."—Liverpool Daily Post and Mercury, Feb. 3, 1909.

"Theatrical Accounts" (The Era, Ltd., 5, Tavistock-street, W.C.), we should say, is a very useful compilation for business-managers of our places of amusement. It is practical, exact, and analytical; it should stop leakages, and needs only good houses to keep it fully employed.—Sportsman, Feb. 8, 1909.

"Theatrical Accounts," by Cuthbert E. Smedley (The Era, Ltd., 3s. 6d.), shows how the affairs of a theatre can be most efficiently controlled by the adoption of systems of internal check. Specimen pages of the books to be kept are given. Receipts tours, book-keeping, and accounts, audit—each is allotted a separate chapter. In the appendix is given "a form of agreement with artists for touring engagements."—Morning Post, Jan. 27, 1909.

"Theatrical Accounts for Business-Managers," by Cuthbert E. Smedley, A.C.A. (3s 6d., The Era, Ltd., 5, Tavistock-street, W.C.). The work of accountants has now been brought to a fine art, and in almost every branch of business a different system has been elaborated. The present work deals in a small compass fully and clearly with all the special features of theatrical management on the business side.—Financial Times, Feb. 1, 1909.

Skeleton schemes of book-keeping, &c., with explanations, showing how the affairs of a theatre can be efficiently managed by the adoption of systems of internal check in all departments. Contains also a draft agreement as between manager and artist.—Birmingham Daily Post, Jan. 27, 1909.

THE LAW OF COPYRIGHT FOR ACTOR AND COMPOSER.
By ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B. (Lond.).
Mr. A. A. Strong has published a book on "The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer," which should be in the hands of everyone who is obliged to know about this perplexing subject. Dramatic copyright in England is in a particularly unsatisfactory state, and it is much to be hoped that ere long some more rational method of securing protection for a play may be devised than the slovenly and sometimes costly "production for copyright purposes" which is at present required. — St. James's Gazette.
Copyright confusion is like the poor, always with us, and as it seems likely to remain so until at least the crack of doom, it were well for all concerned, or likely to be concerned, to take immediate steps to secure a copy of Mr. Albert A. Strong's new work, entitled "The Law of Copyright." Mr. Strong is already favourably known to the profession for his textbook on "Dramatic and Musical Law," which, like his latest production, is published at "The Era" office. "The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer" essays to make clear to the non-legal mind what is—or, in some cases what probably is—the law as to musical and dramatic copyright. The chapters on the Berne Convention and on the Chase Act, passed by the United States Congress last March, are full of interest.—Referee.

THE ERA

SATURDAY, JANUARY 22, 1910.

VOTES FOR ACTRESSES.

The Actresses' Franchise League has now moved into its offices in Adelphi Terrace, and the movement numbers amongst its supporters some of the cleverest and ablest of our actresses. It is therefore beyond dispute that the question of votes for women has been taken up seriously by the female side of the profession.

The fact is extremely interesting to the student of contemporary politics. The female franchise movement is a phenomenon which gives one seriously to think. Its manifestations suggest not an opinion held by a few extremists and eccentrics, but a general tendency in the most able and intelligent of a whole sex. The subjection of women has been frequently discussed since JOHN STUART MILL wrote his remarkable book on the subject; but, in the old days, female suffrage was advocated only by an insignificant minority. The class of what was called "strong-minded women" was separate from the great mass of the female population, and was chiefly composed of the elderly, the unmarried, and the unattractive. There was a strong presumption, in many cases, that the attitude towards man of hostility, or any rate rivalry, was the result of disappointment. It was tacitly agreed that the end and aim of every woman was to "catch a husband"; and the spinster was branded with the offensive epithet "old maid," and regarded with pity, if not contempt. The independent woman was an exception; and the liberty now allowed to young girls and their excursions into the male domain of action would have scandalised the matrons of the last generation.

The remarkable part of the female suffrage movement is that while its aims are really generous, its methods are selfish and uncivic. The attitude of the militants is avowedly opportunist. No matter if the safety of the State be imperilled by a proposition, the suffragists are ready to support the party advocating that proposition, provided the party will support their claim to the vote. This somewhat cynical attitude is no doubt the expression of a deep bitterness, a very resolute purposes, and an extremely ardent desire for the vote. There can be no doubt that, rightly or wrongly, the women who earn their own living, the independent and self-supporting women who have escaped from the economic conditions which are really the mainstay of our marriage customs, and have had to leave the safe shelter of domesticity and to go out into the hard battle of the outside world, feel themselves deeply aggrieved at not being allowed to use their voices in the management of the public business.

It is curious, however, that actresses should be exercised in this direction. The artist, as artist, is often an indifferent citizen. There is a certain detachment from the material side of things in the task of distilling beauty, or moral meaning, or sharp significance from life. But the higher grade of artist has not been so much in the thrall of his craft as the lower; and, in proportion as we find the artist rising in social estimation, and becoming more domestic, provident, and considerate, we find him or her taking more interest in social and political questions. The prosperity of the country is of as much importance to the artist as to the man of business; and there is no more reason why he or she should not form opinions on politics than there is against the action of the manufacturer, the tradesman, or the mechanic.

The actress is not, as she once was, sequestrated from the main currents of life. She is emphatically "in the swim," with the advantage that she has more time than most workers have for the study of political and social questions. But her interest in female suffrage is an entirely generous and unselfish interest. The actress, by reason of her favoured position in society, has already conquered most of the advantages which the suffragists demand for the whole sex. She stands on an equality with man in competing for employment. There are as many leading actresses as leading actors; and, in calculating salaries, the entrepreneur is not influenced by any fear of inferior work. The defects of temperament which have been noticed by the Post Office authorities, and have somewhat discouraged their employment of female labour, do not affect the art of acting. It is difficult to see how the interests of actresses could be in any way affected by legislation. If the "minimum wage" ever comes into operation, it will be brought about by a combination in the nature of a trade union, not by an Act of Parliament. Perhaps we ought to except from this judgment the alterations in the law of divorce which are demanded in the "woman's charter"; but, on the whole, the actress has a position which is enviable compared to that of many classes of women workers.

It is, therefore, a generous feeling of solidarity with the rest of the sex, a love of abstract justice, and a sympathy with their suffering sisters which has led our actresses to establish a Franchise League. That the women will eventually obtain the vote few thoughtful persons will deny. Their persistence, their earnestness, and their indomitable energy make it certain that, sooner or later, they will induce one or other of our great political parties to assist them to obtain the franchise. And it will be to the credit of actresses as a class that, while themselves needing little improvement in their lot which can be gained by legislation, they were warm-hearted and disinterested enough to join in the demand made by their sex.

"COMING HOME."

A Play, in One Act, by Mary O'Neill, Produced for the First Time at the Royalty Theatre, Glasgow, on Wednesday, Jan. 19, 1910.

Daniel Braithwaite .....MR. LAURENCE HANRAY
Christopher Talbot ....MR. P. PERCEVAL CLARKE
John Kirkham .....MR. CAMPBELL GULLAN
Sally Kirkham .....MISS ELSPETH DUDGEON
James Scott .....MR. CECIL BROOKING

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

This is the latest production by the Repertory Company here, and tells in simple but intensely dramatic style the story of a shepherd, Braithwaite, whose wife within a year of their marriage had gone on a visit to her mother and was killed by an accident to the coach on which she was returning to her husband's home among the Fells in the Lake District. The tragic event unhinges the mind of the shepherd to the extent that with each recurring anniversary of the date he makes elaborate preparations for his wife's return, decking out the room with curtains, &c., in the style she had been fond of. Though twenty years have elapsed this simple ceremony is gone through yearly, and several of the neighbours come from their cottages among the hills to take their part in the reception of the young wife as they had been doing on the night she met her death. One of their methods of quieting the mind of the bereaved husband is to administer a sleeping draught in his ale, so that he will not wake till the melancholy anniversary is past, and his mind resumes its normal state. The tragic intensity of the play is shown in greater relief by the young tourist Talbot, who accidentally seeks shelter at the cottage on the night of the "party," and is at a loss to understand the melancholy aspect of the assisting neighbours and the careworn appearance of the shepherd husband as contrasted with the portrait of the young wife, which he proudly exhibits to his visitor. The play was well received, and excellently acted by Mr. Laurence Hanray as the bereaved husband, Mr. P. Perceval Clarke as the tourist visitor, Mr. Campbell Gullan as an elderly and cynical neighbour with a kind heart, Miss Elspeth Dudgeon as his daughter, and Mr. Cecil Booking as a friend who comes with his concertina to try to enliven the proceedings.

AMUSEMENTS IN ROTTERDAM.

ROTTERDAM, JAN. 5. — At the Grand Theatre, Manager Van Eysden revived Moser and Von Schonthan's farce, Onze Vrouwen (Unsere Frauen), for Christmas, and the New Year's programme consisted of the new three-act comedy from the German, Het Donkere Punt (The Dark Point). Onze Vrouwen is well known, but mention may be made of the careful and tasty mounting, and the excellent acting of Mrs. Van Eysden and Messrs. Poolman, Van der Lugt, Melsert, and Vrolyk. The Dark Point is a farce of the flimsiest sort, with an attempt at pathos in some of the scenes, but it made the holiday public merry. The authors are Kadelburg and Presber, and it hails from the Lustspielhaus, Berlin. Messrs. Poolman and De Yong created much fun, and Mr. Vervoorn made a hit as the negro.

Two very interesting performances have been given by the dramatic company, Het Tooneel (The Stage), on off-nights at the Grand Theatre. The first of these was of Bernard Shaw's strong play, Mrs. Warren's Profession, and the second of De Vrouw in het Spel (The Woman is the Cause of it All), of Clyde Fitch. Mrs. Caroline Van Dommelen as Vivie gave a sharply defined and powerful interpretation. Mr. Louis Chrispyn as Frank was good; and Mrs. Van Kerckhoven repeated her vivid and successful impersonation of Mrs. Warren. The performance of Clyde Fitch's strong and decidedly clever drama, De Vrouw in het Spel was a success; Mrs. Van Dommelen as Claire Forster gave a fine characterisation, both as to make-up and acting; Mrs. de Vries as the loving and devoted wife, Margaret Rolfe, was womanly and full of feeling. Praise must be given to Misses Van Dommelen and De Vries' interpretation of the entire third act. Messrs. Gimberg and Chrispyn were effective as Thompson, the lawyer, and as Julian Rolfe respectively. Clyde Fitch's play promises to be a drawing card for Het Tooneel, and Willem Royaards, its manager, may be congratulated on the success achieved by the production.

THE series of German operas to be given on "off-nights" at the Grand by Manager Otto, of the Elberfeld Theatre, in the course of the season, have been opened by a fine rendering of Wagner's Siegfried. The title-rôle was sung by the renowned Dutch tenor Urlus, who gave a masterly creation. The crowded house testified by cheers and applause to the triumph obtained by Urlus and other artists, and cheers were given for Manager Otto, and for Mr. Poutsma, the scenic painter, and co-director of the performance.

HENRI DE VRIES, the Dutch actor, who made himself so popular in England, in A Case of Arson, is to pay a short visit to his Fatherland, and to appear again, for a brief number of performances, with the Dutch Dramatic Company, of Amsterdam.

MR. AND MRS. H. B. LEVY AND J. E. CARDWELL'S company is the attraction at the New Theatre Royal, Whitehaven, in The House that Jack Built. Miss Daisy Wood is pleasing as Jack; and Miss Jennie Marsden effective as Gretchen. Doyle and Gibson provide the fun as Scraggs and Scraggles, and also appear in a speciality act. The chorus is strong and the scenery much admired.

A SHAKESPEARE READING.

A reading of Much Ado About Nothing, under the direction of Mr. Walter Pearce, proved very enjoyable to a large audience at the Passmore Edwards Settlement, Tavistock-place, W.C., on Sunday evening, when the spreading of the knowledge of Shakespeare through the process of an intelligent and illuminative rendering of the text of the comedy named was undertaken by a number of ladies and gentlemen of the stage, who kindly gave their services by permission of their respective managers. Once more we listened to the war of wits between Signior Benedick and my dear Lady Disdain, who is really fencing her heart round with the irony of epigram to keep out that little intruder, Cupid. Miss Ella Erskine, with charming grace and eloquence made us feel this, though she was always showing us the masculine agility in the use of all the weapons of repartee and banter with which the Bard specially endows this exquisitely-drawn character. Raillery, satire, coquetry are forgotten in the torrent of indignation that fills the breast of sweet Beatrice at the contumely and insult thrust on her gentle kinswoman and friend, Hero, by the much too easily deceived Claudio, and her outburst to Benedick, "Kill Claudio," was given true dramatic effect. Miss Erskine has distinction and style, and in addition to looking the part exactly, would play it with real understanding and charm if we may judge by the way she dealt with the text on Sunday evening. The badinage of Benedick, his severe satire on the married state, and his ready yielding to the insistence of heartfelt devotion were all capitally suggested in Mr. Walter Pearce's reading, and it would be an interesting experience to see this intellectually endowed young actor in the part. Mr. George Fitzgerald caught the light spirit of the character of Leonato in the earlier scenes, which were in excellent contrast to the bitter reflections of the church scene. Mr. Douglas Imbert put plenty of fire into his indignant accusation of Hero, and the suavity of that Shakespearean villain, Don John, was well suggested by Mr. Frederick Annerley, who gave the text with admirable distinctness. Mr. Shakespeare Stewart did double duty by singing prettily and expressively Balthazar's song, "Sigh no more, ladies," and playing with considerable unction the part of Verges. The scenes in which Dogberry and Verges appeared were quite a popular success; and Mr. Stanley Lathbury scored most unmistakably as the irrelevant ass and shallow fool, whose unreason has so much to do with the unravelling of the plot. Mr. C. Leveson-Lane did extremely well as Don Pedro, and a word of praise may be given to Mr. Alan Bellingham and Mr. Patric Curwen for their readings of the parts of Conrade and Borachio; and Mr. Cecil Pearson's deep, sonorous utterances were of advantage in the part of the Friar. Miss Agnes Brayton's voice vibrated with emotion in the poignant protestations of Hero, and the young actress would be ideal in the part. Mr. Dickson Kenwin, Mr. Cyril Percy, and Mr. Rathmell Wilson, who read the stage directions, all did useful work; and the parts of Margaret and Ursula were intelligently interpreted by Miss Isabel Ohmead and Miss Lily Kerr.

KINGSWAY THEATRE.

A small but appreciative audience assembled at the Kingsway Theatre last Monday to enjoy Mr Rudolf Besier's Don, which had, prior to this date, made its mark at both the Haymarket and the Criterion. But before the comedy was seen Mr. Harold Montague was called upon to give a humorous pianologue. There are many men, and women, too, who attempt to work at the piano. Few succeed. Mr. Harold Montague is one of the limited number of entertainers at the piano we can listen to with patience. On Monday his thirty minutes' contribution was a delight to everyone. Mr. Montague started by telling us about a new disease which he has labelled "Posteritis." Briefly, it serves as a pretext to weave the titles of many popular commodities advertised on the hoardings into song, and very cleverly it is done, too. The pianologist gets to telling a story about some ladies who had asked him to entertain them. The fair sex present paid not the slightest attention to his ditties, but audibly discussed Baby—what he had done, what he was going to do, and in the middle of conjecturing as to what he might do were disconcerted by the song coming to an end. One brilliant lady saved the situation by exclaiming, "Oh, please do sing again." The pianologist obliged, and the baby chatter was resumed. And of such is polite society. Mr. Montague's "trifle," "The night when the old cow died," is topical and amusing, but not in his best vein. His very next item amply compensates for a trifling lapse from the standard we expect of this artist. This is an attempt to show how a gentleman—a good piano player—would render "The Blue Bells of Scotland" after he has learned to work the typewriter. Mr. Montague contends that there would be no love songs if all girls were ugly. Doubtless he is right. Anyhow, he proceeds to give his own idea of a love lyric set to a hymn tune. Very good indeed, and laughable, too. Our pianologist shows us that he is an "expert conjurer" as well as a good pianist and singer. Mr. Montague does his sleigh-of-hand tricks without the aid of material objects, and the sublime effrontery of this item of his programme "brings down the house," and the curtain as well, when the charms of "Mary McGee" have been recorded. A fine show—short, sharp, and quite the sort of thing to put the grumpiest of audiences into a good temper for anything that may follow.

The reception of Don in its new quarters was of the heartiest. Don himself is unselfish and lovable, and if occasionally he fails to convince he at least succeeds in touching the heart of the listener. The comedy is admirably acted by Mr. Charles Quartermaine in the title-part, by Mr. James Hearn as his fussy yet well-intentioned father, by Miss Frances Ivor as Mrs. Bonington, Miss Charlotte Granville as Mrs. Sinclair, Miss Ellen O'Malley as Ann, Miss Christine Silver as Elizabeth Thompsett, and by Mr. Norman McKinnel as a stern and none too lovable husband.

MR. J. W. TURNER'S opera company played Martha at the Crewe Opera House on Monday. Miss Sarah Williams, in excellent voice, received quite an ovation for her rendering of Lady Harriet Durham; Miss Jessie Dennis was successful in the rôle of Nancy; Mr. F. J. Hargrave as Lionel was good, his vocal efforts meeting with approval; Mr. Tom Griffiths made a powerful Plunkett; and Mr. George Ridding a capable Lord Tristram. Mr. Arthur Fisher being successful as the Sheriff. The répertoire includes The Bohemian Girl, Maritana, Il Trovatore, and Faust.

MR. GEORGE MUNRO and company are at the Theatre Royal and Opera House, Dunfermline. Hamlet was performed on Monday. Mr. Munro gives a scholarly interpretation of the Prince; Mr. Charles Kindsley makes a characteristic Claudius; Mr. Ivor Barnard is a commendable Polonius; Mr. Willoughby deserves praise as Horatio; Mr. E. Digges gives an effective interpretation of the dual parts of Laertes and Player King; Mr. W. Laurence is a good Ghost; Miss Doris Horrocks supplies a clever and charming rendering of Ophelia; and Miss Gertrude Littlewood makes a dignified Gertrude. All the other parts are in capable hands, and the piece is well staged. The week's répertoire includes Othello, The Merchant of Venice, Romeo and Juliet, Twelfth Night, and Macbeth.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, THURSDAY, Jan. 13.—M. Paul Bourget, the well-known novelist, author of La Barricade, the new comedy produced at the Vaudeville, is in luck in so far that his may come at an opportune moment. Here, in France, all eyes are centred on the coming elections in England, whilst we, too, are making preparations for the coming fight in May prox. No doubt M. Bourget reasoned that we have been so satiated in recent years with adultery and ménages à trois, that, by way of a change, he would give us a work dealing with a social question, or, rather with Socialism. It is not for me to say in how far he was right to use the stage as a rostrum to explain his political creed. But he was certainly wise in the selection of the house that launched his work. In life, everything is a question of attitude. If that piece had seen the footlights in a popular quarter here, say in Montmartre or in Belleville, it would have been received with shrieks and hisses, and an obligato accompaniment of rotten cabbages, which, according to the thrifty Parisian, are even cheaper than addled eggs. But in the fashionable Vaudeville, M. Bourget had nothing to fear. It is frequented by people who pay their rent, their taxes, their tradesmen's bills, and now and then even give something to a poor devil in the streets. As to the title of the play, it is, of course, symbolic, and represents the struggle between Capital and Labour, or, rather, the fight between masters and trade unions. M. Bourget unhesitatingly sides with the employers, and his hero, M. Breschard, is a paragon of virtue. He is a furniture manufacturer, and through hard work and scrupulous honesty has, in the course of years, amassed a fortune. But a virtuous furniture man can also have moments of weakness. Many years ago he adopted a young orphan, gave her a place in his factory, and finally made her his mistress. Be it said in the man's honour that he is anxious to put things straight by marrying Louise; and it is here that the trouble arises. In fact, there are two reasons why he is prevented from carrying out his resolution. The first is that he has a son, Philippe Breschard, engaged to a young lady belonging to a painfully respectable family. These good people are disgusted with Breschard, senior, not because he seduced Louise, but because he wants to marry her. A mésalliance! What would the neighbours say? The second reason is that Mlle. Louise is not at all anxious to become Mme. Breschard. She has fallen secretly in love with Langouet, a good-for-nothing, employed as foreman in the establishment. It is this Langouet, who, on the wrong side of the barricade, and, jealous of his employer, tries to effect the latter's ruin. Langouet tampers with the machinery, and finally organises a strike that will prevent Breschard from carrying out an important order for America. But, according to M. Bourget, all workmen are not bad. There is one exception, bearing the name of Gaucheron, an elderly man, who talks a lot in the piece and acts as a kind of gramophone overflowing with fine sentiments. For all that, he sometimes hits the nail on the head, especially when he tells his fellow-workmen that all this talk about freedom means nothing, inasmuch as there is a worse tyrant than the employer, i.e., the man at the head of the Trades Union, who prevents those willing to work from earning their living. But his beautiful speeches are of no avail. The strike is declared, and when the curtain rises on the third act things look threatening. Gaucheron and a few other men have not joined the strike. They are continuing their work as if nothing had occurred, when the strikers, led by Langouet, enter the workshop, smash everything, and want to set fire to the place, whereupon the frightened Louise, in order to save Breschard, confesses to Langouet her love for him. This pathetic scene came very apropos, for the action was beginning to drag. The fourth act is very weak. Breschard, thus far, was only a good man. Now he has risen to the rank of an archangel, and becomes perfectly sublime. The angelic gramophone-Gaucheron says to him: "You cannot take back your workmen who struck work and damaged your property. Yet, you may not let them starve. You, therefore, must supply them with sufficient funds to start a co-operative factory among themselves!" And Breschard, who considers it a brilliant idea to help his former employees in setting up a rival establishment, proposes to carry out that idea. Master and man then cast admiring glances at one another. "Ah!" calls out our gramophone friend, "if only all masters were like you!" whereupon the archangel replies: "Ah! if only all workmen were like you!" And, whilst they fall into one another's arms the curtain falls. And the sentimental ladies in the boxes and stalls, who know nothing about workmen and masters, applaud vigorously; and as I worked my way through the crowd I heard some of them say: "Why should not all masters and men be like Breschard and Gaucheron? It is a beautiful piece, and gratis performances should be given to the Paris workman." Thus spoke these good ladies, but I would be sorry to try the experiment.

THE Opéra-Comique have given us a magnificent revival of Phryne. It is one of Camille Saint-Saëns' well-known works, but, for some unknown reason, was withdrawn from the répertoire. In fact, it has not been produced here since 1893. MM. Augé and Lassus, the librettists, have not dealt with the Phryne, who, arraigned before a tribunal for impiety, threw off her garments, and so impressed her judges by her beauty that they acquitted her on the spot. The Phryne in M. Saint-Saëns's opera was also a courtesan, the mistress of the famous sculptor Praxiteles, who made a statue of her, which was placed in the Temple of Apollo at Delphi. In the opera she has fallen in love with a youth called Nicias, persecuted by his uncle Dicéphile. Phryne bamboozles the latter by making believe she is Aphrodite, and, whilst he is at her feet, calls in Nicias and his friends, who deride him. The work was excellently sung and staged.

"L'ANGE GARDIEN."

Comedy, in Three Acts, by M. André Picard, Produced at Antoine's on Jan. 19.

PARIS, THURSDAY, Jan. 20.—The heroine in the play is Thérèse Duvigneau, a widow of about thirty. She has been married only two years, and during that time she has suffered so much that she has a horror of man, a horror of love, a horror of life in general. We meet her in the opening scene at the house of her cousin, Suzanne Trélart, the wife of Frédéric Trélart and the mistress of the painter Georges Charmier. In that milieu Thérèse feels ill at ease. Everybody in the château except the husband knows of the intrigue between Georges and Suzanne, and all smile indulgently at the loving couple. But Thérèse does not like this intrigue, and becomes, so to say, her cousin's guardian angel, inasmuch as she watches over her, and prevents her as much as possible being alone with Georges. The latter, of course, hates this guardian angel; nor is she sympathetic to the others, with the exception of the simple-minded Gounouillac, who has lost his heart to her. One night Georges and Suzanne are alone in the hall. They promptly turn off the light and fall into each other's arms. Suddenly, for the space of a few seconds, the light is switched on, and the person who did this must have seen them. But who is this person? If it is the husband Suzanne is lost; if it is Thérèse the position is just as critical, for she is capable of anything. The lovers are not long in doubt. The next day Thérèse, after having worried them by unpleasant allusions to the incident of the previous night, frankly confesses that she committed that act, and she tells Suzanne that unless Georges leaves the château that very afternoon, never to return, she will acquaint the husband of what she had seen. Suzanne begs, cries, implores, threatens, all in vain; Thérèse is inexorable, and the heart-broken Suzanne informs Georges that the worst is likely to happen. Georges, however, of a fighting nature, asks Thérèse for a private interview. He knows full well that any attempt to soften her will prove fruitless, but instinct tells him that with a nature like Thérèse's strong measures are necessary, and that this woman has become apparently so ferocious because—she loves. He has studied women for his own purposes, and he tells her bluntly that her own unsatisfied craving for love is the real cause of her indignation. "I could close your mouth instantly!" he calls out. "How?" she asks, sarcastically. "Like this!" he replies, pressing his lips on hers. George's animal instinct has guided him in the right direction. She falls into his arms, and the curtain drops. In the last act—the day after the incident—Suzanne is at a loss to understand why Georges is so certain that Thérèse will not speak, whilst she (Suzanne) is still on tenterhooks. For a few minutes Georges happens to be alone with Thérèse, and he begs her to continue their intrigue that has begun under such curious auspices. Thérèse, however, shakes her head. She repents her momentary weakness, especially as she has never altered her opinion about the despicable character of the man to whom she yielded herself, and she announces her intention to leave the house at once. Whilst Georges is pleading with her Suzanne breaks in upon them and discovers the truth. Unfortunately, the gifted author has not taken advantage of this intensely dramatic situation, and the play ends tamely in Thérèse going away, leaving Suzanne to become reconciled to Georges or to begin an intrigue with Gounouillac. It was excellently acted. M. Gémier modestly contented himself with a secondary part.

THE curtain-raiser, Le Monsieur au Camélia, is a parody on Dumas' well-known comedy. The heroine, Marguerite Gautier, is a direct descendant of the luckless "Dame aux Camélias," and by a strange coincidence she has a lover of the name of Armand Duval, whose father has come to town to break off his son's disgraceful connection with this little cocotte. The father is announced. After a few minutes' conversation he falls at the damsel's feet and offers to "make her comfortable for life," an offer which the lady gladly accepts, thus avenging her ancestress. The author parodied Dumas fils, and Mlle. Lavigne, who impersonated Marguerite Gautier, parodied Sarah Bernhardt.

I HAVE learnt on the highest authority that a very large number of millionaire Americans have come—and are coming—over to be present at the première of Chantecler. It is quite true that exorbitant sums are being paid for seats. It is likewise true that nine-tenths of the places reserved for the Press will be given to exotic visitors, and is no use denying the fact that the Porte-Saint-Martin management are going a bit too far in their eagerness to coin money out of the affair. But the comic side of the business is that the wealthy gentleman from across the Atlantic will be terribly disappointed on the first night. I happened to come across one of them, who proudly informed me that he had paid £250 for a seat. "But," he added, 'I do not mind a bit. I have never seen an 'All-Paris' audience, and this time I'll have my fill." Yes, his "fill." That is how he put it, the poor, deluded millionaire! I was charitable enough not to undeceive him, or I might have said to him: "My dear sir, we Parisians are not in the habit of paying such sums for an entertainment before we know whether it is worth that money. Chantecler may be a masterpiece, or the reverse of one. I cannot enlighten you on the subject, and even if I could professional etiquette would tie my tongue. But where your terrible disappointment will come in is when you and your good ladies will enter the house in the expectation of beholding a 'Tout Paris' show. You will scratch your head, and say to your wife, 'Are we in Paris or in the States? Why, there are the Smiths from Chicago, and there the Browns from Pittsburg, and there the Robinsons from Philadelphia, and there—— But all these people came over with us on the steamer! and I do not see a blessed Frenchman in the place! Then what did we leave Kansas City for?" And they will stare at a fine gentleman with a gilt chain round his neck, and tell one another that it is M. Fallières, not knowing that this fine gentleman is only the interpreter of the establishment, and that our modest President is not visible to the untrained eye, because he likes to remain at the back of his box, where he may indulge in a harmless nap.

"LE RUBICAON" is the title of a play by M. Bourdet, brought out at the Théâtre Michel. The work is exceedingly clever, but the subject is so "strong" that it is impossible for me to relate it in detail. Sufficient that Germaine and Georges return from their honeymoon trip. Germaine does not wear her orange blossoms, but she might do so with perfect right because the marriage has not been what French law calls "consommé." It is all Germaine's fault, who, pretending to be coy, in reality wanted to remain faithful to a young fool on whom she bestowed her affections. In the end, however, Georges is victorious, and the young fool finds it out at his expense.

THE fifty-first show of the London and Provincial Ornithological Society will be held at the Crystal Palace on Feb. 4, and will remain open until the 8th. All information can be obtained from Mr. J. W. Ramsden, 11, Josephine-avenue, Brixton. It should be mentioned that up to the present moment the number of entries bids fair to exceed all previous years, and a most interesting show may be anticipated.

MESSRS. W. A. SEYMOUR AND ROBERT MACDONALD'S selected company appeared at the New Public Hall, Arbroath, on Saturday evening to a very appreciative audience in The Gay Gordons. Angus found an able and manly exponent in Mr. Stafford Dickens; Mr. Sydney Burt, in the comedy part of Nervey Nat, kept the audience in excellent humour; the part of Lord Merstham was played with quiet dignity by Mr. Robertson Macgregor; Miss Denny Fitzherbert was charming, and sang well as Charlotte Siddons; and Miss Leah Howard was a bewitching and dainty Mary McLeod.

VARIETY GOSSIP.

MR. WALTER GIBBONS writes under date Jan. 21, concerning the Holborn Empire as follows:—"I can only say that the article in the Music Hall and Theatre Review is an utter fabrication from beginning to end. There is not a vestige of truth in it. There have been no negotiations of any kind whatsoever with Moss' Empires or any other firm for the purchase of this property, and I would ask The Era to contradict any such statements in to-morrow's issue in the most emphatic manner."

THE New Hammersmith Palace, which has been closed for some months for the purpose of reconstruction, will reopen on Monday under the auspices of the Gibbons circuit. For the plans of the new house Mr. Frank Matcham, the celebrated theatre designer, is responsible, and it is needless to state that under such guidance the auditorium has been immensely improved.

THE chief fault of the old hall was the immense space between gallery and footlights. The distance may have lent enchantment to the view, but it considerably handicapped the entertainer on the stage, and more especially the comic singer. This has been reformed altogether by widening the hall by about 15ft. and utilising the space by forming a wide entrance to the stalls in the old building. Extra exits have been made to comply with the County Council regulations, and also to enable a proper arrangement to be made for carrying on the business of a twice-nightly house. The auditorium will accommodate double the number of the old house.

THE Hammersmith Palace stands partly on the site of the Temple, Hammersmith, which was carried on during the early 'eighties by a Mr. P. Dunn. It was acquired by the late Mr. Acton Phillips, who made very considerable alterations and extensions. With the advent of Mr. J. C. Coe, a prosperous licensed victualler, who had as his first manager Mr. Fred Reeves, the popular agent, the house underwent a further transformation. Mr. Coe retired from proprietorship last year. Mr. Lionel G. Holding will be the resident-manager of the house. He occupied a similar post at the Shoreditch Olympia, another of the Gibbons' Circuit houses.

THE news of the illness of Mr. Fred Russell, V.A.F. chairman, has evoked universal expressions of regret from his numerous friends. Severely indisposed last Saturday, he has been unable to take his place at the London Pavilion all this week. Mr. Russell has been suffering from kidney trouble, and at one time it was thought that an operation would be imperative. This, it is hoped, may be avoided, and it is possible that the popular ventriloquist may be able to resume his engagements shortly.

"THE UMPIRE," Jan. 16, has the following:—"A Manchester mill girl took this story home:—One of the girls told them that a canvasser had called to see about father's vote. As he was absent the mother said she could not tell how he would vote. The man observed, 'Well, if he voted on that side the Empire will go down.' 'Oh, well,' the mother replied; 'that will make no difference to me; my husband works at the Hippodrome.'"

THE popular comedian Mr. Lionel Rignold, who has been delighting audiences at the Oxford, Tivoli, Canterbury, and Paragon with his tabloid version of What Happened to Jones, will next week visit Chelsea and Euston Palaces, and following that will make his first appearance in provincial music halls at the Palace, Manchester, where they will doubtless endorse the favourable verdict expressed by the London Press and public on this most amusing sketch.

THE Actors' Orphanage Fund have kindly sent Mr. Joe Elvin a cheque for 25 guineas in aid of the Music Hall Benevolent Institution, in recognition of the services that the various music hall artists rendered in The Arcadians tent at the theatrical garden-party last June at the Botanic Gardens, Regent's Park. In view of the large part taken in music hall entertainment by the legitimate actor this donation is very timely, and will further cement the entente cordiale that exists between the two branches of the generous-hearted amusement profession in what concerns all mankind—charity.

STILL another dancer at the Coliseum! This time it is Madiah Surith, who is known as "the Star of the Orient." Among her many dances she will introduce an amazing serpent dance. Miss Evie Greene will also return to her scene of former triumphs at the Coliseum. Cyril Maude and Little Elise Craven, in Jellicoe and the Fairy, and the Slaviansky Choir and La Tortajada remain.

MR. WAL PINK, the popular author, sketch producer, and comedian, jointed the second contingent of his and Mr. Fred Ginnett's Claude Duval company on Wednesday at Southampton. The crowd sailed by the liner New York for the States. Mrs. Wal Pink accompanies her husband, and takes out a company of juveniles.

A CORRESPONDENT writes:—"I was in Boston on Saturday, and found that cultured and delightful New England city following the example of other American cities by going wild over Miss Adeline Genée. Such wonderful dancing has never before been seen on this side, and America is trying her best to induce the Empire danseuse to remain here permanently."

LADY CONSTANCE STEWART RICHARDSON, who is appearing at the Palace Theatre in a series of classical dances, has been one of the most notable personages in smart society since she made her début. This has been due to the fact that Lady Constance struck what might be termed "a new note" in the life of a society woman. Disdaining frills and fancies, she has devoted herself to physical culture. Culture of the body she considers necessary to secure a strong mind. In order to give practical evidence of her views Lady Constance is dancing at the Palace to procure funds to start a small school for boys, whom she means to practically adopt.

As a sportswoman, in the Himalayas of Little Tibet, Lady Constance hunted ibex and bear over ground whereon no white foot had previously trod. Apropos to her encounters with bears, she tells an interesting story. "In my hall," she says, "stands a red snow bear—a species which is rapidly dying out. They can only be found in regions over 11,000ft. above the sea-level. In camp one of my natives reported that he had seen a she-bear with a cub, and I started out to find it, carrying a light rifle, giving the heavier to one of the men. Mountain-hunting does not seem a bit like walking through Hyde Park at Church Parade. One has to crawl over rough ground, often on ledges with a nice little drop of a hundred or so feet, if you lose your head or your balance. It was whilst thus crawling I met my friend the bear. The gun-bearer promptly bolted with the heavy gun, and left me to my fate. As I had quite sufficient to do to hold on to the face of the cliff, there was nothing but to await the pleasure of the bear. Somehow she could not make me out, and, after a few growls, turned tail. Next day I got on the track of her ladyship, and now she adorns my hall."

MR. HENRY HARE is producing the farcical absurdity, The Odd Trick, on Monday next (24th), at the King's Theatre, Southsea.

MANAGERS would do well now the boxing craze is at its height in London, to book Billy Ross and company, with their droll boxing act, The Hot Member.

MR. WILL STONE, who has just taken the Tivoli, Pentre, has appointed George Egbert, of 110, St. Martin's-lane, his sole booking agent for his five halls in Wales.

MR. LEIGH, father of the Four Sisters Netherland, recently had a dangerous fall backwards downstairs, splitting open the back of his head. The doctors have every hope of his recovery, and this cheery statement will allay the anxiety of many friends who have, both by telegram and letter, made kind inquiries.

MR. JAMES CARR, a popular member of the Terriers' Association, has been appointed Resident-Manager of the Empire, Douglas, Isle of Man.

MR. CHARLEY HARVEY, the well-known pierrot comedian, has taken the Olympian Gardens, Rhyl, from Adelor, Sutton, and Allandale for the month of June.

THE Spa (Scarborough) directors are by way of appointing a new musical-director for the 1910 season, to succeed Mr. Charles Godfrey, jun. Applications are to be sent in not later than the 31st inst., to Mr. H. T. Chambers, secretary of the Cliff Bridge Company, Scarborough.

MR. REGINALD H. FOSTER is back again as manager of the Palace and Hippodrome, Halifax. The hearty hand-grips and pleasant smiles of welcome Mr. Foster has received during the past week are ample evidence of his popularity with Halifax audiences.

MR. HARRY CHAMBERS, who has been assistant-manager of the Spa, Scarborough, for a number of years, has been appointed manager in the place of Mr. Frank Goodricke, who has resigned after forty years' active service. Mr. Chambers' appointment is a popular one, and he thoroughly understands the requirements of the Spa patrons.

The members of the Prince of Wales' Theatre, Birmingham, are keen sportsmen. Golf and football are the favourite pastimes. There have been a few exciting contests on the links, and there promises to be keen competition for the handsome silver cup presented by Mr. John Lloyd, the popular stage-manager. Playing the other day, Seth Egbert, of the Brothers Egbert, hit a ball which stuck between two branches of an oak tree.

THE friends of Miss Eva Chadwick, charming vocal comedienne, will be glad to hear that on the morning of the 17th inst. she presented to her husband, Mr. W. J. Boyle, resident acting-manager of the Royal Hippodrome, Salford, her first daughter, and that both mother and child are doing as well as possible. Mr. Boyle has been busy receiving congratulations, as both he and his wife have made many friends since they came into the district.

MR. CHARLES G. REMBGES, the courteous and popular manager of the Empire, Middlesbrough, the principal Teesside variety theatre, was for many years with Mr. J. L. Graydon at the Middlesex, and has held his present position for the past five years. A special interest attaches, therefore, to the complimentary benefit, under the auspices of the directors, to be given him at a matinée at the popular Middlesbrough house named, on Wednesday next, Jan. 26. A special turn in the entertainment will be a presentation to the beneficiaire.

THE Local Government Board inquiry respecting the application of the Bournemouth Town Council for sanction to borrow £77,000 for the purpose of erecting a pavilion or concert hall, reading and assembly rooms, &c., upon the site of the Belle Vue and Pier Hotel and upon land forming part of the Central Pleasure Grounds, was resumed on Tuesday before Mr. H. Shelford Bidwell, one of the Board's inspectors.

THE Town Clerk, Mr. G. W. Bailey, represented the Corporation, and Mr A. Moresby White opposed on behalf of the Local Residents' Association. The Mayor, Councillor G. E. Bridge, was recalled, and admitted that since the adjournment the magistrates had granted a licence for music, dancing, and singing in respect of a large building close by, with the restrictions that no drums and no brass should be allowed in the orchestra. He could not say whether the magistrates would treat the Corporation in a better way when they applied for a licence.

MR. F. W. LACEY, borough engineer, said the cost of the pavilion itself would be £50,000, and a sum of £12,000 was to be expended on the substructure. The income expected from letting the lower parts as public refreshment rooms and otherwise was about £3,500. There was no extravagance about the scheme. Several ratepayers gave evidence in support of the Corporation's proposals, whilst others strongly opposed. The Town Clerk said the opposition to the scheme was simply on the part of a few armchair residents.

MR. FRED REEVES, the variety agent, has been confined to the house during the past three weeks with a bad attack of gastritis and valvular heart trouble. He is now progressing favourably and hopes to be out again during the coming week. Mr. Reeves is deeply grateful to all those friends (including agents, artists, and managers) who have either written, telegraphed, or telephoned wishing him a speedy recovery.

A FAMILIAR note is struck in the name of the manager of the new Cinematograph Theatre at Ealing, of which we noticed the opening in our issue of last Saturday. A son of the never-to-be-forgotten creator of "Champagne Charlie," and brother-in-law of our first great coster comedian, Albert Chevalier, Mr. George Leybourne comes to Ealing with the very best credentials, and all his friends—British and American—will be pleased to hear of his appointment to the direction of one of the most elegantly-appointed houses yet erected for Bioscope display.

DURING his visit to Brighton last week—a visit of domestic privacy and simplicity at the seaside home of his friends, the Sassoons, on the front—King Edward spent the best part of each day motoring to different spots of more or less rustic interest in the surrounding countryside. One bright, sunny morning, the Royal motor whirled His Majesty, with his host and other members of the small house-party, up to the Devil's Dyke, the delightful playground recently "developed" by Mrs. Barrasford on the breezy heights of the Southdown Hills, five miles from Brighton. Quite at his ease and "far from the madding crowd," the King strolled over part of the golf course Mrs. Barrasford laid out a couple of years ago, walked here and there about the estate, and appeared fascinated by the wonderful view presenting itself from the hotel-crowned hill top—an unequalled panorama of hill and vale, farmstead, and pasturage.

FOR the last half-year the directors of the London Coliseum, Ltd., recommend a final dividend of 25 per cent., redeeming £11,137 debenture stock, writing off the balance of preliminary expenses to £2,867, and carrying forward £3,577. Happy shareholders!

THE announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Katie Lawrence (Mrs. George Fuller), who for the second time entered the bonds of wedlock on Thursday at Holy Trinity Church, Gray's Inn-road. Mr. Reginald Gervase is the happy man.

MR. LEO DRYDEN, who is at the Peckham Hippodrome, has been making a hit in the Midlands with that most striking number False Gods, in which he makes up very finely as Sir Herbert Tree in that play.

MISS MILLIE PAYNE, after a bad attack of influenza, on Monday resumed her interrupted engagements at Tottenham and the Tivoli. She has repeated at the Strand variety house the great success she made at the London Pavilion three years ago.

MR. GEORGE NEWBURN, the well-known mimic, who is appearing nightly at the Elephant Theatre as Dandini, in Cinderella, had a nasty experience on Saturday last. Whilst motoring to the theatre, to avoid running into a child he turned quickly. Owing to the greasy nature of the road, his car skidded and shot round in a circle, finally being brought to a standstill with the back-wheels on the pavement near a shop window. Mr. Newburn was thrown on to the bonnet, and was lucky to escape with a few bruises. His quick action undoubtedly saved the child's life.

MISS RUTH LYTTON, the charming principal boy of Mr. Fred Fredericks' Babes in the Wood pantomime at the Marlborough Theatre, Holloway, at the age of seventeen played Dandini at the London Hippodrome with so much success that she was re-engaged for the two following seasons. This was followed by two consecutive seasons at Drury Lane, since which Miss Lytton has distinguished herself as principal boy at Birmingham, Liverpool, and Edinburgh, and in musical comedy at the Gaiety and on tour. For the last two years Miss Lytton has been winning fresh laurels on the variety stage as a Scottish comedienne. Miss Lytton, who hails from Edinburgh, is a linguist of considerable ability.

MR. J. H. MILBURN occupied the chair at the 643rd meeting of the Music Hall Artists' Railway Association, at the offices on Wednesday. Dr. Gabriel, of Keighley, was appointed a medical officer to the Association. The statement of the week showed thirty-two new members and a cash total of £49 16s.

To oblige Mr. Stoll, Miss Mabel Mavis is being transferred next week from the Empire, Shepherd's Bush, to the Empire, Swansea. This week she is being transferred from the Stratford Empire to the London Coliseum, and the judgment has been amply justified by the reception accorded her at that magnificent theatre.

MR. F. BARFORD has made special arrangements for little Gladys Barnard to create a part in his sketch Cottage or Palace, which is to be produced for the first time at the Canterbury on Monday evening. In the afternoons she is appearing as the Dormouse in the production of Alice in Wonderland, at the Court Theatre. Mr. Frederick Ross, of the Lyceum, plays the principal part.

LADY CONSTANCE STEWART RICHARDSON, who made her début at the Palace Theatre on Monday evening before a crowded and enthusiastic house, is the daughter of the late Lord Cromartie and a granddaughter of the Duchess of Sutherland. Amongst the dances which she successfully presented were "Au Printemps" (Grieg), Chanson sans Paroles" (Tchaikowski), "Marche Funèbre" (Beethoven), and polka, "Bonne Bouche" (Waldteufel). Lady Constance is most graceful, and her interpretation of the music was delightful. She scored a distinct success, and was warmly applauded.

THE complimentary benefit to Mr. John Alexander, of the celebrated Alexander Family, will be held at the Empire, Camberwell, on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 24. A very special programme is being prepared, which will contain, in addition to a number of star artists, novel sporting contests and several comic novelties. Mr. G. P. R. Burgess, the president of the Terriers' Association, of which society Mr. Alexander has been an honoured member for many years, has consented to become chairman of the grand committee, and Mr. F. H. Pedgrift, of The Era, has kindly accepted the position of one of the vice-chairmen. The tickets will be ready on Monday, and can be obtained from any member of the committee.

MISS OLLA HUMPHREYS, a clever young Colonial actress, comes to the Palace Theatre on the 31st, when she will appear in a new version by Mr. Michael Morton of the old comedietta Je dine chez ma Mère (Gymnase Paris, 1856), first adapted by Tom Taylor as A Christmas Dinner, and performed at the Olympic in April, 1860. Another version, entitled A Merry Christmas, was produced anonymously at the old Strand Theatre on Feb. 1, 1897, with Miss Florence Gerard as the actress—a part originally played by Mrs. Stirling in the Olympic production. That at the Strand was by the late Mr. Clement Scott, who wrote dramatic notices for this paper in the seventies.

MR. W. LESLIE GOOCH, the son of the popular Fanny Leslie, and the manager of the Metropolitan, was presented, at the close of Tuesday evening's second performance, with a handsome clock and candelabra by the staff, as a token of esteem, and in celebration of his marriage last December. The presentation was made by Mr. D. M. Trytel, musical-director of the house. Mr. Gooch's father and grandfather were associated with the fortunes of the Metropolitan in the 'seventies.

MISS LOLA LEE on Monday produced an entirely new act at the Poplar Hippodrome, in which she gives imitations of famous dances, which include an Italian Tarantella, a Spanish Bolero, an American Harem Scarem dance, and a French dance eccentric, finishing with a "Valse Moderne." The dresses are most effective and characteristic, and each change of costume is done in full view of the audience, in a dressing-room at the back of the stage. The setting of the act is most artistic and uncommon.

IN her dances of East and West, Miss Lee gave us ample proof of her versatility in her art, and in her new act the contrast is equally great, for she first dances with all the dash and fire of the Italian and Spaniard, and then to a dreamy waltz, with all the grace and sinuous movement of arms and body, which belong to the D'Auban school, and which bring back memories of Kate Vaughan. She concludes with a series of wonderful dip pirouettes equal to those by which Letty Lind first made her name great as a dancer. Miss Lee is the only exponent of this style of dancing now before the public, and she is undoubtedly one of the best dancers on the stage at the present time. She has made a big hit at Poplar, and should certainly be seen shortly at one of the big West-End halls.

MISS FANNY BROUGH will appear at the Empire Theatre on Tuesday evening next in Mr. Malcolm Watson's little play, Change of Front. She will be supported by a cast including Mr. E. F. Mayeur and Miss Frances Wetherall. The word "front" has many meanings, both figurative and literal, and in the development of the incidents of the trifle the real significance of the title will be subtly and cleverly emphasised. Miss Brough will be exceedingly welcome on her return to the variety stage, where legitimate comediennes of her calibre are all too rare.

MISS LOIS DU CANE and company in the beautifuly acted sketch The Russian Princess will be one of the chief attractions at the Empire, Islington, next week.

MR. T. S. DICKIE (proprietor, Royal Standard, Victoria) and Mr. Charles William Lavell have successfully passed the ballot for membership of the Terriers' Association.

MR. BEN WOODGER occupied the chair at the meeting of the Terriers' Association on Sunday last, in the absence of Terrier W. L. Murray. Hearty congratulations were extended to Terrier Major Gastrell on his election as the Member of Parliament for North Lambeth.

THE London production of the musical-comedy sketch Charlie's Wedding Day will be at the Surrey Theatre on Monday next (24th inst.). The principal artists engaged will be Messrs. George F. Ide, Alfred Bennett, Misses Nellie Cozens and Lilian Stanley, with Charles Cleveland as the happy bridegroom.

ON Monday afternoon next commences at the Alhambra the annual wrestling tournament organised by Mr. A. F. Bettinson, of the National Sporting Club. The contests for the wrestling championships will proceed daily, and notwithstanding the very large number of entries received will conclude in any case on Monday, Jan. 31. Prizes amounting to £400 and valuable belts will be given to the winners.

MR. T. W. WRIGHT, the popular manager of the Grand, Gravesend, was the recipient of two handsome presents at the conclusion of Mr. Leslie Bell's pantomime Cinderella. On Saturday night Mr. Wright was called on the stage and received a massive silver cigarette case as a slight recognition from the principals and all concerned in the pantomime; also a beautiful silver card-case from the staff and a few friends as a mark of esteem.

SHIRLEY AND RANSOME, who exploited the coster episode 'Arf a Quid, are appearing this week in their latest success Jim's Pal at the Empress and Collins's. So successful has it been, that Mr. W. Grimes has secured them for four return visits through their agent, Will Oliver. The oft-told lodger story has been completely reversed, and Jim's Pal will most assuredly be a welcome item in any programme for a long time to come.

THE Five X-Rays are continuing the success they met with in town at every hall in the provinces they have appeared. They have just been round the Macnaghten Circuit, and open on Monday at the Palace, Blackpool. In 1912 they will spend the early part on the Continent, having already signed for three months Vienna, Budapest, and Hamburg. Their London and provincial bookings are very heavy, at which Spot Oliver rejoices.

ROMA AND ROMANI, the classical musicians, who recently concluded their London season at the Oxford, Tivoli, Coliseum, and the Consolidated halls, are now on a long provincial tour. They will return to the Syndicate in October, and in December to the Hippodrome for a month. They have been secured by Mr. Stoll and Mr. Walter Gibbons for forty weeks in 1912, but they will be absent on the Continent for a considerable portion of 1911. The evergreen Spot Oliver is responsible for this state of affairs.

THE usual Twelfth Night gathering at the Chelsea Palace, which was postponed from the orthodox night (to allow one of the principals invalided at the time to participate), was celebrated on Thursday evening, the 13th inst. At the close of the performance the artists, band, and employees were invited to the buffet, and Mr. Lyon, who has performed the ceremony each year since the house has been open, was requested to cut the cake, which he did in his usual able manner.

IN proposing the health of Mr. Henri Gros, the managing-director, Mr. Lyon alluded most feelingly to the sad loss that gentleman has sustained. In the absence of Mr. Gros, Mr. De Groot assured all present that Mr. Gros thoroughly appreciated all their kind wishes, and while having a duty to perform towards those who had placed him in his position as managing-director, he was ever mindful of those under him.

THE healths of Mr. J. N. Berlin, the manager, and Mr. Andrews, the secretary, were proposed and received with great enthusiasm. Mr. Berlin responded, and expressed the great pleasure and satisfaction it gave him to know that the Chelsea Palace had maintained its previous good record. Mr. Andrews also expressed his thanks, and after a pleasant hour the gathering was brought to a close by the wish, briefly but eloquently expressed, that they would all be present at the next Twelfth Night celebration.

ON behalf of the Music Hall Ladies' Guild, 61, New Oxford-street, W.C., Miss Melinda May begs most gratefully to thank the following:—Mr. Harold Seyd, solicitor, Regent-street, donation, £1.1s.; Mr. Percy Maye (Gaiety, Chatham), donation, 5s.; and Mr. Alec Barish (Birkenhead) for another lovely parcel of articles comprising men's boots, children's boots, ladies' shoes, parcel of stockings and mufflers, all new, also for his goodness in granting permission for any of the ladies' executive of the Guild to collect for the funds at the concert he is organising in Liverpool on Jan. 27.

WILL ladies and gentlemen please note that the sweepstake for the Motor Rex bicycle given us by Mr. Joe Zarmo (cost £50) will positively take place next week, and those who have tickets for same, sold or unsold, will they kindly return them to Miss May by Monday next (24th) at the latest? The bicycle is now on view at 18, Charing Cross-road. Buy a ticket this week at the Guild, 1s. each. Your last chance to possess this valuable machine for 1s. Funds, boots, and clothing are urgently needed.

A VERY popular extra turn at the London Hippodrome on Saturday night was Mr. Fred Trussell. A large audience had been regaled with election intelligence earlier in the evening; but just before the presentation of the Polar spectacle, The Arctic, a notice was displayed on the screen that no more "results" would be posted until its conclusion. A large audience patiently waited even after the bears had disappeared. Mr. Trussell went into the orchestra and conducted a selection, and the tale of the elections kept the expectant house bubbling over with excitement. When the last return had been given Mr. Trussell briefly announced the fact, and thanked the audience for their kind attention. An enthusiastic stallite immediately rose and proposed a vote of thanks to the courteous gentleman on the stage, a vote that was carried with acclamation at about 12.30. In his brief reply, Mr. Trussell expressed the hope that he would be at their service again on Monday.

JULIUS AND AGNES ZANCIG, the great thought readers, who are at present performing at their own theatre in New York, wish it to be known that they have not been in England since last August, and that they have no association whatever with anyone travelling the provinces and professing to be the Zincigs.

MR. ALFRED MOUL is still making excellent progress towards recovery after his operation, and the invalid is much cheered, not only by the solicitude of his many friends, but by the accounts of the success in Paris of his classic ballet, Psyche, for which, it will be remembered, he wrote such delightful music.

MISS GERTIE GITANA will produce shortly a new number, entitled "Down by the old water-wheel," written by Andrew Allen and composed by Florence Cooper, who has had several requests for copies of another song, recently composed by her, entitled "My love awaits me there," now being sung by Miss Margaret Cooper. It will shortly be published.

MME. ALBANI, the famous singer, was sued in West London County Court on Wednesday for £21, commission alleged to be due to Mr. A. F. Maclean, agent, of St. Martin's-lane, in connection with engagements obtained. Judgment was given for the plaintiff for the amount claimed, with costs.

IN announcing the results of the elections each evening at the Empire Theatre the greatest benefit has been derived from the new tape machine installed, which has become such a popular feature at this house. The results recorded by this means have been communicated to the audience on the Bioscope screen many minutes before they have even reached the theatre by telephone from other sources. The enthusiasm from time to time on Saturday and Monday evening has been extraordinarily great, many people standing on their seats cheering and waving their handkerchiefs.

THIRTY-SIX years ago, at the Theatre Royal, Bradford, the late Richard Edgar played the part of the Silly Boy in a pantomime which still holds the record at that theatre for the longest run. For fourteen weeks it occupied the stage. This year, Marriott Edgar, son of Richard, is playing a similar part in Jack and the Beanstalk at the same theatre, and it is rather a strange coincidence that he should be the same age as his father was when he played pantomime in Bradford.

ANOTHER thing that is curious. Marriott Edgar ("The Man in Red") finds that he is staying in the same digs, and sleeping in the same room that his father occupied thirty-six years ago, although the house has changed owners in the meantime. Mr. John Hart is advertising this year's production as his biggest success for twenty years.

MR. W. P. SHEEN, the well-known pantomime dame, concludes to-night a most successful engagement as Nurse Gloriana in The Sleeping Beauty at the Royal County Theatre, Kingston. The Press has been unanimous in its praise of Mr. Sheen as a comedian, and has pronounced him "the hit of the pantomime," an opinion endorsed by Mr. Peter Davey and the theatre directors. Mr. Sheen returns to the "halls" on Monday, opening at the Paragon with his patter turn "The Merry Widow Wimple."

MISS DULCIE KING-LLOYD (daughter of the late Arthur Lloyd) was wired for on Sunday morning to open at the Empire, Belfast, on Monday in place of Mr. Tom E. Finglass, prevented by illness from fulfilling his starring engagement there. Miss Lloyd, travelling on Sunday night from London, crossed from Holyhead to Greenore in a terrific gale. However, she opened on Monday night, and although her last appearance at the house named was in September, 1909, she filled the breach most successfully.

IT is not the first time Miss Dulcie has rendered valuable service at the Belfast Empire. Three years ago, when appearing there with her sister and brother (the Arthur Lloyd Trio), she came to the aid of the management by taking the important part billed by Miss Lilleth Leyton in her sketch The Order of the Bath, that lady having injured her leg. Miss Lloyd at a few hours' notice bravely and successfully played Miss Leyton's rôle twice nightly, in addition to playing in the sketch Little Charlie; or, The Twin Sisters.

MUSIC-HALL performers arriving at New York from Europe, says the Daily Mirror correspondent, are complaining of the unfair manner in which they are treated by the United States Customs officials regarding the landing of their stage properties. Mr. R. A. Roberts, for example, who plays Dick Turpin's famous ride to York, had to put up a £1,400 cash bond before he could get his effects away from the Appraiser's Stores. The money was paid by the management of the syndicate of music halls, and Mr. Roberts has to pay it off at the rate of £20 per week, deducted from his salary. His engagement in the United States lasts for twenty-three weeks, and on embarking for England from New York he will have to produce every article that he brought over with him.

WHEN Mr. Roberts arrives in England he will have the £1,400 forwarded to him by the Customs officials. This will practically mean that the Customs will have the interest on the sum for six months, which at the ordinary rate of 5 per cent. here amounts to £35. The performer loses the interest and exchange in transferring the money to London by a banker's draft, which will be considerable on such a large sum. At 2½d. in the £ it would amount to £14 11s. 8d.

ACCORDING to the same correspondent Mr. George Lashwood had to pay £20 for his theatrical wardrobe, and Miss Hetty King paid £10 in cash, and said she would sooner let it go at that rather than have all the trouble of signing a bond and having her properties all inspected again and sworn-to before leaving. Mr. Ernest Luck, who had two costumes for his sketch which were so ragged that they had to be held together with pieces of string, to his great surprise had to pay £3 duty on them when he landed in New York with his wife, Miss Hetty King.

SOME humorously cogent reasons are given by, among others, well-known people connected with the profession in answer to the question "Why are you not standing for Parliament?" which appeared in a contemporary a few days since, the query being responded to by Mr. George Graves, Mr. George Robey, Mr. Hugh E. Wright (who so funnily enacts the part of Simpson in the new musical comedy at Wyndham's), and Mr. Herman E. Darewski.

THE last-named answers as follows:—"The reason why I am not standing for Parliament is that I am sitting for pantomime—composing popular songs for next December's productions. You see, quite apart from the fact that for some unexplained reason no division has asked me to figure as its candidate, I consider that after the vital question of Free Trade or Protection, the next most important thing is to cater for the entertainment of the public, and thus cheer the hearts of the beaten party and its supporters. And besides, imagine me carrying a pocket piano, or, more portable, a melodious mouth-organ to my seat, and the delay that would be caused whenever I jumped up in the middle of an important speech to beg the speaker to repeat a phrase whose musical intonation might suggest to me a catchy but elusive refrain!"

SONGS, WRITERS, AND SINGERS.

AN outstanding and delightful feature of Captain Kidd at Wyndham's Theatre is an interpolated number, archly sung by dainty Miss Elhaline Terriss, assisted by Mr. Seymour Hicks and others, the said number being entitled "I've got rings on my fingers; or, Mumbo Jumbo Jijjiboo J. O'Shea," written by F. J. Barnes and R. P. Weston, with music by Maurice Scott. The item is published by Messrs. Francis and Day.

ON Saturday last a large portion of Islington was ringing with an amended version of "Let's all go down the Strand," sung by excited electors, the burden of whose song appeared to be "Let's go—for Waterlow," which tended to show how this, one of the most popular refrains among Messrs. Francis and Day's numerous master-keys to pantomime success, had been seized on by the public at large. Mr. Charles Whittle, who so ably popularised this favourite on the halls, is still at the Tivoli earning the highest encomiums with it, and also with "Come and have a drink with me," which is likewise published by Messrs. Francis and Day.

"KELLY TWO-STEP," by C. W. Murphy, has been found greatly to the liking of the patrons of the Alhambra Theatre, Leicester-square, during the week now ending, and the item sounds splendid on Mr. G. W. Byng's magnificent orchestra. It is published by Messrs. Francis and Day.

IN response to numerous requests, the Star Music Co. have decided to grant a few special music hall permissions for their enormously successful pantomime songs "I've been out with Charlie Brown," "Sea, Sea, Sea," "I'll let the world go by," and "Mister man in the moon." Band parts are published for these numbers. Applications for permits must be made to the Star Music Co.

IN addition to the scores of artists who have made big hits with A. J. Mills and Bennett Scott's melodious number "Ship, ahoy!" many principal boys have introduced this song since the opening night of pantomime. The very latest recruit is Miss Florrie Gallimore, who telegraphed from Sheffield: "'Ship, ahoy!' enormous hit; many thanks." This is a sample of many wires received from delighted artists. The Star Music Co. issue band parts for this charming song.

MR. GEORGE GRAVES is making a big hit with Jack Smiles' song "For months and months and months" at the Drury Lane Theatre.

MR. G. H. ELLIOTT, the chocolate-coloured coon, who has the hearts of all Bristol in the hollow of his hand owing to his wonderful gifts as a singer and dancer, and whose song "I used to sigh for the silvery moon" is a triumph of triumphs, has himself lately composed a pretty song, entitled "My Oboe Queen," of which much is expected. The graceful lyric is by Henry F. Greenfield.

THE latest bid for public favour is "Take great care of the baby," written and composed by Alf. E. Rick, of "Swing me higher, Obadiah," fame. This song has been secured for immediate publication by Messrs. Price and Reynolds, and, judging by the favour it has received in the Hop o' My Thumb pantomime at the Colosseum Theatre, Oldham, it bids fair to be echoed in every town in the kingdom. Mr. Rick wishes to call the special attention of all pierrots to this "winner," which cannot fail to be a big selling number.

MR. WILKIE BARD has secured a number which explains the correct way to aspirate an "aitch," entitled "He had his high hat in his hand." It is by Harry Carlton and Terry Sullivan, and has been secured by Messrs. March and Co. for publication.

MISS TESS LILLEY has also secured a fine chorus song my the same writers, entitled "I don't mind waiting for you," which she produced on Wednesday at the South London and Chelsea Palaces with enormous success.

MR. A. ELLERTON, JUN., who as composer has been associated with Mr. A. Ellerton, sen., in song successes for Tom Dunville, Little Tich, Mark Sheridan, Miss Queenie Leighton, and others, made a successful début as musical conductor at the Palace, Greenwich, on Monday last.

"VAN BIENE'S BABY."

A Sketch, in One Act, Produced at the Stratford Empire, on Monday, Jan. 17.

Van Biene .....MR. VAN BIENE
Ethel .....MISS FAVERSHAM
Geo. Rawston .....MR. T. HARTLEY

Described as "a new domestic episode," and "written expressly for him by one who knows him," Van Biene's Baby is a felicitous playlet which sees Mr. Van Biene in the rôle of a fond father and husband, as well as serving as a vehicle for his prowess as a 'cello soloist. The curtain rises on the tender picture of a mother rocking her babe, and we hear afar the strains of sweet music. Calling her husband, she leaves him in charge of baby, and he is thus occupied when an old friend from abroad enters, and naturally the conversation turns on old times. Incidentally, the friend learns that Van Biene's wife was his own former sweetheart, and that the occupant of the cradle is the offspring of their union. Rawston bids Van Biene play his beloved 'cello, himself wrapt in thought the while, and afterwards when making his adieux with the wife he hands her a document which is "for baby." After the departure of their visitor, husband and wife open the packet and discover it to be the deeds of their house; and, as Van Biene whimsically remarks, "now baby is our landlord."

The miniature play wins plenty of applause for Mr. Van Biene, who is adequately supported by Mr. T. Hartley as George Rawston and Miss Faversham as Ethel.

MISS ELLA and her performing lions top the bill at the New Royal and Hippodrome, Bilston. Other admirable turns are the Watson Duo, in a singing and patter act; Tom Dewar, character vocalist; and Arthur Richards, comedian. The Hippograph shows some excellent pictures.

MR. TOM OWEN, the well-known Welsh comedian, received a warm welcome in opening a three nights' engagement at the Town Hall, Bridgend, with his variety company in Welsh Wales. Mr. Owen kept the audience in a continual titter what time he was on the stage; Miss Jean Lawton's dancing was much admired; a poular item was the musical turn of Mavis and Farran; and Fay and Foy also scored heavily in their musical speciality. Miss Gertie Leno (soprano), Mr. H. B. Pritchard (baritone), and Mr. Harry Vernon (bass), contributed to the pleasure. A laughable farce, Welshman's Ruse, was a fitting finale.

BOSWELL'S Stage Circus is proving a tremendous attraction at the Town Hall Theatre, Macesteg. The performances of the wonderfully educated ponies, donkeys, monkeys, and dogs, are well received. Other turns are given by Little Togo in his marvellous top spinning and Japanese diabolo acts. His slide from roof to floor is a most thrilling feat. Luigi does some extraordinary leaping and somersault throwing. The Brothers Austin, comedians, and The Revolving Table are other pleasing items in the programme.

LONDON VARIETY THEATRES.

THE OXFORD.

Mr. C. Blyth Pratt is filling a very popular turn at this representative music-hall by reading out the election results, and the hearty welcome extended to him owes not a little to his perfect impartiality, as well as to the excitement of eager partisans. The programme is mostly in the lighter vein throughout, and though many of the Oxford's favourite comedians are now at the theatres, there are just a few left behind to help one to a cheery outlook on life. The vocal character studies of Mr. Tom Woottwell are restricted to an ikey gentleman "without any beastly affectation," who wants everyone to buy a wonderful dog. Another Tom, whose second name is Leamore, gives out some amusing patter concerning a potman's experiences. Still another Tom is that Wyndham and Wyatt combine music and comedy in The Professor and His Pupil, an act in which the younger performer's facial play is decidedly clever and funny. Professor and pupil join in the well-established burlesque song "Our hands have met," and the turn is heartily welcomed.

Burlesque also forms a welcome element in the turn of Beattie and Babs, who present a comedy scena entitled A Pavement Rehearsal. Both are clever dancers, and Babs is decidedly funny as the prima donna singing "Il Bacio." Mr. Sammy Shields, who is termed the football enthusiast, gives a comic complexion to the experiences of the referee; those favourite Hebrew comedians, Jordan and Harvey, sing a capital duet, "Abraham," with much unction; and that rapidly advancing comedian Mr. George Formby is very diverting as a Lancashire dude, enjoying a night out.

Mr. Joe Elvin is a hardy annual at this house, ever fresh and amusing humourist Dunville, whose strong favouritism at this house is well understood by those who are acquainted with the many droll character sketches he has presented during his many engagements. We have had Hamlet, of Denmark Hill, and now The Policeman comes along to give extracts from a remarkable notebook. There are, however, no grumblings that his lot is not a happy one.

Music, heavenly maid, has a couple of fair devotees in the Carina Sisters. The violinist of the pair plays de Bériot's "Air de Ballet" with much brilliancy, and the flute solo is also greatly enjoyed. Bi-Bo-Bi has an arrangement of bells whereby mellow sounds are produced from a steel instrument which has much the same mechanism as an ancient watchman's rattle. The tone is distinctly good, and the effect decidedly novel On the sleigh bells hung on a large frame the performer gives a medley, in which the chief airs are from Les Cloches de Corneville and Faust, and no New Year's bill at the Oxford would be considered quite complete without him. His latest vehicle for fun is entitled Billy's Money Box, which we have already described at length in these columns. Joe as Tommy Taggles is again a mine of drollery, and his treatment of comic incidents is as successful as ever in provoking laughter; Miss Victoria Monks, another artist who occupies a warm place in the hearts of Oxford frequenters, is responsible for a capital chorus song; and in this form of melody Miss Dora Lyric is facile princeps. One enjoys to the full such eccentric dancing as it is in the power of clever Herbert La Martine to give; variety and skill mark the uncommon juggling feats of M. Gintaro; and much astonishment is caused by Bertisch, labelled as America's premier athlete. The sterling comicalities of Mr. Morny Cash, a dialect comedian of resource and originality; the hoop-rolling extraordinary of the Four Juggling Geraldos; and the long-popular entertainment of the Brothers Horne are other attractions in a fine bill, to which the films of Ruffell's Bioscope add interest.

HOLBORN EMPIRE.

One can always escape from a troubled world—and the weather—by passing the portals of the Holborn Empire. The smile of Mr. Leslie Conroy, the manager, greets you like a ray of sunshine, and the brilliantly-lit house and comfortable surroundings are the greatest possible inducements to "come in out of the cold." This week immense business has been done here, and small wonder either when a glance through the programme has been taken.

Our old friend Alec Hurley's number consists of one of those pathetic little items, sung in his own inimitable way, for which he has long been famous. It is called "She's a little whipper-snapper," and a tiny girl assists Mr. Hurley to complete the picture of a coster left with his motherless little girl. A 33 to 1 Chance is in the Holborn bill this week. Mr. H. P. Selwyn has now got this sketch in splendid working order, and it is interesting to recall the story. Lord Stansfield has matched himself or his nominee against the nominee of Major Maine, one of the conditions being that in the event of either of the combatants or their representatives not entering the ring the one present receives the stake. The Major, who is a despicable scoundrel, intends to win the fight by fair means or foul, and to make it more certain persuades a bookmaker—Solomon Levi—to meet Lord Stansfield and offer him a drugged cigar, little thinking that his lordship has nominated his valet, Bobs, to represent him. In a very realistic scene depicting the National Sporting Club we find boxing in full swing. The most important fixture is about to take place when Lord Stansfield is overcome by the effects of the cigar. The Major immediately claims the stakes, but to his dismay the referee reads a letter in which it is announced that his lordship's nominee is to appear in his stead. We then witness a most exciting three-round contest between Ben Jordan representing England and Young Sullivan upholding the American colours. The Englishman is nearly counted out in the second round, but eventually he succeeds in flooring his opponent and carries off the prize. The Officer's Mess Room scene—presumably that of a Guards regiment—is splendidly mounted, and the dressing is correct in every detail. The huge Holborn audience got quite enthusiastic about it last Tuesday.

The Russian Singers—eleven in number—are very interesting. The solitary lady of the choir has a very sweet voice and looks ditto. The gentlemen are responsible for one amusing number, which, as one cannot understand a word they are warbling about, might be described as a barking match between one and all of them Everyone thoroughly enjoyed it. Our sympathy goes out to Miss Minnie Paget, concertinist, on the limited time allowed her by the management. It must have been just within the sixty seconds' limit, for she had merely time to announce that she would give an imitation of a church organ and to play thirty-two bars of it, and the next number went up, to everyone's surprise. Minnie was getting along extremely well, and we could have done with more of her efforts. Better luck next time, perhaps. Very fine tumblers are Griffin and Ardel. Griffin, or it may be Ardel, is made up with a perpetual smile, and has a perpetual dance interspersing his acrobatic feats. G and A. keep things lively from start to finish, and we shall be glad to laugh at their antics many more times in the days to come.

"Boiled beef and carrots" has no better champion than Harry Champion. His advocacy of this old English dish would convert a vege'arian. Geo. Gilbey presents the most astonishing policeman ever seen on any beat. "Duffy" is a mirth-maker, and is well liked at the Holborn Empire.

Mlle. Suzanne de Verneuil and her beautiful lady models in a series of art poses get clear away from the type of "living picture" we have been accustomed to see at the halls. Our greatest painters and sculptors' works are represented. The series is vocally accompanied by Miss E. Maynard. The pictures are eleven in number. We first see "The Sirens," three beautiful maidens strolling by the sad sea waves. Well lit, well grouped, and realistic. "On the Beach" is the second picture, to which Miss Maynard sings "As long as the world goes round." "Curiosity" comes third on the list, and shows us a page peeping through the keyhole of a door at a young lady dressing. It gets a good laugh. "La Source" and "Diana" have been seen on the variety stage time and again, and suffer by comparison. These are atoned for by "The Wave," a superb representation which was deservedly applauded. The picture showed the nude form of a lovely girl stretched at full length on the crest of a huge wave. The colour scheme reflects the greatest credit on the inventor and producer, and no praise is too high for the staging and lighting. With garlands of roses "The Nymphs" came next, followed by "Morning Star," another charming representation of a girl as a star standing just above the fringe of cloudland. "Despair," "The Three Graces," and "The Four Seasons" complete a very artistic and acceptable turn, well devised, well handled, and well put on. Austin and Cowan, Dora Bevis, and Carlisle and Wellmon also get numbers in the Holborn programme this week.

ISLINGTON EMPIRE.

This popular hall had capital Yuletide and New Year programmes, and patronage has been unstintingly bestowed as a consequence. The principal star was Arthur Roberts, who topped the bill, with his company, in Harry Pleon's sketch, The Importance of Being Another Man's Wife. It proved to be quite a lengthy and exceedingly humorous sketch, in which the old saying that one lie leads to another was very amusingly proved. Arthur Roberts himself, who played Fitzawful Smith, and eventually donned female attire, easily caused almost a constant roar of laughter, his gags and asides being quite in his own particular style. He received capital support from the Misses Nellie Lamport, Kitty Veine, J. Furneaux, and Jessie Burgwitz, and Mr. Harry J. Worth. The playlet was followed with the greatest interest, and Mr. Roberts was accorded an enthusiastic call at the close.

Kency Kay, billed as the "new original ventriloquist," submitted a particularly clever "spoof" act, his dummy proving to be, at the end of the turn, very much alive. The deception was very smartly effected, and the audience thoroughly enjoyed the manner in which they were taken in, there being an abundance of applause. Franco's Midgets proved to be talented conjurers, the final illusion with the birds and the cage gaining them a well-deserved call. The Sisters Julian, a couple of attractive young ladies, were very successful in a vocal number, and concluded with a well-executed dance, their reception being very hearty.

The Royal Tokio troupe, in a juggling, wire-walking, and acrobatic act, made one of the hits of the programme. Their acrobatic items were all very smart, and the top-spinning a revelation in itself. The final feat, that of walking up a rope from the stage to the gallery and then sliding down backwards, made most of the audience hold their breath, and it gained for the troupe many calls. The Camplins, in a double turn, did well, the gentleman being a good comedian and the lady a skilful dancer. The Eight 'Varsity Girls, in a vocal show, scored a success, two of the ladies proving themselves to be the possessors of good voices, and another giving a smart dance. Gus Harris, in an elaborate scena, "'Tis Primrose Day," has a show which has great interest in these exciting times. He contrives to present a remarkably lifelike portrayal of Lord Beaconsfield. The special scenery effects, together with the choir, invest the show with great interest, and the artist's reception was very flattering. Joe Archer scored his usual success, telling any number of funny stories, and singing "Kelly's gone to kingdom come," a song with a very catchy chorus, which was lustily sung by the "gods." On the evening of our visit a little girl, called Dolly England, gave an extra turn, singing a couple of songs with great self-possession, the house giving her a very cordial greeting. The Bioscope was very amusing; and Kathleen Cogan, comedienne, was also in the bill. The orchestra renders invaluable aid, and Mr. B. Adams, the manager, is very courteous and attentive in front.

(For other Variety Theatre Notices, see pages 22 and 23.)

THE attraction at the Hoyland Hippodrome this week is Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley's company in A Soldier's Honour. Mr. T. Arthur Ellis is a manly Captain Jack Dean; and a sinister Henry Thornton is found in Mr. Andrew Money. General Rochester (Mr. Ernest C. Edwards) and Holly (Mr. L. Ernest) are very good; and Mr. Jerrold H. Reed is all that can be desired as Captain Temple. The humorous element is well supplied by Miss Edie Macklin as Jemima Eliza, ably assisted by Miss Zara Leigh as Gwendoline Temple and Mr. Harry Lyndon as Percy Brattle. Miss Ida Lyndon is a sweet and sympathetic Doreen; and as Cora Lee, the adventuress, Miss Lilian Burns displays ability.

ELLISTON AND CO. are at the Borough Theatre, Wallsend, in a sketch, entitled My Lady Betty. The Monckton's provide a capital comedy sketch; Harry Licksen's acrobatic dogs show careful training and attention; Owen McGiveney is a clever impersonator of Dickens; the Millwards, in vaudeville act; the Taffies, Welsh entertainers; J. H. Clark and Chas. Torrain, vocalists, complete the programme.

"TRILBY."

Sketch, Produced at the Willesden Hippodrome on Monday, Jan. 17.

Svengali .....MR. CHARLES GARRY
The Laird (Sandy) .....MR. J. B. GORDON
Taffy .....MR. STEPHEN EWART
Little Billie .....MR. G. SAVILLE
Gecko .....MR. C. BERRIN
Trilby .....MISS GRACE ILLINGWORTH

Willesden has had an opportunity this week of witnessing something of a novelty on the music hall stage. On Monday Messrs. Garry and Gordon's company presented, for the first time, an excellent adaptation of George du Maurier's story Trilby. The first scene is laid in the studio of the "Three Musketeers of the Brush," and the second, after the lapse of five years, in the foyer of the Cirque des Bashibasouks, in Paris. The studio banter, the pretty incidents upon Trilby's entrance, Svengali's exercise of his mesmeric arts, and the subsequent annoyance on the part of the Laird, Taffy, and Little Billie are all presented in an artistic manner. Taffy in his love scene with Trilby, who tells him of her love for Little Billie, and Little Billie's departure and subsequent return, only to find that Trilby has disappeared, are excellent point.

After five years the three artists meet again in Paris, in better financial circumstances, at the Cirque des Bashibasouks, where there is appearing a famous singer, billed as "La Svengali." In the foyer, after the singer's first song, Svengali, who is accompanied by Trilby, is met by the three Englishmen. They ask her for a word of remembrance, but, being under the influence of Svengali, she denies, in monotone, all knowledge of them, as does Svengali himself. After Trilby has left the foyer to give an encore the mesmeric effect passes off, and she finds she cannot sing. She returns to the foyer, and, having recovered her natural senses, recognises her three friends and wonders where she is. While this is taking place Svengali, after further speech with the Laird, Taffy, and Little Billie, is overcome by a sudden illness, and falls dead across the table. Little Billie thereupon takes Trilby for his own, and the curtain falls.

The playlet is well written, and all the parts are capitally sustained, special mention being deserved by Mr. Charles Garry as Svengali and Miss Grace Illingworth in the character of Trilby. The music, scenery, &c., are distinctly good, and a long run may safely be predicted for this excellent sketch.

THE EMPRESS, BRIXTON.

The counter attraction and general excitement of the General Election notwithstanding, good business continues to be done at this cosy South London hall, where once again Manager Nelson Francis has prepared a most appetising bill for his numerous patrons. The pièce de resistance is undoubtedly the Vampire Dance, presented by Miss Mildred Deverez and Mr. Tom Terriss. This dance has already been commented upon at some length in these columns. The New Macs in their patter are original and mirth-provoking, and their quaint fooling makes their turn most enjoyable.

The Paul Corrix Trio are responsible for wonderful feats of strength, which they judiciously blend with some capital juggling. Neatness all through is the greatest charm of their turn. The Eight 'Varsity Girls show considerable ability as singers and dancers, each member contributing to the success achieved. Will Crackles has an amusing number in "Are you going to walk about all night," and also sings a funny widow song. Before concluding he demonstrates his ability as a dancer. A dainty little comedienne is Miss Rosie Gaston, who sings prettily a number entitled "She's the latest thing in widows." Afterwards she gives "Would anyone like to take me for a holiday?" which is so naïvely and demurely rendered that its scoring power is greatly enhanced.

An amusing little sketch is Consulting Counsel, most capably acted by Madge Lucas and company. A widow, desirous of remarrying, goes to consult a solicitor. Entering unannounced, she finds a man, arrayed in cap and gown, whom she takes to be the lawyer. He is, however, the lawyer's friend, who has merely popped in to see him, and, not finding him in, is killing time by trying on his wig and gown. The widow starts to explain her business and does not give her listener a chance to explain his position. After two or three ineffectual attempts to do so he resigns himself to the inevitable. When she has finished he is able to tell her who he is. She becomes furious, but after awhile regains her calm. He apologises; she accepts; and he will most likely attain the position of "second mate."

Another interesting little sketch is Jim's Pal, the latest success of Shirley and Ransome. A man down on his luck is taken in and cared for by an old mate. In return for this kindness he makes love to the good Samaritan's wife. The climax is reached when she tells her husband that either the visitor or she must leave the house at once. The husband, who puts implicit trust in his pal, and suspects nothing, is surprised, and as she advances no ground for her decision there is a little scene. On her departure for the supper beer the husband comes across a hidden letter which explains everything. On the wife's return she finds her husband with the letter in his hand. Now that his eyes have been opened and he has discovered the base ingratitude of the man he has befriended he is all too sorry. Strained relations make way for smoother ones; there is no longer any cause for misunderstanding, and the curtain is rung down to most deafening applause.

Jolly Jimmie Walker scores well in a couple of numbers, viz., "Have you seen my Angelina?" and "Don't forget to bolt the door, love"; and Estelle Collette proves herself to be a capital violinist. Other contributions to a most pleasant evening are the Milton Trio, Pete and Minnie Lee, Sadie Simpson, and Charles Williams. The pictures never fail to amuse. This week special arrangements have been made to give the latest election results. Mr. Francis L. Winchcombe, the popular acting-manager, looks after the comfort of his patrons in his usual capable manner.

MR. GEORGE CASELLI, brother to the Sisters Caselli, the well-known leg-mania dancers, opens on Monday next at the Paragon and the Palace, Greenwich. Mr. Caselli was formerly known as Stanhope Gordon.

MLLE. HELEN DUTRIEU, a Paris music-hall trick cyclist, made her first flight in a Santos Dumont monoplane at Issy-les-Moulineaux on Thursday, and broke the machine in descending. She was unhurt.

MR. JUSTICE WARRINGTON on Saturday granted an interim injunction, restraining Miss Gladys Maxwell and others from producing, at the Crouch End Hippodrome, a sketch, entitled May Day, on the ground that it was an infringement of the dramatic representations of the play Sunday, which was produced some years ago at the Comedy by Mr. Fred Terry and Miss Julia Neilson. Mr. Luxmore, who applied for the injunction on behalf of the authors of Sunday, said that the defendants had taken the first act of the play, and produced it as a sketch, without any alteration at all.

HIS LORDSHIP said that on the evidence before him there was as clear an infringement, not of copyright, but of representation, as one could have. If he let the matter stand over, and the sketch go on for another week, that would probably do very much more harm to the author of the play than it would do to the denfendants if he granted the injunction and it afterwards turned out he was wrong.

MUSIC HALL CELEBRITIES.

MISS SABLE FERN.

Aptly described as "a singer with a staccato enunciation," Sable Fern has popularised such famous songs as "What is the use of loving a girl?" "My lily of the valley," and "You can't stop the sun from shining." She usually appears in boy's attire, and for her latest success, "Teach the rising generation," she dons the familiar uniform of the Boy Scout. A copy of the song, it may be added, has been graciously accepted by his Majesty the King.

Miss Fern was born in Birmingham, and when but a schoolgirl in that town she applied and was accepted for a pantomime at the old Theatre Royal. After learning the choruses and attending several rehearsals, the producer, finding too many children had been engaged, told a few they were not wanted, and little Sable was one of them. Quite undaunted, she presented herself at the stage-door of the Gaiety Music Hall in answer to an advertisement of Mr. Selkirk for children for his Bonnie Scotland production. Here she met with success, and was given a song to sing. That is a little more than fifteen years ago, and she has been singing ever since.

In the early part of her career Miss Fern was waiting at home in Birmingham for something to turn up when she received the following telegram from Messrs. Oliver and Holmes: "Can you open Monday next at Leicester? Six pounds.—Fidgety, London." "Fidgety, London," was, of course, the telegraphic address, but she knew nothing about telegraphic addresses at that time, and turning to her mother she exclaimed: "Mother, look, they are fidgety; I must answer at once," and she did, thus: "Oliver and Holmes, York-road, London, S.E. 'All right, don't be fidgety; will go to Leicester next week.'"

Some time ago Miss Fern appeared at the London Coliseum as a cowboy, and having to make her entrance on horseback she accepted the invitation of a friend at Mortlake (a jobmaster) to take lessons in the equestrian art. Dressed for the occasion in a pair of cricket trousers, a fur coat, and hat she mounted her steed and commenced operations by cantering round the stable yard. Unfortunately the gate had been left open, and the horse, taking it into his head to find a wider field for the first lesson, gaily trotted out and, before he could be stopped, he was running through the little town of Mortlake with a rider who knew nothing whatever about horses. Fortunately Miss Fern got safely out of her predicament, and was preserved to entertain music-hall audiences with her effective singing.

DAINTY DOLLY CLYFFE.

Miss Dolly Clyffe was discovered a few months ago by Mr. J. Farrow, an Oldham song-writer. When he heard her sing he told her mother that there were great possibilities in the child—she is only fourteen—and if she would give him permission he would fit her with songs and place her on the stage. That permission being granted, no time was wasted, for six weeks afterwards she had been acclaimed a success, having given a trial show at the Royal Theatre, Oldham, to an enthusiastic audience. Mr. Farrow had, in the meantime, apprised Mr. Dottridge of his find, and that gentleman saw the little lady perform. He also decided that she would be a valuable acquisition to the variety stage, and asked Mr. Farrow to allow him to be her sole agent. Mr. Farrow having signed to that effect, Miss Clyffe can boast the experience of a non-stop run from the date of her first engagement to well into next year. At present she sings two songs, namely, "Is there anybody here named Charlie?" and "Blackpool-by-the-Sea," both written and composed by her business manager, Mr. Farrow.

When at Warrington Theatre Royal, Mr. Jack Waters, the manager of that house, asked Miss Clyffe if she would sing for a party of gentlemen at the Conservative Club, to which request the maiden readily assented. At the close of her entertainment she was rewarded with a nice sum of money and a large box of chocolates. Her press notices have all been of a flattering nature, whilst her receptions are always good. Miss Dolly says she is sorry she is unable to dance. All she can do, she informs us, is to "wink and pull faces."

MISS LILY BRAMMER is the Maid Marion in Andie Caine's pantomime, which is paying a return visit to the East Ham Palace this week. The little lady has scored another success in "I wish I lived next door to you," followed by a neat step-dance.

CAMBERWELL EMPIRE.

If any man is a good judge of a turn that man is Mr. Jesse Sparrow, who holds sway at the Empire, Camberwell. Mr. Sparrow has to his credit the finding of many an artist who is now a star. Indeed this gentleman claims to be a star-finder and loudly proclaims on his bills that his programmes are not made up of well-known names, but that nevertheless every artist is a gem. Although the current week's menu is an excellent one there is a single name in it that calls for special attention. That name is Graham, and Graham describes himself as a human marionette. He is all that and more. He is an excellent actor and mimic, a good singer, a clever inventor, and unmistakably a fine producer and master of stage craft. We confess Graham has set us a hard task to describe his act, for we have no praise too high for it, and there is just the chance that the reader may think our comments fulsome or extravagant.

The curtain goes up and we find a stage upon a stage. There is a mannikin orchestra of eleven performers, and seated just before it, is a chairman and his admirers, just as we remember him in the music hall of bygone days. This functionary suddenly stands up, raps the table with his hammer, and, in stentorian tones, announces that Mr. Geo. Leybourne will appear. Loud applause from the gentlemen seated at his table. Mr. Graham's head, fitted into the velvet black cloth appears attached to a marionette body, and we get a perfect make-up of the old-time star singing his famous song, "Champagne Charlie." This item is the cleverest piece of mimicry we remember to have seen of its class. Just as the mannikin chairman and his "pals" are vigorously applauding the song, another mannikin makes his appearance from the wings. This individual bears a silver salver, and, as the old-time waiter, demands loudly "Give your orders, gents!" and fetches and carries the beer at every opportunity during the turns in the funniest way imaginable. The wielder of the hammer next announces "Harry Rickards," the tiny conductor waves his baton, and we hear the strains of the famous old love ditty of the early eighties, "Cerulia was beautiful." This is another fine impersonation. In rapid succession we see and hear the stars of other days, faithfully portrayed, both in make-up, environment, and style. The great Vance sings us "Jolly dogs are we," Charles Coborn warbles once more "The man that broke the bank at Monte Carlo," G. W. Hunter tells us that "Nobody knows the trouble that was there," and Pat Feeney obliges with "Where the shamrock grows." One would scarcely have believed it possible that the successful songs of these men would have appealed to a to-day's audience, but the old melodies surely at the zenith of their success were never more heartily applauded than when Graham rendered them at the Camberwell Empire this week. The packed house rose and cheered itself hoarse on hearing songs it had probably read about, but never till now heard.

But if Graham was so successful with his imitations of bygone favourites, how much more so was he in the second half of his programme. There was a blackout after Pat Feeney, and when the lights went up ten seconds later we saw a modern proscenium opening, and Geo. Grossmith, jun., singing his Gaiety success, "Ip-i-addy-i-ay." He was followed by Vesta Victoria telling us that "Now I have to call him father." The concluding item was provided by a mannikin Harry Lauder, and a very faithful rendering of "Stop yer ticklin' Jock." Mr. Graham provides Lauder with a novel curtain to his act. After the song Harry starts to blow up his lilliputian bagpipes, and he distends the bag to such good effect that it explodes and presumably wrecks the show. In a very fine programme, Graham's was undoubtedly the turn of the night. We noted a representative of Marinelli's well after the act, with a view of booking it for Paris, but with all due respect to our Parisian friends it will be a thousand pities if our West End managers permit this excellent, novel, and original turn to leave the country.

Two old friends in the Sisters Jonghmans are another notable number in this bill. Their song "Ginger Brown," is undoubtedly a winner. The sisters are in good voice, are well dressed, and look as bright and bonny as ever they did. The Matt Wilkinson sketch, The Bumpkins, is well acted and a great laugh. It dealt with the trials and tribulations of a yokel and his sweetheart when they visit a registry office to get married. The other contributors to this programme are Gladys Scott, Davis and Deane, Kittie Bell (a splendid Scottish dancer), Ellis and Campbell (more Scotch and a very good brand too), Alan Holt's French playlet, La Gigolette, Dion Wade, and the Great Mackweys.

NEW CROSS EMPIRE.

A fine and varied programme is giving great pleasure to the crowded houses at each performance. Mr. Henry Ainley and Miss Suzanne Sheldon are appearing with considerable success in a cleverly-written episode by Cyril Twyford. As Mr. and Mrs. Vane, the two clever artists are seen to great advantage, and the audience are pleased to know that all is well with husband and wife when the sketch ends.

Maxey and Pete are very clever indeed as trick cyclists, and their efforts are rewarded with prolonged applause. Charming Miss Jenny Hartley won well-deserved applause for her song and dance; La Freya was greatly admired in her artistic performance, and the effects were novel and capitally worked; Hubert Connorton gave an excellent turn, both clever and amusing, and his ability was warmly recognised; the Mysterious Musician Toto was duly wondered at and applauded as a remarkable piece of mechanism; Billy Hobbs is an excellent coon vocalist and expert clog dancer who received his due share of appreciation and applause; the famous Cragge, whose name is sufficient guarantee of excellence in any turn they present, appeared in their latest acrobatic comedy sketch entitled Territorials; or, England's Last Hope; and the American Bioscope exhibited some new pictures, including The Sack Race.

The Empire Comedy Four appeared with success in their clever entertainment, consisting of excellently-rendered part songs and smart dialogue. They gave "Asleep in the deep" and "Take me up with you, dearie" in capital style. Zona Vevey made a great success, and was honoured with many recalls. Her scene My Lady's Bower is very pretty, and her entertainment, in which she is assisted by Max Erard, is clever and refined. Mr. C. W. Young is very popular in front of the house, as is his able lieutenant, Mr. H. Percy Parr, while Mr. Walter Smith capably manages the stage and Mr. Forbes Russell conducts the orchestra with skill.

AFTER a short but most successful tour in the provinces the Achmed Ibrahim Troupe again return to town, and open on Monday next at the London Pavilion and Empire, Holborn.

THE death is announced in Brixton from consumption, on the 9th inst., of Mr. Sidney W. Bint, son of Mr. Billie Bint by his first wife, Kate Leamar (of the Sisters Leamar).

THE funeral took place from 12, Burton-road, Brixton, on Friday, the 14th, the deceased being interred in the family grave at Tooting. Beautiful flowers were sent by his devoted wife Millie (Tempest), Billie Bint (father), Alice Leamar, Nellie Leamar, Aunt Carrie, Uncle Charlie, Mr. and Mrs. R. Baggally, Mr. P. Crackles, Miss Flo Morton, Nellie Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. G. Warwick, Mrs. O'Grady, Selina Seaforth, "A Faithful Servant," and many others.

VARIETY ARTISTS' FEDERATION.

FOURTH ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING.

The members of the Variety Artists' Federation, at their annual meeting held at the Bedford Head Hotel, Maiden-lane, Strand, on Sunday night last decided to secede from the General Federation of Trade Unions.

Mr. CLEMART, at the commencement of the meeting, announced that Mr. Russell, their chairman, was ill with internal trouble. Mr. Clemart had visited Mr. Russell. He has been examined by means of the X rays, and the doctor had ordered him to remain in bed.

Mr. FRED HERBERT was voted to the chair, and called upon Mr. Clemart to read Mr. Russell's address.

THE CHAIRMAN'S ADDRESS.

Ladies and gentlemen,—Mr. Clemart has probably explained to you the circumstances compelling my absence from the meeting to-night, and whilst deeply regretting my inability to attend, I should not like to pass out of office without a few words to the members, and some reference to the work of the year. I yield to no man in my appreciation of the zeal, ability, and self-sacrifice of my predecessor in this office, and I do not forget that in all he did he acted only as the mouthpiece of his executive committee, whose decisions he carried into effect with a fearlessness every man must admire, although not agreeing with those decisions. I did not agree with the procedure adopted in the Agency dispute, and it was in consequence of my attitude in this matter that when the late chairman resigned his office, so that no obstacle should stand in the way of a settlement, I was urged to take the position. I did so on the definite understanding that we should adopt moderation as our watchword, and give full effect to one of the avowed objects of the Federation, viz., "To promote industrial peace and progress by all amicable methods, and when difficulties do arise to assist in obtaining an equitable settlement by reasonable means." It was made perfectly clear at the outset that moderation did not mean weakness, or that we would relax in the slightest degree our efforts to adjust the legitimate grievances of our members, and we have lived up to that, for in no single instance has the Federation failed to assist its members to the utmost extent of its power. When a member has made a complaint, and attempts at a conciliatory settlement have failed, no effort—legal or otherwise—has been spared to obtain for the member his just dues. We have sometimes failed in the Law Courts, and there have, of course, been cases where the committee had to refuse legal assistance, in accordance with the rules, because our legal advisers had reported that we had no chance of winning. But I repeat, there has been no legitimate case brought before the committee which has not been dealt with to the full extent of our power. I claim that a large measure of success has attended the adoption of the policy of moderation. Several important and mutually satisfactory settlements were arrived at in the beginning of the year, which otherwise might have engendered much bitterness and cost a lot of money; but, generally speaking, there has been no disposition on the part of the proprietors to be "matey." The interpretation placed upon the "occupancy and possession" clause, both by Mr. Askwith and the law when we appealed to it, is an absolute injustice to the artist, and the methods to which some of the proprietors have resorted in order to avoid observing the spirit—as well as the letter—of the Arbitrator's Award, especially in regard to the payment for matinées, have been very discouraging. On the other hand, the settlement arrived at with Mr. Stoll on the Charity Matinée question was, to my mind, an eminently satisfactory solution of a very difficult problem, and the reference to arbitration of the Agency dispute ended in a complete victory for the Federation. The agents, through their association, have shown every desire to work amicably with the Federation. With regard to our membership of the Federation of Trades Unions, my brief experience has convinced me that it is a waste of money on our part. In respect of our membership, the long-drawn-out Agency dispute undoubtedly affected us very adversely. During the year 1908 3,867 blue cards were issued, and about 3,400 members were in actual benefit; but at the end of the year, whilst the Agency trouble was in progress, our books show that the members dropped out in large numbers, and when I came into office at the end of February last only 2,272 brown cards had been taken up. 417 old members subsequently came in, and 288 new members joined, so that our membership now is just nine short of 3,000. Financially our position is even better, and after paying out of this year's accounts £970 owing for last year's legal expenses, and £620 out of the general funds for emergency fund liabilities, incurred by the Agency dispute, and after that fund had been exhausted, we still have a balance of some £600 more than at this time last year, and all our liabilities have been met. There has been no half-crown levy this year, and we do not owe anybody. To me the most discouraging feature of the year has been the apathy of the members—particularly the more influential members—and their apparent lack of interest in the movement, as demonstrated by their absence from the executive and members' meetings. As many of you are aware, I do not propose to offer myself for re-election to the office of chairman, as some of my colleagues have urged me to do. Your chairman does not look for material reward; all he wants is a little appreciation for the very considerable amount of labour involved, and the support of those at whose instigation the duties were primarily undertaken. It has not been my lot to obtain that to any appreciable extent, and I feel that I have a just cause of complaint against those of my colleagues who urged me to take this position a year ago, but who have been conspicuous only by their absence from the deliberations of the executive. I appeal to those who have the welfare of this Federation at heart, whose names stand high on the roll of fame, and who consequently carry some weight, to take a greater interest in the work, and not to let the burden rest solely on the shoulders of the willing few.

The next item on the agenda was the appointment of scrutineers and tellers. They would receive a fee of £3 3s. each for their services. Messrs. George Fredericks, Edie Comet, Fred Dunstan, and R. Wishart were unanimously appointed.

Mr. CLEMART, the general secretary, then presented his report.

THE GENERAL SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The year 1909, with the exception of the earlier weeks in January, has been one of comparative quiet as compared to former years. The opening of the year found the Federation still in dispute with the agents. Negotiations had been commenced under the auspices of the General Federation of Trade Unions, with a view to arbitration, but these negotiations came to a deadlock when the agents, supported by the General Federation of Trade Unions, wished to submit to the arbitrator the question: "Should an artist be permitted to act as an agent?" This the V.A.F. representatives refused to agree to, and the General Federation of Trade Unions withdrew from the matter. A mass meeting was called to consider the matter at Terry's Theatre, London, on Sunday, Jan. 10, and at this meeting Mr. Joe O'Gorman, the chairman of the Federation since its inception, seeing that he was the stumbling-block in the way of a settlement, and not wishing to prolong a struggle which was inflicting great hardship on a number of the members, tendered his resignation. His deed of self-sacrifice undoubtedly saved the Federation at one of the most crucial points of its existence, and at a cost which probably no one has realised. Mr. O'Gorman is still an active member of the Federation. On Jan. 13 the representatives of the Agents' Association and the Variety Artists' Federation met, and the arbitration, which concluded on Feb. 12, was arranged. The official award was published on Feb. 18, and by that award the variety profession was at last released almost entirely from that injustice known to all artists as "the re-engagement clause." There now exists only one condition under which an agent can claim commission on the "next" engagement, and that is on an engagement of eight weeks or less, if made with a management with whom the artist has never previously appeared, and then this right to commission vanishes if the next engagement is not secured for the artist within the next three months. The value of this new condition means thousands of pounds in artists' pockets. The relationship between the Agents' Association and the V.A.F. are at present most friendly, and an arrangement whereby disputes between agents and artists shall be settled by a Board of Arbitration, composed of two agents and two artists, has practically been agreed upon. On April 14, Messrs. Fred Russell, Joe Elvin, and the general secretary were appointed to meet Mr. Oswald Stoll, with a view to coming to an arrangement in reference to charity matinées. It was agreed that the permission of the V.A.F. should be no longer necessary, providing a statement to the effect that the entire proceeds, without any deductions whatever, were to be given to the charity in question. In return, Mr. Stoll agreed to give annually the free use of three of the theatres under his control, one each in London, Liverpool, and Manchester, for the purposes of charity matinées in aid of the Variety Artists' Benevolent Fund. The first of these was held at the London Coliseum, on Dec. 21 last, and realised over £300. It should here be mentioned that charity matinées not run on these conditions are still subject to the old terms, as are anniversaries and benefits. Another of the important events of the year has been the enquiry by a joint Parliamentary Committee into the question of the licensing of theatres and music halls, with the result that that committee has recommended to Parliament "a single licence for all places of entertainment." This recommendation has yet to become law. With a few exceptions managers are gradually settling down to the award. There have been occasional complaints to the arbitrator, chiefly on the evasion, directly or indirectly, of matinée payment. The managements of the Empress, Brixton, the Empire, Shoreditch, the Hippodrome, Wigan, the Pavilion, Glasgow, and the Barrasford circuit were all proved guilty in front of him, of having issued contracts to include matinées without extra payment. The management of the Tivoli and Oxford, London, in several cases did not allow certain of our members to appear at the usual Saturday matinée, on the grounds that they were not "required." A test action was taken by the Federation, and the judge gave a verdict in favour of the artists. We thank the International Artists' Lodge, and its president, Mr. Konorah, through whose instrumentality we are now affiliated to our brother and sister artists in France. Their Association is known as the Union Syndicale des Artists Lyrique de France, and we welcome them, and trust that this new affiliation will be to mutual advantage. We thank the White Rats of America for the great assistance they have rendered to members of the V.A.F. in America. We thank our 179 V.A.F. agents in the provinces, our scrutineers, our 143 members who carry stamps for sale, our solicitor, Mr. Eugene Judge, and we thank Mr. Chas. Doughty, standing counsel to the Federation, who so ably fights for us. We have two awards. We are prepared to abide by them, and we have every right to expect that all parties concerned will honorably and faithfully do the same. In the meantime, evasion of the award, or of the spirit of the award, will be vigorously protested against by every means in our power. All we want is peace with honour. (Prolonged applause.)

The adoption of the secretary's report was proposed by Mr. GEORGE FREDERICKS, seconded by Mr. HARRY MASON, and carried unanimously.

It was stated that last year the Federation had started the year with £1,325, and it was about £620 better off this year. The balance sheet was only up to Dec. 31, since which date about £150 had come in, the assets of the Federation thereby amounting to over £2,000.

Mr. C. C. BARTRAM then submitted the report and balance sheet of The Performer, explaining at full length the various details in connection therewith. Mr. ROSSI ASHTON proposed, Mr. VAN BERN seconded, that the Performer balance sheet and report be adopted, which was done.

Speaking on the General Federation of Trade Unions, Mr. CLEMART said that last year the Federation found that the agency trouble was getting rather greater than it should have been because the managers had gone in with the agents, and were supporting them. They had asked the General Federation of Trade Unions to intervene, chiefly with the idea that they should use that big moral force they are always cramming down people's throats, and go to the managers and say: If you don't keep out of this fight and leave the artists to fight their battle with the agents, we shall have to say to all our members—when we have investigated it and found that it is true—we shall have to pass the word to the millions of trade unionists whom we control, and ask them not to go to your halls. The G.F.T.U. immediately said, Before we can take any such step as this we shall have to offer the agents arbitration; but we don't think they will have it. Are you agreeable to go to arbitration? The V.A.F. was agreeable to go to arbitration on the points laid down, that is, how much the commission should be; whether it should be collected by the managers; and whether there should be any re-engagement clause or not, and if so what time limit. Those were the points agreed upon. They reported to the V.A.F. about the end of 1908 that the agents were agreeable to go to arbitration.

Mr. CLEMART continued: We met them, either on Dec. 30 to 31 to draw up terms of reference to go before the arbitrator who might be appointed. The same day Mr. Appleton also met the agent's representatives to draw up terms of reference. Mr. Appleton then came along with the suggestion that in addition to those terms we already had agreed upon, we should agree that the question of whether an artist should be an agent should be submitted to arbitration. Our representations agreed that this was introducing new matter, that it was not a question for an arbitrator to decide upon, and was not one of the questions in dispute. Mr. Lee and myself, with Mr. O'Gorman and Mr. Pink, agreed that we would not accept it, and asked why the suggestion was introduced. Mr. Appleton said, "Well, if you don't accept it there the matter ends." I said, "Do you mean to tell me that if we don't agree to go to arbitration upon this that the General Federation, to whom we are paying our subscriptions, will absolutely refuse to have anything more to do with the matter, and will walk out?" He said, "We shall wash our hands of the matter." The General Federation did wash their hands of it, and we had to face the situation ourselves. We went to Arbitration, but we did it all without them. They did nothing but talk, and that is all we ever got out of the Federation of Trade Unions. They cannot understand music hall artists earning £10 or so a week—which is perhaps a fortune to most of them—grumbling. In the autumn, as you know, we found ourselves in a dilemma over the lowering of salaries at the Holborn, in order to make up the matinée payments. We knew perfectly well that we could not go to Mr. Askwith on it. We have had the question before him previously, and Mr. Askwith always tells us that if a manager pays one-twelfth or one seventh of the salary for matinées, in accordance with his contract, that man is not breaking the award, and that he had nothing to do with the fixing of salaries, and if an artist did not like it he should not sign it. You cannot convince Mr. Askwith, because he is a lawyer, and only looks at the legal side of it, that an artist has to sign such a contract for Holborn or else he will not get the rest of the tour. Mr. Gibbons had broken his word, and, therefore, we felt justified in dealing with Mr. Gibbons first. Now, I ask you what do we pay our money for to the General Federation of Trade Unions? We have never, and we never will, go to them for financial assistance; all we ask for is moral support, and that we have always gone without. Twice in twelve months they nearly talked us to death, and then said, "We are sorry, but we cannot go on." I am prepared to answer any questions, and I would like to ask Mr. Blake for his opinion personally of the conduct of the General Federation of Trade Unions.

Mr. ATLAS then proposed that "The Variety Artists' Federation disassociate themselves from the General Federation of Trade Unions." Mr. MOONEY seconded this proposition.

Mr. WINFIELD BLAKE said he was quite with Mr. Atlas and Mr. Mooney, and did not in the least see the necessity of continuing their relations with the G.F.T.U. any longer.

A unanimous vote of condolence to Mr. Russell in his lamentable illness concluded the meeting.

MISS MAUD ESMOND, the original singer of "I've been out with Charlie Brown," is still making an enormous success with this number, having sung it every week for a whole year.

FUNERAL OF MICHAEL NOLAN.

The funeral of the late well-known Irish comedian, Michael Nolan, took place on Saturday, the 15th, at Tooting Cemetery. The coffin, of polished oak, had the following inscription:—

MICHAEL PATRICK NOLAN,
Died Jan. 12, 1910,
Aged 42.
R.I.P.

The hearse was drawn by four horses, and there were five coaches, besides private broughams, motors, &c. The chief mourners were Mrs. Nolan (the widow), Herbert Nolan (son), Aggie Nolan (daughter), Mrs. Lee (a sister), and a niece, Mr. and Mrs. Pocock, and Dr. Walker, who had attended him devotedly for six or seven years.

A number of deceased's brother Water Rats formed a semi-circular avenue from the steps of the deceased's residence for some 30yds. or 40yds. down the centre of the road to the hearse.

Amongst others who followed and called at the house to pay their last respects to "poor Mike" were Messrs. Joe O'Gorman, Joe Elvin, Jack Lotto, Ben Brown, J. W. Cragg, Reed Pinaud, Papa Brown, Charles Austin, Fred Kitchen, Bob Leonard, Billy Manning, Percy Delevine, Harry Delevine, Marco, Geo. Leyton, Morney Cash, James Carroll, Syd Francis (Birmingham), Gus Marber, Barrett and Knowles, A. Martinetti, Albert Laurel, Harry Kitchen, Harry Ford, Jack Bland, A. Armstrong, Little Ganty, Alf. Lotto, Ada Cerito, W. P. Carey, T. C. Callaghan, Mike Asher, and Dick and Marie Kendal, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Brantford, and Mr. and Mrs. Geraldo.

The funeral arrangements were very ably carried out by Mr. W. Dunkley, Westminster Bridge-road.

The floral tributes—all very beautiful and in all sorts of designs—included wreaths from Agnes (Mrs. Nolan) and Mr. Bert Nolan, and a cross from Aggie Nolan. The Water Rats sent a very lofty lyre; a large wreath from the V.A.F.S.; a cushion, on which was "At Rest," from Mr. and Mrs. George Barclay; a large harp, with broken string, from Joe O'Gorman. Wreaths, columns, crosses, broken hearts, cushions, harps, &c., were also sent by the following:—Mr. and Mrs. Joe Elvin, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Stratton, Brothers Egbert, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lotto, Mr. and Mrs. Steve McCarthy (Miss Mary Kendal), Mr. and Mrs. Barney Armstrong, Mr. J. W. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Alf. Chester, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Best, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bijou, Mr. and Mrs. Will Poluski, Mr. and Mrs. Papa Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Alf. Lotto, Mr. Wal Pink, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Geraldo, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Brantford, Mr. and Mrs. J. Brammam, Mr. and Mrs. Syd May, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Darnley, Mr. and Mrs. Will Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Conlin (Birmingham), Mr. and Mrs. Syd Francis (Birmingham), Mr. and Mrs. Joe Waldron (Birkenhead), Mr. Alec Hurley, Mr. Pat Rafferty, Messrs. Drew and Alders, Mr. Mike Asher, Mr. Pat Doherty, the Barclay Family, Mrs. Field and family, Mr. Lew Lake, Mr. Fred Malcolm, Mr. Alec Hurley's Boys and Girls, Mr. Bob Wade, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bland, the Misses Croft, Mr. and Mrs. Uie Bryant (Bristol), Miss F. French, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Pratt, Dr. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Pocock, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Ganty, Mr. and Mrs. Sansome, and Mr. and Mrs. Proctor.

Telegrams of condolence were received from the following:—Mr. and Mrs. George Formby, Mr. Mahony, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lennard, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Holmes, Lee and Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Seeley, Mr. George Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Young, Miss Rosie Lloyd, Mr. Chalmers Mackey, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Conlin, the McConnells, Mr. Gus Elen, Mr. Dave O'Toole, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Elvin, Mr. and Mrs. Geraldo, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Randall, Mr. and Mrs. Will Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. B. Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Waldron, Miss Alice Maydue, Miss Kate Carney, the Craggs, Mr. and Mrs. O'Malley (Paddy), Mr. Fred Russell, Mr. Pat Carey, Miss Polly McConnell, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. Steve McCarthy, Mr. Mark Anthony, Williams and Warden and Mrs. Williams, Mr. Joe Tennyson, Mr. Johnny Dwyer, Mr. and Mrs. Alf. Lotto, Mr. and Miss Johnson, Ross and Grayson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mildare, Miss Egerton, Walter Stanley, the Orchids, Miss Florrie Heywood, Miss Amy Russell, the Smythsons, Mr. Edgar Hayes, Mr. Harry Clifford, Mr. Billy Brown, Miss Harriett Vernon, Mrs. Susan Lee (sister to M. Nolan), Mr. Bill Manning, Papa Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Gunnop, Miss Lily Marney, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Warren, Mr. Jack Lotto, Walter Munroe, and Mr. Bowker Andrews.

Letters of condolence were also received from the following:—Mr. J. W. Nolan, Mr. E. Macnab, Mr. Sydney Paxton, Mr. Cyril Pitch, Miss Pattie Blanchard, Mr. Alf. Sansome, Mr. H. B. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Greenholtz, Miss Edna Baugh, Mr. John Redmond, C.B.R.A., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Merrion, Miss F. French, Mrs. Deb Cameron, Mrs. H. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Newman, Mr. P. FLORAL TRIBUTES ON THE GRAVE OF THE LATE MICHAEL NOLAN, AT TOOTING CEMETERY.

LONDON VARIETY THEATRES.

THE PARAGON.

The genial manager, Mr. Jack B. Cohen, has provided an exceptionally strong programme for this week, a special feature being his nightly announcement of the Parliamentary Election results, which are looked forward to with much excitement. A most interesting comedy drama, The Matrimonial Fee, is submitted by Harry First and company. Mr. First's impersonation of the Hebrew is a capital piece of acting throughout.

Miss Madge Temple, the winsome Musical Comedy Queen, is quite delightful in her latest success "I'm looking for Mr. Wright," her second item being that popular number of Mr. Lester Barrett's, viz., "I used to sigh for the silvery moon," both choruses being heartily taken up by the major portion of the audience. Mr. Harry Russon, the actor-comedian, opens with a bright and catchy song, "The Idol of Boulogne," after which he recites that well-written barrack ballad, by Rudyard Kipling, entitled "Gunga Din," at the end of which he listens to rousing applause. King and Benson, the popular pair, are retained for another week, their clever and versatile act being greatly appreciated; Mr. Harry Herbert, a new comedian, possesses an extremely good style, and sings smart songs. He should go far. The King's College Boys in "The Students' Concert" are most entertaining, each performer proving himself a first-class singer. Wyndham and Wyatt in The Professor and His Pupil win shoals of applause for their bright little act, the funniosities of the pupil being exceedingly laughable. Both gentleman, too, possess voices which blend well in duets.

Miss Ella Shields is as popular as ever in her new numbers. The first relates to a figure from a waxwork show. The other, sung in a smart military uniform, displaying a neat figure, describes the kind of girl required by those in the army. Mr. Harry Taft relates many good Yiddisher stories which appeal to this particular audience, but his special feature is his whistling, which is very powerful. Doone and Donald are a clever comedy couple, the male partner being responsible for some tricky tumbling, and is ably assisted by the lady, whose dancing is decidedly good. Miss Ada Colley, prima donna, assisted by Mr. Penyston Miles at the piano, is in excellent voice, her rendering of "The Child of Spring" and "Dreamland" being quite delightful. Mr. Sam Williams, chorus comedian, has two catchy numbers in "Money speaks all languages" and "I must marry a girl by twelve o'clock to-night," the latter being particularly tuneful. Miss Marie Blythe, contralto, wins much applause for her songs "As long as it is home, sweet home" and "Say good-bye." Jack Hamilton's dancing is particularly good, and Les Frasettis, refined musical speciality artists, are exceedingly popular. Many interesting films are displayed.

THE BEDFORD.

Naturally during the current week all music hall audiences are eager to learn the latest state of the poll, and Mr. B. P. Lucas, in addition to his usual entertaining bill, made arrangements for the latest results, which his genial manager, Mr. Arthur Edwards, announced at frequent intervals throughout the performance, and the audiences were gratified to have the latest information so promptly. The current programme is indeed a varied one, and includes three sketches.

Chief honours in this line undoubtedly fell to Mr. F. Stuart Whyte and company, who present a fine historical drama, 1643, which deals with an episode in the great Rebellion. It is a capitally written little play, and admirably acted, while the staging is very fine, and the costumes of the period are faithfully reproduced. Lena Pinaud, a bright comedienne, has a good number in "Making eyes," and she finishes off her turn with a good dance. Paul Mill and his delightful company of singers, "The Courtiers," are making a very welcome return visit, introducing an entirely new répertoire, which meets with much approbation, which is richly deserved.

A very much appreciated comic sketch, Strategy, played by W. Theodore and company, deals with the attempt of an old uncle to restore harmony in the house of his nephew and his young wife. It is very amusing, and is played in the liveliest possible manner. A new style of living pictures is being presented by Alice Hoodless, who is giving representations of several modern pictures that have made their fame at the Royal Academy. Among the works presented are some by Blair Leighton and Yeend King, and they are all most artistically done, and the lighting effects are a special feature. Ben Albert, a great favourite in Camden Town, is going very strong this week with a couple of good songs. Bradley and Barnes, American comedy artists, sing some pretty numbers and score a success. Staffo, the Juggling Butcher Boy, gives a most diverting turn, his patter being very amusing at times, and he does some clever manipulation of plates. Unita and Paul give a fine acrobatic performance, and their feats of strength with the teeth are astounding, being very daring, but splendidly performed.

A striking sketch entitled English Slaves is given by Harold Brough and company, and it deals with the sweating system in the East End. It is written in a very dramatic manner, and is very well received. The Harry Russell Trio provide a quarter of an hour's uproarious mirth with their comic business, it can hardly be described as a sketch, though it borders on it; however, it is really very amusing, and the trio play together well, and keep the fun going. Miss Florry Cooper, always a favourite with her songs here, is deputising this week, and again scored heavily with her popular number, "Which is my mother's star." The Bioscope concludes a very varied and interesting programme.

THE Dulwich Philharmonic Society will give their first concert of the season at the Crystal Palace on Saturday next, Jan. 29, when they will give Sullivan's oratorio, The Martyr of Antioch, conducted by Mr. Douglas Rodman. The concert will commence at 7.30.

BEFORE Mr. Justice Darling on Saturday came the action brought by the Palace Theatre, Ltd., for an injunction restraining Mr. Cyril Clenay, music hall artist, from appearing at the Shepherd's Bush Empire and other places of amusement in London. The defendant, under an agreement dated Jan. 4, 1909, appeared at the Palace Theatre for a period of four weeks. He also agreed to renew his engagement early this year and not to perform in London prior to his reappearance at the Palace Theatre. On Oct. 18 last the defendant appeared at the Shepherd's Bush Empire, and an interim injunction was obtained. As no defence had been put in by the defendant, the learned counsel asked that the injunction should be made perpetual. Mr. Justice Darling gave judgment for the plaintiffs for a perpetual injunction in the terms asked for with costs.

A GRAND concert by the Crystal Palace Orchestral Society will be given at the Crystal Palace on Feb. 12 at 8 p.m., Mr. W. W. Hedgcock having arranged a most attractive programme. Verdi's Requiem has been chosen for this occasion, and will be personally conducted by Mr. Hedgcock. The society will be assisted by the Crystal Palace choir. The soloists include Miss Edith Evans, Miss Maria Yelland, Mr. Webster Millar, and Mr. Julien Henry. These concerts afford great interest to the music-loving public, and were very popular last year. It might be mentioned, by the way, that Mr. Walter W. Hedgcock, who is musical director of the Crystal Palace, very ably conducted the British Symphony Orchestra at the Coliseum on Sunday last.

THE SHOWMAN WORLD.

Successful Annual Meetings.

THE Showmen's Guild of Great Britain had a gloriously successful meeting at the World's Fair, Islington, on Wednesday last, Jan. 19. The Pillar Hall was overcrowded, and many were obliged to hear what they could of the speeches in the crowded passage leading to the hall. The president, Mr. P. Collins, in his opening speech, struck the right note. It was a jubilant one. They were gathered together to rejoice at the manifest success of their united efforts—the grand record of twenty-one years' hard and constant work. The claim for social status and justice and for the full rights of citizenship had been completely vindicated. No longer were showmen to be regarded as "roving vagabonds," but as entertainers of the people and as fairground traders, maintaining, legitimately, the people's popular open-air fairs, feasts, and wakes.

The Pioneers and Founders of the Guild.

AN "In Memoriam" note was struck when in the speeches both the president and the chaplain referred to the dead and gone heroes in Showland. Such names as James Dean, John Barker, Frank Bailey, T. Read, Tyler, Chamberlain, Newall, Randal Williams, Wm. Clark would ever be fragrant with the memory of their great and unselfish work for the good of others.

THE mention of the names of George Sanger, Joe Caddick, Mr. Pedgrift (of The Era), Mr. H. C. Stephens (late member for Hornsey), Mr. T. Gibson Bowles (M.P. for King's Lynn), and Earl Wemyss provoked cheers and applause. Then the stalwarts of the present hour—men who, happily for Showland, have maintained the honour and the interests of showpeople during the whole period of the Guild's organised life.

SUCH names as the chaplain, John and Patrick Collins, T. Hurst, John Wilmot, George Green, John, Henry, and Jacob Studt, and a host of others. Here, indeed, was reason more than sufficient for the ringing note of jubilation that marked the gathering.

The Financial Response.

THE generous response to the demand of the Guild for funds was indeed most gratifying. Who could resist the lead that the president gave when he (for his second year of office) gave the munificent subscription of fifty pounds?

MESSRS. R. GARRETT AND SONS, of Leiston, engineers, sent a cheque for five guineas; Messrs. C. Burrell and Sons, of Thetford, engineers, renewed their annual subscription of five pounds; Messrs. W. Foster and Co., engineers, Lincoln, gave two guineas; Mr. Wentworth (agent for Marenghi et Cie, of Paris and London) gave two guineas himself and one guinea for his firm; J. Bibby and Co., Manchester, one guinea; R. H. Mellor and Sons, Oldham, one guinea; the Great Central Railway, one guinea (per Mr. Tom Smith); and J. H. Creber, show printer, Plymouth, one guinea. Amongst the showmen subscribers for five guineas were John Studt, Wm. Haggar, Forrest Brothers, Charles Thurston, H. Thurston and Sons, and Wm. Murphy; subscribers for three guineas included Wm. Taylor, of the Cinema Palace at the World's Fair; Mr. W. Wilson, also of the World's Fair; Messrs. Toft and Turnbull, of Ireland; Messrs. Crecraft Bros., of Wales. Amongst the two guineas subscribers were Mr. T. Hurst, hon. secretary of the Guild; Mr. T. Clarke, of Kidderminster; J. Dooner and Son (Wales and the West); Robert Fossett, of circus fame, gave two guineas for the current year, and the Guild secretary acknowledges now a similar subscription of Mr. Fossett's for 1909. Amongst the guinea subscribers were Messrs. A. A. Strong (hon. solicitor), H. Kinder, Frank Turner, T. E. Read (the lessee of the World's Fair), H. Cariss, J. Johnson (theatre proprietor, Wales), Wm Hastings, and Mr. Andrew Purchase, of the menagerie, gave one pound. The subscriptions under one pound will be found given in the general list of members enrolled in another column. We have mentioned here the larger sums as indicating a healthy sign of growing recognition of responsibility on the part of leading showmen to provide for the protection of their trade and business and to finance a movement so manifestly successful for good in British show-life.

The Supper and Ball.

THE social event of the year is undoubtedly the World's Fair Supper and Ball. To this event crowd all the youth and beauty of showland. What a brilliant crowd it is—worthy of any class or profession in life! At the high table and at cross tables contiguous to it we noted the leading men and women in British show life. Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Kemp, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Studt, Mr. and Mrs. John Studt, Mr. and Mrs. John Collins, Mr. and Mrs. A. Ball, Mr. and Mrs. E. Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. S. Bolesworth, Mr. and Mrs. Crecraft, Mr. and Mrs. Kinder, Mr. and Mrs. G. Forrest, Mr. and Mrs. H. Forrest, Mr. and Mrs. Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. S. Mayne, Mr. and Mrs. J. Mayne. With the chairman (Mr. T. E. Read) sat the President of the Guild, Mr. P. Collins, the Guild Chaplain, the Rev. T. Horne, Mr. Fowler, Assistant Manager of the World's Fair, Mr. Frank Mellor, of Oldham, with many others whose names did not transpire. Other prominent guests included Messrs S. Mellor (Oldham), Fred Bibby (Manchester), T. Hurst (Manchester), G. W. A Norton (Penzance), Marshall Hill (Gloucester), D. Johnson (Leeds), Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Murphy (Leeds), Mr. and Mrs. Goldthorpe Marshall (Bradford), Mr. E. Geoghegan (Manchester), Mr. and Mrs. H. Wallis (Liverpool), Mr., Mrs., and Misses Taylor (of the World's Fair), Mr. and Mrs Hyatt, Mr. and Mrs. White, Mr. and Mrs. Irish, Mr. and Mrs. Pettigrove, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin, and two hundred more whose names are household words in showland. Indeed, it was necessary to quote the old phrase, a galaxy of "brave men and fair women," with the accent on the word "fair," as specially significant and appropriate.

The Speeches at the Supper.

AFTER the loyal toasts the toast of the evening was the time-honoured one, "Success to the United Kingdom Showmen and Vandwellers' Protection Association." This was proposed, briefly and well, by Mr. T. E. Read, and responded to by Mr. Fred Bibby, the Guild Chaplain, and the Guild President, with whose names the toast was associated. All three speakers testified to the increasing usefulness of the work of the old Vandwellers' Society, now affectionately spoken of as the Guild. Mr. Fred Bibby feelingly referred to his connection with the Society from its commencement at its Manchester centre. He was proud to remember how in its early days of aspiration and struggle he had given all the help in his power, and assured his hearers that he would continue to do in the future what he had done in the past. He warned the assemblage against any relaxation of their efforts to maintain what had been so hardly won. The faddist and the fanatic were still in the land. The enemies of showland were still at work. He had no doubt in the ultimate triumph of the Guild if the showmen and show women were loyal to their own interests and to the society that so strenuously and ably vindicated their cause.

THE Chaplain and the President, in responding after Mr. Bibby, referred in gratifying terms to the well won position of the society in public life as well as before Parliament. Both speakers were convinced of the necessity before British showmen of continuing their trade protection work, and educational and uplifting work of the Guild on the fairgrounds of the United Kingdom.

THE Guild Chaplain in most suitable terms proposed the toast of "The Chairman," Mr. T. E. Read, the host of the evening, and the lessee of the World's Fair.

MR. READ, in responding, said how great was the pleasure to him year by year to meet his showmen friends and colleagues at the World's Fair.

THE World's Fair, he claimed, was this year greater, brighter, and more successful than ever. It stood without its peer in showland. As long as he was able to control its destinies, they could rely on the World's Fair never lowering its standard or ceasing to aspire to even greater heights of endeavour and success. From his heart he thanked them for the great honour the toast had conferred upon him.

THE final toast—"The Chairman and Committee of the World's Fair Showmen's Supper and Ball"—was next honoured, and Mr. T. Hurst responded in well-chosen words.

THE National Anthem brought this part of the festival to a conclusion. The crowds of expectant dancers and the guests invaded the magnificent ballroom, beautifully decked for the occasion. Dancing was kept up until the wee hours of the morning.

LIST of showmen, &c., at the seventeenth annual Supper and Ball:—T. E. Read (lessee), Pat Collins, A. Ball, J. Collins, S. Forrest, W. Hancock, G. H. Kemp, F. Mellor, T. Hurst, J. Manders, J. Moule, W. Murphy, W. Pedley, H. Studt, Jacob Studt, Wm. Taylor, C. Thurston, W. H. Toft, D. Turnbull, J. Whiting, J. Wilmot, Frank Turner, J. Wentworth, H. Whiting, J. Bibby, C. Burrell, W. Foster, S. Mellor (Oldham), F. Mellor (Oldham), H. Thurston, W. Wilson, A. Purchase, G. Beach, A. Powell, H. Taylor, —. Hussey, —. Hussey, G. Taylor, C. Brown, T. White, W. Biddall, J. Manning, E. Hussey, W. Hussey, B. Pickard, A. Saunders, Shippobotham, F. Wombwell, J. Tronson, T. Irish, Hurst. Messrs. C. Hyatt, W. Wilson, J. Tronson, R. Turner, J. Hastings, F. Bibby, W. Slather, T. Hurst, T. White, W. Taylor, E. W. White, A. Ball, J. Thomas, W. Price, H. Taylor, J. Wentworth, F. Mellor presided at the head of the various tables.

Building Bye-Laws and Movable Structures.

A QUESTION of the greatest importance to travelling showmen and other traders using portable structures has come before a London stipendiary magistrate for decision. At the first hearing, after considerable argument, the Magistrate reserved his decision. Up to the time of going to press that decision has not reached us. What we want to point out to our showmen readers and others is that it is probable that some of the local authorities may attempt to read into the new Cinematograph Act powers of using their local Building Bye-laws and enforcing them upon showmen under the new Act.

An example of this kind has already come under our notice. The West Riding of Yorkshire (through its Clerk) has so misread the new Act as to conclude that they may bring all movable structures under the severe constructions of their stringent building bye-laws.

At the London Business Committee of the Guild, Messrs. G. Marshall and J. Proctor submitted copies of the local conditions which the West Riding proposed to enforce under the Act. As those conditions are obviously in excess of the Secretary of State's regulations, the Guild Executive is taking up the matter vigorously. The Guild Secretary has written in to the Clerk to the County Council seeking an interview. The Guild proposes to send as a deputation to the County Council the Rev. T. Horne and Messrs. G. Marshall and J. Procter.

There is an undoubted connection between the case of the travelling auctioneer, with his auction van and tent erection and the case of the showman with movable structures. We give the case of the travelling auctioneer as far as it has proceeded.

Is a Tent a Building?

At East Ham Police Court on Thursday, before the Stipendiary, W. J. Grubbe, Esq., Thomas Harrison, of the Lion Auction Mart, Barking-road, East Ham, was summoned by the East Ham Corporation for erecting and setting up a temporary and movable building without having applied to the Town Council for permission to do so.

The Town Clerk (Mr. Eustace Wilson) prosecuted on behalf of the Corporation; and Mr. George Elliott, K.C., and Mr. Louis Green appeared for the defendant.

The Town Clerk stated that the prosecution had been undertaken under the East Ham Improvements Act of 1898, section 38, which stated that no person should set up a temporary building without first having applied to the Council for permission so to do. In this case no plans had been deposited, although the building consisted of a tent and shed.

Mr. Elliott: I didn't think it was a shed.

Mr. Wilson: Well, we call it a shed.

Mr. Elliott: We can't stop you calling it that. You might call it a hat if you like.

The Borough Engineer gave formal evidence to the effect that no plans of the building had been deposited with the Council. In reply to his Worship, Mr. Campbell said that he should call an ordinary tent with poles resting on the ground a structure.

Mr. J. Birch, Assistant Surveyor, said the building consisted of a caravan on wheels, used as a sale van, with a tent in front of it. There was a wooden flooring, but he did not think it had any foundation.

His Worship: It seems to me that the whole question is whether or not a tent is a building. His Worship added that he had issued the summons, but at the time he did not know it was a tent. He would like to know if the Town Clerk had any legal decision as to what was a building

The Town Clerk: None, beyond what is described as new buildings. If it remains for more than seven days it becomes a building and not a tent.

In defence, Mr. Elliott said the defendant was what was known as a sort of "cheap Jack," and he travelled round the country with a caravan and tent, in which he sold Birmingham hardware and articles of that kind. He had not been to East Ham for six years, his circuit being so large that he did not get round to this favoured district very often. (Laughter.) The defendant had been summoned for setting up a temporary building, but under no circumstances could it be held that this tent was a building. The caravan was on wheels; it was removed from place to place, and was used as a storeroom for the goods to be sold, and nobody ever slept in it.

His Worship: It was a warehouse or ware tent.

Mr. Elliott: Yes. Counsel went on to say that the only object of the canvas was that people might come to the defendant's sale without personal discomfort in the winter time. The intention of the Act was not to deal with temporary buildings or tents of that kind, but buildings which might be inhabited, and in which they would have to consider sanitary and other aspects of the case.

His Worship reserved his decision.

THE SHOWMAN'S GUILD.

TWENTY-FIRST ANNUAL MEETING.

Unique interest was lent to the annual meeting of the Showman's Guild, held at the Agricultural Hall on Wednesday, by reason of the fact that it was the "coming of age" of the Society. The Guild, it may be recalled, was originally formed to combat a fanatical measure introduced into the House of Commons by a misguided member. The Guild emerged from the conflict crowned with victory, and has continued the work with unvarying success to the present day. Its popularity among show people was seen on Wednesday, when a crowded assembly listened with interest and cheered the various speeches with enthusiasm.

MR. PATRICK COLLINS, the president of the Guild, occupied the chair, supported by the Rev. T. Horne, organising chaplain, Mr. T. Watson-Wright, the Parliamentary solicitor, and Mr. John Studt. In opening the proceedings the chairman said—Ladies and gentlemen, it is now the coming of age of the Showman's Guild. It is just twenty-one years ago since its commencement in this very room, with such men as Lord George Sanger, the late Mr. Bailey, the late Mr. Dean, Mr. John Barker, and our old friend Joe Caddick. I am very glad to say we are stronger and better than ever in our lives, and our progress this year has been more rapid than ever. I may tell you there has been a bill brought in by Lord Clifford of Chudleigh on the same principle, but more drastic, than that of Smith of Coalville. When the Bill was brought before the House of Lords those gentlemen really thought we were nothing else but roving vagabonds, but when our Mr. Horne got through he showed to them that we were men of standing, men of principle, and proved that we were not vagabonds, but honest travelling entertainers. My impression is that that Bill, like George Smith's, will reach the waste paper basket. People have an idea that because they see us on a fairground and because we live in caravans that we are aliens. I am inclined to think that 90 per cent. of us are ratepayers and have a Parliamentary vote. (Hear, hear.) A good many of us could go to hotels, the same as Barnum and Bailey did when they came to England, but we would rather be in our own living vans, knowing that we were well catered for and among our people. The reason we have our living carriages is because it is more homely and we are amongst our own people, like our dear old friend, Sanger. (Cheers.) Certain people have the impression that we are rough in our work-a-day clothes and that we are idlers, but I would like to let some of those gentlemen build up and take down and see how they would like it. (Hear, hear.)

The Rise and Progress of the Guild.

The Rev. T. HORNE, who was enthusiastically received, said—Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen, it is with peculiar pleasure that I stand upon this platform this year, because I think we have not only attained our majority—not only come to our full age as an organised society—but have reached the most triumphant epoch in our history as a trades union—a society of men and women banded together for mutual benefit and protection. (Cheers.) It is an amazing thing to me to find wherever I go, to hold a meeting, to preach in a church, or to conduct a service in a show-booth on a fairground—how much the people of England know about the Showmen's Guild. Sometimes the "Showman's Parson" moves in really good society. I have been in the most calm and most solemn atmosphere—so solemn that I could have fallen asleep under its effect—the inner sanctuary of the highest society possible in this country—the House of Lords. I can assure you when I was standing the cross-fire of the members of the Select Committee of the House of Lords I did not feel in the least bit more agitated than I feel when I address an assembly like this. They said what they liked in their examination, and I gave them as good as they sent. They are really very delightful people. Radical as I am, if it were a question of voting for that fine company of delightful peers that had me in hand on that occasion I should be inclined to cast a vote in their favour. I say this because I want you to go away with your heads a few inches higher in the air, to feel what jolly good fellows you are, and what a splendid set of fellows I belong to. I want you to feel that you belong to a society that is universally respected, that is able to hold its own in all parts of the United Kingdom. Well, now, why you are able to hold you own is because, laboriously, slowly, but certainly most effectively, you have built up an organisation that is the most valuable thing you possess. It stands to defend you; it stands four-square against all attacks of enemies, not only converting our enemies, but making friends by the thousand. I often feel when I see a show booth crammed from end to end with people who cannot belong to us—an appreciative audience who listen with the greatest possible interest to what we have to say—that it is one of the most potent factors in building up for you and your children not only the patronage of the British public, but respect and admiration for the work we are trying to do.

Where the Guild Originated.

London cannot claim, Manchester cannot claim, Norwich cannot claim, there is no one town in this country that can claim the distinctive honour of being the place of origin of the Showman's Guild. Like all great movements, it started in several places. It was originated in London by that faithful band of showmen champions headed by George Sanger; in Manchester by James Bostock, James Dean, and twenty others, including yourself, sir (the chairman), and your brother; in Norwich by the splendid, almost single-handed, work of the late John Barker, the revered father of Mrs. Charles Thurston, and also supported by such veterans of the road as Henry Thurston and people who travelled that part of the country; in Scotland by men like John Wilmot, George Green, and scores of others. It is difficult to mention individual names, and it is sufficient to state that here in London, there in Manchester, as elsewhere, all were filled with the same desire to defend the character of the vandweller. They were vilified and calumniated by men who did it, I hope, in ignorance; but nevertheless they did it. They were held up to reproach as gipsies and aliens. It was to repel these attacks that the Guild was instituted. All honour, therefore, to Joe Caddick, whose pen has been wielded for us in the Press, and to women like Mrs. Tyler. We have been aided not only by the Press, but in Parliament. Such splendid men as Mr. Gibson Bowles—who, I am glad to see, has regained his seat at King's Lynn—and Mr. Henry Stevens in the House of Commons have defended our interests; in the House of Lords Earl Wemyss did the same. These men were in the front rank of our defenders. And in a little out-of-the-way Yorkshire village a poor insignificant parson, who saw that his friends the showmen were about to be persecuted, came to the front. He got more kicks than ha'pence, but he stood like a rock, and he "got there." And he is here to-day. (Cheers.) We have repelled every attack unjustly made upon the life and work of the travelling showman in those little places where so much mischief is done, where dirty, miserable local papers attacked the travelling showman, and Urban Councils read vexatious conditions into the bye-laws of the town. As soon as they came under our notice we answered clearly and promptly, and showed to the people of England that the showman was proud to hold up his head and claim the full rights of citizenship and of the ordinary laws of the realm.

The Vigilance of the Guild.

We have built up an organisation to defend every interest of yours that is threatened. During the time I have been engaged in this capacity I have endeavoured to keep you from wasting time over little jealousies and cross purposes. You do not pay to this Society to cheapen rents; you pay to this Society that your interests may be defended in Parliament in all parts of the country. If we had wasted our strength and money in little petty differences—which I know to many of you are trials almost insufferable—if the Society attempted to deal with the keen competitive elements, we should have been on the rocks years ago, and the business swept under by repressive legislation. (Cheers.) I want to keep to the moral, the educational, and the religious side of this movement. I showed to the Lords' Committee the photographs of Mrs. Taylor's dear children, upon the back of which she had written, "This does not look like a nomad of the road." That is what the kiddies of the fairground had been contemptuously called by one of the London evening papers, which added that they always escaped the school officer. Their lordships were also shown an album of 200 pictures of genuine showmen, which so interested them that they want to keep the album. (Cheers.) I also showed them pictures of the caravans where the aristocrats of the road dwelt, and explained how our children of the fairground are educated and fitted for the struggle of life. I ultimately placed my immense album before the Lords for their further consideration. (Cheers.) Now, with regard to the religious side of the Guild, which is supported by the bishops of the Church. I have had more meetings in Mr. Collins's shows than in any other on the road, and he can substantiate what I say. I am prepared to take up this position fearlessly, and say this, that nothing I have preached or said or done has ever been the means of unsettling the religious convictions of any man travelling the fairgrounds of this country. I have ministered at the death-beds of showpeople, and seen and heard the soul uplifted towards salvation, and I feel that whatever else may happen to me, God has truly called me to this work, and to this work is my life. I have said enough. There is a resolution to go before the meeting. (Cheers.)

The Resolution of Approval.

Mr. Geoffrey Norton, hon. local agent for the West of England, proposed the following resolution:—"That this meeting heartily approves the work of the Showman's Guild." It was the same with the business of the fairground, he said, as with others; combination for trade defence was absolutely necessary. Individually, they had no chance against unjust legislation, but bound together in the Showman's Guild, they could effectually protect themselves.

The resolution was seconded by Mr. MELLOR, who said he heartily appreciated the work done by the Showman's Guild.

Trade Defence Work.

Mr. T. Watson-Wright said:—"Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, I think you may indeed congratulate yourselves on the position you occupy in the country as a respectable class of citizens. You remember, when this Society was formed, in 1889, showpeople all over England were looked down upon and misunderstood. They felt that it was absolutely essential for their rights and their privileges as citizens, and, indeed, in the interests of their business, that they should form themselves into a Society. In that year you had to contend with George Smith and his Movable Dwellings Bill. Since then there have been many attempts to interfere with you, especially by County Councils and Borough Councils, who would have become all-powerful after the Local Government Act had come into working order. In 1895 it was seen that they were endeavouring by bye-laws to restrict you, and you would have been compelled to cease carrying on a business which you are legally entitled to. Thus it is that the Guild has taken up the defence, at the cost of a huge sum of money. Members of this Guild have always cheerfully subscribed all that was necessary, and will no doubt do so in the future. Since 1900, when these local governing bodies brought various Bills into Parliament containing clauses restrictive of and preventing you carrying on your business, this Association has dealt successfully with and opposed no less than sixty-five. Twenty-six petitions were laid against Bills, and when these have been brought before the House of Commons we have succeeded in causing the objectionable clauses on all occasions to be eliminated. In the last Session of Parliament you were attacked by a clause which we held to be ultra vires, that is, beyond the ordinary powers given to local authorities, that they were unconstitutional, and against the fundamental principles of English jurisprudence and liberty. When Parliament's attention was called to this they took the view they were obliged to take—that they could not permit the clause to become law. If they had succeeded in passing it, can you have the slightest shadow of doubt but that by now those seventy Bills would have been multiplied by five or ten times and created dangerous precedents that would have been copied by all other authorities seeking to get these powers from Parliament? The result of your opposition has been to prevent Parliamentary draftsmen including these clauses because they know there is no possibility of getting them through.

The Oldham Victory.

LAST year Oldham was approached by this Association, but would not withdraw the clauses which would have prevented you carrying on your business; but Oldham had to recognise, as other authorities have had to recognise, that they could not interfere with you in this matter. We opposed this Bill, and in spite of the cleverest counsel in Parliament—we had one equally as clever—the objectionable clauses were struck out. The committee held that the petitioners had been vexatiously treated, and gave costs against the Corporation of Oldham amounting to several hundreds of pounds, I am happy to tell you. What I desire to point out is that but for the work which the executive of this Association has undertaken you would have been absolutely wiped out of the business. In consequence of the efforts of the Rev. Horne and this Association to promote your interests, the House of Lords, the House of Commons, and all classes in the country recognise your claim to rights and privileges in common with all His Majesty's subjects. Instead of being looked down upon and misunderstood, you are to-day as respectable as any body of citizens, and so long as you proceed in the future as you have in the past there is no question that this Guild and its members will continue to prosper and progress. Supposing, for instance, that the Bill promoted by Kingston-on-Thames in the 'eighties had become law, the result would be that during the months of October and November no show booth could be brought into that borough. I never met in all my life clauses so contrary to the fundamental principles of English rights and privileges. The fair at Kingston was held in these months, therefore your rights were entirely abolished. This year so good has the work of the Association been that there have been promoted in Parliament but two Bills which can be said to affect you—one by the Borough of Hambleton, in Lancashire, and the other by Handsworth Corporation. With regard to the Hambleton Bill I think the Parliamentary draughtsman or Town Clerk could not have known that there was an Act passed last year called the Cinematograph Act, 1909, otherwise he would not have been so unwise as to put into a Bill of the Corporation of Handsworth powers to interfere with you in your business. You are fully protected in the Act of last Session, and representations will be made to the corporate body of Handsworth, who will be made to withdraw the objectionable clauses. In the case of Handsworth, they have gone in for the whole of the terrible clauses which we have had to fight from time to time, such as to obtain powers to make bye-laws for prescribing the hours during which any fair may be kept open and to preserve order therein. Then there are many other clauses, all absolutely contrary to the known principles of jurisprudence and law, and which will be opposed if they don't withdraw them. So long as you support the executive council of your Guild I believe that you are safe. Being safe, you will continue to conduct yourselves in such a way as to command the respect of all.

The resolution was carried unanimously.

Mr. BULL moved the following resolution:—"That this meeting accords its most sincere thanks to the president and executive officers for their past labours, and heartily thanks Mr. T. E. Read for his kindness in providing for this meeting."

The motion was seconded by Mr. JOHN STUDT, and carried nem con.

The hon. secretary, Mr. T. Hurst, read the following letters and telegram of apology for inability to be at the meeting:—

"Bickenham, Bournemouth,
"Wednesday.

"Dear Sir,—The Bishop of London is sorry that he cannot be present at your great gathering on the 19th. The Bishop sends all best wishes for the New Year.—Yours sincerely,

"ERIC HAMILTON (Act.-Sec.)."

"Olympia,
"Jan. 18, 1910.

"Dear Mr. Horne,—I am afraid I shall not be able to attend your meeting to-morrow, as I had been anticipating it with a certain amount of pleasurable interest. The more so, as having watched the growth of the Guild with almost paternal fondness, I rejoice in the fact that it has flourished and thrived through its infancy stage; and now it has attained its majority, I trust it will, with increasing strength, so make its presence and existence felt and acknowledged by the ever-increasing Puritanical faddist faction, whose greatest pleasure seems to be derived from the amount of pleasure they can prevent their fellows from enjoying. I was highly gratified to note the strong constitution of the various local committees, and I would, without any suspicion of egotism, tender a few words of advice to them on their duties. Let them always remember they have been promoted from the ranks, and it is not merely interest in the movement which will carry out our programme; it is enthusiasm and often self-denial that will be necessary to prove that the confidence in them has not been misplaced. Let them remember ours is not a one-man Guild, and it is their loyal duty to win recruits and keep them well drilled and informed on all matters concerning the progress of our work. They will, and do, have opportunities of pushing forward the work that it is utterly impossible for one man to undertake. Only consider the large fairs continually being held, and no one to rouse and foster any interest in the work, but merely letting matters slide until the expected visit of the hon. chaplain and organiser. I would recommend them, for instance, say on Sunday evenings, if no other means present themselves, to call an open meeting to talk matters over amongst the travellers present, and invite all who may consider they have a grievance or wish information on any matter. The committeeman should feel it his duty to investigate and report to yourself, so the executive would then be more in touch with the various phases of thought and suggested action amongst travellers generally. There is still a grand work to be done, and a great amount of prejudice to be overcome. Then, let all take their share and show the country we have thinkers and workers in our ranks marshalled by an energetic, earnest president, an indefatigable organiser, and a coterie of vice-presidents, all hard-headed business men. All that is now required is a strong united rank and file to silence all unfair interference with our legitimate business. Wishing you a grand and united meeting,—I remain, yours fraternally,

"JOE CADDICK.
"Gracechurch-street.

"To Rev. T. Horne, Showmen's Guild, Agricultural Hall, Islington.

"Extremely regret prevented by sudden and important business from being present to-day. Heartiest wishes to the showmen. Please put me down for guinea subscription.—Strong."

"Midland Railway, Leicester.

"To President Showman's Guild, Agricultural Hall, London.

"Wishing you successful meeting. Arrive about 1.40.—Bibby."

In inviting subscriptions to the funds of the Guild, Mr. Horne said that all the accounts that had been presented up to the end of the year had been met, and there was only a deficit of £17 due to the organising secretary, which he had no doubt would be more than covered by contributions at that meeting. He added that the sums would be properly spent, and any bond-fide member of the Guild could have a balance-sheet on application to the secretary. Responses to his appeal were immediately forthcoming to the following amounts:—

A vote of thanks was carried by acclamation to the chairman, who in acknowledgment advised his hearers always to uphold their Guild. He considered that they were banded together in the interests of the show public at large, and that so far as morality went they came out on top.

RINKING GOSSIP AND NOTICES.

Election Results at Earl's Court.

MR. P. W. WILLARD was first in the field with election results last Saturday. By arrangement with the Pall Mall Gazette not only was a special election edition printed on the great Empress rink, but whilst results were being printed they were also megaphoned to the excited throng of skaters on the floor from the elevated band stand. Rinkers would seem to be Unionist almost to a man, for in the majority of cases Unionist gains were received with the greatest enthusiasm, whilst groans loud and deep greeted a reverse. Such were Mr. Izod's admirable arrangements that but very few minutes were taken up in making the announcements, and thus the rinkers were enabled to be quite up to date whilst still enjoying their favourite pastime.

Rink Hockey at Earl's Court.

ON Thursday night a rink hockey match took place at Earl's Court between the Balham Ladies' R.H.C. and the Brighton Olympia Ladies' R.H.C. It furnished a briskly-contested game, each goal experiencing several narrow escapes. Y. Stevens played well all through for Balham. The first goal came from M. Ratcliffe, who scored for Brighton, but Y. Stevens managed to equalise. Eventually just on time Q. Ashdown scored for Brighton, which team won by 2 goals to 1. The teams were composed as follows:—Balham.—T. Deschamps, F. Malin, E. Malin, I. Stevens, and Y. Stevens. Brighton Olympia.—M. Moore, M. Ratcliffe, Q. Ashdown, D. Freason, and Mrs. Dunn. H. A. Cardin refereed, and E. Young was goal judge. It may here be mentioned that the Balham team was organised by Mr. Izod, the present Earl's Court manager, whilst he was in charge at Balham. The dexterity of the teams reflects the greatest credit to this gentleman's training.

Another Great Day at Earl's Court.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 16, is to be another great day in the annals of Earl's Court skating. So successful was last Friday's carnival, and so many applications for another having been received by Mr. Willard, it has been decided to hold the next as soon after St. Valentine's Day as the already existing arrangements of the rink would permit. Accordingly on Feb. 16 a second fancy-dress carnival will be held, at which prizes to the value of £200 will be put up for competition. These prizes are now on view on the rink daily, and include a solid silver candelabra, a solid silver centre-piece, 3ft. wide by 11in. high, surmounted by a model of a tiger in solid silver; a solid silver flower vase, 2ft. high, in chaste design, including water lilies cut in the metal, over which a cascade of water (worked in silver) softly flows; a solid silver rose-bowl; a fine silver set of fish knives and forks; a solid silver gong; a silver tea service; and many more desirable things worth competing for.

More Olympia Revels.

ANOTHER advertisement carnival will be held at Olympia on Friday evening, Feb. 4. Two weeks later, Feb. 18, a grand fancy dress carnival will be given, with 100 guineas in cash prizes.

The Skating Gymkhana.

THE Skating gymkhana, which was billed for to-day (Saturday) on the great rink of the Crystal Palace, has been indefinitely postponed; but, owing to the enormous success of the fancy dress carnival held on the 12th inst., it has been decided to hold another on the 16th of next month. These carnivals at the Palace seem to have become very popular, and, under the management of Mr. F. G. Stumcke, they are well and successfully arranged, while the huge rink gives great facilities for such events.

London Rink Hockey League.

THE match between Thornsett and Sydenham in the first division of the London League was to have been played at Cricklewood on Monday last. Owing to the indisposition of some of their team, however, Sydenham were obliged to scratch.

C. P. Engineers v. Outcasts.

THE Engineers continued their successful career in the first Division of the London Rink Hockey League, when the Outcasts were met and easily defeated at the Brixton Rink last Tuesday night. The Outcasts were completely outclassed, and Jones, the Engineers' goalkeper, had only to clear his charge on one occasion. R. P. Steytler scored twice, and H. A. Steytler and Richards once each before the interval. Result: Crystal Palace Engineers, 5 goals; Outcasts, 0.

Inter-Team Race at Brixton.

THE Brixton Rink was crowded last Wednesday night on the occasion of an inter-team race between the Brixton R.S.C. and Ilford R.S.C. The idea of inter-team matches originated from the National Skating Association with a view to popularising the sport, and already a representative match has been arranged between Birmingham and London, which will be decided shortly at the Brixton Skating Rink. The race was over a mile (14 laps), and ended in an easy win for Brixton. Besides the above event a fifteen-lap relay race was brought off, which was also won by the Brixton team. The contest was decided by points, the lowest aggregate winning. Mr. H. Brockman was referee.

Monohan Comes to Town.

AMERICA'S wizard on skates, the great Monohan, has been topping the bill this week at the Empire Palace, Portsmouth. Next week he will be starred at the Premier Rink, Finsbury Park, London.

Rink Waltzing at Blackheath.

ANOTHER attraction has been added to that popular rendezvous, Blackheath Skating Rink, in the shape of a full military band. Last week the Blackheath Waltzers challenged the waltzers of the Ilford Rink to "measure steps" with them. The event created great interest locally, and the hall was filled, whilst among those present were Mr. Morgan (Managing Director Skating Rinks, Ltd.), and Mr. Schran (Director). The exhibition was of the highest class, and the competition was keen, prizes being awarded to the best dancers in either team. In both waltzing and "two step" the honour of Blackheath was upheld. The prizes were presented by Mr. Reiss, th popular manager at Blackheath. The visitors then exchanged partners with the home team, and the merriment went on until it reached a fitting climax in a confetti battle. Mr. Reiss also presented the Ilford Rink with a four-pillar marble clock bearing the inscription: "Presented by the Blackheath Rink Waltzers to the Ilford Waltzers, Jan. 7, 1910."

Mile Handicap at Catford.

THERE was a large attendance at the Catford Rink on Thursday night, when a mile open handicap was decided. The times were not good, but some close finishes were seen. The rink is seventeen laps to the mile. Judges, Messrs. H. B. Renner, H. Oxley, and W. Hunt; starter, Mr. H. G. Brockman; timekeepers, Messrs. H. G. Brockman and R. Boxer; clerk of the course, Mr. H. B. Renner. Heat 1: F. H. Taylor, Catford S.S.C., 40 yards, 1; E. Clegg, Catford S.S.C., 35, 2. A good race all the way, only 2 yards separating the pair. Time, 4min. 17⅗sec. (Heat 2: H. Colley, Ealing R.S.C., 65, 1; W. J. Pace, Catford S.S.C., 10, 2. Colley led all the way, and won easily. Time, 4min. 24 3-5sec. Heat 3: H. A. Lock, Catford S.S.C., 55, 1; S. G. Nash, Brixton R.S.C., 80, 2. Lock soon passed Nash, and although the former fell, he won easily Time, 4min. 26 2-5sec. Heat 4: E. J. Colley, Ealing R.S.C., 50, 1; R. H. Webb, Ilford R.S.C., 35, 2. Webb fell in the tenth lap or he would have made a close finish. Time 4min., 21sec. Final: (H. Colley, 1; E. J. Colley, 2; F. H. Taylor, 3; E. Clegg (fastest loser), 4. A splendid race, and a close finish, H. Colley leading all the way. Clegg had a fall, but resumed. Time, 4min. 20 4-5sec.

Last Night's Clapton Carnival.

As we were going to press last night a grand fancy dress carnival was taking place at the Premier Rink de Luxe in Lower Clapton-road. This rink is considered one of the best equipped of its kind, and is easy of access from all parts of London, being near Hackney and Hackney Downs Stations, while trams and buses from all parts pass the doors. The number of rinkers who turned up in fancy dress pointed to the function being a huge success.

Hammersmith Opens To-day.

YESTERDAY (Friday) morning one of the prettiest little "turn-outs" seen for a long time drew up outside The Era office. It consisted of an elaborate gilt coach, drawn by six of the smallest possible ponies ever seen. A large crowd quickly assembled to admire the pretty little creatures, and from the coach stepped Mr. A. F. Wilson, who had chosen this novel if conspicuous way of driving up to The Era Office to negotiate for advertisement space for the opening of the Hammersmith rink, which he controls. The public will be admitted to this rink to-day (Saturday) at 3 o'clock.

Girls on the Rink.

THIS interesting subject is brightly dealt with in last week's Answers. "It is a remarkable fact," comments the writer, "that plump girls on skates are always laughing. They wobble round filled with mirth at the sight of the wonderful young man who skates on one toe, and find huge enjoyment in the grave, determined man who stumbles along, causing others to fall, but never falling himself. On the other hand, thin girls are usually sedate and self-centred. They betray no emotion, even though the instructor's skate comes off just as he is showing someone the way to imitate a streak of lightning. Then there is the demure, duty-must-be-done air with which the more expert of the girls on skates allow men friends to put an arm round their waist for the better performance of a feat. There is such a clear indication of 'After all, it's only skating!' in their expressions. That they really rather like a male's arm about their waists is the last thing you would imagine. There are the girls who can skate efficiently but not elaborately. You see them going round and round, ever and anon doing something vague and indefinite with their left feet; this is to hint untruthfully that they really know quite a lot of fancy movements, but do not perform them, for fear folks should think they were showing off. The expert feminine skater, who weaves intricate patterns with her feet as calmly as though she were merely buying a pound of butter, has an air of humility, suggesting that it is perfectly simple to do the 'inside-out edge.' If you speak to a girl amateur expert on skates about the instructress, she will always agree with you that the instructress does skate beautifully—oh, beautifully!—but adds that it is a pity that she does her hair in that funny way."

W. D. Nixon on Rink Scorching.

MR. W. D. NIXON, the late London manager to Messrs. Crawford and Wilkins, of the America Roller Rink Company, is now general manager of the Country Rinks, Ltd. He has been explaining in Pearson's Weekly various wrinkles which beginners in roller skaters would do well to bear in mind. Mr. Nixon is undoubtedly one of the finest organisers of skating rinks in the country, and his opinion is very valuable. His views on rink scorchers are very decided: "Skaters should always remember that 'scorching' on rollers is in the worst form. Indeed, in an almost equal degree 'the scorcher' on rollers is as great a nuisance as is the motor fiend, especially in traffic. And, as a general rule, the traffic on a roller skating rink is quite as heavy as it is on our highways and by-ways. In consequence, 'scorching' on rollers should always be avoided."

The Rexos Going Big.

THE Rexos open at the Empire, Leeds, next Monday. During their showing at Manchester a local scribe voiced it as his opinion that nothing seems impossible for Rexo to achieve on wheels, whilst his lady does some graceful interludes of a less thrilling nature. Life with the Rexos pair seems to run on very smooth wheels. One of Rexos' specialities is skates fitted with steel globes—one to each skate. Upon these he performs with great facility. Then reverting to the ordinary rollers he careers around in various extraordinary ways. He goes on one leg, he turns somersaults, he does whirlwind toe-spins, and taking a skate in each hand he goes round balancing on his hands, feet in the air. Finally, comes an imitation of a train, and here his realism is rampant. You only want a booking office and a luggage trolley and you might imagine yourself on a real journey. A cone-shaped semi-circular canvas affair is placed on the stage to represent a tunnel. It is only 16in. high, and perhaps 5ft. long, and when Rexo, representing the train, says he purposes to pass through it you smile. Rexo slides coolly up to it, then suddenly throws his feet out back and front to their full extremity, crouches horizontally until his body is in a recumbent position, and gliding along on the two extreme wheels of his skates passes completely under.

Extraordinary Skating Record

FROM Ballarat, Australia, it is reported that on Dec. 9 W. Ekardt started to beat the existing record of sixty-four hours for continuous skating, and completed his task on Dec. 11, having beaten the record by half an hour. He started early on Thursday morning, and during the two nights over which the skating extended he was constantly attended. The watchers engaged him in conversation in order to keep him awake. At the end of his test he did some fancy skating, and was in fairly good condition.

Fancy Costume for a Shilling.

THE season for fancy dress balls and skating carnivals is at hand. Originality in costume is, of course, a matter of great importance, and is regarded by many as an indispensable feature. The attainment of this puzzles many, and the proprietors of the famous dentifrice, Odol, come to the rescue with a number of suggestions. A good fabric, it seems, on which to work up a design is white taffetas—a dead white, like the opaque glass Odol flasks. The decorative articles, such as cardboard bottles, labels of various colours and sizes, miniature porcelain Odol flasks, and pictorial stamps, will be sent on receipt of letter of request enclosing postal order for a shilling to cover the cost of postage and packing. Address The Manager, Odol Chemical Works, 59-63, Park-street, London, S.E.

The Reign of the Roller.

CAN the Russian public be wooed from the ice to the rinks? That is a question yet to be answered. Anyhow, ubiquitous promoters of skating-rink companies are seeking fresh fields to conquer on the Continent. The invasion has now reached Russia, where the promoters hope to woo the people from the natural ice to the whirling wheels. British instructors from London are being sent to Russia to teach the art of roller-skating, owing to the development of the craze. Three of the best London instructors have been despatched to St. Petersburg. In addition to the rink opened in the Russian metropolis another has lately been opened at Odessa, where the people have enthusiastically welcomed this new pastime, although they have abundant opportunities for natural skating.

Bertha Doud Mack in Mourning.

THE sympathy of all who have met her will go out to Bertha Doud Mack, who received a cable from the States, in the early part of the week, informing here that her mother had died. As was intimated in The Era last week, Miss Mack intended to return to the States to see the last of her parent; but, as this is now out of the question, this fine skater will remain in England and fulfil her engagements. Miss Mack opens at the Walpole Hall, Ealing, next week.

Saturdays Only.

THE Ayr Pavilion has closed its daily sessions, but is to re-open on Saturdays from now till the summer.

Lady Havelock-Allan at Bishop Auckland.

THE first masquerade carnival was held at the Bishop Auckland Olympia on Wednesday evening of last week. Lady Havelock-Allan presented the prizes. A really marvellous turn on the skates was that rendered by Mr. Pet. Holland, the rink instructor.

Good Tidings from Bradford.

AT the Manningham Lane Rink, Bradford, a good attendance still continues. At the Towers Hall Rink good business is being done. The Coliseum Skating Rink, Duckworth Lane, the giant rink of the city, finds that even its vast floor space is not too much for its patronage. The Hippodrome Skating Rink, Barkerend-road, has come as a boon and a blessing to that district of the city, which previously had to go considerably further afield to enjoy the pastime.

A New Cardiff Rink.

AN additional roller-skating rendezvous has been opened in Queen-street, an excellently situated centre in Cardiff. The Olympia Roller Rink was opened under the management of Mr. A. Tetlow last Monday. There will be three sessions daily—11 to 1, 2.30 to 5, and 7 to 10.30. A feature of this new rink is that the charges will be fixed and moderate, and there will be no extras. Admission will be free to the morning session, but a charge of 6d. will be made for skates. At the afternoon session ladies will be admitted free, while gentlemen will be charged 6d., and there will, of course, be a charge of 6d. for skates. The skates used will be exclusively Richardson's. Instruction will be given free

Bentley's Success in Douglas.

PROFESSOR BENTLEY went over to the Isle of Man for one of the first nights at the Palace Rink, and has remained manager there until it was closed for the purpose of laying a new floor a week or so ago. Bentley is one of the finest trick skaters in this country to-day. Although only a youth so far as actual years are concerned, he is one of those young men who are lucky in possessing an old head, and throughout last season, when the Palace Rink was crowded, the conduct of the rink was all that could be desired. Mr. Bentley started the Palace Hockey Club, and trained racers who have won prizes in open competition in England. The Palace ring will reopen probably next month, and Bentley will be in charge again.

Eastbourne En Fete.

A "CARNIVAL MASQUE" at Devonshire Park, Eastbourne, last Thursday, partook largely of a competitive display of election colours. The rink was thronged with skaters in fancy costumes. Special prizes were given for the prettiest and most original election dresses. A naval and military roller-skating carnival on the Pier attracted a large gathering.

At the Glasgow Zoo.

BUSINESS at the Zoo Skating Rink, where reduced prices for admission now rule, continues lively and brisk. There are already numerous entries for the Two-Step and Waltz competitions arranged at the Zoo Rink for the evening of Jan. 27.

Hockey at Grantham.

LAST Saturday afternoon and evening the Grantham Premier Roller Skating Hockey Club initiated its fixture-list with two home matches against the Boston Premier Roller Skating Hockey Club. In the afternoon there was a crowded audience at the Rink in Wharf-road, and the game witnessed was of a very interesting character. The visitors played a good all-round match, and ran out winners by no fewer than 4 goals to 1. The "locals" were represented by—Kendal, goal; Sanderson, back; Turner (the scorer), centre; Ward, left; and Herbert, right. Mr. T. Peploe, the recently-appointed floor manager, officiated as referee. The evening match was much more exciting, as will be seen from the fact that at the interval Grantham were losing by 3 goals to 1. They improved wonderfully, however, and, chiefly on account of their smartness on the skates, they succeeded in making the score level a few seconds before the whistle sounded the end. The Grantham team at this match was—Holden, goal; Culley, back; Turner, centre; Ward, left; and Ford, right. Turner, Ford, and Ward were the scorers. Mr. R. Sanderson was the referee.

Prize Distribution at Hastings.

DURING last Saturday evening the prizes won by the competitors at the Political Fancy Dress Carnival of the previous Wednesday were distributed to the winners, and all the Election results known were announced from the platform by Mr. Leopold, amidst much enthusiasm. The management will shortly hold a Skating Gymkana.

A Poster Heroine.

A DELIGHTFUL feature of the masquerade carnival at Hove Rink was Miss Dorothy Cullum's splendid exhibition of fancy skating. Dudley Hardy, the well-known poster artist, has made this young lady famous on the hoardings. Miss Cullum may be said to be the last word in graceful skating.

"Barnyard" Carnival for Hove.

THE next carnival at the American Skating Rink, Selborne-road, Hove, has been fixed for Thursday, Feb. 17. It has been designated a "Barnyard"

RICHARDSON SKATES are the BEST in the WORLD.

They have held ALL WORLD'S RECORDS for twenty-four years, and every event of importance during the past few years, either fast or fancy has been won on RICHARDSON SKATES, including Harley Davidson's victory at Olympia Rink, London, February 26th, 1909.

STATEMENTS WHICH CANNOT BE DISPUTED:

The Richardson Ball Bearing Skate Co. positively equipped 80 per cent. of the Rinks operating in America. Sixty per cent. of the Rinks in this country operated by independent rink proprietors are equipped with Richardson Ball Bearing Skates.

Richardson Skates are the universal choice of, and used by, practically all the leading instructors, unless employed in rinks operated by other skate manufacturers. The Richardson is the most perfectly constructed Skate on the market. The front truck is under the ball of the foot, and the rear truck practically under the heel, which allows the skater to be over his work. This principle is acknowledged to be the best by the leading skaters of the world. Rear trucks extending back of heel only act as a leverage when skaters lose their balance.

The Richardson Ball Bearing Skate Factory have equipped more independent Rinks than all other manufacturers combined.

The repairs of Richardson Skates are 50 per cent. less than those of any other make, and the simplicity of construction makes it an easy matter to effect repairs.

Manufacturers: Richardson Ball Bearing Skate Co., Chicago, U.S.A.

carnival, and as far as possible visitors are asked to attire themselves for that occasion as barnyard characters. To heighten the effect a haystack will be erected in the centre of the spacious skating floor. Mr. Julius Kottaun's military band will be in attendance.

The Limerick Carnival.

THE second fancy masked and evening dress carnival at the Limerick Rink last week was a great success, and in point of brilliancy and attendance even eclipsed the function held immediately before Christmas. The entire scene was extremely attractive to the spectator as he watched the gay and festive throng gracefully gliding along either in the march past or in pairs, to lively music by the band of the Royal Munster Fusiliers. The promenades were crowded. It goes without saying that the rink has proved a great "draw," and certainly nothing is being left undone by the executive to cater for their ever-increasing patrons in a manner which cannot fail to be appreciated, and indeed the great success of the undertaking is an ample proof of the fact. The following is a list of the prize-winners at the carnival, judged by the spectators by means of ballot-cards:—Most Original Costume.—Ladies: 1, Miss K. O'Mara, "Pink Lamp-shade"; 2nd, Mrs. W. Ebrill, "Normandy Queen." Gentlemen: 1, Mr. J. Lynch, "Bottle of Bass"; 2, Mr. R. T. Hartigan, "Puss in Boots." Best Dressed.—Ladies. 1, Mrs. Jas. Goodbody, "Early Victorian"; 2, Mrs. Coogan, "Lady Crusader." Gentlemen: 1, Captain Tynte, "Black Hussar": 2, Mr. de Ros Rose, "Brigand." Most Comic Costume.—Ladies: 1, Mrs. Keays, "Old Woman all the ways from Connemara"; 2, Miss K. O'Mara, "Rinking Improves Figure." Gentlemen: 1, Mr. J. Glazier, "Old-Age Pensioner"; 2, Mr. Desmond Arthur, "Ballet Girl." Most Graceful Couple.—1, Miss K. O'Mara and Mr. Rex Anderson; 2, Miss C. O'Sullivan and Mr. Keating.

Liverpool's Premier Rink.

AT the Premier Skating Rink this week the attraction is the fancy skating performance of the Chilton-Heyes Sisters. These ladies are among the foremost professionals. An excellent exhibition of trick skating and waltz and two-step was given.

Coming Carnival at Mansfield.

EXHIBITIONS of fancy skating are given daily by Mr. Chinn at Prince's Rink, Mansfield, and prizes for speed are given weekly by the management. A fancy dress carnival is one of the tit-bits promised in the near future.

Forthcoming Race at Norwich.

THE interests of roller skaters are to be provided for this year at Norwich Charity Sports on Whit Tuesday (May 17). At this festival, the oldest charity sports in England, there will be a race on a well-banked track of three laps to the mile, and no doubt many of our leading men will take the opportunity to compete.

Doris and Gentil in Sheffield.

A UNIQUE fancy skating exhibition was given at the Empire Roller Rink (Aizlewood-road, Sheffield) last Friday night, by Gentil, the Brazilian champion, and "Little Doris," the wonderful ten-year-old girl skater. The show, which included some daring feats on the part of Gentil, met with marked appreciation. "Little Doris" is remarkably clever on rollers.

Worthing's Outdoor Rink.

THE new outdoor skating ring on Worthing Pier was opened last week. The floor, which is described as the outdoor maple, and has been laid by the "Firmit" Flooring Company, of Blackpool, contains a skating area of nearly 1,000 square yards.

Lady Mostyn's Rinking Party.

LADY MOSTYN gave a most successful rinking party the other day at Wrexham.

EALING HIPPODROME.

When, in 1812, Jakob Ludwig Grimm wrote, in his Fairy Tales, of the Babes in the Wood, he could have had but little idea of how the daring hand of the modern pantomime librettist would make a sort of mincemeat of his pretty story, but so it is, and Mr. Joe Collins, in preparing his two hours of mirth and fun, has availed himself of all the devices that up-to-date stagecraft has placed ready to his hand. His wicked uncle is more comic than he is usually made, the two cutthroats are not abnormally bloodthirsty, while the babes themselves soon show that, wit for wit, they are quite the equal of their would-be abductors.

Beautiful cloths have been painted for the production, the melodies are tuneful, though some of the more modern numbers which we have learnt to expect in a pantomime are absent, the dresses are handsome, and the dancing of the Collins Sextette most graceful. In Scene I, Sweet Auburn, the Village of the Plain, we are introduced to most of the cast. The postman (Mr. Charles Paton) arrives with a notice of eviction for Mrs. Pankake (Mr. Fred Webb), and a chorus of village maidens gives a spirited ensemble of "Hurrah, hurrah, hurrah!" Baron Stoney de Broke now appears, but hearing that the nurse has inherited £50,000, revokes the eviction and proposes marriage. Sammy Nothing (Mr. J. Graydon) and Tommy Less (Mr. B. Lyle), the two villains, hover in the distance, while Maid Marion (Miss Mabel Mignon) warbles prettily of "The boy I pictured in my dreams," and soon Robin Hood (Miss Mildred Bryan) replies in a robust number, "Off to the wars," and, with the entrance of the babes, Herbert and Minnie (the Misses Connie Hasledon and Lulu Clayton), we enter Scene 2, Lover's Lane. Here the Baroness sings of how "Her love is pure," like a celebrated chocolate—and the two villains are heard maturing their wicked plot to abduct the babes, and in Scene 3 the innocent (?) children are seen at a "dame" school. To the school come also Maid Helen (Miss Ethel Lyle) and Llorgie, her sweetheart. Here the song "Good-bye" (Maid Helen) is heard, and, coupled with an expert piece of acrobatic dancing, is most effective, and aroused the first really hearty applause. With a spirited chorus, "Good-bye to school," tuition comes to an end, and the children are carried off.

On the Path by the River, the babes and their captors are seen making their way for "Farthest North"; and in Scene 5, a beautiful "cut," the Pole itself is reached. Tired with their wanderings, the children fall asleep, and while they dream, a gracefully executed skipping-rope dance is given by the sextette. "Who shall wake the babes?" is now asked, and Mister Teddy Bear undertakes the task. With the entry of Robin and his merrie men it is seen that the two villains have failed in their plan of abduction. With Scene 6, the returned wanderers arrive in the neighbourhood of the Baron's Castle. Robin's pardon, reinstating him in his Earldom of Huntingdon, is placed in his hands, and every one prepares their prettiest dresses for the morrow's celebration of the nuptials of the Earl and Maid Marian. Scene 7, The Earl of Huntingdon's Palace, is an effective setting for the procession which brings the pantomime to an end. Mr. W. Meadows is the musical director for Mr. J. Collins and Mr. George de Lara his general manager.

THE Theatres Committee of the L.C.C. have agreed to receive a deputation from the four Societies who addressed the Home Secretary on the matter of Sunday entertainments on Wednesday next, the same day on which the joint deputation from the Cinematograph Defence League, &c., are to be received. The representatives of the artists, actors, musicians, and employees meet today to prepare the statement on their case for the committee.

NOTICE.—OPTION CLAUSE.

COUNSEL WAS REQUESTED TO ADVISE

Whether, having regard to the terms of Clause 16 in the model contract attached to the Arbitrator's Award, the Management are entitled to insist upon the exercise of their option.

(a) In the event of the Artiste having filled by engagements made either wholly or partly after the date of the contract, all vacant dates within 18 months after the date of the notice of intention to exercise the option, and

(b) In the event of the Artiste having, in similar manner, partly filled his time so that the number of vacant dates within that period is insufficient to comply with the option,

COUNSEL'S OPINION.

In my opinion the clause requires the Artiste so to arrange his or her engagements, made after the date of the contract with the Management as to render it possible for the artiste to fulfil a re-engagement with the Management, should the latter exercise the option conferred upon them by the contract; and that it is no answer for the Artiste to say that he or she cannot fulfil such re-engagement because of engagements made by him or by her after the date of the contract.

(a) In my opinion the Management are entitled to insist upon the exercise of their option, although the Artiste may have filled up all vacant dates within 18 months after the date of the notice of intention to exercise the option, provided such engagements were made wholly after the date of the contract. So far as these engagements were made before the date of the contract, the Artiste is entitled to fulfil them, and the Management cannot insist upon such engagements being a breach of the artist's contract with them.

(b) In my opinion the Artiste is bound to reserve sufficient dates to enable him to fulfil a re-engagement by the Management. If, therefore, he accepts engagements after the date of the contract which prevent him fulfilling his re-engagement in its entirety, he commits a breach of his re-engagement.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

RE APPLICATIONS FOR ENGAGEMENTS.—All applications by either Artists or their Agents must be made to the Head Office. Lowest terms must be stated, and distinction made between salaries required for larger and smaller towns. Vacant dates should be stated. If a list of existing bookings be sent, it will render selection easier. Artists employing agents should accredit one only at one time, as the friction arising when several Agents are employed at the same time, all expecting the one booking to go through each of them, often renders it expedient to avoid that booking altogether rather than give undeserved offence to several Agents. New Acts seeking Engagements, or turns not rebooked (possibly because they have played a series of dates without introducing new business), will facilitate matters by having their acts seen by our District Managers. Their Districts and Postal Addresses are as follow:—

EDINBURGH, GLASGOW, NEWCASTLE, and DISTRICT.—MR. S. GETHING, Empire Theatre, Glasgow.

LEEDS, SHEFFIELD, HULL, BRADFORD, and DISTRICT.—MR. T. GERALD MORTON, Empire Palace, Leeds.

BIRMINGHAM, NOTTINGHAM, LEICESTER, and DISTRICT.—MR. HATTON WHARTON, Empire Theatre, Nottingham.

LIVERPOOL, MANCHESTER, and DISTRICT.—MR. HORACE COLE, The Empire, Liverpool.

SOUTH WALES DISTRICT.—MR. ALBERT MITCHELL, Empire Theatre, Cardiff.

LONDON DISTRICT.—MR. J. CHRISTIE, Empire Theatre, Shepherd's Bush, W.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SOUTH SHIELDS.—Artists working in the North of England who have odd weeks vacant are invited to communicate with the Local Manager at above Theatre, with a view to arranging a trial week.

N.B.—MR. OSWALD STOLL or MR. FRANK ALLEN can be seen by appointment on all matters arising out of the above, and for the discussion of entirely new Numbers.

All Artists or Agents who communicate with our District Representatives must have made definite applications, in accordance with above directions, to the Head Office, at the same time, or just previously. Artists and Agents are requested to note that the Standard Theatre, Shoreditch, and the Terriss Theatre, Rotherhithe, come within the areas absolutely barred by us. Artists and Agents are also requested to note that the Hippodrome, Aston, Birmingham, comes within the area absolutely barred by the Grand Theatre and Empire Palace, Birmingham.

INSTRUCTIONS TO ARTISTS.—Artists must have at least Fourteen Band Parts for English Orchestrations, and Seventeen Band Parts for Foreign Orchestrations. Matter of Bill, Blocks, and Specimens of Pictorials FOR THE ABOVE THEATRES must be sent to CO-OPERATIVE OFFICES, at above address, THREE WEEKS before Opening, failing which Artists will run the risk of having their Engagements cancelled. It is important that separate bill-matter, blocks, pictorials, &c., for Dublin, Belfast, and South Shields, be sent direct to Mr. Frank Allen at the Co-operative Offices. IMPORTANT.—Artists must forward Copies of Songs to the STAGE DEPARTMENT, ABOVE ADDRESS, TWO WEEKS previous to opening, with Assignments for same, which will be returned. Artists are requested to note carefully that the clause in their contracts relating to rehearsals will in future be strictly enforced. Artists' Scenery, Properties, &c., MUST be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Licensing Authorities. ARTISTS WILL CLEARLY UNDERSTAND THAT THEIR BUSINESS MUST BE FREE FROM ALL VULGARITY.

No order or contract for goods or services must be accepted for any of the foregoing theatres except upon receipt of an Official Form, issued from the Co-operative Offices, London, and signed by either Mr. Oswald Stoll, Mr. Frank Allen, or the Chief Accountant, otherwise the Company concerned will not be responsible for same, and will refuse payment. In special cases, where goods are required at once, suppliers must look to the individual placing the order, who will be personally liable, unless an official confirmatory order, signed as above, is received within forty-eight hours. Invoices must be sent to the Theatre, but monthly statements should be sent to the Co-operative Offices. The individual Company on whose behalf orders are signed is solely responsible for payment. The Management will not hold themselves responsible in the event of loss of or damage to any MSS., Songs, &c., submitted for consideration.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

ABERDARE.—NEW THEATRE, LTD.—Manager, Mr. Z. Andrews; Acting-Man., Mr. B. Richards.—Travis Green and Arthur Hinton's company is here in Home, Sweet Home. Mr. Arthur Hinton gives a manly performance of Stephen Armitage; Mr. Fred Kay is good as David Armitage; Mr. Charles Clifford does justice to the part of Duke of Ancaster; Mr. Walter Clarke does good work as Dick Redmayne; Miss Florence Zillwood gives an excellent portrayal of Joan; and Miss Maude Camfield is also effective.

NEW EMPIRE, LTD. — Man.-Director, Mr. Victor Rowe; Resident-Manager, Mr. Victor Knight.—Top of the bill here are the Fitzroys, who provide a very excellent gymnastic display; Ivey Aberdare, comedienne and wooden shoe dancer, has a good reception; Chas. Sloman, comedian, wins applause; Hazel and Weyman, cross-talk comedians, create genuine laughter; and the pictures are good.

ABERDEEN.—HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Proprietors, Robert Arthur Theatres Co., Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. H. Adair Nelson.—The Marriages of Mayfair is winning the highest commendation, and in an exceptionally heavy cast there is scarcely a weak spot. Notably good work is accomplished by Miss Conyers Radcliffe, Miss Mildred Cottell, Miss Naomi Neilson, Miss Aimee Grattan-Clyndes, and Messrs. Dennis Cleugh, Paul Beckett, Duncan Yarrow, Robson Paige, Adam Alexander, and R. C. Harcourt.

PALACE THEATRE. — Lessees, United County Theatres, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. Percy H. Gallagher. —A diversified programme is headed by Mr. George D'Albert. Clever turns are contributed by Vardon, Percy, and Wilber, vocalists, dancers, &c.; King Luis and partner, in a dexterous acrobatic display; Miss Dora Barrington and Miss Leslie Gray, operatic vocalists; Ancie Gerrard, flute and piccolo soloist; the Walonells, comedy gymnasts; and Tiny Arnold.

ACCRINGTON.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. B. Ormerod; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. E. Barnes.—Mr. Edwin C. Jazon's company is drawing crowded houses here with Dick Whittington. Miss Maud Beaumont sustains the title-rôle with animation and charm; Miss Ena Compton makes a winsome and dainty Alice; Miss Dolly Richardson dances most effectively as the Prince of Morocco; and Miss Amy Salida is successful as the Princess. Mr. Fred Ward as Idle Jack is a great favourite, there being no end to his resources as chief fun-maker; Mr. William Miller as Fitzwarren and Mr. Bob Stephenson as Sarah the Cook, also work hard; Messrs. Justin and Mantell acquit themselves well as the Captain and the Mate; Mr. Jim Vone makes a capital Emperor; and Mr. Willie Vanda is responsible for a clever performance as the Cat. Interesting specialities are introduced by the Vandas, wire performers; Justin and Mantell, acrobatic eccentrics; Pearce and Ward, comedy performers; Salida and Vone, creole performers; and Miss Clara Coverdale's clever juvenile troupe, the Nine Dainty Dots, who have a most enthusiastic reception.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, The Accrington Hippodrome Co.; Resident-Manager, Mr Walter Mould.—A capital bill is submitted here, foremost being those brisk and breezy Americans, Barton and Ashley, who win much favour; Mr. G. W. Blyth's musical scena, The Toilers, including a harming and powerful soprano, Miss Nellie Brierly, has a vociferous reception; the Sisters Henderson are capital speciality artists; W. B. Raby is a most mirth-provoking comedian; and Marguerite Ismay's Peerless White Coons prove themselves excellent vocalists and expert dancers. Rex Fox submits a daring wire act, introducing a ventriloquial figure and musical instruments whilst balanced upon the wire; Leroux' monkeys perform astounding feats; Janet Hall is a baritone vocalist of much merit; and A Plucky Little Girl depicted on the Bioscope is very entertaining.

ALDERSHOT.—THEATRE ROYAL AND HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Clarence Sounes; Resident-Manager, Mr. Jack Gladwin. — After a long absence from Aldershot The Private Secretary is again being played by Mr. Eugene C. Stafford's company. Mr. W. Hargreaves, a clever exponent of Cattermole from India, soon becomes a huge favourite; Mr. Geoffrey Guise is capital as the Rev. Robert Spalding; and Mr. Frederick Tyrell as Gibson is also a great success. Mr. Arthur Claremont (Douglas), Mr. Francis Trevor (Mr. Marsland), and Mr. Vivian Gilbert (Harry) also do well. As Edith Marsland Miss Ailee Barr is successful; Miss Elsie Blythe is capable as Eva; and Miss Cecily Wade (Mrs. Stead) and Mrs. Alfred Davis (as Miss Ashford) leave nothing to be desired.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE. — THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Chas. Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. Revill, jun.—The boards of the Theatre Royal this week are in the possession of the Ashton Operatic Society, in the comic opera Merrie England, on behalf of the local charities. There is a band and chorus of eighty performers, and special scenery has been painted for the production. The leading parts are well sustained by prominent amateur performers and vocalists. The opera was rehearsed and produced under the direction of the professional coach, Mr. Foden Williams, of Manchester.

EMPIRE HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Resident-Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Leech; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Jesse Burslem. —Here we are enjoying the production of another pantomime, Mr. John Tiller's Jack and Jill; or, The Hill, the Well, and the Crown. Of the mortals, Baron Jolliboy, Prince Regent, is in the capable hands of Mr. T. Corry Cotton, who presents an amusing portrayal of the part; Dame Durden is also made laughter-provoking without vulgarity as the foster mother of Jack and Jill by Mr. Bruce Green; Ginger, page to Prince Fearnought, is an extremely comical fellow as portrayed by Mr. Horace Jones; General Biff and Private Baff of the army are presented with all the grotesqueness that makes for mirth by Messrs. F. and H. Le Cren; good work is also done by Miss Ada Davidson as Trim and Miss Adah Le Cren as Fantine. As Jack and Jill, the Children of the Well, Misses Alice Maude and Nellie Grimshaw realise in every detail the ideal one has formed of these nursery characters. In both song, dance, and deportment they win favours. Miss Nellie Rodney as Princess Bountiful, the fair daughter of the Regent, is vivacious and cheery. Miss Harriet Fawn as Prince Fearnought is a capable pantomime boy; Miss Lilian Doris is a charming Fairy; and the Wicked Genius, Carl the Hunchback, is capitally played by Mr. Francis Delane.

BARROW-IN-FURNESS.—ROYALTY THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Stone.—Mr. J. Gar Kiddie's pantomime Babes in the Wood is here. Mr. Edwin Webb is a capital demon; and Miss Emmie Mappin a graceful Sylvania. Soft Sammy is amusingly played by Oliver Conroy; the villains are admirably enacted by Conan and Doyle; and the Babes (Millie and Lillie) dance finely. Miss Marion Scott is a dashing Robin Hood; and Miss Mary Dene a winning Maid Marion.

HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Lessees and Managers, Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Routledge.—Mr. T. N. Walter's company in The Flower Girl is here. Miss Lena Brickwell in the title-rôle is bright and vivacious; and Mr. John T. MacCullum is an amusing Joe Wheeler. Mr. Cyril Delevanti is a funny Reginald Rackitt; and the eccentricities of Alphonse and Lizette de Racquet are piquantly portrayed by Mr. Henry Adnes and Miss Elsa Brettingham respectively. Miss Eva Brickwell is capital Miss Greenhill; and Miss Florence Vernon does well as Miss Maisie Flirtington. Mr. J. Burlington Rigg as the hero, the Honourable Billy Greenhill, is a great success.

TIVOLI.—Lessee, Signor R. Pepi; Acting-Manager, Mr. Henry Wood.—Will Nella's Singing Jockeys are topping the bill here, and they give a capital performance; Herbert Brothers create roars of laughter with a comedy gymnastic display, and their mechanical inventions are most ingenious; Reno is a comedy trick cyclist of unusual ability; Les Zeloras give a clever equilibristic performance; Fred Horsfall possesses a most flexible voice; Ella Beaumont is an exceedingly pleasing vocalist and dancer; Vernon's Bioscope concludes with some interesting pictures.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Lessees and Managers, Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Routledge.—Venus, living art tableaux, are highly appreciated. The following capable artists also appear:—Auto Boy, illusionist; the Two Roses, duettists; Morton Wilman, mimic; Dolly Boston, comedienne; Lynn, newsboy vocalist; and Little Rosie, and Alfred Thomas, together with some capital pictures.

BATH. — THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Egbert Lewis; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lewis A. Long.—Dick Whittington continues for a second week, and now the election fever is practically over playgoers have turned up in large numbers.

PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr Chas. Schuberth.—The Juggling Geraldos, straight from the Oxford, commenced a provincial engagement here on Monday; Pyck, Tholl, and Taylor have an amusing act, The Dancing Master; the Lannons' dancing is always worth seeing; and Mabel La Blanche is heard in well-sung character songs. Godfrey Price is the happy possessor of a pure basso; Phillips and Merritt present song, whistling, and dancing; Charles Bryon, comedian, also appears. The pictures are good.

BATLEY.—BATLEY THEATRE.—Proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Whitty; Manager, Mr. Alfred A. Taylor.—Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley's company in A Soldier's Honour is proving a strong attraction here. Mr. T. Arthur Ellis as Captain Deane plays his part as a "soldier and a man" in good style, and is ably assisted by Miss Isa Lyndon as Doreen, Miss Kathleen Clifford as Queenie is sympathetic; Mr. Jerrold E. Reed as Captain Gerald Temple is a capable actor; Mr. Andrew Money is Henry Thornton and Miss Lilian Burns as Cora Lee make the most of the heavy parts; and Miss Edie Macklin as Jemima Eliza creates roars of laughter.

BEDFORD.—ROYAL COUNTY THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. E. Graham Falcon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter R. Wilson.—Mr. James Welch's company, in When Knights were Bold, is entertaining good houses. Mr. H. Langdon Bruce plays Sir Guy with much zest and humour; Mr. Charles Lloyd furnishes an excellent sketch of Isaac Isaacson; and Sir Brien Ballymote is cleverly impersonated by Mr. Gerald Venning; Mr. Colin Johnston's portrayal of the Rev. Peter Pottlebury is a sound piece of acting; Mr. H. Winton ably sustains the part of the Hon. Charles Widdicombe; and Mr. Lionel Brocknor and Mr. E. R. Holloway are good as Wittle and Barker respectively. Miss Ernita Lascelles presents an artistic study of Lady Rowena; Miss Mabel Young lends distinction to the part of Hon. Mrs. Waldegrave, and much talent is displayed by Miss Isla Glenne as Miss Sarah Isaacson, Miss Elspeth Oliphant as Lady Millicent Eggington, Miss Marjorie Carton as Lady Marjorie Eggington, Miss Peggy Bremba as Kate Pottlebury, and Miss Ethel St. John as Alice Barker.

BELFAST.—GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; Acting-Manager, Mr. James M. McCann.—After a four weeks' run in Dublin, the Gaiety pantomime, Dick Whittington, was transferred to this theatre, and the initial performance on Monday was an unqualified success. The scenery is of the most gorgeous description, and the company play with a zest that is worthy of all praise. The title-rôle is sustained by Miss Kathleen Gray, a charming and dashing young lady, who speedily made herself a favourite. Her capitally-rendered songs, especially "One of the girls" and "Someone," won hearty applause. The principal girl is undertaken by Miss Adela Crispin, whose vivacious interpretation of Alice won all hearts. Miss Daisy Stratton was a fascinating Princess Almida, and Mr. Charles J. Cameron was in every sense excellent as Alderman Fitzwarren. A decided acquisition to the pantomime is Wee Georgie Wood, whose mimetic and comedy talents are really remarkable for so young an artist. He was very successful throughout, and deservedly so. The Emperor of Morocco is in the capable hands of Mr. Jack Cosgrove, and Mr. Julian Mack was most amusing as Selina, his "Top note" song being enthusiastically received. Mr. Percy Cahill—a good comedian—appeared as Idle Jack with a success that must have been gratifying; and the rôle of the Cat was undertaken by Mr. Ernest Selig with great effect. Messrs. Naughton and Gold as Captain Starboard and Ben Bobstay provided much fun, and there was not a dull moment while they occupied the stage. Miss Ethel Mann was an ideal Queen of the Fairies, her vocalism being quite a treat; and Miss Ethel Burns acquitted herself well as Wee Georgie's nurse, Mary. Specialities were provided by Wee Georgie Wood; and a hit of no small magnitude was made by Signor Delirio and Mons. Louis Sans, who presented their clever dances, including the well-known Apache dance. Miss Kate Brandon was responsible for the dances, and deserves a special word of praise, and the efficient orchestra was skilfully directed by Mr. John Moody.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. A. Salmond. —For Auld Lang Syne, staged by Mr. Bulmer's company, is drawing crowded houses. The rôle of Hester Leigh is sustained by Miss Chrissie Dunbar in a skilful manner, and praise is due to Mr. Louis Lingard for his clever impersonation of Harold Clifton; Mr. Ernest Dare appears to advantage as Sir Fredk. Clifton, Bart., and Mr. Austin Mortimer is all that could be desired as the villainous Philip Marchmont; Mr. Alex Finlayson is a capital Hon. Gerald Sylvester, and Miss M. Lowe Dare a vivacious and charming Katherine O'Neill. Mr. Evan Roland as George Truscot keeps the audience thoroughly amused; and Miss Mary Dalby is entitled to praise for her interpretation of Nancy Mayne. Miss Lalla Stanhope is natural and convincing as Audrey Vernon; and other rôles are adequately presented by Miss F. Fredericks, Miss S. Haughton, Messrs. Fred Dalby, and R. Brancpeth Nevill.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred Willmott; Resident-Manager, Mr. Henry T. Downs. —The star here is Mr. Eugene Stratton, who gained a hearty reception; Charles Prelle's bijou circus contains several highly trained dogs; Mr. Frank Lester appears to much advantage in the dramatic sketch, No. 99; the Musical Marvels, vocalists and eccentric instrumentalists, quickly instal themselves favourites; Mr. Sydney Brandon, described as "the young Barry Sullivan," submits realistic impersonations with fine effect; and also appearing are Taree, musical Australian bushman; Chris Masters, comedian; Jack Truman, vocalist, and the Hipposcope.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES, LIMITED.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. C. Laidler.—The leading attraction is supplied by the Lukushimas, a remarkably clever Japanese troupe, whose astonishing feats of equilibrism met with a terrific reception; Mr. Harry Bedford returns with his capitally-rendered comic character songs; and Ross and Lewis are an entertaining American duo, their comedy act being very smart; Mr. George Rae is a droll Scotch comedian with good songs; and the fine bass voice of Mr. J. H. Scotland has been heard to much advantage in several songs. Also appearing are Miss Rose Gower, comedienne; Mr. Harry Leybourne, comedian; and the Bioscope.

BIRKENHEAD. — NEW THEATRE ROYAL. — Sole Lessee, Mr. W. W. Kelly; Acting-Manager, Mr. Herbert M. King; Secretary, Miss Isabel Morris.—Pantomime follows pantomime in rapid succession. This week Mr. Wentworth Croke's Aladdin furnishes a most delightful and acceptable entertainment. The title-rôle is admirably filled by Miss Kittee Rayburn, than whom there could not be a smarter or more capable exponent of the part. Mr. Harry Morgan gives a splendid rendering of Abanazar; Widow Twankey is portrayed with irresistible humour by Mr. Fred W. Graham; the Emperor is finely played by Mr. Manitto Klitgaard; Wishee Washee is humorously impersonated by Mr. Cecil Clayton; Mr. Bruce Lindley is a good Grand Vizier; and Carl and Carr, a clever and resourceful pair of humorists, afford much amusement as two Chinese policemen. The important character of the Princess is charmingly undertaken by Miss Nancy St. John, Miss Iris Fox as Pekoe, Miss Violet Dupre as Ni-Cee, and Miss Marie St. Hilary as Saucee are most efficient; and specialities are introduced by La Belle Trio, Mrs. Victor's troupe of juveniles, the Nine Folliettes, and the Three Trees. The chorus is numerous and effective, and the scenic effects and costumes elaborate and in excellent taste. Mr. Ashley Richards directs the orchestral arrangements. The entire show goes with a commendable swing throughout.

ARGYLE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. D. J. Clarke; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Keating.—Miss Zona Vevey, in her clever and charming vocal entertainment, in which she is ably assisted by M. Max Erard at the piano, is renewing previous successes here; Miss Mary Mayfern's company in the dramatic episode are also a leading feature; and the Norman and Leonard Trio in a musical incident entitled Ye Squire's Dance are a decided acquisition. An excellent and liberal programme also enlists the services of Miss Rosie Elliott, with some capital chorus songs; Jack Hayworth, Scotch comedian; Le Hurst, a smart ventriloquist; Tom Lee, light comedian; Harry Simms, comedian; Hillman and Russell, in some operatic selections; and Brown's Royal Bioscope. Mr. Ernest Denney is musical director.

HIPPODROME.—Director of Entertainments, Mr. Will Sley; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Weston.—Cullen and Carthy's pantomime The Babes in the Wood is attracting large audiences. There is a sprightly Robin Hood; Miss Maudie Forde is irreproachable as Maid Marion; and the humour is well supplied by Mr. Tom Drew as the Dame, Cullen and Carthy as the villains, Dollie Cullen and Elsie Jordison as the Babes, and Mr. Arthur Stratton as the Baron. The pantomime is liberally staged.

BIRMINGHAM.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Tom B. Davis; General-Manager, Mr. Philip Redway.—Crowded audiences continue to enjoy the excellent pantomime Jack and the Beanstalk. Mr. George Robey and Miss Ada Reeve are the stars, and the whole company work in harmony for the good of the piece.

PRINCE OF WALES.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. F. Graham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Henry Johnstone.—The Babes in the Wood, in which Mr. Mark Sheridan, Miss Dorothy Ward, Miss Daisy Dormer, and the Brothers Egbert are big favourites, is running smoothly, and the performance on the whole is excellent.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Lester Collingwood; Business-Manager, Mr. Fred Bernardo; Assistant-Manager, Mr. W. T. Guest.—A fourteen weeks' run may be predicted for Aladdin, a pantomime which is breaking all records. The experiment of having a lady as Widow Twankey has proved highly successful in the hands of Miss Millie Doris; Mr. Cull Pitt is back again as Abanazar after a few days' illness; and the performance all round is so full of good things that there is no time for an interval.

BORDESLEY PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietors, Moss Empires, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. W. Goodwin Woodward. —Mr. Walter Melville's play, The Beggar Girl's Wedding is proving immensely popular here. Mr. Otto Minster is a good figure as the hero, Jack Cunningham; and Miss Marie Duncan as the beggar girl enlists the sympathies of the audience. Mr. Grebert Morgan gives a realistic portrayal of Gilbert Lindsay, being well partnered by Miss Olive Warne. As the eccentric physician Mr. Charles Barclay is clever; and Mr. Herbert Lloyd as Dicky Storm, and Miss Daisy Meynard, as Tiny Torkington, are responsible for humour.

METROPOLE.—Proprietor, Mr. Andrew Melville; Manager, Mr. J. H. Taylor.—A Child of the Streets is scoring a huge success here, the chief point of interest being the appearance of Miss Dot Stephens, who is a great favourite in Birmingham. She sustains the part of Doris Graham with admirable effect, and delights the audience with her singing. Mr. Norman H. Tracey makes a popular hero; and Miss Nellie Thorne Hallam makes the most of the emotional character of Gertrude Graham. Mr. Leonard Aardale is clever as the villain, Laurence Craigie; and Miss Yoxa Summer acts well as Lorna Carstairs. Miss Carlota Blondin and Mr. Charles Tolcher are responsible for the humorous element.

ASTON THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee, Mr. Chas. Barnard; General-Manager, Mr. E. Hewitson; Manager, Mr. F. Martin Morris.—Patrons of this theatre are thoroughly enjoying Mr. Wentworth Croke's Lyceum version of Hall Caine's play The Christian.

Mr. Henry Wolston is a fine figure as the Hon. John Storm; and Miss Gladys Purnell is loudly applauded for clever acting as Glory Quayle. Mr. Whitred Noy displays great ability as Horatio Drake; and as Mrs. Callender Miss Mollie Hayden is popular. Mr. Fred Morgan gives a creditable portrayal as Lord Robert Ure; and Mr. Charles E. Dering is good as Archdeacon Wealthy. Miss Gladys Vernon, Mr. J. H. Bateson, Mr. Edgar Hart, Miss Lizette Cardoys, and Miss Gertrude Maxwell also acts cleverly.

CARLTON THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. James Alexander.—Pantomime assumes sway here this week, and crowds of people are flocking to see Mr. H. Leslie Bell's production Cinderella. The scenes and dresses are pretty, the gags are smart, and the topical songs prove very popular. Miss Daisy Silcott makes a dashing principal boy; and Miss Lily Pearl is a charming Cinderella. The comedians are Mr. Barry Bond (Baron), Mr. Tom Veronique (Page), and Messrs. Eno Davys and Pat Yost (Ugly Sisters), who make a very successful quartette. Miss Daisy Rhyl as the good Fairy and Mr. Daviet Ronaldson as the Evil Genius are also effective. The other characters are capably filled.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. W. Matcham; Assistant-Manager, Mr. A. Williams.—Audiences are being thrilled by the daring performances of Wizard Stone and Irene Stone in The Globe of Life; Carrie Laurie's Kindergarten provides a delightful combination of comedy and good singing; the Sarnthaler Sextet are meritorious vocalists and dancers; and Walter King keeps everyone smiling whilst he is on the stage. The Empire Comedy Four are popular part-singers; and Cumminger and Colonna excel as sand dancers. Other good contributions are forthcoming from Lily Burnand, Nellie Lewis, Harry Drew, and the Brothers O'Brien.

GRAND.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. Foster; Assistant-Manager, Mr. H. Lucas.—At the top of the bill is Petronowa, whose energetic band-conducting is a revelation; Moran and Wiser mystify everyone with their "boomerang" performance with straw hats; and Amelie de L'Enclos possesses a soprano voice of wonderful range and fine quality. The Glenroy Troupe appear in a clever speciality act; and Takio is an accomplished mimic. A dramatic sketch, The Three Thieves, played by Messrs. K. Johnston, L. Booker, and J. Daley is well received; Mike Nono, Irish comedian; Jack Smiles, comedian and dancer; and the Rawsons, drawing-room entertainers, are other good turns.

GAIETY.—General-Manager, Mr. A. Bushell.—The chief turn in an attractive programme is furnished by the Tan-Kwai troupe of Chinese jugglers and equilibrists, who perform some astonishing feats with their pigtails; a stirring military sketch, A Soldier of Napoleon, is presented by Miss Laurie Deering's capable company; Will Cornish is popular in a pleasing musical performance; and Arthur Anstill excels as a whistling comedian. A clever tumbling act is given by the Almas; and Spry and Austin are a favourite pair of entertainers. Mabel Moss is a talented chorus singer; Bert Weston is an amusing character; and the Gaietoscope is also an acceptable feature.

HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Tom Barrasford; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. D. Elbourne; Assistant-Manager, Mr. C. Baldry.—A thrilling sketch, entitled The Red Triangle, creates intense interest as played by Carlotta Yonson and company; Ferguson and Mack are irresistible humorists as the Dimple Sisters; and Shirley Liggins and company are vocalists of a high order. Willie Gardner is a phenomenal skate dancer; and the Carson Brothers are skilful gymnasts. Much amusement is caused by the Gascoignes, comedy jugglers; and meritorious turns are also given by Mark Leslie, Annie Heath, Billy Haines, and Connie Mascot.

ASTON HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Aston Hippodrome, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. T. H. Middleton.—The chief turn is provided by the wonderful cycling ape, George I., who displays almost human sagacity in a wonderful performance; Charles Parker's Society Idols are a capital combination of entertainers; Duncan and Brasque are amusing in a playlet, My Lancashire Wife; Charles Ulrick is a clever barrel manipulator; Arthur Gill is a novel vocalist; the Richards Trio are eccentric acrobats; and Cissie Curlette, mimetic vocalist, and Maidie Burker, comedienne, are big favourites.

CURZON HALL (AMERICAN AND CONTINENTAL CIRCUS).—Director and Organiser, Mr. A. Edward Inshaw.—The chief feature of the programme here is a representation of Dick Turpin's Ride to York. Another success is the aeroplane act of Mons. Duprey and his assistant. Daring jockeys provide a wonderful exhibition of trick riding, and there are several other new acts on the programme.

BISHOP AUCKLAND.—EDEN THEATRE.—Lessees, Messrs. R. Addison, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. J. Huntley.—Messrs. Alfred Paumier and Walter Howard's company is drawing crowded houses with The Prince and the Beggar Maid. Mr. C. W. Standing is greatly admired for his effective presentation of Prince Olaf; and similar remarks apply to Mr. Mayor Cooke as Prince Hildred and Mr. Lionel Garsden as Prince Michael. Full of wit and good humour are Mr. Robert Noble (Captain Hector) and Mr. Richard Lane (Lieut. Karl Stromberg). Mr. Ernest Gray is clever as Nathan; Mr. Francis Hawkey good as the Bishop of Illyria; and Miss Ethel Patrick sustains the part of Camiola, the beggar maid, delightfully. Miss Mona Hungerford as Viola is amusing; and Miss Stella Campbell enacts Princess Monica in graceful style.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, The Hippodrome (Bishop Auckland), Ltd.; Managing-Director, Signor Pepi.—Humpsti and Bumpsti keep the house well entertained in their funny turn; Miss Madge Goodall is a comedienne of ability; Mr. W. Gregory as a flexible marvel is well received; and Ted Karno and company are worthy of praise for their sketch, Hotel de Quick. Johnny Walker is a good fun-maker, as is Harry Bickly, their songs and patter being excellent. The Breans are delightful Japanese entertainers; and the Hipposcope concludes with interesting pictures.

BLACKBURN.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, the Royal and Hippodrome Co.; Governing-Director, Mr. Harry Yorke; Manager, Mr. Reginald Yorke.—Miss Zena Dare and No. 1 company in The Dashing Little Duke is a big attraction here. The company is in every way excellent. As the Duc de Richelieu Miss Dare scores a success; as the Chevalier de Matignon Mr. Reginald Adair sings with great effect; Mr. Johnny Danvers as Baron de Bellechasse is exceedingly funny, and he is ably supported in his comedy efforts by Miss Nellie Dade as the Baroness; Miss Dollie Castles also calls for special comment for her excellent Diane de Noailles.

PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Will Murray.—The Francoli Troupe of silent pantomime artists give a clever and laughable display here in their sketch The Billposter and His Living Lithographs; Bromley and Fontein illustrate exaggerated whims and oddities of musical conductors in The Man Behind the Music Stand; Albert and Edmunds's company are appearing to advantage in a farce entitled The Tower of London; Leo Tell comes in for a capital reception for his mimicry of varied sounds; J. H. Greener, "the premier singing pit lad," sings well, and is a reciter of ability; Roxborough and Wright, in a dancing and singing pot-pourri, go well; and Minnie Warner is pleasing and tuneful.

BLACKPOOL.—HER MAJESTY'S OPERA HOUSE.—General-Manager, Mr. J. R. Huddlestone.—Messrs. Smith and Carpenter's company is here with Two Little Vagabonds. Better exponents of the title-rôles than are provided by Miss Ivy Millais (Wally) and Miss Helen Grenville (Dick) could not be desired. A lifelike portrayal of Maria Thornton is presented by Miss Dorothy Milne, whilst Miss Mabel Cooke carefully depicts Barbara Scarth. The part of George Thornton is ably embodied by Mr. Frank Beresford, whilst Mr. Reynard Lockwood as Capt. Darville and Mr. Charles Ludlow as the Gaffer also give a good account of themselves.

PALACE.—General-Manager, Mr. Geo. H. Harrop; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Waller.—The Five X Kays, aptly termed the mad athletes, top the bill here and provide an extraordinary turn. Kelly and Agnes, the Australian comedy duo, are well received, and J. P. Ling, the versatile entertainer, is always sure of the warmest welcome. Other good turns are provided by Gladys Hooley, violinist; Archie Gervase, comedian; Gala and Norris, comedy artists; W. G. Webber, bass vocalist; Dale and Vale, in song and dance; and Edie Anderson, a diminutive comedienne and dancer of unquestionable ability.

BOLTON.—THEATRE ROYAL (LTD.).—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. John Moncur.—The St. Joseph's Amateur Operatic Society are giving performances of Il Trovatore and Maritana, the proceeds of which will be devoted to Bolton charities.

GRAND THEATRE (LTD.).—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Kenyon.—The principal attraction here is Ernest Shand, comedian, who has been well received. The programme also comprises Massona, a clever young juggler; Elsie Earle, versatile artist, in her song-scena, A Garden of Flowers; Walter Wade, comedian; Miss Rosie Lloyd, comedienne; the Three Borella Bros., in a clever gymnast act on the silver chains; Carl Muller, expert versatile dancer; Will Mitcham, vocal and musical comedian; the Six Albyns, society entertainers, in their miniature musical comedy The Squire's Hunting Party; and the Premier Imperial Pictures.

EMPIRE HIPPODROME, LTD.—Director of Entertainments, Mr. Will Sley; Manager, Mr. A. R. Harrison.—Mr. Harry Roxbury's pantomime of Mother Goose has attracted large audiences. The parts of Mother Goose (Mr. Walter Dale), her son Jack (Mr. J. W. Gallagher), and Muggles (Fred Action) are well sustained; Miss Maude Prenton plays Colin successfully; and Miss Kitty Russell is good as Jill. Sydney T. Russell's Eight Sydney Girls accomplish clever dances. Specialities are introduced by the Society Quartette of vocalists and dancers; and the Miltons, skating comedians.

BOOTLE.—WINTER GARDENS.—Lessee, The Excelsior Co.; Manager, Mr. George Barry.—At the Winter Gardens this week Messrs. Wm. De Lacy and Leslie Stanley present their gorgeous pantomime Babes in the Wood. The principal characters are ably portrayed by Miss Kate Osborne as Robin Hood, Miss Helena L. Barton as Maid Marian, Miss Louie Fielding and Wee Winnie Warden as the Babes, Mr. Erno Astor as Baron Ooffess, Mr. Will Kirk and Mr. William De Lacy as Bill Byem and Sam Sellem, and Mr. Lionel Yeoman as Belinda Pancake.

BOSCOMBE.—HIPPODROMES, LTD.—Joint-Managing-Directors, Messrs. Fredk. Mouillot and Walter de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. A. H. Burdett.—The celebrated actor-violinist Jan Rudenyi is the "draw" here in a dramatic episode entitled The Power of Music, and receives repeated applause. Velanche's Football Dogs have been very highly trained, and the football match is watched with great interest. Little Ganty keeps the house in roars of laughter; King's College Boys, in The Students' Concert, are very good; Phil Kauffman as a comedian is successful; Kate Gourlay, Scotch comedienne, and the Waltons, eccentric acrobats, deserve mention, and the Hippo. pictures conclude.

BOURNEMOUTH.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Proprietors, David Allen and Sons; Sole Lessee, Mr. Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Hubert Dunbar.—Mr. Frank Curzon's company in The King of Cadonia holds the boards here. Mr. Bertie Wright as the Duke of Alasia is as bright and clever as ever; Miss Alice Moffat sings and acts in a fascinating manner as the Princess Marie; Mr. J. Warren Foster has a fine manly presence and is particularly good as Alexis; Mr. Jack Martin presents a fine portrayal of General Bonski; Mr. E. Hartley-Summers as Panix, the Secretary, is amusing; Bran (Mr. E. Thirley), Laborde (Mr. Cecil Tresilian), Capt. Laski (Mr. Cameron Carr) are all good representations; Miss Molly Keen plays Militza in vivacious and attractive style, and her songs receive well-deserved applause; the Duchess of Alasia is played in a dignified and natural manner by Miss Florence Lelgarde. The piece is exquisitely staged and dressed, and the chorus is tuneful and energetic.

BRADFORD.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager, Mr. T. F. Doyle; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Richardson.—The run of the delightful pantomime Jack and the Beanstalk continues with undiminished success, much applause and laughter greeting the efforts of the clever company, whose resources are unfailing. The lovely ballets and spectacular effects, too, are a source of delight to packed audiences.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Lessee, Councillor F. Laidler; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. M. Hamilton.—The Forty Thieves are having a merry run, and the pantomime grows in popularity, the energy of the company is unflagging, and the beauty of the scenic effects and the pretty dresses are themes of admiration to crowded audiences.

THE EMPIRE.—Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Percival Craig.—Much interest is centred here in the appearance of Mme. Albani, and the greeting accorded the great songstress is most enthusiastic. Herr Zavosky is a violinist of remarkable executive ability, and his delightful solos are greatly applauded; Great and Good are a pair of clever acrobats, who introduce into their "Bumpity Bump" turn some rare fun; charming Gipsy Woolf and her six pretty Sunbeam Girls in a well staged sketch, The Mermaid of Margate, are very bright; John Macaulay submits a capital character song, "The pensioner"; a very remarkable performance (without aid from the trainer) is given by Richard Corbin's clever dogs; many novelties are introduced into a clever and humorous acrobatic entertainment by the Four Barowskys; W. J. Churchill is a most diverting comedian; and the turns by Lily Palmer, comedienne, Harry Anderson, comedian, and the pictures shown by the Bioscope, make up a fine programme.

THE PALACE.—Lessee, Mr. F. Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. E. Harrison.—Ryder Slone, the comedian, is here again, and his songs are as popular as ever; and Charles Gardner, comedian, is responsible for some good broad comedy; the Zampas are smart duettists and bâton manipulators; René, a girl juggler, is expert and clever with her tricks; Roy Beavis is a very smart conjurer and palmer; a pretty and clever entertainment by Les Montaldos, introducing trained parrots and Macaws, wins applause; Margit and Lena are clever and very eccentric acrobats, whose "Wet Paint" turn is entertaining; Elton Foy and company are agile acrobats, and very laughter provoking in their knockabout sketch, A Carriage Ride; and the Palace Perfection Pictures are interesting.

BRIGHOUSE.—ALBERT THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. M. Manley.—Mr. Fred Melville's Married to the Wrong Man company is drawing crowded houses. Mr. Henry Lonsdale gives a masterly performance of Capt. Jack Gladwin; Mr. George Arthur is smart in his villainy as Captain Deering, being ably seconded by Mr. Leonard Thackeray, who gives a capital study of Jasper Skinner; Mr. Leonard Harrison is an excellent Sergt. Manners; and Mr. Marius St. John is very good as Archie Bird. The honours of the evening undoubtedly fall to Miss Mary Pemberton, who as Ruth gives a finished performance; Miss Cissie Bellamy as Rose O'Connor is very good; Miss May Day makes the most of her part as Dolly Fritter; Nurse Manners is ably undertaken by Miss Irene Archinsoe; Miss Annie Beamish and Miss Una Earlin are very good as Nurse Harmsworth and Mother Snaggs. The scenery and dresses are beautiful.

BRIGHTON.—GRAND THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Ernest Gates; General-Manager, Mr. Ben Court.—A second edition of the pantomime, Robinson Crusoe, is running here and doing excellent business. Miss May Mars as Robinson Crusoe sings delightfully; Miss Violet K. Orme is an engaging Polly Perkins; Mr. Dave O'Toole provides abundance of fun as Mrs. Crusoe; and Mr. George Campbell makes a quaint and humorous Billy Crusoe; while Mr. Jimmy Fergusson as Corkscrew Bill and Mr. Lyons as Captain Kuttle are highly successful with their smart business, jokes, and patter, and their eccentric dancing. The remaining characters are ably impersonated.

ALHAMBRA.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Alfred Smith; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. A. Smith.—Mr. Edward Marris's pantomime, Dick Whittington and his Cat, produced by Mr. E. H. Bertram, is here this week. Mr. Charles Danvers gives a very humorous representation of Alderman Fitzwarren; Mr. Billy Rex is admirably placed as Julia; the suffragette cook; Miss Dolly Denton makes a charming Alice Fitzwarren; Miss Rosie Sylvester is a vivacious and pleasing Dick; Miss Jessica Brooke is a delightfully winsome Polly Perkins; and other characters are ably represented by Miss Norah Melton, Miss Edie Dawson, Miss Norah Donne, Mr. J. R. Tyrell, Mr. Walter B. Nugent, Mr. Will Manite, Mr. J. G. Maine, Mr. Bert Selvidge, and Mr. George Brentwood. Dances by the Misses Manite and Miss Connie Retta are warmly appreciated; and the choruses are well rendered. The scenery, staging, and dressing merit praise.

HIPPODROME THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, Messrs. Barrasford and Smith; Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; Resident-Manager, Mr. B. J. Brown.—Minola Hurst and her miniature marvels provide an enjoyable entertainment; Buddha's Blackboard furnished a very mystifying turn; Horace Hunter and company appear with great success in Under Suspicion; the McAleavey Marvels, "the world's greatest all-round jumpers," are well received; Harry Clark is a capital boy dancer and comedian; Bill and Bailey are clever eccentrics; Alec Chentrens is a pleasing Anglo-French comedian; Everhart and company are wonderful hoop manipulators; Lena Wylie, "the Southern Soprano," sings in good style; Dale and O'Malley are a funny pair; and the Barrascope pictures are interesting.

WEST PIER.—Secretary, Mr. A. W. Scholey.—Mr. Ernest E. Norris and company are here this week with Dr. Wake's Patient. Mr. Ernest E. Norris submits a very fine impersonation of Dr. Wake; Miss Muriel Dole makes a graceful and charming Lady Gerania; Miss Lydia Busch presents a good character study as the Countess of St. Olbyn; Mr. Edward Petley's Duff Wynterden is cleverly enacted; Miss May Norris as Harriet Bronson and Mr. Herbert Lancelly as the Bishop of Selby merit praise; and effective support is rendered by Miss Clara Nicholls and Mr. Taylor Vinson as Mr. and Mrs. Wake, and Mr. J. Benson North as the Earl of St. Olbyn.

BRISTOL.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Macready Chute.—Mother Hubbard is doing well here, full houses being the rule. All the principals are highly competent in their respective parts, the scenery is quite up to the high standard expected here, and the dresses are appropriate, tasteful, and sufficiently rich. The Electric Ballet is much admired, there is lots of really good dancing, and the numerous songs are all popular.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Resident-Manager, Mr. H. C. Alty.—Robinson Crusoe, the pantomime here, is very popular, and as it is essentially a "comic pantomime," it just suits the taste of the usual frequenters of this theatre. All the artists are appreciated in their respective parts, the scenery is really good, the dresses are imposing, and the numerous songs and clever dances introduced add much to the effect of the entertainment.

PALACE.—Local Manager, Mr. Horace Livermore; Treasurer, Mr. F. J. V. Welchman.—Wild, Willie, and West, comedian acrobats, do some surprising knockabout, tumbling, and acrobatic work; Roma and Romani are exceptionally clever performers on various instruments; the Villons do an admirable turn as trick cyclists, and conclude with a clever "Dance des Apache." Louie Tracy, "the dapper dandy boy," is a pleasing male impersonator; the Belmonts (Hettie and Bessie) are exceptional expert dancers; Ethel Loftus, comedienne, is successful; Bert Williams does a good ventriloquial act; and Mazie Hibbs is applauded for her song and dance. Animated pictures conclude.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. B. Pearce Lucas; Resident-Manager, Mr. Sid Macaire.—Lily Hammersley and company are highly successful with their Western American dramatic sketch Rough Justice; May Henderson, the "Dusky Queen of Comedy," obtains much appreciation; Wash Evans scores with his American musical-comedy sketch Paradise Alley, some very smart dancing being introduced; Alice Hoodless presents a charming entertainment consisting of some exquisitely painted pictures, "Gems of the Royal Academy," in which she poses in artistic style; the Amio Trio do some smart equilibristic work; Milford Brothers entertain as comedians and dancers; Ted Saunders, mimic, obtains applause; Alexander and Linden, "military coons," do some smart step dancing; and Neville Newton, comedian, is appreciated. Empire animated pictures close the entertainment.

COLSTON HALL.—C. W. Poole's myriorama and vaudeville entertainment is nearing the close of the season. The attendance has been very good, and the show on this visit has well maintained the expected excellence of "Poole's."

BURNLEY.—VICTORIA OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. C. Horner.—Lovers of Shakespeare are amply catered for here this week by Mr. F. R. Benson's North company. A brilliant performance of The Merchant of Venice was given on Monday night. Mr. Henry Herbert gave a magnificent study of Shylock; Miss Gladys Vanderzee was particularly charming in the rôle of Portia; and Mr. Chas. Sparrow made a capital personality of Bassanio. Antonio was capably represented by Mr. Robert Atkins; and other rôles were well performed by Mr. Cyril Sworder (Gratiano), Miss Kate Turner (Nerissa), Miss Dorothy Radford (Jessica), and Mr. Sam Cohen (Lancelot). A good attendance on Tuesday evening witnessed The Taming of the Shrew, wherein Mr. Herbert repeated his delightful representation of Petruchio and Miss Vanderzee played Katharine. The Tempest, King Lear, Hamlet, As You Like It, and Macbeth are also in the week's bill.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. C. Horner.—Much interest is evinced in the Davis-Gledhill Trio, who introduce cycle racing on a miniature track; Charles Mildare proves popular with whistling in "A Day in Birdland"; and "My face is my fortune" is a very funny song by Ed. T. Ford. Carl Howard, the Komikun, in a burlesque on conjuring, produces much laughter; and Signor Persichini pleases with mandoline solos. N. Y. Kioto and C. H. Esa, equilibrists, are exceedingly clever on block pyramids; and Cestria, comedy juggler, receives merited applause. Bleary Oh, by the Empire Theatrescope, is a laughable film.

PALACE THEATRE AND HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. R. Badeoe.—A turn of very high musical standard is given here this week by Olga, Elgar, and Eli Hudson, their beautiful piccolo, piano, and vocal performance rousing the audience to great enthusiasm. Leoni de Lausanne surprises the house with remarkable rifle-shooting; and a clever acrobatic and ladder act is presented by the Netty Janowsky Troupe. Edith Chantler, girl soprano, has a good voice and pleasing presence; and Ruby Dahl presents her novel mannikins. Wyze and Adna are good in musical comedy; and Norah Desmond entertains with illustrated songs. With a Trawler is a highly interesting film shown by the Palace Pictures.

BURTON-ON-TRENT.—NEW THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. H. G. Dudley Bennett; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. De Hague Body.—The Forty Thieves, by Fred J. Little and Fred Darcy's company, is here this week. Miss Dora Frank Harvey's fine stage presence, added to her capabilities as an actress and vocalist, assures her instant success as Abdallah; the good contralto voice of Miss May Otto is heard to advantage in the songs allotted to Morgiana; and Miss Marie Reeve, a sprightly Ganem, sings and acts extremely well. The premier honours among the comedians fall to Mr. Johnny Johnston, whose originality and quaintness as the Dame cause the greatest fun; he is ably assisted by Mr. Harry Maxam, an exceedingly funny Ali Baba, and Mr. Ted Wootton (Cassim). The droll antics of Mr. Syd Raymonde as the donkey are highly diverting. A really wonderful performance is given by the Hadji-Mohamed-Ben-Medani troupe of tumblers. The scenery and dresses are admirable.

BURY (LANCS.).—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, Northern Theatres Co., Ltd.; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Assistant Acting-Manager, Mr. H. H. Potter.—This week the theatre is given over to variety, and a capital bill is topped by Fred Karno's Comedians in Early Birds and Skating. Blanch Vincent is a dainty comedienne; in a pot-pourri act; Burge Bros. do some clever work; a marvellous exhibition of jumping is furnished by Charles Wilson; and the Woolhafs, versatile artists, in a comedy act; Brothers Wellman, speciality dancers; and James Basnett, descriptive vocalist, are all acceptable items.

CIRCUS OF VARIETIES, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Assistant Acting-Manager, Mr. H. H. Potter.—Blanco White and Emilie Clifford are clever dancers; and Dainty Dolly Clyffe shines as a juvenile comedienne. The programme is completed with some capital films shown on the Ottograph.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. Thomas Baker.—George Mozart, the well-known comedian, is attracting large houses here; his burlesques are both clever and original, and his efforts are thoroughly enjoyed. Lawton Bros. appear in an acrobatic act as deputies for Metz and Metz; the Havannas Troupe perform some remarkable tumbling feats; a refined musical scena is provided by Olive and Owen entitled Roadside Tinkers; and Will Willis, comedian; Phœnix Trio, harmony singers and dancers; and Miss Diana Hope, supported by Monte Bayly and Chas. Levey in The Altar of Duty, complete a good bill.

CAMBRIDGE.—NEW THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. B. Redfern, J.P., D.L.—Messrs. Harding and Cooper's company paid a welcome return visit here on Monday night with The Flag Lieutenant. Dicky Lascelles was most happily played by Mr. Edgar Kent; Mr. Montague Love was particularly good as Thesiger; the Vice-Admiral was capitally rendered by Mr. George Mallett; Mrs. Cameron was cleverly given by Miss Florence Jackson; and Lady Hermoine was charmingly interpreted by Miss Dorothy Ripley.

CARDIFF.—NEW THEATRE.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Robert Redford.—Regret is freely expressed on all sides that the end of Milton Bode and Robert Redford's pantomime Dick Whittington is in sight. The last fortnight sees the pantomime running with agreeable swing and ease. Miss Isabelle Dillon, the principal boy, is not likely to be forgotten in the district, her dashing and tactful rendition of the part being greatly admired; Miss Gladys Guy's Alice is the quintessence of grace and vivaciousness, her charming singing and delightful dancing being likely to live long in our memories; Miss Blanche Astley has won distinction by her interpretation of Tommy Trot; and Miss Elsa McIntosh has done equally well as Mary. The comedians are among the cleverest fun-makers we have had in pantomime, their wholesome, smart, and humorous by-play making the production intensely amusing for both young and old. Mr. Phil Smith stands out as the Dame Matilda, being really good; Mr. Mark Lester as Idle Jack, and Mr. Tom E. Sinclair as Alderman Fitzwarren also arouse merriment throughout; while Mr. Arthur E. Godfrey (Captain Scupper) and Mr. Arthur Leslie (Bill Oakum) are a quaint couple, who cause irresistible laughter. Miss Minnie Duncan shows histrionic ability as Fatima. The clever antics of Mr. Johnny Fuller as the cat should not be overlooked. The whole production is a credit to the management and the town.

THEATRE ROYAL.—General-Manager, Mr. Graham Morrison; Assistant-Manager, Mr. S. E. Clay.—The management of the Theatre Royal have achieved an undeniable success with their pantomime Mother Goose, and thoroughly deserve the good business which has been done since the opening performance. Several speciality acts have been introduced, among them being the marvellous cycling exhibition by the Starley Bros., and a sweet scena by Mr. Sylvester Stewart. Miss Lillie Soutter has done remarkably well as the principal boy Lubin, singing her numbers with infinite spirit; Miss Soutter looks particularly smart in the white costume she dons in the second part of the production. Miss Marie Wall is a pretty, attractive, and graceful principal girl, and Miss Marie Elsie is just as suitably placed as Annabel; Mr. Alfred Donohoe as Mother Goose, Mr. Harry Karr as Squire Close, Mr. Walter Kooney as Parchment, and Mr. Mark Henton as Billy, keep the pantomime going from start to finish with a merry swing by their amusing impersonations. Miss Roberta Svendsen as the Good Fairy, and Mr. Jack Weeks as the Wicked Fairy deserve credit; as also does Mr. Fred Cox for his hard work as the Goose.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. J. Taylor.—The famous Chinese magician, Chung Ling Soo, heads the bill with his mysterious performance; Emerson and Baldwin bring down the house by their clever and comic juggling; Edward Crossland's melody makers prove novel and skilful in a phantom scena, entitled The Burglar's Dream; Victor Widdicombe and company please greatly in a comedy episode Her Devonshire Dad; Tom Stuart's characterisation and mimicry are a treat to witness; and the Three Welsh Girls, in harmonised illustrated numbers, are accorded a hearty reception; Lizzie Glenroy, the wee Scotch singer and dancer, gains applause; Musical Silvo gives an expert display of musical novelties; with the American Bioscope to complete.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. W. A. Jackson.—A fine sketch, entitled The Girl I Love, presented by Fred Maxwell and company, heads the Palace programme this week. Mr. Fred Maxwell himself impersonates Max Donovan in a forcible manner, and the sketch is a great attraction. Lew Lake's Six Buster Browns give a smart American vaudeville entertainment; the Brothers Ford stand conspicuously in a singing and extremely talented dancing act; and others who contribute to a varied and strong bill are: Stein-Esthor Trio, comedy hand-jumpers, Victor and Louis, the golfer and the caddie, Sisters Carlton, comediennes, Tom Joy, clever comedian, Josephine Croake, with illustrated songs, and the ever-popular Bioscope.

CARLISLE.—H. M. THEATRE.—Lessees, Mr. Thos. Courtice and Mrs. R. Stewart M'Kim; Manager, Mr. Thos. Courtice.—Mr. Allan Wilkie and company are here this week in a répertoire of Shakespearean plays. The Merchant of Venice was given on the opening night. As Shylock Mr. Wilkie was quite a success. Forcible, earnest, and holding a firm grip of the character, Mr. Wilkie scored throughout, and was heartily applauded. Special interest centred in the appearance of Miss Carrie Baillie, at one time a popular amateur in the city, whose refined and artistic impersonation of Portia was greatly and deservedly admired. Her reception was cordial in the extreme. As Bassanio Mr. Alexander Marsh contributed a fine performance; Antonio was in the safe hands of Mr. Houston Meharry, and Mr. John Paley's Gratiano was a marked success; Mr. Arthur Keane took every advantage of his opportunities as Lancelot Gobbo, proving himself an excellent comedian; Mrs. Allan Wilkie as Nerissa an Miss Hilda Plowright as Jessica were excellent. Hamlet, Macbeth, The Taming of the Shrew, As You Like It, and Othello are billed for production during the week.

CASTLEFORD.—ROYAL.—Sole Proprietor and Licensee, Mr. Chas. Gadsby; Business-Manager, Councillor Henry Masterman, J.P.—Messrs. H. Armitage and Arthur Leigh's company is this week presenting With Edged Tools. Mr. Hamilton Deane secures favour as Jack Meredith; Victor Durnovo is ably represented by Mr. Campbell Goldemid; Mr. J. D. Geddes is one of the most notable personalities of the play in the part of John Meredith; Miss Marie Leonhardt's Jocelyn Gordon is a finished performance; Miss Marion Fawcett has a taking style as Lady Cantourne; Miss Marguerite Cellier is a powerful Millicent; Guy Oscard is capitally undertaken by Mr. Henry Nunn; Mr. Albert Campbell is an acceptable Maurice Gordon; Miss Violet Thorpe a good Lady Herries, and Miss Florence Dulhunty a successful Marie.

QUEEN'S THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, The Castleford Queen's Theatre Co., Ltd.; Managing Directors, Messrs. Charles Beanland and W. H. Emerson.—The Five Olracs head the bill here as acrobatical funnisities, and their business is both smart and amusing; Troba's juggling with cannon balls, shells, and sentry boxes is marvellous; a clever turn is that of Henry and Tyler, trick cyclists, and the Two Beatrices charm everybody with their chic appearance; Kyd and Kyd are a couple of the funniest of patterers; Tom Isherwood sings in fine style; and Rorke, Rooke and Co., in a musical farce, The Prince's Love Affair, are provocative of considerable hilarity. The Simisters are warmly applauded for their refined patter and vocal acts; and animated pictures by the Loyal Dominion Co. are as popular as ever.

CHATHAM.—BARNARD'S PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. L. B. Barnard.—Here we have Harry Desmond, comedian; the Sprees in a bright little scena "The Rustic and the Maid"; Goodall and Knox, speciality artists; May Clark, a vocalist whose choruses are readily taken up; Nash and Nash, with taking patter; W. T. Ellwanger and company creating roars of laughter in Who Did It? and the Riogoku Family, who fairly bring down the house.

GAIETY THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Capt. H. E. Davis; Manager, Mr. G. Humphries.—Ruby Celeste and May Hallatt please immensely with their study in Cockney life entitled 'Enery Brown; Ray and Calden score in a variety scena, the former's hat manipulation being very neat; Vendome and Chase appeal successfully to lovers of dancing; Clarice Sefton deputises satisfactorily for Radena Ray; the Eight College Girls are making a welcome reappearance; the Four Kellys contribute a daring acrobatic act; J. Beeson, blue-jacket tenor, has a flattering reception nightly; and the Edisonograph reproduces some excellent views.

CHELTENHAM.—OPERA HOUSE.—General-Manager, Mr. H. Oswald Redford.—Mr. Herbert Sleath's company presented on Monday The Woman in the Case. Miss Kathleen Russell is a powerful and capable Margaret Rolfe; Miss Maud Hildyard is as realistic as could be desired as the revengeful Claire Forster; Mr. William Kershaw is very natural as Julian Rolfe; Mr. James Lindsay gives a remarkably good study of the lawyer Thompson; the good-humoured Jimmy O'Neil is brightly played by Mr. Paul Wynter; Mr. Sydney Palfrey acts with sufficient spirit as Louis Klauffsky; Miss Mary Griffiths displays a neat turn for comedy as the garrulous mother-in-law, Mrs. Hughes; and the Misses Pamela Hope, Joan Temple, and R. Barcham act with natural grace and finish as Mrs. Rolfe's friends. Smaller parts are well played by Mr. W. F. Fletcher, Mr. Frank Mayo, Mr. Charles Saley, and Mr. James Mitchell. The Deputy Sheriff is a highly dramatic curtain-raiser.

CHESTER.—ROYALTY THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. B. Fountaine.—The Compton Comedy Company's visit to Chester is amongst the most welcome theatrical events of the year. Davy Garrick, with the inimitable Mr. Edward Compton in the title-rôle, was received on Monday with the usual delight and enthusiasm. Mr. Compton plays with all his old verve, and of him one may truly state that "age cannot wither, nor custom stale his infinite variety." Mr. Frank Royde was a perfect Tallyhaut; and that excellent comedian Mr. H. Crocker portrayed with increasing charm and dignity his old part of Alderman Gresham. The Rumbelow of Mr. Philip Gordon was worthy of so able a low comedian; the Sowerberry of Mr. J. W. Austin and the Simpkins of Mr. C. Marquand were excellent interpretations of these humorous characters; Miss Marie Hassell as Mrs. Rumbelow and Miss Lorraine Stevens as Selina, convulsed the audience in their mirth-provoking rôles; and Miss Kathleen Leigh played with her usual power and exquisite charm the exacting part of Violet Gresham. The curtain raiser Tom Noddy's Secret was notable for the first appearance in Chester of Miss Nell Compton, whose Gabrielle was a finished performance, and in all respects worthy of her distinguished histrionic ancestry. The week's bill includes School for Scandal, The Road to Ruin, A Reformed Rake, The Blasé Baronet, and She Stoops to Conquer.

COLCHESTER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Charles Macdona; Lessee and Manager, Mr. F. Graham Macdona.—Mr. Wilson Howard and company, in Under the Czar, is fulfilling a week's engagement here this week. Mr. Wilson Howard himself, in the rôle of Nicholas Veroslaff, plays in a highly creditable manner; Miss Carlotta Anson as Sonia portrays the character with ability; Miss

Miss Daisy Yates is a great success, and has a charming partner in Miss Olive West, an enchanting Alice; Mr. H. D. Lyndon is a quaint and curious Alderman Fitzwarren; Mr. Jack Harris keeps the house in roars of laughter as Idle Jack; Messrs. Haverley and Homer are a whimsical pair as the Nuts; and Mr. Dan Thomas, full of life and agility, gives a droll sketch of Betsy. The Olga Belleu are a fascinating troupe.

DARLINGTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. James Bell.—Messrs. Glenville and Osmond's delightful pantomime Aladdin is playing here to good houses. In the title-rôle Miss Hettie Zillwood sings and acts with much charm; Miss L. Charlsworth makes a pretty Prince; Mr. Frank Sutherland is a clever Abanazar; the Brothers Lavelle as the Police Force are very funny, their acrobat business being very smart; Mr. Pulo as Wishee-Washee is good, and his juggling perfection; the Sisters Wingrove give a fine show; the Venester troupe of dancers are clever; and an agreable feature of the pantomime is a sextette of male vocalists. There are some pretty effects, and the scenery is excellent.

HIPPODROME THEATRES, LTD.—Acting-Manager, Mr. Albert E. Nicholls.—Mr. Harry Burns's pantomime Robinson Crusoe is showing twice nightly. It is well staged, and the dresses and effects are in every way up to expectations. Miss Minnie D'Aubyn as Crusoe is very successful; in Miss Fanny Harris is found a charming Polly Perkins; Miss Gertrude Martini and Miss Lillie Hoyes, Miss Nina May, Miss Gwen Wielan, Miss Madge Wood, and Miss Minnie Desmond are good in their respective parts; much amusement is caused by Messrs. Tray and Rich as Captain Cuttle and Captain's Mate; Mr. Mark Stuart as Dame Crusoe is extremely funny; and Man Friday is in the capable hands of Mr. Dan Hendy. With a full chorus and augmented orchestra the panto is going well.

DERBY.—GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Proprietor and General-Manager, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. Bert Dent.—Mr. Harry Foxwell's company this week is here in A Broken Heart. Miss Sheila Walsh is a sympathetic Mary Barnard; Mr. Harry Cullenford deserves praise for his interpretation of John Barnard; Stephen Raylton is capably presented by Mr. A. J. Holmes; Mr. Ernest Duval does well as Gash Gills; and Mr. Will Beasley as the Curate and Miss Daisy Rochefort as Little May also deserve commendation. The lighter side of the piece rests with Mr. C. Eldred Woodley as Tony Tibbets and Miss Nancy Mitchell as Sally Travner, whose efforts create much amusement.

PALACE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Sole Lessee and General-Manager, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. E. Moyes.—Mr. James Kiddie's pantomime The Forty Thieves is proving a great attraction. As Ganem Miss Elsie Steadman does exceedingly well, and possesses a sweet voice; Miss Lyle Jeffries charmingly portrays Morgiana, and her songs are rendered in a very pleasing style; to the part of the Captain Miss Rose Pareezer does ample justice; Mr. Percy Curry as Ali Baba and Mr. Arthur Behan as Cogia introduce much good fun, which is appreciably augmented by Messrs. Fame and Fortune, the policemen; and Mr. Arthur Burton as Cassim Baba also proves himself a droll comedian. A word of commendation should also be accorded Mr. Harry Walker as George Percy, the donkey, and Messrs. Mark Merry (Kaderick), Reg. Amber (Mustaoha), Geo. Melrose (the Caliph) and Misses Cissie and Kittie Behan, Ada Jenner, and Dorothy Wellington. A pleasing feature is the dancing of the Caen Villa Troupe of lady dancers. The remaining characters are all cleverly handled. The chorus and orchestra are under the able conductorship of Mr. John S. Kershaw.

DEVONPORT.—METROPOLE.—Manager, Mr. G. S. King.—After a successful pantomimic run, drama is being presented by Miss Annie Bell's company, The Idol of Paris forming a strong attraction. As Flare-Flare Miss Bell gives a clever piece of acting; Mr. Cyril Lee provides an excellent study of Phillipe d'Esterre; and Mr. Scott Leighton makes a first-rate Victor Cashelle.

HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. Herbert Taylor.—Some beautiful tableaux are presented by Signor Arvi, depicting classical subjects; John Grun Marx, the modern Hercules, performs some astounding feats of strength, raising a whole platform of men; Howe and Ardie entertain with a clever gymnastic and acrobatic display; Fred Dunstone is heard to advantage in song and patter; Gerhardi Moir provides an interesting jumping turn; Percy Harman, baritone, sings in acceptable fashion; and Fred S. Peake and company entertain with a pretty costume sketch, entitled The Hypocrite. Camille Feo, in song and dance, is responsible for another fine turn.

DEWSBURY.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, Northern Theatres Co., Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. Herbert Asquith.—Mr. Fred Granville's (Productions, Ltd.) pantomime Beauty and the Beast is the attraction here. The Sisters Kebbie take the parts of Silver Buttons and Beauty in a clever manner; Miss Hilda de Grey plays the Prince in dashing style; Mr. Sammy Foster is funny as Sammy; Sir Macintosh Winkles is smartly rendered by Mr. Albert Juan; Mr. Frank Daleno causes much laughter as Twitters; Mr. Edward Stream is humorous as Sprindles; and Miss Dollie Barrie is all that can be desired as Sir Electro Plato. Miss Bella Moody is a capital Wilhelmina, and Mr. Meklin Williams as the Beast uses his fine voice to advantage; Fairy Sunlight is cleverly interpreted by Miss Victoria Francis; and Mr. Sidney Milton ably sustains the part of the Witch.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. G. W. and G. E. Smith; Manager, Mr. Claude Shayler; Musical-Director, Mr. E. G. Summerfield.—The Four Piccolo Midgets, in a clever acrobatic and weight-lifting act, have a cordial reception; Lemoi and Quieb make a hit in a novel sketch Miss Bacon's Easter Egg, in which is introduced a little girl, who astonishes the audience with some smart dancing and feats of contortion; Yangar, the West African wonder-worker, bewilders everybody with his illusions; Les Belles Americaines, a quartette of acrobatic dancers, meet with loud applause; an acceptable musical act is submitted by the Sisters Alndow; and George Prince is a mirth-maker; Al and Lal, in a novel ventriloquial act, are well applauded; Dan Robans sings exceedingly well; and some fine pictures are shown.

HIPPODROME.—General-Manager, Mr. Geo. Weldon; Stage-Manager, Mr. Jack Harris; Musical Director, Mr. R. H. Riley.—Miss Manners and her clever juveniles occupy a prominent position on the bill here. Joe Belmont, the human bird, gives a bright and interesting entertainment; Allan Hanbury is a meritorious comedian; Wyotti, a clever juggler; and Nellie Walton, the singing Lancashire mill girl, scores a success; Walter Barrett uses his fine baritone to advantage. Some interesting and amusing pictures are shown on the Bioscope.

DONCASTER.—NEW GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE, LTD.—Manager, Mr. J. W. Chapman.—Mr. George Dance's company is here in the musical comedy Our Miss Gibbs. Miss Eustace Burnaby is successful in his representation of the Hon. Hughie Pierrepoint; a real Yorkshire welcome is extended to Mr. Arthur S. Radcliffe as Lord Eynsford; Timothy Gibbs was capably played by Mr. Vincent Verne; Miss Lilian Birtles is a persona grata as Lady Elizabeth Thanet; Miss Ellaline Thorne as Madame Jeanne has a pleasing personality and a capital voice; and the titular rôle, in the hands of Miss Elfie Vincent, is a great success.

DUBLIN.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frederick Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Charles Dory.—Following the opera season here we have the pantomime of Aladdin, which was produced in Belfast at Christmas. There was a very large and appreciative audience present on Monday night, and the pantomime went with great success. Mr. M. P. Byrne supplied the "local bits," which were particularly smart; Miss Georgie Corlass, in the title-rôle, displayed her abilities cleverly, and sings her songs with great spirit and vigour; Princess En-Chang-Ting is effectively enacted by Miss Thelma Raye, who sing and plays the violin cleverly; Miss Topsey Sinden is a very accomplished artist, and was warmly applauded for her excellent performance as Yu Bu Tree; she is a most artistic dancer and sings very nicely. Miss Florence Foster does exceedingly well as Ah Ling; Miss Gwennie Harcourt is extremely good as Our Mary Ann, her comedy throughout being heartily enjoyed; her rendering of "Now I have to call him father" was warmly encored; Mr. W. H. Powell has plenty of scope to display his comedy business in the character of Widow Twankey, which he does with excellent results; Carlton is a capital Abanazar, and his sleight-of-hand tricks are very entertaining; Mr. Neville Delmar (Pekoe) and Mr. Colin Poop (Emperor of China) do well; Miss Connie Glenabyn (Slave of the Lamp), Miss Jocelyn Hope (Genii of the Ring), Mr. Walter Fairbrother (Amenophis), and Miss Muriel Lennox (Love), are all successful. The scenery is very elaborate, the dresses pretty, and the stage accessories everything that could be desired.

GAIETY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fredk. Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Charles Hyland.—Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Benson and their Shakespearean company commenced a season's engagement here on Monday night, when there was a large audience present to witness a special production of Macbeth. Mr. Benson appeared as Macbeth, and gave an artistic and powerful performance; Mrs. Benson was a most convincing Lady Macbeth; Mr. Eric Maxon as Macduff was exceedingly good; the Banquo of Mr. Murray Carrington was very fine; and the King was effectively played by Mr. Guy B. Rathbone. The staging and dresses were admirable. The répertoire for the rest of the week is Much Ado About Nothing, Julius Cæsar, The Taming of the Shrew, and As You Like It.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Marriott Watson; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. F. Wright.—Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Mackay's company remain here another week, and on Monday The Shaughraun was heartily enjoyed by a crowded house. Mr. Chalmers Mackay's portrayal of Conn was exceedingly good and he made the humorous points with considerable skill; Mr. Fred Charles was most effective in his reading of Robert Ffolliott; Mr. Walter Steele did good work as Corry Kinchela; and the part of Harvey Duff was well played by Mr. Edward Lowrie; Claire Ffolliott was admirably presented by Mrs. Chalmers Mackay; and Father Doolan was in the able hands of Mr. J. P. McBride.

EMPIRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager and Secretary, Mr. George H. Marsh.—An attractive programme is headed by Arthur Watson and his excellent company in The Cruise of H.M.S. Victory; a capital sketch, entitled Beauty and the Burglar, is well presented by Miss Millie Engler and company; and Miss Ethel Dunford, comedienne, is popular with all parts of the house; Fred Elton's scena On Board an Ocean Liner is most entertaining; and Kahn and Kahn, in a clever illusion act, meet with success; as a ventriloquist Professor Dunning makes a decided hit; Charles Vincent, eccentric comedian, is well received; Stewart and Morgan, in their vocal speciality, win rounds of applause; and the Empire pictures conclude.

TIVOLI.—General-Manager, Mr. Charles M. Jones; Assistant-Manager, Mr. H. A. Murphy.—The chief place in this week's bill is filled by Pasquali Brothers, the wonderful tumblers and equilibrists; also appearing are the Sisters Macarte, in the Japanese scena The Land of the Lotus; Natalia and Diana, aerial gymnasts; Ethel Mann, contralto vocalist; Brothers Dean, the original dancers in white; the Gentrys, the humorous duo, in Bits; Brothers Leo, patter comedians; Evelyn Taylor, comedienne; and Newman and Knight, in a comedy juggling act; together with the Bioscope.

WORLD'S FAIR AND MUSIC HALL.—Proprietor, Mr. C. A. James.—The programme here includes: The Three Van Earles, in their novelty act; Chris, the dancing marvel; George Mack, descriptive vocalist; Miss Lorna, ballad vocalist; Will Gay, comedian; Dene Hall, actor-vocalist; and the cinematograph.

DUDLEY.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. Maurice Clement; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. W. Tilley.—Mr. Ian Robertson and his company have caused a sensation here with The Passing of the Third Floor Back. Mr. Robertson gives a fine performance of the passer-by, and keeps his audience spellbound; Miss Barbara Everest is ladylike and artistic as Vivian; and Miss Helena Parsons, with her quaint humour, as the slavey, is a big success; Miss Jeannie Thomas's Landlady is a well-played and typical part; Mr. W. O. Billington, Mr. J. Woodall Birde, Mr. Gedge Twyman, Miss Lena Delphine, Mr. Stanley Browne, Mr. Herbert Garthorne, Miss Druscilla Wills, and Miss Blanche Ripley are all praiseworthy. There are recalls at every "curtain." The piece is preceded by Come Here, which is loudly applauded.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, the Midland Entertainment Corporation, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. F. H. Waters.—At the top of the bill are the Olympian team of cyclists, who, in a "football" match, representing local teams, are clever and amusing; Vetter Bros., in a gymnastic display, entitled Pages' Recreation, provide an attractive performance; another good performance is that of Zanoni, in a juggling scena; the house is convulsed with laughter at the jokes and songs of Charlie Grantley, a comedian with a style of his own; Vessey and O'Connor are charming musical entertainers; and Nellie Dallwood is a pleasing comedienne and dancer; Jack Gilman is a good descriptive vocalist.

DUNDEE.—HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Manager, Mr. Louis Karpe.—A good reception was accorded to the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company from a brilliant house here on Monday evening, when The Gondoliers was presented. Miss Everell Spain as Gianetta acted brightly, and treated her music in a thoroughly artistic manner; a delightfully vivacious Tessa was found in Miss Beatrice Boarer, whose sprightly acting, pleasing singing, and graceful dancing combined to make a peculiarly attractive performance; Miss Bertha Lewis must be congratulated for her cultured rendering of the music allotted to the Duchess of Plaza-Toro; Miss Mabel Graham made a very attractive and graceful Casilda; Mr. Fred Billington's Grand Inquisitor was a treat, the grimaces, the easy nonchalance, and the inimitable method of his singing being as usual admirable; Mr. Henry A. Lytton as the Duke of Plaza-Toro was brilliant throughout, his dancing and singing combining most happily for the amusement of the audience; Mr. Henry Herbert as Marco sang very tunefully; Mr. Leicester Tunks was an admirable Guiseppe, his perfect articulation being a noteworthy feature of his singing; Mr. Sydney Granville as Luiz sang well; and praise is also due to the chorus, which was notably bright and tuneful. The play was magnificently staged and dressed, and the augmented orchestra was under the masterly direction of Mr. Francois Cellier. The week's bill has also included The Mikado, Patience, The Yeomen of the Guard, The Pirates of Penzance, and Trial by Jury.

KING'S THEATRE AND HIPPODROME, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Moul; Manager, Mr. S. McIntosh.—An excellent bill of fare is headed by Chanti, who goes through his brilliant performance with an ease, an alertness, and a grace that are exhilarating in the extreme; Alick Lauder had a warm welcome in The Christening; The Devil's Box of Bricks is admirably acted by James Willard, Jackson Wilcox, and Maisie Everette; Geo. Bernard wins applause for his song dramas; Will E. Stopit, with a quaint individuality, scores a hit; Dancit proves herself a dancer of outstanding ability; Frank Hartley accomplishes new and daring juggling feats in clever fashion; Norah Noble sings and dances in an engaging manner; and some capital pictures are shown by the Kingscope.

GAIETY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Moul; Manager, Mr. S. McIntosh.—Mr. Stephen Pritt's company, in A Woman's Passion, has proved a strong draw here this week. Mr. Arthur F. Dudley's portrayal of the hero, Lord Hubert Normington Vale, is imbued with considerable dramatic effect; Mr. David McFarlane achieves distnction by a polished rendering of Sir Randall Derrick; Miss Louie Peebles fills the rôle of the heroine, Winifred Hamlyn, with grace and ease; Miss Lily Prescott realises admirably the character of Claire Trevenen; Miss Adele Liddon makes a picturesque Gipsy Fortune Teller; Miss Gertrude Purnell and Miss Nellie Hook are excellent in their respective parts; Mr. R. F. Stacey submits a well-defined sketch of Dr. d'Estra; Mr. Stephen Pritt (the author) is seen to advantage as the Jockey Vicary; and Mr. Percy Warlow as Goliath ably looks after the comedy element.

DURHAM.—THE PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. T. C Rawes.—An entertaining programme is headed by the Saxonia family, who give an expert musical extravaganza; the Three Coopers receive a welcome in a comic vocal scena; The Henpecked Husband and School Chums; and the harmonious singing of Andrews and Thompson wins admiration. Henri Bekker completely mystifies the audience with clever conjuring; the sketch of the Oxfords is amusing; Bianchi, upside-down juggler, is a capital turn; and Leolin is a master of Indian club manipulation. The Cathedoscope shows A Safe Deposit.

EASTBOURNE.—DEVONSHIRE PARK THEATRE.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Murray King and Clark.—Mr. Frederick Mouillot's company appeared here on Monday in A Message from Mars. Mr. Aidan Lovett was an excellent Horace Parker; Mr. George P. Polson an impressive and distinct Messenger; Mr. Norman Clark a realistic tramp; Mr. Alfred Lugg a capital Arthur Dicey; Mr. D. Greene an entirely satisfactory Policeman; Miss Rose Helene an ideal Minnie Templar; Miss Aubery Ashton an able Miss Parker; and minor parts were ably filled. A Soldier's Wedding, played by Mr. Walter Melvill's company, was billed for the last part of the week.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Sidney W. Winter; Manager, Mr. E. W. Holford.—Heading an excellent bill here this week are Mr. Paul Mill and his Courtiers, whose pretty costumes and tasteful singing make up a wholly delightful item; Messrs. Ike and Will Scott dance capitally, and have some funny jokes and business; Mr. Hubert Connorton is humorous in a refined and novel duologue; Mr. George Ellis contributes strong and realistic impersonations; Mr. Gus Barra as a mad musician is amusing; Smith and Gibbs are neat and expert hand-balancers; and Nellie Comber and Alice Floyd are entertaining.

ECCLES.—CROWN THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Resident-Acting-Manager, Mr. Albert Rogers.—Messrs. W. H. Hallatt and Walter Howard's company is presenting Her Love Against the World. Mr. Fred Emery as Eric Earl of Strathmere is responsible for a praiseworthy performance; Mr. Oswald Cray in the part of Ulric Prince of Ravensburg proves himself an actor of more than average ability; Mr. W. H. Hallatt as Prince Othmar is to be complimented on his rendering of the part; as Prince Maurice of Saxonia Mr. Henry Hallatt also acts with distinction; Miss Elsie Roberts in the character of Iris Princess of Idalia fully merits the applause with which her performance is received; and Miss Blanche Steele as Shula Countess of Rasselyn makes the most of her opportunities. The production is well staged.

EDINBURGH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Directors, Mr. F. W. Wyndham and Mr. George T. Minshull; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Whitehead.—The verdict of the audiences at the opening performances of Humpty-Dumpty has been heartily and fully endorsed by the crowded houses which are still attracted to the Royal by the clever and amusing pantomime. Miss Iris Banfield's sweet and charming acting and her telling singing have won golden opinions from young and old, and the vivacity of Miss Radie Furman in the part of Gretchen gives an unfailing exhilaration to the many scenes in which this extremely bright comedienne appears. The comedians are a band of admirable burlesque actors, Mr. Shaun Glenville, Mr. Joe Nightingale, Mr. Jack Lane, Mr. Ivan Berlyn, Mr. Ian Lloyd Mackenzie, and Queen and Le Brun work hard and successfully, and the theatre rings with laughter at their droll business. The Music Saloon and Dining Room scenes on the yacht are excellent examples of good wholesome fun. Miss Clare Hartland's expressive voice is heard to advantage in delightful renderings of her numbers, and the gallery takes up nightly with much gusto the refrain of her popular song "Somewhere"; and Miss Iris Colley, Miss Maggie Fraser, Miss Zoe Gordon, and the members of the Tiller troupe contribute their share to the general success.

KING'S THEATRE.—General-Manager Mr. Amand Mascard.—This, the closing week of the successful Babes in the Wood pantomime, has been marked by complimentary benefits to some of the leading performers, who have received neighbourly assistance from artists engaged at other places of entertainment in town to swell the special attractions of the programme. Among others, the comedians Vasey and Ramsey, Mr. W. L. Rowland, of Poole's Myriorama, Talberto and Douglas, from Cooke's Circus, the Lindsay and Austin vocalists and dancers, and the Scottish comedian Mr. Alec. B. Thorne, have helped to swell the bill. The merits of all engaged in the pantomime have been duly recognised during the run of the piece. Mr. Val Morgan's demon Infernalito has come out vocally very strong, and Miss Gracie Sumner has been all through a supernaturally good fairy Sylvania. Of the "Naturals, Sharps, and Flats" (so catalogued in the cast), Miss Dolly Elsworthy and Miss Mollie Woolstenhulme have scored as Robin Hood and Maid Marian; Little John and Merry Mavis have had good representatives in Miss Kitty Douglas and Miss Elsie Maynard; and the comedian element has been well worked by Mr. Johnnie Osborne as the Uncle, Mr. George Brook in a Dame part, Messrs. Will Terry and Sam Fay as the Ruffians, and Mr. Alf Brookes as a Page; while Miss Vi Wilson and Baby Boden have earned distinction as the Babes. Apart from all merely human successes, "Tomato"—an educated ass in his own skin—has secured quite the lion's share of merit amongst the speciality interludes.

EMPIRE PALACE THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. Aynsley Cook.—The pleasing American artists Frank and Jen Latona head this week's bill with one of their well-known musical acts, which is applauded to the echo, and most favourably received; Signor Rosi's Italian ballet Uncle Isadore is another strong item, introducing the two famous dancers Signorina Luisa Patti and Signorina C. Mossetti; Rohda Brothers contribute an original up-to-date gymnastic turn; Phil Percival does some clever and amusing things at the piano; Florence appears with some success as a lady mimic of variety-hall stars; the American Bioscope exhibits an excellent series of pictures; and Herbert Darnley's company produce an imposing farcical sketch in three acts entitled The Barnstormers. Most interesting of all, in their different degrees of entertainment, are Henry Helme, the French Alpine vocalist; Falco and Eida, who illustrate in song and dance many of the subtleties of ju-jitsu; and Harry Friskey, who mingles comedy with expert juggling in a unique American fashion.

COOKE'S ROYAL CIRCUS.—Proprietor, Mr. John Henry Cooke; Manager, Mr. Talbot Cooke.—Siberia continues to draw good houses to Mr. Cooke's popular place of entertainment; but the enterprising proprietor gives his patrons full measure besides in the various equestrian and acrobatic scenes in the arena. Rosconi, a daring performer, M. Rossini, an expert stilt-walker, whose feats on his high wooden perches are alike dashing and amusing, and Codarno, with his curiosity band, are only a few of the many interesting turns in an excellent programme, which is constantly enlivened by the jests of the clever clowns. Mr. Leicester Alfred Cooke, an accomplished equestrian, announces his benefit for Friday, when the performance will be under the patronage of the Scottish Kennel Club.

EXETER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Chairman and Managing Director, Mr. Edward J. Domville, J.P.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy M. Dunsford.—The boards are occupied by the Exeter Amateur Operatic Society in The Yeomen of the Guard. The production is under the stage directorship of Mr. R. Weatherseby, formerly stage director to the D'Oyly Carte Repertoire Company, and is worthy of the best traditions of Gilbert and Sullivan opera, and it is hoped that local charities will benefit very considerably as a result of the performances.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred Karno; Resident and Acting-Manager, Mr. Frederick Sandy.—The top of this week's bill is occupied by the Jackson Family, a quartette of musicians of conspicuous ability; Mdlle. Hengleur's troupe of Russian poodles, supported by other members of the canine tribe, display a remarkable degree of intelligence, and prove extremely diverting and interesting; Curtis Leo is a smart illusionist and juggler; Yetta contributes some clever wire dancing; Eldra has a popular reception with some clever balancing feats; while Eva Brilliant (sand dancer) and Hammon and Wyatt (duettists) add in no small measure to the pleasure of the audience.

FOLKESTONE.—PLEASURE GARDENS THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. H. W. Rowland.—Mr. Walter Melville's company in The Soldier's Wedding is proving a great attraction here. The rôle of Jack Brown is played by Mr. Douglas Cecil in a vigorous and manly style; Mr. Cyprian Matthews enacts Colonel James Graham with good effect; Miss Dorothy Richardson scores a success as Nancy Lee; Mr. W. L. Butler make an interesting villain; and the humorous side of the play is in the responsible hands of Master Albert as Teddy Munroe, Mr. Willie Scott as Tommy Spratt, and Mr. Philip Sefton as David Munroe. Miss Nita Langford as Julie, Miss Bessie Walters at Lizzie Walker, and Miss Dora Pass as Peggy Munroe are also praiseworthy.

GATESHEAD.—KING'S THEATRE, LTD.—Chairman, Mr. Alfred Moul; Local Manager and Licensee, Councillor Harold Arnold.—The chief line in a "bill" of good things at this house is Arthur Breton's company in a laughable sketch named A Sleepless Night; Miss Ada Oxley and company have a most amusing little farce named Peggy, in which Miss Oxley scores a real success; Harry Talbot and Gladys Clare present a pleasing comedy, My Wife Wouldn't Like It, which receives much praise; Kendrick and Laura sing and dance in taking fashion; Allis and Cassati gag and dance with good effect; Agnes Tina is an accomplished young mimic; Reginald Jecks finely renders two ballads; and the Kingscope provides another entertaining item.

METROPOLE THEATRES.—Sole Lessee, Mr. F. W. Bolam; General-Manager, Mr. R. G. Elder; Acting-Manager, Mr. Ernest Dixon.—Messrs. F. W. Bolam and John Tiller's pantomime Jack and Gill takes rank as one of the best "shows" ever presented here. There is a wealth of good things, and the ballets are such as have made the name of Tiller famous. Miss Marguerite Broadfoote (Prince Fearnought) will always have a warm welcome here by virtue of past triumphs. Her work in this pantomime is quite up to her usual standard, the singing of "I do like to be" and "Baby Bunting" gaining much praise. Miss Moyna Hill is a dainty Princess; Misses Cissy Iris and Nellie Grimshaw as Jack and Jill score a success, Miss Iris making a hit with "I used to sigh." Trim and Prim are excellently done by Misses Florrie Page and Annie Edelstein; Miss Dora Christian is a pleasing Fantine; Miss Ethel Edwards depicts Truth with much grace and sings "Somewhere" in telling style; Mr. Ernest Rees is a droll Dame; Mr. Will Lytton makes use of every opportunity as Ginger; Baron Jolliboy gives Mr. Fred Walmsley an opening for the exhibition of much humour; General Biff and Private Biff are well looked after by a funny pair in Messrs. Stanley Aubrey and Barney Dixon; Mr. Sidney Rennef gives a dramatic reading of Carl. A strong feature is the dancing of the Eight New Cocktails and the Twelve Manchester Mites, the latter combination being great favourites.

GLASGOW.—ROYALTY, LTD.—Sub-lessees, the Scottish Playgoers, Ltd.; General-Manager, Mr. Alfred Wareing.—The repertory season continues here with much success, and on Monday another play was given, the novelty this time being Mr. Arnold Bennett's What the Public Wants, with its effective character drawing and hits at the all-absorbing newspaper-magazine trusts of to-day. Mr. M. R. Morand once more proved his sterling ability by his performance of the part of Sir Charles Worgan, and Mr. Milton Rosmer was seen in a character of a less romantic type than usual, which afforded him more scope for clever acting, as the eccentric wanderer Francis Worgan. A distinct and emphatic hit was made by Miss Irene Rooke as Emily Vernon, and the audience were heartily appreciative. Mr. Campbell Gullan ably embodied the character of Saul Kendrick; a clever study of Macquoid, the dramatic critic, was given by Mr. D. Lewin Mannering; Miss Lola Duncan made an amusing Henrietta Cleland; and the peppery theatrical manager, St. John, was well acted by Mr. C. P. Cargill. Miss Alice Mansfield as Mrs. Downes, Miss Norah Delaney as Mrs. Worgan, and Miss Elspeth Dudgeon as Annie Worgan gave well-defined studies of their respective parts. Mr. Cecil Brooking as Brindley, Mr. P. Percival Clarke as his play-writing son, Mr. Lawrence Hanray as a doctor, and Mr. Cyril Griffiths as Cleland all lent due assistance. The play was produced by Mr. Norman Page. Later in the week Arms and the Man was given, and for next week a revival of Oscar Wilde's fine play Lady Windermere's Fan is announced.

GRAND.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; District Manager, Mr. B. G. Maclachlan; Resident Manager, Mr. Christie Grant.—Mother Goose is an acknowledged success here, and is running with a smoothness that must be gratifying to all concerned. Neil Kenyon and May Moore Duprez as principals are special favourites, and their gags are responsible for repeated outbursts of laughter. Miss Lily Morris is to the fore with catchy songs and choruses, and Fred Allandale as the Laird contributes several taking songs. Jack O'Connor with his eccentricities is responsible for hearty laughter.

PRINCESS'S.—Proprietor, Mr. Rich Waldon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Hugh Murdoch.—The pantomime Willie Winkie goes on the even tenor of its way, and from the burlesque Baron of Mr. Harry McClelland to the extravagant clowning of Messrs. Stephens as Rannior as Lanky and Swankie the fun is fast and furious. The Muggins of Mr. Harry Levaine is an amusing bit of eccentric comedy; the funny business being also ably sustained by Mr. Barry Gilmour as the diminutive Page, by Mr. Fred Ingram as the Dame, and Mr. Billy Oswald in the Scotch part. For the title-rôle the dashing style of Miss Jessie Templeton is well suited. As Brenda Miss Venie Clements makes a principal girl of more than ordinary charm; the singing of Miss Edith Haley (Teddy) is very popular here; and a smart second boy and girl are seen in the Sisters Crystal.

METROPOLE, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Arthur Jefferson; Acting-Manager, Mr. G. Gordon Jefferson.—A return visit of Messrs. Dottridge, Longden, and Livesey's company with The Village Blacksmith is welcome. Mr. Sam Livesey maintains his high reputation in his playing of John Strong; Miss Maggie Edwards acts with discretion and power as Kate Strong; Mr. Joseph Carter as Captain Leo gives a realistic impersonation; Mr. Edwin Maydew makes the part of Lucas Marler stand out prominently; Jeremiah Parkins is admirably interpreted by Mr. Thomas E. Marshall; and capital assistance comes from Mrs. T. C. Livesey as Sal Parkins. Miss Pauline Garside submits a fine reading of Harry Strong, and Ruth Parkins has a clever exponent in Miss Cassie Le Grande. The lighter side of the drama is provided by Mr. Fred Haming as Billy Twigg and Miss Rosie Kearne as Martha Mopps.

LYCEUM.—Proprietor, Mr. Rich Waldon; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. H. Oakden.—Mr. Harry Benet's No. 1 company is here in The Lady Slavey. Mr. Charles F. Clark takes the part of Major O'Neil with great success; Mr. Lister Morrah as Vincent Evelyn presents a fine sketch of the American millionaire; Mr. Tom G. Warren is prominent as Lord Lavender; Mr. Harry Quiningborough as Roberts is responsible for most of the fun; Miss Norra Morra in the title-rôle is vivacious and pleasing; Miss Reydon Dallas acts with spirit as Flo Honeydew; and Miss Kitty Hyde and Miss Blanche Hounsell are charming as the Major's daughters, Maud and Beatrice.

EMPIRE.—District-Manager, Mr. S. Gething; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. F. Reynolds.—Madame Alice Esty is the star artist here this week. J. W. Rowley gives some amusing patter along with his songs; Walker and May are pleasing singers and dancers; Leslie Bros. give some very fine music on several odd instruments, their performance being punctuated with plentiful fun; James Stewart, clad in picturesque rags, shows great command over the piano and also over the risibility of his audience; Frederick Russell and Lillian Held give a medley of humorous songs and dances; and Emil Solbvig and his automatons are provocative of much hearty laughter. Leonie Dixon is a dainty singer and graceful dancer; Rhoda Paul impersonates young men in a captivating manner; and the Westwoods are expert comedy cyclists.

PAVILION, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Evan Good.—A change of programme is given here this week, the boards being occupied by Mr. Harry Roxbury's company in the pantomime The Sleeping Beauty. Principal honours in the fun line fall to Mr. Tubby Edlin, who as the Great Unknown has unlimited opportunities of showing his versatile abilities and ably makes use of them. Mr. Willie Black as the Queen, aided by a strong Scotch accent, proves an excellent comedian; and clever business is provided by Mr. Tom Shenton as the King (aided by his clever youngsters), the Three Martinettes in knockabout business, and the Eight Oowana Girls in songs and dances. Miss Lillian Elliott is an attractive Prince Peerless, and sings her songs with dash and style; Miss Ivy Moore is the Princess Beauty, and acts her part well; the cornet playing of John S. Leick and Mabel Keith is one of the most taking items in the pantomime, and was enthusiastically applauded.

PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. Rich. Waldon; General Manager, Mr. Harry McKelvie.—At the head of affairs here is Dave Samuels, the Hebrew comedian. Majilton's company is a guarantee of fun; Austin and Cowan are responsible for a good vocal turn; Maudie Davis is good, and her dancing clever; and another artist whose show touches excellence is Henry Hilton, conjurer. Bains and company have a funny tumbling act; the Ray Hearn Trio are comedy acrobats with excellent qualifications; and Harry Morris, the Lancashire comedian and raconteur, is responsible for a most enjoyable turn. The Palacescope terminates a first-class programme.

COLISEUM.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; District Manager, Mr. S. Gething; Resident Manager, Mr. Harry Burdette.—Pantomime reigns here this week, the attraction being Messrs. R. C. Buchanan and Ernest Steven's company in Cinderella, after their successful run in Aberdeen. Though condensed to suit two houses, the version is that seen in Glasgow a year ago at the Grand, and proves as enjoyable as ever. Miss Felicia Firmin makes a dainty Cinderella, and is a neat and expert dancer; Miss Agnes Tandy as the Prince speaks her lines well and sings charmingly. The fun is never allowed to flag for one instant with Mr. Alfred Clark as the Baroness, Mr. E. Statham-Staples as Hercules, and Mr. W. Leopold, jun., as Capers. Mr. Harry Ongar is most successful as Dandini, and the two "less attractive" sisters of Cinderella are cleverly played by Misses Ethel Ramsay and Marianne Carozzi. Miss Dollie Hook is excellent as the Duke of Whistbridge, and as the Fairy Miss Dorothy Moulton sings in splendid style. A large and attractive chorus gives animation to the various scenes, and the Lottie Stone troupe of dancers are heartily appreciated.

PANOPTICON.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. A. E. Pickard.—The leading turn here is Sabino, with his many and varied instruments. Much amusement is caused by Neil Nelson, a Scotch comedian above the average; Lily Almore makes herself a favourite with her catchy songs; Vulcan, the one-legged strong man, gives a capital exhibition of weight-lifting; U. C. Ugo is a clever illusionist; Johnny Quinn in his vocal numbers takes well; and the Bioscope terminates a capital programme.

GLOSSOP.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Sydney Spenser.—Dick Whittington, presented by Miss Lena Stanton's company, occupies this theatre. In the title-rôle Miss Lena Stanton is charming, and sings and dances excellently; Little Keeno is a clever boy comedian; the Sisters Holman are clever vocalists and dancers, as are also the Pagoda troupe; Vic Verney is very clever and entertaining with his whistling; and Le Mair and Harrington are a droll comedy couple. The Brothers Hinson and the Zolo troupe of acrobats are two clever turns.

GLOUCESTER.—PALACE.—Owners, Messrs. Poole's Theatres, Ltd.; Director, Mr. C. W. Poole.—Verno and Voyce top the list this week, and the bottom of the bill is taken by Randolph King, protean artist. Both do well. The Sivronis, in Opera Gone Mad, have a laughable performance; and the Zanfrellas, novelty gymnasts, are a capital turn; Jenny Reeve sings well-known songs; and the Two Jays, comedians, are humorous; Peter Shannon sings coon songs; Bennett and Stirling are clever; Lydia Neilson's Boys and Girls give an entertaining turn; and the Palacescope has some good films.

GRAVESEND.—GRAND THEATR

is good as Philip Christian; Mr. Frank Stone plays well as Cæsar Cregeen; Mr. F. Kirkland makes a good Constable Triplightly; Miss V. Malcolm Barrett is excellent as Kate; Miss Lucy Murray charmingly plays Nancy.

Zalva.—The Markies are topping the bill this week and meeting with great success in their sketch, The Professor's Studio; George Norton gives a first-rate act, entitled The Happy Man; Weldon and Wynne's comedy juggling act is very popular; Rudge-Whitworth is a clever patter musician; Charlie Jerome's coon songs are much appreciated; and Ned Grayden and Charles Woodward complete a first-rate programme.

GREENOCK.—KING'S THEATRE.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. A. B. and J. J. Wright.—Mr. Ernest B. Abbott's company opened here on Monday with Sapho. Miss Ada Abbott in the title-part handles an exacting rôle very cleverly; Mr. Ernest N. Abbott as Jean Gaussin also proves his capabilities; Mr. Stephen Crossley as Henri Dechelette does well; and as Flamant Mr. Edward Ouston presents a clever character study. The humour of the piece is in the capable hands of Mr. Edwin Keene as Uncle Ceassaire and Mr. Weedon Moss as old Legrand, and they are ably seconded by Miss Ethell Tinsley, most entertaining as Aunt Divonne. Trilby, Lady Audley's Secret, and A Wife's Triumph are also billed.

HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. L. Skivington.—Mr. R. A. P. Williams's pantomime Dick Whittington is the attraction here. The company includes the Sisters Cora, who appear with charming effect as Dick and Alice; Miss Topsy Johnstone does exceedingly well as the Princess, and Miss Kitty Thomas is popular as Tom; capital amusement is provided by Mr. Sam Thomson as Idle Jack and Mr. George Westland as Fitzwarren's cook; whilst the rôle of the Sultan is ably taken by Mr. J. Mandle Wilson; Mr. Michael Kemble sings well as Bodenta, and Miss Cora Irwin is a bewitching Fairy; Mr. L. C. Young as the Cat is excellent throughout. Entertaining specialities are introduced by Lindsay and Harte, the Four Killarney Girls, and the Celestas Quartette.

GRIMSBY.—PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. H. Curry; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. W. North.—The return of Sherlock Holmes is a popular booking. It is presented by Mr. H. Hamilton Stewart's company, and Mr. Stewart himself appears as Sherlock Holmes, and gives a capital realisation of the famous detective of fiction; Mr. Charles Brandon is equally good as Professor Moriarty, and draws this grim criminal character in strongly dramatic fashion; Miss A. Bruce-Joy acts with pleasing charm as Alice Faulkner; Mr. Arnold O. Raper gives a vivid representation of James Larrabee; Miss May Beatrice does well as Madge Larrabee; and other important parts are played by Mr. Eric Morden as Doctor Watson, Mr. Ernest Fryer as Forman, Mr. Olly Seymour as Sydney Prince, and Master Thomas Russell as Billy.

THE PALACE.—General-Manager Mr. F. Verner Walford.—The vocal and spectacular specialty Lucknow, presented by Mr. George Leyton, is a most interesting and attractive turn, and Mr. Leyton amply sustains his reputation as an actor-vocalist; the Five Cliftons, a troupe of clever acrobats, are making their début in England this week, and give a very smart performance; the St. Johns are amusing comedians, and show ability also as dancers and instrumentalists; James Brady is a droll humorist; Jock Mills is a talented Scottish comedian; Elsie Ellis is a dainty comedienne; and the Wellow Glee Singers, a local quartette, give a popular turn.

HALIFAX.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing Director, Mr. Wm. Robinson; General-Manager Mr. Otto C. Culling.—Babes in the Wood (J. F. Elliston's company) is at the Royal this week. The pantomime has proved an all-round success. Miss La Belle Morgane as Robin Hood is full of life and go, and sings well; Miss L. Pollard is good as Maid Marion; the Babes are well represented by the Sisters Herbert, who contribute some charming dances; Miss E. Cornish (Little John), Miss D. Ross (Phyllis), Mr. W. H. Howarth (Friar Tuck) are capable; J. S. Woolley and W. Le Brun are humorous as the villains; Ruhart as Slippy, the page, is excellent; Miss Donna Rita is a decided success in the low comedy part of Mary Ellen; the Harvard Sextette are an acquisition; the Lecardo Brothers give an excellent gymnastic display; and the Doreen Girls and the Eight Tiny Tops are excellent dancers.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME, LTD.—Managing Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Reg H. Foster.—Morny Cash, the popular Lancashire comedian, has some new items which bring down the "house"; the Fordyces are repeating their former success here; Arthur Woodville, light comedian and dancer, meets with universal approval; Beatrice Willey is a sweet singer; Bessie Neilson has some good illustrated songs; and H. C. Lovell and company, in Mam'selle Pom-Pom; Baker and De Sales, duettists; and Johnny Holland and company, in The Boatbuilder, contribute to an enjoyable entertainment.

Sinclair, the popular comedian, complete a first-class bill.

HAMILTON, N.B.—HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Bostock; General-Manager, Mr. René Clayton; Musical Director, Mr. G. Millar.—The Four Royal Scots in their novel musical act are deservedly big favourites here this week; Mr. W. F. Frame, Scotch comedian, is popular; the Avolos give an amazing exhibition of double somersaulting from perpendicular poles; the Sisters Showell, duettists, are extremely popular; the Musical Jees in their act, The Musical Smithy, are excellent; Marie Powell, waif impersonator and violoncellist, is clever; and some interesting films on the Bioscope conclude the entertainment.

HANLEY. — ROYAL. — Proprietors, Hanley Theatres and Circus Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director Mr. Chas. G. Elphinstone.—This is the last week of Robinson Crusoe. On Saturday night Miss Mortimer sang a new song, "When you are married, girls, always wear your Sunday clothes," instead of "Charlie Brown," and she sang it with her customary cleverness and brilliance. Miss Mortimer acts with remarkable intelligence, skill, and effect, and always presents a handsome and dashing presence. She will take away from the Potteries the affectionate admiration of thousands of playgoers of all classes and ages. Mr. Arnold Richardson's Billy Crusoe, with his funny dialogues and his famous "Football" song, will also long be remembered; and Miss Yolande Noble has constantly added to her popularity by her general success as principal girl.

GRAND.—Proprietors, Hanley Theatres and Circus Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. G. Elphinstone; Manager, Mr. Arthur Rand.—Dan Whitley, eccentric comedian, makes a hit here; Walter Ellis and company in The Sleepwalker prove very diverting; the McBanns, jugglers, return with their unique show, which is received with great favour; the Simms, dancers and singers, are loudly applauded; Mike Gray, a comic juggler, with his clever dog Dooley, gains loud plaudits; Doran Brothers on the horizontal bars do well; Alma, a comedienne at the piano, is original; and Ryan and Hall are very funny. A film, The Cowboy's Sweetheart, is followed with keen interest.

HARROGATE.—GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. Eric Fielding-Smith. — Mr. J. F. Elliston's pantomime company is appearing in Mother Goose. Mr. Harry Rich's humour and dancing in the title-rôle are excellent, and he keeps the audience in high spirits; Mr. Charles Rich as Jack is excellent; Miss Lola Patey, a big favourite in Harrogate, kept up her reputation; Miss Ethel Hall as Colin did well; Mr. Fred Barnes as Lord Pudsey and Mr. Henri Dore as Wibsey Slack were both good; Miss Vena Velma as Jill danced well; Miss Violet Romaine as the fairy queen, sang "Somewhere" in excellent style. The rest of the characters were in good hands. The production was well dressed and mounted.

HASTINGS.—GAIETY THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. H. W. Rowland; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. E. Scutt.—The Cavallere F. Castellano's Italian grand opera company opened a short engagement here on Monday with Verdi's Il Trovatore, which gave great pleasure to a large and appreciative audience. Carmen was played on Tuesday, and at Wednesday's matinée Mascagni's Cavalleria Rusticana and Leoncavallo's Il Pagliacci received an artistic rendition; Gounod's Faust was played in the evening. Signor Foleo played the title-rôle excellently. He possesses a voice of admirable quality, and won enthusiastic applause; Signora Desio was the Margherita, and her rich voice evoked great admiration from the large audience; Signor Massia, in the character of Mephistopheles, sang and acted admirably; the Valentine of Signor Vail was entirely satisfactory; and in both appearance and voice Signora Rocco was a very pleasing Siebel; Signora Massi as Martha and Signor Quintini as Wagner made up an admirable cast. Signor Wehils directed the largely augmented orchestra, and obtained excellent results. The remainder of the week was filled by Mr. Frederick Mouillot's company in A Message From Mars.

PIER PAVILION.—General-Manager, Mr. J. D. Hunter.—The Pavilion Bioscope exhibits some quite new and original animated pictures; Orville Pitcher is an amusing black face comedian and singer; Wishart contributes a good turn to the bill with his clever and entertaining sleight-of-hand; and the comic effusions of Charles Penrose are thoroughly enjoyed.

HORWICH.—PRINCE'S.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Chas. Durie.—Mr. Frank Lindo's company, in Home, Sweet Home, is paying a return visit, and met with a very hearty reception on Monday. Owing to Mr. Lindo's indisposition, Mr. Norton Shields undertook the part of Stephen Armitage and achieved a success; Mr. Tom E. Lewis gave a first-rate account of David Amitage; Mr. James Dorey played the Duke of Ancaster to the life; Mr. Leonard Lawrence as the unscrupulous Lucas acted forcibly; Mr. Chas. Olive did full justice to the hare-brained son, the Hon. Percy; Mr. Richard Walsh was a typical specimen of the honest fisher lad, Dick Redmayne; Mr. Harry Belford as the bibulous and vivacious Gaffer scored; Miss Marion Wakeford gave a fascinating and artistic rendering of Joan; Miss Helene Thomson's interpretation of Sybil Fay created roars of laughter; Miss Nellie Benson was an aristocratic Lady Summerton. A special word of praise is due to Little Doris Thomson for her efforts as the child Dora, her enunciation being admirable. A bone solo by Mr. Tom E. Lewis was loudly applauded. Mr. Dene as business-manager looked well after the show.

HOYLAND. — HIPPODROME. — Owner, Mr. Scott Alexander; Resident-Manager, Mr. Fred Terry.—Yukio Tani, Ju-Jitsu wrestler and champion lightweight catch-as-catch-can wrestler, is appearing to crowded houses, and his bouts are keenly observed; Florence Deighton is a refined ballad vocalist; a clever ventriloquial act is given by Rex Carvell and Annie Dora; East and West, comedy couple, are well received; Alma Doreny, Knoto, Clown Nippo, J. E. Waldow, The Percys, and Jack Calvo are also here. The Bioscope, with up-to-date pictures, is a great attraction.

HUDDERSFIELD.—PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Herbert Garside.—Excellent entertainment is provided by Harry Tate's company in the funny sketch Motoring; Miss Cassie Walmer, with humorous skits on the singing of a coon song; Johnny Dwyer, a sound comedian; the Donnas trio of daring trapeze performers; Arthur Lennard, whose finished singing is much appreciated; Damerell and Rutland, a pair of patter comedians of merit; Webb and Edna Branston, singing good-class duets in pleasant style; and Miss Dorma Morgan, a dainty little comedienne with some taking songs. The Palace pictures are also interesting.

HULL.—GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Mortons, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. W. F. Morton.—Dear Little Denmark is here. As Ophelia Miss Joan Penrose is quaint and vivacious; Miss Netta Lynde fills the part of Christine with good effect; as the Burgermaster Mr. Tom Redmond, an old favourite, hits the public taste, and Mr. Conway Dixon plays Conrad with striking success.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Mortons, Ltd., Manager, Mr. Geo. Morton.—A Way Out West is here. As Jack Hamlin, the author has a rôle that fits him well. The Sheriff is appropriately handled by Mr. Harry Bannister, and Mr. Millar Anderson plays the heavy rôle in a thoough-going fashion, as the Chinee, Mr. Wm. Burgess gives a good character study; Miss Alice West plays Helen Masterton with much histrionic skill; and Miss Emmeline Rosselle enacts Miss Arelluisa satisfactorily.

PALACE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Chairman, Sir H. E. Moss; Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. John Barnett.—Charles T. Aldrich, with his burlesque juggling, conjuring, and protean changes is a great success here; Will H. Fox gives a clever monologue at the piano; Les Romanis present an instrumental act which is applauded; Barnard's Mannikins are well worked and amusing; Harry Clifford, character comedian, is a favourite; Gus Garrick's impersonations are warmly admired; the Cumberlands are acrobatic cyclists of ability; Goggin and Davis, comic acrobats, create intense amusement.

EMPIRE.—Lessee, Mr. Harry Slingsby.—The Spanish Goldenis, carpet spinners and electric wonders, are much applauded here; the Zeenas, gymnasts, do extremely well; and the Hyatts, Sadie Sadler, Jack Holland, Joe Humphreys, Walter Aubrey, and Casselle complete an excellent company.

ILKESTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. L. F. A. Rogers.—Messrs. Jacobs and Jephson's pantomime Dick Whittington is here, the title-rôle being ably sustained by Miss Florrie Curette. Miss Netta Dunville wins much favour as Alice, Miss Millie Seale scores as Captain Cuttle, and Miss Phyllis Eaton as the Fairy is good. Mr. Bobbie Graham (Fitzwarren), Mr Fred Dunville (Idle Jack), and Mr. Dan Jacobs (Sarah, the cook), provide continuous amusement. Messrs. Will Phillips and Will Godfrey find suitable places respectively as the Cat and Rat. The specialities include: The Dunvilles in a clever musical act; the Three Toys, who make a big hit with their novel act, Teddy Bear, Pretty Polly, and Mr. Golliwog; Cyril Jephson, vocalist; Sisters Hibbert, duettists; and Cissie Trent, smart speciality dancer and quick change artist.

IPSWICH.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—Mr. Arthur Carlton's pantomime of Puss in Boots is being well supported. The company is good all round, the scenery and stage effects excellent. Miss Ruby Emmerson is an engaging Princess, and sings delightfully; as also does Miss Victoria Carmen as Colin; Miss Queenie King sings and dances well as Phyllis; and Miss Nancy Renshaw is an amusing Pomfrey. Miss Louise Love is a graceful fairy; as the Queen Mr. Michael Madden is amusing, and is well supported by Mr. Fred Lyndo in the King's part; Mr. Harry Gilmore is an active and agile Puss; Mr. E. D. Nichols as the Baron, Mr. H. A. Griffiths as Freddy, and the Brothers Hannaway as Rufus and Uriah, and Mr. Wallace Bosco as the Ogre leave nothing lacking in the way of fun. The ballet corps is also extremely good, and the chorus sings well in tune.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. E. H. Bostock.—Tudor's performing ponies are a favourite turn, their performance being really marvellous; Bella and Bijou have a pleasing and humorous skit on the Suffragette question; Alex. Lukes impersonates well-known characters in a scena, entitled The Language of History; Zenany Brothers have a smart acrobatic turn; and Willie Rhodes sings amusing songs. The Gilberts have a novel and clever dancing act; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wilde's hand shadows of people and animals creates roars of laughter; and the Bioscope concludes an excellent bill.

JERSEY.—OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee, Mr. Edward Marris; Acting-Manager, Mr. Stanley Hope.—Mr. Arthur Carlton's Cinderella continues to draw crowded houses, and on Saturday afternoon the audience numbered about thirteen hundred. Much of the success of the pantomime is due to the dainty dancing of Miss Ella Wilmer, who gets a very hearty reception at each performance.

KIDDERMINSTER.—NEW OPERA HOUSE.—Licensee and Managing-Director, Mr. Jas. P. Moore; Acting-Manager, Mr. R. C. Gudgeon.—Miss Hilda Beverley is presenting her well selected company here in A Destroyer of Men. Mr. H. Ryeland-Leigh is good as Count Starevitch; Mr. Herbert Pearson ably portrays the characters of Karl Mishla, Herr Kunz, and Uno; Mr. Jas. Jarrett is an excellent Michael Mishla; Miss Hilda Beverley cleverly fulfils the rôle of Olga Mishla, her acting being much admired; Miss May Bremmer is an ideal Vida Ravel. Other parts are well played by Mesdames Dorothy Hildebrande, Elsie Schulto, and Louie Underwood. The play is well staged.

KING'S LYNN.—NEW ROYAL THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. B. Pareezer; Resident-Manager, Mr. Reginald Pareezer.—For three nights this week the popular The Arcadians was here on a return visit, and secured great success. Mr. Chas. A. Stephenson enlivens the evening by his portrayal of Simplicitas; Mr. Alfred Beers is clever as Peter Doody; as Jack Meadows Mr. Arthur S. Macdonald plays with precision; Mrs. Smith is capably represented by Miss Gertrude Aylward; Miss Gladys May sings sweetly and dances gracefully in the part of Eileen Cavanagh; and Miss Sybil Tancredi shows great ability as Sombra.

LANCASTER.—GRAND THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Stanley Rogers; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. C. Howitt.—Messrs. Armitage and Leigh's company is paying a welcome return visit with Leah Kleschna, and is attracting large audiences. Mr. Charles Barrett makes a fine Paul Sylvaine; and in the title-rôle Miss Bessie Rignold early secures the sympathy of her hearers, and achieves a distinct success; Mr. William Clayton still plays the part of Kleschna in a commendable manner; and the Schram of Mr. Graham Pockett is well conceived; Mr. Algernon J. Hicks makes a capital Raoul Berton, Miss Emmie Wallace is a charming Clare Berton, and Mr. Edgar J. Coyne does well as the General; and a sympathetic Madame Berton is Miss Ethel Russell. The staging is all that could be desired.

LEAMINGTON. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessees, Messrs. Dottridge and Longden; Manager, Mr. Chas. H. Longden; Assistant-Manager, Mr. John Halifax.—An excellent attraction is provided this week by Mr. H. A. Langlois' company, which is appearing to large and appreciative audiences in the Christmas pantomime Jack the Giant-Killer. Miss Marie Beresford makes a dashing Jack, and sings very effectively; Miss Tina Langlois is a pretty little Molly; whilst the Princess is charmingly impersonated by Miss Cynthia Lupino. Both are responsible for some excellent songs. Miss Jeannie Allbert is a fascinating Prince Rackett, Miss Marie E. Robertson a vivacious Doris; and Miss Daisy Beresford a dainty Fairy. Mr. George Grenville is excellent as the Widow; whilst others assisting in keeping the ball of fun merrily rolling are Happy Harry Hellis as King Tweedledee, Mr. Tom Ashby as Tweedledum, Mr. Tom J. Taylor as Buttons, and Mr. Bruce Williams as Bobby. Mr. H. A. Langlois gives a very clever impersonation of the Giant, while as the Master Mr George Lupino is also worthy of praise.

LEEDS.—EMPIRE.—District-Manager, Mr. T. Gerald Morton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Alex Galley. In addition to Mr. Roxbury's new sketch, which we notice in another column, we have the Renowned Rexos, whose clever skating act meets with appreciation. Mendel's musical abilities win much applause; Harry May Helmsley is a smart child impersonator; and other good turns include Talbot and Pearce, Clown Argo, Carney and Armstrong, Miller Brothers, and Le Beray.

BARRASFORD'S HIPPODROME. — Resident-Manager, Mr. Harry Dunford.—Lafayette is here in modern necromancy; the Croiset Trio appear in a novelty scena, "From the Time of the Crusaders"; Harris Coonie is a coloured dancer of ability; Gibson and Bell are clever in a dancing acrobatic speciality; and the Robertsons are good acrobatic dancers.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred Wood; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Bush.—Aladdin is the third of a series of pantomimes appearing here. In the cast are the favourites Robb Wilton and Bob Selvidge. The title-rôle is capitally taken by Miss Bertha Clifton, and Miss Popple Holland sings well.

THE VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred Wood; Acting-Manager, Mr. Sam Jones.—Robinson Crusoe is a capital production, produced by Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Walters. Miss Flo Carlisle is a smart Crusoe; Mr. Ally M. Benson is funny as the Dame; and Miss Hilda Hewers and Miss Kitty Chester prove effective vocalists. Other favourites include the Tivolo Trio, Walter's ballet troupe of expert dancers, Dytum and Dale, and Tom Lewis.

LEICESTER.—ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.—General-Business-Manager, Mr. Walter P. Wright.—Sinbad the Sailor still remains the attraction here, and is playing to good houses.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Acting-Manager, Mr. P. Allerton Turner.—Alone in London is being presented here by Mr. Charles Gibbon's company, which includes Miss Nellie Clyde in the part of Nan, which she interprets in a thoroughly satisfactory manner.

PALACE THEATRE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; District-Manager, Mr. Hatton Wharton; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. Finch-Hatton; Assistant-Manager, Mr. W. S. Buccleuch.—At the head of this week's programme is Miss Clarice Mayne, a brilliant and versatile lady; at the other end are Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Lucas, presenting scenes from Dickens's works, their selections including the meeting of Dick Swiveller and the "Marchioness," Scrooge's transformation in the "Christmas Carol," and the death of poor Jo in "Bleak House," all of which are done in remarkably clever style, Mrs. Lucas as Jo fairly bringing the house down. Carl Lynn, mimic of various animals, makes a hit; the Sistere Caselli are exceedingly smart dancers; Reichen's performing dogs are put through an excellent performance; Fred Keeton is a funny comedian; Wood, Wells, and Wilkins are good in their vocal comedy sketch, The Piano Tuner; Spissell Bros. and Mack are clever and humorous acrobats; and the Marsumas, comedians on wheels, do some good tricks. The Bioscope also shows entertaining pictures.

PAVILION THEATRE.—Proprietor and Director-General, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Acting-Manager, Mr. Joseph Lawrence.—Miss Rose Moncrieff's company is here in Sinbad the Sailor. The chief parts are played by Miss Rose Moncrieff (Sinbad), Miss Marie Reynolds (Sadie) Mr. Eddie Noble (Mrs. Sinbad), Mr. Jack Bonny (Vanderdecken), Mr. Will Ewer (Tinbad), Messrs. Leon and May (Daggles and Diggles), Mr. Jimmie James (King Kafoozle), Mr. Cyril Hood (Old Man of the Sea), Miss Violet Bridgeman (Queen Kafoozle), Miss Gloria Lawrence (Fairy Coralie), Mr. Fred Astor (Furioso), and Mr. E. Levano. There are several pretty scenes and many tuneful numbers are introduced. The only other attraction is a couple of fine pictures on the Bioscope, the pantomime being run twice nightly.

LEITH. — NEW GAIETY THEATRE. — Licensee and Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. John Darlison. — The evergreen drama, The Silver King, staged here this week by Messrs. G. M. Polini and Austin Melford's touring company, is a most acceptable production. Mr. Fred D. Daviss makes an excellent Wilfrid Denver, and the Nellie Denver of Miss Mildred Surrey is a sympathetic study; Mr. Edward J. George does good service in his old rôle of Daniel Jaikes; the Spider, and his associates, Corket, Coombe, and Cripps, are all well typified by Mr. Arthur H. Rooke, Mr. Ralph Leon, Mr. Arthur Wright, and Mr. Fred May; the parts of Geoffrey Ware and Detective Baxter are carefully handled by Mr. W. Leslie Ellis and Mr. A. Hornby Warburton; Olive Skinner has a capable exponent in Miss Mary Glanbrane; Cissie is nicely played by Miss Hilda Bateman; Miss Mabel Gardener is quite at home as the garrulous Mrs. Gamage; while the oddities of Mr. Parkyn and his village friends, and a couple of rustics, are amusingly sketched by Mr. Percy Storr, Messrs. Binhgam and Hatchway, Miss Margaret Rooke, and Mr. John Randall. The management is to be congratulated on the effective staging of the piece.

LIVERPOOL. — ROTUNDA THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery. The attraction here is Edwin C. Jazon's pantomime, Cinderella, which is receiving much public patronage. Mr. Will Penn is the Baron, a rôle which he plays with a humorous touch; Molly Doon proves a favourite Cinderella; the "sisters" are very amusingly presented by Crosby and Walker; the Carlsons, as the Court Bailiffs, assist with the fun; Miss Vera Mayne is a dashing Prince; Dandini is capitally undertaken by Miss Jeannie Clare; and Miss Pattie Varley fills the rôle of the fairy godmother with every satisfaction. The grand floral and electric ballet is a pleasing feature, and excellent specialities are introduced by the Sisters Varley, the Musical Keiths, Crosby and Walker, and the Carlsons.

STAR THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Harris Fineberg. — Mr. Hill-Mitchelson's popular play, The King and the Unknown Woman is doing good business. Mr. Wellesley Draper makes an admirable Prince Loris; Mr. Stephen E. Scanlan repeats his particularly good picture of the rascally Prince Menski; Miss Violet Carlyle is seen to great advantage as the persecuted Zora; General Platz is ably handled by Mr. W. R. Winning; Mr. Cyril Harrison does credit to that of Captain Gara; Miss Helen Richmond makes a sweet Else; and rich comedy is provided by Mr. J. Telly Dillsen as Corporal Stack and Miss Cissie Podmore (Schnapps).

KELLY'S THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. W. W. Kelly; Acting-Manager, Mr. Reginald Grant.—Pantomime is here again, drawing big crowds. This time it is Mr. Alexander Leighton's The Babes in the Wood, which is well put on, having an operatic chorus of fifty voices. Miss Jennie Lynwood makes a dashing Robin Hood; Miss Lilian Jeffries acts sweetly as Maid Marian; Miss Madge Bell looks well as the good fairy; and an immense amount of rollicking fun comes from Messrs. J. W. Hooper (Baron), W. B. Freer (the Page), and Fyne and Hurley (villains). The Misses Elsie Videau and Phyllis Hughes are the Babes; Mr. Harold Godwin is the Demon; and Mr. Alec Godfrey proves a humorous schoolmistress. Specialities are contributed by Miss Jennie Lynwood, Fyne and Hurley, and the Asturias Troupe of National dancers. Miss Millie Gordon is première danseuse.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Manners.—Van Biene is here with his new sketch, Van Biene's Baby, in which the actor-musician, Miss F. Faversham, and Mr. J. Hartley take part. The little play is received with commendation. O Hana San and company present a beautiful Oriental scena, A Vision of Japan, into which are introduced well-executed dances; Tom and Marie Motramo delight everybody with their novel musical comedy work; Fred Earle, for his latest songs, is given a flattering reception; as comedy acrobats and tumblers the three Van Dammes would be hard to beat; Giovanni Wals, termed "the Spanish Caruso," renders several numbers in admirable style; Bert Errol, with the phenomenal voice, merits the good reception which is accorded to hm; Les Bollingers present a novel rag-painting act; the Royal Delomes please generally with their smart clog dancing and singing; and Hal Hughman gives some clever imitations of a farmyard collection, &c.

LYRIC.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry C. Arnold.—Top of the bill this week are the Ten Loonies with their screamingly funny sketch, Dotty; Cliff Ryland keeps his audience in the best of humours with his droll songs and sayings; the Four Panamas have a very laughable pantomimical speciality, The Delineator; Lennard and Vereker please greatly with their pictorial songs; the Devonshaws bring a neat musical comedy duologue, A Sailor's Wife; Lillie Le Breton is a lady gymnast of ability and grace; the Alskarno Troupe of Risley comedians are a capital turn; and Ethel Douna is a neat comedienne and dancer.

ROYAL HIPPODROME. — Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; Resident-Manager, Mr. Walter Hassan.—Heading the programme is the animal pantomime given by Barnold's dogs and monkeys, whose antics provoke great laughter; a smart vaudeville turn is gone through by Mooney and Holbein; Fred St. Onge and company have a merry sketch, The Whimsical Wheelman, which causes roars of laughter; some particularly expert juggling is shown by F. Mozzetto; the Ted Moxon trio of acrobatic eccentrics afford a deal of pleasure; Mr. C sings and talks as smartly as ever; The Lady Jockey proves a bright little trifle, presented by Miss Teddy Edmond's company, including Mr. Jimmy Rous; Bessie Mackenzie, the Scotch fisher girl vocalist, has a cordial reception for her popular songs; a pleasing vocal and dancing act comes from the Six White Boys; Clare and Pastor provide a good turn as comedy instrumental and speciality artists; and Maud Courtney, comedienne, also appears.

ROYAL PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank O'Toole.—The Priest of the Temple is being played here by the Royal stock dramatic company, the principal parts being ably undertaken by Messrs. Harry Tresham (Valerius), Sydney Grant (Fronto), Miss Lilian Radbourne (Polita), and Miss Gertrude Entwistle (Praestantia). Mr. Anthony Brown's bioscope shows What's Your Hurry?

OLYMPIA.—District-Manager, Mr. Horace Cole; Acting-Manager, Mr. Ernest Wighton.—A pretty and imposing military spectacle, entitled Our Empire's Defenders, presented by Wallace Selkirk, is foremost here. There are a hundred local children concerned in the sketch, which meets with general approval. The Nine Kremos are excellent Risley acrobats, and give an exhibition which is really delightful to witness; O'Gust pleases everybody with his remarkable imitations of sounds; Sebastian Merrill and company have an amusing cycle act, which affords great satisfaction; Jimmy Shields, the one-legged dancer, is appreciated; an artistic and clever instrumental performance is provided by the Miles-Stavordale quintet; Maude and Sydney Wood, duettists and dancers, earn a shower of applause; Tom Bryce submits a neat musical comedy sketch, entitled A Dude's Wedding; and J. C. Scatter shows himself to be a very funny comedian.

PAVILION.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Manager, Mr. George F. Slatter.—The big attraction here this week is Tiller's Red Riding Hood pantomime, which is being greatly patronised. Miss May Merry pleases in the title-rôle; the Prince is ably handled by Miss Lulu Russel, who earns much popularity; and a deal of capital fun is provided by Fred Danvers (the Ugly Daughter), Douglas Hayes (Boniface), Phil Hayes (the Ostler), Mario Brian (Waitress), Sam Mitchello (Hotel Proprietor), George Matfey (a Waiter), and Charles Verno (Trotters). The Lotus troupe of dancers, the Bros. Hayes, and the Mascotte troupe of children introduce some clever specialities.

MACCLESFIELD.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. W. K. Gatley.—This week we have the first visit of Mr. George Dance's company in Miss Hook of Holland. Miss Gertrude Melville in the title-rôle is extremely bright and vivacious; as Mina Miss Cissie Sephton scores in an unmistakable manner, her singing and dancing delighting all; Mr. Edmund Russell's humour as Mr. Hook is irresistible; Mr. Arthur Ballance is excellent as the Bandmaster; Mr. Mansey makes an imposing Captain Adrian; and as Ludwick Schnapps Mr. George Mudie, jun., merits warm praise; Mr. Fred Dark is an amusing Simon Slink.

MAESTEG.—TOWN HALL THEATRE.—Lessees, Poole's Theatres Co., Ltd.; Manager, Mr. G. F. Knowles.—For the first three nights of this week Mr. F. R. Benson's Shakespearean company (South) occupied the boards. On Monday night The Merchant of Venice was performed before a full house. Mr. Chas. Warburton was praiseworthy in the title-rôle; Mr. Basil Osborne did full justice to the part of Prince of Morocco; Mr. Baliol Holloway's portrayal of Shylock won for him great applause; Miss Emil Leslie made a capital Portia; Miss Marjorie Palgrave was very praiseworthy as Jessica; and Miss Constance E. Bromley was good as Nerissa.

MAIDENHEAD.—TOWN HALL.—Secretary, The Town Clerk.—Miss Inez Howard's The Princess and the Beggar Maid company deserve a good word for their excellent playing on Monday. Prince Hildred is well represented by Mr. Alfred Brandon; Mr. Percy Morton-Wright shows ability in the exacting rôle of Prince Michael, and Mr. Chas. A. Baker is a capital Olaf; Mr. J. Desmond Brannigan and Mr. Lawrence Grove fill well the rôles of Captain Hector and Lieut. Stromberg; Nathan, the Bishop, and Colonel Wellenberg are adequately represented by Messrs. J. Percival Jordan, W. H. Baker, and Theodore Kelly; as Monica Miss Ethel Savill plays with much success; Miss Gladys Moss-Wright is bright as Viola and Miss Nancy York winning as Camiola. The scenery, uniforms, and dresses are particularly good.

MANCHESTER.—GAIETY THEATRE.—Proprietor, Miss A. E. F. Horniman; Acting-Manager, Mr. Edwin T. Heys.—The Christmas production of Much Ado About Nothing still holds the stage here, and is being deservedly well patronised. No more beautifully staged achievement need be imagined or desired, while the cast is for the most part well disposed and nicely balanced. Admitting the high quality of the acting all round, it is no injustice to any to add that the Dogberry of Mr. Charles Bibby is the best thing of the evening and is worth going a long way to see.

ROYAL OSBORNE THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Mason.—Mr. T. Edward Ward's play His Real Wife is the attraction here.

METROPOLE THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Dry.—Still entertaining local audiences, Messrs. Paumier and Howard's company are here this week in their attractive drama, The Prince and the Beggar Maid.

GRAND JUNCTION THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Brearley.—Mr. James Kiddie's pantomime of Cinderella is the attraction here. It is very prettily done; the scenery and dresses are fine, and the electrical silver carriage of Cinderella is a notable feature. Miss Kittie Avey and Miss Edie May are Cinders and the Prince respectively, and Miss Lily Ennis is well placed as Dandini; while much humour is infused by the efforts of the Lisando Brothers, and Messrs. Leslie Hawkins, Harry Bliss, W. G. Wesley, and Harry Huttin. The chorus and ballet add to the effect.

QUEEN'S PARK HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. W Meek.—This week we have here Miss Edith St. Clare's successful pantomime Aladdin.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Hall.—A fine programme here is headed by Reano's Band, whose performance is enthusiastically received; while Cruikshank, "the fool of the family," easily and admirably justifies his prominent position on the bill; plenty of boisterous and eccentric fun is added by the Casey Army; Herbert Shelley is seen once more in his clever Irish protean drama; the Kramers give their amusing comedy act, Flip Jack Sal; and Hinton and Wootton create great interest in their football match on cycles; other good turns being the Smythsons, in a comedy act; Andy McLeod, a smart comedy raconteur and instrumentalist; and Ethel Bourne, in illustrated songs.

HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. Nelson Barry.—A very enjoyable programme here this week is topped by Huntley Wright and a good company in The Little Father of the Wilderness, a picturesque and effective drama. Miss Marquis and her trained ponies are also a prominent turn, which is much enjoyed; Mlle. Haydee's miniature vaudeville theatre is entertaining; Keen and Waller give a smart and funny acrobatic turn; Aimee Parkerson, contralto, sings well; Alfred H. West contributes a musicianly and engaging act; the Daunton-Shaw troupe of cyclists are as daring and expert as ever; much interest and enj

Garrod and company, with A Country Girl in London, is attracting good houses. The principal rôle is filled in praiseworthy style by Miss Bertha Kingston, and as Gwendoline Gordon Miss Ethel Crawford is very successful. Mr. Garrod's portrayal of Frank Gordon is admirable, and the other characters are in able hands.

EMPIRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Chas. G. Rembges.—The chief attraction here is Arthur Roberts and company, in a most amusing sketch, The Importance of Being Another Man's Wife. Other turns are supplied by De Wynne Brothers, in a capital athletic performance; Wal Croft and Miss Kathleen Naughton, in The Last Roll Call; Fayre and Foray, comedians and dancers; Carta and Mirtziana, speciality artists; Leigh Leicester, comedian; Miss Elsie Jerome, a pleasing comedienne who promises well; and the Empire pictures.

HIPPODROME.—Resident-Manager, Mr. Frank D. Todd.—The Sisters Parker, duettists and dancers, provide a welcome turn, and a number of capital pictures are shown at the Hippodrome.

MORLEY.—ALEXANDRA PALACE.—General-Manager, Mr. Tom Diacoff; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Izon.—The programme includes Douglas and Gordon, duettists and dancers; Jack Crew, comedian; "Shrilla," whistler; Lily Ardeer and Amy Allnutt, comediennes and dancers, who, together with the pictures, are much appreciated.

MOTHERWELL.—NEW CENTURY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. Chisholm Taylor.—Mr. C. Watson Mill and company are here with For Love and the King. As Gerald Meredith Mr. C. Watson Mill is really admirable; the villainous Obrenovics have exceptionally excellent exponents in Messrs. Alfred Maurice and Fred. G. Webb; Mr. Stanley Weston cuts a pathetic figure as the King; Usos finding a suitable exponent in Mr. Jack Litchfield; Natila, as played by Miss Joan Ellis, is sweet and unaffected; Miss Marie Danvers Smith being bright and vivacious as Grazia; Edith Meredith has an excellent exponent in Miss Rosalind Tate; as Duke Fernand, Mr. Geoffery Chate is worthy of special mention.

NEATH.—PRINCE OF WALES THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. H. and E. Johnson, J.J.M.A.—The Shadow of a Crime, the great sensational drama, was well staged on Monday. Mr. Philip Perry as Jim Murdock is everything than can be desired; Mr. Percy Barnett gives a capable representation of Sir Edward Bullington; Mr. Leonard Wallace is a good Harry Bullington; Mr. Evan Gibbon a satisfactory Ralph Esmonds; and most amusing are Mr. Leo Main and Mr. Robt. Johnson as Samuel Brown and Jim Todd. Mrs. Brown is played with distinction by Miss Gertrude Mitchell; Miss Sophie Campbell as Loyale Esmond acts capably; Miss Amy Henley renders a good account of herself as Dora Bullington; and the Sarah Murdock of Miss Gussie Johnson causes roars of laughter.

NELSON.—PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Benson.—Sahib Gustave Fasola, Indian fakir and wonder-worker, heads the bill in a series of mysteries and illusions, his performance including some astonishing trick transformations; the Albas, in a clever tight wire act introduces a sensational head slide from the dress circle to the stage; Leo and Loland are among the best equilibrists seen in the district; Ernest Montefiore and company present an incident of the late South African war, entitled The Little Colonel; whilst the programme also includes Wm. Barker, champion jumper; and Cœur de Lion, sleight-of-hand and paper manipulator; the Frohmans, in a pleasing musical entertainment, and Roland Brooks, Lancashire collier tenor vocalist.

GRAND THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. W. C. Horner.—For the second week in succession pantomime is the attraction here, and capital houses have witnessed the production of The Fair One with the Golden Locks. The entertainment is bright, amusing, and well staged, the singing throughout being much above the average. In the title-rôle Miss Madge Brownie is very charming, her dancing and singing being very pleasing. One of her best contributions is "How d'ye do my baby?" Vinaigre, Queen of Fabulosa, is amusingly portrayed by Mr. Jas. Chippendale; Mr. Will Letters makes a good Prince Pippin; Taradiddle, his tutor, is admirably treated by Mr. Johnny Leoni; and Mr. Chas. Calvert and Mr. Geo. Hudson as General Slopoff and Admiral Sinker respectively keep the audience in constant merriment. Miss Esme Gordon is a spirited Avenant, whilst as Sauciboy Mr. Victor W. Crawford is an eminent success; Miss Stella Well is a charming exponent of the character of Mizere, and contributes capably to the musical portion of the pantomime, as does Miss Lily Allchurch, the Fairy, who charmingly represents a water lily. Some capital local and topical hits are introduced, and speciality dances are given by the Mayfair Girls. The pantomime is produced on a gorgeous scale.

NEW BRIGHTON.—WINTER GARDENS.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Jones and Douglas.—A good programme is presented here, Mr. Frank Elliston and company heading the bill with the charming sketch, My Lady Betty. Mr. Arthur Croxon, a good mimic; Messrs. Frisk and Johnson, clever dancers; Miss F. Conoily, a delightful vocalist; Mr. J. F. Barrie, smart Scotchman; Stave, funny eccentric turn; Chirrup, boy whistler and bird mimic, are all first-rate in their respective items, and win loud applause.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. Teale Lingham.—After a month's successful run Cinderella shows no signs of diminishing popularity, and capital houses are the rule at each performance. The comedy business of Messrs. Alexandre and Hughes, Johnnie Schofield, and Harry Brayne is well maintained; whilst the graceful dancing of the Eight Sunflowers adds to the enjoyment of a splendid entertainment.

TYNE THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Lessees, Messrs. Howard and Wyndham; Manager, Mr. Fred C. Sutcliffe.—A big welcome is being given here this week to Sir Herbert Tree's company in Pinkie and the Fairies. Miss Iris Hawkins in the part of Pinkie is a distinct success; Master Philip Tonge is admirable as Tommy; Miss Florrie Lewis makes a dainty and dignified Fairy Queen; and Master Charles Hampden as the Herald is decidedly good. Mr. Ambrose Manning as Uncle Gregory provides plenty of merriment; Mr. Walter R. Greighton's performance as a Teddy Bear meets with a capital reception; Miss. Kate Forster and Miss Augusta Haviland as the aunts are humorous; and Miss Hilda Antony is a charming Molly.

PALACE THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. T. W. Rowe; Business-Manager, Mr. E. B. Clark.—Sunday, presented by Mr. Louis Calvert's company, is proving a great attraction here. Miss Janet Lind as Sunday played the character to perfection: Mr. Richard F. Symonds, Mr. L. St. G. Lowther, Mr. James Hussey, and Mr. George Marriot, jun. as the Boys caused no end of amusement; Mr. Pennington Gush in the character of Colonel Brinthorpe is also clever; Mr. Richard Trieve as Tom Oxley gives a notable performance; Mrs. H. Graham Edwins makes a dignified and impressive Mrs. Naresby; and Miss Jessie Stone does well as the Nun.

GRAND THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. F. W. Bolam; Manager, Mr. Chas. E. Linney.—Large audences continue to gather at this popular house to witness Little Bo Peep.

EMPIRE THEATRE.—Resident-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; Manager, Mr. W. P. Wells; Assistant-Manager, Mr. J. W. Kilgour.—A most pleasing and entertaining programme is this week headed by the Elliott Savonas in their musical act The Palace of Orpheus, in which they perform brilliantly on many instruments. The act is beautifully and elaborately set, and was received with the warmest appreciation. Miss Juliette introduced her trained sea lions, which perform a series of remarkable feats. In the matter of weight-lifting by the teeth the Four Regals are an astonishing troupe; and the juggling of Francis and Alfred is exceptionally smart, enlivened by much humorous by-play. Mr. Sydney James's Strolling Players sing harmoniously, and provide a pleasing entertainment; Harold Nuttall's company, including Mr. Martyn Roland, a talented actor, present a sketch entitled The Ghost of Jerry Bundler; and another smart turn is that of the Brennans in a dancing display. Annie Purcell sings some charming melodies: and other capital items are provided by Dot Hardy and Dion Wade, the Bioscope concluding.

NEWPORT.—LYCEUM.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Sidney Cooper.—Red Riding Hood occupies the boards here for six nights, and is proving attractive. The singing is good and the costumes are exceedingly pretty. Mr. E. W. Avery's Dame Mary Trott could not be improved upon; while the Baron Badlot of Mr. J. Templer Ellis is as clever as it is amusing; Miss Mabel Lamont makes a pretty Red Riding Hood; as Boy Blue Miss Madge Campbell is decidedly effective; and Miss Beatrice Varley as Prince Charming, who has the most successful song of the evening, gives an excellent performance. Other members of the cast deserving of praise are Miss Gertrude Branscombe (Miss Muffitt), Miss Marie Dowsing (Majorie Daw), Miss Ethel May (Tom Tucker), Mr. Dan Seymour (Simple Simon), and Mr. Frank Strathan (Johnny Green), Mr. Joe Clarke (Jimmy Stout), and the Bros. Macluskey (Donkey and Poodle). Miss Emily Lindon's troupe of child dancers did well, and the Apache dance of Mr. Dan Seymour and Miss Marie Dowsing received well-merited recognition.

EMPIRE.—Moss' Empires, Ltd.—Resident-Manager, Major Gallagher; Assistant, Mr. Wild.—The Grotesques, a clever band of instrumentalists and vocalists, head the bill in a distinctly novel entertainment; in pyramid-building, the Abdullah Arabs win admiration; the Northern Troupe of International Speciality dancers are applauded; and the Elite Harmony Boys, in a high-class vocal act, are accorded a flattering reception; Spry and Monti keep the house in good humour; Florence Esdaile makes good use of a nicely-trained soprano voice; and Harry Grey, the popular comedian, gives some typically humorous selections; while Olive Armidale pleases in her song, which she sings with expression. The Bioscope, showing a tragic episode, The Mill, completes the bill.

NORTHAMPTON.—PALACE OF VARIETIES, LTD.—Proprietors, Messrs. Samson and McNeill, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Fred. H. Anderson; Manager, Mr. P. H. Gould; Musical-Director, Mr. W. Ashton.—Only an Israelite is the title of the episode which heads the bill this week, ably presented by H. G. Brandon and company; Agnes Molteno, assisted by a gentleman and a young lady, is responsible for a charming conception, A Dolly and a Coach; the Carlo and Maie Trio give an excellent and varied performance on the wire, &c.; the Michel Brothers are clever head and hand balancers; Lena Pinaud is a comedienne and dancer of ability; the Lindos are a dainty duo; Tom Colbert is an expert club and hoop performer; and comical Walker is also in the bill.

NORTH SHIELDS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Stanley Rogers; Acting-Manager, Mr. Horace Lee.—Mr. R. C. Buchanan's pantomime, Aladdin (written by Mr. Stanley Rogers) has been greatly enjoyed by large audiences. The book is very amusing, the scenery and dresses pretty, and the company responsible for the production a strong one. Miss Mabel Hind makes a capital principal boy, and Miss Lily Lonsdale is all that could be desired as the Princess, her excellent singing being a special feature of her performance. Mr. J. G. Aitken as the Grand Vizier is an established favourite; Mr. Tom Carrick as Widow Twankay creates much hearty laughter; Mr. Ernie Myers is decidedly clever as Abanazar; and the Brothers Fiman as Bo Bi and Bo Ko are successful funmakers. The Three Warners, in their whirlwind and speciality dances, make a great hit.

CENTRAL PALACE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Wm. Mould.—Heading the bill here are Alfred Graham's Premier Juveniles, whose scena, A Concert on the Lawn, has been much enjoyed by large audiences; Jack Henri, the popular Scotch character comedian, is accorded a flattering reception; the Three Burkes in their gymnastic act perform some very clever feats which gain them loud applause; and Tom Hayes, comedian, and Wills and Worlock,, speciality artists, and the pictures all meet with appreciation.

NORWICH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee, Mr. Fred Morgan.—Mr. Fred Granville's company, in the pantomime Aladdin, by Mr. Joseph L. Barry, is here this week. Miss Beatrice Harris as the Princess is pleasing in acting, singing, and dancing; Miss Amy Bellwood deserves every praise as Aladdin; Mr. Bert Harrow is a humorous Abanazar; Mr. Happy Allwood creates a deal of fun as the Widow Twankey; and Bernard and Weston as Boose and Wrong 'Un are good.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. E. H. Bostock and F. W. Fitt; Manager, Mr. Councillor F. W. Fitt.—A choice programme is headed by Madame Ada Mansel and her clever juveniles, in their comedy speciality, entitled A Concert Rehearsal; Miss Peggy Lennie and Mr. Walter Hast, with the assistance of Mr. David Urquhart, present with very great success a musical idyll, entitled The Maid of Polaria, which is heartily appreciated and loudly applauded; the Three Brothers Huxter are very good in an acrobatic turn, entitled "Languid Energy"; L. W. Harris proves himself a versatile comedian of good class; Bi-Bo-Bi is very clever on his novel instruments, more especially on the sleighbells; Herbert La Martine is a skilful dancer; Ella B.air and her Bowery Boys are heartily applauded for their singing and dancing; while the Haverleys, as American song illustrators, are very successful. The Hippodrome Bioscope shows some interesting pictures.

NOTTINGHAM.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. Howard Finney.—Jack and Jill is rapidly approaching its final nights, but the enthusiasm does not abate one jot, and everything points to a record success.

GRAND THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Harry Upton.—The last week of Mother Goose has been reached, and the manager of the theatre, Mr. Harry Upton, is to be congratulated on the strong attraction he has provided for his patrons. Brightness and fun have predominated throughout.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr Albert C. Duncan.—An interesting performance is submitted by Miss Amelia Bingham, American actress, who displays dramatic force in excerpts from well-known plays; the versatility of the Bensons is well shown; Loyal's trained dogs earn a deservedly good reception; Vaughan and Lawson's company gives a clever rendering of the sketch, Bosun's Mate; Paul Barnes "patters" himself into favour; and the great Vincent is seen in a smart acrobatic act. Other items are given by Tom Lloyd, comedian; Charles Santon, vocalist; Jewel St. Leger, vocalist; and the Bioscope.

HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. F. Miller.—A Society Woman is being well played by Alan Holt and company; the comicalities of Austin Rudd are a source of endless amusement; Mme. Roma's six juggling girls give an excellent display with Indian clubs; a novelty is introduced by Valvero, with his naval pictures; eccentric dancing by Ritter and Foster, the Gallimore Trio of comedy artists, Alf. Mendies, a musical burglar, Dave Carter, vocalist, Radie Stuart, vocalist, and the Bioscope are also included in the programme.

NUNEATON.—PRINCE OF WALES'S.—Proprietors, Theatre and Entertainment Co.; Managing-Director, Mr. A. F. Cross; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Brown.—Mr. Fred C. Somerfield's company is presenting Geoffrey Langdon's Wife. Mr. Wilson Coleman gives a powerful rendering of the villainous Felix Beverley; Mr. H. Creagh Hunt does well as Geoffrey Langdon; Mr. John S. Millward handles the character of the heroic Jack Stirling with marked effect; Mr. Cyril Grier ably portrays Colonel Miles; Miss Amy Ellan secures much applause by her fine acting in the rôle of Mary; Miss Kathleen Magee successfully fills the unthankful part of the Hon. Mrs. Sands; Mr. Percy Brown as Thomas, and Mr. Will Glaze as Charles, cleverly manage the lighter interludes of the play; Miss Minnie Goepel is attractive as Sweet Nancy; and Mr. Harland Brooks makes the most of his opportunity as Detective Banks.

OLDHAM.—GRAND THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Acting-Manager, Mr. S. Smiley.—Mr. Martin Harvey on Monday made his first appearance here, and had a hearty reception in the part of Lieut. Beresby (the Rat) in The Breed of the Treshams. Miss N. de Silva also was the recipient of much applause in the character of Batty. Mr. Charles Glenny acts cleverly as the traitorous Colonel Hungerford; Mr. Philip Hewland as Viscount Dorsington does justice to the part; Mr. Owen Roughwood as Sir Henry is excellent, and Mr. Fred Wright, sen., as Colonel Bagshaw, is a bluff old warrior. Mr. Leonard Craske as the impetuous Hon. Francis Tresham gains much applause; Captain Stanhope is well acted by Mr. Edward Combermere; and Miss Brenda Gibson as the Hon. Margaret Hungerford acts capitally; Misses Bessie Elder and Sybil Walsh are equally good in their respective parts. Mr. Harvey responded to repeated calls for a speech in a few well-chosen words at the close.

COLOSSEUM THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Wm. Eastwood.—From Convent to Throne is staged here by Mr. J. A. Campbell's company. Miss Mary Fulton as the Princess makes herself a favourite; Mr. Graham Woods is a manly Lieut. Ernest; Lieut. Otto being well acted by Mr. T. G. Vane. Mr. A. F. Stuart as the Prince of Carpathia acts well, and the scheming Baron Strelson lacks nothing in the hands of Mr. Wm. J. Miller; Mr. Wm. Passmore as General von Hapsburg gains hearty applause.

EMPIRE THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Hulme.—Little Phil's Mother is being played here by Mr. Frank M. Thorne and company. Mr. Percy Ballard portrays the hero Frank Towers in a convincing manner; Mr. Thorne in the character of Sam Perkels introduces capital comedy, being ably assisted by Miss Leslie Warner as Julia Woorilove; Miss Maud Russell acts sympathetically as Ruth Towers, and Miss Violet Cranford as Elspeth is forcible; little Gertie Renaud is clever as Phil.

PALACE.—General Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. Sharrocks.—Gwennie Llewellyn is a charming vocalist; the Garricks are a smart set of society entertainers; Thora again demonstrates his powers as a ventriloquist; the Whittington Trio are a smart acrobatic comedy troupe; and Kitty Wager scores in her singing Fred Poplar, Ajax and George, Geo. Young, the blind musician, and Tony Black, Scotch comedian and dancer, are other turns.

OXFORD.—NEW THEATRE.—Managing Director, Mr. C. C. Dorrill; Assistant-Manager, Mr. G. T. Lucas.—The Little Damozel drew a full and highly appreciative house on Monday. Miss Ida Molesworth scored a distinct success in the title-rôle, her powerful acting having ample scope in the many trying situations; Miss Roxy Barton was admirably suited as Sybil Craven; Mr. Mark Blow contributed a capital character sketch as the Hon. Fitzroy Lock; Mr. Frank Lacy played Recklaw Poole in a powerful, natural manner that was very effective; Mr. G. A. Brandram was an admirable Captain Partington; Mr. Townsend Whitling as Walter Angel hit off the character to perfection; and the parts of Papa Bartholdy, Franz, and Abraham were capably filled by Messrs. Julian Cross, W. J. Stack, and E. L. Hocking. The last three nights of this week the ever-popular play, The Flag Lieutenant, is paying a welcome return visit.

EAST OXFORD THEATRE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Stuart; Acting-Manager, Mr. Julian Graham.—Mrs. F. Wybert Clive's company is paying a return visit with The Outcast of the Family. Mr. Herbert Bentone is a robust Stephen Barry, and is a general favourite; Mr. J. D. Clyde portrays Harry Thorne with great power; Mr. Bert Oates makes an impressive villain as Richard Martin; and Mr. Wybert Clive is highly successful as Sir Henry Thorne. Mr. Tom Armitage is amusing as Joe Bushell; Miss Freda Beckett is full of life as Nancy Bray; Miss Maud Leslie Cudd is effectively dignified as Grace Redburn; and Miss Gertrude Morella is quite naturally charming as Ruth.

PAISLEY.—PAISLEY THEATRE.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. H. Savile.—A welcome return visit is being paid by Mr. T. Arthur Jones and company in When Other Lips. Mr. Juan D'Alberti plays effectively the rôle of Basil Cunningham, and Ruth Lingley is admirably and pathetically sustained by Miss Marie Daventry. Mr. John Davidson makes a manly Ted Daunton; as Phylocrates Jenkins Mr. T. Arthur Jones performs excellently; a humorous presentment of Tommy Needles is submitted by Mr. Charles Preece; a capital character study of Duddle Topwash is given by Mr. F. Thorpe Tracy; and other characters are well portrayed by Messrs. Arthur Prescott, A. H. Clarke, A. A. Felton, Robert Dore, and James Keppell. Miss Florence M. Millett gives a powerful impersonation of Octavia; a vivacious rendering of Kitty is furnished by Miss May Neilson; and as Nancy Miss Emily Wilson is capital.

HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Bostock; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jack R. Bostock.—Leading the bill here are Hayman and Franklin in a very funny entertainment; Sandy McNab and company create plenty of mirth in the sketch, The Egyptian Mummy; Ella Deane scores as a comedienne and male impersonator; a capital entertainment is furnished by Hampton and Bauman, coloured artists; as a rifle shot Winona gives a smart and skilful exhibition; McIntosh and Royal are applauded for their artistic dancing; the Three Pirmans submit a clever pantomimic gymnastic act; Gicardo displays expert juggling abilities; and the Hippodrome Bioscope has capital pictures.

PENTRE.—TIVOLI PALACE AND HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. Stone. — An excellent bill of fare is attracting large audiences. Topping the programme are the Five Royal Minstrels, including Bob White, Fred McLean, and Dan O'Conor, who are deservedly applauded. The sensational feats of the Three Sisters Urma, gymnasts, are much appreciated; Sam Williams in his comedy numbers is well received; Gus Hindrell in his vocal scena Boys Will Be Boys is also a good turn. A fine series of up-to-date pictures concludes.

PERTH.—PERTH THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. H. Savile; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Aldridge.—On Monday Mr. Savile presented his tenth Perth pantomime—Robinson Crusoe—which scored an immediate success. There is an abundance of fun, and the pantomime is particularly strong in singing, the operatic finale of the first part being uncommonly well sung. Miss Daisie Morrell is again principal boy, and has had a great reception; Miss Maude is a bright Polly Perkins, and sang and danced herself into great favour; Miss Dorothy Harris is a charming Princess Pittising and Miss Phyllis Grey sings delightfully as the Fairy Queen; Miss Margaret Webster is a handsome Spirit of the Storm, and her attendant spirit, the Voice of the Storm, is Mr. Lewis Morgan, who has a fine baritone voice; the comedians—Mr. Harry Farrow, Mr. Tatten Hall, Mr. Dan Maxwell, Mr. Tom O'Neill, and Mr. Harry Arnold—work together with splendid effect; and Miss Lottie Stone's troupe of dancers add greatly to the gaiety of several scenes. Mr. Bert Stephens conducts the augmented orchestra with Miss Lucy Wilson at the piano.

PETERBOROUGH.—HIPPODROME.— Proprietor, Mr. Fred Karno; Manager, Mr. Percy Hart.—Mlle. Ghita Corri, in her song-scena Character Types, is the chief turn here, and is highly appreciated; Alf Maynall is a clever comedian; Percy Maye submits capital imitations; Arthur Rose, descriptive vocalist, is well received; Dolly Goldin is a dainty comedienne and dancer; and the Karnoscope is interesting.

PLYMOUTH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Mr. J. Langdon Lee.—As evidence of the popularity of Robinson Crusoe it has been decided to extend the run to seven weeks instead of terminating at the end of the sixth week as originally contemplated.

PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. Jack Field.—Leipzig, a conjuror without apparatus, forms the chief attraction here; Fritz von Lisson entertains with realistic animal and bird imitations; Mlle. Jina performs graceful evolutions on the trapeze; the Mexican Lasso Wonders provide a novel and attractive entertainment; Miss Ray Raymond has some tuneful songs; and Maisie Dene performs some pretty dances. The other turns are contributed by Miss Alice Cheshire and company in a sketch entitled Wanted, a Wife, and the Cormon Juveniles.

PONTYPRIDD.—ROYAL CLARENCE.—Sole Owners, Messrs. Trenchard and Jones; Manager, Mr. Charles Trenchard. — Mr. Wm. Greet's company presents The Sign of the Cross here to crowded houses. Dresses and scenery are beautiful, and the acting throughout creditable. Marcus, as played by Mr. W. Lawson, leaves little room for improvement, and the grace of Miss Constance Little's Mercia charms the audience. Mr. W. Mayne Lynton is an excellent Nero; Mr. Chas. Aldred's Tigelinus and Mr. J. Weatherald's Licinius are both capital; Glabrio is in the capable hands of Mr. Frank Wood; and Mr. Harry Jones is a good Philodemus. Messrs. H. Thurston Harris and Martin Palmer ably portray Servilius and Strabo. Mr. Harry Raymond is good as Virturius. Poppæa is charmingly played by Miss Beryl Hamilton; Miss Dorothy Lart is good as Berenice; and Miss Esme Lee acts cleverly as Dacia. Miss Mary Newcombe is a capital Ancaria; Miss Winifred Delevanti receives a hearty reception as Stephanus.

PORTH.—PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs Pooles, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. J. W. Bynorth.—A special attraction here is the famous Pichel troupe of Risley acrobats and tumblers, who are exceedingly smart; Nat Knight is an inimitable light comedian; Terry and Bentley are a smart pair of simultaneous dancers; and the Beautiful Lilian, an intrepid cyclist, has an excellent reception. Petro and Leon are successful as comedy gymnasts. Tommy Clifford is a capital ventriloquist; and Albert St. Clair is a first-class double-voiced vocalist. La Belle Lumiero, a beautiful and charming actress, presents a sensational act and a dance of the Human Butterfly. The Palascope, as usual has excellent pictures.

PORTSMOUTH. — PRINCE'S. — Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. E. Agate.—The Luck of Roaring Camp is being presented here for the first time by Miss Ida Molesworth and Mr. Mark Blow's company. This vigorous and exciting drama is much appreciated. Miss Elizabeth Dundas as Nell Curtis makes a charming heroine; Will Gordon is admirably portrayed by Mr. Douglas Murray; Tom Barnes, the villain, is realistically rendered by Mr. Charles E. Johnson; and Miss Doris Gillham as Jovita de Sutro is excellent.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Captain E. H. Warren-Wright; Secretary, Mr. W. Pratt.—The chief attraction this week is the visit of Charles Baron with his highly-trained dogs disguised as wild animals in a menagerie. Another feature of his performance is his remarkable racing cats; the Tourbillons are clever trick cyclists; T. E. Ford quite sustains his right to the title of "the untiring whirlwind dancer"; Surrie Lindon's Vaudevilles are seen to advantage in a miniature musical comedy entitled Monks at Play; the Five Musical Tritons present a spectacular musical scena. A strong programme includes Frank Jester, comedian; Crissie Cross, comedienne; Vowles and Bryan; and Payne's Bio-photoscope.

PRESTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, The Executors of the late Mr. W. Johnson; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. Aiban Newton.—The annual visit of the Moody-Manners Opera Co. is an event eagerly looked forward to by the music-loving public of Preston. The company opened on Monday with Gounod's opera Faust. Mr. John Child in the title-rôle gave a most artistic interpretation of the character, and, in spite of a slight cold, rendered his numbers in admirable style. Madame Beatrice la Palme, the Marguerite, possesses a voice of most excellent quality, and displayed fine emotion in her rendition. Mr. William Anderson as Mephistopheles imparted the necessary amount of satirical humour into the part, and his fine bass voice was heard to great advantage. Mr. Graham Marr as Valentine was dramatic, and his powerful baritone was much appreciated. Miss Olive Westwood as Siebel met with unstinted applause, and was recalled for her rendering "When all was young." Miss M. Dennis was a most successful Martha, and Mr. H. Mann equally good as Wagner. The choruses, which were augmented by the Preston Grand Opera Society, were magnificent, and the Soldiers' Chorus had to be repeated. Carmen, Tannhauser, Samson and Delilah, Il Trovatore, and Maritana are also billed.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Page; General-Manageress, Mrs. M. M. Clarkson; Resident-Manager, Mr. Chas. E. Clarkson.—Miss Ethel van Praagh and J. Edward Whittly's company in The Eyes of the World is the attraction here. Mr. E. Whittly is an excellent Achille Fanfarade; Mr. Chas. O'Connor has an unenviable character to portray as Hector de l'Orme, but is fully successful; Mr. Will Casey is admirably cast for Gaston de Carnac; and Mr. Wilson Wynne is highly successful as his son Octave. Mr. R. Wilton Bedford makes a capital Paul Roqueville; Miss Flora Hastings displays much power as Mme. Esmé de Carnac; Miss Nellie Garside is a vivacious Mlle. Susanne Pomfleure; Miss Elsie Capell is a delightful Avice; Miss Beatrice Hulmet an excellent Antoinette; and Miss Ethel van Praagh in the arduous rôle of Helene de l'Orme succeeds in carrying all before her. Dresses and accessories are exceedingly good.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank E. Burdett.—A most sensational act is presented by Tom Grave in Whizzing the Wheel and Shooting the Bar in a motor-car travelling at the rate of seventy miles an hour; Billy Williams is a favourite; the Sages (Will and Jenny), comedy burlesque artists, are a good turn, and their duets, both vocal and dancing, go well; Baby Myrtle Grove is a talented juvenile vocalist and dancer; the Lovelaces, American song illustrators, contribute some catchy refrains; Tod Lowen, in "Old Melodies with New Words" is decidedly funny and original; the Sarchoff Troupe of Russian Dancers is a wonderfully good turn; the Days, in mental telepathy, succeed in thoroughly mystifying the audience. A capital film, Dove Eyes Gratitude, is shown on the Bioscope.

RAWTENSTALL.—GRAND THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. William Matthews; Responsible Manager, Mr. J. A. Whitehouse.—Mr. William Pardoe's latest pantomime production Dick Whittington is presented to enthusiastic audiences and it proves most entertaining. Miss Lottie Holland is excellent in the principal rôle, and her songs are delightfully sung, the most notable being the one in which she introduces her juvenile troupe. Miss Nellie Rose as Alice proves a fascinating and talented artist, and Miss Cissy Loveday as Fairy Bowbelle is most successful, singing several musical turns in a charming manner. Miss Rose Finettie makes a capital Lord Dedbroke; the Misses Elsie Kedward and Beattie Howard as the Princess and Khan Tellum are captivating; Mr. George Hyam as Idle Jack is clever and amusing; Mr. Alfred Grady as Jim is an excellent comedian; Mr. Will Robb is a successful Capt. Binnacle; Mr. Joe Venora is a capital Emperor; and Mr. Tom Hulme most capable as Alderman Fitzwarren. As Sarah Cook Mr. Jimmy Wood is very clever; Mons. Pauli as the Cat is excellent; and Mr. Tom Griffiths as King Rat contributes some exceedingly well-rendered songs. The specialities include the Victor Bros. (acrobats and balancers), the Edengale Trio of Continental dancers (an excellent turn), and Pauletti (acrobatic cyclist).

READING.—ROYAL COUNTY THEATRE.—Proprietors and Managers, Mr. Milton Bode and Mr. Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. Fred Benton.—Mr. Andie Caine's pantomime, The Babes in the Wood, is being played here on the two-shows nightly principle. The Babes are capitally represented by the Misses Dorothy Elliott and Mabel Lucina; Miss Alice Digby makes a dashing Robin Hood; Miss Dolly McCalla is equally "fetching" as Will Scarlett; Miss Lily Brammer is charming as Maid Marion; and Miss Hawthorne Thwaites is a pleasing Fairy Luna, both artists being also good vocalists. Miss Madge McCalla acts with much chic and vivacity as Margery Daw, a village coquette, and joins her sister in some graceful dancing; Mr. Andie Caine makes a great success of the part of Dame Anne Chovy; Mr. Wal Kent is amusing as the Wicked Uncle; Miss Maud Whittaker is an attractive Allan-a-Dale; Mr. Bert Albert makes a good Friar Tuck; Mr. Jimmy McGrath is very droll as the Village Postman; and Messrs. Coda and Danton are highly diverting as Bill Busy and Walley Weary. The Frivols Sextette of dancers are well received.

THE PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Geo. Howard Watson; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. E. Draco.—Carter Livesay and Lilian Rosebery appear with success in their skit entitled Would-Be Actors, which creates roars of laughter; Madge Osmond, the ideal dandy, gives a smart turn; the Dick and Dorothy Trio introduce a capital combination of harmony, music, and dance, Jean and Josie perform some wonderful contortionist feats; Arthur Melrose is an expert whistler and comedian; Cummin and Seaham, the ragman and postman, provide a funny turn; the Creo Brothers give a good comedy acrobatic turn in the guise of gypsies; and Walter Purvis is a capital comedian.

ROCHDALE.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Resident-Manager, Mr. S. Burton.—Mr. James Kiddie's pantomime Dick Whittington is proving a welcome attraction here. The scenery and dresses are bright and tasteful, and boisterous merriment prevails throughout. Mr. Charles Cork is a capital vocalist, and fulfils his part of Rodento with success; Miss Maud Leviette makes a graceful Fairy Concordia; Miss Lena Page is a great favourite in the title-rôle, her singing and acting being especially good; Miss Florrie Warner is a charming and winsome Alice; Mr. Dennis McCarthy is well placed as Alderman Fitzwarren; Mr. Charley Chard scores heavily in the part of Idle Jack; Mr. Tom Gott creates much amusement as Amelia Florence, the Alderman's cook; Clifton and Gibson deserve a word of praise as Silly Peter and Lazy Larry; Miss Annie Broughton makes a smart Captain Navycutte; Miss Florence Hilton contributes a dashing and spirited impersonation of Sir Algernon de Mash; and Miss Edna Francis is very prominent as Mhordee Yzah.

ROTHERHAM.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. Holbery Hardy.—Mr. Charles Barnard and company are here this week with the Babes in the Wood. Miss Gracie Grahame is a dashing Robin Hood; Miss Violet Nunn a charming Maid Marion; Will Scarlett and Daisy Buttercup are capitally portrayed by the Sisters Du Cane; Miss Georgie Hall does well as Little John; and Miss May Cartwright is seen to advantage as Pansy Bloom. Mr. Dan Daly is a funny Sir Rupert, being ably seconded by Mr. Charles Lilburn as Wilhelmina. Miss Mabel Reeve as Reggie and Miss Ena Corelli as Rose are pretty Babes, and Miss John C. McMilan is deserving of mention as Friar Tuck. Messrs. Nash and Noel as Roger Ralys and Timothy Taxys are clever knockabouts; Mr. Dan Welsh scores heavily as the Demon King; and Miss Ethel Payne sings with great success as the Fairy Queen.

HIPPODROME, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. T. Edgar Fox; Resident-Manager, Mr. A. R. Hollands.—A good bill is being presented here. Coram is in the front rank of ventriloquists; the Sisters Gerette are wonderful trapeze artists; Ted Gill is deservedly applauded; Two More Boys give a clever vocal and dancing act; Mr. George Abel and Ethel Arden bring down the house with the sketch Three of a Kind; the Claymore Trio are seen in a clever club-juggling act; the Three Gelins are an expert troupe of eccentric comedians; and the Keppels are deservedly applauded.

SALFORD.—PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. E. B. Goulden; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harold Goulden.—Mr. Andrew Melville's company is a powerful combination, and the good old drama Driven from Home was well presented to a good house on Monday. Anthony Raybrook is in the safe hands of Mr. Felix Pitt; Mr. P. George Beresford makes a good hero of Walter Hatherleigh; Mr. J. B. Shinton cleverly presents the villainous Geoffrey Waring; Miss A. M. Ryder very successfully portrays Walter and Laura (the heroine); Mr. Henry Helling is a smart Adam Marley; and Mr. Percy Dawsone does well as the outcast, Willie. Much comedy business is contributed to by Mr. Fred C. Imb

FILM GOSSIP AND NOTICES.

Changes in the Urban Office.

MR. CHARLES URBAN finds that the daily increasing popularity and enthusiastic reception gained by the new departure in cinematography, i.e., cinemacolour, which reproduces the world's events in the hues and tints of Nature, has occasioned such an exceptional demand that its universal exploitation calls for all the time and energy at his disposal. The supply and demand of the cinema-color success are so growingly insistent that the whole of Mr. Urban's resources and powers are necessary for the general adoption and further development of the system. We are authorised to announce that Mr. Urban has now entirely severed all active personal connection with the Charles Urban Trading Company, Limited, London.

"Urbanora House" as Heretofore.

MR. E. H. GUEST also, the able secretary and latterly general-manager of the Charles Urban Trading Company, has placed his resignation in the hands of the directors, that he may assist his principal in the same direction by undertaking the secretarial and managerial duties of the Natural Color Cinematograph Company, Limited, whose registered offices and manufacturing departments will remain, as heretofore, at Urbanora House, where all communications should be addressed either to Mr. Urban or to Mr. E. H. Guest. M. Emile Chêneau, commercial director of the Société Générale des Cinématographes "Eclipse" of Paris, has been appointed to the temporary charge of the affairs of the Charles Urban Trading Co., Ltd.

No Intervals Now.

ANOTHER new idea is the increasing use of the cinematograph as an aid in songs, sketches, or ballets on the music-hall stage. The variety theatres have stolen a march on the "legitimate" ones in this respect. In the Empire ballet, for instance, when the authors wish to bring their principal characters quickly from America to Leicester Square, do you think they resort to so bald an idea as to say "an interval of five days elapses"? Never. Instead they turn on the cinematograph, and we see the hero and his friends speeding swiftly o'er the real ocean in a real ship, the Mauretania. The same idea, but carried even further, is also being employed by La Tortajada in her new dances at the Coliseum.

Novel Music-Hall "Turn."

A NEW use has been found for the cinematograph. At the Bedford this week moving pictures bridge a gap in a dramatic sketch in most realistic fashion. A story from the Red Magazine "The Adder's Tooth," has been arranged as a play. In it the scene has to change from an editorial office to a garret, with an exciting chase among the characters from one to the other. This pursuit, in which a motor-cab plays a prominent part, could not be represented in real acting. But in the novel plan employed the house goes dark between the scenes, a white screen falls, and a series of exciting incidents connected with the chase are shown by means of specially taken films. Then the scene of the garret follows without any interruption of the action.

Douglas Payne's Enterprise.

ONE scarcely recognises in the Westminster Palace Gatti's old music hall "in the road." It has been redecorated by the enterprising Carpenter family, partially reconstructed, and there is a continuous variety and picture performance carried on between 2 and 5 and 6 and 11 p.m. daily. We find an old friend in Mr. Douglas Payne "in front," and his varied experience in touring musical comedy and the variety theatres not only in England but in South Africa and other parts of the world, should be very helpful to him in the effort he is making to once more bring fame and fortune to this historic house. Mr. Payne, on the night of our visit, took us through all parts of the house, behind the scenes, below the scenes, and above them likewise. The stage has been remodelled, new dressing rooms have been rebuilt, and the cellar accommodation overhauled, for be it known the old refreshment licence has been retained. One of the novelties Mr. Payne is responsible for is that every afternoon, by paying the 6d. admission to the stalls, one can obtain tea, with cake, bread and butter, daintily served, gratis. Our enterprising manager's welcome says: "Come as early as you like and stay as long as you like." Can managerial man say more? The programme you get for your 2d., 4d., or 6d., includes the latest pictures, three or four excellent variety turns, and the efforts of a small, but efficient, orchestra.

Tyler's "Dancing Jack."

IN Dancing Jack Tyler's have a film with a very dramatic little story. A workman living in a cottage makes dolls. One big doll—a clown—is difficult to sell. The workman's son gets fond of it, and looks upon it as a friend. One day a gentleman and his little boy go past, the boy sees the clown doll and persuades his father to buy it. The poor little street merchant, grieved to part with his favourite, bursts into tears, and, the gentleman asking the reason, the lad tells how he loves the puppet, and so he gives it back to him. Some days later there is no food in the cottage, and the workman says the clown doll must be sold. The child thinks of the little boy who was so kind to him, and goes to his house only to find a funeral leaving the door. The boy puts the doll, which is his greatest treasure, amongst the wreaths, and sorrowfully turns away. The father of the dead boy, who is lingering in the graveyard, takes the little fellow home, and cares for him for the sake of the child he has lost.

Enforcing the Act.

THE attention of the Essex County Council has been called to the Cinematograph Hall, Ilford Hill, with a view to such alterations being made as were necessary to meet with the requirements of the Cinematograph Act, 1909.

Excelsior Cinematograph in Bombay.

WONDERFUL business has been done here during the Christmas and New Year holidays, 12,000 people paying for admission on Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, and Sunday. That alone will give some idea of the popularity these trips in Picture-land have attained in Bombay. A prominent feature is the charming alfresco gardens and band attached to the pavilion, which make it an enjoyable meeting-place after dinner. It is now quite a password here, "See you at the Excelsior." Novelties are received from Paris, London, and Italy by every mail. On Monday last the management reserved the whole of the better seats for the European police officers of the city, their wives and children, and afterwards entertained the kiddies to sweets and the elders to refreshments. The Commissioner of Police visited the show, and thoroughly entered into the spirit of enjoyment which prevailed during the evening.

"In Little Italy."

THE newest Markt subject deals with a love romance, In Little Italy. Marie Cadrona, a widowed mother of two small children, is sought in marriage by Victor Ratazzi, a barber, and Tony Guilletto, a labourer. Marie rejects Tony's suit, but hearkens to the love songs of Victor. Tony, upon learning of Victor's acceptance, is determined to be revenged. Several times the opportunity seems to present itself, but just as the fatal blow is about to be given some one appears on the scene. Victor is totally ignorant of the threatening danger. An Italian ball is held, and Victor escorts Marie there. Tony is present. Victor and Marie are dancing, and as they pass Tony Victor drops from a stab wound in the side, inflicted by Tony, who gets away unnoticed. The next morning he visits the corner saloon only to learn that his deed was not fatal. Enraged beyond measure, he makes his way to the widow's house and tries to get into the room where Victor lies on a cot. The door being barricaded, he tries to effect an entrance through the window, but a portable cupboard placed in front prevents him, so kicking in the cellar door he climbs up a ladder to a trap in the floor; on this trap the widow places a heavy trunk, and she and one of the children sit on it to increase the weight, while she dispatches the other child for the constable. Tony soon overcomes this resistance, and forcing his way through the trap is just about to finish the destruction of Victor, when a well-directed shot from the constable's revolver causes the stiletto to fall from his hand. Tony is taken into custody, and Marie, unmolested, attends Victor, looking forward to the day when he will be well enough to make her his wife.

London Cinema Co.'s "Non-Flams."

THE London Cinematograph Company have purchased the British rights of the Lumière non-flam films, and have made special arrangements to supply "non-flam" to their customers with all promptitude.

Electric Theatres.

THE first report of the Electric Theatres (1908), Ltd., is in many ways a satisfactory document. The company, when formed in September, 1908, took over two electric theatres as going concerns and two which had been arranged for. It has since opened fourteen additional theatres and is constructing five others. This is pretty rapid progress and has necessitated the issue of the remainder of the share capital, the last 20,000 10s. shares being successfully placed at a premium of 2s. 6d. per share. The gross takings for the whole period to Dec. 30 last amounted to £40,900 and a net profit is shown of £15,100. Three interim distributions of 1s. per share have been made and a fourth dividend of the same amount is now proposed, which will leave a balance of £700 to be carried forward. The shareholders thus get a very good return on their capital.

More Enterprise at the Palace.

FULL and exclusive bioscope views of the Paris floods were produced by Mr. Alfred Butt at the Palace Theatre on Thursday night. Most realistic pictures of the scenes in the French capital are presented.

AT the Theatre de Luxe in the Strand this week's programme includes The Open Gate, The Wedding of Coco, Let Bygones be Bygones, Much Ado About Nothing, Beauty Spots in Prince Olaf's Land, The Best Man Wins, and A Trip Round the Lakes of Killarney.

Huddersfield Victoria Hall.

THE seventeenth week of the fifth annual season was commenced on Monday evening at the Victoria Hall before a crowded audience, who showed much enthusiasm over the excellence of one of the best programmes that even Pringle's have submitted to Huddersfield audiences during their now lengthening history. The Two Christmastides was in every way fine, while A Mountaineer's Honour. A Russian Girl's Heroism, Briton v. Boer, The Motor Cyclist, and Schaffhausen were tip-top presentations of animated pictures. The Widow and Ma Learns to Ride, with Jones Eats Kangaroo, were also very enjoyable items. Mr. Wybrow, the manager, intimates that he intends to give his patrons longer programmes.

ALDERSHOT.—ALEXANDRA GALLERY.—Proprietors, Carpenter's Theatres, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. J. Connors.—This week's programme includes many excellent films, the chief one being Comedy and Tragedy, a dramatic story of interest; this series is followed by The Duchess of Masonia, an artistic historical picture; Tempered with Mercy, Almost—A Sticky Proposition, Scriggins Puts Up for Blankshire, The Ferryman's Sweetheart, Family Outing in Luna Park, &c. Miss Mabel Clovelly adds to the excellence of the performance with a couple of well-rendered songs.

WIDE WORLD PICTURES.—Proprietors, Messrs. J. Golder and Bert Sloman.—The management here is providing a capital programme. For the first half of the week the following set of films was shown: The Spectre of the Plain, For Honour's Sake, The Corsican's Daughter, Women Chauffeurs, The Tower of London, Scenes in Holland, and Following in Mother's Footsteps. For the last performances of this week the films shown are: Two Brothers, Joan Chroan (a war episode), Persistent Followers, Trip to Scilly Isles, The Locket, The Trooper's Bride, The Reformatory School, and The Dispatch Bearer.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE.—THE ODDFELLOWS' HALL.—Lessees, Messrs. the Ashton Entertainments Syndicate; Managers, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Marks.—Heading the bill at the variety and picture palace is the great picture Parisina, the details of which the poet Byron wrought into verse. Mr. Sandman's Cure is a specific for the blues. How it works is seen in the picture. Free Thanksgivings is a very fine dramatic picture. Some idea of the varied scenes enacted may be formed when it is known that 1000ft. of film is unwound in its display. No Excitement is a laughter producer, and roars of guffawing are created in the showing of Calinos Fire Extinguisher. Redwing's Gratitude is an Indian squaw's way of showing her appreciation of service rendered and her devotion to the object of her love.

THE NEW PAVILION.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Leech; Assistant-Manager, Mr. E. A. Sims.—The films at the Pavilion for the week are, as usual, well selected for interest and fun-making. From Kidnapper to Rescuer is a good dramatic adventure. The Kind-hearted Employer is also a strong incident of a master and servant, and, moreover, somewhat rare and touching from its unusual character. Never Despair is a sensational set of circumstances of a domestic character. In humour, that is, pictures prepared with the object of creating diversion, there is The Plumber, who creates ructions in a household; The Calendar, very funny in its details; Delights of the Shoot is most excruciating in its mirth-provoking features. There are two historic pictures of deep interest: Benedict Arnold, a drama of the day of President Geo. Washington of American Independence, and the Death Disc, a sensational incident of Cromwellian days. Adelia's Washing Day is comical. Mr. Alan Wright, the vocalist and lecturer, sings "Off to Philadelphia" and "Pal o' Mine," two songs, illustrated with views by the lantern.

THE PICTUREDROME. — Lessees, Messrs. Weisker Bros.; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. Leckie.—The World in Motion pictures at this pleasure resort take in a thrilling story of a youth who rose from Cabin-boy to King. That is, after many hardships and adventures he lands upon an island inhabited by savage tribes, and ultimately he wins his way to be the chief or king. The Bootmaker's Revenge shows how a bootmaker finds a customer endeavouring to ingratiate himself into the good graces of the shopkeeper's wife, and in revenge he fixes a pair of shoes upon the Lothario's feet with little wheels attached, and the disasters which follow are very amusing. Foolshead's Christmas is remarkably good; it fully sets out how this eccentric celebrated Christmas. The Duchess of Masovia is a story of love for a discarded child by a false wife and a false friend. Jubilee Celebrations in Yokohama is a fine coloured exposition of a great Japanese festival. Tempered in Mercy is a story of heartless prosecutor and sorely-tempted young thief and a kindly-disposed policeman. Scroggins Puts Up for Blankshire, a burlesque on elections, and The Suffragette are comic items. The pictures are interspersed with the recitals of Mr. Albert Sember, a Liverpool actor, in dramatic selections. Bella Knight sings some songs, descriptive and coon, and the pianist introduces a new feature, comprising the choruses of popular songs, the words being thrown on the screen.

AYR.—PICTURE PALACE.—Tragedy bulks largely in the programme here this week. Macbeth and Mexican Bill are star items, and there are also Briton and Boer, A Dash to Death, and a host of humorous films. The two-houses-a-night system is working well at the Palace.

BIRMINGHAM.—QUEEN'S HALL.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. B. Kennedy and J. P. Moore.—A new series of pictures here includes a thrilling dramatic subject, The Seventh Day, and the latest comic subject, The Football Craze. There is also a splendid pantomime picture, Blue Beard, which is followed by a harlequinade performance by the Wys Troupe.

KING'S HALL.—Proprietors, Messrs. J. P. Moore and B. Kennedy. — An entirely new programme comprises some dramatic and humorous pictures, foremost amongst which is The Little Teacher, the subject being laid in the Wild West; La Camar Go, illustrating the adventures of an Italian bandit; and The Baldheaded Corporal. Excellent vaudeville entertainment is provided by Master Arthur Vereker, Dudley Hayes, comedian, and the Henris, musical duettists.

BLACKBURN. — CENTRAL HALL. — Managing-Director, Mr. A. Arbury; Assistant-Manager, Mr. G. W. Page.—The pictures this week at this hall are of the usual high-class order, and include the following: Up San Juan Hill, a dramatic episode dealing with the Spanish-Cuban War; The Pillagers is another dramatic picture dealing with Eastern life, and is very well received; The Magic Pipes is one of those mystifying pictures which are both amusing and instructive at the same time; Baby Bet is a very amusing picture, and deals with the mischievous pranks of a little girl—it is a very popular film with both young and old alike; Left Out is a very high-class dramatic picture dealing with American life—it abounds with thrilling episodes, and the reuniting between father and daughter over the mother's grave is very touching; The Fisherman's Bride and Love's Stratagem are also dramatic; another humorous picture, When We Called the Plumber In, also found favour.

BRIGHTON.—COURT THEATRE.—Lessee and Manageress, Mrs. M. Barrasford.—An excellent series of animated pictures is exhibited here this week. The Ferryman's Daughter conveys a powerful and stirring drama; and there are very interesting incidents submitted in Onawanda, Betty's Choice, and The Subterfuge. The films of an amusing character include A One-legged Story and A Gentleman Thief. Mr. Osland Denner's baritone songs are warmly appreciated; and Mr. Arthur W. Briggs merits warm praise for his pianoforte accompaniments to the pictures and vocal selections.

CARLISLE.—NEW PUBLIC HALL.—Lessee, Mr. Sydney Bacon; Resident-Manager, Mr. Peter Mooney.—A fine array of pictures is presented here this week, most notable among them being Briton and Boer, The Skull Worshipper, and The Little Detective. Some very good singing pictures are also introduced by the Cinephone.

DARLASTON.—QUEEN'S HALL.—Lessees and Managers, the Manchester Royal Animated Picture Co.; Manager, Mr. Geo. Beesley.—The management here continue to put forward the best of animated pictures, including the following interesting films: Confidence, A Story of Bagdad, The Heart of a Gipsy, Stickfast, Whimsical People, and Mysterious Thief. A variety turn, Ingram and Irving, in their absurdity, The new Office Boy, are extremely good.

DUNDEE.—PALACE THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. J. J. Bennell; Acting-Manager, Mr. Tom Lunn.—The programme presented here this week is of a varied and entertaining order. A very laughable film is Calino's Fire-Extinguisher. Calino is informed by a gipsy that he will perish by fire, and he goes off and buys a fire-extinguisher. On the terrace of a café a gentleman is lighting his pipe, and Calino douches him. He puts out the lights of a motor-car, and, on observing smoke issuing from the chimneys, he jumps on the roof, and has many other comical adventures. The Death Disc depicts the period when England was in a state of excitement during the time of Cromwell. Other pictures shown are A Kind-Hearted Employer, The Cripples' Matrimonial Stakes, and From Kidnapper to Rescuer; while variety is lent by the talking and singing picture Swing Me Higher, Obadiah. Mr. Lunn's new heating installation is being much appreciated.

EMPIRE THEATRE — General-Manager, Mr. J. J. Bennell; Acting-Manager, Mr. R. Austin.—Since Mr. Bennell took over this house excellent business has been done, thanks to the capital programmes presented and smart up-to-date management.

NEWMAN'S PICTURE PALACE.—Lessee, Mr. Fred New man; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jack Noble.—Mr. Newman presents his patrons with many interesting pictures this week, and good business is still the rule here.

EDINBURGH.—OPERETTA HOUSE.—Lessee and General-Manager, Mr. J. H. Sanders.—Among a host of capital films, that of Muggins, V.C., is one of the best; it tells of a country yokel's bravery on the field of battle, thereby gaining his lady-love. Nursing a Viper depicts a thrilling story of the French Revolution. There are several comic subjects, of which one of the funniest is Foolshead Swallows a Crab; while views of Brighton Aquarium are both interesting and attractive. Ben Lomond is a very humorous vocalist.

PRINGLE'S PICTURE PALACE. — General-Manager, Mr. Geo. Edmonds.—There are a number of beautiful and effective films shown here this week, notably The Best Man Wins, and Comedy and Tragedy, which are high-class pictures of an attractive and pleasing kind. Many other series display views of a varied and amusing type, and the programme is still further strengthened by the clever turns of Harry Fowler, singing shoe-black, and Persugal, Australian ventriloquist and mimic.

GLASGOW.—GAIETY, LTD.; General-Manager, Mr. J. J. Bennell; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Dickinson.—A programme of more than ordinary excellence is this week presented by the B.B. pictures. Some splendid films are shown, and variety is lent to the performance by the appearance of Miss May Oliver (a clever child vocalist) and Hank Hanlon (an amusing comedian).

KIRKCALDY.—EXCHANGE PAVILION.—Licensee, Dr. Walford Bodie; Manager, Mr. George Lee.—A splendid programme is served up here this week, of which Scroggins Puts Up For Blankshire is top of the bill. This is a very funny picture. Jack Easy, comedian, and Laura Raymond, vocalist, are appearing here with much success.

LEAMINGTON.—ELECTRIC THEATRE.—Lessees, Messrs. Gillsmiths, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. Harry Plant.—Another fine programme of animated and coloured pictures is provided this week. The chief pictures are The Lady Detective, being a combination of excellent scenes and exciting incidents, and Scroggins Puts Up for Blankshire, a side-splitting election film. The others include Stick-fast Paste, The Pillagers, Billy's Wedding Day, The Postmistress, The Hen that Laid the Golden Eggs, and the Man and the Doll. Miss Mina Langton again contributes illustrated songs with artistic success, whilst Mr. Bert Williams adds greatly to his previous triumphs by his clever reciting of "The Fighting Parson," a piece written by himself.

LEICESTER.—EMPIRE.—Lessees, The New Bioscope Trading Co.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. R. Craig.—Good business and good pictures continue to rule at this home of animated photography, the star films this week being A Country Girl's Peril and Dog and Bone. The others include Her Mother's Last Wish, Cowboy's Sweetheart, Good Boy, Hector, Jealousy and the Man, Nick Carter in His Adventure with the Suicide Club, The Receiver's Doom, Sardine Fishing, The Snowman, Adopting a Baby, Mr. Jones's Burglar, and Schubert's Life. Will Glover, descriptive and tenor vocalist, is an extra attraction.

LIVERPOOL.—PALAIS DE LUXE CINEMA.—Voters and others, while waiting for the election results, have been invited to visit the Palais de Luxe Cinema in Lime-street, where they were provided with a most attractive picture entertainment. The new programme contains an excellent selection of the latest films, including those depicting The Horrors of a Strike, The Sleep Walker, Lake Lucerne, Midnight Sons, and The Mustard Plaster. The performance is continuous from 3 p.m. to 10.30 p.m.

MEXBOROUGH.—NEW PICTURE HALL.—Lessee, Mr. Will Hunter.—An excellent programme this week includes An Alpine Echo, The Poacher, Foolshead's Christmas, Young Lady Killer, Hunting Adventures, Little Dog Clipper, &c.

NORTH SHIELDS.—BOROUGH THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. George Black; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Black, jun.—The principal films here this week are Dove Eye's Gratitude, A Visit to the Zoological Gardens, Kind-Hearted Employer, &c. Charles Ouseley, coloured comedian and dancer, and Jim Merry, comedian, are appearing with success.

HOWARD HALL.—The pictures shown here are up to the usual high standard, and include A Day with a Steam Trawler, The Fisherman's Bride, and Her Father's Ransom.

GAIETY PICTURE HALL.—The programme here comprises Through the Breakers, Mother of the Condemned, Saved by His Sweetheart, The Conjurer, &c. Clark and Green, musical comedians, are also under engagement.

NORWICH. — AGRICULTURAL HALL ASSEMBLY ROOMS.—Mr. E. V. Barr, late of The Gem, Great Yarmouth, opened here on Monday evening for a season with animated pictures, among which are The Pet of the Ranch, From Cabin-boy to King, and others of a choice kind. He is assisted by Miss Bessie Hardman (soprano) and Mr. Tom Taylor (baritone), who render pleasing songs with good voices and with much taste. There are two performances nightly, with matinées on Mondays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

CENTRAL HALL, UPPER MARKET.—Lessees, The Goodman Entertainment Co.; Manager, Mr. Syd Goodman.—The instructing and amusing pictures here are very good this week, and include Nero: the Burning of Rome; Deception, sensational drama; The Sack Race; Muggins, V.C.; The Watchmaker's Invention; Good Boy Hector, &c. Miss Flora Macdonald, A.L.C.M., sings some pleasing songs during the entertainment.

OLDHAM.—ROYAL THEATRE—General-Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Kilrow.—A capital top-liner is Julius Cæsar, a picture well worth seeing. Special mention should be made of another fine dramatic film, The Mother of the Condemned. Much laughter is caused by some smart comics, which include No Excitement, Fickle Fortune, Calino's Fire Extinguisher, and others. Mr. Don Cameron again sings some good songs.

HIPPODROME.—General-Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Acting-Manager, Mr. L. King.—Alterations and improvements have been made at this hall which greatly add to the comfort of the patrons. The principal picture this week is entitled Into the Shadow, and received much applause. The bill also includes several excellent films, both funny and otherwise. A Race for Brandy, Calino Goes Shopping, A Tantalising Young Lady, and others. A fine travel picture is Beauty Spots in Prince Olaf's Land. Mr. King also sings a new song, "Red Wing."

BROWN'S ASSEMBLY ROOMS. — Proprietor, Mr. W. Brown.—This popular picture house is doing excellent business, and some very good pictures are being shown. The Red Man's View is a film of the thrilling order. A Journey to the Middle of the Earth is a fine trick picture, and is much enjoyed. Amongst the comedy films is Hot Pickles, which causes hearty laughter.

SALFORD.—OPERA HOUSE AND ASSEMBLY ROOMS, LTD.; Managing-Director, Mr. W. Turner; General-Manager, Mr. Herbert Raymond; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. Shepherd.—The Regent new animated pictures this week include: A Russian Girl's Heroism, Rough Sea at St. Jean de Lutz, The Dwarf Detective, and The Restoration (drama). Mr. Tom Sherlock sings some good illustrated songs.

NEW CENTRAL HALL.—Proprietors, Matt. Raymond Co.; Manager, Mr. A. H. Gilbert.—The Woman Spy, In Goldland, A Duel in Mid-Air, Merry Clowns, Christmas Story, Poor Blind Sister, Election Humour, and Patrick Pinches Poultry are this week's Raymond pictures, interspersed by "Won't you come to Madeira" and "Put Me a Girl Beside," sung by Mr. A. H. Gilbert.

SPENNYMOOR.—PICTURE PALACE.—It may be stated that Mr. Arthur Sleep has taken over the management of this picture hall, and the top of the bill this week is Tom Casey, a vocalist and whistler of wide reputation, who scores freely; and a good supply of films are on view, including Fools of Fate, Message to Napoleon, and Freddie's Little Love Affair.

SUNDERLAND.—AVENUE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Harry Esden. — Large audiences are assembling here this week to witness a good programme of pictures and variety. The Alps is a fine descriptive film, and San Juan Hill a good dramatic item. The hand-balancing feats of the Raffo Brothers are warmly applauded; the vocal items of Ena Baxter gave genuine pleasure; and Dave Summerhill, Scotch comedian, wins favour.

PALACE THEATRE.—Managers, Hamilton's Picture and Variety Company.—Into the Shadow is the title of a good dramatic film shown here on Monday night, while The Short-sighted Sportsman is a capital humorous item. The Donatos, one-legged clowns, give a skilful and humorous turn, and the Le Lolme troupe of juveniles presents a smart versatile act.

TODMORDEN.—TOWN HALL.—Martell's Pictures are drawing crowded houses. A very fine film shows The Making of Paper from start to finish, while Uncle's Will creates roars of laughter; True Love in a Cottage is an amusing comedy, and Medicine By Proxy keeps the audience in a good humour. An enthralling picture of the race-course is A Rogue of the Turf, and Married to a Smuggler is a fine dramatic one. All's Well That Ends Well and It's Only a Dream go to make an enjoyable evening's entertainment.

WHITEHAVEN.—MARKET HALL.—The excellent standard of pictures shown her for the past two years is being well maintained this week. The principal films are The Living Doll, The Poor Outcast, Macbeth, The Stolen Favourite, and a Child Benefactor. Messrs. Douglas and Clark, comedians, and Mr. George Barker, comedian, are also in the bill.

WIGAN.—NEW PAVILION.—Lessees, the U.S.A. Animated Picture Co.; Manager, Mr. Fletcher Sansome.—An excellent exhibition of pictures is again presented here this week to large audiences. The principal film is the Fall of Rome, showing the burning of the city and the death of Nero. Poultry Breeding is a very instructive picture, having special interest for those who keep fowls and are attached to the rearing of poultry. A story of a doctor's self-sacrifice is depicted in The Doctor's Sacrifice. How the Dog Saved the Flag and The Blight of Sin are two intensely dramatic pictures. Much merriment is caused by A Glass of Goat's Milk, In Love With a Picture Girl, and Under the Mistletoe. A special attraction here is that well-known whistler, Shawlene, who gives a very enjoyable entertainment.

WOLVERHAMPTON. — ELECTRIC THEATRE.—Lessees, The London and Provincial Electric Theatres, Ltd.; General-Manager, Mr. W. Reynolds-Benjamin; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Hickman.—This new place of amusement opened its doors for the first time on Saturday last. Situated as it is in Queen's-square, the main thoroughfare of the town, it occupies an excellent site. The façade, the work of Messrs. Lewis Barr and and Co., of Harringay, is in pure white, and when lit up at night it has a charming effect. There is an air of luxurious ease about the whole place, for the heavy pile carpets and draperies, snug chairs, and handsomely uniformed attendants, go to show the management have spared no expense to ensure the absolute comfort of their patrons. There is seating accommodation for 400, and the pictures are shown continuously from two o'clock until eleven. There is an entire change of programme twice a week. Mr. Herbert H. Glasing is the architect, and Mr. T. Lindsay Jones, of Wolverhampton, the general contractor. Messrs. Henry Lazarus and Sons have supplied the seating; Messrs. Phillips and Jones, of Wolverhampton, the upholstering; Messrs. John Morris and Sons, of Manchester, the fire appliances; and the Alliance Engineering Co., of Cardiff, are responsible for the electric installation. The films shown at the opening were Nero, or the Fall of Rome, a marvellously realistic picture; Messrs. Pathé's triumph, A Sculptor's Statue; Wedding Amongst the Rag and Bone Merchants; The Motor Cyclist; Fools of Fate, drama; Agra in Bengal, a beautifully-coloured picture; and Dotty Nob's Double, which causes plenty of fun.

YNISHIR. — WORKMEN'S HALL. — Proprietors, Messrs. Pooles, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. W. Bynorth.—The pictures here are attracting crowded houses. Comedy and Tragedy is a strong picture, full of absorbing interest; The Hero of Pompeii is dramatised by a splendid company of actors and actresses; other pictures are the Professor's Cigarettes, The Right to Love, Tale of a Fiddle, New Shaving Powder, and True Love Never Runs Smooth. A natural history picture is Wild Birds in their Haunts and the latest A.B. picture His Lost Love. Miss May McPherson and the Cinephone, as usual, sings excellent illustrated songs.

YORK. HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. S. Bowman.—Excellent business continues the rule here, all the films being high-class and popular. The Devil Woman, Living Cigar Cutters, and Calino's Fire Extinguishers being the most popular. Chas. Lestree is a clever juggler, and the Renders give deservedly popular illustrated songs.

VICTORIA HALL.—Lessee, Mr. Sidney Bacon; Resident-Manager, Mr. Bert Rutter.—Coloured films are an attraction this week, drawing large audiences. The Heir to Clavercourt Castle is a fine example of this particular style, as is also The Pillagers, an exciting scene. There are several other good items, including Preston Holmes on the bells and the Cinephone.

SUNDAY CINEMA SHOWS.

TWO DEPUTATIONS TO THE L.C.C.

Last Wednesday the Theatre and Music Halls Committee of the London County Council received a deputation representing the Cinematograph Defence League and the Cinematograph Trade Protection Society, composed of the following gentlemen:—Messrs. W. H. Broughton (chairman of the committee), W. M. Borradaile, G. W. Grant, T. Einstein, representing the League, and Messrs. F. R. Griffiths, G. Henderson, W. D. Walker, J. J. Bennell, and E. Raffell, representing the Cinematograph Trade Protection Society.

Mr. BROUGHTON, in addressing the Committee of the L.C.C., said:—"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen,—We are, as you are aware, a deputation representing the Cinematograph Trade Protection Society and the recently-formed Cinematograph Defence League. These two societies embrace the interests of all the leading cinematograph exhibitors in this country. I hand you a list of the members of the deputation. At the outset of my remarks, I beg to say that on Monday, Jan. 10, a similar deputation, consisting of Mr. Fredk. Mouillot (chairman of the committee), Mr. F. R. Griffiths, Mr. G. Washington Grant, and Mr. Newbould, was courteously accorded a hearing at the Home Office on the question of the recently-issued statutory rules and regulations under the Cinematograph Act, 1909. This deputation was received by Mr. Byrne, the permanent Under-Secretary, and submitted to him certain modifications in the said regulations which would render the working of the Act more easy for the cinematograph showmen, and would lessen its possible hardships on the smaller exhibitors. Mr. Byrne was kind enough to listen attentively to those suggestions, and promised that they would receive the full consideration of the Home Office.

"The objects of the present deputation in waiting on your Committee are:—

"(1) The question of the Home Office Regulations.

"(2) The question of Sunday opening.

"(3) The question of music at cinematograph theatres.

"As our first object is to deal with the regulations, it will be best to follow the points raised by the deputation to the Home Office with possibly a few additions, which have since occurred to our own committees. The cinematograph trade has risen most rapidly in the last few years. I believe I am right in stating that the interests we represent can be valued at least at four million pounds of capital, and the entertainment which we give has also, we hope, become a permanent institution, not only for the pleasure of the upper classes, but also for the education and enjoyment of the masses.

SUGGESTED ALTERATION OF REGULATIONS.

"We do not come to you with any other desire than to ask your body to so regulate the working of the new Act that it will be a protection to all of us who are interested in the trade, and will not press too harshly upon us in some of its details. Many of us have expended large sums of money in the construction and equipment of cinematograph theatres, and to the best of our ability and with the most responsible advice, have made these theatres, as far as possible, fireproof and absolutely safe to the public. We know there may be some theatres which do not comply with ordinary requirements, and, of course, unless these can be brought up-to-date, they will become a source of danger to the public. I am requested to say, however, that this deputation and the interests it represents heartily welcome the Cinematograph Act, and will feel greater security in working under it than, as heretofore, running our entertainment without any sort of licence whatever. Referring to the statutory rules and orders, we think Section 2, Clause A, should read, after 'the enclosure should be of a permanent nature,' we submit that it would be better if the clause from this point ran as follows:—'Such enclosure should be placed outside the auditorium, excepting in such existing buildings already passed by the local authorities,' deleting the word 'building.' Then Clause B of the same rule—'the entrance to the enclosure shall be fitted with a close-fitting door,' instead of 'a smoke proof door,' as our technical experts tell us it is almost a moral impossibility to have a 'smoke-proof door.' Clause C we suggest should read 'a suitable barrier should be placed round the enclosure, or such effectual means be taken to prevent the audience coming in contact with same'—'where the enclosure is not of a permanent nature' to be added. At the end of Clause D we should advise the deletion of 'with a smoke-proof joint,' and the clause finish 'enclosure shall close automatically.' In Clause 2 of Rule 3 we should again advise the deletion of the words 'the building or' after the words 'or should be erected outside,' as it will be practically impossible to place the boxes outside the buildings, as I may illustrate to you, sir, in a great many places they would be overhanging the street if outside the building, which, naturally, would not be allowed by the local authorities; and instead of the words 'licence may,' the word 'shall' be substituted, and we should advise in this clause the exclusion of travelling shows, schools, &c. The only two other clauses which there is any exception to, in our opinion, are Rule 7, Clause 8. Our experts think the maximum for the film-box should be 14in., and not 12in., and in Clause 11 we think that the bucket of dry sand which is asked to be always kept available is quite reasonable, but would like to point out that it is not convenient to keep it outside the enclosure, and in the case of a panic it would probably prove an obstacle. We do not think it necessary to have a special attendant for this bucket, but, of course, we should have an attendant specially instructed and specially trained to deal with any accident in the promptest manner possible. These are the points in the regulations which the deputation I have referred to has already mentioned to the Home Secretary, but since that deputation was received we have further considered the regulations, and I am asked to refer to Clause 2, Section A., which requires that the enclosure shall be placed outside the building or auditorium. We would ask you that if you can see your way you will not enforce outside operating-boxes in already existing houses where the said boxes have been passed by the District Surveyor. Also in Clause 3, paragraph 2, we would ask if the words 'direct to the outside air' can be deleted. Where the boxes are so constructed and so ventilated that the smoke does not go into the auditorium, we venture to suggest there will be no need for a ventilation shaft direct to the outside air. We would also like you to state in connection with the ventilating shaft approximately what size the shaft is required to be, as there is no reference to the dimensions in the regulations. Possibly 6in. by 4in. or thereabouts could be regarded as a standard size. In Clause 6, Section C., it is stated 'that no current at a higher pressure than 110 volts shall be used within the enclosure,' and I may say that the deputation to which I have previously referred, which waited upon the Home Secretary, was assured by him that this was only intended to apply to the arc lamp used for projection purposes. It has since come to our knowledge that in several cases exhibitors have been requested to take out a single lamp which they used for lighting purposes in the enclosure which was of a higher voltage than 110 volts. Now, we feel, sir, that there can be no good purpose served by this, and, further, would point out that if it were enforced, it would necessitate the using of gas for lighting purposes in the enclosure, which would, of course, be a source of danger. In concluding our remarks on the question of the regulations, the gentlemen forming this deputation would like to ask you, on behalf of the smaller cinematograph managers who have been closed down by the coming into operation of this Act, and thereby have had their means of livelihood taken away, to give those gentlemen six months' grace, to allow them to put their houses in order, arrange their affairs, or find some other method of finding a living, which the abruptness of this Act has deprived them of. We have been assured of many, many very hard cases, and I am sure, sir, that you will appreciate that large bodies like the London County Council cannot have such a tender heart as an individual, and we beg of you, therefore, to use your influence with the Home Secretary to give these people a chance by giving them a longer notice, which, we understand, is the usual custom.

SUNDAY OPENING.

"Now, sir, I would mention the matter of Sunday opening. This is a matter difficult to approach, but we would ask you to look on the cinematograph, not as a play, but as an education for the masses, who are not able to get innocent instruction and amusement in other ways. It is a question whether it is better for our boys and girls to wander the streets or enjoy their Sunday evening illustrated newspaper. We claim that we are in much the same category as the Daily Graphic or the Daily Mirror on week-days, and if it is wrong for us to show them the latest events by moving pictures, it must also be wrong to give concerts in hotels, sing songs, play music on piers all over the kingdom, run railway trains, play golf, or row a boat. Of course, we would go on ad infinitum in the cases of Sunday trading, but we claim that we are doing a great good, apart from the question of making a profit out of the running of these halls of photography. In this connection, sir, I would like to mention to you that there are twenty-five dramatic companies giving performances in clubs, which are mostly proprietary; so even the drama is not neglected on Sunday, and I may go further, sir, and say that on two distinct occasions we have had from the Home Secretary's Office the assurance that this was never intended as an Act which should deal in any way with the question of Sunday opening, but is intended for the safety of the public only, and, furthermore, we would point out that this is absolutely proved by the fact that places using non-inflammable films do not require a licence, and could therefore open on every day in the week; and we venture to point out that if it is moral and proper to see pictures on Sunday on non-flam programmes where the public are not safeguarded, it is a great hardship that those who come into line and take out the necessary licence, protecting the public, shall be debarred from opening on Sundays. We trust this question may be seriously gone into, as we see no reference to it in the Act or Statutory Rules and Orders of the Home Secretary, and we would point out the possibility which we consider would be undesirable to everybody getting non-flam programmes, and therefore not be licensed at all, which would put matters back in exactly the same condition as they were before the passing of this Act. You were good enough, sir, to give us your assurance some two or three weeks ago that no action would be taken with regard to Sunday opening pending the receiving of this deputation to-day. We thank you sincerely for that amount of grace, and trust, pending a final decision on this matter, we may be allowed to continue with those same assurances. We believe, sir, that you have been petitioned by some operators and others working in these theatres to close these places on Sunday, so that they may enjoy one day's rest per week. I am requested to inform you that the whole of the interests represented by this deputation which is here to-day, that in all cases the staffs have been given one day a fortnight off in the past, and they are prepared to go further, and say that where any member of a staff should so desire, he shall not be asked to work more than six days per week. I would also point out that the whole of the staffs are employed upon a seven days' contract, and that, therefore, if they should close on Sunday they will be one day's wages out of pocket; but as the matter stands at the moment they receive seven days' pay and one day's holiday every fortnight.

MUSIC IN CINEMA THEATRES.

"The only other question to which this deputation would like to refer is that of music in cinematograph theatres. It apparently has never been quite clear what music is permitted. There is a general understanding existing that so long as the music is limited to a piano, the cinematograph licence will cover it. We would very much appreciate a statement from you on this point, so as to entirely set our minds at rest on the subject. In conclusion, sir, I beg to thank you on behalf of this deputation and the cinematograph exhibitors generally for your courtesy in receiving us to-day, and we all hope that your Committee may favourably consider these various points and grant us a favourable answer thereto."

The CHAIRMAN of the L.C.C. Committee thanked the deputation for bringing the matter so clearly and lucidly before them, and said that they had decided to hold a special meeting of the Theatre and Music Halls Committee next Wednesday, for the purpose of fully discussing the matters put before them, and with a view to making their recommendation to the L.C.C. on the Tuesday following.

A deputation from the Variety Artists' Federation, the Actors' Association, the Amalgamated Musicians' Union, the National Association of Theatrical Employees, and the National Association of Cinematograph Operators waited on a Sub-Committee of the London County Council last Wednesday in reference to the question of the Sunday opening of cinematograph theatres. These Societies were respectively represented by Messrs. W. H. Clemart and C. C. Bartram; Mr. Leonard Shepherd; Messrs. J. B. Williams and W. E. Fitzgerald; Messrs. Wm. Johnson and J. Reed; and Messrs. H. L Merritt and E. H. Mason.

Mr. W. Johnson read the following statement:—

"THE HARDEST DAY OF THE WEEK."

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen,—On behalf of the Societies we respectively represent I have to thank you for giving up this opportunity of placing before you our views upon the Council's regulations relating to Sunday entertainments.

"We assume it is the intention of the committee, and of the Council, to treat alike all competitors in the amusement world who are transacting their business on premises licensed by the Council. We strongly urge that no modification of your regulations be made in the interest of the picture theatres. We have been informed by managers of music halls, whose halls are licensed by the Council, that if these picture theatres are allowed to be open on Sundays by way of trade and for personal gain, they will claim the same right to open on Sundays. We are opposed to any such claim by any person whose premises are licensed by the Council for public entertainment. We are sure that if such a claim is allowed it will be detrimental to all sections of employees and the public interest.

"The hours of labour in our business, including the time required for rehearsals, which are an essential part of the work and conditions of success for the artist, actor, musician, and stage employee, in their individual and collective capacity as a 'company,' orchestra, or stage staff, are long enough during six days of the week. If Sunday is to become a period of time available for the usual commercial purposes of the other six days of the week—it will not matter how Sunday work may be qualified by restrictions—work on Sundays will become a condition of employment for the week, and wages will, ultimately, be less in proportion. In all seaside places where Sunday amusements have been developed it is the hardest day of the week, and salaries, inclusive of Sunday, are less.

WAGES LESS THAN FORMERLY.

"The operators' wages are very much less than formerly. As regards the artists and actors, they fear that in a short time managers would force such of them whose performances were at all suitable for Sunday entertainments to accept a seven days a week contract at the same salaries as are now paid for six. Artists do not even now get a complete day's rest during the week, as at least one-half of Sunday is spent in travelling from one place to another. If music halls and theatres were permitted to open seven days a week it would mean that artists would have to make a continual practice of travelling immediately after the Sunday evening's performance.

"In this matter we feel we are voicing the opinions of the great bulk of the artists, actors, musicans, and employees. If such a state of things came to pass in our business we should be merely living to work, instead of, as now, working hard to live.

"We do not wish it to be thought that we are acting in any spirit of prejudice or antagonism to the business of the cinematograph trade. We recognise the exhibitions of animated photography with the kindred invention of the phonograph as useful and attractive additions to public amusements. This comparatively new side of our amusements will, we are sure, develop very largely beyond its present dimensions, but it is, at present, a serious rival, by reason of its cheapness and attractions, to the theatre and music hall. The initial cost of establishing and running a picture theatre is far less than in the case of a theatre or music hall; for instance, the electric piano and the phonograph take the place of the orchestra and the singer; while animated photography (living pictures) takes the place of the artist, the actor, and the stage staff. In fact, the film—at fourpence per foot—gives a representation of a costly production and a talented company. The proprietors of picture theatres use as their main argument in favour of their claim to open on Sundays their desire to draw the people from the street and the public-houses. We submit that the Council's regulations will permit their premises to be used for this laudable purpose, and to help the cause of charity at the same time.

A QUESTION OF PROFIT AND LOSS.

"We suggest that the main reason is as stated by Mr. Matt Raymond, one of the best-known exhibitors, who, we understand, has been before you to-day as a representative of the Cinematograph Trade Protection Society. In an interview, published in Kinematograph and Lantern Weekly, the oldest journal in England connected with this trade, Mr. Raymond said, in reference to Sunday opening:—'It is ridiculous to demand as a right what has hitherto been accorded as a privilege; then, again, all the morality talk about opening on Sundays for the good of the people, keeping them off the streets and out of the pubs. Such talk is all twaddle. Why not be honest about it, and say it is a question of profit and loss.' In support of Mr. Raymond's view, I beg to allude to a prospectus issued by the Electric Theatre Palaces (Midland), Ltd., this month. In this prospectus it is stated that:—'Dividends at the rate of from 50 per cent. to 100 per cent. per annum, it is stated, are now being earned by cinematograph (living picture) theatres. Dividends up to 40 per cent. per annum are payable on the preference ordinary shares of this company, and, in addition, the holders are entitled to 50 per cent. of the surplus profits. Interest at the rate of 20 per cent per annum, as hereinafter mentioned, will be payable on March 25 next.' It goes on to say that in a recently established electric theatre shares of the nominal value of 10s. have been quoted at 17s. 6d., or a premium of nearly 50 per cent. The directors of the company issuing the prospectus state that they estimate the profits at over 60 per cent. We are of opinion that this business is not a speculative one. In our country it is much behind America and some of the Continental countries. It is going to be a vast business. We regard it as of the most vital importance to all employed, in any capacity, in theatres, music halls, and picture palaces that the regulations now in force relating to Sunday entertainments shall be retained in their entirety, and enforced without fear or favour upon all licensees of such places under the control of the Council. We urge this because we are convinced it is only by the enforcement of these regulations that the imposition of a seven days' working week in our business can be averted, and we have not the slightest hesitation in saying that a seven days' working week would be a disaster to all employed in this business."

Pictures at the Birmingham Royal.

THE management of the Birmingham Theatre Royal have commenced cinematograph matinées, and these will be held on afternoons other than pantomime matinée days.

THE managers of the theatres and halls in Birmingham have arranged a billiard handicap which will be commenced at the Woolpack Hotel on Tuesday next. The draw for the first round resulted as follows:—Mr. E. Foster (Grand) v. Mr. Collingwood (Alexandra), Mr. J. F. Graham (Prince of Wales's) v. Mr. W. Goodwin Woodward, Mr. P. D. Elbourne (Hippodrome) v. Mr. Philip Rodway (Royal), Mr. A. W. Matcham (Empire) v. Mr. A. Bushell (Gaiety).

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.

SEACOMBE.—KING'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Kierman.—Mr. G. Carlton Wallace's company fills the bill here this week with A Thief in the Night. Lord Romilly is carefully depicted by Mr. Hugh Wallace; Miss Irene Chalmers does well as Lady Romilly; Mr. Leyton Cancellor plays strongly as Michael Pagani; as also does Miss Beatrice Homer as Sonia Cleeve. Richard Cleeve is carefully depicted by Mr. Stenson Liddard, and Miss Margery Fane acts excellently as Joan Escombe. Miss Winifred Barton as Happy Christmas and Miss Prudence Ayrton as Little Joan are both good in their respective parts. Miss Mysie Monte causes much amusement as Susan, and the other parts are all in capable hands.

SHEERNESS. — HIPPODROME. — Managing-Director, Mr. Adam Seebold; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ted Williams.—The Fatal Wedding is presented by Mr. Percy Williams's company. Mr. Hugh Montgomery fills the rôle of Howard Wilson with success; Mabel Wilson is in the capable hands of Miss Ethel Kay; and Mr. Herbert Humber is good as Robert Curtis; whilst Miss Leah Marlborough is a capital Cora Wilson; Mr. Harry M. Vernon as Toto and Miss Blanche Huber as Bridget cause amusement. Miss Rosie Sanders is good as Jessie, the little mother.

SMETHWICK.—ROYAL.—Proprietor, Mr. C. Barnard; Manager, Mr. E. Hewitson.—Mr. J. W. Turner's Opera Company is proving a great attraction. On Monday Mr. Turner appeared as Miles na Coppaleen in Benedict's bright Irish opera, The Lily of Killarney, and he gained numerous recalls. Mr. Tom Griffiths appeared to advantage as Danny Mann; Mr. George Ridding was very good as Corrigan; Miss Beatrice Hill as Sheelah. Miss Jeanne Jeune as Elly, Miss Doris O'Brien as Ann Chute, and Miss Grace Parish as Mrs. Cregan all sang and acted well in their respective parts, as did also Messrs. F. J. Hargrave as Hardress Cregan, Harry Reynolds as Father Tom, and Mr. P. Newton as O'Moore. Maritana, Faust, Il Trovatore, and The Bohemian Girl are also billed. The augmented orchestra, under the able conductorship of Mr. T. Lawton, was good, and the mounting excellent.

SOUTHEND-ON-SEA.—THE HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, The Southend Hippodrome, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Lewis de Burgh.—Mr. Fred Russell is a gigantic success in his ventriloquial sketch; Archie Glen scores as a comedian and dancer; the Denaro Bros. submit a smart equilibrist turn; the Ten Dixie Girls dance and sing well; Dalvere and Wallace are amusing comedians; Cissie Lupino shows great versatility as a dancer; and Harry Vernon concludes the performance with an excellently-staged sketch The Deputy Sheriff.

EMPIRE THEATRE.—Proprietors, The Southend Theatre Company; Manager, Mr. Adam Seebold.—Mr. E. Graham Falcon's company is here with Bo-Peep. The company is of all-round excellence, the music is bright, and the dresses and scenery are elaborate. The company includes Miss Flora Morris as Bo-Peep, Miss Mabel Kessler as Boy, Miss Ruby Carter as Prince Pastorelle, and Messrs. F. G. Royde, Ernest Hans, Will Lux, and Gavin Wood. Some very pretty dances are introduced by Miss Rosie P. Stevens.

SOUTHPORT.—OPERA HOUSE.—WINTER GARDENS—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Percy Hutchison; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Clarkson.—Mr. Robert Courtneidge's production of the fantastical musical play, The Arcadians, furnishes a strong attraction here. The part of Simplicitas is successfully filled by Mr. Gus Oxley, whose comedy work is irresistible; Mrs. Smith is capitally depicted by Miss Madge Haines; Miss Marion Edwards presents a delightful impersonation of Sombra; Miss Mysie Devine is a charming and graceful exponent of Eileen Cavanagh; Peter Doody has a highly humorous exponent in Mr. Frank Collins; Mr. Roy Sidney is a very creditable representative of Jack Meadows; Mr. Roy Lorraine is very effective as Bobby; Sir George Paddock is well played by Mr. C. Herbert Hewitson; and other noteworthy characters are impersonated by Miss Katie Yates as Chrysea and Mr. Berkeley Davies as Time.

SOUTH SHIELDS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. John Coulson.—Mr. E. Hill-Mitchelson with a powerful cast presents Who is She? to good houses. The King Vladimir of Mr. James Stillwell is a praiseworthy performance; Mr. E. Hill-Mitchelson depicts Prince Bora in good style; Chang Tee is cleverly portrayed by Mr. Bernard Lieli; Mr. Alfred Grenville is good as Sergeant Metroff; Captain Arthur Gower is humorously interpreted by Mr. Sinclair Holden; Miss Georgette Thierry makes the chief part stand out; Miss Constance Medwyn is a forceful Keta; Miss Alice Barber an excellent Countess; and good comedy is extracted from Michael and Sarette by Mr. W. C. Bailey and Miss Mary Collier.

EMPIRE PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietors, The South Shields Empire Palace, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Richd. Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ernest Bridgen.—The Boisset Troupe in The Bricklayers still maintain their popularity; Frank Maura gives a clever and dexterous performance; Archie Naish is a smart entertainer at the piano; Victor Travers, a quaint comedian, is well received; and the remaining good items are Tiny Wilmot, comedienne; Rita Rhylle, comedienne, Lester Carey, baritone, and the Bioscope.

SPENNYMOOR.—CAMBRIDGE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. David Collins.—A large assembly greeted Messrs. Matthew H. Glenville and Fred Osmond's company on Monday in For Wife and Kingdom. Mr. Reginald T. Fox gave a commanding representation of General von Nestolde; Mr. Matthew Glenville acted ably the character of Captain Lubeck; Mr. Edward Hobart won success as Sergeant Offenbach; Miss Lydia Audre gave a finished portrayal of the Grand Duchess of Gotzburg, the heroine; Miss Margaret Frame acted with credit Camille von Nestolde; and Miss Lillian Malvern was very good as Esther. The comedy element was effectively sustained by Mr. Lewis Gardon (Jan), Miss Alice Buckland (Nita), and Miss Mabel Veriton (Ottilie Swartz).

TOWN HALL.—Manager, Mr. Arthur Sleep.—Heading the bill are the Ashtons (Tiny and Denny), a clever pair of duettists. The pictures of note are Laddie. The Cursed Cage, Comata, and La Grande Breteche.

STALYBRIDGE. — HIPPODROME. — Lessee, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. K. Stewart McDonald.—Excellent audiences are assembling to witness Miss Grace Warner and her company in The Scarlet Clue, Lady Audley's Secret, and The Wages of Sin. Miss Warner presents the different characters with a force seldom equalled, and she is ably supported by talented artists, amongst whom are Messrs. George Gordon, Frank Smith, Frank Hertie, Louis Nanton, Roy Rhind, and the Misses Lizzie Palmer, Lallah Price, Florence M. Daly, and Doris Graham.

STOCKPORT.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Charles Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Revill.—Pantomime is again the attraction here, Mr. Richard Nightingale's talented company presenting Aladdin and providing abundant fun for large audiences. Chief among the comedians is Mr. Walter Bishop, who is exceedingly funny as Abanazar; Mr. Harry Albery is a very amusing Widow Twankey; and Mr. Arthur Pier makes a capable Emperor of China. Miss Edna Latonne is delightfully pleasing as Aladdin; a captivating Princess is Miss Jenny Hackett; Miss Amy Pauline Gradwell as the Genius of the Ring and Miss Marie Radcliffe as the Slave of the Lamp sing harmoniously; and the Sisters May and Violet Rivers are charming as Bakoe and Caramel. Among the specialities are the Brothers Lloyd in a clever bounding cable act, and Max Merlin, the human crocodile.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, The Stockport Empire Theatre Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Black.—Miss Mabel Thorne occupies the premier position on the bill, and has achieved a gratifying success with her latest effusions. Mr. Joseph B. Montague presents an interesting sketch, The Bookie Booked; Cavalli is an amusing ventriloquist; Mr. H. Downs, coloured ballad vocalist, sings ably; Fox and Melville, in illustrated songs, are very successful; the Three Orros perform cleverly in a gymnastic act; Jack Fortin, actor-vocalist, Harry Tomlin, vocal comedian, and Fred Erick, light comedian, win favour; and Jack and Willie are deservedly applauded for their ability as equilibrists.

"HUMPTY DUMPTY" AT THE KING'S, HAMMERSMITH.

[SECOND NOTICE.]

The crowded houses both at the afternoon and evening performances have been striking testimony to the popularity attained by Mr. J. B. Mulholland's "eighth" pantomime, and a second visit induces regrets that it has to be withdrawn so early as Saturday, Feb. 5, to make way for the Spring season's bookings. Without being boisterously funny, Humpty Dumpty has raised laughter all the time from young and old. The beauty of the scenery and the splendour of the dresses have been no inconsiderable attraction, the most enthusiastic applause following the various picturesque tableaux. Mr. J. F. McArdle has elaborated the part of King Sollumm into a creation that compels laughter even from the most blasé of playgoers, and stamps him as a comedian of great ability. The Martha of Mr. Stratton Mills has "caught on" wonderfully well, and while he and Mr. McArdle are in possession of the stage the yells of laughter are continuous.

Mr. Charles Goff's Humpty Dumpty is an excellent characterisation, and Bison Bob finds a humorous representative in Mr. William Rokeby. A pair of clever pantomimists, Toch and Tard, are much approved as Brick and Brack, and Mr. George Fisher's voice is heard to great advantage in the songs allotted to the character of Soaro. The severe weather of last week had the effect of depriving the pantomime of the services of Miss Edna Morgan (who had become a popular favourite here) in the part of Rudolph, but Miss Olivia Eltone, in her place, has made the most of her opportunities and has achieved a most distinct success. Miss Eltone's voice is of excellent quality, and she renders her various songs with much charm. Dainty as Miss Ray Wallace is in the character of the Princess Aurora, it must be confessed that the audiences wait impatiently for her series of impersonations of music-hall stars, which are indeed of marvellous reality.

Minnie Blanchard is now the Prince Spriteley, acting with vivacity, and Cherry is prettily played by Miss Dorothy Vine. Miss May Rawlinson's singing and acting as Claribel are much in favour. The large chorus is composed of a number of very pretty ladies who sing very harmoniously, and the dancers, schooled by Miss Ina Alston, give good accounts of themselves. The full orchestra, under the direction of the King's resident conductor, perform capably. The success of the pantomime has entailed much hard work upon Mr. Norman Walters, the courteous business manager, and Mr. A. Bradshaw, his able assistant, but they have carried out their onerous duties with the utmost care and tact.

THE CORONET.

On Monday, Jan. 24, the Play, entitled

"PINKIE AND THE FAIRIES."

By arrangement with Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree, Max Montesole and Angus McLeod's company are presenting W. Graham Robertson and Frederic Norton's musical extravaganza, Pinkie and the Fairies at the Coronet Theatre for two weeks. Excellently staged and superbly "dressed," the production reflects great credit on all concerned. Miss Haidée Gunn is excellent as the skittish and juvenile Aunt Imogen of a romantic turn of mind, and the prim, methodical, and intensely proper Aunt Caroline as portrayed by Miss Lucie Evelyn, serves as a good foil to her. Mr. Ribton Haines, as Uncle Gregory, is endowed with a strong vein of quiet humour and quaint comicality. Mr. T. P. Haines is vastly amusing as the old gardener, Mr. Irons, whose talent for facial expression is a valuable asset. Miss Muriel Alston sings very sweetly and acts daintily as the lovelorn Molly. Miss Hermione Gingold is full of vivacity and sprightliness as Pinkie, and in song and dance, and by-play, is equal to any emergency. Master C. Haviland Chappell as Tommy is a wonderfully natural and resourceful young man for his age, dancing well and singing with expression. Their duet, "When I'm a grown-up lady (gentleman)" is repeatedly encored. Little Miss Hetty Kenyon is a delightfully petite fairy queen, and her little song and step dance are encored again and again. Miss Lucie Caine contributes a really clever and original silhouette of character as the Cinderella of this story, and her society small talk is only equalled in cleverness by her dashing and tuneful ditty concerning the ways of the heroes and heroines of nursery rhymes. Miss Estell Theband, a really beautiful Sleeping Beauty, supplies a very clever characteristic portrait of the somnolent siren of fairy lore, and besides singing very prettily, her acting is always in keeping with the part, and her by-play with Uncle Gregory is exceedingly diverting and well carried out. Mr. Sam Wilkinson is felinely funny as Dick Whittington's cat, and his burlesque Apache dance with Mr. Laurence Utley as Beauty's (Miss Clara Milvain) beast, the harmless, necessary "Teddy Bear," is delightfully droll and grotesque. Nor must we forget the delightfully perky little herald Miss Dolly Somers, or the three sweetly mischievous elves Pickle, Whisper, and Twinkle, or Misses Aileen Faithfull Peggy Rae, and Kathleen Yorke. Master Cecil Twentyman as Prince Frog, and Mr. S. Williams as the butcher also enter boldly into the plan of campaign. Mr. W. Angus McLeod is general-manager, and Mr. Philip Sanders acting-manager, assisted by Mr. Sam Wilkinson; and Mr. Alfred Rayner is the musical director. A word of praise is due to the chorus.

DALSTON THEATRE.

Mr. J. F. Elliston is presenting this week at the Dalston Theatre the pantomime, written and invented by St. John Hamund, entitled The Sleeping Beauty and the Mystic Yellow Dwarf, produced under the stage direction of Mr. Claude Agnew. The story of the pantomime has the distinct advantage of being not only interesting, but decidedly connective, so there is something to attract the attention and admiration of the audience quite apart from the admirable all-round acting of those included in the cast. One realises from the first that King Half-a-crown, assisted by his more than better half, intends to dispose of his daughter, Beauty Allfair, to the very best matrimonial advantage, and the opportunity presenting itself by the arrival of Prince Faithful, all ends happily, but not before many startling adventures inside the royal palace, where not only Beauty, but everyone in the court, sleeps for a hundred years, and outside, among yellow dwarfs, dragons, and other monstrosities. The general presentation of the pantomime is most creditable to all concerned. Miss Dorothy Chard makes the most of a decidedly fine presence as Prince Faithful, and the way in which, in sailor costume, she sings "Ship ahoy," brings down the house. Miss Frances Kapstowne is distinctly pleasing as Beauty Allfair, the Sleeping Beauty, and she introduces several songs, which meet with much favour. The King has a really humorous representative in Mr. George Goodfellow, who, together with Mr. Arthur Reynolds, as the Queen, succeed in keeping the audience in roars of laughter. They are funny in the waking-up-scene, after the supposed century sleep, the Queen asking, with appropriate earnestness, "Have women got the vote yet?" and receiving the reply, "No, they are still waiting for it." It also occurs to her that she must "change the canary's water." It should be added that the sneezing song, after the Prince has aroused all the sleepers by copious contributions from his snuff-box, is cleverly rendered. Later, the Queen has a clever ditty, in which she continually fails to reach the top note, and is finally helped out of the difficulty by a professional visitor. Miss Beryl Vaudrey, as Fairy Godmother, has the advantage of rendering songs which secure flattering demonstrations of approval. Mr. Charles Omanney does remarkably well as the witch, impressing everyone with the uncanny nature of the part. Miss Violet Agnew as Petit-Maitre; Miss Jennie Gregson as Bonne-Bouche, and Miss Ada Tilley as Bon-Bon, a page, are each smart exponents of the parts allotted them. Mr. Hal Bert creates wonder by his surprising agility as the Yellow Dwarf, and the fight between himself and the Prince in front of the Steel Castle, is a feature of the performance. Fun at the Zoo is provided by the Donaldson Brothers and Troupe, who appear during the harlequinade. In the matter of scenery, mention must be made of the Palace of Slumber, the Coral Grotto, the Steel Castle, and the Exterior of the Palace. The full chorus and orchestra is under the direction of Mr. Clarence C. Corri.

LYRIC OPERA HOUSE, HAMMERSMITH.

On Monday, Jan. 24, the Drama entitled

"A ROYAL DIVORCE."

Mr. W. W. Kelly's company was warmly welcomed on the occasion of the reopening of the dramatic season at Mr. Wentworth Croke's cosy house on Monday with the perennial favourite A Royal Divorce. Mr. Keith Fraser is to be congratulated on an excellent portraiture of the great Corsican, his make-up being admirable. Miss Violet Ellicott plays with grace and ability the Empress Josephine; while Marie Louise is capitally enacted by Miss Winnie Tempest. Miss Dorothy Hudson is bright and intelligent as the little King; and Miss Loyale Frere is effective as the Gouvernant. Mr. Percy H. Vernon is at his best as the wily diplomatist Talleyrand; Mr. Charles Stirling realises well the character of the Marquis de Beaumont; and Mr. E. J. Collins is good as Augereau. Marshal Murat is well sustained by Mr. Harold Standing; Miss Dorothy Garth is capital as Stephanie; Mr. J. J. Jordan as the drunken Innkeeper causes much amusement; and the other characters are capitally sustained. The play is admirably dressed and mounted.

"CINDERELLA" AT STOKE NEWINGTON.

[SECOND NOTICE.]

Despite the counter-attraction of the elections Cinderella continues to hold its own at the Alexandra, and has established itself a firm favourite. Dull moments are conspicuous by their absence, and the whole production furnishes a feast of fun and melody which the most fastidious in taste in this kind of entertainment could not cavil at. The principal share of the fun-making falls to the lot of those two admirably contrasted comedians, Messrs. George French and Mr. Tom Conway, who, as the Baron and Baroness respectively play so well into each others' hands and keep the house in thorough good humour in every scene in which they are concerned by their irresistible drollery. Miss Nellie Wigley's handsome presence and spirited style make her an ideal principal boy, and her Prince Casimir is deservedly popular. Miss Dorothy Rundell as Cinderella invests the part with considerable sweetness and charm, and her duet in the Kitchen Scene with Mr. Bobbie Walker, a clever comedian and particularly neat and agile tumbler, who appears as Capers, is among the most popular musical numbers of the pantomime. The amenities of Cinderella's sisters, Araminta and Elvira, are most amusingly set forth by Miss Edith Barwell and Vic Charlton; and as the Duke of Whistbridge Miss Gwen Howard scores heavily with the popular "Ship ahoy!" without which no pantomime this year appears to be complete. Mr. Arthur Sutcliffe brings a considerable amount of spirit to bear upon his impersonation of Dandini, and his songs are all rendered with an abandon and go, especially "By the seaside," that secure for them a most enthusiastic reception. The Fairy Godmother has a graceful and pretty exponent in Miss Kitty Dale.

"BABES IN THE WOOD" AT THE PAVILION.

[SECOND NOTICE.]

Substantial success has rewarded the enterprise of Mr. Alexander Leighton in providing the Pavilion Theatre with a pantomime that may be numbered among the triumphs of that old-established house. All the resources of the vast stage have been employed in the mounting of the work, and many brilliant spectacles delight the eye. Particularly pleasing is the picture of Sherwood Forest, wherein a beautiful daybreak effect is secured, the changing lights from the grey dawn to a brilliant sunrise which gradually illumines the recesses of the forest being very artistic. Picturesque effect is also made out of the Sands, Brightsun-on-Sea, The Garden of Roses, and Poppyland, culminating in the grandeur of the Palace of the Earl of Huntingdon, where an effect of regal splendour is obtained.

The company has been maintaining the prestige secured on the opening night. Miss Winnie Browne continues to lead in fine style as Robin Hood, making as buoyant and dashing an outlaw as could be conceived. Miss Browne sings with capital vigour, gaining her chief effects in "I used to sigh for the silvery moon," in which she has the assistance of a bevy of fair maidens. A high place in favour has been taken by Miss Edith Harmer, as pretty, refined, and vivacious a Maid Marion as one ever beheld. She sings and dances delightfully, and her rendering of "Hanover" with a contingent of Dutch girls proved very exhilarating. The pretty ballad "Somewhere," too, suits her melodious and penetrating voice admirably, and she sings it in a manner that is quite fascinating. The duet with Robin, "Pretty little girl from nowhere," is also highly entertaining The two principals appear in many captivating costumes, those of Pierrot and Pierrette being not the least becoming.

Fun in many varieties continues to be made by Mr. Billy Harman, who is a whimsical Baron Popham. He has unlimited "wheezes," and makes rich comic capital out of his song "Let us go," of which a wordy warfare with the orchestra is a diverting feature. Closely associated with Mr. Harman in the merry-making is Mr. Reg Edwards, who is an irresistibly quaint and gushing female as Agnes Lizzie Snowdrop, arousing laughter by numberless odd tricks. Messrs. Barrett and Knowles as the Robbers are inseparable mirth-makers, the one a bold implacable villain and the other a good-natured easy-going scoundrel. They work together with hilarious effect in a diversified duel, and their duet "What, what, what!" scores repeatedly.

A comely pair of lovers is seen in Miss Gladys Erskine and Miss Vera Sanders, who figure as Will Scarlet and Margery Daw. Both act up to their responsibilities, and sing and dance blithely. The tuneful "Ship Ahoy" falls to Miss Erskine, who endows it with a jaunty air that carries it along successfully. The Babes are charmingly and intelligently represented by Miss Iris Norman and Miss Winnie Myine, who make a pretty and well-spoken couple. The latter as the Girl Babe wins honours by her singing of "Shadowland," the chorus of which is eagerly taken up by the house. Mr. John Sandbrook makes an imposing Herne the Hunter, and sounds some melodious high and low notes in his spirited rendering of "Revenge"; and as Goodheart Miss Vera Vizard exercises her fairy sway agreeably, singing her ballad "Sleep On" in cultivated style, fully deserving of the loud applause it receives. The efforts of Mr. Laurie Aster as the Page and Mr. William Pringle as a Jester are effective throughout. Mr. Arthur Wingrave presents Friar Tuck as the bibulous buffoon of tradition, and among a long cast Miss Jessie McPherson as Allan-a-Dale and Miss Gladys Goldsmid as Little John should be picked out for praise.

Miss Bessie Royce, the première danseuse, accomplishes her work with grace and experience, and the cleverness of the toe dance by Little Sylvia Rose is greatly admired. The Asturias Troupe combine in many manœuvres pleasing to the eye, and the various ballets and processions, the credit for which belongs to Miss Ina Alston, are artistically designed and executed. Some of the music, which is by Mr. B. J. Paterson, is of quite an operatic character, and is rendered as such by the able chorus. The pantomime is in its last week, and gives way on Monday next to Mr. Frederick Melville's play Her Forbidden Marriage.

"DICK WHITTINGTON" AT THE BRITANNIA.

[SECOND NOTICE.]

Mr. Humphrey E. Brammall in his production of pantomime has shown considerable enterprise, and the gratification of seeing the immense theatre crowded to its utmost capacity on many occasions since Boxing Day has been his reward. The fine traditions of Yuletide spectacle have inspired him to worthy effort, and the result is a holiday entertainment in which the indispensable conditions of fun and movement have been supplied without stint. The story of Dick Whittington is the framework of the eleven scenes through which we follow the adventures of the lucky apprentice, and from the time we meet with him at Fitzwarren's stores until we assist at the final triumph in a sumptuous scene at the Guildhall, song, dance, quip, and crank make the time go merrily.

Miss May Beattie, the Dick, is a comely and sweet-voiced principal boy, and plays the part with abundant spirit and excellent humour, and her success is never in doubt. That immensely popular song "Somewhere" finds in her an interpreter of considerable culture, and the melodious phrases ring throughout the big auditorium not only as a solo, but as one big chorus, in which man, woman, and child join. Another great vocal success is that sweet melody "I used to sigh for the silvery moon," associated in the halls with the fame of Mr. G. H. Elliott, the chocolate-coloured coon. The success of "My only friend" is shared with the faithful feline, represented in this instance by Mr. Jack Hurst, whose catlike gambols and sympathetic treatment of the part afford continual delight to the youngsters among the big Britannia crowds. The comic scenes are plentiful, and Mr. Edward Lauri is very prominent in the fooling. A capital actor, an excellent dancer, and a resourceful comedian, Mr. Lauri does immense service in the interests of the fun. He has excellent songs in "Beside the sea," which gods and pit catch up with complete unanimity, and "Charlie Brown."

Miss Ruby Verdi, a coquettish and attractive Alice, wins all hearts by her dancing, which is particularly fetching; Miss Millicent Cooper gives out with dramatic effect the dire threats of King Rat; and the whimsical nature of Mr. George Rapley's ebullitions as the Cook are exactly to the tastes of the house. Mr. Bob Hutt cuts a droll figure as Fitzwarren, and has many funny ways, which are very effective in the concert of fun; and Mr. Will Harris and Mr. Alec Fraser are a diverting pair of mates, dancing admirably, and introducing specialities that never fail to interest or to amuse. They have a loyal co-operator in Mr. Tom Birchmore, a well-known minstrel comedian, who is legitimately amusing as the Captain of the Saucy Kipper, in which the jovial crew voyage, eventually reaching China, where a joyous Emperor is found in Mr. Tom Melbourne, a monarch who, while thinking imperially, does so in the most light-hearted fashion. Mr. J. Willoughby, with nothing to say, sketches very amusingly the part of the boatswain, and is responsible for a very clever speciality in the deck scene, his legmania and table leaping showing great ability and smartness. Master Leslie Perks as a diminutive middy scores a great success in the song "Ship Ahoy"; and "Slumberland" is prettily sung by the Fairy Cat, Baby Evie. The Feast of Wealth (Scene 7) is a vista of chromatropic brilliance, and herein that fine pantomimist Mr. J. M. Jones—who did so much for the cause of pantomime in the eighties and nineties at the old Grand Theatre, Islington—shows a great deal of clever gesture play and agility as Shellac, the Slave of Wealth. The ballets have been arranged by Miss Beatrice Harold, whose eight gipsy girls give a lively hornpipe on board the Saucy Kipper—one of the most spirited dances we have seen in the course of our pantomime experience. The harlequinade presented by the Reed Troupe, who play with any amount of animation and rollicking fun the apprentices in the opening, has much of the old-fashioned fun so beloved by Hoxtonites.

"CINDERELLA" AT THE BOROUGH, STRATFORD.

[SECOND NOTICE.]

Mr. Fred Fredericks's latest annual has with time developed into a pantomime which can be fairly described as beautiful, bright and brisk. Cinderella is essentially a children's subject, and consequently requires plenty of comedy business; and this has been well provided, although the main threads of the familiar fairy tale are faithfully retailed, and the story is embellished with much picturesque scenery and effects.

In Miss Ethel Ward the juveniles find a winsome and loveable Cinderella, whose charming performance wins general approval, and the elders gain pleasure from the dainty vivacity and grace of her singing and acting. As Prince Charming Miss Madoline Rees cuts a dashing and gallant figure, and is seen to advantage in some very handsome dresses; and her songs go wonderfully well. Miss May Garstang impressed us most favourably at the initial performance; and her impersonation of Dandini has become a "hit" of the pantomime. Her songs "I used to sigh for the silvery moon" and "Come to Madeira" are enthusiastically received. Mr. Barney Armstrong has ripened his Baron Pompolino into a performance of exceeding merit. He is irresistibly droll and entertaining, and introduces much amusing patter and business into his songs "Don't take me home," "Has anyone here seen Kelly?" and "Harry Lauder on the brain" being numbers with which he makes an unqualified success. Much of Mr. Armstrong's good work is done in conjunction with a diminutive confederate called Kelly, and this part is played by Jimmie Steele, who wins very hearty applause. Mr. Fred Lincoln, as Clorinda, one of the Ugly Sisters, is repeating former successes in Stratford pantomime. His equestrian number with the aid of the Unites as the horse, is decidedly funny, and his song "I've got a little job to go to" is one of the best in the pantomime. The other "Sister," Thisbe, is amusingly portrayed by Mr. Sidney Young. Mr. Harry Rogerson is an active and untiring Page and scores heavily with his songs and speciality act "A One-man Melodrama." Miss Alys Eden plays the Baroness with much success; and Jeddah, as the cat, contributes a nimble feline impersonation. The Stella troupe of dancers enhance the scenes in which they appear and are a decided acquisition to the pantomime; and the speciality turns of the Unites, and Horace and Olga's table troupe of cats and dogs, are unstintedly applauded. Mr. Will L. Clement stage-manages and is to be complimented on the smoothness of the performance, and for the front of the house the popular Mr. Frank Rothsay is responsible.

Mr. G. Carlton Wallace and company are presenting The Lancashire Lad at the Marina, Lowestoft, where it is well received. In Act 3 a variety entertainment is contributed to by Bobbie Anderson and Madge Douglas.

"ALADDIN'S" LAST NIGHT.

Amid scenes of boundless enthusiasm, Mr. Wentworth Croke's highly-successful pantomime of Aladdin at the Lyric, Hammersmith, concluded its run on Saturday night. The house was densely crowded, and from first to last the whole went with a "bang." The pantomime has beaten all records in connection with this theatre; and at practically every performance throughout the long run it has played to the fullest possible capacity. As a matter of fact, on Saturday night the record was broken for any previous Saturday night in the history of the theatre.

To Miss Kittee Rayburn, whose admirers are legion, the reception may truly be dubbed "Royal"; her topical songs had again and again to be repeated; and the vociferous cheers that greeted the references to Sir William Bull, Hammersmith's newly-elected M.P., plainly showed the trend of political feeling in that part of South-west London. As is well known, Sir William Bull paid a high tribute to Miss Rayburn's talent and sagacity in winning supporters to the Conservative cause by composing a verse in her honour.

In the Palace Scene, the stage was literally covered with bouquets of flowers, boxes of chocolates, and other tokens of respect from admirers, Miss Kittee Rayburn, the favourite principal "boy" of the pantomime, alone receiving seventeen beautiful bouquets, one being an exquisite one with two Union Jacks, in addition to large boxes of chocolates. Mr. Fred Jennings, the popular manager, came forward, and in a few well-chosen words addressed the audience. In referring to the unprecedented success of the pantomime, he stated that that was unfortunately the last night, and they probably thought they must be mad to terminate the run of such a huge success, but they arranged to send the pantomime on tour, and now, although they had tried very hard to cancel their provincial dates, they had been unable to do so. Next year Mr. Croke would produce another pantomime, and would run it on so long as his generous patrons would support them.

In response to loud calls for a speech, Mr. Wentworth Croke, who has done so much for the playgoers of Hammersmith, said that it gave him great pleasure to know and to feel that they were all so pleased with the pantomime, and he hoped they would give him the same generous support next year they had extended to him this year. They might be interested to know that next year the subject of the pantomime would be Cinderella. In conclusion, Mr. Croke said: "I should like to take the opportunity of thanking our manager, Mr. Jennings, our dear principal 'boy,' Miss Kittee Rayburn, and the whole of the pantomime company, for the splendid manner in which they have worked together for the success of the show. Ladies and gentlemen, I thank you one and all." (Applause.)

At the conclusion of Mr. Croke's speech, which was received with loud applause, Mr. Cecil Perry, the accountant to Mr. Wentworth Croke, stated that he had been desired, on behalf of Miss Kittee Rayburn, their popular principal "boy" of the pantomime, to make a few presentations on her behalf, as a token of the esteem in which she held those who had been instrumental in making the pantomime such a huge success. He asked Mr. Croke to accept from Miss Rayburn the handsome solid silver salver (suitably engraved) it was his great pleasure to hand to him on her behalf. The second presentation he would make would be to their good old friend and popular manager, Mr. Fred Jennings, who had always been so courteous and considerate in the execution of his arduous duties, and it afforded him very much pleasure in handing to Mr. Jennings from Miss Rayburn a very fine solid silver rose bowl (inscribed) in recognition of his never failing kindness to her and to those connected with the theatre. The third presentation he had much pleasure in making was to someone who did not always get the credit from the public he personally considered he was entitled to, and that was to their hard-working stage-manager, Mr. Thos. Barry, whose acceptance he asked of a handsome travelling clock, also inscribed, from Miss Rayburn. The fourth and last presentation he had pleasure in making on Miss Rayburn's behalf was to their genial musical director, Mr. Ashley Richards, who was most material to the success of the pantomime, and who, they would remember, was unfortunately injured in the recent charity football match with Fulham. In conclusion, he asked Mr. Richards to accept at his hands from Miss Rayburn a travelling clock also, with appropriate inscription.

Responding to repeated calls for a speech, Miss Kittee Rayburn said that she was so delighted at the hearty manner in which they had applauded her efforts during the run of the pantomime, that she scarcely knew how to thank everyone. She only hoped that she had been successful in pleasing the audience with her songs and performance generally, and that she might have the pleasure at no very distant date of appearing before them again. From the bottom of her heart she thanked them one and all. (Loud applause.)

Three cheers were then given by the audience for Mr. and Mrs. Wentworth Croke, Mr. Fred Jennings, and Miss Kittee Rayburn, with an additional one for the pantomime company generally, and after the singing of the National Anthem and Auld Lang Syne by the whole of the audience and the company, the proceedings terminated.

COUNTY, KINGSTON.

On Monday, Jan. 24, the Pantomime, entitled

"BLUEBEARD."

After a successful run at the Royalty Theatre, Chester, the pantomime Bluebeard was on Monday transferred to the Royal County Theatre, Kingston-on-Thames, where it has been delighting numerous audiences. The pantomime, which was designed by Mr. Peter Davey, the managing-director, and was produced under the superintendence of Mr. Buckston Clair, is a bright, witty, and tuneful show, that reflects the greatest credit upon all concerned. All the best of the popular songs are introduced into it, the jokes never fail to tell, and there is a numerous and well-trained chorus. Costumes and scenery (the latter by Julian Hicks, A. G. Betts, and Geo. Miller) are of a most gorgeous character. The audience gave a cordial reception to Miss May Hart, an old Kingston favourite, who plays Shacabac with great success. Miss Christine Roy, who is appearing as Fatima, is also earning many laurels, her vocal efforts, especially a "moon song," being received with unbounded applause. Miss Ernestine Desborough gives a dashing portraiture of a goatherd as Selim; and an equally successful appearance is made by Miss M. Sadie as Lieut. Pride of H.M.S. Merrie England, her song "Ship ahoy!" being well received. Thanks to the efforts of the comedians, there is not a dull moment in the pantomime. Mr. Tom Seymour as Bluebeard, Mr. Arthur Royce as Sister Ann, Mr. Max Copland as Mustapha, and Mr. Percy Galino as Swank, all vie with one another in contributing to the fun of the show, with the result that the audience is kept in an almost continuous roar of laughter. Some clever dancing is introduced by Miss Mollie Geary, and some graceful evolutions are also performed by the Misses Eily McKay, Marjorie Neville, Queenie Lang, and M. Geary as the County Girls; whilst the Misses G. Mansell and D. Hart also acquit themselves well as a couple of gollywogs. The chorus and orchestra are under the experienced direction of Mr. Claud B. Yearsley. Mr. Leslie Fergusson is the acting-manager, and Mr. Percy Galino is the stage-manager.

STAGE STAFF GOSSIP.

Mr. A. Arnott is to be the master carpenter at the Strand Theatre for the new production. Mr. Philip Sheridan will remain in his former position as electrician-in-charge. Friends of Mr. G. H. Dyball will regret to hear that he is to undergo an operation on Monday and may be in hospital for several weeks.

A meeting of the committee of the Dramatic and Variety Theatre Employés' Provident Association was held at 29, Wellington-street, Strand, on Tuesday. Mr. James Cullen presided, and among those present were Mr. C. T. Cory, Mr. A. Palmer, Mr. F. B. Fidge, Mr. Geo. Pickering, Mr. J. Atterton, Mr. P. Sheridan, Mr. Reid, Mr. A. Jones, Mr. Ed. Stow, and the secretary Wm. Johnson. A number of sick claims were considered, and a member fined for being out after hours while on the sick fund. A number of applications for membership were granted.

Mr. Wm. Johnson, general secretary of the N.A.T.E., has been appointed to attend the special conference of trade unions to be held in Newport, Mon., on Feb. 9, and the Labour Party conference on the following two days.

The seventeenth annual general meeting of the General Staff Branch, N.A.T.E., will take place to-morrow evening in Terry's Theatre at 7.30, Mr. Charles Thorogood, branch president, in the chair. The following members have been nominated for election as follows: President, Charles Thorogood; vice-president, James Atterton, Criterion Theatre; treasurer, Edward Stow, the Vaudeville Theatre; secretary, Wm. Johnson. For the committee: H. Bowmer, Gaiety Theatre; Wm. Farrell, Criterion Theatre; J. N. Hunt and Wm. Hall, Alhambra; G. Hooper, Vaudeville Theatre; Geo. Dyer and H. T. Wood, Drury Lane Theatre; F. Hodsell, Lyceum Theatre; G. Pickering, Duke of York's Theatre; and John Phelps, Covent Garden Theatre. Trustees: A. George, Lyceum Theatre; and F. Wilson, Alhambra; auditors: Messrs. James Finnigan and H. J. Kemp.

Tickets for the annual dinner of this branch on Feb. 13 are now ready, and none will be reserved after Monday next. Application for tickets may be made to the stewards or the secretary.

At a meeting of the Cinematograph Operators' Association on Tuesday, eight applications for membership were granted. Mr. Mason was appointed to act on the deputation to the London County Council in place of Mr. A. Malcolm. It was decided to ask the Middlesex County Council to receive a deputation from the committee on the question of certificates for operators. Members are requested to send all available information to the secretary on the new radius agreements now being introduced by some exhibitors, by which operators are bound not to accept similar employment with any other employer within a specified area. A Bill was introduced in the last session of Parliament to make these radius agreements illegal. They practically place an employé signing such agreement at the mercy of their employer, and compel him to contract out of his present right to better his position.

It is interesting to compare the statements made to the Theatres Committee of the London County Council this week with statements made to the writer of these notes by an operator who has been in the employ of a member of the deputation from the Cinematograph Defence League. The operator in question had to work from 2 till 11 o'clock each week day, and from 3 till 10 o'clock on Sundays; he had half an hour off during these hours for a meal and took this time when he could; he was paid £2 per week inclusive and only had one Sunday off in six weeks. This rate of pay is much below the average and considerably less than many operators are getting who are only doing evening shows. It proves the case against Sunday work, and that the more work one does in point of hours, the less, usually, one is paid. It is the opinion of the Operators' Association that an operator should not sign a contract for a seven-days working week without such contract provides a substantial addition to the usually weekly wage.

THE WEST LONDON.

On Monday, Jan. 24, the Drama entitled

"RACING LIFE."

The West Londoners followed this stirring little play with unabated interest, for its many exciting incidents appealed most forcibly to their sporting instincts, and when on the cinematograph the favourite was shown winning the race for its popular owner their enthusiasm reached a high pitch. As the jockey, Frank Lyle, Mr. Tom Calden acted admirably, speaking his lines with telling effect; Mr. H. Buxton carried conviction as the "crooked" owner, Mr. Richard Poynter; Mr. C. Ashton performed creditably as the tout, Joe Jackson; Mr. Henry Calden revelled in the low-comedy rôle of Jim Bingham; and Miss A. Luxos pleased everybody with her effective impersonation of Grace Ferrar. During the evening some very good films were screened, notably Ben's Kid, The Lure of the Gown, La Tosca, The Pyrenees, and Lily Boheme. It is pleasing to note how the mingling of pictures and drama has caught on at this old Marylebone playhouse, and all who know Mr. William Bailey—and their name is legion—will wish him an ever-increasingly prosperous career as manager for Mr. F. R. Griffiths. The front of the house is ably controlled by Mr. J. H. Shotton.

Mr. F. G. Kimberley's company in Two Little Drummer Boys forms the attraction at the Grand Opera House, Radcliffe. Mr. Ernest Fare plays Capt. Darrell with great credit; Mr. Wm. Vane is a creditable Capt. Carsdale; Mr. Edward Bikker has a fine commanding appearance as Capt. Kingsley; Mr. Will Percy and Mr. Dick Seddon are responsible for the funny parts of Quiney O'Quirke and Timothy Trimmer; Miss Maggie English and Miss Maudie B. Douglas in the title-rôles are excellent; Miss Violet Langley displays talent as Alma Kingsley, and Miss Violet Ingram is careful as Drunken Meg.

Mr. Wentworth Croke's company is appearing at the Theatre Royal, Worcester, in The Prodigal Son, which is securing liberal support. Mr. Hugh Montgomery is responsible for a strikingly powerful impersonation of Magnus, and in the title-rôle, Mr. S. Herbert Humber scores a signal success. Helga Nielson is admirably portrayed by Miss Betty Castle, and Thora is equally well played by Miss Valerie Crespin. Miss Barbara Gott is well suited as Mrs. Stephenson, and Mr. Ernest Rivars is a dignified father. Miss Marie Harcourt is responsible for a delightful character study as Margaret Nielson, and other parts equally well filled are those of Dr. Olsen by Mr. Chas. Brownlee, Niel Finsen by Mr. Chas. A. Maynard, Director of the Casino by Mr. Fred Manners, and Eric Arnusson by Mr. Arthur Hall.

Mr. Walter Melville's company opened at the Royal and Hippodrome, Bilston, on Monday, with The Girl Who Took the Wrong Turning. Willie Mason is depicted in characteristic manner by Mr. F. Ronald Adair; Mr. William T. Riley is a successful James Harcourt; Vesta Le Clare is ably depicted by Miss Nannie Mead; Miss Florence Halton does well as Lucy Coventry; Miss Jessie Belmore is well placed as Sophie Coventry; and the comedy element is well sustained by Mr. Bert Agate (Johnny Walker) and Miss Nellie James (Poppy Slater).

ACTORS' ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING.

Last Tuesday afternoon the nineteenth annual general meeting of the Actors' Association was held at Terry's Theatre, kindly lent for the occasion by Mr. Edward Terry. There was a good attendance of members, and, at times, lively debate, the fair associates taking a considerable part in the afternoon's talk.

Mr. FREDK. MORELAND was voted to the chair, on the proposition of Mr. Poole Kirkwood, and the seconding of Mr. Fewlass Llewellyn.

Other members of the council on the platform were Messrs. F. G. Arlton, Lewis Casson, C. F. Collings, Clarence Derwent, Cyril Cattley, Gilbert Esmond, Langford Reed, J. Poole Kirkwood, Cecil Raleigh, Leonard Shepherd, and Fewlass Llewellyn; Misses Agnes Imlay, Marion Lind, and Rose Mathews, with Mr. W. H. Mote (hon. solicitor) and Mr. Duncan Young (secretary). Among those present were: Messrs. Walter Cross, Cecil A. Collins, Monckton Hoffe, G. Bentley, Lionel Bevans, John Mortimer, Creagh Henry, Charles Boult, Raymond Thomas, M. Seaton, E. M. Thomson, W. Russell, Talbot Homewood, L. Lowndes, Henry Bedells, Forestier Harvey, James Gelderd, Edwin Holloway, Archibald McLean, Gordon Philliott, Arthur Dennis, Hampton Gordon, Augustine Symonds, Stanley Roberts, Pat Alexander, Henry Doughty, Sydney Compton, W. Devereux, Avalon Collard, Lionel Braham, Charles Harley, Cecil du Gué, Arthur Curtis, Harold Chapin, Ed. Morgan, Henry le Grand, William Farren, Norman Yates, Wilson Sunning, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Ayliff, Mr. and Mrs. R. Davis, Misses Irene Moncrieff, Blanch de Lorme, May Whitty, Helen Mosley, Stanley Ronalds, Louise Moodie, Agnes Miller, Florence Nelson, Agnes Thomas, Beatrice Whitney, Barbara Fenn, Beatrice Chester, Norah Mahone, Phillis Vaughan, Margherita Gordon, Maude Kirwan, Ethel St. Barbe, Florence Harcourt, Kitty Marion, Hilda Hatton, Cecily Oates, Dorah Lewis, Sylvia Morris, Laura Leycester, Joan Pereira, Ina Rozant, Helena Head, Agnes Knights, R. Mayne Young, Madge Flynn, Ella Dixon, Barbara Allison, Winifred Mayo, Rhoda Beresford, Grace Vicat, Helen Farrington, Vera Leslie, Ada Palmer, Theresa Osborne, Lucy Sibley, Adeline Lester, Vita Spencer, Ada Hatchwell, Beatrice Merryon, Rose Vernon Paget, Kitty Lofting, Kitty Carew, Lucie Verrier, Adah Barton, Irene Ross, Emma Stockley, Judith Kyrle, Valetta Calypal, Lallie Forsyth, Rita Trekelle, Mrs. Gosset, and Miss Inez Bensusan.

After the secretary, Mr. DUNCAN YOUNG, had read the notice convening the meeting, Messrs. Collard, Collins, Mortimer, and Simons were elected as scrutineers to count the votes cast for the election of members of the council for the ensuing year.

The full list of the candidates nominated was as follows:—

Dora Lewis	Frederick Annerley
Kitty Marion	F. J. Arlton
Rose Mathews	Lewis Casson
Murri Moncrieff	Cyril Cattley
Edward Morgan	Rose Cazalet
Frederick Morland	Beatrice Chester
Robson Paige	C. Hayden Coffin
Joan Pereira	C. F. Collings
Henry Pettitt	Mildred Cottell
F. H. de Quincey	Basil Dean
Cecil Raleigh	Clarence Derwent
Langford Reed	Gilbert Esmond
Lucy Sibley	Richard A. Greene
Vita Spencer	J. Poole Kirkwood
Chris. Walker	Henry Le Grand

Mr. CECIL RALEIGH raised a question as to the votes which might be admitted by the scrutineers. In his opinion every vote sent in should be counted, otherwise it would be impossible to obtain the real views of the Association. If the votes of members who had not paid their subscriptions were excluded the real wishes of the Association might be obscured, because it was still very early in the year, and many members might have overlooked payment who would certainly pay before the year was out.

The CHAIRMAN pointed out that the rules of the Association were clear, that only members who had paid their subscriptions had the right to vote, and it was ruled accordingly.

Mr. CYRIL CATTLEY, in moving that the annual report and accounts be taken as read, adopted, and entered on the minutes, said that the Association had again become self-supporting, and that, with the exception of the remaining debentures, it was practically free from debt. The amount due under this head is now £305, and it becomes payable on March 12 next. The number of members on the books had increased from 796 to 837. The new premises of the Association at 32, Regent-street, afforded greatly improved accommodation, and the expense of removal had been covered by the voluntary contributions of some sixty members. Their offices now included a rehearsal-room, which would be of great advantage to members. At the beginning of last year the council had tried the experiment of abolishing the agency fee, but after a trial it was found advisable to re-establish it, and the receipts from this source would be a considerable asset to the funds. During the year the question of inviting the actor-managers who had retired in 1907 to rejoin the Association had been considered, and in October last the council had passed a resolution expressing a desire that Sir Herbert Tree and the other actor-managers who had left the Association three years ago should rejoin it. No progress, the report continued, had been made during the year with regard to the establishment of a standard contract, as the Touring Managers' Association, the West-End Managers' Association, and the Theatres Alliance had refused to discuss that contract. The four points suggested as essential in the contract were "a week of six performances; engagements to be for tour, season, or run; the right of the artist to be paid for all time devoted to the service of a manager; and the right of the artist to a living wage," but no progress had been made in this matter. Mr. CATTLEY, in the course of his speech, urged the necessity for making arrangements to pay off the remaining debentures, and pointed out that if members would pay 1s. 3d. per week until March 12 they could meet all liability under this head.

Mr. LANGFORD REED seconded the motion.

Following we give the full text of the ANNUAL REPORT.

In presenting the nineteenth annual report of the Actors' Association, the Council have much pleasure in calling the attention of members to the fact that during the year 1909 the Association has again been self-supporting, the income having been sufficient to meet all expenses. On reference to the accompanying balance-sheet it will be found that, with the exception of the debentures, the Association is practically free from debt of any kind.

With regard to the debentures, the Council are pleased to announce that during the year they have paid off £30 (six debentures), by means of the fund raised for that special purpose, and also Miss Clara Stevens generously cancelled the one standing in her name. The members, however, are earnestly requested to face the fact that the remaining £305 are legally due on March 12 next, and though the Council do not definitely state that these sixty-one debentures will be called in, yet they cannot too strongly urge on the members the necessity of being in a position to take up the whole of these debentures if called upon at that date. It may be further pointed out that so soon as the debentures are fully paid off the Association will undoubtedly be able to commence the hopeful work of establishing a much-needed reserve fund.

Owing to a regrettable laxity on the part of a certain number of members in paying their subscriptions, the Council were at last, in the month of October, reluctantly compelled to place the matter in the hands of the London Association for the Protection of Trade, with the result that £27 were received, but the Council earnestly trust that a repetition of this stringent method will not be necessary. They appeal for the hearty co-operation of all the members by prompt payment of subscriptions, so that they may be able to carry out their determination that the Association shall continue on a self-supporting basis.

The Council record the fact that 796 members on the books for 1909 paid their subscriptions; 41 new members have already paid their subscriptions for the current year, thus bringing the full strength of subscribing members up to the eminently satisfactory figure of 837. While there is good reason for gratification at this promising state of affairs, your Council earnestly hope that every member of the Association will make every effort to obtain more members. If this were consistently done, there is no reason why these figures should not be doubled by the end of the year.

The Council are convinced that the members will find the new premises admirably suited to their needs. It is eminently satisfactory that better accommodation in a much more central position has been secured, while the rent and working expenses are actually less than hitherto. It is also gratifying, in view of the discomfort that has been caused by rather frequent removals in the past, that the Council have sealed a lease for three years. Sincere thanks are due from the Association to Messrs. Arlton and Young, and Miss Imlay, who have been mainly instrumental in securing and preparing the new premises.

Thanks to the loyal response to the Council's appeal, the entire expenses of removal have been met by the voluntary contributions of some sixty members.

The Council have taken advantage of the fact that the new premises include a commodious kitchen to make arrangements by which luncheons, teas, and light refreshments will be served at an exceptionally low tariff in a comfortable room specially set apart for the purpose. The catering has been placed in the hands of Miss Mahone and Miss May, who have been constituted a Kitchen Committee: the Council have every confidence in their capacity to carry out the work, and sincerely hope the experiment will meet with the support it so fully deserves.

The attention of members is also called to the fact that among the advantages of the new premises is an excellent rehearsal room.

At the beginning of the year your Council decided to try the experiment of abolishing the agency fee, but after giving the experiment a fair trial, they have recently come to the conclusion that the association gained no advantage, and the original fee was therefore re-instated. Owing to the apparently increasing demands upon the agency, mainly due to the energy which Mr. Young is devoting to this branch of his work, it seems highly probable that the receipts from this source may prove a considerable asset to the funds of the Association.

The Council again have great pleasure in bringing before the notice of members the excellent and successful work which has been accomplished by the Play Actors' Club. The advantages to the Association from the existence of this flourishing club, membership of which is exclusively confined to members of the Association, are so great that the Council would urge all members to place themselves in touch with the Secretary of the Play Actors, so that they may take full benefit of any opportunities the club may be able to offer.

The hearty thanks of the Association are due to the ladies and gentlemen who worked so hard to promote the success of the country fair and fête, held on Sept. 15 at Earlsfield. As a result the sum of £17 10s. 5d. was handed over to the general funds of the Association.

The steps which were being taken to amalgamate with the Actors' Union were unfortunately of no avail owing to the Union ceasing to exist. Under these circumstances your Council felt that the wishes of the members of the Association would be expressed by extending a cordial invitation to the members of the late Union to become members of the Association (without payment of entrance fee up to Dec. 31, 1909, inclusive) which was accordingly done.

Among questions which have occupied the attention of your Council and aroused the interest of your members, is the one as to whether an invitation should be extended to those actor-managers who retired in 1907 to return as ordinary members of the Association. At the Council meeting held on Oct. 19 last a resolution was passed that members should be asked to sign a requisition, which had already been passed by the Council, in the following terms:—

> "That we, the undersigned, wish to express our sincere desire that Sir Herbert Tree and the other actor-managers who resigned three years ago should be asked to resume their membership of the Association."

The Council hope that this matter will be discussed and decided by the members at the annual general meeting.

The Council regret that no further progress has been possible with regard to the standard contract. The Council, after devoting many hours to the framing of a Model Standard Contract, regret to report that the efforts made to induce the Touring Managers' Association, the West End Managers' Association, and the Theatres' Alliance, to discuss that contract, were without avail. They wish, however, to record their opinion that the four points mentioned in the report for last year are essential to the true welfare of the theatrical profession.

The four points are:

1. A week of six performances.
2. Engagements to be for tour, season, or run.
3. The right of the artist to be paid for all time devoted to the service of a manager.
4. The right of the artist to a living wage.

The most important event of the theatrical year has been the meeting of the committee appointed by two Houses of Parliament on the question of the dramatic censorship. At a general meeting of the Association, held in the rooms of the Association on July 28, a resolution was passed: "That the powers of the Censor should be retained and his duties be extended to all dramatic entertainments embracing concert halls and music halls, subject to a Court of Appeal as proposed by the Dramatic Authors' Society," and subsequently Mr. Clarence Derwent was appointed by the Council to attend before the Parliamentary Committee to give evidence in support of the views thus expressed.

The Council wish again to tender on behalf of the Association their sincere thanks for, and high appreciation of, the invaluable services of the hon. medical staff, so generously placed at the service of the members.

The services of the hon. solicitors have again been of great help to a large number of our members, and it may be mentioned that successful action has been taken in many cases. The Council desire in particular to place on record their sincere gratitude to Mr. H. W. Mote, both for the regularity of his attendance at the Council meetings and for the inestimable value of his advice.

In the case of a claim made by a member against a manager, the matter was referred to a court of arbitration, consisting of two members of the Touring Managers' Association and two members of the Council of the Actors' Association, with the result that an award was made in favour of the claimant.

In June last it was found necessary to appoint a new secretary, and the Council have much pleasure in testifying to the present satisfactory work which is being done by the staff under the able and energetic direction of Mr. Duncan Young.

We have examined the above accounts and balance-sheet, dated Dec. 31, 1909, and in our opinion the same are properly drawn up, so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of affairs of the Association according to the best of our information and the explanations given to us, and as shown by the books of the Association.

ACTOR MANAGERS INVITED BACK.

Mr. CLARENCE DERWENT next moved, "That this meeting wishes to express its approval of the action taken by members of the Council, that the Actor-Managers who resigned should be asked to again become members of the Association." He mentioned that Sir Herbert Tree had expressed his willingness to rejoin, and had mentioned that he was sure his fellow actor-managers in London would also be willing to again become members of the association. (Hear, hear.) The question really was whether the association was to be conducted on the lines of trades unionism, and as the result of practical experience of actors' organisations, he was convinced that no form of trades unionism could be even approximately applied to the conditions of their profession. (Hear, hear.) In their profession a man might be an actor one day, an actor-manager the next, and another day he might have to join the ranks of the unemployed. There was only one method by which trade union demands could be enforced, and that was by withdrawing labour—a method impossible in the theatrical profession.

Mr. F. J. ARLTON seconded.

Mr. CECIL RALEIGH dissented, on the ground that the Council should do nothing in the matter until they had held a general meeting of the Association on the subject. He thought they should exclude managers from the association, because, if a manager and one of his employés happened to be on the council together it would be difficult for the latter to oppose his employer in any matter where the interests of actors and managers were in conflict. He proposed as an amendment "That this meeting regrets that the council did not defer this question until they had consulted a general meeting of the association."

Mr. MONCKTON HOFFE seconded the amendment.

Mr. WILLIAM DEVEREUX opposed the amendment, and urged the importance of having actor-managers, who were not only actors but men of business, associated with the conduct of the association.

Miss ROSE MATHEWS opposed the readmission of managers to the association, and pointed out that for sixteen years they had managers on the council, and the only result was to run the association into debt. During the three years the managers had been outside the association they had begun to pay their way, and had cleared off most of the debt that had been incurred. She really thought the existence of the association should be counted from the day the managers left it.

Mr. HOFFE complained that London managers tried to keep down the provincial actor, and one of the first essentials was to break down the London corner, which had for its object the prevention of provincial actors getting a chance in the metropolis.

Miss AGNES IMLAY supported the resolution, and declared that after two years on the Council as a provincial actress she came on with a perfectly open mind, convinced that the only way to make the Actors' Association live was to have the representative actor-manager back.

The CHAIRMAN pointed out that the amendment was really a vote of censure on the outgoing council.

The amendment was rejected, and the original resolution adopted by a majority of the meeting.

Mr. CECIL RALEIGH proposed "That it be an instruction to the Council that in the future the fullest minutes of their proceedings shall be published in the Press, nothing being omitted from such minute, saving any legal matters that the honorary solicitor may desire to be withheld until they are complete, or statements that in the opinion of the honorary solicitor may render the Associaton liable to legal action." This was seconded by Miss LUCY SIBLEY.

AN ACCUSATION AND AN APOLOGY.

During the discussion Mr. ARLTON complained that at a meeting last year the chairman on the occasion (Mr. Raleigh) had kept a letter from a member of Parliament in his pocket which he did not disclose.

Mr. RALEIGH asked who was the member of Parliament.

Mr. ARLTON said it was from Mr. Harcourt.

Mr. RALEIGH denied that he got any letter from Mr. Harcourt, or any other member of Parliament, until months after the meeting in question.

Mr. ARLTON: Well, you had a letter from somebody, for you had the facts of the bill in advance.

Mr. RALEIGH: I had no letter, and the facts were those published in every newspaper in the country. If that is to be construed into a letter from a member of Parliament, we can estimate the value to be attached to Mr. Arlton's statements.

Mr. ARLTON: I am sorry I was under a misapprehension, and I withdraw the statement. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. RALEIGH asked for the name of Mr. Arlton's informant that he had received a letter.

The CHAIRMAN suggested that as Mr. Arlton had withdrawn the statement, the discussion should be allowed to cease.

The resolution was rejected.

Miss ROSE MATHEWS proposed: "That the members of the Actors' Association hereby direct their Council not to elect any member associated in any way with theatrical management, to fill any vacancy or vacancies that may occur on the Council during the forthcoming year." She said she was strongly in favour of actors governing their own association. It was not the great London actor-managers that she objected to, but the small managers, who cut down salaries and would not pay their employés a living wage.

Mr. FEWLASS LLEWELLYN seconded the resolution, which was supported by Mr. CECIL RALEIGH.

Mr. KIRKWOOD expressed the view that the resolution was merely another attempt to keep the actor-manager from coming back to the Association.

The resolution was rejected.

Miss LUCY SIBLEY proposed: "That the Council are hereby instructed to again approach the Theatrical Managers' Association, the West End Managers' Association, the Theatrical Alliance, and the Touring Managers' Association, with a view to a discussion with them of the model contract between managers and members of the Association prepared last year." This was seconded by Mr. CECIL RALEIGH and unanimously carried.

Votes of thanks to the auditors, the physicans to the association, and the honorary solicitor, and Mr. Edward Terry for the use of his theatre, concluded the proceedings.

LIST OF COUNCIL ELECTED FOR 1910.

G. F. Collings, 214; Frederick Annerley, 213; Lewis Casson, 208; C. Hayden Coffin, 206; Frederick Morland, 202; F. J. Arlton, 193; Chris. Walker, 171; Cyril Cattley, 170; Clarence Derwent, 170; Rose Cazalet, 161; Henry Pettitt, 159; H. Le Grand, 158; J. Poole Kirkwood, 154; Edward Morgan, 151; Richard A. Greene, 145; Joan Pereira, 145; Vita Spencer, 145; Basil Dean, 144; Beatrice Chester, 144; Langford Reed, 143; Mildred Cottell, 135; Murri Moncrieff, 135; F. H. De Quincey, 132; Robson Paige, 131; Cecil Raleigh, 120. Not elected: Rose Mathews, 117; Lucy Sibley, 112; Gilbert Esmond, 111; Kitty Marion, 90; Dora Levis, 64.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—With the exception of the paragraphs, Nos. 5, 7, and 9 of the letter signed by Mr. Cecil Raleigh and other candidates for the Council of the Actors' Association, I am in agreement with them, but not with their manner of trying to carry them out. It is a case of those making the most noise doing the least work, as the following list of attendances at the Council meetings since the last annual general meeting will prove:—Miss Agnes Imlay, 44; Mr. F. J. Arlton, 37; Mr. Hayden Coffin, 30; Mr. Clarence Derwent, 28; Mr. Poole Kirkwood, 24; Mr. Frederick Morland, 23; Mr. C. F. Collings, 23; Mr. Clive Currie, 21; Miss Marion Lind, 21; Mr. Langford Reed, 21; Mr. Gilbert Esmond, 20; Mr. Lewis Casson, 17; Mr. Sebastian Smith, 16; Mr. Fred Annerley, 14; Mr. Jackson Wilcox, 13; Miss Rose Mathews, 12; Mr. Cecil Raleigh, 12; Mr. Cyril Cattley, 10; Mr. Robson Paige, 10; Mr. Chris. Walker, 10; Mr. Richard A. Greene 8; Miss Helen Haye, 6; Mr. Cecil Brooking, 5; Mr. Fewlass Llewellyn, 4; Mr. Russell Norrie, 2; Mr. Arthur Applin, 1; Miss Conti, 1.

These show by whom and which party the work of the Association has been done, those who have its true interests at heart and by whom it has been brought to its present desirable position. My policy is, the interests of the members, and once again making the Actors' Association the representative body of the acting profession.—Yours faithfully,

FRANK J. ARLTON.

MESSRS. ALFRED PAUMIER AND WALTER HOWARD'S company is on a welcome return visit to the Theatre Royal and Opera House, Leigh, with The Midnight Wedding. Mr. A. E. Winnington Barnes is a capital Paul Valmar; the task of representing the unprincipled Captain Rudolph von Scarbruck is accomplished with credit by Mr. Charles Whitlock; Miss Margaret Brodie displays ability in the dual rôles of Princess Astrea and Second-Lieut. Karl Helsburg; Mr. John Nesbitt is successful as the Crown Prince Leopold; the comic element is well looked after by Messrs. J. E. Page, Wm. Franklin, and Algie Spalding, their efforts being well seconded by Miss Jessica Black as Kathie.

MR. GEO. BRYDON PHILLIPS'S pantomime company is at the Theatre Royal, Loughborough, this week appearing in Sinbad the Sailor, and is attracting good audiences. Miss Hettie Lee as Sinbad is excellent, and the singing of Miss Constance Lait (Badoura) is highly appreciated. Miss Amy Maple, too, as Zeo is a great success. The comic element is provided by Mr Fred Maple, whose rendering of the part of Hindbad is a very happy one; Mr. Harry Rose as Mrs. Sinbad and Messrs. Morrin and Cardiff as Jack Bobstay and Ben Bunk, two jolly tars from the Merry Matilda, introduce some telling gags and good fun. The principal dancer, Miss Nella Dene, is very clever. Miss Amy Maple and Mr. Fred Maple delight the house with their dancing, their latest "creation," a Japanese cake-walk, or chop-stick dance, being much admired. The whole pantomime is well and effectively staged.

ANOTHER BOOK ON MAKING-UP.—Mr. J. Ainsley Brough's little book on "The Secrets of Making-up," which has just been published by the Star Music Publishing Co., Ltd., is thoroughly practical. We all know how necessary it is for directions to an entire novice in any art to be minute and exact. In this work even the position of the fingers in putting on an artificial nose is shown and described; and the pictorial illustrations are excellent. The essay on "Elocution," by Miss Leah Laurie, is full of good hints, and is very much to the point. The publishers are indebted to Gamage's, Ltd., for the loan of several of the blocks. The price of the book is only 1s.

THEATRICAL GOSSIP.

SIR HERBERT TREE'S character in The O'Flynn, the production of which at His Majesty's on Tuesday will be the event of the week, is chiefly a comedy part, and moreover will include a song and dance. The O'Flynn is a most volatile personage, and withal a man of extraordinary valour and fascination. He handles the rapier like a D'Artagnan, and is in addition amazingly ingenious. In this respect he may even be considered a second Ulysses. "Indeed," said Sir Herbert, in referring to the hero, "I should not be surprised if he were already known in Ireland as 'The O'Lysses.'"

A FORMIDABLE cast has involved the engagement of many popular players. In addition to Sir Herbert in the name-part, Miss Evelyn D'Alroy will play the Lady Benedetta, with whom the O'Flynn is in love; Mr. W. G. Fay, of the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, will impersonate the typical Irish rôle of Conacher O'Rourke, King of Munster and body servant to the O'Flynn; Mr. Edward Sass is to appear as General Van Dronk; Mr. C. H. Croker-King as James II.; Mr. William Haviland as a Williamite spy; and Miss Auriol Lee as Fancy Free, one of "The Riverside Fellowship of Players." Mr. Henry Ainley, as an exquisite of the period, will figure as the villain in the piece.

THE active members of the company exceed a quarter of a century, and, in addition to those referred to above, will consist of Messrs. Sydney Paxton Frank Esmond, Frederick James, Harry C. Hewitt, Scott Craven, J. W. Braithwaite, Edmund Gurney, Henry Morrell, Wilson Gunning, Hubert Carter, Shiel Barry, Jules Shaw, Nigel Playfair, and William Mackintosh, and Miss Elinor Foster, Miss Helen Ferrers, Miss Hilda Moore, and Miss Hemingway. The action takes place wholly in Ireland in the years 1689-90, and the scenes include the Hall of the O'Flynn's Castle, the Isle of Cyprus Inn, Dublin, In the Trenches before Knockmore Castle, General Van Dronk's Quarters in Knockmore Castle, and the Presence Chamber in Dublin Castle.

THE retirement of Mrs. D'Oyly Carte from theatrical management could not possibly have been permitted to pass without some testimony of the esteem and affection with which she is regarded by her fellow-managers and the profession; and the suggestion that her portrait by an eminent artist should be presented to her on the occasion was received with an enthusiasm which showed how warmly and universally Mrs. Carte is admired and respected. Her career, with all its adventures, achievements, and enterprises, cannot be dealt with in a paragraph, and to enumerate all her well-wishers would cover the whole of one of our pages. Hundreds of friends are interested in the presentation; but some selection of an executive committee had to be made, and Sir Charles Wyndham, Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree, Mr. George Alexander, Mr. George Edwardes, and Mr. Edward Terry have taken the necessary arrangements in hand, Mr. W. F. Fladgate having kindly consented to act as hon. treasurer and receive subscriptions at 2, Craig's-court, Charing Cross. Any balance that may remain over and above the price of the picture will be handed over to the Actors' Benevolent Fund.

Two London actor-managers, Mr. Arthur Bourchier and Mr. Lewis Waller—both of whom are vice-presidents of the British Empire Shakespeare Society—will take part in the dramatic reading of Romeo and Juliet to be given by the Society at the St. James's Theatre (by permission of Mr. George Alexander, also a vice-president) on Tuesday afternoon, March 8. Mr. Waller will be the Romeo and Mr. Bourchier the Mercutio, and the Juliet will be Miss Evelyn D'Alroy. Many prominent Shakespearean actors will be included in the cast. Such an interesting event should be of wide interest.

MR. OSCAR ASCHE and Miss Lily Brayton have arranged with Messrs. Rupert Clarke and Clyde Meynell (under whose direction they are touring Australia) to extend their stay in Australia for a further period of six months. They will confine themselves almost exclusively to Melbourne and Sydney, taking Adelaide and Perth on the homeward journey, where they will present, amongst other productions, their dramatisation of Stanley Weyman's romantic drama Count Hannibal. In this play the distinguished artists will make a welcome appearance at a West End theatre in London some time in the autumn.

"RICHELIEU," with which Mr. Robert Hilton will open his season at the Strand Theatre on Thursday, Feb. 10, will be preceded by the wordless playlet The Dream Flower. The cast includes artists of well-tried excellence. Mr. Hilton himself will play the title-rôle; Mr. J. H. Barnes, Father Joseph; Mr. Fred Grove, De Berrington; Mr. Gilbert Yorke, Louis XIII.; Mr. Norman Wrighton, Orleans; Mr. Lionel Atwill, De Mauprat; Mr. Frederick Sargent, Baradas; Mr. Reginald Besant, Hugnet; Mr. Hugh Ardale, Claremont; Mr. George Robinson, François; Miss Sophie Baron Harriss, Marion de L'Orme; and Miss Marie Polini, Julie de Mortimer.

THE first of the four acts takes place in and about Paris; Act 2 is confined to Richelieu's Castle; Act 3 represents the Garden of the Louvre, and Act 4 takes place inside the Louvre. Mr. Leolyn Hart is responsible for painting the scenery, which is said to be most effective, and Mr. Russell Phillips has written the incidental music. The Dream Flower, a charming play without words, has been written by Miss Aimee Lowther, and the music by Mr. R. Burnham, while Miss Sophie Baron Harriss plays the part of Pierrot. The play will be produced by the well-known Mme. Rosa, of the Royal Opera, Covent Garden.

MR. HENRY ARTHUR JONES will lecture on the subject of "Standardising the Drama" to the members of the O.P. Club at the Criterion on Sunday evening, Feb. 6. Mr. Herbert Trench will be in the chair.

A REWARD of £5 has been offered by Mr. Robert Arthur, for information which will lead to the detection of the person who maliciously damaged the stage costume of Miss Maud Thorne, principal girl in his Liverpool Royal Court Theatre pantomime. About the middle of last week Miss Thorne entered her dressing-room to prepare for a matinée, when she was astonished to find the contents thereof scattered about in all directions, with her best costume, a hat, and other articles, cut and torn in several places.

MR. LETHERIDGE, Sir Charles Wyndham's manager at the Criterion Theatre, has forwarded to the secretary of the A.B.F. a cheque for £213 17s. 9d., the result of the matinée of The Mollusc, given at the Criterion on Dec. 16 for the benefit of the fund.

SIR HERBERT TREE has put Beethoven into the bill at His Majesty's for a week pending the production of The O'Flynn. We have done such full justice to the finely poetic play that we need not repeat our praises of the piece and its performers. The only alteration in the cast is the substitution of Miss Hilda Moore for Miss Hilda Antony in the part of Giuletta Guicciardi. Miss Moore makes the most of the rather difficult part, and plays it for all that it is worth.

SIR JOHN HARE presided at a meeting of representatives of amateur dramatic societies and clubs in the London area invited to the Mansion House on Thursday evening by the Shakespeare Memorial Committee to discuss the question of assisting in the movement. Among the speakers were Mr. Bernard Shaw, the Hon. Mrs. Alfred Lyttelton, and Mr. Comyns Carr. The delegates expressed by resolution their hearty approval of the scheme, and promised to use their best endeavours to obtain substantial contributions and also to assist in the work of local organisation.

MR. F. R. BENSON has organised a highly elaborate programme, contributed to by foremost actors, for the Shakespeare Festival at Stratford-on-Avon. The festival will be opened on Friday, April 22, by Sir Herbert Tree, with a performance of Hamlet, given in curtains; and amongst other eminent artists who will take part in the festival will be: Miss Genevieve Ward, as Volumnia and Queen Margaret; Mr. Martin Harvey and Miss N. de Silva, in Hamlet; Mr. Arthur Bourchier and Miss Violet Vanbrugh, as Benedick and Beatrice; Mr. Otho Stuart, as Clarence and Bassanio; Mr. Henry Ainley, as Marc Antony; Mr. Lewis Waller and Miss Winifred Emery, as Benedick and Beatrice; and Mr. James Carew and Miss Ellen Terry, as Shylock and Portia.

AN interesting feature of the festival will be a matinée given by Old Bensonians, when scenes will be presented from A Midsummer Night's Dream, The School for Scandal, The Taming of the Shrew, and The Merchant of Venice. In the two last-named scenes Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Benson will be supported by as many as possible of the famous actors and actresses who have at one time or another worked under the Benson banner. The birthday revival play will be The Two Gentlemen of Verona, which has not been seen at Stratford-on-Avon for many years.

MR. H. B. IRVING will this evening reveal himself to an expectant audience at the Queen's Theatre in his impersonation of the title-rôles of Mr. J. Comyns Carr's adaptation of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. The young actor's support will be strong and numerous, and will include Miss Dorothea Baird, Mr. Charles Sugden, Mr. Charles Allan, Mr. Henry Vibart, Miss Cynthia Brooke, and Miss Tittell-Brune, the Australian artist. Other members of the cast are Messrs. H. Marsh Allen, H. Lawrence Leyton, Alex. Scott-Gatty, Frank Tyars, Arthur Curtis, King Fordham, J. Patrick Curwan, Stuart Musgrove, W. Hemstock, A. Synge, and W. Graham, Mrs. Stanislaus Calhaem, and Miss May Holland.

ACT. I. will be devoted to the representation of a library in Dr. Jekyll's house and the laboratory. Act II. represents the drawing-room in the house of Sir Danvers Carew. Act III. will show Hyde's lodging in Soho, and Act IV. will return to the laboratory. Mr. Carr's play will be preceded by The Plumbers, an amusing sketch by Mr. Harry Grattan, originally produced at the Tivoli. The parts associated with the title will be taken by the author and Mr. Arthur Williams.

THE success of M. Maeterlinck's exquisite fairy play, The Blue Bird, at the Haymarket, is such that Mr. Herbert Trench has decided to continue the two performances daily until further notice. One of the most attractive features of The Blue Bird at the Haymarket has been the entrancing music specially composed by Mr. Norman O'Neill. Four dances—"The Dance of the Hours," "The Star Dance," "Fire and Water Dance," and "The Mist Maidens' Dance," have now been published by Messrs. Elkin and Co., and can be had either at the Haymarket Theatre or from any music-seller.

MR. WEEDON GROSSMITH'S first tour of Mr. R. C. Carton's clever farce, Mr. Preedy and the Countess, will commence at the Opera House, Cheltenham, on Monday. For the part of John Bounsall, the senior partner to "Preedy," Mr. Weedon Grossmith has been fortunate enough to secure the valuable services of Mr. Murray Carson and for that of the countess Miss Ruth Mackay. Mr. Weedon Grossmith has arranged for the majority of the Criterion Theatre company to support him on this tour.

THE entire production, including the furniture, as played at the Criterion Theatre, will be travelled, thus enabling provincial playgoers to see the piece exactly as played during its long run in London. During the first two or three weeks of this tour Mr. Weedon Grossmith will produce a new first piece by a well-known actor-author whose name for the present must be a profound secret.

OWING to the indisposition last week of Miss Lilian Bishop, the part of the Grand Vizier in Aladdin at the King's, Sunderland, was played at a few hours' notice by Miss Irene Stuart.

MISS JEAN STERLING MACKINLAY and Mr. Harcourt Williams announce their second dramatic matinée for Thursday, Feb. 17, at the Steinway Hall. Austin Dobson's "Proverbs in Porcelain" will again be done in eighteenth-century costume, and a reading of Maeterlinck's "Death of Tintagiles" will be given by Mr. Harcourt Williams, and American dialect poems by Miss Mackinlay. Mr. Frank Cochrane will again sing the part of L'Etoile, and Miss May Congdon will play Ninette.

MISS GRANVILLE will take the chair at the Actress's Franchise League "At Home" on Friday, Feb. 4, in the Victoria Hall of the Criterion. The speeches begin punctually at three o'clock, and the speakers are Miss Christabel Pankhurst, Miss Maud Hoffman, Mr. M. Campbell Johnston, and Major-General Sir Alfred Turner, K.C.B. The doors open at 2.30, and Mrs. Madeline Lucette Ryley is hostess for the League. All members of the profession will be most welcome.

TUESDAY next will be the 125th night of Mr. Rudolf Besier's brilliant comedy Don at the Kingsway Theatre. To celebrate the occasion Mr. Herbert Trench will present to every lady in the audience a beautiful hand-painted "Blue Bird" fan.

THE effective organisation of the several political parties is considered by Mr. Henry Tweedie to confirm his opinion that if touring managers and speculators generally could be persuaded to work upon somewhat similar methods much new ground could be broken. This being the second General Election Mr. Henry Tweedie has taken a prominent working part in, his usefulness as a London or touring representative manager must be very greatly enhanced.

A LARGE audience attended the inauguration of the Norwood branch of the British Empire Shakespeare Society on Monday evening at the Crystal Palace. The Benedick and Beatrice scenes from Much Ado About Nothing were given by Mr. Acton Bond and Miss Eve Tame; the Closet scene from Hamlet by Miss Elsie Fogerty and Mr. Lewis Casson; and a dramatic reading of scenes 1 and 2 of Henry VIII (Act 3) by Miss Fogerty (Queen), Mr. Casson (King), and Mr. Bond (Wolsey), assisted by some of the Norwood members. In the interval Mr. Bond spoke as to the aims of the society, and several promises of local membership were received. Miss Prosser, of 28, Thicket-road, Anerley, S.E., is the temporary hon. secretary.

MR. PERCY HUTCHISON, who underwent a severe operation for appendicitis in a West-End nursing home a fortnight ago, is making satisfactory progress towards convalescence, and will shortly be able to resume active control of his companies and provincial bookings for the spring and autumn. During his enforced absence hundreds of telegrams and letters have reached Mr Hutchison from brother managers and friends, wishing him a speedy recovery.

THE Play Actors' performance, announced for last Sunday, is postponed till to-morrow (the 30th), when all tickets issued for the original date will be available. The performance, as usual, will take place at the Court, and will consist of four one-act plays, The Decent Thing, by F. Willoughby; Augustus in Search of a Father, by Harold Chapin; Peg Woffington's Pearls, by S. Duncan-Jones and Dennis Cleugh; and His Last Stage, by H. O. Hughes. The cast will include Messrs. Hugh Tabberer, Philip Knox, Alfred Harris, Chris. Walker, Harold Chapin, Cecil A. Collins, A. S. Homewood, and Cyril Cattley, and Misses Marion Lind, Doris Digby, Lorna Lawrence, Phyllis Relph, Mary Dewerell, Sybil Thorndike, and Frances Wetherall.

MESSRS TAYLOR PLATT AND HARRY P. TOWERS start their fifth tour of Bernard Shaw's comedy You Never Can Tell, under the stage direction of Mr. Trevor Lowe, on Monday, Feb. 7, among the numerous towns to be visited being Swansea, Dublin, Edinburgh, Manchester, Liverpool, and Portsmouth. The cast will include Miss Winifred Beech, Miss Sylvia Dawson, Miss Edith Hunter, Miss Ida Southern, Messrs. Bellenden Clarke, Graham Colmer, Claude Haviland, Allan Jeayes, Geoffrey Wilkinson, and J. Edward Pearce. Mr. E. J. Trollope is stage manager, and Mr. Douglas Jefferies acting-manager. Arms and the Man will also be played at some of the towns.

MR. W. B. YATES'S morality play The Hour Glass will be given for the first time in London at the Newman Gallery on Saturday next in aid of the St. Mary's Nursery College, Hampstead. The Wise Man will be played by Mr. W. Herbert Cox.

"CINDERELLA" at the Crystal Palace Theatre will in two weeks' time bid farewell to her many friends and admirers. Seats for the last night are already being booked up.

The Rehearsal Company will present four one-act plays at the Rehearsal Theatre on Friday next at 2 o'clock. Two original pieces will be Love's Comedy, by Frederic Sargent, and The Final Phase, by Ursula Keene; and the programme will be completed by Op o' My Thumb and My First Client. The casts will include Misses Rose Dupré, May Saker, Maud Bowyer, Jean Graeme, Evelyn Vanderzee, Mr. Frederic Sargent and Mr. Clive Currie.

SIR WILLIAM TRELOAR'S cripple fund will this (Saturday) afternoon entertain the children at the Alexandra Theatre, Stoke Newington, to witness the beautiful and funny pantomime Cinderella, presented with such conspicuous success by Moss's Empires, Ltd., by arrangement with Messrs. Ernest Stevens and R. C. Buchanan. Cinderella is still finding hosts of admirers, but, owing to those embarrassing "prior arrangements," must be withdrawn in the height of its success on Saturday next.

MR. GEORGE CAVE, K.C., M.P., the newly-elected member for the Kingston Division of Surrey, paid a visit on the 21st., along with Mrs. Cave and their two little nieces, to the Royal County Theatre, Kingston, and witnessed the performance of the pantomime, The Sleeping Beauty. Mr. Cave received a great ovation from a crowded house, and at the close of the performance, in response to cries for a speech, said he was glad to be able to express thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Davey for organising that delightful evening's pleasure.

"HIS REAL WIFE," the new domestic play, under the directorship of Mr. T. Edward Ward, is outdistancing his most sanguine anticipations and easily proving itself far and away the strongest property Mr. Ward has ever handled.

MR. HARRY BRISTOW was kindly released by Mr. Fredk. Melville from the stage management of the successful pantomime Jack and the Beanstalk, at the Brixton Theatre Saturday last, to take up the same duties in Mr. Andrew Melville's The Diver's Luck company, the tour commencing Monday next at the Lyric Theatre, Hammersmith.

"THE DEADLOCK," a play in three acts, owned by Sidney Pearson Stratton, was produced for copyright purposes at the Court Theatre on Jan. 18.

NEXT week will be the last week of Mr. J. Bannister Howard's very successful pantomime of Cinderella at the Crystal Palace. Matinées of the agreeable entertainment will be given on Wednesday and Saturday.

MR. CHARLES ESDALE, during the indisposition of Mr. Percy Hutchison, has been playing the part of Monty Brewster in Brewster's Millions, and has been complimented on his success.

"DICK WHITTINGTON," the pantomime at the Britannia Theatre, Hoxton, is still playing to enormous business, crowds being turned away at almost every performance. Mr. Humphrey E. Brammall is to be congratulated on reopening the historic house under such favourable auspices. On Tuesday evening next that popular comedian Mr. Bob Hutt (Fitwarren) is to enjoy his complimentary benefit, and many special features are announced for the occasion.

FROM next Whitsuntide onwards the Theatre Royal, Edmonton, will be controlled by the Van Biene Theatres Company, with Mr. Edward van Biene (son of the famous actor-musician) as resident general-manager. It is the intention of the new management to run the theatre as a first-class dramatic house, and negotiations with many leading attractions are already in progress. Popular prices will be the rule, and a feature will be made of "new productions."

THE football carnival arranged by the charitable enthusiasts connected with the Birmingham theatres, music halls, and Aston Villa Football Club, and held on the ground of the latter club on Tuesday, was a huge success. The weather was fine and bright, but very cold. These conditions, however, did not prevent a crowd of over 6,000 spectators assembling. Miss Ada Reeve, principal boy at the Theatre Royal, started the exhibition match between Aston Villa and West Bromwich Albion, which resulted in a victory for the Albion by one goal to nil. Then followed an uproarious farce, which was really meant to be a football match between the pantomime artists. Miss Dorothy Ward, the popular principal boy at the Prince of Wales's Theatre, kicked off, and the ensuing antics of the artists created much amusement. Mr. George Robey, the Brothers Egbert, the Brothers Brooks, Mr. Fred Griffiths, Mr. Frank Wier, Mr. Tom Shale, Mr. Harry Conlin, Mr. Barry Lupino, and Mr. Durning Fraser were especially in great form, but what was the result? Mr. Lester Collingwood has offered a prize to the person who solves this problem. The respective theatre managers were present, and credit is due to them, the artists, and the Villa club officials for the success of the carnival, which will result in a substantial sum being handed over to local charitable institutions.

ON Thursday night, the 20th inst., the members of the Aladdin pantomime company at the Lyric Opera House, Hammersmith, had their annual supper and dance. Supper was served shortly before midnight. Amongst those present were Mr. Wentworth Croke (proprietor of the theatre) and Mrs. Wentworth Croke, Mr. Fred Jennings (manager), and Miss Kittee Rayburn Aladdin, besides all the principal members of the company and the theatre staff. The theatre band played selections during the repast. After the supper the room was prepared for dancing. An excellent programme had been arranged, and was gone through to the delight of all present.

HAMMERSMITH has suffered a loss by the departure from the Lyric Opera House, Hammersmith, of Mr. Wentworth Croke's very cheery pantomime. Judging by the crowded houses which were the order of both day and night, it might have run quite easily and profitably for another month. But contracts entered into many moons ago had to be observed, and hence the departure of the show on tour, which has been this week at Birkenhead. No doubt the clever company, with that bright particular star Miss Kittee Rayburn at its head, will be as popular in the country as it has been in town. Miss Rayburn, by the way, ought to make a success in musical comedy. Not only does she sing and act well, but she has a nice sense of humour, and her characterisation is capital.

AT the close of a highly successful month's run at the Bordesley Theatre, Birmingham, members of the Fair One with the Golden Locks pantomime company assembled on the stage in front of an enthusiastic audience on Saturday evening to assist at several interesting presentations. Mr. W. Goodwin Woodward, the manager of the theatre, spoke in eulogistic terms of the company, and presented a handsome diamond ring to Miss Brownie, the principal girl, she having been declared by the votes of the patrons to be the most popular artist. Mr. C. Besley, the manager of the company, was the recipient of a calabash pipe and tobacco from the front of the house staff, and the stage hands presented a cigarette case to the stage manager. Mr. Will Letters, on behalf of the company, next asked Mr. Woodward to accept a handsome gold-mounted umbrella, suitably inscribed, as a token of respect, esteem and thankfulness for kind consideration from the members of the pantomime company.

MR. WOODWARD thanked the artists. They were, he said, thorough ladies and gentlemen on and off the stage. The members then rose, cheered enthusiastically, and sang "For he's a jolly good fellow" to the accompaniment of the orchestra.

MISS NORA CARTON and Miss Beatrice Selwyn commenced their second tour with Russell Vann's drama Temptation at Rawtenstall last week with an entirely new company, and made a pronounced success. The company and tour are under the direction of Martin Comstock.

THE success of Miss Ivy St. Helier as the Stewardess in Captain Kidd at Wyndham's has elicited sincere congratulations from Jersey and the keenest interest in her future career. This dainty little lady is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aitchison, of St. Helier, Jersey, and, as will be noticed, takes her stage name from the capital of her native island. Miss St. Helier, it is interesting to add, was brought out some little time ago by another native of Jersey, Mr. Seymour Hicks.

THE managers of the theatres and halls in Birmingham have arranged a billiard handicap which will be commenced at the Woolpack Hotel on Tuesday next. The draw for the first round resulted as follows:—Mr. E. Foster (Grand) v. Mr. Collingwood (Alexandra), Mr. J. F. Graham (Prince of Wales's) v. Mr. W. Goodwin Woodward, Mr. P. D. Elbourne (Hippodrome) v. Mr. Philip Rodway (Royal), Mr. A. W. Matcham (Empire) v. Mr. A. Bushell (Gaiety).

MR WILLIAM LOCKHART has had a busy week, rehearsing in London every day and playing in Bedford every night. Mr. Lockhart finishes his engagement to-night with When Knights Were Bold to take up the part of Bloodgood in Are You a Mason?

AT the performance of Mr. Wentworth Croke's successful pantomime of Aladdin at the Lyric Opera House, Hammersmith, on the 21st inst., a verse was introduced written by the newly-elected local M.P., describing in glowing terms the attractions of Miss Kittee Rayburn, the principal boy, and paying tribute to her topical songs, which it was declared were helpful in securing Sir William's return.

AN English version of Gluck's Orpheo will be revived by Mme. Marie Brema in April next. Madame Brema will sing the title-rôle and Miss Viola Tree will be Eurydice. Mr. Michael Balling, of Bayreuth, will conduct.

MR. WALTER VAN NOORDEN has had the enterprise to secure the exclusive English rights of Goldmark's great opera The Queen of Sheba, which the Carl Rosa Opera Company will shortly produce. The title-rôle will be played by Miss Doris Woodall, that of Assad by Mr. Walter Wheatley, and Shulamith by Miss Ina Hill. It is a very spectacular opera, and the celebrated impresario is naturally proud of being the first to introduce it to England. The Carl Rosa company, it may be remembered, already possesses the credit of bringing one opera of Goldmark's to this country, namely, The Cricket on the Hearth.

MISS EMMA HUTCHISON and Mr. Percy Hutchison have added yet another to their répertoire of London successes with which to delight suburban and provincial theatregoers, having secured from Mr. Chas. Frohman the touring rights of Smith, by Mr. Somerset Maugham. The piece will go out in August.

THE pantomime at the Grand, Nottingham, concludes its run to-night. Miss Maude May Murray, whose beautiful dancing has been one of the chief successes of the pantomime, will long be remembered in Nottingham. Next week she will appear with Mr. Mouillot's company at the Opera House, Tunbridge Wells.

MISS ELLA ERSKINE will be presenting her little comedy The Typist (by special desire) and her one-act play The Friends, adapted from the German, at the smoking concert given by the English Play Society at the Ritz Hotel on Sunday. In the latter piece she will be associated with Georgiana, Countess of Rosslyn.

MISS ENA MOSS has achieved remarkable success in South Africa. Her performance as Josephine in A Royal Divorce has won the highest eulogium in the Johannesburg press.

UNDER the direction of Walter D. Nicoll and Kenneth Rivington, the fifth tour of that remarkably successful American comedy, Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, starts next Monday at Cambridge. The company is almost exactly the same as it has been for the last eighteen months, and includes Mr. Frederick Forrest, Mr. Ernest Ruston, and Miss Rita Carlisle. A new comer to the cast is Miss Sophie Lingwood, who will play the part of Mrs. Wiggs. Until recently this accomplished actress was a member of Mr. Edward Terry's company. The Spring tour will run about fourteen weeks, and after a short vacation will start again in the Autumn.

MISS SOPHIE HARRISS, who has been seen all too seldom on the West End stage of late, will make a welcome reappearance at the Strand Theatre as Marion De Lorme in Mr. Robert Hilton's forthcoming production of Richelieu, a part which she played with much success in Australia.

MR. RICHARD A. GREENE, a brother of the celebrated Miss Evie Greene, will take up the part of Lieutenant Dick Marsh in Mr. Frederick Melville's drama, The Bad Girl of the Family, at the Aldwych Theatre on Monday next. Mr. Greene is the possessor of a stalwart physique and a rich voice, and should play the sailor lover to perfection.

AT the Theatre Royal, North Shields, on the 20th inst., Miss Nancy J. Clarke, owing to the illness of the principal, took up the part of Kinkie, the American girl, in The Eve of Her Wedding, and although she had never previously played a part, went on after only one rehearsal, and was "letter perfect" at night.

MR. FRANK ROTHSAY, the popular acting-manager of the Stratford Borough Theatre, is to be accorded a complimentary benefit at a special matinée on Tuesday next. In addition to the performance of this year's successful pantomime, Cinderella, many professional friends of the beneficiare have promised their services for the occasion.
